Carter asks for help to pass energy plan

WASHINGTON (AP) - From most signals President Carter was receiving today from Capitol Hill, it was clear he will need all the help he canget to win passage of major features of his energy program.

"The oil lobby is more powerful than it's ever been," House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., told reporters, moments before the House convened for another full day of debate on energy legislation.

And the Senate Finance Committee . began work on the "windfall profits" tax on the oil industry, without which Carter told a news conference Wednesday night, "We cannot reach our energy goals.

Anticipating what he called "a massive struggle to gut the windfall profits tax bill" Carter appealed to the American people to demand its approval.

"Your voice can be heard," said the president. "Your voice must be Saying that some have thought he acted too rapidly, he said he felt a need to "create a new team to work with me" and "I had the choice of dragging it out or getting it over, in effect, in 48 hours."

As for criticism of his decision to name longtime political aide Hamilton Jordan to be White House chief of staff, Carter said Jordan will do a "superb job" in an assignment he indicated will have strict limits.

"He will not be chief of the Cabinet," Carter said pointedly. "I will be chief of the Cabinet. He will not be the Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr., Midland's leading Republican, said he watched the broadcast, but was unimpressed with its content.

"It was more political grandstanding. He was trying to go over the heads of Congress to the people.

Angelo did find one aspect of the appearance to compliment, however. 'He improved his speaking tremendously and cut out those maddening pauses. He must have spent hours

Midland voters could be asked to go to the polls twice within a 30-day span to approve more than $30 million in bonds before the year is out.

In a meeting of most of the county's taxing bodies today, city and school officials reported on their needs and their plans for bond elections to be called in September or October.

Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. recited a "wish list" of items being considered for a city-called $19.48 million bond election to be held in "late August or early September."

School Trustee Johnny Warren went through the Midland Independent School District's list of needs for a $12 million bond issue proposed for Passing a total of $30 million within such a short time will take some planning and "quite a selling job," noted Harrell Feldt, immediate past president of the Midland Chamber of Commerce. The city election, Angelo said, will be called within 30 to 45 days because of deadlines facing some of the construction projects being considered. Of the $19.48 million total, about $7.8 million will be in revenue bonds for water and sewer projects including a $3.6 million expansion of the city's sewage treatment facility that should get under way by January 1980. The revenue bonds would be paid from city water and sewer revenue, Angelo noted, and no immediate increase in water rates would be needed to pay for them. While final selection of which projects to include has not been made, $11 million in general obliga-

Lt. Herman Wicker of the department's Traffic Division says the intersection is being redesigned so that only northbound traffic on Main Street will be able to enter the Post Office's parking lot access.

Lt. Wicker says citations are not issued because it is not illegal for a driver to be caught in the middle of the intersection, even if he enters the intersection on the yellow light. This is not a violation. What is a violation, even when the light is green, is when a driver can see that cars are "stacking up" ahead of him and continues to enter the intersection.

Of course, it also is illegal to deliberately block an intersection.

Q: I am interested in responsibility regarding conditions existing in city alleys. I am particularly concerned with the accumulation of trash, including dead trees, weeds and discarded carpeting, in the dumpster area in the alley behind my property.-Mrs. L.P.

A: The City of Midland Sanitation Department says it is the responsibility of the property owners to keep alleys free of trash, etc.

What you need to do is contact the Sanitation Department, 683-4281, and reveal the situation, a supervisor will inspect the area and will discuss the matter with the home owners or owner involved, which, in some cases, solves the problem.

However, the supervisor has the alternative of sending "alley letters" to the owners, usually to two houses on one side and two on the other of the alley area involved. The letters notify the owners of the length of time they have in which to do something about the problem and, if this is not observed, the owners can be fined as much as $200 a day until the problem is remedied.

Midland's labor force hits record high in June

The civilian labor force in Midland County jumped to a record high 47,010 in June, according to the Texas Employment Commission. That figure represents a 5.3 percent increase over May, the TEC report

Unemployment, meanwhile, grew to 1,820 - or 3.9 percent of the labor force, a factor which the TEC report attributed to an influx of summer Total unemployment grew by 4.3 percent in June.

The commission predicted further increases in local employment when local schools reopen. Another major factor will be the continuing emphasis on energy production, the report said.

Wage and salary employment rose to 39,270 in June, according to the commission, reflecting continued economic growth in the Midland area. Manufacturing posted a small gain in professional and scientific goods due to new orders for fall merchandise, the report indicated. Pacing nonmanufacturing categories were employment in both service occupations and mining operations, the report noted Increased summer sales, the TEC said, spurred growth in both wholesale and retail trade.

Employment with local government grew from summer youth programs. Construction employment rose with new contracts in commercial and residential areas, according to the report.

All other segments in the economy reflected minor gains, the commission said, and agricultural employment advanced as the weather began to favor outdoor activities. Due to past trends and information from area employers, the TEC is forecasting 40,010 wage and salary employees in September. The commission also predicted most areas of employment will see some growth due to energy needs or related activities.

The TEC attributed most of the jump in unemployment, up to 1,820, to the seasonal influx of workers seeking temporary employment. The increase put Midland behind Abilene, 3.1 percent; San Angelo, 3.4 percent; Austin, 3.5 percent; and Wichita Falls, 3.7 percent. The city's unemployment figure tied with those of Bryan-College Station and Houston. The TEC also said Midland's unemployment compares favorably with the Texas rate of 4.8 percent and the national rate of 6 percent.

Water poured into homes and business as remnants from tropical storm Claudette dumped up to 25 inches of rain in the Southeast Texas area.

In Houston, civil defense officials issued appeals for boats and gasoline as hundreds of homes in southeastern sections of the city and Harris County were flooded. The state highway department closed Interstate 45, running north and south, between Houston and Galveston.

Interstate 10, running east-west between Houston and Beaumont, was closed near Channelview, just east of Houston, because of reported washouts. The alternate route, U.S. 90, also had water over it, effectively cutting a link between the two cities.

Judge's findings lead to acquittal of policemen in 'throw down' case

HOUSTON (AP) - A prosecutor says he disagrees with a federal judge's findings that prompted an order for acquittal of two fired policemen charged with violating civil rights in a "throw down" gun case.

U.S. District Judge John V. Singleton Jr. made final arguments and jury deliberations unnecessary Wednesday by abruptly ruling the government had failed to prove the defendants had specific intent to violate the rights of Billy Keith Joyvies, Joyvies was fatally wounded on July 11, 1975, at the end of a high speed chase that began after a tool box had been stolen from a truck.

The indictment against Walter Plaster, 53, and John Stephen White, 28, alleged a conspiracy to place a gun in Joyvies' car to make it appear the Houston youth was armed.

A police internal investigation later showed the gun found in the car had been traced to an officer who had been slain earlier in a gunbattle with escaped convicts.

There was conflicting testimony during the trial whether Joyvies was Plaster and White as "improper and certainly don't need another governcerning area weather, according to shocking" but said there was no con-ment bureaucracy to create more spiracy as the officers sought to protect themselves and the police department.

'The government has the duty to produce sufficient evidence to prove beyond a reasonable doubt each of them had the specific intent to violate especially to Carter's defense of rea right of Billy Keith Joyvies was guaranteed," Singleton said.

"The evidence in this case does not support any reasonable inference either officer had this intent.' Calvin Botley, the chief prosecutor, said he differs with such findings. "His findings were the defendants" conduct was shocking, but their purpose was to cover themselves and the police department, not to violate Joyvies' civil rights," Botley said.

Judge making life or death decision

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) - A federal judge is considering whether a trial judge erred six years ago in the trial of convicted murderer Howard Virgil Lee Douglas - a point that could save Douglas from death.

While Douglas awaited word in a special "death watch" cell a few steps from the electric chair at the Florida State Prison near Starke, U.S. District Judge Ben Krentzman reviewed the issue he cited Friday in postponing Douglas' execution whether it was proper to partially close Douglas' trial.

On Tuesday, police said, Sundstrom, an evening janitor at a municipal building in Jamaica Plain, was called to City Hall for a reprimand. While there, police say, he ran through the building, assaulted one employee, waved a pistol and threw a cinder block.

Authorities said when officers went to Sundstrom's apartment Wednesday to arrest him on a firearms charge, he took his family hostage. Scores of police armed with shotguns and automatic weapons converged on the three-story house, cordoned off the area and closed the elevated train tracks that run above the street.

Sundstrom apparently fired at the officers at least once from the barricaded second floor where he held his wife, his mother and four children hostage, police

Consumer price figures reveal inflation is raging

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another big spurt in the cost of energy and housing pushed consumer prices up 1 percent in June as inflation continued to rage above a 13 percent annual rate, the government reported

Soaring price increases for gasoline and heating fuel and a slight rise in food prices kept the Labor Department's monthly inflation measure at 1 percent or higher for the fifth consec-

Through the first half of the year, inflation has been running at a 13.2 percent annual rate. If it continues at that pace for the full year, 1979 will register the highest inflation since immediately after World War II.

The Carter administration forecasts that a substantial slowdown in food price increases later this year will help pull inflation down from its current high level.

But the administration still expects inflation to finish the year at a rate of more than 10 percent, for only the third time in three decades.

The inflation rate continued to take its toll on a typical worker's real spendable earnings, after deducting taxes and taking inflation into account, the Labor Department said.

Spendable earnings of a married worker with three dependents declined 0.8 percent in June, meaning that wages could not quite keep up with the rise in consumer prices during the month. For the 12 months ended in June, a worker's real spend-able earnings declined 3.5 percent. The Labor Department said gasoline prices continued to soar in June, jumping 5.6 percent after a 5 percent rise in May. Those prices have advanced at a 60.8 percent annual rate so far this year. Similarly, fuel oil prices leaped 8.6 percent in June following a 5.3 percent rise in May. Through the first half of the year, fuel oil prices have been climbing at 70.6 percent annual

The government's index of housing continued to rise steeply for a fifth straight month. Housing prices increased 1.5 percent during the month, home financing costs jumped 2.1 percent and maintenance and repairs rose 0.9 percent.

The good news for consumers was that food prices rose by a modest 0.2 percent during June, the smallest advance in 11 months. Clothing prices declined 0.1 percent and entertainment costs rose by just 0.1 percent, the smallest rise this year.

The overall 1 percent rise in consumer prices last month is down slightly from a 1.1 percent rise during each of the two preceeding months.

The Consumer Price Index stood in June at 216.6, meaning that a marketbasket of goods and services that cost $100 in the base year of 1967 cost $216.60 last month.

The government said prices of grocery store foods declined 0.1 percent in June, primarily because of a 1.8 percent decline in the cost of meats, poultry, fishline in prices at the wholesale level.

Prices for fresh fruits and vegetables rose 3.7 percent in June following two straight months of declines. Restaurant meals rose 0.8 percent last month, and the cost of alcoholic beverages rose 0.4 percent. The government also reported that new-car prices in June rose 0.5 percent, less than half the rise reported in the previous month. The cost of medical care rose 0.7

percent, up slightly from a 0.6 percent rise during each of the four previous

All of the price increases are adjusted to reflect seasonal variations in price patterns. The June consumer price report is the first since the administration raised its inflation forecast for 1979 into the double-digit range, an apparent admission that the fight against inflation would produce no major victories this year. In a new economic forecast issued July 12, the administration said inflation would be 10.6 percent this year, up from a previous forecast of 7.4

Since the end of World War II, inflation has topped 10 percent only twice - in 1946, when the removal of price controls sent prices jumping 18.2 percent, and in 1974, when a quadrupling of imported oil prices contributed to a 12.2 percent rate.

On Wednesday, the Commission on Judicial Conduct said Ralston, a village justice in this town of 860 persons for 36 years, should be removed from the bench for failing to file financial reports and allowing his grandchildren to draw in court docket books. The Court of Appeals now must decide if Ralston will be re-

The commission backed up its recommendation that Ralston be removed with allegations:

-That the justice has failed to file required financial reports with the state since April 1978. Last August, the state comptroller's office cut off Ralston's $500-a-year salary. "I stopped filing reports when they stopped paying me," Ralston said. "They didn't pay me much anyway — enough to buy a couple of six-packs now and then."

-That Ralston told a commission investigator he let his grandchildren color and draw pictures in his docket

Ralston denies it. "They're full of ..." he said. -And that the justice once paid the comptroller's office with a check that bounced, overdrew his court bank account, failed to deposit bail money in the official account and did not keep proper records.

"I had the money in the bank and then they told me the check had bounced," Ralston said. "Took the bank three days to find the money.'

Name may be Mudd, but it gets government's vote of confidence

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) - It took 114 years, six presidents and several generations, but the besmirched Mudd family name has finally been given an official vote of confidence. President Carter issued a letter-Wednesday absolving Dr. Samuel Mudd from any role in the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln.

That made the doctor's 79-year-old grandson a very happy man. His grandfather's troubles had inspired the phrase: "His name is mud."

he fired the shot that killed Lincoln. Booth made his way to Mudd's home in Maryland, about 30 miles south of Washington, where the doctor set his leg. It wasn't until the doctor went to town to get his mail that he learned of the assassination, the grandson said. "He reported to soldiers that two suspicious men were at his house the night before, though," Richard Mudd

Union soldiers found a boot at the home with Booth's name in it, and Samuel Mudd, a Confederate sympathizer, was convicted as an accomleap from the Ford Theater box where He was sentenced to life in prison, and served four years before President Andrew Johnson granted a pardon and ordered his release after the doctor aided prisoners during a yellow fever outbreak.

But the family contended that a pardon implied guilt and fought to have Samuel Mudd's name cleared.

'He was never exonerated, and really, he isn't yet. All we can get is a personal declaration that President Carter considers him innocent, but that's enough for me," said Richard

The simulated weights rotate slowly in one direction, then the other Spartus has copied the heir: loom look of the original Anniversary Clocks in every detail — the pillars and simulated weights have the look of gleaming brass. ### DC-10 makes emergency landing after engine fails

CLEVELAND (AP) — Passengers the nation's DC-10 fleet. Faulty ensaid they heard a boom, then felt vibrations when an engine failed on a DC-10, causing the Los Angeles-Newark, N.J., flight to make an emergen-

Jim Guyette, United Airlines opera-tions director at Cleveland, said the engine on the plane's right wing failed somewhere over Indiana, forcing the pilot to bring the craft into Cleveland on its remaining two engines.

Flight 4, with 172 passengers aboard, landed safely at Hopkins International Airport at 4 p.m. Wednes-

"We have determined that the engine did fail. But we can't be sure of the reason," said Guyette. "But the problem is the kind that any airplane can have and doesn't appear to be connected with the kind of problems experienced by the plane that crashed.

The faulty engine from the Cleveland jet was to be sent today to a maintenance overhaul team in San Francisco for analysis.

Liebman, 50, en route to Princeton, N.J., to visit his sister-in-law, said that after hearing the explosive noise, the pilot announced one engine had been shut down because of excessive vibration Another passenger, Doug Romoser, 26, a salesman from Los Angeles, said: "About one hour outside of Cleveland, I felt a notable loss of power. It was different from air pockets that I've felt before.

"We could feel vibrations in the plane and, because it was vibrating, the first thing that came to my mind was the thing about the engine pylon that I had read about" after the Chicago crash.

"But the pilot said that is was not a serious problem," Romoser added. "And I was not too apprehensive. It wasn't until they announced that the flight was being aborted that people began to be apprehensive on the

$1 million find in gold, jewels KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A team of treasure hunters, having pulled an estimated $1 million in gold and jewels from a Spanish galleon that sunk more than 350 years ago, is taking a short vacation before going down for more. Mel Fisher's Treasure Salvors and Seaborne Ventures of Seattle, Wash., celebrated the end of their joint search by displaying four gold bars; a 2-pound gold disc; a 7-foot, 10-pound gold chain; a 11/2-inch amethyst; ancient Spanish weaponry and pottery, and hundreds of other

The two companies and their crews gathered Tuesday near the 157-foot minesweeper "James Bay" to admire the treasure they've recovered since May from the galleon Nuestra Senora de Atocha.

The ship sank during a hurricane in 1622 more than 40 miles west of Key West, then broke up in a storm 30 days later. Its manifest listed 901 silver ingots, dozens of gold bars and thousands of gold and silver coins. Estimates of the treasure's current value have ranged as high as $600

Fisher says his company will start more salvage on Aug. 10, when an as-yet unidentified individual with a 108-foot salvage vessel is to replace Seaborne as a temporary partner.

House proposes reductions in Amtrak system

WASHINGTON (AP) - Despite gasoline shortages and increased train usage, the House says about 20 percent of Amtrak's mileage should

On a 397-18 vote, the House approved a bill Wednesday to reorganize the nation's rail passenger network and sent the measure to the Senate, where similar legislation is awaiting floor action.

However, the House is calling for only about half the reduction in Amtrak's deficit-ridden system that the Carter administration proposed ear-

The Senate bill also recommends cuts in Amtrak's mileage, although strong support is expected there for a move to preserve service at current levels. A proposed one-year moratorium on Amtrak cuts was narrowly defeated in the House,

Under the House bill, about 5,500 of Amtrak's 27,500 miles of rail service would be eliminated. Carter had urged cutting 12,000 miles, which the administration says would save $1.4 billion over five years.

The House bill would preserve all commuter trains at least until April 1, 1981, and set national standards for deciding which other Amtrak trains would be terminated.

Under the bill's formula, long-distance Amtrak trains must carry an average of at least 150 passengers and lose no more than 7 cents per passen-

Short-distance routes could continue if they carried at least 80 passengers and lost no more than 9 cents per passenger mile. Each one of four quadrants of the nation would also be entitled to at least one long-distance

Rep. James J. Florio, D-N.J., chairman of a House Commerce transportation subcommittee, said the standards would weed out some lightly traveled trains kept running because they served districts represented by influential congressmen

However, backers of the bill have already made some concessions to key lawmakers and are expected to make more.

Three trains serving the Pacific Northwest were spared under an amendment sponsored by Rep. Robert Duncan, D-Ore., chairman of the House Appropriations transportation subcommittee. The Seattle-to-Salt Lake City "Pioneer" would be saved under Duncan's regional distribution clause, while the short-distance formula which he proposed would save the Seattle-to-Portland, Ore., "Mt. Ranier" and the Vancouver-to-Seattle "Pacific International." The Washington-to-Chicago "Cardinal," another train that would flunk the bill's standards, is expected to be retained in an eventual compromise with the Senate, a House Commerce Committee source said.

Another challenge

10 years ago, July 20, 1969, that the voice came crackling from 230,000 miles of space. Our astronauts had landed on the moon. Shortly, Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldren clambered down the ladder of their moon lander in their "giant leap for mankind."

This was indeed a triumph for humanity at large. Perhaps no event before or since has served more to symbolize the common bond of the human family on our planet. The human eye had been dazzled by the remote mystery of the moon since time immemorial. Now we were putting our footprint on its dusty surface.

But the Eagle is a symbol of the United States of America, and it was a stiffened Stars and Stripes that the Apollo astronauts planted on the Sea of Tranquility. They left the flag not as a mark of conquest, but simply to show that the footprints were those of Americans. While the world at large could share in the meaning of that first visit to the moon, it remained the result of a national endeavor by the United States.

Americans can relive that moment of achievement, but not without an intruding sense of disappointment.

Did it mean as much as we thought?

The first Apollo landing on the moon opened a window to the future. After the six follow-on Apollo flights and the Skylab missions which ended in 1974, that window seemed to close. Not until the empty Skylab posed a danger in its premature re-entry did it become significant that we had no capability of launching a spacecraft that could save it.

The Space Shuttle now being readied for test launches will return manned space missions to the scene, but without the high sense of challenge that gave momentum to the Apollo program. Will astronauts return to the moon - and reach beyond it? Certainly they will eventually, but it is hard to predict when.

To savor the full meaning of that July 20, 1969, date in history, we must go back to another - May 25, 1961, when President John F. Kennedy asked the nation to commit itself "to achieving the goal, before this decade is out, of landing a man on the moon and returning him safely to earth."

President Kennedy did not pick that goal out of thin air. The United States was running scared in the new field of space technology.

Mr. Kennedy challenged the nation to come from behind with what would be a "great new American enterprise." Our people did it, with a space program of such brilliant accomplishment it made the Russian effort look clumsy in comparison.

> It is ironic that as we look back on that success another president is exhorting Americans to overcome a "crisis of confidence" in themselves and their country to meet another challenge. This time we are in deep trouble from mismanagement of our economy and energy resources. What to do? ### ART BUCHWALD Could Jimmy Carter ask for Americans to resign?

WASHINGTON — Having done everything they could to cleanse the Administration of disloyal and incompetent appointees, the White House advisers were surprised their actions didn't go over well with a majority of American people.

"There must be something else we can do to show Jimmy is a strong President," a White House imagemaker said.

"I think I've got it," said the in-house pollster. "Why don't we ask every American to hand in his resignation? Then we could decide who we want to keep in the country and who we don't."

The chief of staff said, "I like it. The President could go on television and explain that he had made a lot of mistakes by not demanding the discipline and loyalty of the electorate. He could ask every American of voting age to hand in his resignation so he could restructure the country and get rid of the deadwood and those who aren't team players.'

There is evidence that toxaphene works through the food chain and shows up in milk and meat.

The EPA forbids use of toxaphene in mass spraying, but granted South Dakota a "variance" in regulations on an emergency basis. But before grasshopper farmers could cut loose with the stuff, the Audubon Society got an injunction in federal court (June 22) against EPA, stalling toxaphene's use until this week.

In that month of delay, farmers in South Dakota and other hard-hit states, presumably went to alternative pesticides. The upshot is that the National Agricultural Chemicals Association, which feels toxaphene is safe and should be used, now argues that the fight against insects has been downhill since the banning of DDT. The chemical manufacturers point out that the price of taking every theoretical risk out of our lives is high and becoming higher. To put it in an extreme framework, what good is the land, in terms of environment, if the grasshoppers strip it bare?

Well, the war against grasshoppers hasn't gone all that badly yet, though these words are hardly solace for farmers in western South Dakota and other areas where the problem is very

At stake, of course, is a treasure in alfalfa, wheat, corn, cotton and grazing lands - all in those 17 Western states. Midwestern farmers are also concerned this summer that their indigenous grasshoppers are swarming and showing up in far greater numbers than last year. It is too early to make an assessment of how the farmers vs. grasshoppers battle in the Midwest will go.

Considering all the fretting and fussing in Washington over the way Jimmy Carter has changed directions in recent weeks, I guess this war on grasshoppers doesn't seem so important. But it is because it is one of those eternals and deals with life and death. It is a relief to write about grasshoppers - I must say.

sustained flood damage last week. when the city's catch basin - Lake Pauline - filled up, backed up, and muddy waters covered residential and business blocks on the so-called "poor side" of town.

Water-injection pumps installed in the mid-1960s to avert flooding and operated by the U.S. Geological Survey weren't turned on, were themselves flooded and probably wouldn't have done the job, anyway.

THE FLOODING was in the general area where, on May 20, a twister or a cyclone struck houses and uprooted

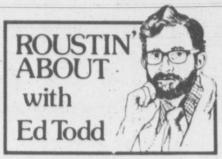

In both cases, losses were restricted to property damage; no one was seriously injured by the strong winds or the rising waters.

"It's too early to tell how it's going to hurt us," said Mike Rhea, city administrator-secretary. "It's intangible costs." Plus that, the flooding may have put a crimp in the city budget. "My overtime costs since last Thursday is going to be astronomiemotional trauma. Henry Dosier, who's in the waterwell digging business, sustained heavy losses to his house, households goods and equipment.

"Mr. Dosier, he lost everything," said Register. "When he found out that the insurance would not cover him, he got sick inside and went to the hospital for two days."

MANY OF THE flood victims, like Dosier, did have insurance, but not the right type to suit the occasion. "The insurance that they buy

"I'm never going to forget this," Mrs. Avalos said. "Everytime it rains, I'm going to cry."

LIKE OTHERS, Avalos and his wife are concerned about another rain and another rising of the Rhea, administrator for this city of 3,000, said city planners are considering installing a pipeline from the lake eastward to over the Cap Rock and dump lake water in a drainage area.

By mid-week, the lake was still far out of bounds, and was slowing seeping somewhere, perhaps into the sewer system, Rhea said.

Meanwhile, "If it rains anymore, we're in trouble," he said.

In the 1960s, the federal government excavated the low area and formed the catch basin, referred to as Lake Pauline, and installed the

It was an experiment, Rhea figured. The theory was that water in the lake would be filtered and would be pumped into aquifers, which are being depleted as underground water usage increases. And Stanton would be saved from any flooding. It didn't "YOU CAN'T GET to them (pumps)," Rhea said. "They're all under water. And even if you could, the injection wells have never worked

The system is owned by the city but supposedly is maintained and operated by the U.S. Geological Survey, which is an arm of the U.S. Department of the Interior.

"The U.S.G.S. has been real co-operative once we found them," Rhea said, "but they can't do anything." avert any more flooding, Rhea and hoping the rains stay away - at least until the lake is virtually dry again and can hold rain and run-off and thus forestall a flood.

Aside from neighbor helping neighbor during the flood, the American Red Cross, the Texas Department of Public Safety's Disaster Emergency Services and city workers were helping victims. The Martin County's road-and-bridge workers were out trying to repair washed-out roads and were dealing with their own problems in rural Martin County.

City crews used a maintainer to pull "drowned" cars from flooded area and used pickups and trucks to haul people out of the rising waters.

By mid-week, the American Red Cross had given $6,127.50 to 17 floodvictim families who needed food, clothing, household furnishings and rent money until they could return to their houses, said Bill Lynch, a ARC disaster services representative from "Some of them don't know what they have lost," Lynch said.

And Lynch intimated that those mobile homes flooded by the rising waters may be total losses or at least sustained major damaged.

'There's no such thing as minor damage (by flooding) to a trailer house," he said.

Meanwhile, Dick Buckland, the DPS' Disaster Emergency Services liaison representive in Midland, has requested that Gov. Bill Clements de-clare Stanton a "disaster area."

Such a measure would insure lowinterest Small Business Administration loans to farmers, ranchers and Until a solution is worked out to businessmen and homeowners who sustained flood damage by the rising Stanton denizens here will just be water from Lake Pauline.

Pedro and Juanita Avalos were victims of the Stanton flood.

Exodus from Vietman, says U.N., to be more humane

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) - A U.S. Navy ship rescued 19 boat people fleeing Vietnam and they will arrive at Pattaya in the Gulf of Thailand Saturday, the U.S. Embassy said. A U.N. official reported, meanwhile, that the exodus from Vietnam will become "more humane."

The embassy said the oiler Wabash rescued the refugees earlier this week west of Subic Bay, the big U.S. Navy base in the Philippines, as the U.S. 7th Fleet began a broadened effort to rescue refugees from Vietnam.

The embassy said the refugees were plucked from a 25-foot boat, and that 16 of them were members of the same family and the other three were friends of the family.

PLO accuses Israel of assassination attempt UNPAINTED

lestine Liberation Organization accused Israel of the attempted assassination of its military operations chief, but Western diplomats in Paris said the shooting on the Riviera may be the start of a new round of warfare between rival PLO factions or lead-

There was no comment from Isra-

The condition of the victim, 43year-old Zuhair Mohsen, was described as "hopeless." He was shot in the head and was reported in a coma in a Nice hospital following an operation to remove the bullet.

Mohsen, who also headed the Saiqa (Thunderbolt) guerrilla organization controlled by Syria, was shot Tuesday night as he approached the door to the fourth-floor apartment in Cannes he and his wife had been occupying since last weekend. His wife, who was opening the apartment door to admit him, told police the gunman fired from a service stairway six feet

A watchman reportedly saw two men, one possibly an Arab and the other a large man in a white suit, apparently European, fleeing in a red Fiat with a local license. But the police gave no information on the progress of their investigation.

In Beirut, Yasser Arafat, the chief of the PLO, charged that the shooting was the work of a hit squad trained by the Israeli secret service. A highranking Syrian official made the same charge in Damascus.

Saiga and another PLO faction, the Marxist Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine, blamed the 'Camp David alliance" - Israel, Egypt and the United States. Saiga vowed a "painful and decisive reply sooner than expected."

However, Western diplomats in Paris suggested that the shooting might be the start of another round in the endless struggle among Palestinian leaders for control of the PLO, a loose alliance of eight guerrilla organizations united largely by their opposition to Israel.

Mohsen had frequently criticized Arafat's leadership and had other strong enemies within the move-

Mohsen's headquarters were in Beirut and Damascus, but he was a frequent visitor to France.

He arrived last Friday from Liberia, where he led the PLO delegation at the summit meeting of the Organization of African Unity. He was traveling on a Chilean passport, and informed sources said the French police and counter-espionage and security services did not know he was in the country.

Arafat sent a PLO delegation from Beirut to investigate the shooting and report on it to him. The group, which included Mohsen's brother Majed, arrived in Nice late Wednesday.

Silent actress dead at 81

MILL VALLEY, Calif. (AP) - Silent film actress Isabel K. Fowler, who appeared in Laurel and Hardy's "A Perfect Day," as well as "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" with Rudolph Valentino, is dead at age 81.

Mrs. Fowler, a native of Omaha, Neb., went under two stage names, Isabel Keith and Claudel Kay. An actress for more than 15 years, she was one of the original Max Sennert bathing beauties during the silent film era.

A resident of Southern California for more than 70 years, where she was active in Alcoholics Anonymous for 50 years, she moved three years ago to this Marin County community north of San Francisco.

She died Friday at a local hospital.

Diego Rivera rediscovered

DETROIT (AP) — Carefully rolled and wrapped in plain brown paper 46 years ago and then forgotten in the museum's basement, giant drawings created by Diego Rivera for his famous "Detroit Industry" frescoes have been rediscovered by archivists assigned to the Detroit Institute of Arts.

The giant "cartoons," are now assigned for caretaking to the Graphic Arts Department. It is expected they will be the subject of a special exhibition in 1983, the 50th year of the frescoes' creation.

Rivera composed the 9-by-26-foot drawings in charcoal and pastel chalks to guide him through the concepts envisioned for the wet plaster of the four walls of the inner fountain court in the museum's main building. They represent about a third of the final design.

The drawings were thought lost in the intervening years. However, archivist Marilyn Ghausi recently was searching the basement for architectural drawings of the building and came upon the wrapped rolls.

This lady has a retired husband and a 40-year-old handicapped daghter, and I'm sure they need her at home. What do you think? — T.B. FROM KY.

DEAR T.B.: I think anyone who works as a volunteer three days a week can't be all bad. Nursing homes need volunteers to keep the residents in touch with the outside world and make them feel that they are still a part of the community.

Staffs often are overburdened and some families aren't able to visit often. And, as for the retired husband and handicapped daghter, don't assume that they are being neglected. Chances are they manage nicley without her, and they all appreciate time away from each other.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married nearly three years. He's 26 and I'm 24. We have good jobs, a car of our own, a neat apartment and no serious problem. However, I do have one miniproblem. ### Sandy water a drowning factor HONOLULU, Hawaii (AP) — Water in the lungs is not the only danger to near-drowning victims, say radiologists at Tripler Army Medical Center here.

They warn that if a victim is near a beach where waves break and mix with sand, it's possible that there is sand, as well as water, in the lungs and breathing passages.

The sand, easily seen on X-ray studies, must be quickly washed out to avoid complications, or even death, in those near-drowning victims, advise Dr. Jaime Bonilla-Santiago and Dr. William L. Fill.

They say they were alerted to such "sand drownings" when X-ray studies of a 23-year-old drowning victim showed pronounced definition ("marked opacity") of the windpipe and bronchus. The autopsy showed these were packed with sand.

In another case, a 20-year-old man was struck by a wave and pulled under but was rescued. His breathing had stopped for only a minute and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation revived him.

He was totally alert and breathed normally but a chest radiograph showed inflammation indicating sand in the bronchus. A bronchoscope was used to wash the area with a saline solution, small amounts of sand were removed, and the man recovered.

Quincy mother loses custody of daughter

HINGHAM, Mass. (AP) — As a result of what her attorney terms a "purely accidental separation" at Nantasket Beach, a Quincy mother has lost custody of her 2½-year-old daughter for at least seven weeks.

Blonde, blue-eyed Debhoria Reynolds will be in a foster home until Sept. 15 while the State Department of Public Welfare investigates why her mother did not immediately report the separation, which turned the little girl into a "Jane Doe" over the weekend.

But her mother, Janette Reynolds, 26, and the child's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morrison of Sanford, Maine, will have "liberal visiting privileges," attorney Frank Piazza of Hingham said. "It is not a total separation."

Debhoria, clad in pajamas and crying for her mother, was carried this week from a closed hearing in Hingham District Court by a social worker following the ruling by Judge Alvin Tamkin.

Mrs. Reynolds left the court with her parents, stopping only long enough to tell reporters, "It's all in the hands of the state now."

Piazza said the child would be immediately placed in a foster home until a Sept. 15 hearing.

Judge Tamkin, who issued no statement, assigned an investigator to determine why Mrs. Reynolds did not contact authorities. The girl was unidentified for nearly 30 hours after police found her on the beach Saturday.

There is this lady you should know

By MERLE ELLIS

One of the major reasons that many of us are having difficulty dealing with the high cost of food, especially meat, these days is that we didn't pay enough attention to the good commonsense cooks whom we could have learned from in our youth. How many of us took the opportunity to learn from our mothers or grandmothers how to survive the shortages of the war years or the Great Depression, how to make do with next to nothing and make it taste good doing it? We could all use that kind of knowledge now and, fortunately for those of us who didn't spend as much time at our grandmothers' apron strings as we should have, it's not too late. There is this lady that you should know. Her name is Josephine Araldo.

Josephine is in her 80s and is one of the most charming, delightful commonsense cooks it has ever been my privilege to know.

She has been cooking for prominent families here since she came to this country from France in 1924.

Exaggerating claims sell protein supplements

WASHINGTON (AP) - Protein supplements, a staple of many "health food" stores, frequently are sold by exaggerating nutritional claims, a major investigation finds. The Federal Trade Commission staff, in a 443-page report on the investigation that began in 1974, urged the four commissioners Tuesday to regulate the claims.

"Misrepresentations as to the nutritional quality of protein supplements or the health benefits to be attained through the use of protein supplements are universal through-out the industry," the report said.

"No significant nutritional benefits are derived from the use of protein supplements," the staff concluded after hearings in Los Angeles, Boston,

Washington and San Francisco that included testimony from health ex-

Protein supplements are not advised for infants under 1-year-old and may also be harmful for people with severe liver and kidney disorders.

In San Francisco, Doug Gillespie, president of the National Protein Conference, called protein supplements "viable, economical sources of protein that definitely benefit some people." He said the supplements are "just as nutritional as the protein you get from your milk."

Gillespie said the regulation recommended by the FTC staff is unneeded. "We've supplied the consumer with much more information than most of the food industry," he said.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) tionalized the seven private Nicaraguan banks Wednesday, and orderd four foreign banks to stop accepting deposits from the public.

The foreign banks were Citibank, Bank of America and Wells Fargo, all U.S. institutions, and Calley Dagnall, a British concern.

"Foreign private banks can continue operating in the country but cannot take in deposits from the public," said Alfonso Robelo, a member of the ruling junta. "We will announce the new rules under which those banks can operate in Nicaragua."

The junta decree also announced The revolutionary government na- -- that the fishing, forestry and mining industries and savings and loan companies would also be nationalized. But it said insurance companies would remain under private ownership.

Most mining in Nicaragua is for gold and is carried on by foreign companies. The fishing industry is entirely national, and the largest fishing fleets were owned by dictator Anastasio Somoza, who was driven into exile July 17 by the seven-week uprising of the Sandinista guerrillas.

The nationalization decree became law as it was read by the junta during the first news conference it has held

Fifth suspect wanted in kidnapping

PATERSON, N.J. (AP) — A warrant has been obtained for the arrest of a fifth suspect in the abduction of a banker's wife in which more than $200,000 was paid in ransom, authorities say. FBI spokesman Michael McDonnell identified the man sought by federal agents as Jose Fonseca, 19 or 20, of Paterson. The FBI obtained the warrant for Fonseca on Wednesday after city police recovered most of the $217,000 ransom money.

Local detectives received a telephone call Wednesday saying that the money was in a garbage bin at a junior high school. There, detectives George Brejack and John Serafin found the money — bills in denominations of $100, $56, $20 and $10 bound in packets of $2,000, $1,000 and $500 - among beer cans, milk cartons and toilet paper

Joan Dedrick, the 46-year-old wife of William Dedrick, executive vice president of the Franklin Bank here, was kidnapped Friday morning from the couple's West Milford home. She was released 42 hours later in Teaneck after her husband delivered the ransom.

Both prosecutors said they would question the witnesses about the funds during Davis' retrial on murder solicitation charges, scheduled to begin Monday in Fort Worth. Davis is accused of seeking a friend to hire a "hit man" to kill the presiding judge in his divorce trial.

Black teens unemployed

CHICAGO (AP) - The National Urban League says it has found that unemployment among black teen-agers is nearly double what the Labor Department estimates.

Alexander Allen, representing a league task force on black youths, told the civil rights group's annual conference Wednesday that government figures show 36.3 percent of blacks aged 16 to 19 were jobless during 1978.

But, Allen said, the jobless rate is far

Hispanics set private meeting with Civiletti

WASHINGTON (AP) - Hispanic spokesmen scheduled a meeting today with Deputy Attorney General Benjamin R. Civiletti, whose nomination as attorney general they are fighting.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., suggested the meeting midway through testimony as the Senate Judiciary Committee began Civiletti's confirmation hearing Wednesday.

'We are strongly opposing Mr. Civiletti's nominaton," Paul Sedillo of the Forum of National Hispanic Organizations said. "We feel that we as a minority have been neglected by the Justice Department." Central to the Hispanic opposition is the contention that the Justice Department, with Civiletti in a top leadership spot, has been reluctant to prosecute for civil rights violations involving alleged police brutality against Hispanics. Nineteen of 57 cases the group outlined to the committee were in Texas.

'The number of cases that the Justice Department has initiated ... is absolutely a horrendous record,'

Elisa Sanchez of the Mexican-American Women's National Association said, "Our people are being assaulted, murdered and onerwise brutalized while their cries for help fall on the deaf ears of the Justice

The deputy attorney general said the Justice Department decided not to issue any indictments in the death of a Larry Lozano because of insufficient evidence of civil rights violations after an extensive investigation.

He said the decision in the Lozano case was a unanimous one, refuting reports Washington officials overruled U.S. Attorney Jamie Boyd of San

Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., asked if the Hispanic spokesmen still would oppose Civiletti if commitments to more minority representation and involvement in the Justice Department are made. "The relationship is not beyond repair," Sandoval said, adding he was skeptical because of the lack of progress made after previous meetings.

Sedillo proposed that the next deputy attorney general should be a Hispanic.

"I can already hear what that conversation is going to be like," Kennedy said jokingly of today's Civiletti-Hispanic session.

Raul Yzaguirre of the National Council of La Raza and Tony Bustamente of La Raza Legal Alliance also opposed the deputy attorney general's promotion at LOS ANGELES (AP) - In 100 years, airlines will operate space shuttles and a flight into orbit will cost "well below today's cruise-ship fares," predicts the former head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Calling it the "High Frontier," Dr. Thomas O. Paine said, "space is doing better than nuclear power."

And although there may be a crisis in energy and the economy today, he said, mankind has begun a "Golden Age of Science."

Paine, president of Northrop Corp., ran NASA from 1968 through 1970, presiding over the first seven Apollo space flights and the first moon land-

Today's technology is the science fiction of the past, with satellites now being used for everything from moni-toring global wheat production and pollution in New York harbor to locating copper deposits in Pakistan, he

Among the "next-generation satellites," he said, will be international space stations, United Nations peacekeeping outposts, mile-wide communications antenna farms linked by laser beams, medical research and treatment facilities and space manufacturing laboratories.

Paine predicted America's present apathy toward space, illustrated by a recent poll that showed about half the respondents felt the $24 billion spent on the Apollo program was a waste of money, will turn into enthusiasm.

"We haven't really been doing very much new and exciting and interesting in the manned space program," he explained in an interview.

"But my guess is that next year when the reusable space shuttle rocket plane starts flying and we begin to do exciting things again — and you can tune in on Walter Cronkite and have a camera cockpit shot of one of our attractive new female astronauts and her long hair going out in every direction in weightlessness - that the renewed interest will begin to

Retiree constructing own private highway sees long road ahead

WRIGHT, Minn. (AP) - Retired dairy farmer Gordon Bushnell has to travel along dirt washboard roads, avoiding potholes and sand pockets, to reach the "highway" he's singlehandedly building to shorten the trip from Duluth to Fargo-Moorhead.

He's 5-foot-6 and weighs 125 pounds. but the 79-year-old Bushnell can pick up a 100-plus-pound log and sling it over his shoulder as if it were kin-

Then he carries that log 70 yards and climbs a quivering, 4-foot-high pile of logs and brush, surefooted as a mountain goat despite muddy ga-

"I'm doing it because I think it should be done," he declares. "I thought if I just got it open once and people started using it, they'd demand some work be done on it."

It has taken him 17 years to build about nine miles of road. He expects to finish it in 20 years, when he's 99. He works on the highway from 5 a.m. to noon using a wheelbarrow, a mason's hoe, a saw, a pitchfork and sometimes a shovel. So far it's a dirt track that few vehicles could get Bushnell's highway would run between and roughly parallel to U.S. 2 and Highway 210. John Pawlak, engineer for the Duluth District of the Minnesota Department of Transportation, said the department studied Bushnell's proposal four or five years ago but concluded there would be no real economic advantage to that area in building it.

Bushnell moved to the Wright area, about 50 miles southwest of Duluth, in 1918. He bought 80 acres of land and cleared it by hand.

He started trying to get his highway built 40 years ago, as one of the founders of the Cross-State Highway Association. Many of the original members of the group now are dead.

Bushnell, who was wearing red cotton gloves, jeans, a checked shirt and plaid cap, lays the 55-foot tree trunks along the road bed, piling trimmed branches and smaller logs on top. Then he plasters the pile with dirt from the ditches he's dug on either side of road. The whole thing settles into the swamp, resting atop cast-off culverts he's installed for drainage. Observers may be skeptical, but Bushnell's work is a source of pride that keeps him healthy and busy. "A few years back, I had this pain in my side. The doctor said I had to have my gall bladder out," he re-

"Well I said, 'nothin' doing.' If I had my gall bladder out I wouldn't be able to finish my road. Well, the more I dug, the better I felt."

Ted Coombs does it on skates

PITTSBURGH (AP) - No more gas lines for Ted Coombs, who left his car in Los Angeles in May and headed east on roller skates. He rolled into town at 12 mph with a message.

'If I can do it, so can you," the lanky, 25-year-old laser engineer declared after arriving in Pittsburgh

Coombs said he became disgusted with long lines at the gasoline pumps and decided to cross the country on skates to show that others "can find alternate transportation, be it walking, biking, jogging or skating." Coombs found a sponsor in Lorimar Productions, which was eager to promote a new movie. He's been on his feet ever since. "It has been exciting," he said in a telephone interview. "People have been fantastic and I've been well supported wherever I've gone. "They'll line the street when they know I'm coming and wait to give me a cool drink. I've been offered places to stay and in Chicago I was given a police escort as I skated down Michigan Avenue with Playboy bunnies," he said.

But not all the receptions have been so warm. Coombs said he was the target of at least 10 motorists who tried to run him off the road. "I figure it's a mixture of jealousy and stupidity," he said.

He shared the road in Arizona with a rattlesnake, and, still on skates, helped fight a brush fire in

Coombs says he has averaged 60 to 80 miles a day. His skates are low-cut boots with a fiberglass plate and polyurethane wheels. He's been using the same pair since he started and has had to replace only the His luggage and supplies are carried in a van supplied by Lorimar, which is producing "Americathon," a comedy set in 1998 when a fuel-short and penniless America is $400 billion in debt to a jogging suit manufacturer.

The toughest skating was in the Rocky Mountains and the Ohio Valley, Coombs said. "Generally there are shoulders on the roads, but here in the valleys, the hills are steep and twisting and the roads are torn up," he said.

Coombs and his promoters are hoping to arrange a meeting with President Carter in Washington, and he says his arrival in New York will be heralded by a skate-in through the Lincoln Tunnel to Central Park rulings and ordered a

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - An insurance company should not be penalized because a Dallas deputy district clerk canceled his office's second mail delivery, the Texas Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

Standard Fire Insurance Co. appealed an Industrial Accident Board decision ordering the company to pay Christy Jean Ward LaCoke $21,-000 in worker's compensation benefits.

The company's appeal was mailed and arrived at the Dallas County Records Building on the legal deadline, June 3, 1976, the Supreme Court

The records building contains a post office substation that serves the district clerk's office one block away.

Although the papers came too late for an 8:30 a.m. mail delivery, the court said the appeal was in time for the 11 a.m.

"Unknown to Standard Fire or the district clerk, however, a deputy district clerk had instructed the postman not to deliver the second mail," the court said.

The company's appeal arrived at the clerk's office a day late, June 4. A Dallas jury ruled Standard Fire failed to meet the deadline and lost its chance to appeal. The Dallas Court of Civil Appeals upheld the jury de-

Friendship Force 'ambassadors' make real friendships

By JACK STILLMAN

ATLANTA (AP) - When the Geordies of Newcastle and the Georgians of Atlanta swapped homes in the inaugural exchange of the Friendship Force, they fell for each other like hamhocks and grits or fish and

Since then, the two cities - one in a corner of northeastern England, the other in a corner of the Deep South have made several exchanges, and fast frienships have sprung up.

That is what President Carter's Friendship Force set out to do when it began two years ago on the Fourth of July. That first comfortable exchange involved about 300 Americans exchanging homes, work, friends and adventures with about 300 Britons for

The Rev. Wayne Smith, whose brainchild the project is, said he hopes to have 1 million persons involved next year in a greatly expanded program. So far, fewer than 20,000 persons have been involved in ex-

"This is one of Jimmy Carter's programs that has worked," he said in an interview.

'Some say I am a dreamer. But I say this: In my 45 years, I have never failed to do anything I have tried. I would rather live in a beautiful dream than to work in a world which might not have ever tried to do anything to relieve world tension.

"Jimmy and Rosalynn Carter believe in this. They're supporting this Smith believed in his dream so deeply that he resigned as pastor of the Decatur, Ga., Presbyterian Church to give the program his full attention. He had nourished the idea since Carter was governor of Georgia and the exchange involved only Georgia and Brazil.

Since then, there have been 30 exchanges, involving 16,430 "friendship ambassadors" from 14 foreign countries, 23 states and the District of

"They do not go as tourists," Smith said. "We tell them that if they want to tour, they should take a tour. We are not interested in tourism. We are interested in people.

"People travel all over the world

Under the program, an American family will stay with a foreign one, then the family from overseas will stay in the American family's home later. Sometimes that is not practical, however, and one or the other family may stay with another host family.

Smith estimates that by the end of this year, more than 50,000 persons will have been hosts to foreign visitors all over the world as a result of the Friendship Force.

This has spawned some strange relationships. A woman from West Virginia visited with a prostitute in Germany, where prostitution is legal.

He made a return visit last year, telling his friends at home that he was going to Idaho to spread manure. There were 19 exchanges last year. Smith said there will be 27 this year.

"In 2½ years, we will have had 46 exchanges, which will have taken on 23,500 people - without any government money and without any government interference," said Smith.

"For the future, we're planning 51 exchanges next year and will add many new states and many new countries." said Smith.

Houston takes fifth straight by beating Cubs

HOUSTON (AP) - Although J.R. Richard's strikeout total may not show it, the normally slow-starting Houston pitcher has found it harder than usual to get his high-speed attack going this season.

He has mowed down opposing batters a major-league-leading 174 times so far this year, but the giant righthander only has a record of 8-11 to show for it.

He was 7-11 before Wednesday night, however, when he blew down 12 Chicago batters while his teammates were banging out 12 hits as the Astros won their fifth game in a row, a 6-4 decision over Chicago.

"Finally, everything was working for me tonight...my fastball as well as my slider and change-up," Richard said. "It wasn't just one basic pitch that was good, it was my rhythm and my striding, it all came together."

He was devastating through seven innings, allowing just three Cubs to reach base, while his teammates were hitting with abandon and running wild on the basepaths. The Astros stole five bases, two of them by Jeff Leonard, and upped their hit total to 62 in their last five games.

Houston attacked loser Rick Reuschel, 9-7, immediately, scoring two runs in the first inning. Terry Puhl was hit by Reuschel on the ankle and scored on a double by Jose Cruz, who came home when Enos Cabell blooped a single to right field.

The Astros got another tally in the second. Leonard singled and stole second, then streaked for third when Alan Ashby grounded to second baseman Ted Sizemore. He threw the ball into the dirt trying to get Leonard, and the speedy Astros rightfielder scurried home on the error.

In the third, Cruz walked and moved up one base on Cabell's second single of the night. An attempted dou ble steal drew a wild throw to third from catcher Tim Blackwell, and Cruz scored when the ball rolled into Chicago got on the board in the fourth inning. Scot Thompson hit a sinking line drive that left fielder Cruz tried to catch on the short hop but missed, allowing the ball to roll to the wall for a triple. He scored on Bill Buckner's single.

The Astros tallied their final run in the seventh when Cabell doubled. moved to third on a wild pitch by reliever Willie Hernandez and scored on Art Howe's sacrifice fly to center.

In the seventh, Richard walked Tim Blackwell on four straight pitches and gave up a single to pinch-hitter Mike Vail. Another single by Ivan DeJesus, who had struck out three times previously, scored Blackwell. Richard was lifted for reliever Joe Sambito, who gave up a single to Thompson that scored Vail. An error on a grounder by third baseman Art Howe loaded the bases with one out, and Sambito walked in DeJesus.

But he proceeded to strike out the next two batters to get out of trou-

Waits blanks Twins with neat two-hitter

By The Associated Press Rick Waits found some old-time religion and, finally, he's found his old-time pitching touch. The Cleveland Indians left-hander, who'd lost four straight games since he got married in June and five straight overall, pitched a two-hitter in blanking the Minnesota Twins 2-0 Wednesday. Through his non-productive streak, Waits never lost the

"I had lost some confidence but never really lost the will to win," said Waits, Cleveland's top starter the past three seasons. "I have a deep relationship with Jesus Christ and he never let me give up. Yet I strug-

It was the Twins who struggled against Waits, going six innings without a hit before Bombo Rivera led off the seventh with a single. Glenn Borgmann singled leading off the ninth for the other Minnesota safety.

"It was about the fifth inning when I started thinking about it," said Waits, 10-9, who pitched his fourth shutout and second two-hitter this season. He also one-hit Boston April 7 in his first start of the year. "I just said let's go out and enjoy it.

"I had a great change up all night. Actually, it's sort of a hard sinker I throw with the fingers split apart. I don't know what to call the pitch — a changeup sinker?

"The pitch in the seventh was the first one I got up all night," he said of Rivera's hit. "After I lost the no-hitter, I said 'Big Deal.' I just wanted to win the game - it's been five weeks since I've thrown a halfway decent

Jim Norris led off the game with a home run for Cleveland and Andre Thornton doubled in the other run in the seventh off Dave Goltz, 9-7, who threw a seven-hitter.

Elsewhere in the American League, Seattle won for the first time in Baltimore, edgng the Oroles 5-4; Boston bombed Oakland 16-4; California outscored the Yankees 9-5; Detroit beat Milwaukee 8-2; Chicago stopped Kansas City 6-2, and Toronto defeated

vious full inning, making it 3-2, in

After 63 minutes of anxious waiting for the Mariners, the game resumed. Seattle survived, but not before some more anxious moments in the bottom of the ninth.

Baltimore had closed within 5-4 and Doug DeCinces opened the ninth with a double. An infield out and a walk put runners on first and third. But pinchrunner Mark Belanger was forced at second, DeCinces holding third, after third baseman Dan Meyer dropped Kiko Garcia's high pop. Al Bumbry then grounded into a game-ending home runs, Carlton Fisk also homered and Boston had 19 hits, its biggest offensive outburst this season. Rice had three hits and five RBI. Dave Revering had three hits and a homer for Oakland.

Red Sox 16, A's 4 Jim Rice slugged two mammoth

Angels 9, Yankees 5 Nolan Ryan lasted one inning - he still struck out two men to move within one of Jim Bunning, who is fourth on the all-time list with 2,855 and Tommy John departed in the third as rookie Ralph Botting was the pitching star. Botting, who entered the game with a 21.21 ERA and left with it at 10.80, pitched 51-3 innings of one-run relief to record his first major_ league victory. Ryan "felt something pop" in his arm while pitching to Reggie Jackson in the second and departed. He was sent back to California for X-rays. Joe Rudi knocked in three runs and Dan Ford had three hits for California, which stretched its first-place lead in the AL West to three games Tigers 11, Brewers 2 Detroit erupted for four homers, three in its seven-run eighth, with Champ Summers, John Wockenfuss and Lance Parrish connecting. Parrish's and Wockenfuss' came in succession and Al Greene had his first major league homer in the fourth. Jack Morris, 9-5, got relief from John Hiller for the triumph.

Texas Rangers receive several threatening calls

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - Several members of the Texas Rangers say they received threatening telephone calls at their Kansas City hotel while playing the Royals July 12-15.

At least 10 Rangers - including Manager Pat Corrales - reported such calls, but there were no incidents during the four-game series and most of the players dismissed the calls as the work of cranks.

'Kansas City has great, enthusiastic fans except those who call up and threaten to kill you," sad Texas tird baseman Buddy Bell, who called the two calls he received "very amateurish." "At least," he added, "I hope they were." Kansas City General Manager Joe Burke said he was not aware of the calls, and the Rangers did not request extra security precautions at 'We don't condone anything like that and we would hope that our fans would not do anything like that," Burke said. The threats came while the Royals, three-time defending champions of the American League Western Division, were mired in their worst slump since 1975. The Rangers won the first three games of the series before Kansas City snapped its second seven-game losing streak of the month by salvaging the final contest.

Darrell Shepard will transfer to Oklahoma

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) - Darrell Shepard, a Texas quarterback who was lost by the University of Oklahoma in the recruiting wars two years ago, has confirmed he will enroll at Oklahoma this fall.

Shepard, who had two disappointing years at the University of Houston, will be eligible to play for Oklahoma this season.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association had ruled Shepard ineligible for competition in post-season bowl games after the publicity of his ownership of a sports car just after he signed with Houston in 1977.

He redshirted one year at Houston and played less than 30 minutes the other.

"I liked the program in Houston, but I didn't want to sit out of bowls for the next three years." Shepard said. "OU was right behind Houston when I signed two years ago, and since Woodie is here, it seemed the best place to be.

Woodie Shepard, Darrell's brother, threw a clutch 49-yard halfback pass to spark Oklahoma's winning drive in the 1976 Oklahoma-Nebraska game. He quit the football squad in 1977 but returned this spring.

Darrell Shepard, a 5-foot-101/2 178-pounder, was listed as a super I-formation quarterback during his high school career at Odessa, Texas. Houston ran the veer and Oklahoma operates with the wishbone.

"I've never been an option quarterback, but I don't think running the wishbone will be too hard to learn," Darrell said. "If OU plans to throw more and use the I, that's great. I'd like to play, but I know they've got some good players.

Head Coach Barry Switzer said Shepard "was a good prosect, a bue chippper"two yearsago and "will start off working at quarterback. I think he's a very good athlete, and we might look at him on kickoff returns and punt returns, too.'

The Elcor Chemical Chems used five pitchers at Cubs Stadium Wednesday night as they downed Big Spring, 4-0 in the finals of the Senior Texas Teen-Age District Baseball Tournament.

Ryan suffers elbow injury

NEW YORK (AP) - California fireballer Nolan Ryan suffered an apparent injury to his pitching arm after delivering a pitch to Reggie Jackson in the second inning of Wednesday night's game against the New York Yankees.

Ryan, 12-7, who shares the major league record of four career no-hitters, gingerly fingered his right elbow after Jackson foul-tipped a 0-2 pitch. He threw two practice pitches but shook his head that he was unable to continue and walked off the mound. He was replaced by Ralph Botting.

Evert enters tennis tourney

MAHWAH, N.J. (AP) — Chris Evert Lloyd, who has limited her playing schedule since her April wedding to Englishman John Lloyd, has entered the field for a $75,000 women's tennis to be held Aug. 18-26 at Ramapo College.

Lloyd, runnerup to Martina Navratilova at Wimbledon in her last tournament, has decided to play here as a tuneup for the U.S. Open at Flushing Meadow, N.Y., Aug. 28-Sept. 9.

Evert joins teenage whiz Tracy Austin and defending champion Virginia Wade as the first three entries in the 32-player field.

TORONTO (AP) - Dave Stieb didn't feel well but the Texas Rangers felt worse when the game was over.

Stieb increased his record to 3-1, with clutch late inning relief help from Tom Buskey, in pitching the Toronto Blue Jays to an 8-3 victory over Texas on Wedneday night.

The loss for Texas, coupled with California's win over the New York Yankees, dropped the Rangers to 31/2 games behind the Angels in the battle for the American League West pen-

"I didn't feel too good, not at all," said Stieb, a rookie right-hander who was playing the outfield in minor league baseball just a year ago.
The 22-year-old scattered nine hits over 71-3 innings, striking out one and walking three before 24,705 fans. Buskey relieved in the eighth to quell a Texas rally and earn his third save. "I didn't feel like I had it," Stieb said. "My slider wasn't doing too much of anything. The fastball was decent but I was standing up a lot. It was just chaos tonight." He had enough, though, to snap a seven-game Toronto losing streak. Stieb also had pitched the last previous Blue Jays' victory and is the lone Toronto starter with a winning rec-

Buskey said Stieb has "great agressive style" but wasn't happy about his own relief stint. Texas had cut the Toronto lead to 5-3 on Pat Putnam's solo homer, his 13th, to lead off the eighth. One out later, Richie Zisk belted a triple but Buskey took over, walking John Grubb and then striking out Jim Sundberg and Eric Soderholm.

"I was upset at myself for walking Grubb," Buskey said. "I hate to walk people. But since I did walk him, it set up the double play situation. The two strikeouts were a different method of getting out of the inning.

Otto Velez and Rick Bosetti both hit home runs and drove in three runs each to key the Toronto offense.

Velez hit a two-run shot to left field in the first inning and Bosetti smacked a solo shot to left in the second as Toronto jumped to an early 4-1 lead.

For Velez, the home run was his 10th of the year and continued a hot hand at the plate of late. In his last eight games, Velez has hit .444 with three homers. He also had a run-scoring double in the eighth.

He has averaged one home run for every 16 at-bats this season, playing mostly on a part-time basis. He is currently filling in for regular right fielder Bob Bailor, who injured a shoulder last week

Bosetti's homer was his sixth thisyear which is a personal best in the majors. He also had a single in the eighth which drove in two runs and gave him 101 hits - the first Toronto player to collect more than 100 hits

Perez' hit pays off for 5-4 Montreal win

Tony Perez strode to the plate and surveyed the field before him. There were two out in the ninth inning, and Perez represented whatever hopes the Montreal Expos had of beating San Diego. It wasn't enough that Perez had doubled twice already and had helped the Expos pull within 5-4 after trailing 4-0. As Jerry White danced off second base and Rodney Scott stepped off first, Perez looked to the outfield while awaiting a pitch from the Padres' Eric Rasmussen. 'When I come up in these situations, I feel that the pitcher is the one in trouble," said Perez.

He was right. Rasmussen was in trouble because Perez had noticed Padres center fielder Gene Richards had shifted way over to right-center, "and I thought if I could hit one into the gap it would score both runners.' Right again. Rasmussen's 3-2 pitch, which could have ended the contest, was decisive in a different way: Perez sent it to the gap in left-center for his third double of the contest, two runs, and a 6-5 Montreal triumph Wednesday night. "They were looking to me to hit one and it was a big hit for us," said Perez, who has a knack for delivering such things. He has 87 hits this season and 29 of them - one-third - have been for extra

Which, believe it or not, is below Perez' average Of his 2,193 lifetime hits, 885 - or 40.4 percent - have been doubles, triples or homers.

"Perez hasn't been stinging the ball lately," observed Expos Manager Dick Williams. "He had only two runs batted in on our road trip (six games) before tonight. But he really came through when we needed him.

He often does, as evidenced by a seasonal average of 100 RBI over the last dozen campaigns. His three RBI Wednesday night gave Perez 48, again below average for his 84 games.

But there haven't been many complaints. The victory eased the pressure somewhat on the National League East leaders, who boosted their margin to two games over Pittsburgh which lost a 6-5, 10-inning decision to the Cincinnati Reds.

In the other NL contests, the Houston Astros trimmed the Chicago Cubs 6-4, the Atlanta Braves blasted the St. Louis Cardinals 13-4, the Los Angeles Dodgers bombed the Philadelphia Phillies 16-8 and the New York Mets blanked the San Francisco Montreal fell behind 4-0 in the first when Jim Wilhelm and Fred Kendall cracked consecutive tworun singles. retired 16 consecutive batters.

Braves 13, Cardinals 4 Barry Bonnell's three-run triple keyed an eightrun Atlanta seventh inning and powered the Braves past the Cardinals. Pepe Frias had three hits and three RBI in the 17-hit Atlanta attack. Joe Nolan also had three hits for the Braves Dodgers 16, Phillies 8 Joe Ferguson and Dusty Baker combined to drive in nine runs as Los Angeles overwhelmed Philadelphia and won its sixth game in seven tries.

Ferguson had five RBI with a two-run single and a three-run homer while Baker - who had a grand slam in the Dodgers' 15-3 victory Tuesday - had a two-run single and two RBI doubles. "We feel like-champions again," said Baker, though Los Angeles is tied for fifth in the NL West. Mets 3, Giants 0 Craig Swan's six-hitter, his second shutout of San Francisco this season, carried the Mets past the Giants.

The lowly Mets won the season series 8-4, and Swan observed: "The numbers show we don't play like this against too many teams.

Koonce, Frank Garramone, Jerry Zachery and Coach Charles Kicking worries Akers

By RICHARD VINCENT Sports Writer

FORT WORTH - Everybody seems to be picking Fred Akers' Texas Longhorns to win the Southwest Conference football title this fall. There's also a substantial group that is touting Texas for high national laurels as well.

But Akers, speaking at a press conference here Wednesday as part of the Texas High School Coaches Associaiton school, said there are some question marks concerning his team. It's not that Akers minds his team being tabbed to win. "It doesn't make any difference except that is what we work for. It's where we try to be,' Akers said. The question marks start with the kicking game, where graduated Russell Erxleben left a gaping hole. "Our main concern is our kicking game, explained Akers. "We don't have an established replacement for him

(Erxleben).' AND WHAT Akers is fretting about is a punter. "Punting is far more important today than kicking because of the rules," said Akers. "We will find someone that can kick it. Punting is the real skill right now that we are Running back is another position that concerns Akers. "Everybody thinks we are loaded with running backs, but we are not," lamented the third-year Longhorn boss.

There is a lack of numbers among the running backs, but you can't argue with the quality of the people Akers has, Sophomore A. J. "Jam" Jones is a skittery runner while senior Leroy King was the other starter in spring drills. Akers is also hoping that Perryton's Brad Beck, who missed spring drills with a knee injury, will

As far as quarterback, Akers said he was pleased with the spring performance of sophomore Donnie Little.

"In spring, Donnie Little was our No. 1 quarterback and that's where we are right now," said Akers. "He is going to be an improved football player. His maturity, I think, will be the big difference. WITH A SOLID offensive line re-

Johnny "Lam" Jones back as a flanker, Akers appeared content with how his infantry was shaping up. On the defensive ledger, there can be few qualms. The Longhorns returned all but two from an outfit that was one of the SWC's toughest last

THE SCHEDULE isn't a slouch either. The Longhorns start with Iowa State then travel to Missouri. Texas plays Rice the next week before the annual dog fight with Oklahoma. Akers readily agreed that the slate was back breaking.

"The strenght of our own conference and with the ability of our nonconference teams, I think it's the toughest schedule Texas has had," said Akers. Still, you can't feel sorry for Akers.

SCHOOL NOTES: Midland Lee's Brian Briscoe came in for some accolades following Tuesday evening's workout by the North All-Stars. "Brian is looking real good and he'll be starting at center and linebacker,' said North coach Frank Bevers. "He is the kind of kid you love to coach, very wholesome and competitive.'

Shamrocks blast Monahans, 12-0

MONAHANS --- The J.I. O'Neill Shamrocks blasted Monahans, 12-0, Wednesday night to gain the finals of the District Texas Teen-Age Hi-Junior Baseball Tournament today.

The Shamrocks will again face Mohanas at 6 p.m. and a victory will send them to the state tourney in Freeport, July 30. Monahans will have to defeat the Tall City entry twice to gain a state tourney berth. A second game will follow the 6 p.m. game if the Shamrocks should lose. Clay Bateman went all the way on Duane Solomon was the loser for Monahans. Monahans defeated San Angelo, 7-5, to get another shot at the Shamrocks tonight. Jerry Zachery continued to swing a hot bat, going three-for-three which gives him seven hits in seven trips to the plate. He had a lead-off triple in the mound for the Midlanders while

But Mariya "Masha" Filatova is still the pixie of the Soviet women's gymnastics team and, along with Nelli Kim, one of the darlings of Moscow Spartacade fans.

It was at the 1976 Montreal Olympics and other subsequent international competitions that Filatova came to world attention with her floor routine - carefully choreographed to be "cute" showing her as a playful kitten.

Now, at 18, she is still the "baby" of the team, standing only 4-feet-91/2 and weighing 79 pounds. Her body, officially that of an adult, doesn't look more physically mature

DePauw University students operate mini-Peace Corps

By LISA LEVITT

GREENCASTLE, Ind. (AP) - They admit they can't change the world, but DePauw University's mini-Peace Corps is looking forward to the chance to change a tiny corner of it.

While their schoolmates have dispersed for a summer of fun and sun, 80 students from this small western Indiana school are planning a mission to the Central American jungle some 2,500 miles away, bringing shovels and medical supplies with them.

The trip is the brainchild of Fred Lamar, a lanky Methodist chaplain whose manic energy has earned him the nickname "Frantic Fred."

The adventure grew out of his weekend student service projects in 1976. It's been growing ever since, with donations pouring in from churches, hospitals and alumni, and pleas for help flooding in from rural Central America.

Lamar says he already has received at least a dozen requests from villages who would like the students to build churches or orphanages or set up medical clinics in their area next January.

"I look at these requests — it's so hard to say no. Whatever we do, we'll be half wrong," Lamar says. "I've got to keep telling myself this is an education for students and not a world-saving, do-goodist exer-

This year, 100 students and 30 volunteer professionals carted 117 boxes of drugs and a quarter-ton of building supplies into the jungles and cities of Central America.

Next January, a 100-member team of students and professionals will divide their manpower between building projects and medical clinics in Haiti and Honduras and irrigation ditches in Guatemala. And they'll pay $525 apiece for the privilege.

They go to exercise a little missionary zeal, to travel, to get away from the atmosphere of smalltown Indiana. And they return changed people, Lamar says.

"I take them for whatever reason they want to go. I wind up with what I want in the end and I don't care what I start with," Lamar says.

A five-student committee, evaluating the program since they returned from their last trip in January, has been considering some possible changes, includ ing reducing the number of sites and students and screening prospective participants more thorough-

Lamar says he is hopeful those screenings won't turn the project into an enterprise for "elitists." That would defeat its purpose, he says.

"I want people who have come to a new perception of who they are, which I think is a more complete perception," he explained. "I would rather take the ones who might not be able to hack it, because they are the ones who get the most out of it.

Lamar recounts the story of one head-turning beauty who showed up for her first construction assignment dressed in designer clothes and wearing nail polish. "By the end of the second week, she had scabs on her legs and her hair was stringy, and she loved it," he recalls. "She found out she had a body that was as good as anybody else's body and it wasn't just a bit of decoration. And she could do things - she could be her own person." He continues: "I think there's something a little bit honest in the dirt and in the very simple life." Life in poor jungle villages may be simple, but it's not easy, Lamar admits.

"I lived with one team in the village of Chachaguala. We had the very best of accommodations in the 'Chachaguala Hilton' — we slept on the con-crete floor of a three-room schoolhouse. We learned to hang our sleeping bags from the rafters because the scorpions couldn't get in them that way," Lamar

Red beans and rice were three-meal-a-day fare. and a nearby stream served as a community washing machine and bathtub. It was up at dawn, then 12 hours of hand-laying a building foundation, mixing mortar and concrete, or an endless series of teeth pullings and pill dosings and trying to work with local leaders, who had their own ideas about what should be done, Lamar

"There were definite conflicts between what we wanted done and what they wanted done and how it was going to be done," recalls Mary Rock, a curlyhaired senior from Davenport, Iowa. "There was some tension between the head of the village and the head of our crew. The head of the village won. It was his church, after all."

Two weeks later, a concrete-block church stood in what once had been a clearing; a volunteer English teacher had an apartment in the city; and countless local residents had received medical and dental care, many for the first time in their lives. It marked some firsts for the participants, too - the first time out of the United States for some, the first brush with a foreign culture for others, the first time the artificial boundaries of campus life had been shattered for many.

"The fellowship down there is amazing," said

Scott Benhase, a senior from Loveland, Ohio, who came to DePauw to play football and now is eyeing a career in the ministry. "You start dealing with people as people and not as what fraternity or sorority they're in or how much their dad makes. You just don't care, other than that they are people who have needs and wants and desires and you're willing to give of yourself," he "You're kind of depressed at first. You think, 'So what, we're handing out a couple hundred pills a day.' But most of these people get no medical attention whatsoever. So at least it's a start," says Ted Mioduski, a junior pre-med student from Gary. John Hixon, a senior from Indianapolis, says the program participants realize their limitations.

"But rather than curse the darkness, we were going to try to light one candle."

Shakeup letters no great shakes

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Literary critics sometimes complain that Americans have lost the art of letter writing — the kind of letters that get collected in books and are graceful, witty and fun to read.

The spate of resignation letters sent to President Carter by erstwhile Cabinet partners, and his hand-written responses, are unlikely to after this lamentable state of affairs. But they do have their interesting

For example, consider the fate of outgoing Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal. He may have planned to resign at some point, but his associates don't even pretend he had a July departure in mind before Carter launched his Cabinet facelift.

You couldn't discern that from his exchange with Carter, however.

"As we discussed," Blumenthal wrote the president, "I feel strongly that the time has come for me to return to private life and that someone else should carry on as secretary of the Treasury. I appreciate your agreeing with this assessment. ..."

CARTER'S PARTING with Transportation Secretary Brock Adams was abrupt and unplanned, having been precipitated by Adams' own questions about the president's modus operandi.

Fired for presuming to tell Carter how to conduct the presidency, Adams submitted a resignation let-ter that ended on what seemed a bitter note: "I hope you find happiness in your job. ..." Adams relieved the curse a mite by adding: "...

and I join with the whole nation in hoping that the remainder of your administration will be success-

Carter responded by accepting the resignation "with friendship, respect and appreciation for the accomplishments of our nation during your service as secretary. ...'

CARTER'S NOTES to the departing, if you except the letter to Adams, might make one wonder why the Cabinet resignations had been accepted.

To Joseph A. Califano Jr., fired as secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Carter wrote about Califano's "notable accomplishments" and lauded him for "competence and compassion."

To Blumenthal, the president wrote about "the excellent service you have rendered," and much more of the same.

To resigning Energy Secretary James R. Schle-singer, Carter expressed regret, coupled with high praise that "you have performed your many duties

WHEN CARTER invited some 30 reporters to join him for an hour and a half of no-direct-quotation conversation on Saturday, some reporters were a bit startled to be served hamburger sandwiches on ultra-thin White House china.

For the record, the burgers served in the State Dining Room were neither rare nor well done and were accompanied by ketchup, mustard, onions, tomatoes and pickles.

The abstemious president also offered beer.

Gold-rush town has wild name

By CHARLES HILLINGER The Los Angeles Times

MOKELUMNE HILL, Calif. - It's tough pronouncing the name of this old gold-rush town. Almost everyone living here has his or her own peculiar way of saying it.

"Honey, we can't help but pronounce it 100 or more different ways," laughed Vi (Ma) Fiermont, 70, owner of Ma's What Not Shop. "It's a mouthful. You try saying it and see what you come up with." "Ma" Fiermont says she pronounces it the way the oldtimers always pronounced it, years ago — "MA-KULL-A-ME."

But the next time "Ma" Fiermont said Mokelumne it came out "MOK-O-LO-ME."

"It's MOO-KA-LOW-ME," said Francois Drayer who operates the Keskydee Antique Store. Her store got its name from the old French miner who could not get the pronunciation of the place right either.

not get the pronunciation of the place right either.

"They would always say 'Qu'est-ce-qu'il dit?', which in English sounded like keskydee and means, 'What did you say?'" Mrs. Drayer explained.

"MO-QUELL-O-ME — that's the way I was brought up to say it since I was a kid," said the local locksmith, Carl Eschen, 34. "I've seen it spelled with a 'que' in it on the old maps."

Eschen is right. The town, 50 miles southeast of Sacramento, the state capital, in the foothills of the High Sierra, has been spelled many different ways.

High Sierra, has been spelled many different ways over the years. The earliest recorded spelling, dating back to 1817, was Muquelemnes.

Other spellings on old maps include Mokellemos. Moquelemes, Moquelumne, Mokelemy.

And, if you have already forgotten, the spelling today is Mokelumne. It is a Miwok Indian word for the people of Mokel, the name the Indians gave the local area. The Indians pronounce it a number of different ways

"Some people call it MUK-A-LUKE-E," said Mi-chelle Kaufman, 9, who added, "My grandmother calls it MO-KO-LOOM-NEE.

"Strangers always pop into the post office to ask how to pronounce the name of the town" of 900 people, noted Antonette Borchin, 64, Mokelumne postal clerk and lifelong resident here.

"You know, that isn't an easy question to answer. I tell them to call it MOKE HILL for short." Trouble with that is some call it MOKE, some call it MOCK, some call it MOOK, etc., etc.,

"And, some of the people here are like people in San Francisco who resent having it called Frisco," confided Mrs. Borchin. "They don't like to hear it abbreviated in any of its abbreviated versions."

There's a marvelous old hotel in town, the Leger, built in 1851. It, too, is known by several pronuncia-

"Some call it LEGER. Some call it LE-SHAY. Some call it LEE-SHAY," said the hotel's manager, Carole Meltzer. The hotel has 13 rooms and unlike most hotels there is a room number 13, which happens to be the best room in the hotel. (Coincidentally, the town is built on 13 hills.)

In the basement of the old Leger is a wine cellar that leads to a tunnel that leads to an old house across the street.

"The old house was THE house in town in the gold-rush days," Mrs. Meltzer said.

"Men of good reputation, so the story goes, so no one would be the wiser, would make their way to the brothel by way of the wine cellar and return to the LE-SHAY with a smile on their faces...," she said.

No one in town could remember the name of the old house of ill repute, but it does not really matter. Even if they could, they probably would not be able to pronounce it.

Tanker fight suspended

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP) -Salvage men stopped fighting the fire on the supertanker Atlantic Empress until the weekend when they will have more foam, chemicals and equipment to battle the blaze.

The fire covered the after part of the main deck Wednesday night and couldn't be contained despite two days of trying. Oil gushing from the Empress's side also was being ignited by flaming slicks in the water. The ship was under tow about 130 miles northeast of the island of Tobago and was trailing burning oil for half a mile. Officials said the spillage was breaking down into a barely noticeable sheen about 40 miles to the west. The Empress and the supertanker Aegean Captain collided and caught fire late last Thursday about 20 miles off Tobago. An Indian crewman from the Captain and 26 Greeks from the Emress werelost, and 52 others sur-

Officials of the Mobil Oil Corp., owners of the Empress' cargo of crude oil, estimated more than 75 percent of the 70 million gallons was still aboard. But between 7,000 and 15,000 gallons an hour has been spilling out since the fifth of its 18 tanks ruptured Tuesday.

The officials said if the blaze can be extinguished this weekend, the 1,000foot ship will be cooled with streams of water from firefighting tugs, then examined before an attempt is made to transfer the remaining oil to smaller tankers. The transfer could take six weeks or more.

The fire aboard the Captain was put out Saturday. The ship, which ws damaged in the bow, was being held in calm waters 10 miles northeast of Trinidad. It, too, had about 70 million gallons of crude oil and lost an estimated 4 million, but that oil spill has been stopped.

Unexpected setback hits House on rationing plan

By TOM RAUM

WASHINGTON (AP) - After an unexpected setback, House leaders are planning another vote next week to give the president standby authority to ration gasoline

Debate on the legislation was abruptly halted late Wednesday after the House approved, 232 to 187, a Republican-sponsored amendment sharply limiting the president's flexibility to impose rationing.

It was the second blow the House has dealt President Carter's request for standby rationing authority this year. In May, the House turned down a similar rationing plan entirely.

The proposal before the House would allow either the House or the Senate to block rationing any time the president tried to impose it - a safeguard Carter says he can live with. But the amendment adopted

Wednesday would also give Congress 'one-house veto" power to reject details of the plan in advance. The amendment was by Rep. Benjamin A. Gilman, R-N.Y

Supporting the proposal were 79 Democrats and 153 Republicans.

Commenting on the vote today. White House press secretary Jody Powell said: "It's a sign that, too much and too often, once the gas lines disappear the immediate threat is no longer with us. It becomes politics as usual, business as usual." CLAIMING THIS provision would

Subpoena undecided

WASHINGTON (AP) - A House subcommittee probably will not decide for several days whether to actually subpoena confidential Treasury Department records on U.S. investments made by oil-rich OPEC nations.

The government operations subcommittee on commerce, consumer and monetary affairs voted 5-0 Tuesday to authorize such a subpoena.

But it then agreed not to formally issue the legal document pending further talks with Treasury officials.

Committee officials said the action was taken to put the subcommittee on record as determined to get the documents, which show country-by-country investments in the United States. But they said efforts were being made to work out an accommodation with the department and no further action is expected for several days. The subcommittee contends the information is necessary if it is to determine whether any individual member of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries could, for political reasons, attempt to undermine the The Treasury Department told the subcommittee last week that overall OPEC investments in the United States total $42 billion. Treasury Undersecretary C. Fred Bergsten estimated 80 percent of the funds came from Middle Eastern nations. But Bergsten refused to tell how much each country has invested, saying several nations - he specifically mentioned Saudi Arabia and Kuwait - have requested the amount of their investments be kept confidential. And he said the Treasury feared disclosure of individual investments might encourage some OPEC nations to move their investments to another country and to another currency.

The hearings were called because of concern in some quarters that the oil-rich nations might be buying up too much American property, and, in the process, gaining a political foot-

The Amerian Jewish Committee has charged, for example, that "proliferating Arab investments have injected a powerful Arab influence in the shaping and execution of both public policy and private corporate business practice.' And two private economists told the pronounced the outcome a fluke, blaming confusion on the floor, "lateness of the hour," and a general skittishness among members on the rationing issue. "I think we can turn it around. I think we will turn it around," said Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of the House energy and power subcommittee BUT REPUBLICANS, buoyed by their unexpected victory, said they're not so sure the Democrats can reverse Wednesday's vote and denied that members misunderstood the nature of the amendment.

'The president wants us to give him a blank check on rationing. And that's completely unrealistic. We're just not going to do it," said House GOP Leader John Rhodes of Arizona in an inter-

Gilman himself said he didn't know what all the excitement was about. He said his amendment was just intended to give Congress greater say in the kind of rationing plan that would be developed.

The proposal before the House would have repealed part of a 1975 law that now gives Congress two votes on any rationing bill - when it's proposed and when it's invoked. Administration and congressional have said it contributed to May's defeat of Carter's first plan. The Gilman amendment puts back into the law the same kind of two-step process the bill itself sought to remove. With the amendment, "the bill is worse than existing law," said

White House lobbyist Bill Cable after leaders have called that two-step system troublesome and unwieldy and Wednesday's vote. IN HIS NEWS conference, the president also expressed concern about the House decision to put a provision in the bill preventing him from ordering rationing unless there was at least a 20 percent gasoline shortage for a 30-day period.

"We could have a 50 percent shortage of gasoline which would almost devastate the nation's economy. And unless that shortage lasted (for 30 days), I could not implement a rationing plan," Carter said.

But House leaders have supported retaining the 20 percent "trigger," claiming it is needed to win the political support in both the House and Senate needed to pass the rationing Carter has said he has no desire to nimpose rationing but would like the power held in reserve in the event of another Mideast oil embargo or supply disruption of like magnitude. Meanwhile, Sen. Bennett Johnston, D-La., chairman of the Senate energy conservation subcommittee, said the Senate will act quickly on the standby rationing bill once the House resolves its own difficulties. Johnston noted that the Senate had approved Carter's original plan nearly three months ago. "We passed it then - before there were gas lines and we'll pass it again," he said in an

IN AN INTERVIEW on ABC-TV's "Good Morning America" program, spokesman Powell said the White House expects a "very massive effort" in the Senate to "gut the 'windfall profits' tax (bill), to cut its revenues by better than one-third." He said that right after Carter proposed the tax in April, influential senators, such as Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., and Russell Long, D-La., said it would never get through Con-

But, Powell said, "The president took his case to the people" and it soon became an "accepted fact there would be a 'windfall profits' tax."

DR. NEIL SOLOMON

Dear Dr. Solomon: The report that many unnecessary operations are performed each year is shocking news to someone like myself who will soon be scheduled for surgery. What can a lay person do under such circumstances except put himself at the mercy of the doctor? -- Mr. B.R. Dear Mr. R.: I realize it is only small comfort to say that only a small proportion of surgeons is involved in the kind of unethical practice you refer to. For the patient undergoing unnecessary surgery, it makes little difference that he is only one of a small minority.

But there are steps a patient can take to assure ethical as well as competent medical and surgical care. Regardless of how you were referred to the surgeion recommending an operation -- whether through your family doctor, local medical society or on the recommendation of a friend -- there is no reason why you should not get a second or even a third opinion. No competent surgeon should feel threatened or insulted by a patient's desire to obtain another opinion before submitting to surgical procedure, no matter how minor it may appear to be. And if the surgeon is resistant to such consultation, that might be your best indication that he is not the one in whom to place your trust.

Dear Dr. Solomon: Although my six-year-old nephew was inoculated against German measles when he was a baby, he recently caught the disease. The

Dear Mrs. K.: It has been found that vaccination with rubella (German measles) vaccine does not take in about a third of all children. In a Minneapolis study, 36 percent of a group of inoculated children did not have serum antibodies -- that is, protection against rubella -- an average of 4.7 years after being vaccinated. The failure rate was the highest among those children who received their inoculations before they were 14 months old. Similar results were reported in an earlier study at Yale

Fortunately, a new and superior rubella vaccine recently became avilable. It provides protection similar to that which occurs after natural infec-

Very low tar Triumph. 3 mg. tar and taste. Together!

Read how new Flavor-Intensified™ Triumph gives you taste good enough to stay with at only 3 mg. tar... one of the lowest tar levels in cigarettes.

Triumph. The first and only cigarette that delivers good taste with only 3 mg. tar.

If you've ever been disappointed by one of the very low tar cigarettes, you will understand why Triumph is quite an achievement.

Even the draw is a surprise.

The smoke comes through abundantly. The taste reaches you smoothly. Effortlessly. With none of the struggle you may have experienced in other very low tar brands. You don't have to pull—you just puff on Triumph.

No gimmicks, no miracles.

No less remarkable than Triumph itself, is the technology that enabled us to build it.

The crux of it: Instead of searching for some yet unimagined answer, Lorillard scientists took a more sensible tack.

Why not, they said, take everything we've learned about cigarettes, and push that technology further than we've ever pushed it before.

Delivering taste, limiting tar.

We found, for example, that combining two types of filter fiber produces the best combination of taste and draw.

That tiny "vents" in the filter-rim smooth the taste.

That lower-leaf tobaccos (shaded from the heat of the sun) tend to be milder and lower in tar than those at the top of the plant.

In short, everything we could find that might intensify flavor at 3 mg. tar, was built into Triumph.

Taste you won't get tired of.

What it all comes down to is this: Triumph is not one of those ultra low tars that spoil your pleasure by short-changing you on taste.

Triumph, at only 3 mg. tar, is a cigarette with a taste you can stay with. A taste so good, we believe you'll never want to go back to your old cigarette.

HAILUMPH.

One of the lowest tar cigarettes you can smoke. The one with taste enough to stay with.

Warming: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

Pentagon offering causing gold rush

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Defense Department's surplus disposal agency is experiencing a mini-gold rush from persons anxious to buy "escape and evasion kits" left over from World War II and the war in Southeast Asia.

The 350 kits, containing gold coins and jewelry, were issued to pilots and paratroopers during those wars "to barter their way out of difficult situations if they were downed in unfriendly territory," according to a pamphlet inviting bids.

The Defense Property Disposal Service began advertising for bidders about two months ago. Sealed bids will be opened Aug. 1 at 10 a.m. in the service's headquarters in Battle Creek, Mich., and will be accepted right up to that hour.

Business has been brisk, according to contracting officer Robert T. Brindle. "There's been a lot of traffic," he told a reporter, estimating his office has received more than 300 bids so far.

The rising price of gold on world markets obviously has sparked interest in the "barter kits," as they are unofficially known.

However, the continuing steep climb in gold prices could mean many of the bids will fall below the minimum acceptable figure. That floor is geared to fluctuations in world price levels.

Prospective bidders were warned by the agency that "the miminum price (of the kits) is subject to adjustment to reflect ... changes in the price
