Louie Kitchens, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today that he was making the announcement to correct any possible misunderstanding about the time for filing nominating petitions.

"An announcement that nomination petitions are being received is always made in advance of the time for election of community committeemen," the Chairman explained, "and some farmers may get the mistaken impression that the petitions may be filed only during the approximately 35 days between the time of the announcement and the time for voting. I hope this statement will clarify the issue.

Any local resident who is eligible to take part in one or more of the farm programs which ASC committeemen help to administer may vote in the elections, and he may hold office as a committeeman regardless of race, color, creed, or national origin.

PROGRESS IN STRENGTHENING RURAL AREAS TO BE REVIEWED

Progress made in helping more than 2 million people strengthen their farms and communities will be reviewed at a conference in Denver, Colorado, June 20-23 attended by L. J. Cappleman, Texas director for the federal credit agency.

Scheduled to address the meeting is Howard Bertsch, national head of the Farmers Home Administration. Agency representatives from fifteen states will attend.

Agency services to be evaluated include recently inaugurated insured credit programs for rural housing, and rural community waste disposal systems, also newly authorized grant aid for development of rural water and sewer systems.

Also to be reviewed are recently expanded credit services that help low-income rural families develop income-producing trades and services, enable family farmers to improve, purchase and develop farm land and buildings.

Total credit aid to be advanced this year to family farmers and rural communities in Texas is estimated at $106,000,000, according to the State Director.

Mr. Cappleman also reports that six new county offices were opened in Texas during Fiscal 1966. This makes a total of 137 full time county offices serving the 254 counties in the State. Recommendations for adding more field offices in 1967 are under consideration, as well as plans for adjusting the agency's administrative functions to provide better service from the standpoint of personnel, office space and convenience to rural people in their dealings with the agency.

The Farmers Home Administration through 1600 county offices located throughout rural America provides credit assistance accompanied by management assistance. Funds advanced by the agency are used by rural families to finance family farms, develop rural community facilities, and reduce rural poverty.

The agency's funds supplement credit provided by other lenders.

As of December 31, 1965, the agency reported losses of less than one percent on $7.2 billion in loans advanced through current programs.

The Tulia Farmers Home Administration office which serves Swisher and Briscoe counties is located at 222 W. Broadway. The County Supervisor, Donald B. Cruce reports that housing and small business loans can now be made to eligible applicants in any of the towns or rural communities, including Tulia in either of these counties. Since the beginning of the economic Opportunity Act of 1964, 13 low income families in these counties have received small business loans to improve their level of income. Of these, one family received the maximum of $2500.00, to build a two-compartment, automotive shop; another received a loan to purchase a pickup and portable welder to supplement their existing small welding shop; and a colored man purchased a lawn and garden tractor. The maximum repayment period of this loan is 15 years and bears interest at 4 1/2 percent.

For further information contact the local Farmers Home Administration office in Tulia.

CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS' WASHINGTON REPORT
No Admission Fees To Be Charged At Lake Meredith, Rogers States

Congressman Walter Rogers announced last week that no entry fees will be charged this summer to recreation areas at Lake Meredith. The lake will be one of the few major Federal recreation areas to which access will be free of charge in 1966.

"After consultation with officials of the Department of the Interior and the National Park Service, I have been assured that fees will not be charged this year," Congressman Rogers said.

"It has been my conviction that fees for admission to Federal recreation areas should not be charged anywhere in the Federal system. I opposed fees when the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act of 1965 was before the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, and I opposed admission fee charges when the bill was before the House," Congressman Rogers said.

The Congressman added, "I am continuing efforts to amend the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act to exempt Federal recreation areas from admission fee charges because I believe that the people should have the right of free access to what is, in fact, the property of the people." Congressman Rogers continued, "I am strongly opposed to the idea that a man taking his family for a Sunday drive should have to pay merely to enter an area set aside for all the people under public ownership."

Recreation facilities at Lake Meredith are being developed under appropriations authorized by legislation introduced and pushed to enactment by Congressman Rogers. Approximately $500,000 is to be spent in the continuing development program during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

"Because the work has not been completed it is only proper that Lake Meredith should be exempt from the provisions of the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act which requires charging admission and facilities use fees," the Congressman said.

"It is my hope that before another recreation season comes

In the latter sessions Congressman Rogers continued to push for adoption for a proposal he has introduced to include the Texas Panhandle and the High Plains area in any future planning for disposition of water resources.

HOME NOTES
(By Becky Hall)

Briscoe County Home Demonstration Agent

Your Home Demonstration Club members in Quitaque missed a most worthwhile program if you were not there this month for Mrs. Allen Brummett's program on "Safe use of Household Insecticides." The bulletin "Texas Guide for Controlling Household Insects" will be made available to you at the Bank on the bulletin rack. Next month your program is to be on "Preserving Fruit and Vegetables by the Freezing Method."

Your president, Mrs. Mary Pittman and others on the executive committee are doing an outstanding job, but they need your support and your suggestions for programs you want in the future. Let us not let them become discouraged for we all need a pat on the back for a job well done, at least now and then.

Reagan Brown Extension Sociologist, reports one of the most successful years in the 19 year history of the Texas Community Improvement Program. Two hundred and eighty-three communities, involving some 50,000 families participated last year. One hundred and one communities won awards.

Enrollment cards are available for these communities that are interested. March 26, 1966 to March 26, 1967 is the time the program runs for 1966-67. The earlier the start the better chance a community has to win an award.

Mr. Grosdidier and I are both anxious to help so visit us or call upon us to visit you to discuss one of America's greatest programs of grass root action. We are attempting to set a new record this year. We want your community to be a part of the effort, "To Make Texas Even Better."

Pineapple Fritters Have Interesting Shapes

Serve hot and handsome pineapple fritters with Canadian bacon for a very special breakfast. Juicy canned pineapple tidbits go into a classic batter. As the fritters fry to a golden brown they take on interesting shapes. Use the pineapple syrup as the base of the butter rich maple sauce to serve with them.

PINEAPPLE FRITTERS

- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 cup sifted flour
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 (13 1/2-ounce) can pineapple tidbits
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 1/2 cup maple syrup
- 1 tablespoon butter

Combine egg yolks, milk and lemon. Add to flour resifted with sugar, baking powder and salt stirring only until smooth. Beat egg whites stiff, but not dry. Drain pineapple, saving syrup. Fold beaten whites and pineapple into batter. Make 16 fritters by dropping tablespoons of batter into hot deep fat (375 degrees F.). Fry until golden brown on one side; turn to brown other side. Meanwhile mix together cornstarch with remaining 1 tablespoon sugar and reserved pineapple syrup. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until thickened and clear. Add maple syrup and butter. Serve with fritters. Makes 4 servings.

is often used in connection with pesticide products. You should know what it means. Toxicity means the capacity of a substance to produce injury. A substance if properly handled, that can injure or kill an insect will not necessarily harm a human.

The "bug bomb" sprays you buy for mosquito, housefly and roach control can cause injury and possible death to humans if they are consumed in sufficient amounts. However, highly toxic materials are not generally used in the home as insecticides. When buying a "concentrate" to mix with water in a pressurized spray device, you might be involved with a material that is more toxic.

When you handle any pesticide, avoid repeated or lengthy contact of the material on your skin and the prolonged breathing of dusts or mists. When you're using concentrates you have to take special precautions. These will be listed on the labels.

Avoid spilling concentrates on your skin and keep them out of the eyes, nose and mouth. If any is spilled, wash it off and change clothing. If any concentrate gets in your eyes, flush with plenty of water for 15 minutes while someone gets your doctor or other medical attention for you.

Insecticides may be classed generally into three groups according to toxicity to humans as: relatively non-toxic, moderately toxic, and highly toxic. All concentrates should be considered as highly toxic. Familiar "relatively non-toxic" insecticides are: carbaryl, malathion, mirex, paris green, rotenone and sulphur.

Those listed as "moderately toxic" are: chlordane, dieldrin, heptachlor, lindane, and toxaphene. Some of the highly toxic materials include endrin, methyl bromide, methyl parathion, nicotine sulfate and parathion.

WHY A HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB IN THE COMMUNITY?

(By Mary Pittman)
All of us want the same basic comforts—to be well fed and clothed, to live in attractive, accommodating homes and to enjoy happy experiences in our homes and communities. This is the objective of all Home Demonstration Clubs. Since our organization, we have had sessions on nutrition, home budgets, gardening, and last week, safety in the use of insecticides

SUMMER FOOT CARE

Proper foot health habits and hygiene are important all year, but particularly so in hot weather, according to the American Podiatry Association. Daily routine care is basically a matter of keeping the feet clean and dry. Seasonal foot problems are likely to fall into two main categories: Disturbances brought on by excessive perspiration; and injuries from accidents and exposure caused by going barefoot.

Dr. E. N. Barron, Sr., President of the American Podiatry Association, points out that a daily foot bath is a must during summer months. Liberal use of good foot powder will also aid in keeping the feet dry, thus helping to prevent many forms of so-called "athlete's foot" from developing.

More frequent changing of shoes and stockings is also recommended during hot weather.

Those going barefoot or wearing open-top or open-toed shoes or sandals should be especially careful to avoid such accidents as stubbing the toe, sunburn, insect bites and a host of other hazards to the feet when they are not protected by regular shoes.

Dr. Barron urges parents to pay more attention to the condition of their children's feet during vacation time. In their full schedule of play and athletic endeavors children are prone to neglect their feet. Special attention should be given to trimming of toenails, checking for blisters and splinters, and avoiding excessive wearing of sneakers.

Many foot disorders often have their beginnings during the hot summer months, only to continue to endure the remainder of the year, stated Dr. Barron. Preventive care is therefore an important aspect of good foot health, he said.

For additional information, write the American Podiatry Association, Office of Information Services, 3301 16th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20010.

You will find many useful books and pamphlets in the First National Bank which have been placed there by Mrs. Hall and Mr. Grosdidier. These are free, so be sure to get yours. There will soon be a pamphlet placed there concerning the use of insecticides, which is very informative.
