Mrs. O. E. (Louise) Chandler and the 18-pound striped bass she caught on a two ounce white jig while fishing at Lake Texhoma over the weekend.

Big Fish Didn't Get Away

It is usually that fish that got away, but this time, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Bob McWilliams and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Smith and family have proof of the big catch. They went to Lake Texhoma over the weekend and all the group caught good sized fish.

Mrs. Louise Chandler caught an 18-pound striped bass, a 10-pound bass, a 6½ pounder and a 4½ pounder and she didn't keep count of the others.

Dale Smith caught an eight pounder and his daughter, D'Vonna, caught a five pounder. Mrs. Chandler says that 15 fish caught by the group weighed approximately 140 pounds. (Their story made others want to go fishing. M. C. Jones and Deloy Myers left Tuesday morning.)

Bobby Monk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dellis Monk of Lubbock, spent a week recently visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. P. John Monk, in Quitaque.

Mrs. Joe King, her son, Jimmy, and granddaughter, Shawna, of Dumas visited Mrs. D. C. Duck one day last week.

Triple L Club Has Monthly Meeting

The Triple L Club met July 26 at 9:30 a.m. Some of the ladies met early to set up game tables and the dining tables. Members and visitors began arriving at 10:00 o'clock. Mrs. J. P. Taylor brought a friend, Mrs. Ruby Higginbotham, from South Plains to enjoy the fun. The two ladies were winners at the Wahoo game table.

Mrs. Thelma Loving and Mrs. A. E. Gragson were "42" winners. Methodist minister, Rev. George Price, his wife, Karen, and son, Jeremy, were guests. Mrs. Price brought the devotional after a delicious lunch was enjoyed. Mrs. Price took her scripture reading from I John 1:8-9. A song-fest by the group followed the devotional, led by Rev. Price, with Mrs. A. E. Gragson at the piano.

Only 25 were present due to illness in the area. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Middleton of Amarillo are regular members, but he is now in Northwest Texas Hospital in intensive care following a recent stroke. Mrs. D. C. Duck returned home from Central Plains Hospital Tuesday, but she is recuperating at home from pneumonia.

The club will be attending the drama "TEXAS" in August. If you plan to go, be sure to contact someone in the Triple L Club to make reservations.

METHODIST WOMEN MEET

The WSCS of the First United Methodist Church met July 16 at the church for a called meeting. The ladies worked on stuffed animals for the Children's Home. There were ten present. A salad supper was served.

On July 30, seven ladies drove to the home of Eunice McFall. After the business meeting, Mrs. George Price brought the study program.

The next meeting will be August 6 in the home of Mrs. Bill Woods.

Mrs. James Brunson returned home Friday after spending the past five weeks in Central Plains Hospital in Plainview. She is slowly improving according to report. Mrs. Jerry Maupin, her daughter, is helping out at the home until school starts.

Flomot Gin Changes Ownership

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Johnson of Flomot announced this week that they have sold the Caprock Gin to Donnie and Linda Turner.

Mr. Johnson started in the gin business, working for Tom Speer in Flomot, 22 years ago. He came to Quitaque as an employee of the Paymaster Gin in 1968 and he and his wife bought the home south of town where the Ober Johnsons formerly lived. They remodeled the home extensively and had one of the show places in the community.

The Johnsons bought the Hunter Gin in Flomot from Horace and Wayne Hunter in 1972 and the family has been driving back and forth to work there since that time. Mr. Johnson has extensive farming and ranching interests also, and Mrs. Johnson told the Tribune they had to drive 28 miles a day to work. They plan to devote all their time now to their farming and ranching interests.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner are not strangers to this area. Donnie is the son of Malcolm Turner of Flomot and the late Mrs. Turner. He was reared in Flomot. His wife is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Lackey of the Cedar Hill community, and she was reared in that community.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson ask the community to support the new owners as you have them in the past.

The Tribune and the surrounding communities want to wish this couple great success in their new venture.

The Clippers Are Still Active

In last week's Tribune it was erroneously stated that the Clippers baseball club was "closing out the season." That is not true as many of you already know. It was the Pee Wee and Little League clubs which finished their season.

 Briscoe County Extension Agent
 Many normal broadleaf evergreens such as oleanders, privet and viburnum shed old leaves near their bases. But when leaves of most plants turn yellow and drop, that signals an unhealthy plant and a need for special care.
 For instance, an improperly watered or fertilized plant may shed its leaves.
 Water plants adequately after making frequent, light fertilizer applications such as one to one and one-half pounds of ammonium sulfate per 100 square feet. Make heavy applications only in early spring.

Water when the young tip growth of a plant wilts or the soil's first few inches become dry. After prolonged cloudy weather, do not water plants even though they are wilted.

Slow watering allows saturation of deeper soil depths, encouraging deeper root penetration. Also deeper saturation assures a soil moisture reserve when topsoil dries.
 Oleanders, privet and nan-

VA CAN PROVIDE HEADSTONE FOR GRAVES OF MOST VETERANS

Under federal laws, the U. S. Veterans Administration can provide a headstone for the grave of most veterans whose military service was under honorable conditions. According to Billye Kessler, service officer for Swisher County, the families of some veterans do not want the government grave marker, preferring to install a private marker of their own choice.

Public Law 95-476, enacted during the 1978 Session of the U. S. Congress, now permits the Veterans Administration to pay a cash allowance toward the purchase of a non-government grave marker for the graves of eligible veterans. The payment of the cash allowance applies only in cases where the burial of the eligible veteran has occurred on or after October 18, 1978, the date the above-mentioned law was approved.

dinas tend to shed more leaves than most plants even though they are healthy. Until you prune, it is difficult to force new growth near the base of the plants. Removal of one-third of the old ground-level leaves encourages new base growth while discouraging tall, leggy plant growth.

Until appropriate pesticides become available, the Texas leaf cutting ant will remain a major pest to the state's homeowners, nurserymen and farmers.

The insect removes leaves and buds from numerous shrub varieties, ornamental and hardwood trees as well as cereal and forage crop leaves.

Preferring deep, well-drained sand or loamy soil, the ants reduce land value by building colonies from five to 72 inches high and 20 feet in diameter. The interior depth of the mound may reach 20 feet, with many cavities interconnected by narrow tunnels. Several vertical tunnels extend to mound openings, while other tunnels lead outward to feeder holes where worker ants surface to forage.

In spring, fall and winter, these ants forage during the day when temperatures are moderate (45 to 80 degrees F.). During the hot summer, ants forage at night. The pests cut leaves into small pieces at feeder holes, then take them to underground chambers. Leaves serve as a medium for a fungus on which ants feed.

Control of Texas leaf cutting ants is difficult because Mirex bait is no longer available to the general public. Carbaryl, diazinon and several organophosphate insecticides give some control. However, they tend to disperse the colonies. Chlordane dust and liquid is available for non-agricultural land, but these materials also cause dispersal and re-establishment. Methyl bromide is effective; however, it is highly toxic to humans and may injure some plants.

Alternating several pesticides produces the best results.

When a veteran is buried in a private or public cemetery, other than a national cemetery, and the family or next of kin has purchased a private grave marker, a claim can be made for the cash payment from the VA. Persons who feel they might be eligible for the VA reimbursement for the purchase of a private headstone for a veteran should contact their local Veterans Service Officer for assistance in making application for the lump-sum payment.

Save Fuel, Money By Vacationing In Texas

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Monday that gas line-weary Texans will save both fuel and money if they vacation in Texas this summer.

Texas continues to have the nation's lowest gasoline tax rate at five cents a gallon, Bullock said, adding that short, in-state trips will conserve more fuel than long, cross country vacations.

The highest gasoline tax rate is 12 cents a gallon in Washington.

Bullock said gasoline tax rates in the nation's nine northwest states are nearly double the Texas rate—averaging 9.5 cents a gallon.

Nine states—Arkansas, Georgia, Iowa, Michigan, Montana, Nebraska, Pennsylvania, South

Dakota and Washington—have recently increased gasoline tax rates.

Bullock also said consumers who are seeing their budgets chewed up by inflation benefit from Texas' low sales tax rate. The state's four percent sales tax is lower than the tax rates levied in 18 other states and equal to the rate set by 10 states.

The highest sales tax rate—seven percent—is levied by Connecticut.

Vacations may never be free, Bullock said, but Texas' lower tax rates will stretch holiday dollars.

Mrs. John Morris and children of Friona spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barnhill.

Siphoning Gasoline Is Potentially Dangerous

Gasoline poisoning has increased "tenfold" recently, according to Mike Ellis, director of the Texas State Poison Center, and Ellis says the upsurge seems to be directly related to the gasoline shortage in the area.

Ellis says his department is receiving an average of 10 calls a day about gasoline poisoning. "This time last year," he admits, "we were only getting about one call a day for the same thing."

The increased practice of siphoning, Ellis thinks, is a major connection between the rising number of gasoline poisoning cases and the gasoline shortage. He says adults, because of the shortage, are siphoning gas from car to lawn mower, from car to car to other car, and he calls this practice "dumb at the very least." Gasoline siphoning can cause a person at least two major problems, he says. Ellis says a person can swallow gas while transferring it, and the effects can be serious, even deadly. "Gasoline can go into the stomach," he says, "if the epiglottis slams shut and does not allow it to go into the lungs." In the stomach it will be nauseating and may cause vomiting, he says.

"Once it is in the stomach," Ellis says, "it is absorbed, the aromatic hydrocarbons can sensitize the heart to any catecholamine, such as adrenaline."

"What this means," he continued, "is with gasoline in the stomach and the heart sensitized, if a person becomes startled or afraid or experiences any sudden emotion that causes adrenaline release, that adrenaline can potentially cause the heart to go into ventricular fibrillation. That person can be dead in four minutes, unless remedial methods, such as countershock, are performed."

A second potential problem of gasoline siphoning is that of aspiration or getting it into the lungs. "If a person coughs or chokes after sucking on the hose, he may possibly have gotten some of the liquid into his windpipe and a set of new and different problems will occur," Ellis says.

Upon entering the trachea and lungs, the gasoline is quite irritating. "The lung tries to take care of the irritating liquid by diluting it."

The most severe effect of gas aspiration, however, is that the oil-based product physically spreads out and coats the lungs. "Depending on how extensive the coating is," Ellis says, "will determine how much lung tissue is spared. It will determine if life can be maintained." In simple terms, aspiration can mean death.

"Children," Ellis says, "are more likely to aspirate petroleum products than adults." Ellis recently watched two 15-month-old girls, in unrelated cases, die of petroleum distillate aspiration. "We put them on respirators," he recalls, "but only about one-third of their normal body oxygen was getting through."

"Once a child ingests a petroleum product," Ellis says, "they are not out of the woods for 18 hours. We don't know whether they're absolutely clean for 18 hours."

Ellis says if gasoline ingestion does occur in the home, the first thing to do is call the Poison Center at 713 765-1420. "If there is a lot of choking or coughing, we'll send the person in for an X-ray to see what the baseline looks like. If there's no coughing or choking, we'll put the person on an 18-hour watch for fever, coughing, chest congestion or any signs that we may have an aspiration problem."

"Sometimes it may be that we tend to overtreat," Ellis added, "but we would much rather be safe than sorry."

Hall County Roads In Bad Condition

Hall County's dirt roads, so essential to farmers in their everyday work, are in bad condition, generally speaking, and no solution to the problem has been found, County Judge Lester Campbell commented this week.

"I have had several invitations from farmers to go with them to take a look at the county roads," the judge said, "and I can certainly understand the problem. I have been over many of the roads in the past few weeks, and there is just one statement I can think of to make . . . and that is, the county roads are in bad condition."

 "In 1978, and again this year, I have appealed to the federal government and to the state authorities for some help with our county road situation," Campbell said. "I have been told that there are no federal or state funds available for such purposes. I understand that in years past, Hall County did receive some aid; but authorities tell me that the program was badly abused in many areas, and therefore was eliminated. Recently I asked Congressman Jack Hightower to search for possible funds, but none were found."

In May of 1978, Hall County underwent a severe flooding condition, and since that time, the commissioners have been spending most of their time patching and filling holes in between rains. This year, the rains have been coming much more often than normal, and the roads have become continually worse. One farmer told Judge Campbell that he had lived in his present location for 37 years, and this year the heavy rains have been greater than he has ever seen them. Over a long period of years, many terraces and diversion dams have been built by landowners of Hall County. In many cases, these terraces have turned the water into the county roads, and now many of the county roads are merely waterways when a rain comes. In many cases, the road beds are now much lower than the level of the fields. Over the years, some additional damage has been done because of the use of the roads for turn-rows.

"We have no definite figures on what the total damage is as of now," Campbell explained. "I believe it would take more than half a million dollars to repair all the damage . . . and of course, the county does not have the money."

The funds budgeted for Hall County roads this year are about $210,000, Campbell said. With road graders costing in excess of $90,000, with fuel going up almost daily, with parts and labor more than double what they were five years ago, the county simply does not have the funds to keep the roads in fair condition, much less in good condition. Some farmers are having to go four, five, or six miles out of their way to get to certain fields, where the regular roads have washed out completely. Quite a number of bridges have been totally knocked out; some which went out last year have been replaced, and have gone out again this year. One commissioner reported he has a 25-foot deep gully washed out in the middle of one of his roads.

One of the latest blows to the county's road funds came when Governor Clements vetoed a bill which would have continued on with what is called the lateral road funds. Hall County received about $17,000 annually from this fund, and it was divided equally among the four precincts. Whether revenue sharing funds will be renewed is not known at present. Since the inception of this program, one-fourth of these funds have been used by the commissioners in their road work; should the program be discontinued by Congress, Hall County will again be facing another shortage.

"Frankly," Judge Campbell said, "the commissioners have been unable to come up with any sensible solution to the problem. More money is needed, of course, but another tax raise does not seem to provide the answer. We now have a 95c tax rate. By law, not more than 30c of this 95c can be earmarked for road and bridge funds, and we are now using this 30c in that manner. This means that if taxes are raised with the idea in mind of providing more funds for road and bridge work, only about one-third of the tax hike would be available for that purpose."

We realize that inflation has hit every segment of our lives, Campbell said, but the county expenditures are so much greater than most individual expenditures, the money figures get big in a hurry. In some areas in the Panhandle, where growth in population and taxable property has occurred, the tax income has about kept up with the inflationary trend; however, in the sparsely populated areas such as ours, where the tax base has not increased, counties such as Hall have been severely affected.

Hall County is also facing the additional problem of having no jail. An architect has been employed to make the initial plans for a jail. Bonds will have to be voted upon, Judge Campbell said. Presently the county has about $80,000 in its jail construction fund, but it is likely that a new jail will cost between $300,000 and $400,000. "And that will not be a very large jail, either," Campbell explained, "and it will have no frills or fancies in its construction."

Campbell also pointed out that the courthouse itself is badly in need of repairs. No major repairs have been done on the building in many years, and much needs to be done. The fourth floor of the building, which many years ago served as the sequestration rooms for jurors and also as an apartment for the caretaker, has been closed up. On the third floor, the district courtroom is still in use, as is one office, that of the adult probation officer.

Miss Strain Honored At Bridal Shower

A bridal shower honoring Miss Relda Strain of Olton, bride-elect of Kenny Setliff of Turkey, was held Saturday, July 28, in the home of Mrs. U. F. Coker, jr. Guests were registered as they arrived by Mrs. Paullette Lipscomb.

The honoree's chosen colors of apricot and brown were carried out in the party decorations with brown napkins engraved with "Relda and Kenny" and the apricot floral centerpiece with apricot tapers. The registration and refreshment tables were covered with white cutwork linen cloths over apricot. Mrs. Mary Loury presided at the serving table.

A lovely array of gifts was on display with the hostess gift of a service for twelve of stainless steel.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mmes. Vera Guest, Rita Guest, Ann Coker, Beth Mills, Bettie Green, Betty Driskill, Mary Beth Adamson. Mary Loury, Kay Eudy, Paullette Lipscomb, Willie Majors, Loetta Ferguson, Jimmie Sue Mullin and Rita Mullin.

A number of out-of-town guests called. They were Mrs. Dot Arnold and Mrs. Alice Richardson, Tula; Mrs. Frances Richardson, Wellington; Miss Karin Kennedy of Canyon, and the mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Pauline Strain of Olton.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Sanders of Sunnyvale, California are visiting in the W. W. Woods home. Mrs. Sanders is a sister of Mrs. Woods.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Persons spent from Friday through Tuesday, July 13-17, visiting their children in East Texas. They visited Mr. and Mrs. Tad Persons and Julie and helped Julie celebrate her birthday anniversary. On Sunday the Persons drove to Alvarado to visit Mr. and Mrs. Rayford Hewett and family. In the afternoon, the granddaughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Rusty Eason, and great-granddaughter, Courtney, of Burleson and Mr. and Mrs. George Kaether and Susan of Alvarado joined them. They had homemade ice cream and cake to help George celebrate his birthday.

Mrs. Della McFall spent Sunday visiting her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Sid McFall, in the Brice community. Her grandson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce McFall and baby, Becky, of Muleshoe were also visitors.

Mrs. Lawrence Bedwell, Mrs. Birt Lane, Shelly Bedwell, Patti Lane, Larry Bedwell, Cheryl Bedwell and Carmen Center of Plainview all visited Mrs. W. E. Morrison in Quitaque Monday. They came to leave Cheryl and Carmen to visit Cheryl's Grandmother Morrison this week.

"WE THE WOMEN" LUNCHEON IS MONDAY

Just a reminder that Monday, August 6, is the regular monthly luncheon date for "We the Women." All the women of the community are invited to attend.

Visitors in the Wendell Farley home over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Farley, April and Cory of Amarillo. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wellman joined them for lunch Sunday.

On Friday, July 20, ten-year-old Katherine fell from a horse she was riding and broke her leg above the knee. Her right arm was already in a cast from a break she received when falling on a bicycle, which may have been responsible for her being unbalanced on the horse. Katherine is in Highland Hospital in Lubbock and will be in traction for six weeks before her leg can be placed in a cast. Susan and Cristen returned to California Thursday, leaving Mrs. McLaughlin and Kathy at the hospital.

Harold Brummett of Phoenix, Arizona spent from Tuesday until Thursday of last week visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Whittington. He was enroute to Stephenville to attend the Brummett family reunion.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation; (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Copyright 1967 Keister Advertising Service, Inc., Strasburg, Va.

In every city, there are places that never sleep. Industries, hospitals, police stations, fire stations, churches . . . yes, churches! Oh, you may drive past one at three in the morning and find the building dark, but the Church is not asleep! For the Church sets the moral tone of our society and without the concern that the Church injects into our community there would be no hospitals, nor homes for children and the aged, nor even police and fire stations. It was only after people learned to care about each other that they began to provide these services, and His Church has always cared. "As I have loved you, love one another." Every minute of every day and night, compassionate hands are reaching out to someone in need because the Church is awake to that need. The Church is made up of people. When you become a part of a church, you have contributed to the continuity of its work which has sustained and refreshed humanity through the centuries. Also, you are helping to perpetuate and strengthen your own faith.

TURNABOUT

Folks used to wonder what Grandpa Brown and I had in common. He must have been close to eighty when I was just a kid. But I remember him as one of the best friends I ever had.

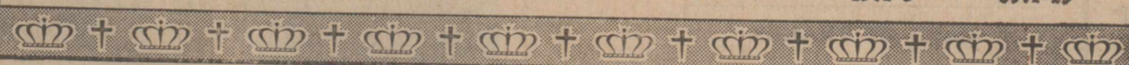

He was a wonderful old man, with a simple, native wisdom. We used to go fishing together, and he would talk to me about God and Faith and Love. I remember he said people shouldn't wait until they're in trouble before going to Church. "When you're happy," he told me, "take time out to offer a prayer of thanks."

The Church had acted as a balance for him during good times, and a bulwark during bad times.

Down through the centuries the Church has made great Christians out of unassuming people. They in turn have transmitted the blessings of the Church to oncoming generations. I hope I can bring Grandpa Brown's faith and wisdom to others, as I was impressed by him.

CARD OF THANKS
I am so thankful to be at home in Quitaque again. You, my friends, have helped me in so many ways during these past months. For the stereo music system, I want to thank you. This made it possible for me to hear Bro. Frank's sermons. Your prayers, visits, letters and cards have strengthened me and given me courage when the way seemed dark. I am grateful to God, and to each and every one of you, for all that has been done for me. One thing I remember so well, and still appreciate, is when people would stop me in the halls at the Heritage Home and say to me, "I got my mail at your office in nineteen-hundred and so-and-so," and some of them would go back a number of years, as many of you will remember.
Now then, I am continuously offering my prayers of thanksgiving for the many blessings shown me, and I shall not forget to pray God's blessing upon all of you. May God bless each of you.
Your friend,
Sid Bogan

CARD OF THANKS
It is lonely to be in a hospital away from home and when you get cards, visits and phone calls from friends and family you have been away from so long, it is not so bad.
So, I want to say a great big thank you to each and every one who remembered me.

Niece Of Local Folk Quite Accomplished

Miss Selenda Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Reynolds of Tullia and niece of John, Cecil and Odie Reagan of Quitaque, is performing this summer in the drama "TEXAS", a musical romance of Panhandle history held nightly in Palo Duro Canyon State Park. Besides singing in the chorus, she performs as an understudy and stunt girl in various parts in the drama. She performs in the "Wax Works" following the program.

Miss Reynolds is active in her church as a leader among youth. She has a special love for children and senior citizens, having led the music in a Sunday morning nursing home service for over two years. She was a member of the All State Baptist Choir for two years.

She is a 1979 graduate of Tullia High School where she was chosen for Who's Who, National Honor Society, Most Talented, Head Cheerleader, and Miss Tullia High School. She has participated in All Regional Choir, alternate to All Area Choir and All Regional Band. She was a state finalist in the Miss Teen USA Pageant and placed in the top five in the talent preliminary with a piano selection, "God Bless America," by Irving Berlin.

Selenda will be attending Wayland Baptist College this fall with a major in education and a minor in music. She plans to become an educator of the deaf.
