QUITAQUE POPULATION SHIFTING

Quitaque's population has been doing considerable shifting around the past couple of weeks, much of it brought on due to the closing of the Texas Highway Engineers Office here the end of June.

Four families have already been lost due to the closing of that office and the fifth will eventually be lost to our town.

O. V. Johnson, who has been Resident Engineer with offices here in Quitaque since the early 1950s, Willie Gragson and Hubert Brooks were transferred to Wellington, Buddy Price was sent to Munday and Pete White was transferred to the Childress office.

The Gragson, Brooks, Price and White families have already moved their families to their new homes, while the Johnson family is still here, Ober commencing home for the week-end.

When the Buddy Prices moved out of their home here, his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ed Price moved into that home; Coach and Mrs. Gene King have moved into the Pete White home; Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Martin have bought the Willie Gragson home and will move there soon; and Mr. and Mrs. Gray Robinson have bought the Hubert Brooks home. CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS INTRODUCES BILL IN CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Congressman Walter Rogers of Pampa introduced a bill June 30 to require that imported meat and meat products bear labels showing the countries of origin.

The Congressman called for enactment of the bill so that American consumers can make "a clear choice" between competing products, domestic and foreign. "Except in a small number of cities where local ordinances have been passed to require labeling, there is no way for a housewife to know whether the meat she buys was produced in the United States or abroad," the Congressman said.

On March 11, Congressman Rogers introduced a bill to impose import limitations on certain meat and meat products. The bill, along with others of a similar nature, is before the House Ways and Means Committee and the Committee has not as yet acted to refer the matter to the full House of Representatives.

The bill introduced to Congressman Rogers on June 30 will be referred to the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, of which he is a member.

Congressman Rogers said the bill did not place an undue burden on merchants. "Its provisions are temperate and enforceable," he said.

The Act, entitled the "Imported Meat and Meat Food Products Labeling Act," would empower the Federal Trade Commission to enforce labeling requirements on meat and meat products moving in interstate commerce.

FARMERS HOME ADMINISTRATION MAKES 100th WATER DISTRIBUTION ASSOCIATION IN TEXAS

L. J. Cappleman, State Director of the Farmers Home Administration, Temple, Texas, announced to the press, "The 100th Water Distribution Association Loan has been made to the rural people of Texas."

The Green Valley Water Supply Corporation received this loan for $696,000. This water system will service 518 families; over 2,000 individuals. Mr. Cappleman stated, "These 100 loans total $9,905,770. Over 9,047 families are now enjoying good water for home use and for livestock, gardens, etc. This number of families includes over 36,000 individuals."

These loans have had a great impact on the economy of the community and the county. The installation of bathrooms, kitchens, kitchen facilities, landscaping of lawns and the building of new homes has increased business for merchants, increased tax payments, added to school tax payments, and contribution to churches.

One community, since turning on the water, has 20 new homes financed by Private Enterprise; 7 homes moved into the community. It has completed construction of the first new church building in 60 years at a cost of $30,000.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Barrett spent Thursday and Friday in Amarillo visiting their daughters, Mrs. Clovis Hill and family, and Mrs. Millard McNabb and her family.

Clovis Hill of Amarillo visited Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Barrett Monday. He brought Patty and Debbie McNabb and his daughter, Jana to spend this week with their grandparents.

BECKY BERRYHILL DESCRIBES TRIP TO WORLD'S FAIR

(Ed. Note: Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Berryhill, Becky and Randy, recently returned from a trip to the New York World's Fair. Before they left we asked Becky to make notes during their trip and give us a story after their return. So begins a teenagers' story of a trip to the World's Fair, the sights and her impressions of things seen there and at other places during their trip.)

(By Becky Berryhill) On our way through Oklahoma we stopped at a rock quarry for Mother to get some pictures. The road we were on crossed the Eufala Reservoir, which covers a large number of acres. Oklahoma is crossed by such rivers as the Boggy and Canadian Rivers. The Will Rogers Turnpike crosses the state, shortening the travelling time greatly.

From the roadsides in Missouri the driver can see turkey farms and several fish hatcheries. Springfield is the home of the Lily cup factory, makers of one of the nations' leading paper cup industries. The Ozarks are a very hilly land covered with cottonwood forests. A small saw mill is seen on the outskirts of Lebanon and from the road you can see the logs waiting for shipment. The land changes often from the low grassy valley to a hilly and wooded section. Smoke pours from most of the brick chimneys of the two-story homes.

Wood is used in these houses for cooking and heating purposes. Huge grape vineyards in the Fannin area covered several miles of roadside land.

A new Shriners Crippled Children's Hospital is located on the west side of St. Louis. Approximately two miles down the road is the Missouri Baptist Children's Home, operated by the Southern Baptist Convention. The modern St. Louis airport is also on the west side of town. After we left downtown St. Louis, we saw an outdoor food market. Even at 7 o'clock that morning crowds of people were using the market.

One or two trucks were still unloading their wares. Three toll bridges span the Mississippi River in St. Louis.

In Illinois, manufacturers use barn roofs to advertise their products. Most of the barns aren't in use anymore, since they were built to store unbaled hay. The homes are all quite old, yet they are very well preserved. All the farm equipment is kept under sheds. Although the land is hilly the soil has good depth.

The long, wide Wabash River flows through Indiana. The land near Brazil is very much a lumber section. In Putnam is located the Indiana State Prisoner's Farm, where bricks and clay pipes are made. Indianapolis is the capital of Indiana. The capital buildings are all downtown. The huge City-County building is bigger than the capitol building.

Greenfield boasts the Eli Lilly Pharmaceutical and Chemical Company. Also, Greenfield is the birthplace of James Whitcomb Riley, author of poems such as "Little Orphan Annie."

His father hand-carved most of the woodwork in the house. In the upstairs guest bedroom is a canopy bed weighing two thousand pounds and across the hall is the family bed which contains a trundle bed. The boys' bedroom has a very low ceiling and it contains two small beds.

The staircase leading upstairs is unique in that it is in the shape of a musical note. Decorating the up and down stairs are shadow boxes containing crocheted flowers. One of the rooms contains the original paintings that illustrated each of his poems.

New Teacher Hired

Alfred M. Burris

Supt. Johnny Mason has announced the hiring of a new teacher for the local school system, and the granting of a leave of absence for another.

Alfred M. Burris will teach High School English and also Spanish this coming school term, Mr. Mason said. It will mark the first time in a number of years that a foreign language has been offered in the local school.

Mr. Burris' home is Amarillo and he is a graduate of Palo Duro High. He attended Amarillo College 2 years and West Texas State U. 2 years and will receive his BA degree from WT Friday.

Mr. Burris is single but is being married to Miss Marian Rhodes, also of Amarillo, on July 31.

Supt. Mason stated that the school board is negotiating with the future Mrs. Burris concerning a teaching contract in the local schools, since there is another vacancy in the grade schools. Mrs. Ann Jones has tendered her resignation to the school board, and rather than accept her resignation, the board granted her a year's leave of absence (to raise a family) and hopes that she will return to teaching.

Other business attended to in Monday night's session was the appointment of Ray Doyle Ramsey to fill out the vacancy created by the resignation of Clyde Saul. The term is for almost two years.

Sunday, August 2, is the day for the Gasoline Homecoming and present and former residents of the Flomot community should mark that date on their calendars.

Cards reminding out of town folks of the Homecoming have been mailed and local folks are preparing for the occasion, one that is always looked forward to with much anticipation.

Usually people drive from as far away as California to attend the event, but it is not known by The Tribune at this time whether or not the California folks are coming or not.

Everyone is asked to bring a basket lunch, which will be spread under the shade at the Community Building at noon as has been the custom in years past.

Many of those who attend the homecoming will attend church services Sunday morning before the noon meal and churches of the community extend a cordial invitation to all visitors to visit the church of their choice.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kaether and children of Alvarado spent Sunday night with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Persons. They left Monday enroute to Colorado on vacation. They plan to return to Quitaque this week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Tipps and family of Denver, Colo. and Mrs. A. V. Tipps of Hereford, spent Friday night and Saturday morning with Mr. and Mrs. N. V. Hamilton.

Mrs. J. N. Hamilton was recently honored with a visit by her nephews, H. D. Vaughter and his wife from Amarillo and his brother, J. V. Vaughter of Sacramento, Calif. who recently retired after 23 years in a branch of Uncle Sam's service.

Mrs. Willie Lou Boyles and Minnie Mae Roberson attended the Kimbell family reunion at Plainview Sunday afternoon.

Hamilton-Oehlerking Exchange Vows

MRS. RONALD DEAN OEHLERKING
Former Reba Pauleta Hamilton

Miss Reba Pauleta Hamilton and Ronald Dean Oehlerking were married Saturday night, June 27, at the First Methodist Church in Denton. Dr. Phillip W. Walker of Dallas, former pastor of First Methodist, officiated in the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hamilton of Denton and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Oehlerking of Denver, Colo.

Dale Peters provided traditional nuptial selections on the organ.

Brass candelabra lined the bridal aisle. The chancel rail was draped in white satin, garlanded by English ivy. A tall brass arch of candles was centered under the sanctuary cross to form a background for the communion table. The table was centered with a sunburst of white gladioli and lilies of the Nile. Candle trees and tall standards of the same flowers completed the altar decorations.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of bouquet taffeta. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a neckline deeply outlined with pearl embroidered, hand run Alencon lace. The bouffant skirt, traced with lace appliques, was designed with deep unpressed pleats which released fullness from the waistline back. Two large obi bows decorated with lace appliques extended over the full chapel train. Her veil of silk illusion cascaded in tiers from a crown of lace. She carried a cascade of English ivy and mystery gardenias centered with a white orchid. The crescent design extended from her arm to the hemline of her gown.

Members of the houseparty included Mrs. Keltz Garrison of Plainview and Mrs. Lonnie Thurman of Gainesville.

The Hamiltons are former residents of Quitaque and the bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. J. N. Hamilton.

The bride teaches at Lakewood Elementary School in Denver and the bridegroom is a Mountain State Telephone Co. executive in Denver.

After a wedding trip to points of interest in Colorado, the couple is at home at 4614 W. 35th Ave. in Denver.

PATTERNS FOR PROGRESS

A Community Survey can chart the road to community development

Community development is one of the fastest growing activities in America today. Many communities, both large and small, are attacking the problems with new vigor and vitality.

While there is no easy road to success, no simple formula to follow, one thing is certain... a community must start with a thoughtfully planned and soundly developed Community Survey. It assesses and evaluates both favorable and unfavorable economic and civic factors which affect community growth, and discloses factors which can be used to solicit new business and industry.

To be fully effective it must be a continuing study, since conditions change as economic handicaps are eliminated and economic advantages multiply. The survey has the added value of helping to clarify a community's aims and objectives in the field of improvement, growth and development.

Such a community survey then becomes the PATTERN FOR PROGRESS.

WTU's area development representatives will assist growth-conscious communities in planning a continuing community survey for economic development. This service is available on request through your WTU local manager.

CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGER'S WASHINGTON REPORT OF SMOKING AND HEALTH

Once again we are confronted with this question: Should not the Congress, composed of the people's elected representatives, make the decisions when sweeping, substantial Government regulation seems to be called for in the public interest?

This week, the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, of which I am a member, began hearings into the relationship between smoking and health. The hearings were called to determine whether any action by the Congress was needed in the interest of safeguarding public health—and if such action was found to be needed, what approach would be most desirable.

On the third day of the hearing, the Federal Trade Commission announced that it would impose new regulations on cigarette manufacturers. As of January 1, 1965, under the FTC ruling, packages of cigarettes will have to bear a warning label that cigarettes are hazardous to health and may cause death. A similar warning must be contained, under the FTC order, in all cigarette advertising beginning July 1, 1965. If the warning label on cigarette packages seems to be serving the purpose of alerting the public to smoking hazards, the FTC will consider requests to abandon the rule as it applies to advertising.

Thus, while the wheels of legislative process were beginning to turn toward seeking a solution to the problem, the FTC took it upon itself to settle the matter by exercising its rule-making authority, by administrative fiat. The FTC issued the rules under authority granted to it by the Congress to safeguard consumers by preventing dissemination of false or deceptive advertisements of food, drugs, cosmetics, and therapeutic devices. Not that the FTC ruling came as a complete surprise; in January, after the Surgeon General's Advisory Committee had issued its now-famous report on "Smoking and Health," the FTC served notice that it would study possible regulations.

I believe that cigarette packages should carry a clear warning of smoking's potential dangers. I introduced one of the eleven bills being considered by the Commerce Committee in its hearing. My bill would require that cigarette packages carry this plainly labeled warning: "Caution: Cigarette Smoking May Be Hazardous to Your Health." While advocating a warning label, I believe that the decision as to whether this approach is proper and in the public interest should be made by the Congress, not by appointed officials in the Federal Trade Commission. The eleven bills before the Committee proposed even different approaches to the matter, of which mine was only one. The legislative process—full committee hearings followed by debate on the floor of the House and Senate—is designed to insure adoption of the best possible solutions, in keeping with the desires of the American people as expressed through their elected representatives.

The point is this: Whether or not its decision is a sound one, each time a regulatory agency issues rules having massive impact on American citizens, one further step has been taken to diminish the authority of the people's direct voice in the conduct of government affairs through their Congress.

Dr. Luther Terry, the Surgeon General, underwent extensive questioning by the Committee. I asked him whether forms of tobacco other than cigarettes also endanger the user's health. Said Dr. Terry, "There may or may not be a health hazard associated with cigars and pipe smoking. I don't think I know enough to say today." Cigarettes have caught the brunt of science's search for tobacco-based health hazards because two-thirds of American men and one-third of American women are regular smokers of cigarettes. Next up for the same kind of study may be pipe and cigar smoking, tobacco chewing, and snuff dipping and sniffing. And if these prove to be or not to be public health menaces, perhaps similar attention should be given to excessive consumption of alcoholic beverages, candy, and coffee. After that, I suppose, the public health people could turn their attention to the No. 1 public health menace in the United States—careless driving.
