HUSBAND OF MRS. VAZEOS WAS OFFICER ON SHIP THAT SUNK

Mrs. George (Mildred Wilson) Vazeos of Washington, D. C., visited recently in Quitaque with her father, Otis and Mrs. Wilson and with her brothers and other relatives and friends. The Tribune received a letter from Mildred this week and we want to share it with readers everywhere who know Mildred. The letter in part is as follows:

Dear Gaston and Mrs. Gaston:

I enjoyed the recent visit at home, Quitaque and Gasoline, although I was sorry my time and energy were limited.

Enjoyed participating in Sunday services at the Church. Appreciated the singing and the preaching, also the fellowship.

I have some startling news. My husband George was Chief Engineer on the S S Yarmouth Castle, that ill fated Caribbean Cruise Ship which burned and sank in the Atlantic early Saturday morning, November 13.

It was really a tragic thing. I spent hours of anguish before I finally knew that George was safe. My heart goes out to those who lost their loved ones.

That was our old ship, the S S Evangeline, under a different name. She has many memories for us, and now she has gone to her final resting. I cannot get over the horror of it.

We do not know what the future holds for us. I am living in Washington but I expect to go back down to Miami again soon.

Give my best to all. From a Texan to the Texans.

Mildred Wilson Vazeos

BRISCOE HISTORICAL SOCIETY IN RECENT MEETING

The Briscoe County Historical Society met on Thursday, November 18 at 7:30 p. m. at the County Courthouse with Mrs. C. O. Allard, chairman, conducting the business meeting. Mrs. Allard gave a special "thank you" to the following named people for their services to the Museum: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Morris; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McWilliams; Mr. A. Dasher for the cases; Earnest Strange and the Commissioners for varnishing and painting the cases and walls; Judge Moreland for the plastic covers for the documents and other uses; and to the Study Clubs for the filing cabinets.

Mrs. Alvin Redin presented a talk on writing the county history. She said that the writing should be colorful and interesting, for some counties had a very colorful history. The most important things to be remembered in writing history is the financing, the facts, and having strong characters about which to write.

In the Hospital Building

Mrs. Gordon Alexander told the "fun" part of their trip to Odessa, as she called it. She reported that they had a wonderful time visiting in old homes and visiting museums, eating breakfast at 6:30 in the morning, consisting of bar-becue steaks and beans. They visited the Pecos Museum, where the women had made dress to wear for that period. They took a jeep ride to the sand dunes; went to Monahans Park and McKittrick Canyon; came back to Fort Davis Sunday morning and then home. Mrs. C. L. McWilliams presented a talk "Establishing and Operating a Museum." She listed four things necessary: 1. Set up a set of rules to govern the museum; 2. Write letters and contact people personally; 3. Have colorful and interesting exhibits, the main purpose being to attract the children; 4. Catalog the material tagged for repairs and tagged for history, on front of Session sheets. She also said to have a complete and colorful history (not too lengthy) and to make the most of what is had to work with.

Mrs. Carrol Garrison presented a report on the museum here. The room is ready for articles and it is hoped that it will be open to the public by January 1, 1966. You are requested to bring your articles to the museum. If the room is not open, see Judge Moreland for the key.

Mrs. C. O. Allard presented a talk on the RAMPS Program, explaining that it means Recording, Appreciation, Marking, Preservation, and Survey of history. It is a five-year program and it includes placing 5,000 official Texas Historical Markers, erected by a joint state, county-city and private program—1,000 markers are to be placed each year . . . it includes the preparation of guides, maps and brochures on a state and regional basis, and distribution through tourist channels . . . it sponsors joint programs with trade associations, hotels, motels, restaurants, chambers of commerce to use the history of Texas as a tourist attraction . . . it ties all 254 county programs into one statewide program of historical development.

After the meeting adjourned the group visited the museum room to see what had been done and was served coffee by Mrs. Allard.

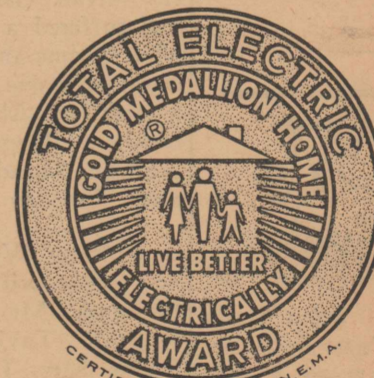

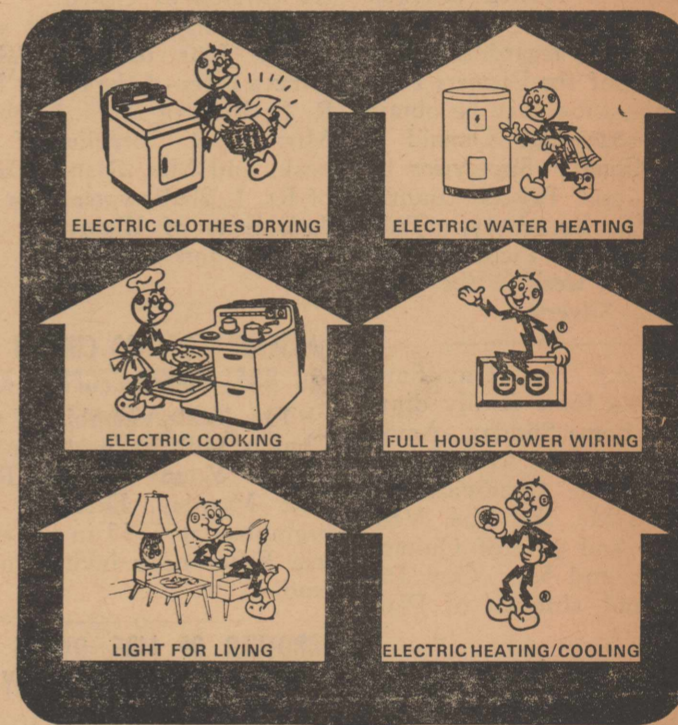

Present at the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Montague, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Alexander, Judge and Mrs. M. G. Moreland, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Garrison, Mrs. Alvin Redin, Mrs. C. L. McWilliams, Mrs. Berton Hughes, Gladys Stroup, Mary Pittman, Mary Payne, Myrtice Gillespie, O. R. Stark, Jr., M. F. Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Allard.

The next meeting will be January 27, 1966.

The men went hunting Sunday afternoon. Floyd and Keyth Tiffin of Silverton stopped by to see Mrs. Boyles for a short time Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Boyles, Minnie Mae Roberson and Mrs. R. E. Boyles had Mrs. W. E. Morrison accompanied Bobo Morrison to Plainview last Saturday. Bobo went for a check-up by his doctor and Mrs. Morrison remained for a visit in Plainview. Her daughter, Mrs. Birt Lane, underwent minor surgery on her leg Monday, but the surgery started to hemorrhage Monday night after she went home and she had to go back to the hospital and remain overnight.

CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS' WASHINGTON REPORT

It is likely that Congress will devote attention to income tax reform proposals in the Session beginning in January. Whether a further tax cut will be possible remains to be seen; stepped-up spending, mainly as a result of the war in Viet Nam, may prevent any reductions in the near future. At any rate, income tax reform proposals will come under scrutiny as further efforts are made to straighten out inequities in the internal revenue code.

I hope very much that the House Ways and Means Committee, which has jurisdiction over tax legislation in the House of Representatives, can give close attention to a proposal I have introduced in Congress after Congress. My bill would increase the personal income tax exemption for a taxpayer, the additional exemption for a dependent from $600 to $1000. The enactment of this measure is, in my view, long overdue. The original purpose of the $600 exemption was to assist taxpayers in meeting basic living expenses of their families, but the $600 exemption is now out of step with the times and should be increased. Of all proposed changes in the tax laws, I think this is the one calling for attention first.

The lesson of the income tax cut of 1964, which reduced the tax burden on American private citizens and corporations by some $11.5 billion per year, is that tax reduction provides great incentive to the private economy. Reduced taxation frees capital for spending on expanded business capacity to meet increased consumer ability to purchase goods and services. The effect is an increase in economic levels. The effect is also to generate expansion of the base on which taxes are levied and, thus, to increase tax revenues. The 1964 tax cut is given considerable credit for continuing the record boom we have experienced through the 1960s. The gross national product, the total of all goods and services produced, is headed for the $700 billion level, up nearly $200 billion in five years. Most recent economic indicators continue to be encouraging. Among them are these summations: Disposable personal income soared $12½ billion in the third quarter, the biggest quarter-to-quarter change since early 1950; corporate profits rose to record highs in the third quarter, with profits after taxes standing 19½ percent higher than in the same period last year; business expenditures for new plant and equipment in 1965 are expected to total $50.9 billion, almost 13½ above the 1964 total. Even national farm income figures, which have presented a picture less optimistic than that shown by other economic indices, show that over-the-year, 1965 gain in net farm income will be about $1 billion.

Of course, there are many factors responsible for the boom other than the income tax reduction of 1964 and the excise tax of 1965, although I was pleased to support both actions in the conviction they were needed and would be helpful. I do think the Nation has the necessary experience to know that wisely planned tax reduction encourages private enterprise to do a first rate job of developing the economy. One of the triumphs of the 1964 and 1965 income and excise tax reductions was that it showed the great strength of the so-called "private sector" of the economy and helped silence those who believe the only path to economic growth lies with massively increased government spending in "make-work activities."

I'm pleased to report that there is growing evidence of support for my proposal to increase personal income tax exemptions. Attention has come during the continuing controversy over whether parents should receive tax credit for their children's college education. I believe the sounder approach is through an increase in personal exemptions as an action in which every family in the country would be able to benefit.

A good word for your Pharmacist . . .
