Aoudad Hunting Season Nears

The time is drawing near for the 1968 Aoudad sheep hunt to begin. This year the hunt will be two days longer, beginning January 6th and lasting through January 10th. Shooting hours will be one-half hour before sunrise and one-half hour after sunset with hunting by permit only.

Any legal firing will be allowed except .22 rimfire in the shooting of Aoudad sheep.

The checking station will be at the roadside park on Highway 256 north of Haynes Boy Scout Camp. Hunters must check their sheep in at the checking stations within 24 hours after it has been taken.

The Park and Wildlife Department asks that each hunter save the stomach contents, female sex organs, and blood samples. This information is needed to determine several important factors concerning Aoudad sheep.

This year deems to be a good season for hunting the Aoudad and much excitement will stem forth at the checking station when these trophies are brought in.

The Tribune would like to have pictures of kills here in this area, and anyone bagging a sheep is urged to call 3131 and we will come and photograph the trophy and the hunter.

Thirty-eight permits have been granted to Briscoe ranchers this year. Last year a total of 19 of the sheep were killed in Briscoe County and one of them was a near-record size and was a trophy of Murray Wise.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Carter drove to Plainview and spent Saturday night and had their Christmas visit with their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hedrick and sons, and Melvin Carter of Lubbock also met them there. Short Week!

Due to the short week and some end of the year business that had to be attended to, we were unable to get a great deal of our Christmas comings and goings set into type. So, if you don't find our news in this week's issue of The Tribune, it will appear next week. It was just impossible for us to get all of the things done this week that were needed to be done. THE COLOR CORNER

BY MARTHA BRANDT

Some colors we now use all the time were not possible just a few short years ago. The real history of actually making color dates back to 1856, when a chemist was looking for another chemical and came up with a synthetic mauve or purple color. Although he didn't leap up and say "Ha!" I've started a new industry," the fact was he had; the dye industry.

Here are some suggestions, from the Textile Dye Institute, for putting all this available color (more than 4,000 dyes or combinations) to work for you:

1. Get Out of a "Color Rut" If your house has run together in neutral shades try a new color family. Choose what you like, but know what you want you choose. If your colorful fabrics are made by a top-flight manufacturer, you'll be writing your own color insurance because good manufacturers want to use good quality.
2. Use Color Themes for Your Rooms: You don't have to be head of state to have a "blue room", a "green room" or whatever other color appeals to you. But if you decide to accentuate a color, using different shades of that color — along with white or beige to set off the color — can give a memorable effect.
3. Use Color as a Trademark: No, we don't mean go into the dye business — but let the dyes work for you. For instance, if you look well in blue, use this color in other areas than your clothes closet. Then wear it, too. It will give personality and continuity to both you and your home.

Whatever way you can or must use color — just don't miss out on today's opportunity to live colorfully, thanks to the dye industry which keeps making new colors more fascinating and the familiar colors more trustworthy.

Some years ago there was a man whose business was tanning hides. One day he decided that if one could take an old, stiff, ugly, big-pored hide and turn it into a beautiful, small-pored soft piece of leather like a glove — then, somehow the same miracle could be wrought with human skin — particularly since there were living cells with which to work.

He experimented with his own skin, using in a modified form the things used in tanning hides. At 73 he had smooth, unblemished skin like that of a much younger man.

From this original discovery evolved MARY-KAY COSMETICS. You, too, can enjoy this beauty secret. Let me show you that "No Woman Need Ever Look 40!"

YOUR BREATHING PROBLEMS
Chest Specialist Answers
Questions on Lung Ailments

By Gordon M. Meade, M.D.
Director of Medical Education
National Tuberculosis Association

- Q. What is a Respiratory Disease?
A. The term refers to any ailment of the breathing organs: the nasal passages, throat, lungs and connecting passages.
- Q. Are any of the Respiratory Diseases regarded as major illnesses?
A. Some are extremely serious. Tuberculosis, perhaps the best known, can cripple or kill if not diagnosed early enough and properly treated. Other chronic forms of RD, such as emphysema and chronic bronchitis, make breathing a desperate struggle in severe cases, and cause many deaths.
- Q. What is emphysema?
A. The word, taken from the Greek, means literally, "inflation." Emphysema is characterized by a breakdown of the countless tiny air sacs and blood vessels of the lung. As the condition progresses, the lungs lose their elasticity and their ability to get rid of stale air is impaired. Breathing becomes increasingly difficult and the heart may be strained until it can no longer function—in which event death results.
- Q. What causes emphysema?
A. The precise cause has not yet been ascertained; it is a subject for continued research. There may be several causes. However, it is a statistical fact that almost all those who have emphysema have been heavy cigarette smokers for a long period of time.
- Q. Can emphysema be cured?
A. No cure is known at the present time. Symptoms can be relieved, and the progress of the disease often arrested, by the administration of drugs and the use of breathing exercises and other rehabilitation techniques. The first and most - important measure is to stop smoking.

- Q. What is chronic bronchitis?
A. An inflammation of the lining of the bronchial tubes, characterized by abnormal secretion of mucus. Its obvious symptom is a chronic or recurrent cough that produces mucus.
- Q. What causes chronic bronchitis?
A. A variety of causes which produce irritation and often infection of the bronchial tubes. Chief among them is heavy and prolonged cigarette smoking.
- Q. Can chronic bronchitis be cured?
A. It depends on the cause of a specific case. Antibiotic drugs plus a cessation of cigarette smoking can result in cure or satisfactory remission of symptoms.
- Q. If a person has severe emphysema or chronic bronchitis, can it still help if he stops smoking?
A. Yes. No matter how advanced the disease, cessation of smoking will produce improvement.
- Q. What are the prospects for controlling emphysema and chronic bronchitis?
A. Research and a campaign of public education, vigorously carried out through the joint efforts of the U.S. Public Health Service and the National Tuberculosis Association, are producing better methods of diagnosis, treatment and rehabilitation. These can stem the progress and ameliorate the effects of these diseases. Incidentally, efforts of the NTA and its state and local affiliates depend largely for their success on Christmas Seal contributions. The fight against nontuberculous respiratory disease has barely begun; judging by experience with other diseases, continued efforts should bring substantial results.

Walk and Be Healthy

INDUSTRIAL FOOT HEALTH CUTS COSTS

Foot fatigue and disorders are a leading cause of industrial accidents, employee absenteeism, and lowered morale.

In addition to the obvious personal discomfort to the employee, foot ailments are estimated to cost American business approximately $125 million a year in clerical errors, delayed deliveries, cancelled orders and lost production.

In one plant, for example, a worker's elbow was caught in a whirling machine and a costly industrial insurance claim plus the loss of a skilled worker resulted. The real culprit in this accident, however, was a painful bunion which the employee had neglected. In order to shift his weight from the aching foot, he supported himself by resting his elbow on the edge of the machine. A sudden slip forced the elbow into the mechanism.

Studies made of industrial workers show that the average employee moves his weight from foot to foot approximately 39,600 times a day. In walking one mile, he forces 181 tons of his own weight down on his feet. Retail store clerks multiply this pressure by seven to eight times during a normal working day.

No wonder, then, that the U.S. Department of Labor reports that 26% of all industrial accidents occur to the feet and legs. It's difficult to keep your mind on your work when you're in pain and even standing becomes an effort.

To reduce this human and financial toll, many businesses are instituting foot clinics, under the direction of a podiatrist, as part of their medical departments. Depending on the need for his services, the podiatrist may visit the plant or store for a few hours a day or spend one or more full days there. Industries providing such care for employees find that safety records improve, production increases and employee morale soars.

Insurance companies approve introduction of this service, viewing it as a means of reducing sick and accident compensation payments. Industrial foot health clinics have been endorsed by the Department of Labor, U.S. Public Health Service, Veterans Administration and AFL-CIO.

Where such clinics do not exist, employees can avoid many of the consequences of poor foot health by following some general rules recommended by the American Podiatry Association.

1. Keep your feet clean. Use warm water and a mild soap.
2. Dry feet thoroughly. Blot, do not rub hard with the towel. Use a foot powder.
3. Do not wear tight garters.
4. Avoid cutting corns, calluses or ingrown nails. Corns and calluses are nature's angry defense against a continued pressure. Seek professional care.
5. If you suffer foot injuries such as bruises, burns, cuts, cracks, or frostbite, or if an ulcer or sore appears on the foot, see your podiatrist or medical doctor promptly.
6. Be careful of exposing feet to cold and dampness. Always change your hose and shoes promptly if your feet get wet.
7. Wear the type of shoe that will give you the maximum comfort and protection for the work you are doing. Remember that run-down heels and worn soles can be the direct cause of falls.

Apple Saucery

by Betty Crocker

Appetizing, versatile applesauce should be part of your bag of tricks for easy, interesting meals. Applesauce can add tang to breakfast . . . chilled on cereal or waffles . . . hot with breakfast sausage. A dish of applesauce can substitute for salad at lunch or dinner, is ideal for filling a small vacuum bottle in a lunch box. Applesauce desserts are almost endless . . . applesauce puddings, cookies, cakes, even molded applesauce-gelatin desserts. A favorite applesauce cake, easy to put together, is this one. Try it on the family tonight. Then remember it for the next time you entertain at a "coffee."

APPLESAUCE. VELVET CRUMB CAKE
1½ cups Bisquick
¾ cup brown sugar (packed)
¼ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cloves
¼ teaspoon allspice
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
3 tablespoons shortening
1 egg
½ cup unsweetened applesauce
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup milk
Topping (below)
Heat oven to 350°. Grease and flour square pan, 8x8x2 inches. In large mixer bowl, stir together dry ingredients. Add shortening, egg, applesauce and vanilla. Beat on low speed. ½ minute, scraping side and bottom of bowl frequently. Beat 1 minute on medium speed. Stir in milk gradually.

Beat ¾ minute longer. Pour into prepared pan. Bake 35 to 40 minutes. Serve warm with Topping, 9 servings.
Topping: In chilled bowl, beat 1½ cups whipping cream until stiff. Fold in 2 teaspoons cinnamon, ¼ cup chopped nuts and 2 teaspoons sugar. Colorful, tasty trick with applesauce for children: Sprinkle the dish of applesauce with red cinnamon candies. And here's another saucy treat.

CRANBERRY APPLESAUCE
