Good Showers Fall On Area

Beneficial showers have fallen over our area the past week and prospects to get crops off to a good start look pretty good here.

According to City Manager James Brunson, a half an inch of rain fell here last Thursday afternoon; Saturday afternoon .3 of an inch was registered and Wednesday night .60 of an inch fell here in town. The amounts varied over the area, of course, but most reports are that nearly everyone received good showers.

Scott Bolton, who has been in the Stanley Hospital at Matador since being struck by an auto on Tuesday night, May 22, was moved to Plainview Hospital & Clinic last Sunday. Dr. J. M. His own doctors in Lubbock had already ordered him to close the hospital at Matador and they forbid his returning to Matador at the present time, although he will be released from the hospital sometime this week, barring complications. The hospital in Matador was closed Wednesday of this week.

Scott is still suffering considerable pain from his injuries, but according to reports, seems to be improving.

BRISCOE HISTORICAL SOCIETY HOLDS REGULAR MEETING

The Briscoe County Historical Society met recently in the 66 Restaurant in Silvertown with Mrs. C. O. Allard presiding.

It was voted during the business meeting to have the 66 Restaurant as the regular meeting place for the Society. Cards are to be printed and mailed to members to notify them of the meetings.

It was also voted to have a "Did You Know" column in the paper. This will consist of anything pertaining to the Historical work. It was also decided to have a program at each meeting, with the salute to the flag, singing the Texas song and a speaker. A committee consisting of Mrs. Alton A. Johnson, Mrs. Myrtice Gillespie and Mrs. M. G. Moreland, was appointed to work out program plans.

Alvin Redin, Historical Markers Chairman, reported that the material was almost ready to send in to get the medallion for the jail. Bill Griffin reported that he had one Veteran Soldier Marker ordered, and that he possibly would have two more to order.

Marie Garrison stated that she had talked to several people concerning maps to be drawn out to put on place mats showing the different places of interest one might see in Briscoe County. March 15, 1967 will be the 75th anniversary of the Historical work, and this was discussed some at the meeting.

Mrs. Gordon Alexander presented a talk on the historical work to the Francis Club, and Judge M. G. Moreland presented a talk to the Lions Club on the RAMPS Program recently.

Surprises were in store for Mrs. Allard and Mr. Griffin, who had celebrated birthdays recently, when cakes were presented to them in honor of their birthdays. Mrs. Allard also received a silver charm for her bracelet which said "A Day To Remember," and on the back was engraved, "Briscoe County Historical Chairman." Mrs. Allard brought a beautiful bouquet of roses for the table to help celebrate Mr. Griffin's birthday. Everyone sang "Happy Birthday," and refreshments of cake and coffee were served.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Allard, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Redin, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Alexander, Judge and Mrs. M. G. Moreland, Mrs. Fred Lemons, Mrs. True Burson, Mrs. Carroll Garrison, O. R. Stark, Jr., Mrs. Alton Johnson, Mrs. Myrtice Gillespie and Mrs. Bertton Hughes.

We surely hate to see him go, the boys being very much in the minority in this class!

The class presented Stephen with a shirt and a billfold.

Games were played by the group and refreshments of Ritz Crackers and peanut butter sandwiches, cookies and fruit punch were enjoyed by all. We were happy to have Stephen's mother, Mrs. Bob McWilliams at the picnic with us.

CHAPEL CHOIR PRESENTS FINAL PROGRAM OF SEASON

Sunday night, May 29, the Chapel Choir presented a cantata to the First Baptist Church to end its year of choral singing. The title of the cantata was "The Sower and the Seed" by Robert Graham. The parable of the Sower and the Seed is found in Matthew 13:3-8.

The following young people were present to sing in the choir Sunday evening: Beverly and Rhonda Rogers, Jackie Cheatham, Patsy McDonald and Sheila Payne in the soprano section; Kay Cochran, Billie Sue Cheatham, Janet Bailey, and Sherry Stark in the alto section; Scotty Stark, Eddie Owens, Jimmy Monk, Lyn Payne, Max Ham and Stanley Price in the boy's section.

The girls were real proud of the boys because they did so good. In practice the boys had been "goofing off" you might say, but they made up for it Sunday night. The girls also did a wonderful job on their part, and they were also better than they had been in practice.

After practice Sunday afternoon the Choir presented gifts to Mrs. Mary Stark, the director, and Mrs. Peggy Stevens, the accompanist, to show their appreciation for the hard work they have put in to try to make a good choir.

The choir members would also like to express their appreciation to Mrs. Jack Cheatham for making sure that they had refreshments after a long, hard hour of practice. Also, they would like to extend their thanks to the ladies who prepared the refreshments.

The choir has had a good year. The average attendance at practice has been 20. We feel this is a remarkable number of young people to show interest in Christian work. The choir has been complimented on its fine work by many people from out of town and by the citizens of Quitaque. This makes the members feel better than anyone realizes. The Chapel Choir needs your support and we hope next fall when we start again that you will be behind us all the way.

Don R. Johnson of Briscoe is the new head basketball coach of Quitaque High School, it was announced early this week. Coach Johnson was hired last Saturday night at a special meeting of the Quitaque School Board.

Mr. Johnson will coach both boys and girls.

Coach Johnson, 29, replaces Gene King as head coach here. Coach King resigned recently to accept a post as Counselor in the Lockney school system.

Coach Johnson brings one of the better coaching records in the Panhandle to Quitaque, having coached 3 years at Adrian, then the past three years at Briscoe.

A native of Quail, the new Quitaque coach graduated from high school in 1956 and was named all-area and all-state at Quail High that year.

He attended Clarendon College two years on an athletic scholarship, playing basketball and baseball at that institution and was president of the student body both years at C.J.C. following his graduation from Clarendon. Mr. Johnson attended Texas Tech one semester, then transferred to West Texas State, where he received his BS degree in August, 1960.

At Adrian, Coach Johnson coached only the boys team and in three seasons there his teams won 71 games and lost 29. His teams won two consecutive district championships and won third place at regional in 1962. That team was beaten in the semifinals by Quitaque, who won out in the finals that night over Briscoe and went on to the state meet at Austin.

In three seasons at Briscoe his teams won 78 games while losing only 17. His teams won two consecutive district titles and last season won 32 consecutive games without a loss before losing to Darrouzett in bi-district. In three years as girls coach at Briscoe his teams won 80 games and lost 20, winning two consecutive district championships and advancing to the state meet in 1965.

His overall coaching record in boys competition is 149 wins and 46 losses; for the girls it is 80 wins and 20 losses.

Coach Johnson said that he is really looking forward to coaching here, and from what he has heard, believes that he will have a very fine group of prospects on both boys and girls squads. He told the Board and Supt. Moseley Saturday night that he would make no promises as to how many games the teams would win under his coaching, but went on to say he would promise one thing, and that he would field a hustling pair of teams Coach and Mrs. Johnson do not have any children. He is mer on a National Science Foundation scholarship and they will move to Quitaque, probably the latter part of August.

The Johnsons are members of the Methodist Church.

Flowers were presented the oldest person present, to the youngest and to the one traveling the greatest distance to be at the service and Bill was presented the "bouquet of gladioli for the one traveling the greatest distance to the service. All of his family were present except one.

Mr. and Mrs. Griffin returned home Monday by way of Lampasas, where they picked up her brother, Charlie Deere, who came home with them to visit for awhile.

The Colors Go 'Round And 'Round

Whirligig zinnias, as their name implies, have colors which whirl around one another in each big bloom. The combinations are sometimes of two, sometimes of three different hues.

Whirls of color in each big, double bloom; combinations of hues that are unusual, and strong, sturdy plants are what you may expect when you grow Whirligig zinnias this year.

These are new and are quite the gayest mixture of shades imaginable. The colors revolve around carmine which is inherent in the strain. But the carmine is in combination with pink, white, golden yellow or even orange. Sometimes there are three of these shades blended in a single blossom.

Wonderful for cutting and arranging indoors or forming a blaze of unusual brilliance in the garden, Whirligig zinnias start blooming early in the season. Eventually plants will be more than 1 1/2 feet high and 2 feet or more in width. So, you see, they're quite capable of supporting the 4 1/2-inch-diameter flowers.

A SPRAY IN TIME

To twist a phrase, "a spray in time saves nine." The "nine" in this case, are not the stitches of the old adage but steps. For example: if you spray and shine the metal in bathroom and kitchen fixtures in a quick, once-a-day ritual, you'll save steps getting other cleaning equipment necessary when soap and spongers build up on shiny metal. If you spray an oven after it's clean and before it has a chance to get dirt on it, a quick swipe with a sponge or dishcloth after each use could save you at least nine painful oven-cleaning steps. And in the laundry room or wherever your washing machine and other laundry equipment reside, spraying with a good enamel or metal cleaner after your biggest weekly wash can save you a long chore of actually scrubbing the equipment. (Saves wear on enameled surfaces too.)

These are examples to encourage you to look around your own house to see what nine steps you can save. These may even be in the closet where a thorough air freshening spray every few days (and leaving the door open whenever possible while you're dressing) can save you the far longer chore of taking the closet apart. (This will have to be done at least twice a year, of course, — and sprays can cut down time there — anti-moth, anti-odor and anti-dirt sprays of various kinds designed to speed up cleaning.)

One good way of getting the aerosol aids close at hand is to use an off-season (or an off-hour) to organize your army of aero-sols. Start with the grocery list — marking it off for two or three (depending on the number of places you want duplicate cleaning equipment) of each of the aerosol sprays which can be used in several ways.

One authority, the Aerosol Division of the Chemical Specialties Manufacturers Association, suggests the following basic checklist of aerosols for cleaning aids:

- Glass and metal cleaning spray (two or three of any good brand to be stored in different places.)
- Spray Tile Cleaner (one or two — depending on number and location of bathrooms or other tiled areas.)
- Oven Spray Cleaners (two types — one to clean, one to protect, both to be kept conveniently in or near the kitchen.)
- Spray Disinfectant: (two or three — preferably of a type which combines extra germicidal action and pleasant odor or an odor-masking ingredient which has no scent of its own.)
- Spray Furniture Polish (one for each area or each floor of your house.)

These few basics can do a vast number of simple jobs — fast. Other aids you might need with them are an ample supply of sponges, clean rags and perhaps an apron with pockets, to give you literally a free hand while you're doing your fast once-over all over the house.

Sunday from the University of Arizona where he has been attending college for the last two semesters. Jimmy will attend summer school at West Texas State this summer.

Then, looking some 300 feet straight up, one has an uninterrupted view inside the great dome. You can dream what the future has in store for Texas, as you lift your eyes.

Memories make Texans proud of their heritage. The present, too, is a challenge to continue Texas' great role in the affairs of our Nation. We all want our children to have a secure and safe future.

WATER SKI SAFETY

The safety of any water skier is dependent to a great extent on the good sense of the tow boat driver. If your driver is careless or reckless, change his ways or change drivers. Here are a few commandments of safe water skiing from the Mercury outboard people: a) insist that there be an observer in the boat at all times; b) always wear a life saving device; c) make sure your foot binders fit properly and all ski equipment is free of protruding sharp screws, rough edges etc.; d) ski lines and handles should be free of complicated hooks, eyes and other devices as well as unnecessary loops that might entangle, catch or cut a skier; e) try to fall forward when you feel you're about to take a spill; f) don't ski at night or in waters which are unfamiliar to you.

For Tender Tummies

A new and exceptionally mild hybrid cucumber is called "burpless."

Certain vegetables just don't seem to suit certain stomachs. Thus, it's news when a variety of vegetable is found which is so mild and bland that even tender tummies can tolerate it and their owners enjoy it.

Such a vegetable is Burpless, a first generation hybrid cucumber. It may be grown in many climates, even hot ones. The vines may be trained upward on fence or trellis as well as allowed to spread outward on the ground.

Burpless grows a good-sized cuc — is best harvested at 10-inch length. It may be used sliced, in salads, or cut into sticks and eaten as a finger food.

Should tomatoes, instead of cucumbers, be the vegetable that your tummy can't take, try growing White Beauty which has ivory skin, white flesh. It is so low in acid that people unable to eat any other kind of tomato can enjoy White Beauty.

Spray Your Weeds Away

Dig dandelions? Pull crabgrass? These are king-size jobs. Today's informed home owner saves time and work by weeding with chemicals in a sprayer. This spring when you take the offensive against the annual weed invasion in your lawn, do it the easy and sure way with a sprayer.

The advantages? For take-it-easy weeding, nothing beats letting chemistry do the work for you. You will avoid such weeding casualties as calloused hands and aching back. You get more thorough results and save hours of work.

When you spray weeds while they are young, before they go to seed and multiply, you keep down the weed population. Also, by eliminating them in their seedling stage, they have little chance to steal food and water from wanted plants.

Selective weed control chemicals, such as 2,4-D, used according to the manufacturer's instructions, will quickly clear out broadleaf weeds such as dandelion and plantain without damaging permanent lawn grasses not susceptible to them.

Most important, thorough application is the key to your weed control program. For proper application of chemicals, one of the most desirable tools is the compressed air sprayer.

It has a 1-1/2 to 5 gallon tank. A hand pump compresses air in the tank so you can spray continuously without pumping. It can be carried by hand, over the shoulder, or mounted on a cart. Some models have wheels already attached. Select one that has the capacity to spray your lawn without frequent refilling, yet is compact enough to be handled comfortably.

For gardeners who need larger equipment, a small power sprayer provides easy spraying at a moderate cost. The most popular power sprayers for use around the home are from 10 to 15 gallon capacity.

The National Sprayer and Duster Association recommends reserving one sprayer for weed control only. It's difficult to be sure that weed control chemicals have been thoroughly cleaned from a sprayer. Any residue left in it could injure flowers and other plants.

For spraying weeds, you should be sure the spray comes out in coarse droplets. A fan nozzle operated at low pressure and held 18 inches or less from the surface, distributes the spray evenly and keeps it from drifting onto desirable plants.

If you are lucky enough to have only occasional weeds in your lawn, you may be able to control them with "spot" spraying. You simply aim the spray at those scattered dandelions and plantain and do the job with a minimum of chemical.

In lawns heavily infested with weeds, it is best to spray the entire area. You can get multi-nozzle boom attachments to use on compressed air sprayers, wheel-mounted sprayers and small power sprayers.

A spray boom, with multiple fan nozzles, permits you to cover large areas more rapidly. To avoid skips and overlaps when moving back and forth across the lawn, you may wish to use stakes and cords for guide lines.

Maintenance of a weed-free lawn today comes easily. In some areas, crabgrass may be the biggest trouble maker. It germinates in the spring and grows rapidly, reaching an unsightly maturity when permanent grasses, such as Kentucky bluegrass, experience their summer dormant period.

In the spring, before crabgrass seedlings emerge from the soil, crabgrass control materials can be applied. These materials are generally applied in dry, granular form in combination with fertilizers. Some crabgrass formulations can be applied as spray. Once crabgrass has sprouted, you will need a post-emergence crabgrass control chemical, applied strictly according to the manufacturer's instructions.

After eliminating the weeds in the lawn, you can develop a dense, vigorous growing turf, by following a regular mowing, watering, and fertilizing schedule. Weeds find it difficult to get a foothold in a thick, healthy turf.

To keep walks, driveways and patios free of weeds, you can use a non-selective chemical which sterilizes such areas and destroys all vegetation.

The best time to spray is in the morning of a clear day when the air is calm and the temperature between 70° and 85°.

How To Pick Out The Right Barbecue Grill

The barbecue boom is still booming. Americans are now spending more than $100 million every year for barbecue grills and accessory outdoor cooking equipment and this figure is expected to grow rapidly with population increases, suburban growth trends and the increase in leisure time.

Barbecue buyers face wide choice.

According to recent surveys, about seven out of ten American families cook out of doors frequently, thanks to convenient, inexpensive and easily operated mobile barbecue grills. And with hundreds of different barbecues to choose from — ranging in price from a few dollars to more than a hundred — selection of the proper equipment can be confusing.

In recent years, the round brazier model, generally costing about $15, has been the most popular. However, retailers are reporting a trend to higher quality, better equipped wagon-style models. These bigger units with their full range of equipment until recently were priced in the luxury class. But design improvements, and manufacturing advances have brought their cost within reach of any outdoor chef.

"As a result, the two-barbecue family is becoming as commonplace as the two-car family," says Eric Mell, vice president of Tonka Corporation, a leading manufacturer of outdoor barbecues.

"Barbecue enthusiasts are finding the ideal combination is a simple, low-priced grill for barbecuing hamburgers, hot dogs and steaks together with a fully equipped wagon barbecue that challenges the imagination and versatility of the outdoor cook. Lower-priced portable grills with folding or retractable legs and carrying handles are ideal for picnics or camping trips, while the big wagon models, complete with smoker hoods and warming ovens, will prepare the most elaborate meals."

Mell cautions both novice and experienced backyard chefs to "shop around" and compare before purchasing a barbecue. Designs may seem outwardly similar, but if you compare construction and operating features, you'll discover a wide range of values.

Here are his tips for the prospective barbecue buyer:

- Often overlooked is ease of assembly. Most barbecues are sold "knocked-down" and the impulsive buyer may find himself faced with the prospect of a very late dinner while he fits and tightens dozens of screws and fastenings. Quality barbecue models have major components pre-assembled at the factory and include easily handled fasteners for hoods and sockets for legs. This makes for quick, easy assembly and a more sturdy, durable unit.

- Once considered accessories, spits and motors are now included with all but the least expensive barbecues. The spit bar and forks should be sturdy enough to hold a sizeable roast or fowl. Look for the Underwriters' Laboratories listing on the motor and be sure the electric cord is long enough. An on-off motor switch and hinged mounting that allows the motor to pivot away for convenient basting are useful features.

- One reason for the growing popularity of wagon barbecues is a smoker door which converts the grill into a true barbecue oven. Enclosed "smoke cooking" gives a juicy, savory barbecue flavor. Check to see that the smoker hood includes a heat-proof oven window, vent controls essential to maintaining cooking temperatures and a temperature gauge.

- Design innovations have made cleaning your barbecue a simple job. Built-in vent openings and "fire starter" units double as convenient clean-out points for removing ashes. Fire pans of wagon barbecues are usually removable for quick cleaning and the double glass of up-to-date wagon models are sized to permit cleanup in the kitchen sink or dishwasher.

- Grill adjustment is critical for anything but the simplest kind of barbecue cooking. The range of adjustment of the grill to the fire makes you the master of your coals, allows you to regulate cooking temperatures. Check carefully the amount of adjustment possible and the ease of operation in the adjusting mechanism. One wagon line, for example, features a self-contained firepan that can be adjusted to eight positive cooking heights beneath the grill.

Hoods add to the cost of basic barbecue units but they perform useful functions. They reflect heat, a necessity for spit cooking, and shelter food and fire from wind. In more expensive models, hoods are combined with useful warming ovens equipped with vent controls and temperature gauge.

Assembly ease is most important.

Starting and maintaining a good cooking fire is basic in barbecuing and special features have been built into new barbecues to make this easy. One manufacturer has incorporated built-in, adjustable vents to provide adequate draft in bowl-type barbecues and has developed a unique "fire-starter" unit which requires only a sheet or two of newspaper to start charcoal quickly and safely.

Household Hints

Mary Poppins' "spoonful of sugar" helps many a reluctant youngster swallow his medicine. But the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association warns that there's a special danger when children can find and help themselves to medications which look and taste too much like candy. Here are a few further tips passed along by the drug industry, on how to use and store medicine safely:

DOSAGE DO'S AND DON'TS

- Store medicines in a cabinet, preferably locked, out of reach of children.
- Keep only medicines currently in use.
- Destroy old prescriptions, because most drugs may lose potency or be chemically changed by time.
- Read the label carefully before opening the bottle or box. Read it again before taking the medicine.
- If you have more than one box of pills or capsules to take, be sure one is closed before opening the other. This avoids switching covers and identifications.

- When pouring from a bottle, keep the label up so that any dripping will not soil it and make it hard to read.
- When taking medicine at night, be certain that the light is on and you are wearing glasses if you need them. It is even more important to read and understand labels when you are sleepy than when fully awake during the day.
- Keep medicines away from the bed. Make it necessary to get up to take them, or for someone to bring them. Drugs and medicines on the nightstand by one's bed are dangerous because an overdose may occur if the medication is accidentally repeated while one is sleepy.
- Keep medicines in the original labeled container. If you carry pills in a pocket pill box, identify them with a label. Never put medicines in containers identified with foods.
