Revival Meeting Starts Sunday

Pastor Bill Curry of the Quitaque First Baptist Church, announces that a Revival meeting will begin Sunday morning, March 13 and will continue through Sunday, March 20.

Evangelist for the week-long meeting will be the Rev. James Hancock, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Matador.

Barney Latham of Vigo Park will lead the music for the revival. He is known by many people here, having lived here with his parents and attending school here while he was growing up.

Services will be held twice daily, with morning services slated for 7 o'clock, and evening services to start at 7:30. A prayer service will be held each week-day at 7 o'clock. Sunday services will be at the usual times, Sunday School at 9:45, Worship Hour at 11 o'clock; Training Union 5:30 and the Evening Worship hour at 6:30.

Pastor Curry extends a cordial invitation to everyone to attend all services.

The nursery will be open for the evening service for all who will need it.

Mrs. Betty Wise and Mrs. Herman Moseley attended a P.E.S.O. Workshop in Canyon Saturday morning.

BRISCOE COUNTY CITIZENS HAVE ANOTHER CHANCE TO REGISTER TO VOTE

Briscoe County citizens who failed to pay their poll tax have another chance to register for a vote in the 1966 elections.

This time they can register to vote and it won't cost them a thing. Proper registration forms have been received at the City Hall in Quitaque and citizens may register there.

Registration period was extended from Thursday, March 3, through Thursday, March 17, so there is one more week in which to take advantage of the new registration period.

The new registration period was brought about by the "emergency" provision in the new voter registration act just recently passed by the Legislature and signed into law by Governor John Connally.

All who paid poll taxes by January 31 will be entitled to vote as usual, without re-registration.

Several elections are slated in the county, school district and city in the coming weeks so all are urged to take advantage of the registration period.

STANLEY HOSPITAL TO BE CLOSED

Dr. J. S. Stanley will close the Stanley Hospital in Matador on July 1. The announcement appeared in The Matador Tribune last week.

The story, in part, as it appeared in The Matador Tribune is as follows:

Health, the cause to which Dr. J. S. Stanley has devoted more than 30 years of his life in this community, is forcing him to close Stanley Hospital. A heart ailment, diagnosed recently by a well-known area specialist, has resulted in the decision. Dr. Stanley has been allowed 90 days in which to relieve himself of the burden of the hospital responsibilities and has set July 1 as the date when he will close Stanley Hospital.

"I have no choice," Dr. Stanley said this week. "I am go-

CHAPEL CHOIR WORKING ON EASTER CANTATA

The Chapel Choir has started work on the Easter Cantata for this year. The title of this year's cantata is "The Sower and The Seed".

The cantata contains eleven parts. They are: The Parable; The Springtime; The Wilderness; The Sower; The Seed That Fell By The Wayside; The Seed that Fell On Good Ground; The Seed That Fell On The Rock; The Seed That Grew and Multiplied; The Seed That Fell Among Thorns; The Harvest; and The Fruit.

It is a beautiful arrangement and we are going to have to work hard to get it worked up as well as it should be. Every choir member, along with the director and pianist, believes, however, that we can do it.

This Sunday morning, Mar. 13, the Choir will have the special music to start off the Spring Revival at the First Baptist Church. The selection we will sing is "Let All the World In Every Corner Sing." We hope the revival will get off to a good start.

The attendance at Choir rehearsal has been fairly good, but with so many youth in our community we should have a larger choir. On the average, there is usually 18-20 present, but sometimes there are more.

Most of the choir members are proud to have this opportunity to learn more about music and to develop their singing talent. We would like to thank again the ladies who make the nice refreshments for us after Sunday practice.

CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS' WASHINGTON REPORT WHERE THE FREE ENTERPRISE SYSTEM BEGAN

Texas' first National Monument—the Alibates Flint Quarries and Texas Panhandle Pueblo Culture National Monument near the south rim of Lake Meredith—could be called as much a monument to the free enterprise system as to Panhandle pre-history. For 12,000 years, Indians quarried flint at Alibates and traded it far and wide for goods they needed.

This year's budget contains a requested appropriation of funds to begin development of the Alibates National Monument. The bill I had introduced to establish the monument—the first ever approved by Congress for the State of Texas—was signed into law several months ago, and the National Park Service is working on final development plans. These include a small visitors' center, roads, parking areas, pathways, sanitary facilities, water supply, and facilities to interpret to visitors the meaning of the flint quarries and pueblo ruins.

The Alibates National Monument will be a big part of the Lake Meredith attraction. Visitors inspecting the quarries and pueblo ruins will become familiar with a very interesting chapter in America's story. Quarrying flint and shaping it into weapons and tools was the first industry on our continent. Flints from Alibates have been found as far north as Minnesota and Wisconsin, as far west as the Pacific Coast and as far south as the Gulf of Mexico.

Archaeologists regard the quarries as one of the outstanding sites showing the prehistoric cultures of North America. Toward the end of the period during which the quarries were worked the Canadian River valley became the home of sedentary Indian tribes which built large pueblo-type structures for their homes. Constructed of limestone slabs and adobe, the structures housed as many as 60 to 100 families. Archaeologists say the pueblos are a blend of the types of structures used by the Indians of the Great Plains and those of the arid Southwest. It is believed that about 1400 A. D., possibly because of a change in the climate, the pueblos were abandoned. But nomadic Indians continued to use the flint quarries until approximately 100 years ago when they began to acquire manufactured tools and weapons.

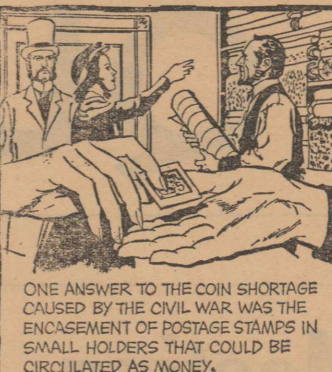

Meanwhile, the National Park Service is reviewing bids submitted by private investors interested in obtaining the concession to develop hotel, restaurant, marina, golf course and other facilities at the Fritch Fort recreation site on the south side of the lake. It is hoped that the facilities to be provided under this contract can be completed within three years, with the work beginning this summer. Construction of a marina by the concessioner will permit Panhandle boating enthusiasts to leave their boats in the lake, at moorings, through the season. The boat ramps already built and being built will continue to serve boaters who bring their craft to the lake by trailer.

Development of recreation facilities at the lake will be advanced but not completed by the expenditure proposed in this year's National Park Service budget requests to Congress. I am convinced that the heavy volume of visitors which may be expected at the lake will require a continuing, long-term program of facilities development in order that the public may be properly served.

Now that spring is coming and many roads, boat ramps, picnic areas and other facilities are completed at Lake Meredith, the number of visitors, especially on weekends will increase. People visiting the lake these days are seeing the beginnings of what is surely destined to become one of the most important and heavily patronized recreation areas in the West.

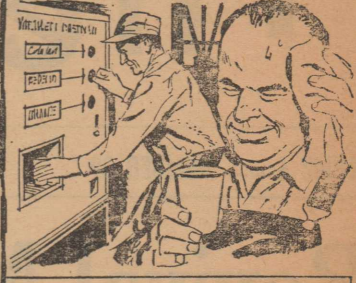

BANK NOTES by Malcolm

DID YOU KNOW...

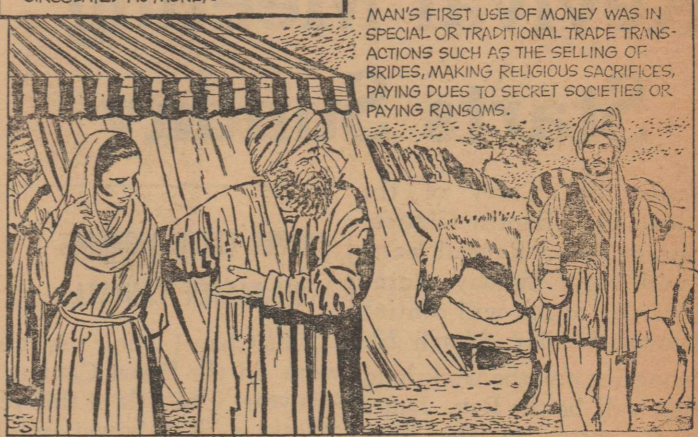

ONE ANSWER TO THE COIN SHORTAGE CAUSED BY THE CIVIL WAR WAS THE ENCASING OF POSTAGE STAMPS IN SMALL HOLDERS THAT COULD BE CIRCULATED AS MONEY.

IF THE U.S. CHANGES THE SILVER CONTENT OF ITS COINS, ONE CRUCIAL PROBLEM WILL HAVE TO BE RESOLVED—THE NEW COINS MUST HAVE MAGNETIC PROPERTIES SIMILAR TO THE OLD SO THEY WILL WORK IN THE NATION'S 4.5 MILLION COIN-OPERATED VENDING MACHINES.

MAN'S FIRST USE OF MONEY WAS IN SPECIAL OR TRADITIONAL TRADE TRANSACTIONS SUCH AS THE SELLING OF BRIDES, MAKING RELIGIOUS SACRIFICES, PAYING DUES TO SECRET SOCIETIES OR PAYING RANSOMS.

The National Park Service is enthusiastic about the possibilities of making a very enjoyable National Monument at the Alibates site. And the Park Service is similarly enthusiastic about the great potential of Lake Meredith as a water recreation area, as are all of us in the Texas Panhandle.

What's your clothes message? Clothes tell a great deal about you, even when you're not aware of it, according to fashion leaders at Faultless Starch Company. Take the colors you wear.

If you wear red, especially bright red, you're telling people you have a bright outlook on everything!

Pink is a gentle form of red. When you wear pink, you're feminine, charming, and warm.

People who wear blue are calm and cool and extremely clever. They take the time to think things through and make definite decision.

You're ready for anything when you wear yellow! And like red, it stops traffic. People who wear yellow know what they want to do. And they go ahead and do it!

Green, a combination of blue and yellow, is calm like blue and bright like yellow. When you wear green, you're clever, logical and sensible.

So what about your clothes message? Your closet probably contains clothes in all these colors, as well as fashion-right variations like cranberry or turquoise. Some days, you'll wear combinations of colors for a fashion look. But there's one thing your clothes all need, regardless of color, and that's FFF—Faultless Fashion Finishing.

FFF starts the moment you bring a new dress, blouse or pair of slacks home from the store. That includes keeping buttons on, regular launderings according to the hang-tag instructions, and ironing with Spray-On starch or Fabric Finish to give your clothes just enough body and keep them looking like new throughout their fashion life. Here's how to test your clothes message: Check your color personality with a look in your closet and drawers. And test your clothes' appearance with a look in the mirror!

Is your family budget somewhat restricted? Careful planning, shopping, storage, and food preparation can help you save money and nutrients.

Quickly refrigerate fresh foods. Frozen foods should be pushed right into the freezer and held at zero degrees until used. Food preparation methods that limit exposure time of freshly-peeled or cut foods to the air, and cooking methods that prevent loss of vitamins and minerals, should be used. Meat should be cooked in a manner that prevents shrinkage. Moderate to low temperature is usually preferable.

Fryers are the leading feature in most markets this week though a number of excellent values are available in hind-quarter beef cuts as well as chuck roasts and steaks, round steak, ground beef and liver.

Weather has controlled the available supply of vegetables for several weeks. Head lettuce has improved in supply and quality though some stores are offering small heads. Cabbage, carrots, dry yellow onions, and turnips are the more economical choices. Fresh asparagus has made an appearance on some produce counters but it is high in price—a luxury choice that is only fair quality.

Bananas are one of the key fruits with many stores featuring them at bargain prices. Oranges continue in heavy supply, while grapefruit supplies are less and slightly higher prices are noted. Temple oranges are just about finished for this season. Apples, grapes and pears are coming from storage. Fresh strawberries are on the market, but supplies are light and prices are high.

Hamburger, that old American tradition, is still popular with the school-age set. Careful planning in the schools help hamburger keep its popularity. The School Lunch Division of the USDA Consumer and Marketing Services safeguards the quality of hamburger served to school children. In 1953, the USDA began buying hamburger for school lunches to reduce a beef surplus and provide lunches for millions of the nation's school children. Hamburger proved so popular that now schools spent 37½ percent of their meat dollar for ground beef. The beef which goes into hamburger is examined by C & MS personnel—usually a Federal grader—for freshness and grade of beef. Only certain parts of the beef may be used and the fat content for each lot must stay within a relatively narrow range. The ground beef must be packaged, frozen and shipped in accord with requirements designed to maintain quality and freshness. Random samples and chemical tests also help keep quality high for school lunch hamburger.

Today's children are fortunate when parents and teachers work together as a team for their best personal development. A teacher, to be really effective, must know something about the student's parents and home. The more she knows about the values, the problems, and interests within that home, the more helpful she can be as a teacher. When parents visit their child's classroom, it serves two purposes. It pleases the child, and enables the parents to see the teacher in action and learn something of what is expected of their child in school. They also learn something about the routine of the school and the other pupils. Much more can be done for the child's welfare when teachers and parents have more understanding of each other and the child. "You and the teacher can reduce pressure when this seems best. You can challenge the child to do his best and help him feel that he is achieving to match his abilities."

JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES RETURN FROM PLAINVIEW MEETING

Jehovah's Witnesses' "Make Disciples of People of All the Nations" assembly was climaxed in Plainview, Sunday, when district supervisor, Malcolm Van Ike, said, "Prophecies of the global flood in Noah's day and the delivery of the Hebrews through the Red Sea are a fore-glimpse of God's concern of the needs of His people in this twentieth century."

To advance the disciplining work, a new series of public talks for the next six months was outlined and will be given by an exchange of speakers in the 15-congregation circuit.

The Watchtower Society, directive agency of Jehovah's Witnesses, is furnishing four, six months, series of subject outlines for the 5,099 congregations in the United States.

E. A. Grover, who makes weekly visits three times a year to the congregations in Texas Circuit 9, in his closing talk said, "Don't let yourself become apathetic but continue to build up your faith, hope and love through study, meditation, association and unselfish service. Your life depends upon it."

V. D. Tiffin, presiding minister of the Quitaque Congregation, said, "The home Bible study service carried on by Jehovah's Witnesses was pointed to by means of demonstrations, discussions and talks as a principle means of carrying out the disciplining work."
