Mr. and Mrs. Howard Harvey of Amarillo spent Saturday afternoon with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Harvey. A nephew of the Harveys, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Duke and daughter, Juanita, also of Amarillo, came New Year's afternoon and spent that night and Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey. Mrs. Harvey said that the visitors brought food already prepared and she enjoyed that because she is still having trouble getting around since her recent fall home.

Mrs. W. W. Cain returned home Thursday of last week after spending a month in Fort Worth and Dallas visiting her daughters and their families. Mrs. Cain accompanied Mr. and Mrs. John Fulton to Arlington when they returned home after visiting here Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Cain spent two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Scotty Stewart in Fort Worth, then went to Dallas and spent two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. John Manry and sons. Mrs. Cain had a checkup with her doctor while she was in Dallas, and attended a piano recital in which both her grandsons, John Manry, Jr. and James Manry were participants. Also, the band presented a program at Lockwood Hall and Johnny Manry was a member of that band. Mrs. Cain reports a good visit with both the families but reports that she is glad to be home. She came by bus to Estelline, where she was met by Mrs. Cecil Rice.

Those from Quitaque attending the get-together of relatives over the holiday weekend in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Paul (Jim) Swinney and their son, Alan, in Lubbock were Mr. and Mrs. John Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Rogers, Jr., Rhonda, Beverly and Jonann, Walter Wayne Taylor and a friend, Vince from Thailand. Games were enjoyed and pictures were taken and a very nice time was reported by all attending.

Mrs. Rogers' sisters had planned to tell of their 'round the world trip' last year, but Mrs. Martha Clifton of Boonton, N. J. was unable to attend the reunion and Mrs. Thelma Hardcastle of Abilene was hospitalized after their return trip home from the tour. Some of the relatives from California attending the get-together at Lubbock drove down to Abilene to visit Mrs. Hardcastle in the hospital before returning to their home in California.

Those present New Year's Day and visiting is the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Rogers were Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Rogers, Jr., Rhonda, Beverly and Jonann, and Misses Cathy and Shirley Maples of Plainview and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Taylor, Lynette and Anna Jean.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Eudy of Fort Worth spent Sunday night with Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hamilton. They visited Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hamilton and Mr. and Mrs. Deloy Myers and Robin Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. N. V. Hamilton visited their son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hamilton and children, in Amarillo Thursday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Norville Roberts and Randy of Plainview spent Sunday with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Leeper, Rhonda and Scotty.

Lyn Payne was carried to Lockney General Hospital Monday night where it was determined he was suffering with an attack of appendicitis. He spent the night but was able to return home Tuesday without surgery.

Specialist in Family Medicine Emerging From G.P.

Help is on the way for thousands of Americans bedeviled by the frustrations of trying to find a family doctor. Traditionally, the general practitioner has served the day-to-day health needs of the public. But in recent years the pipeline of G.P.'s has been drying up — only 18 percent of medical graduates now choose general practice as a career.

In this age of specialization, two charges have been leveled at G.P.'s: (1) they are not adequately trained (a year's internship after the M.D. degree, compared to several or more years of graduate training for specialists); (2) medical science has become so complicated that it is impossible to keep up with all of it. These two factors, valid or not, have tended to "scare off" medical students.

But the public continues to express its need for the family doctor, a physician to whom people can turn without reservation and with whom they feel a rapport. The latest public expression has been from several powerful citizen's commissions which looked at the organization of medical services through the eyes of the consumer. Each has recommended production of a much greater number of well-trained family-type doctors who would be specialists in their own right.

The American Academy of General Practice, national association of family physicians, anticipated these reports. It has a detailed program for carrying out their recommendations. This plan calls for certification of family medical specialists by an approved board of family practice. Certification would be by examination after three years of residency training following the M.D. degree. These doctors will be "specialists in breadth" rather than "specialists in depth" (such as surgeons, pediatricians, etc.) and well trained to function across the medical board. They will refer to the proper depth specialist when necessary but will themselves be capable of handling 70-80 percent of day-to-day health problems.

They still will care for all members of the family and be trained in the effects of family interrelationships and environmental factors on human health. They will be the first modern doctors to function formally in both preventive and episodic spheres of medicine, not only treating illness but actively counseling the patient on how to prevent illness and preserve health. They will be medical managers and advocates for their patients, guiding them through the modern medical maze and staying on the case even after referral to another specialist. They will have to be recertified periodically.

When this new specialty becomes a reality, (probably within several years), the Academy believes many young doctors-to-be, who wanted to be family physicians all along but were afraid to join a "last man's club," will choose family practice for their career.

ROY DAVIDSON LETTER TO FRIENDS HERE (Concl.)

(Several weeks ago The Tribune printed part of a letter received here by friends of the Rev. and Mrs. Roy Davidson who are on the mission field in Malawi, Africa. The Davidsons tell of their life and some of their work in Africa. We appreciate the letter and hope that Bro. Roy and Patsy will send us another any time they have the time to write.)

In July, Malawi became a Republic with a president elected by the people. The nation faces the same problems peculiar to any new African nation taking the reigns of government for the first time. There have been rumored opposition to the government and their smuggling arms from Tanzania and rebels trained by Chinese Communists. Anytime you travel in the North of Malawi one will come again and again on road blocks and security checks. However, as far as we can tell, things are very quiet, peaceful, and progress is being made at every turn.

We read in the local paper, The Blantyre Times, of leopards attacking farm animals, of elephants trampling crops, of killer tigers and deadly snakes no more than six or eight inches long, but as yet we have not encountered a wild animal or snake in Malawi. We do have small lizards in our home and often we have to chase them from our bed. They are harmless.

We had our annual Malawi mission meeting several weeks ago and made some serious plans for reaching Malawi with the Gospel. We have asked the Foreign Mission Board for a minimum of seven new couples for the next year. The more we prayed and studied the map of Malawi, the more certain that anything less than seven couples is just not enough. We have only five couples at the present and one couple has been out for a time with hepatitis and we are still studying the language—that leaves only three couples who are capable of operating at full capacity now. Although Christianity has been present since the days of Livingston, much of the country is unchanged and there are areas to the north that have not been touched by any evangelical witness. It seems as though this is the day of opportunity for Baptists in Malawi. The Moslems are moving with new fervor from the direction of Kenya and Tanzania, and if we don't meet the challenge of today we fear the opportunities will slip from our grasp. We have asked for help, we are praying for help to come, and we believe that God is already at work in the hearts of those that will an-

Four of the biggest names in show business will headline the 1967 session of the famous Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo Feb. 22 - March 5. Appearing at the first three performances on Feb. 22, 23, and 24 will be singing star Jimmy Dean followed by Jim Nabors of television's Gomer Pyle fame who will appear on Feb. 25, 26, and 27. Tennessee Ernie Ford will appear on Tuesday through Friday, Feb. 28 through March 3 with the Tennessee Plowboy, Eddy Arnold appearing at all performances on the last week-end, March 4 and 5. Appearing at all performances of the Rodeo will be the popular singing group, The Kids Next Door, graduates of the Young American Singers. R.C.A. cowboys will be competing for the largest rodeo purse in the world.

sver the call. We are making preparation for seven new couples—anything less will not be enough. Won't you join us in praying about this need?

The Southern Baptist approach here is that of an indigenous work. Our plan is to guide the churches to develop along lines consistent with the New Testament and the African culture. The churches must share the life of the country in which it is planted and find within itself the ability to govern, support, and reproduce itself.

We are all well after several encounters with malaria and various gastric infections. The boys are doing nicely in the British school and Gay is making many new friends among the African children. Please continue to pray for us and the witness of Christians here in Malawi.

Yours in Christ
The Davidsons

Mr. and Mrs. B. N. McNutt and twin sons Larry and Barry of Quanah say, "We wouldn't change it! No hot spots in the summer, no cold spots in the winter, and no sweating of walls." Mrs. McNutt especially likes the cleanliness. "You may have a little dust but you don't have dirt with total electric living." Mr. McNutt "never complains about a bill." And why should he? FLOMOT YOUNG PEOPLE ATTEND OLD FASHIONED PARTY

Several members of the Intermediate Young People Dept. of the First Baptist Church attended an old-fashioned party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hunter, Thursday night of last week.

Highlights of the evening for those present were popping corn which Mrs. Hunter shelled from the cob, and pulling molasses taffy.

Those attending were Sylvia Carnley of Wayland Baptist College; Jackie Carnley of El Paso; Gay Pepper of Mount Vernon Bible College, Mount Vernon, Ohio; Joe Montoya of Albuquerque, N. M.; Donna Rogers, Jan Whitaker, Kathy Martin, Pam Morris, Bessie Starkey, Jackie Pigg, Judy Shorter, Barbara Moseley, David and Anita Hunter. Helping with the hostesses' duties were Mrs. Joyce Burkett and her sister, Mrs. Marie Carnley of El Paso, Mrs. Alice Montoya of Albuquerque, N. M. and Mrs. Jimmie Hunter.

A Mexican supper was enjoyed Thursday, Dec. 29 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Junior Crowell. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cruse and family, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rogers and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pigg and family.

EDGIN CEMETERY CLEANED UP, FENCE IS REPAIRED

Several men of the community met last Friday and repaired the fence at the Edgin Cemetery and gave the entire place a cleaning up.

New Year's dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hunter were Mrs. J. L. Speer, LCDR Raymond Speer, and Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds Montoya and their sons, John Glen and Joe Douglas.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Foster Monday were their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Fred Foster and three children of Irving; a niece of the Fosters, Mrs. Lois Johnson of Salinas, Calif.; Mrs. Foster's sister, Mrs. Fannie Keeter of Lockney; the Foster's daughter, Mrs. Cleo Smith of Quitaque and her daughter, Mrs. Charles Pulliman, Amarillo; another daughter of the Foster's Mrs. Louise Boles and children of Amarillo. Their son, Harold Foster, called them from Bakerville, Calif. to wish his parents a Happy New Year.

March of Dimes Physician Opposes Institutions for Birth Defect Victims

The human stampede is under way the moment the tall doctor strides into the waiting room.

With a flying tackle, a five-year-old, born with nine birth defects, catches him around one thigh, and refuses to let go. A little girl, who's only four and has been blind since birth, knows instinctively he's arrived and gleefully latches on to his belt.

"A typical day," Dr. Paul H. LaMarche says cheerfully to a visitor as he peels off the children and sidesteps a phalanx of advancing mothers.

The embattled doctor is director of the March of Dimes Birth Defects Center at Rhode Island Hospital, Providence. He is a pediatrician who feels strongly that the last place for a defective child, with few exceptions, is an institution for the handicapped.

"We regard it here as part of the Bill of Rights that all of these children with birth defects are entitled to the best diagnosis and treatment, regardless of race, finances or superstitions of the past," Dr. LaMarche says.

"A decade ago, even five years ago, almost every one of these children would have been sent to some institution. There they would have been forgotten as they wasted away and sometimes died. These tragedies still happen. But more and more of these afflicted children are with their parents in their own homes, where they belong, learning to become useful citizens."

A tousel five-year-old yells "Hi, Doc!" and buries a small fist in the pediatrician's midriff.

"Craig here thinks he's another Jack Dempsey. Maybe some day he will be. He was born with a good part of his spinal cord, membranes and nerve sticking out of his back. We repaired the opening and today he swings by his knees and climbs his neighbor's trees to swipe apples. But most medical thinking at the time of Craig's birth was that a meningomyelocele always meant you had a paraplegic on your hands—total paralysis below the waist."

Another five-year-old named Tommy is a classic case in the annals of children who have survived despite multiple congenital malformations.

"Tommy has known just about every severe birth defect in the book," the pediatrician says, "from dislocated hips and elbows to cleft palate and curvature of the spine."

"Despite all this, Tommy's life now is pretty much that of normal kids. He plays ball and gets into the usual small-boy mischief. He's in the stream of life where he belongs."

Gilda, born without eyes, has a radiant smile although in her sightless world there would seem little to smile about. "The basic aim," Dr. LaMarche says, "is to get Gilda into nursery school as soon as possible. Artificial eyes will improve her appearance, minimize comment from the unthinking, and help eliminate the stigma that cruelly but inevitably attaches to the blind."

Thus the mending of these small defective bodies progresses each week at the Birth Defects Center in Providence, just as it does in San Francisco and Denver and Chicago and at more than 70 other March of Dimes Centers across the nation.

FOR DINNER TONIGHT A "SOUPER" SPOONBREAD.

"Remnants" of Sunday's baked ham can be made into simply wonderful lunch or supper dishes. Grind it, chop it, dice or slice it... but do use every last smidgen of it.

No one will ever guess you're using leftover ham when they taste enticing Ham Spoonbread. Rely on canned condensed cream of mushroom soup to help you create this delectable treat. The satiny soup is the perfect base for cornmeal, ground cooked ham, and eggs. Serve the golden brown puffed hot with maple syrup.

Round out your menu with a tossed raw vegetable salad, a fruit dessert, and coffee.

Ham Spoonbread

- 1/2 cup finely diced ham
- 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
- 1/2 cup can milk
- 1/2 cup cornmeal
- 3 eggs, separated
- Maple syrup

In saucepan, brown ham and cook onion in butter until tender. Stir in soup, milk, and cayenne. Add cornmeal; cook until thickened, stirring. Remove from heat. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored; stir into cornmeal mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; fold into mixture. Pour into buttered 1 1/2-quart casserole. Bake at 350°F. for 1 hour. Serve with syrup. Makes 4 servings.
