Type III Polio Vaccine To Be Given Sunday

Briscoe County's last chance to strike a knockout blow to polio will come March 24 and March 31, dates set for the third round of Sabin Oral Sundays in Quitaque and Silverton.

The Type II Sabin anti-polio vaccine will be distributed from 1:00 until 4:00 P. M. in the old Grade School building at Quitaque and at the high school gymnasium at Silverton on those dates. Patrons at the public clinics will swallow the vaccine—three drops of it—on a sugar cube as they did for Types I and II.

The Hale-Floyd-Briscoe County Medical Society is sponsor of the SOS Program. Dr. R. N. Muckleroy is in charge of arrangements in Briscoe County.

Doctors have emphasized the need for older persons to take the vaccine to eliminate "polio carriers"—persons who can transmit the disease without suffering from it themselves.

Persons under 30 years of age should take the vaccine to prevent getting the crippling virus.

Those persons who have already taken Types I and II have not completed the job, Dr. Muckleroy emphasized, until they have taken Type III as well. To eliminate the dread virus all three vaccines must be taken.

The U. S. Public Health Service endorsed wholeheartedly the Medical Society's plea for all residents of the area to take the vaccine. This endorsement was based on official findings that the risk of getting the disease with the vaccine is one in a million. The risk of being a carrier can amount to a 100 percent chance. Anyone can carry the disease and thus deal a crippling blow to a child, a loved one, or an innocent stranger.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Clark were honored last Friday afternoon with a "going away" tea in the First National Bank Community Room. J. H. McDonald about a month ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark will make their home with his niece, Mrs. J. G. Parker at Clute, Texas, which is just outside of Freeport. Pop says they will be located about 7 miles inland from the Gulf. He plans to do some deep sea fishing, which will be a new experience for him.

Friends here would not give the Clarks permission to move away until they promised to return for a visit now and then.

For those who might wish to drop a line to Pop and Mrs. Clark, their address is c/o Mrs. J. G. Parker, Box 1225, Clute, Texas.

Lions Club Drive To Put Street Signs Here

A small group of Lions was on Monday night for the usual fine meal prepared by the ladies of the P.T.A. Monday night's menu featured chicken and dressing and all the other goodies that go along with it.

After the meal and the horseplay that is always a part of the Lions Club get-together, the minutes of the preceding meeting were read and all old business was taken care of.

The membership of the Quitaque Lions Club voted unanimously to sponsor a drive to put up street signs here in Quitaque.

This project will place a four-way sign at every street intersection in town. According to the report given during the meeting, the signs will cost approximately $15.00 each, installed. The project will require some 42 signs will be financed by voluntary subscriptions to the drive. With the residents of each block sharing the cost of their block, the signs will not cost anyone but very little and street signs would add a great deal to the town. Sometimes it is a bit difficult to direct a stranger to a residence in town with nothing more to go by other than so many blocks one direction, so many another direction and so on. The Lions Club feels that it is a very worthwhile project and hope that the citizens will cooperate with them on the project.

JUST SUPPOSE -
 Just suppose the Lord would begin tomorrow to make people as sick as they claim to be on Sunday.

Just suppose the Lord should take away the child whom the parents use as an excuse for staying away from church.

Just suppose the Lord should make everyone stoned to death for covetousness as was Achan.

Just suppose the Lord should let some parents look into the future and see what their example and lax control did for their children.

Just suppose - and then, by the help of the Lord, go forth and live and serve as if eternity was soon coming.

IT IS! I come quickly, says the Lord.

LEGISLATION BEING STUDIED TO HELP SMALL TOWN TRANSPORTATION PROBLEMS

Legislation designed to help small towns solve some of their transportation problems will be studied by the Senate Transportation Committee in its first meeting March 26 in Austin.

S. B. 30, introduced by Senator Franklin Spears of San Antonio, would create 'a class of motor vehicle carriers to be known as "restricted motor express common carriers"'. It would provide for fast, on schedule shipping service at graduated pound-rate charges, concentrating on fast delivery of small packages 75 pounds and under.

An identical bill in the House introduced by David Crews of Conroe is expected to be discussed by the House Motor Traffic Committee on or about March 25, according to R. G. Dudley, president of the Texas Motor Express and Film Carriers Association, chief supporters of the motor express legislation.

"In most cases," Dudley explained, "overnight delivery could be possible from supply cities to their trade areas. This would especially benefit dealers in a hurry for auto parts, druggists who need fast delivery of small packages of medicines, and merchants who need to re-order a fast-selling item."

PEAK DAY LOAD HITS NEW HIGH

Amarillo — Mar. 18 — A record peak day load of 370,287,000 cubic feet of gas was put through Pioneer Natural Gas Company's pipeline system this past January 11, according to figures released today by Billy G. Grant, superintendent of the Company's gas measurement department at Amarillo.

During a severe arctic snap throughout Pioneer Natural's service area in middle January, temperatures dipped to 16 below zero at Lubbock. In Amarillo and surrounding areas, the mercury dropped to 9 below. Other areas throughout the system, which serves 41 Panhandle-South Plains counties, had similar numbing weather.

The peak deliveries of gas were handled from 8 A. M. on January 11 to 8 A. M. on January 12, and topped the previous wintertime peak load of 312,118,000 cubic feet which had occurred on January 9, 1962.

Gas supplies were adequate on the new peak day and there were no failures of a critical nature, according to T. S. Whitis, Pioneer vice president in charge of transmission.

LOCKNEY CHURCHES SPONSORING CRUSADE FOR CHRIST

Lockney — (Special) — Thirteen churches in the Lockney area are planning a unified evangelistic crusade for Christ starting April 1st. The meetings will be held in a large metal building on the Floyd County Fair grounds in south east Lockney where seating will be available for 1200 to 1400 people. The crusade will continue for two weeks.

Evangelist for the meetings will be Dr. Winfred Moore, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Amarillo. He is a former pastor at Pampa and is an outstanding and fervent evangelist. Directing the music program will be John Matthews of Denver, Colo., director of the Sunday School and music departments of the Colorado Baptist General Convention.

Preparations for the crusade have been underway since June of last year. Pastors and representatives of the various churches met at that time to discuss the idea of all churches co-operating in a concerted evangelism effort. Committees were appointed and plans have been underway since that time.

Co-chairmen of the steering committee are Rev. Gene Hawkins, pastor of the Lockney First Baptist Church and Leroy Durham, a member of the Lockney Assembly of God Church. Two representatives from each of the various churches along with the pastors serve as the steering committee.

A series of church and cottage prayer meetings will be held the week of March 25-30 in preparation for the crusade. Prayer meetings in the homes of the members of the churches will be supplemented by all-night prayer meetings in which certain churches will be responsible for a chain of prayer continuing through the night.

The crusade meetings will be held each evening at 7:30 during the week days and on Sunday evening, April 7th. The remaining Sunday services will be held in each individual church as usual.

The youth of the community are being enlisted in the effort with youth prayer meetings and fellowships being scheduled on Saturday morning, March 30th at a prayer breakfast, prayer meeting and fellowship on Wednesday evening, April 3rd following the services, similar meetings on Saturday evening, April 6th and Wednesday evening, April 10th, and a prayer meeting preceding the services on Sunday evening, April 7th. Also on Sunday evening, April 7th a fellowship for youth will be held following the services. A youth choir has been organized and is practicing.

An adult choir of some 50 members met Sunday afternoon at the First Baptist Church for their first practice session. David Mathis, director of the Lockney Longhorn Band is leading the choir in the preparation work.

Although some fine progress is being made in the initial stages of the nationwide drive to eradicate hog cholera, it still remains the No. 1 enemy of the nation's hog raisers.

Two encouraging signs have been reported. First, about 45 per cent of the hogs in this country were vaccinated against hog cholera in 1961 (an increase over 1960 vaccinations and the highest level since 1954). Second, by concerted efforts, we cut our reported cholera outbreaks to an estimated 15 per cent during the year.

Cholera is still our No. 1 swine killer. All hogs should be vaccinated.

Vaccination is one of the key points in the eradication program, but authorities say we must reach a vaccination level of at least 75 per cent of the herds if a proper wall of immunity is to be erected. Proper vaccination, of course, is not a routine procedure. There are many factors which affect getting good, solid immunity. For this reason, it is a good plan to have the vaccinating done by a veterinarian, who knows the best type of vaccine to use, and how to do the job right. Spring is one of the peak periods for cholera; hence, now is a good time to have vaccinating done.

An improved system of reporting outbreaks is another part of the eradication program. To help insure the success of the program, the officials directing it must have every bit of information, including the total number of outbreaks, source of infection and spread of the disease.

The producer can make an important contribution in this regard by reporting every suspicious case to a veterinarian, so a diagnosis can be made and proper steps taken to contain the outbreak. Hog cholera now costs farmers an estimated $60 million a year. If the present intensified eradication program is successful, a major source of today's swine losses will be eliminated.

Nobody Wins When Farmers Play Numbers Game - With Fertilizer

"Too many farmers are playing the fertilizer numbers game -- and losing."
"They buy a fertilizer by the numbers on the bag, figuring that one bag of 12-12-12 is just like any other."
"But that just isn't true any more," according to Dr. S. M. (Mac) King, agricultural specialist for International Minerals & Chemical Corporation, which supplies the fertilizer industry with basic materials.
The grade just doesn't reflect the kind of job the fertilizer will do, King insists. For instance there are three main forms of nitrogen fertilizers -- ammonia, nitrate and amide. And each goes to work at a different time.
The nitrate form is immediately available to the plant, gen-particles aren't of uniform size, the application will be uneven. Fine particles run out of drills or spreaders faster than coarse ones. So the farmer, who wants to apply 250 pounds of fertilizer per acre, may actually apply 200 pounds in some areas and 300 pounds in others.

The form of potash can also make a big difference at harvest time, Dr. King notes. Potassium chloride is the most commonly used form. But many heavy fertilizer users should be careful of it because too many chloride ions in the soil hamper the uptake of phosphorus.
As a result, many agronomists recommend the use of potassium sulphate, which is virtually free of chloride and contains sulphur that the plants need. Sulphur is a basic part of plant proteins, and plants can't live without sulphur in the soil to draw on.

Another form of potash is sulphate of potash-magnesia. This contains not only potash and sulphur, but also magnesium. Together with sulphur and calcium, magnesium is classified as a secondary element.
But they are "secondary" only in the sense that great quantities aren't needed, the IMC agricultural expert warns. Magnesium is the central atom in chlorophyll, the green material at the heart of the plant food "factory." However, magnesium must be in soluble form, as in sulphate of potash-magnesia, before plants can use it.
Then come the trace elements. And don't take "trace" to mean insignificant, Dr. King says. A shortage of a trace element can be just as disastrous to crops as a shortage of a primary or secondary nutrient.
Trace elements include manganese, boron, zinc, iron and copper. Most premium fertilizers include these as insurance, to prevent a lowering of yields.
And there are even differences in the forms of the minor elements. Iron sulphate for instance, is easily converted by the soil into an insoluble form that crops can't use. In the iron chelate form, however, the iron is held for the plant by the chelating agent, and isn't grabbed off by the soil phosphorus or aluminum.
"Fertilizer is an important farm investment," King points out. "Don't buy by the numbers. Before investing, talk your specific situation over with the farm advisor, county agent or fertilizer manufacturer."

erally speaking, Ammonia sometimes has to be changed into nitrate form by soil bacteria before the plant can use it, and so goes to work after the nitrate form. Amide nitrogen is a delayed-release material, which picks up where the ammonia leaves off.
Cheap fertilizers usually contain just one form. Premium fertilizers may contain all forms for continuing nutrition. But the nitrogen "number" is the same regardless of the form. There are also several forms of potash and several levels of solubility of phosphate, which the big numbers on the bag don't reveal. The big numbers also don't show whether the fertilizer contains vital secondary and minor elements -- or the forms these are in -- or the uniformity of particle size. These are big differences, which make big differences in yields and profits, Dr. King says.
Take particle size. If the

DEADLINE NEARING FOR VEHICLE INSPECTION

Many motorists in Texas are going to be faced with long lines and waiting periods in order to have their cars inspected prior to the April 15 deadline. Only 39 per cent of the 586,270 registered vehicles in Region 5 of the Texas Department of Public Safety have visited safety inspection stations and obtained their 1963 safety inspection sticker, according to Captain Alan Johnson, Motor Vehicle Inspection Service of the DPS.

"All registered vehicles in Texas must be inspected by April 15 and have a 1963 inspection on the windshield," Captain Johnson said. He stated that there would be no extension of the April 15 deadline and advised motorists who have not had their cars inspected to do so now, before the long lines start forming. "In the past, many people wait until the last few days of the inspection period to have their vehicles inspected and have had to wait for a long period of time at the inspection station," Captain Johnson stated.

According to the records of the Motor Vehicle Inspection Service of the DPS there are 2,539 vehicles registered in Briscoe and only 615 or 18 per cent of the vehicles have been inspected to date. Due to this low number the Captain suggested that all motorists check their vehicle and see if they have a current 1963 inspection sticker on the windshield and if not to have their vehicle inspected today in order to avoid the last minute rush.

Small Growers Have Special Interest In 1964 Wheat Program Vote

Small wheat farmers will have a special interest in the vote coming up this spring on the 1964 wheat program, Mr. John R. Fowler, County Office Manager, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee said today.

The special interest results from the fact that the wheat operators with 15 acres or less of wheat will be eligible to vote in the referendum if they indicate their intention to participate in the 1964 wheat program prior to the time the vote is held. About 15 percent of the wheat farms in Briscoe County are in the "15 acres or less" class. Throughout the country, these small farms comprise from 6.7 to 97.7 percent of the wheat farms within the particular states.

The County Office Manager reminded growers that the upcoming referendum on the kind of wheat program they want for 1964 and succeeding years will be held within 60 days after proclamation of the national wheat marketing quota, which will not likely be announced until late March or early April. The program will become effective if at least two-thirds of the growers voting in the referendum approve the program.

While technical details of the 1964 wheat program are still in the development stage, it is now known that the referendum will give wheat growers a choice of two programs. The first would limit production of wheat to market and export needs, provide price support at an average of $2 per bushel for most wheat marketed, and offer payments for wheat acreage diverted to conservation use. It would maintain the farmer's income from wheat at the average of recent years. Marketing quota penalties would continue to apply to "excess" wheat.

The alternative program would provide no limits on production or marketings, and price support - only to growers who stay within their allotments - would be available at 50 percent of parity, about $1.20 per bushel national average. It would result in increased wheat production and a sharp decrease in income for wheat growers.

"It is most important that small wheat operators of 15 acres or less understand that only those operators who register their intention to participate in the 1964 wheat program will be eligible to vote in the referendum," County Office Manager Fowler declared. "The deadline for such registration will be set later, but it will be some time prior to the wheat vote."

Through the program for 1964 and following years, farms on which "excess" wheat was not subject to marketing quotas because of the 15-acre or feed wheat exemption will get an allotment based on their average acreage for 1959, 1960 and 1961, but not in excess of 15 acres. If these operators participate in the wheat program, they will receive marketing certificates and price support just as larger producers do. They will also earn diversion payments.

Operators of such "small allotment" farms who do not wish to participate in the wheat program may - without penalty - plant an acreage of wheat based on their 1959, 1960, 1961 average wheat acreage but not over 15 acres. However, growers on these farms will not be eligible for price support, wheat certificates, land diversion payments, or to vote in the referendum.
