While most people didn't enjoy Thursday's ice storm, third graders at DeZavala Elementary School, above photo, found the "freezy skid stuff" the perfect surface for after-class playing. Meanwhile, neither ice nor snow nor freezing rain could stop the trio at the right from their appointed rounds — writing tickets for mis-parked cars downtown. # Unemployment rate hits high

WASHINGTON (AP) - A large rise increased by 340,000 in January to 6.4 in worker layoffs pushed the nation's unemployment rate to an 18-month high of 6.2 percent in January, a signal that a long-expected recession may have arrived, the government

President Carter predicted this week that the economy would enter a mild recession during the first half of 1980, sending unemployment rising to 7.5 percent by the fall.

Today's monthly report, issued by the Labor Department, bolstered that forecast, although government economists cautioned that it was premature to say with certainty that a recession had begun.

The January figures marked ohe first time that unemployment has hit 6 percent since July 1978, when the rate was 6.2 percent.

Unemployment stood at 5.9 percent of the work force in December, and had fluctuated between 5.7 percent and 5.9 percent during the prior 16 million. The Labor Department said 260,000 of the jobless had been laid off, as opposed to those who might have returned to the status of job-seekers. The total employment in January was 97.8 million persons, down from the record 97.9 million in December. The number of men with jobs declined by 200,000, while employment among adult women rose by 170,000.

As a result, while the jobless rate for men rose sharply, the rate for women advanced only modestly from 5.7 percent in December to 5.8 percent

The Labor Department also provided the following breakdowns of unemployment rate changes since December for different population groups: -Teen-agers: 16.3 percent in January, up from 16 percent in Decem--Minority teen-agers: 34.6 per-

Iranians visit hospital on Khomeini anniversary

By The Associated Press

Tens of thousands of Iranians marched today to the Tehran hospital where Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini is recuperating from a heart ailment and prayed in the street outside in an emotional celebration of the first anniversary of the revolutionary leader's triumphant return to Iran. It was the largest gathering in the Iranian capital in weeks. Men and women in the throng wept openly during prayers offered to the 79-yearold Khomeini's health. Revolutionary guardsmen stood by with flowers in

The six flew out of Iran about a week ago using forged Canadian passports. They evaded capture when Moslem militants seized the U.S. Embassy Nov. 4 — an attack condemned by the United Nations as a violation of international law — and had been hidden in the homes of Canadian diplomats in Tehran.

The six were reunited with their families at an air base in Delaware Thursday and were to meet with reporters in Washington this afternoon. President Carter said he doubted the escape would result in harsher treatment for the embassy hostages, but Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh said Wednesday it "most probably" would.

So far there has been no public comment from the militants.

Demonstrations were held throughout Iran today in honor of Khomeini's return from exile a year ago, after Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi fled the country.

None injured as Continental 727 slides from icy Midland runway

A Continental Airlines 727 slid off the runway at Midland Regional Airport about 8:10 p.m. Thursday, but none of the 86 passengers or seven crewmembers was injured, and no damage was done to the plane, according to an FAA spokesman.

The plane had landed and was about to turn off the runway while taxiing to the terminal when a patch of ice caused the plane to slide sideways off the runway into the mud, the spokesman said. Airline personnel used rental cars to take the passengers the mile to the terminal from the site of the accident, he added.

The plane was finally extracted from the mud about 1 a.m. today, according to Col. Wilson Banks, aviation director for the city of Midland. Airport officials brought in heavy oil field wreckers to pull the plane from the muck, he said.

Cutter crew testifies at investigation

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) - About a half hour before the Coast Guard cutter Blackthorn collided with an American oil tanker, it had shifted its course to allow a Russian ocean liner to pass, according to testimony from a member of the cutter's crew

Seaman Apprentice M.C. Gatz, the Blackthorn's lookout Monday night, opened testimony Thursday at a formal investigation of the accident, in which only 27 of the cutter's 50 crewmen are known to have survived.

Gatz will continue on the stand today. Lt. D.B. Crawford, Ensign J.R. Ryan and the cutter's skipper, Lt. Cmdr. G.J. Sepel, were to be called

Rear Adm. Norman Venzke is heading the board, composed of four other Coast Guard officials and a National Transportation Safety Board member. The board rejected motions Thursday by attorneys for the tanker Capricorn and for Tampa pilot Harry E. Knight challenging the use of a Coast Guard panel to investigate an accident involving one of the service's own vessels.

Kieron Quinn, attorney for tanker owner Kingsport Shipping of New York, said that although Venzke insists the board is meeting only for "fact-finding and not assignment of liability," the board's recommenda-tions "will ultimately alter the outcome of the civil action.'

Owners and operators of the Capricorn filed a federal lawsuit late Thursday alleging that the Blackthorn was responsible for the accident. The $1.5 million damage suit claims the buoy tender was on the wrong side of the channel when the ships collided and failed to respond to whistle signals and radio calls from the tanker.

Gatz, 23, of St. Louis, said visibility was clear Monday night and he had seen several other ships near the channel before the collision.

On both issues, those most directly affected by the changes being discussed are the most opposed to such changes. Young people between age 18 and 24 - who would be the first to go - are the most significant group to oppose a new draft. And

President Carter announced in his State of the Union message earlier this month that he wants to register young people in case a draft is needed. Among other findings, the AP-NBC News poll taken Tuesday and Wednesday found overwhelming backing for such a registration proposal. Seventy-eight percent favored registration and 17 percent opposed it. One percent said they would favor registration if women were not included and four percent were not

On the question of actually resuming the draft - and not just registration - 62 percent favored a new conscription program. Twenty-nine percent opposed one and 9 percent of the 1,600 adults interviewed nationwide by telephone were not sure.

Almost a year ago, in February 1979, public opinion was much more closely divided on the subject of the draft. In the AP-NBC News poll that month, 49 percent favored resumption of the draft and 43 percent were opposed. Eight percent were not sure. Support for resuming the draft is broad, running through abnost every group of Americans. The only significant exception young people, those 18 to 24 years of age. Those young people opposed the draft by a 40-55 margin. By contrast, those 25 and over backed the draft by a 66-25 edge. In each case, the remainder were undecided.

No Americans have been drafted since Dec. 31, 1972. On Jan. 27, 1976, then-President Gerald Ford mothballed the Selective Service System and stopped requiring all young men to register with their draft boards.

Carter indirectly raised the question of drafting women when he used the term "young people" in his State of the Union message in referring to those who will be asked to register. An even 50 percent of the public favors drafting women.

Forty-four percent agreed overall with drafting women, while 6 percent volunteered that they favored drafting women only for non-combat roles.

Forty-five percent opposed drafting women and 5 percent were not sure.

While women overall favor resuming the draft by a 56-33 edge, they oppose being drafted. Thirty-nine percent of the women favor drafting women, but fifty percent opposed it.

Men, on the other hand, narrowly favored having women join them in the armed services. They favor drafting women by a

A rare turnout of Hollywood greats heard those words Thursday night in memory of the Schnozzola, Jimmy Durante.

'The sweetest, gentlest, most generous and talented man I've ever known has left us," an emotional Hope said at the funeral for the 86year-old entertainer.

The stellar group of mourners gave testimony to the endearment of Durante to his fellow performers. Even Marlon Brando, whose public appearances have been exceedingly rare, walked quietly and sadly into the Church of the Good Shepherd.

Others included fellow comics Red Buttons, Don Rickles, Marty Allen and Jack Carter, as well as Desi Arnaz Sr., Robert Mitchum, Peter Lawford, Cesar Romero, Margaret O'Brien, Doris Day, Fess Parker, Ernest Borgnine, director Frank Capra, composer Meredith Willson, singer Phil Regan, Angie Dickinson and Mayor Tom Bradley of Los Angeles.

Welcome, MidTran!

After two and a half years since the idea was first presented, Mid-Tran - Midland's special variety of mass transportation — is about to become a reality

During a special ribbon-snipping ceremony today, city officials, representatives of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, Mid-Tran board members and others officially welcomed the new buses to the Tall City.

On Monday the buses begin making their rounds at 6:30 a.m., the end result of many months of dedication, countless hours of diligent planning and much hard work.

The dream of MidTran actually began in the summer of 1977 when the Midland Chamber of Commerce appointed a task force to study the feasibility of such a system of transportation. Mid-Tran was incorporated in April 1978, and the efforts to get the system rolling really became fast and furious

John Ingram served as chairman of the chamber task force that initially studied the MidTran concept and eventually became president of the MidTran board, a position he continues to occupy. His dedication to MidTran should be appreciated by all the city's residents.

MidTran is being funded by a $148,000 federal grant, along with $24,014 in state funds, $12,936 from the local government, and 16 private donations totaling $53,320. Operational expenses will be shared on a 50-50 basis by the federal government and the City of Midland.

Numerous residents of the city will see the benefits of MidTran. It will help to relieve congestion in the downtown area where finding a parking space often is a major problem.

MidTran also should indicate to the rest of the nation that the residents of Midland, nestled in one of the most energy productive areas of the United States, are as concerned as any with the need to conserve our energy resources.

Today's highlight in history:

Acceptance of MidTran seems to be positive. To this point, the, system is virtually sold out of subscriptions for its daily service and the MidTran office's telephones continue to ring.

Perhaps that's because Midlanders are realizing that a little inconveniencee - like a few minutes more to get to work in the mornings or home in the evenings, - is a small price to pay for the savings in energy for the nation and their own budgets.

There's little doubt that Mid-Tran will be a successful operation. It's unique in the manner in which it operates. In addition to the unusual use of subscriptions for bus transportation, some of MidTran's buses will be "demand responsive" - answering individual calls from Midlanders, taking them to their destination and then returning them to their homes.

MidTran officials say that eventually the transportation system will coordinate all public transportation of the city. It's an attempt at answering all the transportation needs of Midlanders inside the city from one source, which is indicative of good planning. The City Council also is expected to make MidTran a department of the city, a wise

There are many individuals and organizations in Midland that are to be commended for the creation of MidTran - John Ingram and the MidTran board; Joyce Fisher, transportation coordinator for MidTran; the Midland Chamber of Commerce and Midland's city officials.

Their wisdom and foresight no doubt will be appreciated for years to come.

"WHAT HAVE YOU DONE WITH PRESIDENT CARTER?"

CHARLEY REESE

Carter is deficient in assessing reality

' ORLANDO, Fla. — What worries me about President Carter's State of the Union Address is his jogging, You see, I know that I can't run six miles up a mountain, but he didn't. As you will recall, he didn't discover that until he had collapsed.

That indicates that he is deficient when it comes to assessing reality. So does his State of the Union Address. It's good domestic politics for Mr. Carter, in the fourth year of his administration, to say we will fight to preserve the oil in the Persian Gulf, but somebody had better remind him of the damage he did to our defense capability during the first three years of his administration

The plain truth is that we don't have the capability of putting forces on the ground in Iran and support them in a conventional war with Soviet ground forces. They would do to us what ME. Carter has promised to do to Mr. Kennedy and there is not one foggy doubt about it

The logistics all favor the Soviet Union. Iran is on their border. We have no bases in the area. We have no allies in the area. Our Navy is short of ships and key personnel. Our airlift and sealift capability is insufficient to support a war in the Persian Gulf

In fact, if the Soviets march into Iran tomorrow, we have two alternatives: push the nuclear button or join Mr. Carter in dining on crow. I sincerely hope that our president does not intend to start World War III in order to preserve the government of the Ayatollah Khomeini

I do not think that he does, though he's odd enough that I'm not quite sure. People who think they can run up mountains or receive instructions from Jesus speaking through Hamilton Jordan (his jailbird nephew said. that) worry me.

What I suspect will happen is that the leftists, with PLO help, will dispose of the Ayatollah, take control of Iran, and issue an invitation to the Soviets to come in and protect them from the imperialists.

If this occurs, then about all President Carter can do is to ask the Soviets to please free our hostages while they are occupying the country. They will probably oblige.

Before we get swept up in election year crisis rhetoric, we should re-member that it will be Western Europe and Japan which will be in a crack if the Persian Gulf is closed, not us. We would hurt, but we buy most of our oil from non-Persian Gulf countries. The point is they would likely prefer negotiation to fighting and we would certainly look foolish going to war to protect their oil over their protests.

It may sound strange for me who has been screaming about beefing up our defenses and getting tough with the Soviet Union to be hollering whoa, but I'm an anti-communist, not a

Dear

Amp

You don't spend 20 years disarming and gutting your military capability and then pick a fight on your enemy's strongest ground. That's not being firm; that's being stupid.

President Carter, as usual, has got it backward. First, you build up strategic superiority; get the draft going and strengthen the military; crank up the production lines and give it enough ships, planes and tanks; cement your alliances and secure forward bases; and then deliver the ultimatum.

Naturally, President Carter is accustomed to saying things which he doesn't mean because he's talking nonsense. He's saying on the one hand we will fight to keep the Soviet Union out of the Persian Gulf and on the other hand he's saying it will take at least two years to get ready. He hasn't even decided if he will ask for registration, let alone the draft.

Ham Jordan should whisper in his ear that the Soviet forces are already there on the border with the tank engines idling. They could be on the Persian Gulf in less time than it would take him to call a meeting and decide what to say about it, much less what to do about it.

I will be greatly relieved when 1980 is over and Mr. Carter is back home in Plains. In the meantime, it's only fair that he announce now if he plans to pardon draft dodgers and deserters this time, too. After all, Canadian immigration authorities and American youngsters need a little lead time

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Brezhnev gives a sense of security

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - For all his perversity, Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev gives Washington policymakers a sense of security. He's an adversary they have come to know. They understand his moods and can anticipate his moves. He is perverse, yes, but predictable.

So despite all the rhetoric and rancor between Washington and Moscow, there is a quiet dread that Brezhnev may be losing control of the Kremlin to unknown forces who may already have portended the future by promoting the aggression against Afghanis

An earlier scare rippled through Washington four years ago when secret intelligence reports warned that the ailing Brezhnev might retire. 'Brezhnev's long-standing cardiovascular problems and persistent dental troubles have taken a toll," reported a top-secret dispatch on Nov. 29, 1975. "His swings in mood have become more pronounced, perhaps in part because of greater use of stimulants and sedatives. The Central Intelligence Agency learned that Brezhnev's younger brother, Yakov, had told "a foreign friend" that "the Soviet party boss will retire at the party congress in Eebruary (1976).'

Brezhnev himself dropped a similar hint to a group of visiting U.S. senators, "No one is eternal and life being what it is, there comes a time when a person must leave," he said, "whether for retirement or because of ill-

The Soviet interpreter didn't pass on Brezhnev's remark about "illness," but the escort officer from the American embassy picked it up. The embassy later reported to Washington in a classified account: "The Soviet interpreter did not translate the reference to illness probably because he regarded it as too sensitive...

About the same time, Brezhnev also met separately with West Germany's Chancellor Helmut Schmidt and France's President Giscard d'Estaing. Afterward, German officials tipped off the CIA that "progress on Berlin-related matters was impaired by (Brezhnev's) extreme weari-"On one occasion," they reported,

'Brezhnev was upset by a sharp and disagreeable dispute between foreign ministers (Andrei) Gromyko and (Hans-Dietrich) Genscher, but appeared too weak to stop it In a separate report to CIA contacts. French officials confirmed that

"Brezhnev seemed tired and not a well man." He tended "to read from briefing notes and frequently repeated himself," the French said The CIA was not convinced, however, that Brezhnev would step down. The talk of retirement, suggested a top-secret report, "may have accurately reflected Brezhnev's outlook as of last fall (1975) - one of his 'down' periods - but later clandestine reporting and Brezhnev's more recent public behavior suggests he now means to stay on."

"Clearly," the report added,

"Brezhnev has periods of elation and depression, and his intentions may vary as his mood swings. Thus we can expect more contradictory reporting on his plans ...

Now, four years later, intelligence analysts again are speculating that Brezhnev's grip on the Kremlin may be weakening. As long as Brezhnev is in charge, they believe, the Soviet Union will hold back from a direct confrontation with the United States. The state of his health, therefore, could affect the state of the world Those who have seen Brezhnev recently say the mileage is beginning to show on his face. He is a burly, bloated ruin of a once impressive specimen. His huge gray head hangs forward, the face pallid, the eyebrows still bristling, the eyes small — or perhaps they only seem small, encroached upon as they are by great cheeks. The eves also give off a cold glint, though they occasionally become glazed over as he lapses into an uncommunicative state.

Like an old grizzly bear, the Kremlin leader has about him an aura of a gory, combative past, but the former ferocity has begun to fade. A top-secret summary, compiled from clandestine evidence by CIA doctors, has this to say about his health:

"Brezhnev's major health problems are cardiovascular. He has both hypertension and arteriosclerosis heart disease and many years ago suffered a heart attack. He probably has a pacemaker

'Brezhnev has other but minor medical problems, e.g., occasional attacks of bursitis in the right shoulder and repeated upper respiratory illness...Brezhnev has been diagnosed at times as depressed and at other times as alert, energetic and animated. He has long been prone to substantial mood swings, a disposition that probably has become more pronounced...

'He sometimes uses stimulants and sedatives in excess of the recommendation of his physicians, and this has probably accentuated his mood swings. There is no indication that his intellectual acuity has been significantly affected by these emotional problems and no sign of a lessening of his judgment or contact with reality. '(But) on several occasions," the CIA summary adds, "he has been described as unable to concentrate, inattentive and fatigued. In addition to reflecting the depletion of his limited physical reserves or the effect of excessive medication, these could be symptoms of depression.

"Periods of depression are likely to lead him to focus on his other health problems, and this could magnify future bouts of depression. In fact, recent reports suggest that Brezhnev may be attempting to reduce his use of mood-affecting medications, aswell as to lose weight ... '

What this country needs is a presidential candidate honest enough to admit that he wants to be President because he needs the money.

Candidates rarely speak of anything which can be seen or felt. Whatever happened to a chicken in every pot or two cars in every garage? All we hear about are challenges, priorities, capacities and variables. At least McGovern promised us $1,000 apiece.

Congress is back in session and the Democrats are hard at work on the legislation promised during the 1976 convention so it will be ready in time for the 1980 convention.

The Republicans are working on a platform consisting of the same speeches the Democrats used against them in 1976 plus the speeches Kennedy has made in the last six months.

Carter afraid of a Gerald Ford comeback campaign

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON - Private word travelled to the Rancho Mirage, Calif., home of former President Ford just before the Iowa caucuses that the Republican candidate most feared by President Carter is Gerald R. Ford information that poured new fuel on Ford's presidential ambitions.

The bottom line in the confidential report: The true source of oftenleaked White House fears that Ford might make a comeback was not, as often reported, Carter pollster Patrick Caddell but Jimmy Carter himself. As he has done before, Ford reiterated to his aides that he thinks Carter's appraisal is correct. He then elaborated on why he would be the best choice: Ronald Reagan cost the Republicans the White House in 1976. by running against Ford; George Bush lacks breadth and experience to handle the new Soviet menace; Sen. Howard Baker is equipped for future growth, but cannot get nominated; John Connally carries too much political baggage.

That leaves Jerry Ford. But even if the race goes to the wire, Ford would not enter primaries; he is simply sending notice that if the nomination battle gets tangled, the party should

CHAPPAQUIDDICK SHY

Political aides of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy say privately that one major reason he shies away from recruiting workers and voters via personal telephone calls is his fear that Chappaquiddick will be raised, even if in a wholly friendly fashion

Operatives in Kennedy's disastrous Iowa campaign tried to get the senator to copy President Carter and telephone prospective backers. Carter spent fruitful hours on the telephone, lining up supporters and getting them to attend the caucuses.

But Kennedy bucked against advisers who told him to do the same. Without explicitly saying so, he made it clear that the inevitable question of Chappaquiddick — the issue he cannot escape in his campaign -I made a potential enemy out of the telephone. He wants no personal conversations with strangers about Chappaquiddick.

SAVING SALT

While assuming a tough new public posture toward the Soviet Union, the Carter administration worked hard behind the scenes to prevent the U.S.-Soviet arms control treaty (SALT II) from being killed by the Senate.

The little-noticed 50-to-36 party-line vote against a Republican motion to take SALT II off the Senate calendar was the result of intense lobbying by Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd at the request of the White House. Although President Carter asked the Senate to defer action on the treaty following Soviet occupation of Afghanistan, he clearly does not want to close the door against bringing up the treaty sometime later.

Only one Democratic senator -Howell Heflin of Alabama - voted against the treaty. Two Democrats highly critical of SALT II - Louisiana's Bennett Johnston and Florida's Richard Stone - voted against it when their names were first called on the roll call, but switched after being pressured by Byrd.

REAGAN'S AGE FIGHT

In contrast to the national campaign strategy of ignoring the age issue, Ronald Reagan's New Hampshire managers are bringing it up to make the point it is irrelevant.

Jerry Carmen, Reagan's New Hampshire manager, is saying publicly that 55-year old-George Bush shows by his ostenatious exhibitions of physical fitness that he is training for the Olympics but Reagan is interested in the White House. Reagan spokesmen are using that Olympics-White House formulation all over the

Tower taken to task

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. John Tower, proud enough of his chili to make the recipe public, has been taken to task for using tomatoes in his-

"Sir, tomatoes in any form have no more place in chili than would Chanel No. 5 in a martini," California man wrote to the Texas Republican.

Tower replied: "The chemical and organic properties of the tomato break down the physical and biological structure of the meat, permitting the chili pepper and other condiments to penetrate and pervasively permeate it to the extent that every bit of their succulent and pungent goodness may be transmitted to the tastebuds with maximum efficiency and impact.'

They are also used to treat narcolepsy, a condition in which there are frequent uncontrollable episodes of falling asleep during normal waking hours. In addition, physicians sometimes prescribe these drugs in treating hyperactive children.

Dear Dr. Solomon: After commuting to and from my job and working all day, I find I have little time or energy left during the week to do more than eat, read the paper, and go to bed. I have tried making up for what has become a sedentary way of life by playing handball for three hours on Sundays; but at the end of the day I'm dead tired, and the next day I can hardly get up to go to work. Do you have any suggestions? - Larry Dear Larry: You would probably be better off without the three hours of handball on Sunday. Vigorous physical exercise engaged in only once a week often leads to fatigue and chronic injuries, without contributing to improved physical

Stock market loses

NEW YORK (AP) -- Stock prices rose sharply at the opening Thursday, but then took an even steeper drop, providing a volatile finale to the busiest month in the market's history.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up almost 10 points at the outset, was off 6.06 at 875.85 by the close.

New York Stock Exchange volume reached 65.90 million shares, up from 51.17 million Wednesday and the fourth largest total on record at the exchange. For all of January, well over 1 billion shares were traded on the Big Board, while more than 200 million changed hands at the American Stock Exchange — both record monthly totals. The Dow Jones industrials emerged with a net gain of 37.11 points for the month, which saw most other major indicators reach record But the stocks that led the advance for most of the month - oil and defense issues, in particular - ran into selling pressure Thurs-day as traders sought to cash in on some of the recent

Exxon traded midway through the session at record prices above 63, following the company's increase of its quarterly dividend from $1.10 to $1.20 a share.

But by the 4 p.m. close in New York, the stock had fallen back to 60%, unchanged from its last trade Thursday. Texaco was down 11/4 at

34%; Occidental Petroleum dropped 1 to 28½; Atlantic Richfield 2¼ to 95, and Mobil 1/4 to 581/4

Delaware passes Chrysler aid plan

Delaware's Legislature auto manufacturer. early today became the first to pass an aid package to the ailing Chrysler Corp., approving a $5 million loan for the No. 3 automaker.

The House of Representatives passed the package on a 34-3 vote and sent it to Gov. Pierre S. du Pont IV, who has said he will sign the mea-

"I'm pleased that Del-aware will be the first state to fulfill its obligation under the federal loan assistance program. I hope the other states follow suit," du Pont said.

Delaware's contribution will be part of a $250 million loan from the seven states with major Chrysler plants. That loan is required under a $1.5 billion federal aid

DOVER, Del. (AP) - package to the ailing

Chrysler operates an auto assembly plant in Newark, Del., which em-ploys 4,500 workers. Under the bill, Chrysler vehicles could be accepted for the state's car fleet in lieu of interest payments.

In an initial vote shortly before midnight Thursday, the House fell three votes short of the required 31 to pass the

No rose garden promised

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Energy Department isn't promising you a rose garden if gasoline rationing

Gas rationing would raise prices and would be difficult to administer fairly, Hazel Rollins, administrator of the Energy Department's Economic Regulatory Administration, told Congress on Thursday.

"This plan is no rose garden," she

The agency is preparing a standby gas rationing program in case oil imports to America are cut off. The plan would authorize the start of gas rationing in any shortage involving 20 percent or more of the nation's fuel

In recent weeks, a number of political figures, including Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., have called for immediate rationing as a way to reduce energy use, even though there currently is no critical shortage.

"The time for a standby plan is over," Kennedy said Monday. "The time for a standup plan is now.'

While not directly answering Kennedy, Ms. Rollins told a House Commerce subcommittee that rationing would create major difficulties.

For one thing, she said it will take seven to 21 months to complete work on a plan to fairly allocate a shortened supply of gas. The cost of administering the program would add two to three cents to the per-gallon cost of gas, she said.

The plan now under consideration proposes that each car owner would be mailed a specific number of ration checks which could be cashed in for coupons at no cost. Anybody wanting to obtain more coupons, thus enabling them to buy more than their allotted share of gas, would have to buy them in an uncontrolled "white" market.

Ms. Rollins estimated the additional coupons would sell for about $1.60 each. Each coupon would be good for the purchase of one gallon.
