P-TA Meeting Well Attended

The Quitaque Parent-Teacher Association met Monday in regular session with a good attendance. The meeting was called to order by the new President, Mrs. Elmer Berryhill. G. R. Colvin, parliamentarian, led the group in the salute to the flag and Supt. Herman Moseley led the invocation.

The Executive Committee presented the recommendation that the local group join the National P-TA in order that it might become an affiliated P-TA. After a discussion period the motion was adopted. Another motion of business was to set the dues at $1.00 per member to cover the National dues, which are 40¢ per person, and to pay for the yearbooks. Another item of business was the adoption of the By-Laws for the local group. The Executive Committee brought suggestions of ways to raise money to meet the budget for the coming year, among them being two "42" tournaments, one in October and one in April. Also, the P-TA plans to have chili suppers before basketball games whenever possible.

Following the business meeting, the speaker, Mrs. Joe Taylor, was introduced by the Program Chairman, Mrs. Truman Metrell.

The month of October is Child Health Month and Mrs. Taylor spoke on Child Health Care and presented facts which were very enlightening to the listeners. Her discussion was very interesting and it impressed through intensive study. Some of the items presented in her talk were that 1 out of 16 babies born have a birth defect of some kind, with 700 each day being born in the United States; there are over 1000 defects that can affect a baby at birth. Hospitals are using so many tests now that many of these defects are caught before the new born baby leaves the hospital and many more can be detected in early childhood if taken to a physician. There are two birth defect centers in Texas, one at Dallas and another at Galveston.

Plainview has recently established a center, the High Plains Center, located in the building formerly used for the day nursery center, and will be for care and rehabilitation of the mentally retarded. Dr. Mary Bussell gives untiringly of her services to this center.

Mrs. Taylor belongs to a club in Lockney that has taken the project of helping the Latin-Americans to help themselves. The project is called "Operation Healthy Baby." These young mothers are teaching classes in cooking, sewing and cleanliness to the Latin American mothers.

The Quitaque P-TA expresses its sincere appreciation to Mrs. Taylor for taking the time to come here and tell of some of the things that are being done for the handicapped.

The Fifth Grade had the highest percentage present for the Elementary grades Monday night and the Juniors had the highest in high school.

LOCKNEY YOUTH NEEDS A HELPING HAND

H. C. Gilley, of Lockney, the star route mail carrier from Lockney to Quitaque reported to friends here one day this week that he has a young neighbor in Lockney who needs blood.

The youth, Steve Williams, is an internal bleeder and he requires from 150 to 200 pints of blood each year for transfusions to replace the blood he loses due to his affliction.

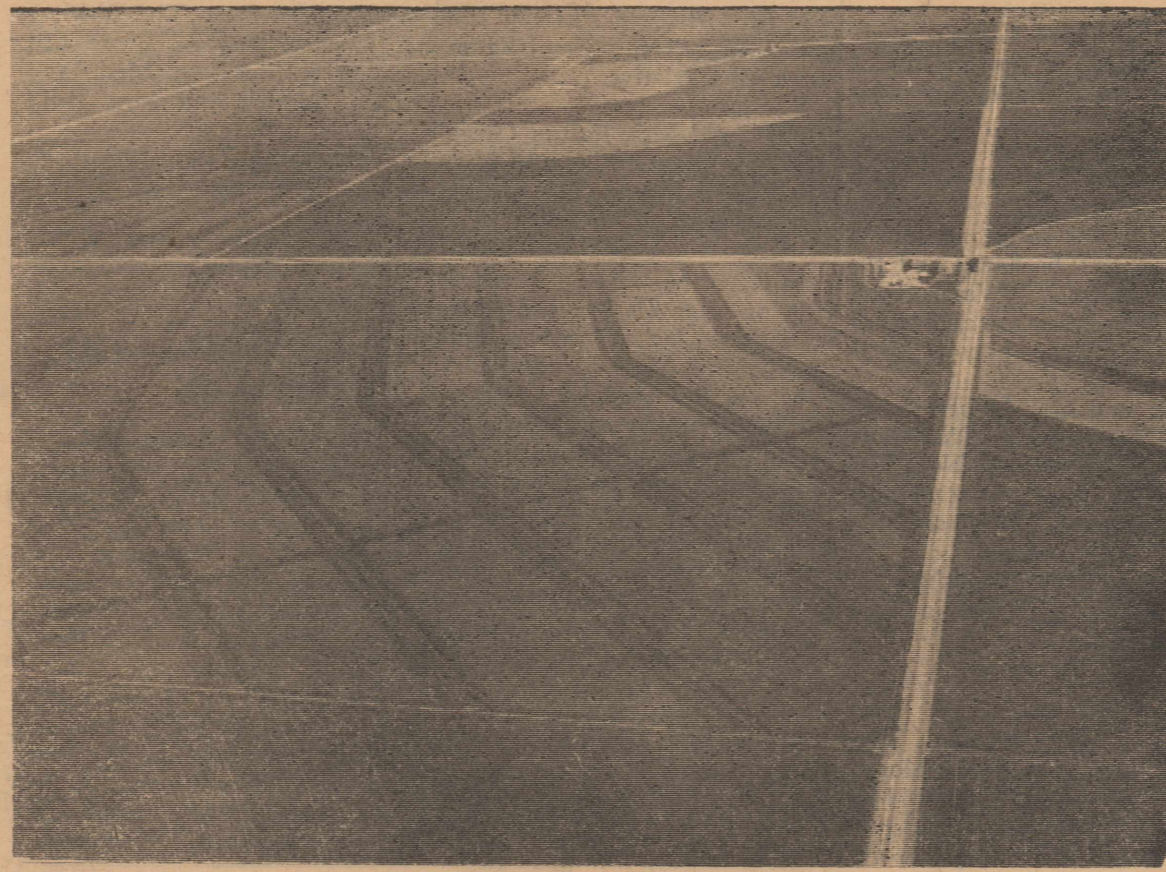

Mr. Gilley reports that Steve, who is the son of a teacher in the Lockney schools, is a very deserving young man and worthy of help.

A blood bank from Fort Worth will be in the basement of Lockney General Hospital on Monday, October 17 from 7 a. m. until 1 p. m. to receive blood from donors for this lad.

According to Mr. Gilley the civic clubs in Lockney are behind this effort to aid this young fellow and they are going to try to secure 200 pints of blood for Steve Monday.

If there are those here who would like to give blood and want to make an appointment for a certain time, they may do so by getting in touch with O. R. Stark at the bank. He has the appointment sheet there. If it makes no difference what time you go, then you may go directly to the hospital and await a turn.

NEW PATTERNS ON THE LAND

A level, closed end, parallel terrace system installed on sandy soils very similar to local soils. L. J. Bedwell, Jr. has completed a terrace system of this type at Gasoline.

"Texans built enough of the new, evenly spaced parallel terraces last year to reach from Texas to Maine — more than 2,200 miles," according to H. N. Smith, State Conservationist, Soil Conservation, Temple. "In fact, nearly half the terraces built in Texas were the new kind."

Co-operators with local conservation districts built more than 5,000 miles of all kinds of cropland terraces last year. 2,265 miles were parallel, as compared to 984 miles in 1965, 440 in 1964.

"This isn't just another Texas brag," Smith continued. "It just shows how popular these modern terraces are becoming. The amount built has doubled two years in a row."

"Terraces spaced an even number of rows apart and without point rows are called parallel terraces," P. M. Price, Texas State Conservation Engineer,

SCS, pointed out, "They really save time and money for the farmer and they do a good job of conserving soil and water."

Parallel terraces are spaced to fit both the farmer's equipment and the lay of the land. For example, they might be built 24 rows apart or 72 rows apart, depending upon the slope. Three, four, six, or eight-row equipment could be used in either of the above cases.

Designing, laying out and building this kind of terrace system, however, is not an easy job. Price said it takes more engineering time to design and stake a parallel system. They may cost more to build. Shorter terraces with more graded waterways may be needed. More cuts and fills are used.

"Our engineers are willing to take extra time to figure out parallel terraces," Price said. "Some short cuts have been developed and we're getting more efficient in working out these modern conservation systems."

Price thinks that in another year or two, 50 to 75 percent of the terraces built in Texas will be the parallel type.

Landowners and operators like them—from city farmers to soil and water conservation district supervisors. They are easy to plow and they save time and fuel. They also eliminate or greatly reduce short rows of uneven length-point rows. Some landowners say they would not have built terraces if SCS had not worked out these which are much easier to farm.

"Cost share from the Great Plains Conservation Program and the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service has helped many farmers build these terraces. Technical help from the SCS and loans from the Farmers Home Administration have helped get this job done," Price concluded.

REVIVAL MEETING STARTS SUNDAY AT QUITAQUE BAPTIST CHURCH

Zip Code Cards Being Delivered

Beginning on Wednesday of this week, cards are being delivered to every resident of the Quitaque area, Postmaster Jarrell Rice reported.

Each card will have spaces for addresses the housesolder wishes ZIP-coded.

After placing their uncoded addresses on cards, preferably printed legibly, they may be dropped into any letter box or returned to their carrier. The Quitaque Postoffice will add the appropriate zip codes and return the cards to the mailer. "No postage is needed," Mr. Rice said.

The project is part of Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien's program to make zip codes more accessible to the mailing public.

In addition to the cards for addresses, a special notice advising each resident of his local zip code will be delivered.

The cards carry a message from Postmaster General O'Brien advising that zip coded mail helps provide better service.

In completing the cards, only the street address and city and state are required. Individual names should not be listed.

Postmaster Rice emphasized the importance of including a return address in the front of the cards so they may be returned after addresses have been coded.

Incomplete addresses which are submitted but cannot be zip coded by the local postoffice, such as those in a city like Washington, D. C. which has the same street names in the Northeast, Northwest, Southeast and Southwest sections, will be sent to the appropriate cities and the codes will be added there.

Additional cards are available from your carrier or from the Post Office.

JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES REPORT OF LUBBOCK MEETING

"Mankind's greatest need can be satisfied only by an entirely new system of things completely denuded of all the old patches." A. A. Catanzaro said Sunday in closing out the three-day training program of Jehovah's Witnesses in Fair Park Coliseum, Lubbock.

Catanzaro, district supervisor, said, "Isaiah foretold a child to be born, in these words, 'the princely rule will come to be upon his shoulder. And his name shall be called Wonderful

"Shell" Beans

These are White Marrowfat beans, one of the best to use when dried and shelled. Grow your own or use green beans that have dried on the vine for delectable dishes.

If the bean crop got ahead of you while you were on vacation and the pods dried on the vines, shell the beans — a perfect job for the youngsters in the family. If the beans are still green, even though the pods were tan, cook them as you do fresh bean pods, allowing sufficient time for them to get tender.

Beans that are really dry can be used in a great many ways as the gardener who grows his own shell beans knows. Baked, boiled, pureed, beans are all possibilities as is their inclusion in soups and casseroles. Because their most popular use is as baked beans, here's a good recipe for that favorite dish:

Soak 1 1/2 cups of dry beans overnight in water to cover them. In the morning bring them to a boil, then simmer slowly until they're soft. Drain them, keeping the water they were cooked in.

Add to the beans 1/4 cup chopped onions, 3 or 4 tablespoons of dark molasses and 1 tablespoon of dry mustard plus ketchup to taste (usually about 3 tablespoons full). Measure half a cup of the water the beans were cooked in and add this.

Place all ingredients in a casserole or other baking dish. Put 3 or 4 slices of salt pork on top of the beans. Bake covered for 5 hours in an oven set at 250 degrees. If necessary add more of the cooking water as baking progresses. Uncover the beans and cook an hour longer. Then serve to 4 delighted people.

Counselor, Mighty God, Eternal Father, Prince of Peace. This child," Catanzaro said, "taught us to pray for the greatest need. Let your kingdom come. Let your will take place in heaven, also upon earth."

The purpose of the Texas 9 circuit assembly was to promote the goal to "Become Spiritual Men with Everlasting Life in View."

Circuit Supervisor, Erwin A. Grover, in his closing talk, "Keep Your Balance with Many Responsibilities," said to the society of ministers. "In these times of frustration, Paul's words are most appropriate, 'keep your sense in all things. Do the work of an evangelizer, fully accomplish your ministry...'"

V. D. Tiffin, supervising minister of the Quitaque Congregation, said, "We look forward to sharing the spiritual gifts we received at the Lubbock assembly with one another and our fellow man."

Green Thumb Tips

While it is understandable for a gardener to admire the huge vegetables displayed at fairs and local flower shows, it would not be sensible to serve these giants to the family for size doesn't necessarily mean flavor.

Use your vegetables when young — as soon as they're of a size to eat. Let someone else take the blue ribbons for size — you take the family's praise for eating quality.

Did you ever stop to think that dampness is as much an enemy of garden tools as dirt? Storing spick and span tools for the winter in a damp basement will ruin them even faster than if they were encrusted with dirt but stored where it is dry.

Many annuals will self-sow if you leave the seed pods on the plants in late summer and fall. If this is what you want, by all means leave them in place.

But do not expect the plants produced next year to necessarily have the big, beautiful blooms.

If the varieties you are growing now are hybrids the results from self-sown seeds will be disappointing. It also does not pay to save seeds from hybrid varieties.

Do take advantage of the colors and forms of the many vegetables available at this harvest time of year and use them for table decorations. Every bit as beautiful as flowers are lush purple eggplant, ripe red tomatoes, yellow squashes and orange pumpkins. Use them with or without flowers.

SCHOOL NOTES —

This is a week of recovery for students here. The six weeks tests were over last week and Wednesday was report card day. We'll need a few extra days to recover from all of this.

The high school library has some new improvements. Two large bookcases have been added. The Senior girls have started transferring books to these new shelves, but there is still a lot of work to be done.

The Sophomores won the P-TA attendance contest Monday night. They are entitled to a free period on Wednesday.

The Homemaking IV girls have had an unusual week. They have been placed in charge of the flower beds in front of the old grade school building. They have put in a lot of work on it already. The Homemaking II girls have also had an unusual week. They are cooking, and one day this week they tried out some new foods (at least some of them did—brains and tongues are a little unusual for them).

Cheerleader tryouts will be held Monday the 17th. We are looking forward to a good year in basketball, and the cheerleaders will help make it possible. We are excited about our first game, which will be Friday, October 21, and we hope all of the local fans will support our team.

FIRST GRADE NEWS —

We are all very busy selling "goodies" at school to win votes for our Halloween Queen and King. Tina Powell and Larry Curry. Its lots of fun. Tina brought some very unusual cookies Tuesday — they were decorated like witches and Jack 'o Lanterns on posts.

Last week we made a belated tour of the campus. First we went to the auditorium to practice some choral reading we had learned; then we paid Coach Johnson a visit in the gym and watched his girls workout; and finally called by Mr. Moseley's office to say hello. He treated us all to Cokes! A very pleasant surprise!

On these hot afternoons, we are enjoying the air conditioner that some of our parents and some future first graders' parents bought for us. Thanks a lot, you folks who helped!

Last week we had the thrill of our lifetime! We carried home our first new READERS! Yes, we can read—what fun!

SECOND GRADE —

The Second Grade has been playing some new games. They are: Ring Toss, Skillball, Toy Builder.

Donna Brown, Kyle McWilliams, and Ruth Purcell attended the Fair.

We enjoy playing in the Rhythm Band.

We have a new filing cabinet. We have a Reading Progress Chart. Kim Baca has read 8 books; Donna Brown has read 3; Lupé 4; Darlene Hendrix 3; Connie Price 6; and Joyce Taylor has read 7.

— Reporter, Kim Baca

FIFTH GRADE NEWS —

In math we have already had two tests. We have learned how to round off numbers. Now we are studying addition.

In English we are writing letters. We have finished writing labels.

In reading we are working in our "Sky Lines" workbook.

It is lots of fun! We are supposed to read and write a report on a library book every 18 weeks. Mrs. Jones is reading "On the Banks of Plum Creek" to us. The Fourth and Fifth Grades are reading together.

We are having a lot of fun in Spelling. We are having easy words like, cup, president, several, etc.

We also enjoy our new teachers. They are: Mrs. Jones, our English, Reading, Health, and Spelling teacher; Mr. Hinton teaches us P.E. and Geography; Mr. Johnson teaches us Math; and Mr. Leeper teaches us Science.

We are having a good year. Reporters: Joan Tyler Laqueta Chadwick

FRESHMAN NEWS —

The Freshman Class doesn't have much news the first six weeks except electing King and Queen, who are Randy Berryhill and Kay Cochran.

All of the Freshmen are working hard to make the varsity basketball squad, but if we don't make it we'll be proud with the "B" team.

JUNIOR CLASS NEWS —

Hurrah! Six Weeks tests are finally over!

The Junior Class elected its Halloween King and Queen.

Janis Johnson and Jimmy Pointer were elected.

We also ordered our play books for the Junior Play.

The Juniors were very happy to hear about the girls basketball team being asked to play at the Plainview Clinic against Floydada on November 12. We are all anxious to see who will receive suits this coming Friday.

SENIOR CLASS NEWS —

Halloween Carnival activities have begun. The senior class would like to encourage each class to work hard to raise funds for their class king and queen. The winner of the contest in elementary school will receive an ice cream party plus the money they make.

We have done considerable planning for the carnival and will begin working on it as soon as possible. We want to make this the best carnival yet, so come out and enjoy a night of fun and games.

IT'S HERE! FALL BOOM ON FISHIN'

AUSTIN—This is the time of year for sportsmen to collect that extra bonus from Texas' distinctive fresh water fishing facilities, reports the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The state's no-closed season on resident game fish, plus the semi-tropical climate assuring pleasant temperatures generally throughout the fall, winter, and spring is geared to the anglers' needs, according to a Department fisheries authority and provides the best fishing during the year.

Gone now are the burning sun and harsh temperatures of summer to convert the out-of-doors into a pleasant playground while fish continue in a biting mood.

Not the least of the fall season attraction is the fascinating change in Nature, the Department noted. The setting soon will assume that seasonal mantle of kaleidoscopic colors. Against this restful backdrop nature's creatures already are in motion—particularly migrating birds.

And great is opportunity for fishermen with a modest overhead. Because, the fisheries man said the plain earth worm now comes into its own as the prize fresh water bait. Catfish, perch and even bass make the worm the number one attraction.

He pointed out that the original bait for fresh water fish serves the same purpose as shrimp in salt water. "Everything will go for shrimp in salt water," he said. "And practically everything will go for worms in fresh water."

He listed minnows as the best natural bait for bass, both black and white. Small minnows, he added are the piece de resistance for the popular crappie. The indispensable artificial baits, of course, will provide the needed variety.

And for all species, the advice is to fish between the surface and thirty feet deep since the cooler nights are causing the surface waters to cool off.

You catfish hounds, he observed, will stick with the trotlines since they are on duty 24 hours a day, particularly for those huge nocturnal prowlers on the bottom.

BUYING EGGS COLLEGE STATION

Do you ever hesitate before the egg counter in the store and try to decide whether large, medium or small size eggs are the better buy? Here's some information on buying eggs from Mrs. Gwen Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist at Texas A&M University.

Eggs are commonly priced per dozen so if you are mathematically inclined, you can easily figure the cost per pound or ounce of the different size of eggs. Just divide per dozen by the weight of the size of eggs you are considering. On the average, small eggs weigh 21 ozs. and large ones weigh 24 ounces per dozen.

While not as accurate, the simpler method of the 7-cent rule comes close enough. Buy the large size eggs if the difference in price is less than 7 cents per dozen. For example, if large eggs are selling for 63 cents per dozen and medium eggs are 59 cents, you will get more egg for your money by purchasing the large ones. If, however, small eggs are selling for 45 cent your best buy would be the small eggs.

Supplies of turkeys are increasing and you can buy any form of turkey you want. Among new turkey products are gravy with turkey and turkey with gravy—read the label carefully since the ingredients are mentioned in descending order by volume. Egg prices are holding firm at about the same level as last week.

For beef selections look to store features. In most cases the cuts are ideal for pot-roasts, meat loaves or casseroles. Old fashioned hoop cheese and cheese slices of cheddar, swiss and pimiento are featured in some stores.

Citrus fruits are on the market but supplies will be light until the new crop becomes available in volume in October. Apples, red and white grapes, pears and cantaloupes are among the best fruit choices.

Cauliflower and broccoli are of excellent quality and found in most departments. Eggplant, carrots, mustard greens, corn, sweet potatoes and green beans are their good choices.

PARKS ATTENDANCE UP

AUSTIN—Texas state parks drew one million more patrons the last fiscal year than the previous year.

The actual total announced by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department was 10,912,360 compared with 9,837,364 for the earlier period.

Major contributor to the new attendance record was Martin Dies (Dam B) State Park near Jasper, barely completed in time for the 1966 summer season. Its total visitation was 1,099,586.

One of the parks, recently vastly improved, even drew more recreationalists than the deep East Texas playground. That was Huntsville State Park, handy for the vast Houston metropolitan trade, that registered 1,312,126. This was slightly below the previous year's total.

The reported lower attendance at Huntsville, as well as at popular Garner State Park at Uvalde, was credited partly to a new and more precise counting procedure. Garner, long the top attraction in the state parks system, reported 744,880 visitations compared with 1,299,677 for the preceding year.

Other patronage leaders included Lake Corpus Christi with 566,031, just slightly below the previous year; Inks Lake State Park near Burnet with 415,081 for the year before; Stephen F. Austin near Sealy, 355,749, compared with a total of 392,115 for the preceding period; Palo Duro Canyon State Park in the Texas Panhandle, up to 296,686 from 260,270 the preceding year; Bastrop State Park up from 184,857 to 285,948, and Lake Whitney State Park, still under construction, 223,103 up from 193,689.

Kerrville State Park where major improvements will be ready for the 1967 summer season reported an increase from 113,419 to 214,750. Fort Parker State Park near Mexia gained 41,000 to 197,905.
