dents, angered and frightened at a proposal to release radioactive gases from the Three Mile Island nuclear plant, screamed curses at federal officials who came to tell them any exposure would be minuscule

We hate your guts!" one woman shouted. "You're an animal!" another woman screamed at a biologist

'Take the message home to Washington: There shall be no peace in Middletown," Steve Reed, a state legislator and Dauphin County commissioner, told officials of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. The NRC called the meeting Wednesday to explain a staff recommendation that some krypton gas be released into the atmosphere so cleanup operations can proceed at the plant, site of the worst accident in commercial nuclear history. Final action on the recommendation could come

Five hundred persons jammed the fire hall for the meeting, which NRC site operations chief John Collins said was by far the most hostile he had seen since the March 28 accident.

'I'm five months pregnant ... I resent having a handful of people making a decision that is going to affect thousands," Michelle lewert told the officials.

We will never forget or forgive what you have put us through ... You are no more worthy than a hunk of cow

Meanwhile, in Harrisburg, a consultant hired by the state Public Utility Commission said the damaged reactor at the plant would cost $1 billion to clean up - if it is not beyond repair. Dr. Robert Parente said he doubted the plant would reopen because of protests and stress on area

The plant's owner, General Public Utilities, expects to spend $400 million repair the crippled reactor. GPU officials told the PUC there was no technical reason why repairs could not be completed and that the undamaged reactor should be returned to service.

The NRC staff has recommended that 57,000 curies of krypton be vented from the plant's reactor containment building. Krypton cannot readily be filtered from air, and the NRC says alternatives to venting would take two years or more to put into operation.

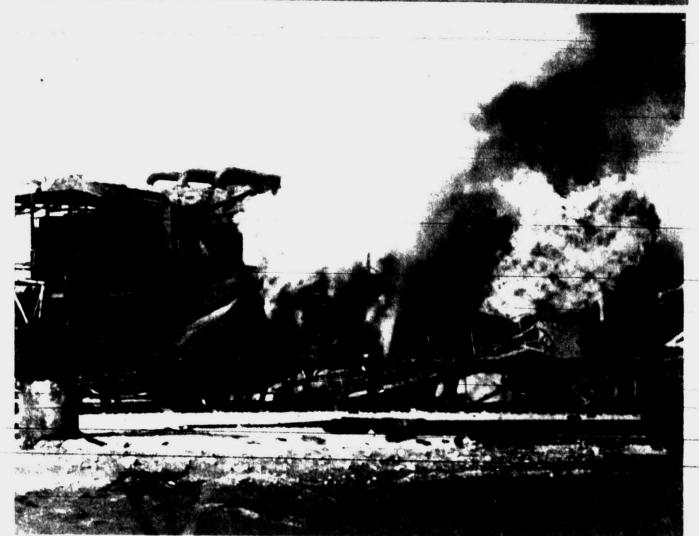

In addition, seals and equipment in the building need to be serviced and officials want to avoid any failure. But workers can't go in for long periods as long as the gas is Collins said the maximum dose from the venting would be a fifth of one millirem while a chest X-ray involves about 35 millirems. NRC radiation biologist Reginald Gotchy said about 10 million curies of similar gases escaped during last year's crisis.

Those arguments did not influence the crowd, who chanted: "Keep your krypton, keep your krypton

After the meeting ended, a reporter asked the normally unflappable Collins if he was all right.

No," he replied, and then slowly looked away Do the people here think we're inhuman? I really want to help these people," Collins said

A gas project 25 miles northeast of Mentone in Loving County Wednesday burns out of control for the sixth day. The project, Getty Oil Co. No. 1-12-26 Brunson, a scheduled 22,500-foot project, blew out and caught fire Friday morning when drilling had reached 16,528 feet. The Sharp Drilling Co. rig on the hole was totally destroyed. No one was injured. Boots & Coots, Inc., is on location making preparations to snuff out the blaze.

Strike settlement snagged

DENVER (AP) - As efforts to settle a 10-week nationwide strike by oil refinery workers bogged down, the union president accused the oil companies of "trying to chisel" the 55,000 strikers and said the strike could continue indefinitely.

The Ott, Chemical and Atomie Workers International Union announced a tentative agreement Monday with Gulf Oil Corp. and Cities Service Oil Co., saying the two-year contract was expected to set a pattern for the rest of the industry to follow.

By Wednesday night, OCAW had received offers from 18 other oil companies, but none of the dozen offers that had been given initial study by union officials was deemed accept-

OCAW president Robert Goss said the recent offers failed to correspond to Gulf's expected "pattern" contract, and called that situation "a major complication

The package offered by Gulf included a 52-cent per hour wage boost in addition to a 5 percent increase negotiated earlier, retroactive to Jan. 8, along with a 10.5 percent increase in 1981. Oil workers currently average $9.55 per hour. In addition, Gulf of fered to pay a larger share of workers' medical insurance, to start a dental plan, and to give long term

workers more vacation time in concert with the rest of the industry in making offers to the union," union spokesman Jerry Archuleta said. The implication was that Gulf would set a pattern. Earlier Wednesday, Goss told a reporter "the problem is that the oil companies, as usual, are trying to chisel the union " Aske strike might continue, Goss replied, 'Indefinitely Archuleta said the additional offers were made by Texaco, Mobil, Atlantic Richfield, Phillips, Amoco, British Petroleum, Shell, Exxon, Union, Con-

About 1,500 angry Port Arthur local OCAW members rejected Gulf Oil Co.'s latest contract offer because the company allegedly fired two striking workers and threatened a dozen more with suspension.

Gulf says the affected workers must go through the company's grievance procedures, but union officials say the matter must be solved before the contract is accepted.

"Our people were clearly provoked," McClain said. "We feel a complete settlement is justified." McClain said similar incidents at other plants "have not yet come to light" and these incidents could affect negotiations throughout the industry.

No one can realize the 'American dream,' says oil executive

AUSTIN (AP) - As long as government, industry, labor and the media oppose each other, no one can realize the "American dream," says an oil and gas executive.

Chairman Theodore Burtis of Sun Co., Inc., said he was "convinced that the time is right for all of us to put America first and private However, Burtis said, "We will not cooperate with any process whose objective is to destroy us.' Burtis and two dozen other executives spoke at the Texas Railroad Commission's annual "state of the industry" meeting.

Jim Hightower, who is running against commissioner James Nugent, described the session as an "exclusive club meeting of the national energy establishment.' 'Inside this hotel are executives of multi-national firms who have come to Texas today to cry on the shoulders of the only watchdogs in the country who are faithful to them," said Hightower.

When they finish bleeding us down to the last penny, perhaps the commissioners will use that last penny to cover one eye of the senior citizens for their final rite," said Conrad Fath, one of several persons who appeared with Hightower at a news conference.

Vice President Colin Lee of Conoco, Inc., said gasoline demand is expected to drop by 6.9 million barrels a day this year because of higher prices, and he added:

'We do not foresee supply shortages curbing consumption in 1980 as they did during the spring of 1979 unless we have a major disruption in world crude oil supplies. Jack Herring, senior vice president of Marathon Oil Co., said higher oil prices should enable operators to halt the slide in domestic crude production in 1980. He and others predicted crude oil imports would

Executive Vice President Robert Weeks of Mobil Oil Corp. said Americans "were lucky" last year in avoiding a severe energy short-

"We were spared the social and economic hardships of a shortage that could have shut down factories, eliminated jobs and left homes without adequate heat. That kind of shortage was a real possibility and still is,"

John Morley, senior vice president of Exxon Co., U.S.A., said by the late 1980s synthetic fuels "may begin serving as a bridge, buying time by helping offset the oil and gas decline" while industry attempts to switch to such energy sources as solar and nuclear fusion. 'The resources needed to support a synthetic fuels industry are abundant," Mcrley said. "U.S. oil shale and coal are capable of providing energy equivalent to almost a trillion barrels of oil. That's enough to supply the current U.S. oil demand of about 18 million barrels per day for the next 150 years." The commission set the statewide oil allowable at 100 percent for April.

As usual, production in the East Texas Field was restricted to 86 percent

Wind erosion worse this year

WASHINGTON (AP) - Damage to land because of wind is exceeding the relatively low rate of erosion last year in the Great Plains, according to the latest survey by the Agriculture Department. About 3.1 million acres of land have been damaged in parts of the 10-state region so far this season, compared to fewer than 1.2 million in the same period of a year ago, the department's Soil Conservation Service said Wednesday More than half of the damaged acreage was reported in two states,

According to the experts, land is considered damaged by wind "if enough soil has been removed or deposited on it to subject the land to further erosion hazard, or to impair its productive capacity. The agency conducts regular surveys of the region during seven months when wind erosion is most severe. That season runs from Nov. 1 through the following Figures released Wednesday were for damage through February, the first four months of the 1979-80 season. Over the entire seven months of last season, about 2.9 million acres of land in the 10-state region were damaged by wind, one of the mildest seasons for wind erosion in some time. In 1976-77, for example, wind damaged

In the mid-1950s, when there was prolonged drought in the Great Plains, wind damage was even more severe, with the damage ranging up to 15.8 million acres in 1954-55

Norman A. Berg, administrator of the Soil Conservation Service, said last year's reduced summer and fall precipitation and the absence of adequate snowcover this winter were major factors in this season's increased wind

Damage in the first four months of this season, compared to the acreage damaged in the same period of 1978-79, included:

Northern Great Plains - Montana, 406,125 acres and 210,730 a year earlier; Nebraska, 34,135 and 15,467; North Dakota, 277,750 and 70,960; South Dakota, 620,948 and 102,078; and Wyoming, 13,830 and 21,500.

Southern Great Plains - Colorado, 10,185 and 19,670; Kansas, 442,140 and 31.328; New Mexico, 148,900 and 145,800; Oklahoma, 180,450 and 32,825; and Texas, 989,247 and 520,491.

Receiving heavy criticism was the use of unmarked cars at night, and the penalty for drivers afraid to stop for those unmarked vehicles while on lonely stretches of highway.

"He (Hobby) did come out with a comment of disapproval," Adams said before his luncheon speech. "But Lt. Gov. Hobby has been very supportive of traffic safety in the state, and I think his disagreement over this technique is not indicative of a lack of support of general traffic safety.

"I REALIZE IT is a sensitive technique. But I consider it within my authority as director of the DPS to use unmarked vehicles," Adams added. 'There's no state prohibition about it. The last prohibition in existence was in 1971.

DPS head says goal is saving lives

"I consider that the goal of saving lives and gasoline are realistic and attainable. Adams defended his policy by saying that, although black and white units serve as some deterrent, there is only one patrol unit for every 120 miles of highway to be covered. "That's not saturation point. It's just ridiculous," Adams told his listeners. "It's token coverage." He also added that black-andwhites would be used to make the majority of the arrests. Most of the time, unmarked vehicles would be used only to detect the speeder.

"However, I have authorized all of our regions to utilize unmarked vehicles to make the stop where we have a flagrant violation pattern — particularly heavy trucks.

"Is it a sneaky technique? We do not consider it sneaky as the violator has a posted sign saying 55 mph. "And there are those who are concerned that it might encourage people to impersonate an officer and perpetrate some criminal actions, such as

The mother was nursing her firstborn child at about 1:30 p.m. Wednesday when a woman walked in, started a conversation, offered to change the baby's wet diaper and disappeared with her, said hospital spokesman Frank Limpus. 'She came into the room and said

MILAN, Italy (AP) - The Milan police called in about 40 foreign fashion models, asked them some questions and told them to leave Italy "as soon as possible." Then the beautiful outlaws went back to the runway to finish selling Italian fashions.

The police hauled in the beauties from the United States, Ethiopia, the Cape Verde Islands and Japan on Wednesday because an association of Italian models complained that their foreign competitors didn't have the required work permits.

By Franchelle Moore

P.O. Box 1650, Midland 79702

About the middle of January, 1980, the enclosed article was published in the newspapers in Midland and Odessa. An application for attendance was with the article, with a Midland Post Office number. I sent a check to the box number, but did not receive her family since I'm sure they are our relatives, and any tickets nor any information about the program. Nor did I read anything else about it in the papers.

My check was deposited in The First National Bank of Midland (see enclosure). There was no signature on the check, but was marked for deposit I would like very much any information you could send me concerning this organization. I am wondering if it was just another racket that also took other people's money.

Thanking you in advance, I am Mrs. C. H. Brewster, Odessa.

Six Cubans seek Venezuelan asylum

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Six Cubans in a hijacked truck sped through police gunfire and smashed into the Venezuelan Embassy compound in Havana to seek political asylum, the Venezuelan Foreign Ministry reported Wednesday.

This brought to 15 the number of Cubans inside the embassy seeking asylum in Venezuela. Thus far the Cuban government has refused them safe conduct out of the country.

The ministry report about Tuesday's incident said the six commandeered a heavy, steel-reinforced electric utility truck. 'There were rounds of machine gun bullets fired by Cuban police when the vehicle was en route to the embassy," it said. The gunfire stopped after the truck burst into the embassy yard and a Venezuelan diplomat shouted to police to hold their fire, the communique said. It said there were no injuries.

TO WORK The would-be refugees were not Dial 682-6222 identified.

Nine other Cubans gained entry to the Venezuelan mission several months ago and are still there despite lengthy negotiations between the two governments to resolve their cases.

In January, both the Cuban ambassador to Caracas and the Venezuelan ambassador to Havana were recalled by their governments for consultation. The Cuban envoy has remained

Ford's tough decision

Ford's Saturday announcement that he would not toss his hat into the Republican ring this year, as anticipated, caught many political observers by surprise.

The former president recently had acquired the appearance of a candidate, lashing out verbally at President Carter.

But on Saturday Ford said he would not be a candidate this time around, that the United States needs a new president and that he would support the nominee of the Republican Party

Undoubtedly Ford's decision was based in large part on the knowledge that his candidacy would further divide the Republican Party and undermine the GOP's strength. He acknowledged that fact during his announcement.

It probably will lend unity to the Republican Party

As many voters will recall, the Ford-Reagan contest during the 1976 presidential nomination quest did divide the GOP to some extent, probably contributing to the Democratic victory by Jimmy

"The delegates from the party meet in a large American city to decide if you can be the candidate. They have bands and signs and balloons and cheerleaders and they march up and down the aisles shouting for the person they like."

"That sounds like fun." "It is, but you won't be there. You'll be up in your suite with your campaign manager horsetrading for votes with political hacks and bosses, who want something in exchange for making you President. If for some unforeseeable reason you do get the nomination, then the presidential campaign begins.'

"You mean I can still lose after going through all that?" "You better believe it. Half the people who run do.'

'You know, Dad, after what you've told me, I don't think I want to be President of the United States."

'Thank God. You have made your mother and me very happy.'

Striking firemen jailed

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — With 16 accused of violating a Dec. 24 court jail and at least 78 others facing imprisonment today, the prospects remained bleak for a quick settlement of the firefighters' second walkout in three months.

"It's going to take a lot more work," said Gov. Joseph Teasdale after meeting separately with city and union officials Wednesday night.

Meanwhile, city police, non-union fire department personnel and National Guardsmen were providing fire protection for Kansas City's 500,000 residents. Since the strike by 900 members of Local 42 of the International Association of Firefighters began Monday night, the makeshift forces have handled 210 fire calls.

Two firefighters were arrested Wednesday night in connection with a grass fire behind a police station in south Kansas City, police said. A decision to file charges against the pair had not been made by late Wednes-

Jackson County Circuit Judge Laurence Smith on Wednesday found the 16 firefighters guilty of criminal contempt of court, sentenced them to 20-day terms and fined them $300 their jobs, about 250 other firefighters stormed into Jackson County Court-

"If one of us goes to jail, we all go to jail," said Robert Palmer, secretarytreasurer of Local 42. "We want to serve our 20 days now. They want to be up there with their brothers in jail."

Smith served contempt citations on nearly half the crowd for violating the December court order, 78 were due in court today and more hearings were scheduled for Friday.

City personnel director Thomas F. Lewinsohn had said termination notices probably would be mailed today to 143 firefighters who walked off their jobs Monday. But officials he'd off on mailing the notices, for the second day, in hopes of a break-

Mayor Richard Berkley said at a city council meeting that "if the firefighters stand around and look at fires rather than fight them, we'll hire new

Teasdale met with Berkley and other city officials, then with Local 42 president John Germann and vice president Joe McMahon. Each session lasted nearly two hours. "In both meetings, there were rays of hope, then the doors closed again, Teasdale said. Berkley called the meeting "exploratory and productive," and Germann refused comment. Teasdale said there were two issues that must be resolved before the strike can be settled. One was whether the city should reinstate 42 firefighters dismissed after a 12-day work slowdown in December. The other was a stipulation that the fire department cannot hire or rehire persons over 45 years of age. The current strike was triggered when city manager Robert Kipp re-fused on Monday to reinstate the 42

Germann has said the union will remain on strike indefinitely unless the 42 are returned to duty.

The conflicting testimony about the meeting emerged during the trial of a suit by Bernice Dolan, an Eastern attendant and former president of Local 553 of the Transport Workers Union of America. The local represents Eastern's 7,000 flight attendants.

In her suit, Ms. Dolan alleged the airline and officers of the union conspired to oust her as president in May 1976. Union officials say Ms. Dolan didn't pay dues and had irregularities on expense vouchers.

Former mayor shot in own kitchen

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) - Former Mayor Russell G. Lloyd, in "poor but not hopeless" condition, today lay in a coma after being gunned down in his kitchen. Police filed a preliminary charge of attempted murder against a 35-year-old woman.

The prominent Evansville Republican, a 47-year-old attorney and father of six, was shot several times at close range about 7 a.m. Wednesday, minutes after he got out of bed and drank his morning coffee.

After a 21/2-hour operation to repair a major artery in Lloyd's neck that was severed by a bullet, Dr. Eugene Austin, chief of staff at St. Mary's Medical Center, said the prognosis was "poor but not hopeless.

Lloyd suffered at least four bullet wounds, and doctors were concerned about the possibility of brain and spinal cord damage, he said. About an hour after the shooting, police arrested a woman identified as Julie Van Orden and filed a preliminary charge of attempted murder against her in Vanderburgh County Misdemeanor Court. She told police she was a commercial artist, and police said she appeared not to know

She was ordered held without bond for seven days following a probable cause hearing Wednesday.

Lloyd was out of office.

The only person to testify at the hearing, patrolman John Haller, said Lloyd's wife, Genna, was in bed when the shooting occurred.

He said she heard the doorbell ring and heard her husband ask, "What are you doing just barging into my

Mrs. Lloyd heard a woman say, 'You don't know the hell you've been putting me through. I want you to get this Joe Freeman off my back," Haller testified. Freeman is a city building inspector.

After hearing shots, Mrs. Lloyd ran into the kitchen and found her husband lying in a pool of blood, Haller

The woman had fled, but police were able to trace her through a description of a blue pickup truck seen at the Lloyd home.

Police said a cement block had been thrown through Freeman's car window on Tuesday, and when they went to Mrs. Van Orden's home, she said she "should have killed Freeman instead of throwing a brickbat at

Haller said officers also quoted her as saying, "I should kill everybody in the Republican Party."

Lloyd stepped down in December after two four-year terms. His successor, Michael Vandeveer, is a Dem-

Illinois attorney general convicted of tax fraud

CHICAGO (AP) - Four-term Attorney General William J. Scott, an environmental crusader and one of the biggest vote-getters in Illinois, was convicted of income tax fraud by a jury that deliberated more than 46 hours to reach a verdict.

Scott was convicted in federal court Wednesday of underreporting his income for 1972. He was acquitted of charges of underreporting his income

The verdict came one day after Scott's upset defeat by Lt. Gov. Dave O'Neal in the race for a Republican U.S. Senate nomination. The 53-yearold Scott told reporters he would ap-statement expressing his regret. "He was, and he is, my friend," Thompson

Conviction carries a maximum penalty of three years in prison and a $5,000 fine. Under the state constitution, Scott must step down from office when judgment is entered. He could be reinstated if he wins on appeal.

Judgment usually is entered at the time of sentencing. U.S. District Judge John Powers Crowley set June 6 for either sentencing or a ruling on post-trial motions by the defense

Scott sat with his arm around his wife as the verdict was read after six days of deliberation and a 10-week

Ellen Scott burst into tears, then confronted prosecutor Thomas P. Sullivan. "I hope you are satisfied, you hypocrite," she told him before Scott pulled her away, saying, "Don't give him the satisfaction."

Scott had said in the past that his prosecution was politically motivated. "That is absolutely and utterly false," Sullivan insisted after the ver-

Fire kills captain in New Jersey

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP) - Nearly 100 firefighters were called out in this New Jersey city early today to battle a fire that engulfed an office and spread to several businesses and apartments. Officials said a 29-year veteran of the fire department was killed. Fire Chief William Neafsey said the fire apparently began in an office above the United Counties Trust Co. and spread to "about four attached buildings.

He said he did not know how many persons had been living in the small apartments in the buildings that adjoined the three-store brick structure housing the bank.

Capt. Kenneth Feeney, 59, a captain for 16 years, was pronounced dead at a hospital in this city of 106,000, according to Neafsey. The cause of his death was not immediately known.

Officials said three other firefighters were hospitalized, but the ex-tent of their injuries could not be determined immediatly.

Neafsey said he did not know the cause of the

Slight improvement in Tito's health; Physicians report outlook still grave

RESGES

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) -Doctors treating Josip Broz Tito said today they had controlled the internal bleeding troubling the 87-year-old Yugoslav president and were making progress in treating the pneumonia he has been battling since last month.

'Nevertheless,' the doctor's said in the daily bulletin, Tito's "overall health condition is still very grave.' The eight-member medical team said intensive measures were being continued to keep him alive.

"The bleeding in the stomach has almost completely stopped, (and) there are signs of calming down of the pneumonia," the bulletin said.

The abdominal bleeding was described Tuesday as "voluminous."

Tito has been battling pneumonia since at least Feb. 23. It is one of a string of ailments that have developed since surgeons amputated Tito's left leg on Jan. 20 because of a circulatory problem.

FOREIGN BRIEFS

Two guerrillas die as troops raid camp

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Government troops raided the headquarters of a leftist guerrilla group and fought a 20-minute gunbattle that left two terrorists dead, authorities said.

The soldiers surrounded the San Salvador command post of the Popular Revolutionary Bloc on Wednesday and demanded those inside surrender. Witnesses said gunfire erupted, but it was not clear who fired the first shots. In the end, troops took the headquarters, capturing guns and propaganda leaflets and arresting 30 suspects, authorities said.

Czech police arrest dissident

LONDON (AP) - Dissident Czechoslovak philosopher Dr. Julius Tomin was "brutally arrested" by police who raided an apartment in Prague where he was attending an unauthorized philosophy lecture, his wife said in a telephone cail to Britain.

Dr. Kathleen Wilkes, a philosophy lecturer at Britain's Oxford University, said Zdena Tomin told her that Tomin was arrested Wednesday night with six other persons at the apartment. Mrs. Tomin said the other six were later released but Tomin was still being held

Guerrillas ask for new talks

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) - The guerrillas holding 32 hostages at the embassy of the Dominican Republic want to resume negotiations, a sign they may be backing down from their demand that 28 jailed leftists be freed, a source close to the Colombian government said.

The source, who declined to be identified, said Wednesday the request by the guerrillas for new talks indicated a softening of their "non-negotiable" demand because the government refuses to discuss the prison-

The guerrillas have steadily reduced their demands since seizing the embassy at a diplomatic reception Feb. 27. At first they asked for a $50 million ransom, worldwide publication of a political statement and freedom for 311 prisoners. They reduced the number of prisoners demanded to 215 and then to 28 and dropped the

The source said Mexican Ambassa-dor Ricardo Galan, one of the hos-tages, relayed the request for new talks to Colombian Foreign Minister Diego Uribe Vargas on Wednesday. Galan has acted as a go-between in negotiations between the guerrillas and the government. He and U.S. Ambassador Diego Asencio are among the 19 foreign diplomats held at the embassy.

The source said the hostages, now starting their 23rd day of captivity, pressed the guerrillas to ask for new talks. There have been no direct negotiations since a fifth meeting a gotiations since a fifth meeting a week ago ended in a deadlock over the prisoner issue.

There was no immediate reaction from the government to the reported request for new talks.

The government has refused to release any of the prisoners, saying that to do so would violate the constitution and encourage similar guerrilla actions elsewhere

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Dutch artist Vincent Van Gogh's "Poppies", val-ued at $500,000 and stolen from Cairo two years ago, has been recovered in Kuwait and returned to Egypt, the official Middle East News Agency reported today.

The agency quoted Interior Minister Nabawi Ismail that three Egyptians allegedy involved in the theft had been arrested and told authorities where to find the painting.

Van Gogh painted "Popples" in 1887, three years before he took his own life at the age of 37. The one-bytwo-foot canvas depicts vivid yellow and orange flowers in a dark vase.

Women earn less than men

WASHINGTON (AP) - Women are making inroads in job markets once dominated by men, but they're still not making as much money, a new report by the Census Bureau shows.

The statistical portrait of American women as of 1978 says that for the first time ever more than half of all women over 16 years of age either have jobs or are actively looking for

The total number of working women increased 25 percent from 1972. And while most were in clerical and service work, the report said, more women were moving into jobs traditionally held by men.

Representation among managers and administrators was up 67 percent, craft workers up 84 percent and laborers up 81 percent.

The report said 35 percent of working women were in clerical jobs, 21 percent in service work, 16 percent in professional and technical jobs and 11percent were equipment operators.

But money remained the biggest exception to equality in the labor

The report said the median income of women in 1977 was $8,618 a year, just 59 percent of the men's median earnings of $14,626. That represented little improvement from 10 years earlier, when the women's median income of $7,503 was 58 percent of men's income of $13,021.

The Census Bureau said work experience, education and types of jobs accounted for part of the difference, and it noted that the income difference was smaller - 68 percent of men's median earnings - for younger women aged 25 to 34.

Nevertheless, the report added, "Discrimination in hiring, promotions, hours of work and pay cannot be ruled out as contributing to the differential."

Here are other highlights of the report, which was issued Wednes-

-There were about 112 million females in the country, 51.3 percent of the population, outnumbering men by

-Among the 15 leading causes of death in the United States, women had lower death rates for all diseases except diabetes.

-For crimes of violence there were about five women for every 10 men victimized in 1977; for crimes of theft the ratio was eight to 10. The rates of arrest for women are increasing and they are being charged with a growing proportion of both violent and property crimes.

ber of women aged 25 to 34 who had never been married increased by 111 percent, and the number divorced and not remarried was up 170 per-

-Of the 24.7 million persons below the poverty level, 58 percent were women. While women maintained 14 percent of all families in 1977, they maintained 49 percent of the families below the poverty level.

-Fertility has dropped to a record low, with women aged 18 to 44 averaging 1.6 children.

-The number of women aged 16 to 34 enrolled in college was up 57 percent from 1970 to 1977. At the same time, enrollment of men increased 16

Ex-policewoman to appeal ruling

DETROIT (AP) - An attorney for one of two female Detroit police officers fired for cowardice said Wednesday his client, Glenda Rudolph, would appeal the action to an arbitrator.

The second policewoman dismissed, Katherine Perkins, decided Tuesday to appeal to Detroit's quasipublic Board of Police Commissioners, the only other choice available.

The women turned in their badges Monday, after a three-man police trial board upheld its January ruling that they were guilty of cowardice for failing to assist a male supervisor who was being attacked by a naked

Police Chief William Hart refused to review the board's ruling, which the trial board based on testimony from the women; the sergeant attacked, Paul Janness; and several witnesses who gave conflicting accounts of the Aug. 26 incident. Ms. Perkins and Ms. Rudolph contended they were calming the man when Janness waved them aside. Both repeatedly have denied they are

"I would never let anyone get beat," said Ms. Rudolph. Janness declined to comment

Wednesday about the incident. The president of a 200-member organization, Women Police of Michigan, was cautious in her reaction to the incident. "We're primarily an educational association and we don't usually enter into that kind of a thing, but we're all aware of it," said Fay Byrd, a Calhoun County Sheriff's deputy. "If it was cowardice, they should have been fired, just like a man should have been fired. But all we hear are rumors flying all over the place."

There are 591 women in the ranks of the 4,900-member Detroit Police Department, according to the personnel division. Weight and height restrictions were dropped to attract women following a 1974 federal judge's ruling that the department discriminated against women.

DEAR ABBY Bars unweds in her beds

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Twenty-two years ago, when I was in college, I was very much in love with a girl named Dotty. Unhappily, we broke up, both married other people raised nice families. and lost track of each other.

We ran into each other about a year ago and discovered that we were both divorced. The old flame was rekindled, we started seeing each other again, and it is wonderful! We live 150 miles apart, but because of our jobs we can't marry at this time. However, we spend almost every weekend together. Our children, all over 18, approve of our relationship, and the fact that we sleep together has never been hidden from them.

Dotty has invited me and my children to spend Easter week at her home. Her children will be there, too. Dotty has also invited her parents.

Being a very open and honest person, Dotty told her parents about the sleeping arrangements, and they were horrified! They say they will not sleep under the same roof with Dotty and me if we're sleeping together!

It is not a religious issue, but they are calling it that in order to give more substance to their objections. (They don't attend any church.) I would like your opinion. - NO HYPO-

DEAR NO: Even though YOU may not consider sex outside of marriage a religious issue, Dotty's parents do, so out of respect to them, you and Dotty should forego sharing the same bed on that weekend — unless you want to flaunt your total disregard for them and their values.

DEAR ABBY: I am a reasonably attractive working woman in my late 20s. In my job I am constantly in contact with the public. My problem is that I am frequently asked out by men and find it very difficult and sometimes embarrassing to say no.

Would it be wrong for me to wear a wedding ring while I work even though I am not married? - UN-MARRIED BUT UNAVAILABLE

DEAR DOUBLE UN: A wedding ring (like a sign that says, "WET PAINT") is not always a deterrent. Wear one if you wish, but a more mature solution would be to develop sufficient spunk to say, "No," emphatically, convincingly and without apologies or excuses. DEAR ABBY: I am a girl with a very touchy problem. I have a friend who is cross-eyed. My mother says. this can be corrected by surgery, but I just can't bring myself to mention it to her because I don't want to hurt her

Many people know she's my best friend, and they ask me why she doesn't get her eyes fixed because she would be so pretty otherwise. I usually say, "I don't know why," and walk away. What else can I say?

Guys notice it right away, and I am sure that's the reason she has very few dates. She is a lovely girl with a nice personality. Is there some way I can help her without hurting her feel-

Suzanne Somers to host Easter Seal Telethon

The Ninth Annual Easter Seal Telethon will begin at 10: 30 p.m. Saturday and will continue until 6 p.m. Sunday with television star Suzanne Somers hosting the 20 hour show

The Texas Easter Seal Society and KOSA, Channel 7, Odesssa, will present the show, which is taped in Holly-wood, to the West Texas area. Jim Reese and George Deusler will emcee local segments of the show for 20 minutes of each hour.

The Calico Extension Homemaker Club of Midland has established a pledge center at Gilbrator Savings. Those membes will be manning telephones there from 10:30 p.m. Saturday until 1 a.m. Sunday and will continue from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. on that day. Anyone in Midland wishing to contribute to the telethon should call 683-4245 during those hours.

The Easter Seal Telethon, which helps to raise funds needed to bring rehabilitation services to people who have handicaps, has been an annual feature since 1972 and has raised more than $37.5 million.

Traditionally, Easter Seals has provided orthopedic equipment, occupa-tional, physical and speech therapies, transportation costs and statewide information, referral and follow-up services to disabled persons and their families.

Actors wheel through show

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) - When members of Wright State University's theater troupe appear for curtain calls at the end of a show, only about half take a bow.

That's because the rest are in wheelchairs.

"Half our members roll around instead of walk," said Bill Rickert, director of Rolling Stock Theater Co. "It's meant to be that way."

The troupe of about 40 students was formed a year ago in coordination with the National Committee of Arts for the Handicapped.

The school, one of eight model sites for the disabled in the United States, began the company as an experiment, Rickert said. At first, many students were wary when a plea was made for handicapped performers, he said.

"But we let them know we didn't want to just use them," he said. "We wanted to do legitimate theater that was entertaining." So far, the troupe - the only theater group in the nation that Rickert knows of whose membership contains such a large percentage of handicapped persons - has presented three plays. The actors have included paraplegics, quadriplegics and others That often proves to be an advantage, Rickert said.

'The wheelchair provides a whole different rhythm of movement," he said. "Revolving and rotating is a smooth type of movement, compared with legs. The wheelchair also can become a metaphor to suggest en-trapment, or it can become other things like a car.' As a result of additional movement on stage, few props are needed, Ricktomime or other expressive behavior, leaving much to the audience's imagination, he added.

Difficulties often arise, however, when so many handicapped persons are involved in a production, Rickert

"They (the disabled) have been denied acting opportunities in the past," he said. "So most haven't been n their high school play and they don't have any experience.'

Disabled performers are also limited in what they can physically do on stage, Rickert said. But that doesn't interfere with their internal capabilities, he added.

Breast-feeding war won

NEW YORK (AP) - A Long Island woman's three-year battle over the right to breast-feed at a public swimming pool has ended with a $7,500

Although she originally had sued for $500,000 in damages, Barbara Damon, 34, of Mineola, said the suit was more a fight against government intervention and for women's rights. Mrs. Damon was ejected from the Williston Park town swimming pool in 1977 for publicly breast-feeding her then 21/2-month-old son, Michael. Her $85 reached the out-of-court agreement Tuesday after a two-day hearing in U.S. District Court in Brooklyn. In addition to the money, the agreement states that the village will also construct a canopied structure with an unobstructed view of the kiddle pool

Williston Mayor Carl Del Vecchio said the village board voted to pay Mrs. Damon but it did not mean

"In no way is the village saying we were not justified in expelling Mrs. Damon from the pool. We have a right to make regulations. If we can say where people can smoke and not smoke, we can control the areas where breast-feeding can be done,' the mayor said.

> INFLATION HINTS FOR STORING FOODS

A good buy is one thing, but proper storage after purchase is essential to prevent spoilage and loss of essential vitamins of foods. Here are some hints to remember:

-Make sure you have adequate space for proper storage of foods purchased.

-Dried fruits should be stored in sealed containers in dry, cool place. -Store canned fruits and vegetables in alphabetical order. Rotate cans by placing new purchases to the rear and move older cans up front.

-Never refrigerate bananas; if on and packaged mixes in storage to the green side, place them in brown maintain freshness. sack, close securely and place on top RECOMMENDED TIME LIMITS of refrigerator to ripen. The same goes for avocadoes

Nature's time machine

Copley News Service

Did you know that in a Leningrad, Russia, museum lies proof of Mother Nature's time machine?

The tundra regions of Siberia and Alaska hold a virtual laboratory of animals "frozen in time." Some specimens of woolly mammoths died so quickly that undigested food remained in the stomach and mouth. The animals probably fell into a deep crevasse, were quickly covered by snow, and, thus, refrigerated for thousands of years. One baby mammoth was so perfectly preserved that even its blood and protein could be

As the animal tried to climb out, he found he was being buried deeper in cold storage. The mammoth in the Leningrad museum was found in 1900. It had broken its pelvis, forefoot and ribs and it traveled 35,000 years through nature's time machine.

Ham makes a festive dish for Easter dining

AP Wine and Food Writer

Next to Christmas, Easter is the most important feast day in the Christian world. In America the centerpiece on the festive board is usually a fragrant baked ham studded with

The custom is borrowed from the Old World, where ham rivals roast lamb as the Easter special.

In Poland, pork in various forms plays a star role on the Easter table. Most Polish homes serve a lavish buffet featuring cold baked ham, jellied pigs' feet and garlands of pork sausages, both fresh and smoked.

Another West European country that favors the swine is Italy, where porchetta, or suckling pig appears in restaurants and at street stands around Easter time. Stuffed with rosemary and other herbs, it is usually spit-roasted.

The popularity of pork in Europe dates back to the wild boar hunts of the Middle Ages that are still staged in some countries. It is also a sport in Hawaii where the luau, an outdoor feast, features boar roasted in an underground oven with bananas, sweet potatoes and breadfruit. Wild pigs were first domesticated by the Chinese 5,000 years ago and centuries later Chinese pigs were crossed with European ones to produce lard pigs. The swine was first introduced into America by Hernando de Soto, who brought 13 of the animals when he landed in what is now known

Most American pigs can be traced back to ancient China with the exception of the razorback hog which still roams wild in the Great Smokies of Tennessee and North Carolina. They stem from breed animals introduced by sportsmen for hunting.

Lard pigs were the most popular in Baking powder

America until the 1940s when hydrogenated vegetable and seed oils began to replace lard as shortenings. From then on, pigs were raised primarily for meat. Today this meat pig is from such breeds as the Poland, China and Hampshire pigs. They supply the great rosy hams that decorate the table at Easter dinner. Here's a recipe for such a dish.

ROSY HAMS

1 cup pineapple juice 34 cup light brown sugar 2 teaspoons powdered

mustard 1/4 teaspoon ground cloves

% teaspoon nutmeg ¿ teaspoon ginger ounces rum

6-pound, rolled, boneless cooked ham Whole cloves

½ cup raisins plumped in boiling water 1 tablespoon fresh lemon

1 tablespoon cornstarch 1 tablespoon water

Mix first 6 ingredients and bring to boil. Simmer, stirring till sugar is dissolved. Add 2 ounces rum. Pierce ham several times with fork and cover with marinade. Let stand 4 hours, basting occasionally with marinade. Put ham on rack in roasting pan and bake in 325-degree oven 1 hour. Remove from oven, score with knife and stud with cloves. Increase heat to 425 degrees and bake 30 minutes, basting frequently. Remove ham. Add raisins and lemon juice to pan drippings. Blend cornstarch and water and stir into mixture. Cook till thickened. Add remaining rum. Serve sauce with ham. Serves 8 to 10. Good with chilled rose win.

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) -For Sale: one gracious white-walled mansion, 22 rooms with guest house, 100-foot pool and all the silent screen era memories money can buy Anna Pavlova danced there. Maurice Chevalier sang there. Charlie Chaplin, Clark Gable, Joan Crawford, Rudolph Valentino and Norma Shearer partied there

And Mary Pickford, the screen's first major star known as "America's Sweetheart," lived there for 59 years with her second and third husbands -Douglas Fairbanks Sr. and Charles "Buddy" Rogers.

The house is Pickfair, and it went on the market this week for $10 mil-

"How do you put a price on history?" said Elliott Feinman, executive vice president of the Harleigh Sandler Co., which is handling the sale."This is really a legend."

But it's a lot of money even in Beverly Hills, where homes more commonly range from $1 million to $5

Before Miss Pickford's death last booth May at age 86, she and Rogers had tried to offer Pickfair to the city, local universities and charitable organizations. There were no takers - its yearly upkeep was estimated at $300,-

000 to $400,000 - and the proceeds from its sale will go to charities under the terms of Miss Pickford's will. Prospective buyers and reporters

The house commands a magnificent hillside view of the Pacific Ocean. Inside are antiques, including a set of firearms and daggers given to her by silent film heartthrob Rudolph Valentino that will go to the Smithsonian Institution. Among its special features is an adobe-walled Western bar room complete with a bar from a Gold Rush-era saloon and a concealed projection

Miss Pickford and Fairbanks moved into the one-time hunting lodge after they were married in 1920. In those days, the movie world's "White House" was surrounded by 15 acres of lawns, rose gardens and pools with woodland paths wending down to the beach about eight miles

In the last years of her life, Miss Pickford secluded herself in her bedroom, saying she didn't want to disappoint the public that remembered her as a light-haired beauty of silent

Rogers, married to Miss Pickford for 44 years, will take some furnishings with him when he moves into a new $700,000 home he is building on part of the five-acre estate, and Pickfair's new owner will have 2.7 acres of the walled-off estate.

"I've had my happiness here, wonderful happiness, dear," he said.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Democratic mayors fired a broadside at President Carter's anti-inflation program Wednesday, charging the lifeblood of the nation's cities is threatened by his drive for a balanced budget.

"Don't make the cities the sacrificial lamb of a balanced budget," San Francisco Mayor Diane Feinstein told the party's platform committee in the second day of hearings which drew attacks upon the president.

Mayor Jake Gobold of Jacksonville, Fla., said he endorsed Carter for reelection because of his support for cities, "but I do not intend to sit back and support an administration which would cut people who need those funds the most."

Ms. Feinstein, who also has been an ardent Carter supporter, said budget cuts being contemplated by the administration could destroy the party and asked the platform committee to reject them.

"Our platform must respond to our constituency or Democrats across the nation are going to sit on their hands during this coming election," she

Similar complaints, mixed with prefaces of praise for Carter's past performance, came from other bigcity mayors who have endorsed his re-election bid, including Mayors Lee Alexander of Syracuse, N.Y., and Ernest Morial of New Orleans.

Ms. Feinstein called for mandatory wage and price controls, which Carter has firmly opposed but which are supported by his chief rival for the Democratic nomination, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy

The San Francisco mayor rejected Carter's argument that controls will not work, saying "find a way in which it will work.

Budget cutting is not the solution to current inflation problems," she said. "I believe an effective anti-inflation package would include the imposition of mandatory wage and price

Ms. Feinstein said federal aid to local governments already was declining in buying power even before Carter proposed cuts to balance the fiscal 1981 budget.

Ms. Feinstein predicted riots in city streets if youth employment programs are cut and said the country is "on the brink of a major public ser-

Jackson said to fight inflation at the expense of poor and elderly city dwellers would be to "abandon the essence of the Democratic Party' and said budget cutters should look for alternatives, including defense spending, which Carter wants to in-

"Let us continue to ensure our national preparedness, but not at the expense of our domestic defense, of our preparednesss at home against poverty, stagnation, decay, unemployment and other enemies that sap the lifeblood of cities," Jackson said.

Jackson also called for a reduction in the federal payroll, new sources of revenue such as the proposed fee on oil imports "and the closing of unnecessary tax loopholes.

Monahans solar conversion too costly, TESCO reports

MONAHANS - Converting the Monahans Permian Basin power plant into using solar energy part of the time in generating electricity would be too costly in comparison to the amount of energy it would produce, according to C. Winston Barclay, manager of Texas Electric Service Co.

A report on the progress of a solar energy study at that plant was released today by TESCO. The report marks the halfway point in the nine-month study by Texas Electric, Rockwell International and other participants. Purpose of the study is to see if it would be possible to generate electricity on a large scale with solar energy

"The study will help us identify the pros and cons of generating electricity with solar energy in West Texas," Barclay said.

The process studied for the conversion is called repowering, which means converting an existing generating unit at a power plant to use the sun's energy part of the time to produce electricity. This system is capable of using solar energy as well as natural gas or oil for fuel to run the generating plant.

However, "preliminary estimates indicate that a solar energy system of this kind would be well over $100 million and would not be as economical as the lignite coal and nuclear-fueled units we are building," Barclay said. "But part of this study is to find out what the costs would be.'

Repowering - a system being developed by Rockwell consists of a field of reflective mirrors called heliostats, which would concentrate the sun's rays on the top of a larger tower in the middle of a field. The reflected sunlight would heat liquid sodium circulating through the top of the tower.

The heated sodium then would be used to heat water into steam, generating electricity in the unit's conventional system. The design would include a holding tank for heated sodium to be used when sunlight is not available.

So far, the study has shown that about 5,000 heliostats would be required to produce 50 megawatts of electricity with solar. By comparison, the Permian Basin Unit generates 115 megawatts of electricity using natural gas or oil.

Each heliostat would have to measure about 600 square feet and the field of heliostats would be spread out over 250 acres of land adjacent to the plant.

At this point in the study, the most expensive item in the system would be the cost of the heliostats, estimated at $75 million to be installed. A central tower, receiver and storage system would be an additional $22 million.

Firms involved in the study along with TESCO and Rockwell include McDonnell Douglas, which is developing the heliostat | design; Stearns-Roger, an architectural engineering firm which is designing how the system will be adapted to the existing I unit's operation; and the University of Houston, which is developing the computer programs necessary for the heliostat field. The Texas Electric-Rockwell project is only one of 13 studies being conducted by utility and industrial applicants under the Department of Energy's repowering program," Barclay said. DOE is expected to solicit detailed designs for construction at one or two utility sites after the studies are completed in July.

Texas Demos may not have primary

AUSTIN (AP) - State Democratic Executive Committee members are having second thoughts about the presidential primary they narrowly approved March 10, says a party spokes-

The committee voted 35-27 in favor of the May 3 primary at its recent meeting here. Prior to the session, politicals observers were told the non-binding primary would not be approved.

The "beauty contest" election would have no effect on the caucus system used to select delegates to the New York convention where Democrats will pick a candidate.

Garry Mauro, executive director of the Texas Democratic Party, said a majority of committee members would have to vote against the primary for the March 10 decision to be changed. He told the Austin American-Statesman that Billy Goldberg of Houston, state party chairman, would not call the committee back into session unless a majority asked for another meeting. Mauro said the meeting would have to be held by Saturday in order to change the vote.

Harry Hubbard, state AFL-CIO president, Wednesday called the primary a "waste of time, energy and money." He said the primary serves no purpose.

The people get a chance to make that determination through the convention system and at the polls where it matters,' Hubbard said

He said the Carter-Kennedy battle has fizzled and it is "fairly obvious' the Massachusetts senator's campaign is going nowhere. Hubbard said the money spent on the primary could be better used for voter registration drives.

Fred Hofheinz, leader of the Kennedy campaign in Texas, said he has not asked for a change in the vote, but "we would be pleased" if the primary was cancelled.

Bob Beckel, manager of the Carter campaign in the state, said he is asking Carter supporters on the committee what they think about the primary.

Deal off for sale of Permian Corp.

A story in Tuesday's Wall Street Journal reported that Occidental Petroleum Corp. unexpectedly broke off its negotiations for a $500 million sale of the assets of Permian Corp. and at least 100,000 barrels of foreign crude oil a Day, to Charter Co.

Permian Corp., a subsidiary of Occidental, is headquartered in Midland.

An Occidental spokesman said the oil company "decided we want to keep Permian because of the current shortage of crude oil," and noted that Permian has access to 400,000 barrels of crude daily.

Asked whether Occidental has any plans to sell Permian to another company, the spoies said, "not to my knowledge."

In Jacksonville, Fla., a Charter Spoiesman said he couldn't ssay why Occidental decided to end the agreement. "Obviously, Charter felt it was an attractive opportunity," he said. "Occidental had the right to terminate and they did."

The agreement in principle was announced Feb. 20, and Occidental said the purchase price would consist of $300 million in cash and $200 million in Charter preferred stock. Occidental called Permian, which owns 5,000 miles of crude oil pipeline in an 18-state area, the largest crude oil marketer in the nation.

At that time, Arthur Groman, an Occidental director. said the idea to sell the Permian assets had originated with Occidental, with most negotiations conducted by Dr. Armand Hammer, Occidental chairman, and Charter President Raymond K. Mason, who also are longtime friends. Groman didn't give any reason for the planned sale except that Occidental directors had determined it was in "the best interests of the compa-

Senators weighing 'windfall' question

By JIM LUTHER

WASHINGTON (AP) - Senators are weighing one of the unanswered questions about the proposed "windfall" tax on the oil industry: whether the $227.7 billion ultimately will come out of the pockets of consumers or be absorbed by the major oil compan-

"The people feel the major oil companies will find some way to pass it on to consumers," Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., said Wednesday as the Senate began final consideration of the compromise tax bill. A major task of proponents of the tax is to convince Americans they will not have to pay

"The burden of the tax will fall entirely on the (oil) producers and royalty holders," said Sen. Russell B. long, D-La., manager of the bill.

"Of course the tax will be paid by consumers," retorted Sen. Malcolm Wallop, R-Wyo. The Senate apparently will have several days to ponder the question since an oil state bloc led by Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., plans to extend debate in an effort to force the convening of a new Senate-House conference committee. That group's hope is that a new committee would write a compromise that would mean less taxes on independent oil producers.

Bellmon and his backers refused to allow an agreement that would have set a day to end debate and take a final vote on the bill, which already has passed the House.

The tax was proposed by President Carter to win political acceptance of his plan to remove federal price controls from U.S. crude oil. Decontrol will cost consumers an estimated $1 trillion more in the 1980s than with controlled prices. This $1 trillion is what is called the "windfall."

Consumers will pay the $1 trillion increase regardless of whether there is a tax on the "windfall," says the Carter administration and most backers of the tax. The only question, they say, is whether the oil industry keeps all of the additional money or is forced to give $227.7 billion of it to the federal government.

After existing local, state and federal taxes are subtracted, the "windfall" tax would leave the oil industry an estimated $221 billion of the $1 trillion it is expected to realize from the price increase.

Wallop contends the oil industry will have to pass the "windfall" tax on to consumers, just as most other taxes are recouped in the normal course of doing business.

But Bellmon told the Senate the bill "is going to cripple the domestic industry's ability to increase production and make the nation increasingly dependent on foreign sources."

Long agreed with opponents that the oil industry probably could make better use of the revenues than could the government. But, he added, the tax is necessary to win acceptance of decontrol, which he described as the first step toward any sound energy

Board clears water source

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (AP) -Fredericksburg, its main water source cleared by health authorities after a bout with oil contamination, planned to seek federal aid Thursday to build a 5-mile pipeline to its reser-

The pipeline would enable the city to bypass the Rappahannock River should it become polluted again.

The State Health Department certified the Rappahannock as treatable on Tuesday.

'We opened the gates up at the dam at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon," said Arthur Cossey, the city filtration plant superintendent. "We haven't put it in our holding pond here at the plant yet. We've got plenty enough in there to use. We're just flushing the canal now.

The holding pond contains 10 million gallons of water. The river cleansed itself, and recent rains helped speed the process.

"We're catching six samples a day and sending them to the Health Department," Cossey said Wednesday night. "We're staying right on top of it, so we seem to be in pretty good shape. They certified it as being treatable. It is just a matter of using activated carbon until they say it's not necessary.'

DRILLING REPORT

BREWSTER COUNTY

The river became contaminated when about 62,000 gallons of No. 2 heating oil spilled from a ruptured pipeline into the Rapidan River on March 5. The Rapidan feeds into the Rappahannock:

The city installed a special filtering system so the canal water could be used for drinking and cooking, uti-lized several holding ponds, and hauled in water from nearby coun-

Fredericksburg officials are ex-pected to meet in Washington Thursday with Sens. Harry F. Byrd Jr., Ind-Va., and John Warner, R-Va., and Rep. J. Kenneth Robinson, R-Va., to discuss federal aid for a pipeline.

It would be built above ground from the city-owned Mittron Reservoir in Spotsylvania county to the Fredericksburg water treatment plant, a distance of about 5 miles.

Cossey said, "That would be just great. Whenever the river gets muddy or polluted, just push one button and you cut from the river to the reservoir.'

"We've got a 200-day supply of water in Mittron. It's designed to fill the river basin. When the river gets low, we open the gates at Mittron and raise the river level.

Ixtox I spill be over emergency may

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) -The 10-month-long nightmare known as the Ixtoc I oil spill appears over, says the Coast Guard.

"I think the emergency is largely over," Capt. Gerald Hinson said Wednesday. "I don't think we have a great deal to worry about." Hinson, on-scene coordinator of a team monitoring the spill, has ordered oil containment equipment refrom the water at tip of South Padre Island. The booms patches of oil were seen earlier drifting south of Texas. The oil slicks have not been sighted and skimmers were deployed after

Hinson also halted weekly surveillance flights to the offshore Mexican well responsible for the spill that blackened South Texas beaches last

Officials had feared a repeat last summer's spill before but crews reduced the well's flow to almost nothing and made the chances of a second oily onslaught very unlikely. Hinson gave South Padre Island tourist officials the good news Wednesday morning.

The resort community at the southern tip of Texas suffered financially last August and September when runaway Mexican crude drove away tourists and their money.

"We've received nothing as positive as this news," said tourist bureau director Ralph Thompson.

The captain's phone call signaled an end to the problem for all practical purposes, Thompson said...

We're very confident. This comes at the ideal time for us. We're at the peak of our advertising and we're leading into our summer season,' said Thompson, who added that hotels are booked solid through the Easter

The oil containment equipment will remain at the South Padre Island Coast Guard station for a few weeks

Desana reports gas, crude

Desana Corp. of Midland, a whollyowned subsidiary of Presidio Oil Co. of Denver, Colo., has announced possible discoveries at wildcats in Sterling and Concho counties.

The operator's No. 1 Council, 14.5 miles southwest of Sterling City in Sterling County, has perforated opposite the Fusselman from 8,881 to 8,884 feet and and on last report the project was flowing natural to test tanks, with Total depth is 8,984 feet. Four and one-half-inch casing is cemented at 8,958.64 feet.

During drilling operations, the Fusselman was drillstem tested from 8,-858 to 8,884 feet. Gas surfaced in 13 minutes at the rate of 133,000 cubic feet per day. Recovery was 841 feet of free oil and 255 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud. Flowing pressure ranged from 397 to 765 pounds, and the two-hour final shut-in pressure was 3,652 pounds.

Test site is 1,320 feet from north and 3.764 feet from east lines of section 1, W. A. Keenan survey

It is one mile north of an 8,201-foot dry hole and 1.5 miles northwest of the Horwood (Canyon) field.

Desana has set casing, perforated and now is waiting on a pumping unit at its No. 1 Henderson, an indicated Goen lime discovery in Concho County 8.5 miles southwest of Eden. The project is bottomed at 3,900 feet. The 4.5-inch casing, set at 3,900 feet, is perforated from 3,827 to 3,830 feet and the pay was acidized with 250 and 1,000 gallons of acid. The project was swabbed and flowed with a good show of oil and gas.

A drillstem test in the Goen from 3,828 to 3,838 feet surfaced gas in three minutes at the rate of 450,000 down to 275,000 cubic feet per day. Recovery was 10 feet of oil and gascut mud and 390 feet of free oil. No water was recovered. Flowing pressure ranged from 99 to 71 pounds, and two-hour final shut-in pressure was 279 pounds.

Location is 1,780 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 69, block 8, H&TC survey. It is 1.75 miles northeast of the lone producer in the Royce (Strawn) field.

CROCKETT WELL

Shell Oil Co. has filed a corrected potential of 38 million cubic feet of gas per day on its No. 2-109 Mitchell, Ellenburger producer in the Brown-Bassett multipay field of Crockett County.

The well, 5/8 mile east of other Ellenburger production, originally was filed as having potential for 11.5 million cubic feet of dry gas per day. The production is from pay behind

Upton County, 5/8 mile north of the closest other Spraberry production.
It finaled on the pump for 47 barrels of 38.8-gravity oil and 10 barrels of water, through perforations from 7,-774 to 8,842 feet after 3,500 gallons of acid and 90,000 gallons of fracture

Gas-oil ratio is 1,210-1. The well is nine miles northwest of Rankin and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 46, block C. CCSD&RGNG survey.

YOAKUM RE-ENTRY

In California, there are 990 employ ees at the bias-ply truck tire plant in Los Angeles, with 465 on layoff, and 1,310 at a bias-ply and radial tire plant minating unneeded capacity that has will idle 7,000 employees by the end of at Salinas, with 350 on layoff.

> The plant at Pottstown, Pa., employs 1,950 people and makes truck and industrial tires. That plant has 480 on layoff.

The Dayton Tire & Rubber Co. division, a bias-ply passenger and truck tire plant, employs 1,740 workers, with 140 on layoff.

The Barberton plant, formerly the Seiberling Tire & Rubber Co., was bought by Firestone in 1965 and was merged into its Dayton Division 13 months ago. It has 965 employees, with 140 on layoff.

The Akron synthetic latex plant is part of the Firestone Synthetic Rubber & Latex Co. It employs 310 work-

Joe Albanese, president of United Rubber Workers Local 18 in Barberton, an Akron suburb, said the closing announcement was "a terrific bomb-

"It is a big blow to the people of Barberton. It'll hurt everyone, community and all," he said.

Albanese blamed the cutbacks on poor management at Firestone," which bought the Barberton plant in U.S. Rep. John Seiberling, D-Ohio, whose family founded the Barberton rubber plant, said he was "shocked and depressed" over the closings. "Something needs to be done to help these people," Seiberling said.

Soviet Union refusing to help set up SALT II

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union is refusing to discuss formal procedures for implementing the SALT II treaty with the United States as long as it is stalled in the Senate, sources say.

The exact effect of the Soviet position was unclear, but the sources, who asked not to be identified, said it did not appear to indicate refusal to honor the arms limitation agreement and was not viewed as a move to undercut

President Carter said last week that although the treaty has not been ratified by the Senate, he considers it binding because it has been signed by him and Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev. The U.S. position was scorned by the official Soviet news agency, Tass, which said earlier this month that the pact can become effective only after it is ratified.

Carter asked the Senate to delay consideration of the SALT II treaty, which is designed to limit U.S. and Soviet long-range bombers and intercontinental ballistic missiles through

At his news conference Friday, the president said, "Because of the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan, it is obvious that we would not be successful in ratifying the SALT II treaty at this

But there have been reports the administration still wants the pact ratified by the end of this year and may ask that debate resume as early as June.

The sources said the Soviets' position, outlined in Geneva, Switzerland, on the first day of a new round of consultations on strategic arms control, was that they could discuss setting up machinery for implementing the treaty only after it is ratified.

The machinery would include procedures for dismantling Soviet launchers and bombers in a way that could be verified.

The Geneva talks are under the auspices of a Soviet-American group that meets regularly to discuss compliance with SALT I.

Foreign ships loading cargos of grain bound for USSR

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Nearly a dozen ships a week are arriving at Mississippi River ports from New Orleans to Baton Rouge and loading the grain that President Carter said was due to the Soviet Union under an old

The Coast Guard said the Greek ship Nymph C. docked at a grain elevator in St. Elmo on Tuesday to take on a load of grain bound for Russia.

A Spanish ship, Marques Bolarque, was due Wednesday at the grain elevator at Ama, and eight other ships ready to take on Soviet grain were at anchor in the Mississippi River near New Orleans, waiting a turn at the loading docks. The ships, registered to nations other than the Soviet Union, 'have been loading grain undisturbed since federal court judges broke a boycott that longshoremen had imposed on any cargo bound for Russia.

About 80 percent of the 2.3 million tons of grain still due the Soviet Union is being shipped through grain elevators in the New Orleans port area, maritime sources said. The rest is flowing through Houston, Philadel-

Longshoremen's Association had refused to load Soviet cargo as a protest against the Soviet Union invasion of Afghanistan.

However, President Carter said an agreement negotiated prior to the invasion called for the U.S. to export 8 millions tons of grain to the Soviet shipped.

A representative for the U.S. Department of Commerce said export licenses were outstanding for 1.9 million tons of grain, with about 403,000 pire on April 30.

Miller feels that owners are provoking player strike

NEW YORK (AP) - Baseball's club owners "are trying to provoke a strike," Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Association, said Wednesday reacting to the owners' change in contract proposals.

On Tuesday the owners withdrew their proposal that future contracts include a maximum salary scale for players with six years or less in the majors. But they also added a proposal altering the method by which an arbitrator would decide the salary of a player who chooses arbitration as a means of settling a pay dispute.

Miller, in Pompano Beach, Fla., for a meeting with the Texas Rangers, said the new proposal would give particular weight to a player's length of service and "make the arbitrator consider that the single most important factor ... That's a bold-faced attempt to make salary arbitration

Miller said that, under such a plan, a player with four years in the majors would be prohibited from comparing his performance and salary with that of a player with more seasons of service and a higher salary but

'Any proposal made at the start of negotiations is OK, but to come in at this late date with a proposal like that leads to one conclusion: they are trying to provoke a strike," Miller said.

Alamo, Lee leading; Blackwell breaks record

The Alamo and Midland Lee Freshman School girls gained leads after the first day of action Wednesday in the Junior High City Track Meet at Memorial Stadium.

The Lee girls grabbed a 68-52 advantage over Midland Freshman School in the 9th grade division while the Alamo girls led both the 7th and 8th grade divisions. Alamo had a 122-115 lead over Goddard and San Jacinto managed only 39 points in the 7th grade. In the 8th grade, Alamo owned 153-92 edge over Goddard as San Jacinto had only 30 points.

Wednesday's action had all of the girls running events and the boys field events. The two will switch today with action beginning at 3:30 p.m.

With only the field events out of the way for the boys, Lee and Midland were tied with 30 points each in the 9th grade division, but San Jacinto took leads in the other two divisions. San Jacinto led the 7th grade competition with 55 points while Alamo had 46 and Goddard 16. San Jacinto leads the 8th grade competition with 63 points while Alamo and Goddard have 30

The only record of the day came in the 9th grade high jump when Lee's Barry Blackwell cleared 6-2.

In the boys competition, the top two places in each event will earn a berth for the Odessa-Midland meet to be held in April in Odessa. The girls do not compete in that meet.

Crum positive Griffith best guard in nation

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) -Louisville Coach Denny Crum calls Darrell Griffith, the Cardinals' star, "a true All-American, the best all-around guard in nation.

But Iowa Coach Lute Olson, whose unranked Hawkeyes will go up against the No. 2-rated Cardinals Saturday in the semifinals of the NCAA Basketball Championships, feels just as strongly about his team's backcourt ace, Ronnie Lester.

"When he's 100 percent, Ronnie is the best guard in America," Olson

But that's the catch - "when he's HOW WELL the Hawkeyes do may hinge on just how healthy Lester is. The senior and leading scorer in Iowa history, missed 15 games this season because of a knee injury, and in his absence Iowa was a very ordinary 8-7 team. With Lester in the lineup, the Hawkeyes are 15-1.

Lester showed the after-effects of his injury last weekend, as Iowa beat Syracuse and Georgetown to win the East Regional. At times he limped while on the court, and never did he display the blazing speed that had the pro scouts raving about him a year

"I'M STILL not 100 percent," concedes the 6-foot-2 Lester. Olson says it's more like 75 percent. But even that is remarkable when you consider that Lester underwent

"I thought when Ronnie had surgery his season was over," said Olson. "But he left the recovery room at 4 a.m. and by 10 a.m. he was lifting weights with the leg. If you don't think he wanted to come back, you're mis-knee surgery in midseason.

"He is a little better each day," Olson said. "He's still a great player, but he doesn't have that blazing quickness back yet. He's a little reluctant to turn it on. But by Saturday, you will see the after-burners

Iowa figures to need Lester operating at or close to top speed against Louisville, which clobbered a tough Louisiana State team 86-66 in the Midwest Regional final even though Griffith played just 17 minutes because of foul trouble.

"It was very frustrating for me not to be able to play," said Griffith, expressing a feeling that Lester knows all too well. "But the other guys just took over. I was just another cheerleader. It made me feel good to see them go ahead and play well without me."

The win over LSU had Coach Crum crowing that Louisville is "not a oneman show," and Griffith agrees. "I get all the nicknames and labels and stuff like 'Dr. Dunkenstein,' and I really do appreciate them," Griffith said. "But basketball is a team sport. It's the University of Louisville, not the University of Darrell Griffith."

THAT SAME point was made by Purdue Coach Lee Rose, who contends that there is more to his Boilermakers than 7-foot-1 All-American center Joe Barry Carroll.

But the fact remains, stopping Carroll will be the major task confronting the UCLA Bruins when the teams square off in Saturday's second semifinal. And UCLA's starting center, sophomore Mike Sanders, is only 6-6.

'I don't mind playing against guys 6-10 or more," says Sanders, one of the youngsters inserted into the starting lineup in midseason by first-year coach Larry Brown who helped turn the Bruins' fortunes around. "I was a center in high school, so I had to play against bigger people all the time. I look forward to the challenge."

THE BRUINS take some of the ressure off Sanders by starting a pair of senior forwards, 6-8 Kiki Vandeweghe and 6-7 James Wilkes. They can also bring 6-9 seniors Darrell Allums and Gig Sims off the bench.

"We don't need a real center," insists Wilkes. "We just put our three best guys on the floor. Then you block out and get position."

VIRGINIA SHOT only 38.2 percent for the game to Minnesota's 41.7 percent, leading Lamp to say, "We won the game on defense. Intensity throughout the game and the tournament was the reason we won."

"We had lots of desire and hustle defensively, but didn't have any of-fensive movement," said Minnesota Coach Jim Dutcher. "We just didn't move to the basket strong enough. Almost all of our turnovers were on intercepted passes." The game was almost a free-throw shooting contest at the end. Sampsn hit two with 1:31 remaining to give Virginia a 54-53 lead before Lee Raker intercepted a pass with 1:08 left. Then Sampson pulled down a key bound of a missed Virginia free throw, forcing Minnesota to foul again. But this time it was Lamp, who hit 84 percent of his free throws and once hit 48 foul shots in a row this year, who went to the line.

He hit both with 19 seconds left for a 56-53 lead, then Kevin McHale made it 56-55 with two free throws for the Gophers before Lamp iced it with two more free throws with two seconds remaining.

"I've been in a lot of 1-and-1s this ear," Lamp said. "I admit I was a little nervous, but I was confident,

Asked if he was glad to see Lamp go to the line twice in the crucial final seconds, Holland replied, "Are you kidding? He's one of the best free throw shooters in the country."

THE NIT has been criticized as a 'loser's tournament' in some basketball circles, especially with 48 teams in the NCAA tournament this year. Lamp answered by saying, "There are only two happy teams in the nation when the season ends, and we're one of them."

In the consolation game, Illinois got

Umpire changes mind after thumbing Sparky

By The Associated Press

For it's one, two, three strikes, you're out — "Yes, you are."
"No, I'm not." — at the old ballgame ... unless the umpire lets you back in.

And that's exactly what Greg Kosc did to Manager Sparky Anderson of the Detroit Tigers. He actually took no for an answer and reversed himself after ejecting Anderson from Wednesday's exhibition game against Sparky's old Cincinnati

It started when Detroit outfielder Steve Kemp flipped his bat after a called second strike by Kosc in the sixth inning. The next pitch appeared to be wide but Kosc ruled it a called third Anderson bolted from the dugout when Kemp and Kosc began to argue. He headed Kemp back toward the bench and then went jaw-to-jaw with Kosc for about two minutes. Just as Anderson appeared to be through, Kosc went up with his thumb but Anderson refused to leave the dugout. Kosc went to the dugout and the two exchanged more words.

"You were dead wrong to re-taliate — trying to save face by calling Kemp out like that," Anderson said. "You're not throwing me out of here. It's my ball-

Kosc threw up his hands and went back behind the plate. The Tigers went on to win 3-2 with Dave Stegman delivering a pair of singles and scoring twice.

'One of the greatest strengths on this ballclub is Sparky Anderson and his tremendous attitude, which he is instilling in the young players," said pitcher Dan Schatzeder. "You can see it in spring training. He's a tremendous guy for a young player to be around."

Elsewhere, the Texas Rangers finally won their first exhibition game after dropping nine in a row. Forty-one-year-old Gay-lord Perry pitched five shutout innings and Sparky Lyle blanked his ex-teammates in 22-3 innings of strong relief as the Rangers defeated the New York

"Nobody is going to pay any attention down here if you're under .500," Perry said. "But when you're 0-9, everybody you meet on the street wants to know when you're gonna win one. For three days I've been telling people we'll do it on Wednesday because I was pitching. So here it is, as promised — a win."

Buddy Bell homered for the Rangers while Reggie Jackson produced the Yankees' run with a homer off Adrian Devine, the fifth home run he has yielded in six innings this spring.

Gary Weiss, a nonroster infielder, broke a tie with a threerun homer off Steve Renko in the seventh inning to power the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 7-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox. Jerry Koosman, Pete Redfern and Doug Corbett combined on a two-hitter as the Minnesota

Twins blanked the Houston

Rick Matula, Gene Garber and Al Hrabosky scattered eight hits and Bob Horner homered to lead the Atlanta Braves to a 6-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles. Mitchell Page's tiebreaking single in the ninth gave the Oakland A's a 6-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Roy Howell drove in three runs to lead the Toronto Blue Jays over the Chicago White Sox 5-4 and Dale Berra singled home the winning run in the eighth inning to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 5-4 decision over the New York Mets.

There were a number of slugfests, highlighted by the San Diego Padres' 17-2 clobbering of the Cleveland Indians as Dave Cash and Gene Richards scored three runs apiece and combined to knock in six more. Mike Schmidt rapped three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in three runs as the Philadelphia Phillies routed the Montreal Expos 11-1 and rookie Leon Durham had a double, triple and three RBI as the St. Louis Cardinals buried the Kansas City Royals 14-4. Dick Davis hit a grand slam homer and Ben Oglivie added a two-run shot in the Milwaukee Brewers' 8-3 triumph over the Seattle Mariners and the San Francisco Giants scored seven times in the eighth inning to crush the California Angels 11-

Melton, Carner heading field

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Defending champion Nancy Lopez Melton and red-hot JoAnne Carner headed a field of 90 golfers into the first round of the $200,000 LPGA National Pro-Am tournament today.

Lopez Melton, who surged from behind on the final day last year to capture the tournament, will face a tough battle from Carner in the quest for the $30,000

The defending champion, Lopez Melton has not won this year and only seriously challenged for the title in one of the four tournaments she has played

Carner, on the other hand, is the hottest golfer on the ladies tour, with four victories in the first seven LPGA events. She comes into the tournament off a win last week Under the pro-am format, the golfers will each be paired with three amateurs for the first three rounds. The women will play by themselves on Sunday when the race for the top prize heats up. Lopez Melton said she feels no pressure to repeat eyeing Carner as the golfer to beat. 'I don't want to put outside pressure on myself and say 'I've got to beat JoAnne this week," she said. She probably feels the way I felt when I won as the tournament champion, and claims she is not

But the two-time LPGA player of the year said she wouldn't mind a final round confrontation with five in a row ... like you can go for anything.'

Watson anxious to win tourney

PONTE VEDRA BEACH, Fla. (AP) - Tom Watson stops short of calling the Tournament Players Championship one of golf's major

But it's one he wants to win. "It's our showcase tournament, the showcase tournament on the tour. The championship of the touring players. It's an extremely well-run tournament. I'd very much like to win it," Watson said before teeing off today in the first round of the $440,000 event.

"If we get the conditions we usually do - by that I mean wind - it's a great test of golf.

'I like the golf course. It takes a lot of talent to play here and win. It's the kind of golf I like to play," said the man who had been the game's most proficient performer over the past three years and comes into this one as

But the ambitious tournament, which seeks a stature in golf equal to that enjoyed by the currently recognized Big Four, has not yet advanced to the level of the majors, Watson said.

the only 2-time winner of the season.

"I don't think it has the stature of the Masters or the U.S. Open or the British Open or the PGA," the painfully honest Watson said. "I don't know if it ever will.

"This tournament is only seven years old. It takes time to build the type course.

traditions and the history that the others have. And tradition and history are a big part of making a tourna-ment one of the majors."

Watson, now the dominant player in the game, has taken to weeks off from competition and says he is "refreshed, which might make up for any loss of touch." He has worked on his game at home in Kansas City and last week took a one-day trip to Dallas for a session with Hall of Famer Byron Nelson, his long-time mentor.

"There's always room for improvement," said Watson, who won a record $462,000 last year and has collected $110,000 this season. "We were working mostly on my stance and hip

Although optimistic, Watson said he isn't "hitting the ball quite as solidly as I'd like coming in here. You have to hit the ball solidly in the wind. You put some spin on it, and the wind just magnifies your mistakes. "The conditions we encounter here severly test your patience. you have to think on every shot. But I enjoy it. It's the kind of golf I like to play.

Watson, a runnerup to Lanny Wadkins in howling winds in this event a year ago, faces the strongest field of the year in the 72-hole chase over tough Sawgrass, a 7,000-yard links-

Whaler's amazing rally deadlocks Montreal, 5-5

By The Associated Press

With Montreal leading Hartford 5-1 and less than 15 minutes remaining, the outcome should have been a foregone conclusion. Instead, it turned into a four-goal conclusion as the expansion Whalers rallied to gain a 5-5 standoff with the mighty Canadiens Wednesday night.

"Coming back four goals on Montreal, you're doing something right," enthused Hartford Coach Don Black-

Blaine Stoughton's second goal of the game with 12 seconds remaining capped the third-period outburst.

"When we got one goal, then the other and then the third we were just one away and we knew we had a chance," said Hartford captain Rick Ley. "We dug down and everything went our way.

In other National Hockey League action, the Edmonton Oilers upset the New York Rangers 4-2, the Minnesota North Stars trimmed the Boston Bruins 7-4, the Chicago Black Hawks defeated the Quebec Nordiques 5-2, the Buffalo Sabres and Vancouver Canucks tied 3-3, the Toronto Maple Leafs shelled the Winnipeg Jets 9-1 and the Los Angeles Kings edged the Detroit Red Wings 4-3.

The Whalers began their comeback against Montreal when Jordy Douglas scored his second goal of the game and Mark Howe added a shorthanded goal 46 seconds later. That cut the deficit to 5-3 with 12:07 left.

With 7:03 left, Stoughton lifted the puck past Montreal goalie Denis Herron, closing the gap to 5-4. With 1: 15 to go, Hartford pulled goalie Al Smith in favor of a sixth skater and the move paid off when Stoughton got the tying goal from a scramble in front of the

"Give credit to the Whalers," said Montreal Coach Claude Ruel. "They skated until they got the final goal. They outshot us, outskated us and outplayed us in the final period. It wasn't so much that they came back on us but the way we let them back." Oilers 4, Rangers 2

Pat Price and Blair MacDonald scored the tying and go-ahead goals 42 seconds apart to highlight Edmonton's four-goal third period. Capitalizing on a bench penalty to New York for having too many men on the ice, MacDonald batted home Wayne Gretzky's pass from behind the net with 5:22 left to put the Oilers in front. It was his 42nd goal of the season. Dave Hunter added an insurance tally into an empty net with 13 seconds left.

North Stars 7, Bruins 4 U.S. Olympian Steve Christoff col-

stretch of five consecutive goals as Minnesota erased a 4-2 deficit. Christoff, a University of Minnesota product, ignited a three-goal flurry in the second period and has five goals and four assists in 11 NHL games.

Tim Young tied the game two minutes later and Christoff set up a power-play goal by Mike Eaves to put Minnesota ahead. He also assisted on a third-period goal by Ron Zanussi. Al MacAdam scored two goals for Minnesota, his 40th and 41st of the season, making him the second player in Minnesota history to score 40 goals in a season. Bill Goldsworthy had 48 in 1973-74.

Black Hawks 5, Nordiques 2

Third-period goals by Grant Mulvey and Greg Fox helped Chicago end a four-game winless streak. Quebec's Jamie Hislop tied the score early in the second period but less than three minutes later, Mulvey scored from with 748. the edge of the crease. Terry Ruskowski, who set up that goal, alo assisted on Fox' tally two minutes later. Mulvey scored again into an empty net with less than two minutes remaining

Sabres 3, Canucks 3

Danny Gare's fluke goal with 5:31 to play gave Buffalo the tie. A passout from the corner by Derek Smith deflected off Gare's leg past goalie Gary Bromley for Gare's 47th goal of the season. The Canucks spotted Buffalo a 2-0 lead on a pair of second-period power-play goals less than two minutes apart by Ric Seiling and then took a 3-2 lead before the end of the period on goals by Ivan Boldirev, Stan Smyl and Brent Ashton.

Maple Leafs 9, Jets 1

Darryl Sittler scored two goals, including the first ever by a Toronto player with the team two men shorthanded. The Maple Leafs were directed on the bench by Joe Crozier, coach of their New Brunswick farm club in the American League. Crozier was summoned by General Manager Punch Imlach, who had assumed the Leafs' head coaching job because Floyd Smith was injured in an auto accident late last week. Imlach paced the corridor from the dressing room to the ice for most of the game but left the bench duties to Crozier.

Kings 4, Red Wings 3

Billy Harris fired in a five-foot rebound with 3:23 left for the winning goal. It was the first Los Angeles goal for Harris, who was traded to thee Kings last week by the New York Islanders. He connected following a scramble in front of the Detroit net. Earlier, the Kings pulled into a 3-3 tie season. Dave Taylor scored the lected a goal and two assists to key a Kings' other two goals.

UCLA's Bruins also having final exams

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The NCAA uncertain after they finished with a basketball finals beginning Saturday in Indianapolis aren't the only test the UCLA Bruins are thinking about this week. They also have final exams.

"It hasn't presented any real problems," Bruins' Coach Larry Brown said of what could be considered bad timing. "It was final exams week when we played at Notre Dame and I thought we played one of our better early games (a 77-74 UCLA loss).

"I hope the kids keep things in proper perspective," Brown added, because they are here to get a de-

The first-year UCLA coach admitted, though, that he was having difficulty keeping things in perspective. 'It's hard for me when I look back and see where we've been and how far we've come," he said. The Bruins, 21-9 after beating Old Dominion, top-ranked DePaul, Ohio State and Clemson in the NCAA West Regionals, face 20th-ranked Purdue, 22-9, in one of Saturday's semifinal games in Indianapolis. The other pits No. 2 Louisville, at 31-3 the favorite for the NCAA title, against Iowa,

Brown, whose team was 8-6 at one point in the season and wound up fourth in the Pacific-10 Conference, admits he was surprised that UCLA made the NCAA's final four. "I truly didn't believe we'd get this far," he said of the Bruins, whose inclusion in the NCAA playoffs was 17-9 record.

Brown said, however, that he never doubted the feam was improving over the course of the season.

We never really got hung up in what was being said about us," he remarked. "I only wanted people to realize that the kids were improving. I talked to Coach (John) Wooden a lot about this. The trademark of his UCLA teams was that they looked like they knew what they were doing when they stepped on the floor. Now we're showing the same quality.

Brown, who had turned the Denver Nuggets' fortunes around before he quit the National Basketball Association coaching job in February 1979. experimented a lot with UCLA and wound up with a rather unlikely crew of starters.

The Indianpolis-bound Bruins have freshmen Rod Foster and Michael Holton in the backcourt and high school center-sized sophomore Mike Sanders, 6-foot-6, in the middle.

Giving up on Sutter?

Trading quarterback Dan Pastorini is one thing, but would the Houston Oilers trade Earl Campbell? What would the Pittsburgh Steelers be without Terry Bradshaw? And if the Chicago Bears got rid of Walter Payton, with the fire department on strike, who would quell the burning and looting that would erupt on the peaceful North Side?

In fact, the situation in Chicago could be even more serious...if the Cubs swap the guy who has been the franchise for the last four seasons. In fact, if Chicago trades Bruce Sutter, it seems most of the rest of the team will demand to be traded. As one veteran puts it, "He's our only hope. Without him what would be the point?"

Of course, the rumors of a Sutter trade results from his long running contract dispute with the Cubs' front office. The contract of the one-time Midland Cubs pitcher jumped from $150,000 last year to $700,000 this year and the Cy Young Award winner isn't happy, although the money surpasses the club's previous all-time salary high of $320,000 paid to Bobby Murcer, now an employee of the New York Yankees.

A lot of people can't figure out why Sutter should be unhappy with $700,-000, but with Sutter, it's a matter of

AT ONE point during salary negotiations, the Cubs offered Sutter $450,-000 per year for five years, which would seem to meet the security demands of the pitcher who made the split-fingered fast ball the most talked about pitch since the slider

Chicago even threw in a $100,000 bonus, making it a $2,475,000 package for five years, something a guy could almost live with.

While Sutter and his agent went out to lunch to talk it over and came back with a counter proposal, so the Cubs did the same, a package this time amounting to $1.5 million. "I was out about $1 million just walking from one office to another," Sutter said.

As a result, Sutter and his agent went to arbitration and received a record $700,000 per year.

The hitch is that, whereas much of Sutter's $150,000 last year was deferrable, Sutter's $700,000 will be taxed to the limit. Bob Kennedy, Chicago executive vice president, explains, "You can't defer an arbitrated con-

Fin & Feather

A cemetery owner and an undertaker buried their rivals in the $70,000 Florida Invitational B.A.S.S. tournament last week by stacking up heavy catches of largemouths.

Horace Phipps, 63, a Kissimmee, Fla., cemetery owner, failed to catch a "keeper" bass of more than 14inches the final day, yet he edged L.E. "Shorty" Evans, 67, a mortician from Houston, Mo., by one ounce for the $10,500 first prize.

Entering the final round as leader with 33-pounds, 11-ounces of bass, Phipps was nearly crowded out of his tiny plot of bass-rich water. As other fishing boats churned through the shallow water that had produced his earlier catches, he began to worry that Evans might catch him.

"I only had one good strike today, said Phipps. "I turned around to tell another fisherman to get out of my way when the fish hit, and I missed

But fate smiled upon Phipps as warmly as the Central Florida sunshine, protecting his narrow lead for the $5,000 in cash and $5,500 Ranger bass boat against the meager lastround charge of Evans, who had 33pounds, 10-ounces in the three-day contest. If one of five keeper bass hadn't gotten away, Evans could've easily dashed Phipps' hopes of winning on his home waters. But then, reigning Bass Angler of the Year Roland Martin also lost enough bass to win the While most of the 250 contestants from 25 states fished plastic worms on lakes Toho and Kissimmee, the two leaders discovered independently that bass feeding around freshwater clam beds would hit minnow-like he worked it "very erratically, cranking it fast as I could six or seven turns, then slowing it to a crawl, then cranking fast again." Evans found other isolated mussel beds close to the weigh-in site at Big Toho Marina, where bass attacked two lures, a "Speed Shad" swimming plug and a 'Redfin'' topwater bait.

'I caught eight bass that would go about 42 pounds the first day of practice," Evans said, who became the oldest angler to win the BASS qualifying tournament when he won the Kentucky Invitational two years ago at

A severe weather change dropped the seasonably balmy temperatures into the 60s overnight, scattering concentrations of big bass.

Only 677 bass weighing 1,940pounds, five-ounces, were caught during the three days of fishing, but in chilled water, all but two survived the weigh-in and were released alive. None of the anglers could muster the BASS seven-fish daily limit, and one in every five fishermen failed to catch a 14-inch-or-better bass in three days

The problem, believes sixth-place finisher John Powell, 51, of Montgomery, Ala., was that the bass were extremely skittish. "There were acres and acres of bass - big bass - in there, but if you even used a pushpole, you spooked 'em," Powell said. He landed 29-pounds, three-ounces of bass by letting the wind blow his boat into grass beds, and working a sixinch grape "Twister Phenom" worm 'so slowly you couldn't see your line

The 1980 BASS Tournament Trail, which will pay out $600,000 to top bass pros if all seven events are filled, moves to Mississippi March 26-28 for the Mississippi Invitational on Sardis

By The Associated Press Washington Bullets Coach Dick Motta has a message for the rest of the National Basketball Association:

More specifically, the injury-riddled Bullets hopes for a playoff berth are slowly vanishing. Their 109-93 loss to Atlanta, coupled with Houston's 139-113 shellacking of New York, dropped Washington 2½ games behind the Rockets in the chase for the final berth in the Eastern Conference. The Bullets have seven games to play and Houston has six. 'Our only chance is to catch Houston," Motta said. "When you have to depend on other people, you're desperate — and we're desperate.'

Ken Stabler happy over being Houston Oiler By MICHAEL A. LUTZ

AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) - Quarterback Ken Stabler, speaking in a slow Southern drawl that fits right in with his new Houston Oiler teammates, can list a number of reasons why he's happy to be an Oiler.

Examining an Oiler helmet as he was introduced to the Houston Oiler staff Wednesday, Stabler observed, "The last time I saw one of these things it was sticking in my back." Stabler, obtained from the Oakland Raiders last week in exchange for rterback Dan Pastorini, als he liked what he had seen of the Oiler fans and heard about Bum Phillips. "Playing in the Astrodome is like going to a party," he said. "In other places, they throw beer bottles and can openers at you. But when they start singing that Oiler song and waving those pom pons, it's a different world and I want to be a part of it."

Stabler said he had heard many compliments from players concerning Phillips' relationship with the Stabler, who completed 304 of 498 passes for 3,615 yards and 26 touchdowns last season, said the trade also had rejuvenated his interest in play-

"I had thought several times about hanging them up," Stabler said. "But you get to thinking about it in July and you're back." This trade has me all pumped up again. I feeling like a

"It's a challenge to me to come to a city like Houston and to prove myself to these fans. "I know I have to earn my job. There's another good quarterback already here.'

Stabler, 34, had been at odds with Oakland general manager Al Davis after Davis criticized the quarterback publicly. Stabler downplayed his squabble with Davis. 'Oh, I'd probably speak to him if I met him on the street," Stabler said. "I didn't see any need for a relationship with Davis. I had good communication with the staff and players. But I'm glad Mr. Davis traded me.' Stabler said his desire to be traded had nothing to do with the Raider staff or players. "Maybe it was just being in one place for 10 years, I needed a change," Stabler said. "But it's not easy to leave after you've been in a situation and sweated and won and lost with guys for 10 years.

Stabler's influence as the new Oiler leader already has filtered to Oiler running back Earl Campbell.

DALLAS (AP) - Personal loans from four of his teammates will allow Dallas Cowboys linebacker Mike Hegman to repay a bank for the $10,534 in checks he is accused of forging, his lawyer said Wednesday.

Hegman was indicted Monday on charges accusing him of writing 27 checks for a total of $10,534 on the account of Chuck Mayhew between last September and last December. Hegman had shared a Dallas townhouse with Mayhew while Hegman and his wife were getting a divorce.

The indictment accused Hegman of forging Mayhew's name on the checks drawn on Mayhew's account at Republic National Bank.

The loans of $2,000 each came from quarterback Roger Staubach, middle linebacker Bob Breunig, halfback Tony Dorsett and safety Cliff

Harris, the players acknowledged Wednesday.

Spencer Kopf, Hegman's lawyer, said Hegman has obtained the remainder of the money from other sources to make restitution to the Kopf said the actual payment has not been made to the bank, but he said the money is now available.

Bill Gall, a senior vice president at the bank, said the bank itself cannot dismiss the charge, but he said they would notify prosecutors if the money is repaid and would be "flexible."

If convicted, Hegman faces a maximum of 2 to 10 years in prison and a

Staubach said he made the loan to Hegman in an attempt to help a friend and teammate out of a "serious situation."

"He (Hegman) was in a bind. Mike's a teammate and a friend, easy to get along with and a good guy," Staubach said Wednesday.
"You don't always know what happens when people leave the locker-room. Mike had problems. It was indicated to us if he could get this thing taken care of, he could iron them out," said Staubach, "This was a serious situation.' Harris said he made the loan because Hegman said he was in trouble and needed help.

"Everybody is entitled to a mistake. I didn't want to see him get into a lot of trouble if I could help it," Harris said.

Breunig said his reason for making the loan was simple. 'We're friends on the team and I want to help a guy who's in trouble

Midland High and Midland Lee will be trying to catch the powerful and balanced Abilene Cooper Cougars and the surprising Odessa Permian Panthers Friday when the District 5-4A boys' golf tour moves to San Angelo for its second round.

Following last week's opening round, Cooper #1 was in at 322, a slender one-shot ahead of Permian and eight ahead of Cooper #2. Big Spring was fourth with 332 while Midland High and San Angelo were tied for fifth at 333. Midland Lee and Abilene High were tied for seventh with 339.

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) - A freak accident involving a basketball referee, a car and a motel room put Steve Hedden on the bench - but it didn't stop his Jefferson State team-

Hedden, a starting forward on the Birmingham, Ala., team, received 110 stitches in his left leg early Wednesday after a car driven by a referee careened through a window into his motel room.

The losers, 23-6, got 20 points from Al Weston and 14 from John Springs. In an earlier second-round game, John Van Uden scored the game-winning basket with one minute left, then hit two insurance free throws in the final 30 seconds as Yavapai, Ariz., upset defending champion Three Rivers, Mo., 62-59.

Three Rivers, which dropped to 33-5, used a full-court press to hold a 30-28 halftime edge and both teams traded leads down the stretch before Van Uden hit the decisive basket.

Raphael Dirden scored 20 points and Casper Ware had 18 to lead Yavapai, now 23-12. Three Rivers got a game-high 26 points from Marvin McCrary and 16 from Tony Wallace.

Navratilova meets Billy Jean King in indoor tennis

NEW YORK (AP) — When Martina Navratilova talks about her opponent tonight, you'd never guess the defending champion is top-seeded in this $300,000 women's indoor tennis championship tournament.

But then her opponent is third-seed-ed Billie Jean King, a 20-time Wimbledon champion and winner of more indoor tour tournaments than any other woman.

'She can do a lot of things with the ball," Martina said of King. "You never know where she's going to hit it - especially off her backhand. She's just got a lot of shots and she can get it from any part of the court, shake up the rhythm totally."

Ask Virginia Wade. Wednesday, King demolished Wade, the 1977 Wimbledon champion Flyer's goalie 6-1, 6-3 by using a variety of spins,

"What I purposely tried to do was not hit with her," King said. "If you start just pounding the ball with her, she just pounds harden when the said."

MONTREAL (AP) she just pounds harder - she eats it up. And then also you help get her rhythm back if you do that ... I never try to give her basically the same spin twice the same way.'

Navratilova advanced in the eightwoman, double-elimination tournament Wednesday with a 6-2, 6-1 thrashing of young Kathy Jordan. After trading breaks in the third and fourth games, Navratilova gave Jor-dan a lesson, using lobs, smashes and flashy, accurate ground strokes. With the first set knotted at 2-2, Navratilova broke Jordan with two forehand winners and a forehand passing shot. After holding serve, she broke Jordan again before closing out the first set with a love game.

In Wednesday's other matches, Evonne Goolagong beat fellow Australian Wendy Turnbull 7-6, 6-4 and Tracy Austin was leading Greer Stevens 6-3, 5-3 when Stevens was forced to retire after suffering a "soft tissue injury" to her right ankle.

Tonight, besides the Navratilova-King clash, Jordan will meet Wade, Goolagong plays Austin and Turnbull will battle Stevens, if the latter is able matches.

"I know that Virginia's toughest when she's way down - that's when Virginia plays her best," King said.
"I knew that I could be in big trouble in the match if she'd get herself right in the match. I knew that I had to win my serve to give me 5-2.

Billie Jean then held her next serve to capture the match and set up tonight's meeting with Navratilova.

Goolagong needed an 8-6 tiebreaker in the first set.

Maybe that helped me for the next et," she said. "I was more confident getting to the net in the second set.

That will help me in the next two

MONTREAL (AP) - Phil Myre, the Philadelphia Flyers' goalie who lost his temper March 12, will lose $500, the fine imposed for swinging his stick in anger at a National Hockey League goal judge.

Myre slammed his stick along the glass when the Black Hawks scored a disputed goal, and swung his stick angrily again at the end of the 6-6 game in Chicago.

"In reaching this decision it was realized that Myre had no intention of striking the official," Brian O'Neill, executive vice president of the NHL, said Wednesday."But a display of histrionics which has as its purpose the public demeaning of a game official will not be tolerated.

Contract extended

CHICAGO (AP) - Coach Neill Armstrong's contract has been extended for two years, through the 1982 season, by the Chicago Bears.

Jim Finks, general manager of the National Football League team, said Wednesday that Armstrong originally agreed to a three-year contract when he signed as coach in 1978. The upcoming season would have been the final year of the pact, but the extension means Armstrong, 54, will re-main under contract through the 1982

The Bears compiled a 10-6 record in 1979 and earned a playoff berth for the second time in three years. The team has won 14 of its last 21 regular-season games under Armstrong.

Hey, Bulldogs: March activities keep coming on strong, so don't give up hope on May ever getting here. There's still lots to do, places to go, and things will be happening in the upcoming weeks. Then we can sit back and enjoy all the graduation parties. But since May is quite a way off, everyone get on the stick and don't let senioritis catch you off guard. Sorry, Juniors and Sophs, but you got quite a way to go before you catch the disease.

RAPS FROM RASCO: First and most important lunch workers start showing up for work! If you made an effort to sign up, at least have the responsibility to show up and do your job. Important dates: 100 Club and Junior Council have a setup for Junior Assembly at 2 p.m. Saturday and a cleanup at 2 p.m. Sunday. At 7:30 p.m. Monday there will be a YC Board meeting at the Midland Youth Center. This meeting is mandatory for officers and Chatter writers, and anyone on the Junior Council is invited to attend. Next Thursday (March 27) there will be a setup at 4 p.m. for the Junior Cotillion. Everyone please try to be at the YC for these meetings and setups and cleanups.

Friday is the deadline for any senior on the Senior Concil who is interested in going on the Senior Trip to Dallas. Contact Rasco before noon.

SOUNDS AROUND SCHOOL: If you would like to welcome a high school student from another country into your home, become a Youth for Understanding host family. For more information contact the area representative, Mark Andrade, at 683-1732

Jumiors need to pick up their results on the Planning Career Goals test from Mr. Torres in the councilors office. Seniors need to keep an eye on the bulletin board next to the attendance office for local scholarships. Be sure to get applications in before the deadline

Monday at 8 p.m. in the auditorium will be your opportunity to see this year's district entry for One-Act Play. Midland High is doing "Private Lives of the Master Race," a play about the lives of Germans under the Nazi rule. It only costs $1, so be sure not to miss it.

The color picture of the Catoico Court was stolen Friday. This picture must be returned; if anyone has any information or has seen it, please contact Mrs. Stall immediately. A reward is being offered.

Saturday, from 10:30 a.m. to 7 p.m., the Midland and Lee High bands are having a Chili Festival. The cost is $2.50, and tickets can be purchased from any band member or at the door. Homemade cakes and pies will be sold, and both bands will play all day. So everyone come down and jam with Midland's fin-

SPORTS ON SPOT: Congratulations to the gymnastic team which competed in the dual meet with Lee. Amye Raney took third in the girls all-around, second in the floor exercise and in vault, and third in the uneven parallel bars. Janie Enmon easily captured the balance beam title.

In the boys competition, Max Lonidier won the boys all-around, and Tom Hurt finished second. Max won the horizontal bars, took second in the parallel bars, third in vault and fourth on the rings and pommel horse. Tom won first on pommel horse, second on horizontal bars and vault and third in rings, floor exercise and parallel bars. Kyle Ray bourn took victories in vault, parallel bars, and added seconds in floor exercise and pommel horse. Way to go, gang. The season continues March 28-29 with the District 5-4A meet in Abilene. Good luck everyone, because we're behind you all the way.

So as you can see, there's still a lot of activities going on, so everyone hang in there. There's still Easter vacation, the Senior Girls Party, the Prom and finally Graduation. Don't let it all bog you down because it's not that bad.

See ya later. Becky, Tracy, Amy and Angela P.S. - Happy related birthday to Lexie Latimer, who also turned 18 last week. Look out Dallas! Thanks, Lexie, for letting us use the typewriter.

P.P.S. - Congratulations to Byron Moreland for placing second in state at the D.E.C.A. Convention in Houston last weekend. Hope to see you at the Nationals in Florida.

It was Oscar Wilde who first claimed that "life imitates art." If those players sitting East on this hand dealt at the Bermuda Regional had had the opportunity to read one of our recent columns stressing the importance of not always trying for an immediate ruff, they would not have gone wrong on defense.

North's decision to raise to two diamonds was a bit light by rubber bridge standards, but quite normal in duplicate. West, looking at a singleton in his partner's suit, four trumps and the ace-queen of spades, expressed grave doubts about the opponents' ability to make nine tricks.

Invariably, West led his singleton club. At those tables where East hastened to cash his two club tricks, South was able to scrape together eight tricks and hold his loss to only 100 points. Whether East continued with a third club or shifted to a spade, one of dummy's spade losers would go off on the jack of clubs while West was ruffing with his trump trick.

As long as East has the ace of hearts as an entry to his hand, there is no hurry to cash the second club. Instead, he should shift to the seven of spades at trick two.

Now it is West's turn to star. He must trust his partner. Obviously, East knew that West's club lead was a singleton. Equally apparent is that East has shifted to a short suit-most likely a doubleton from the fall of the cards. But if West now rises with the ace of spades and continues the suit, declarer will again get out for down

To keep open the lines of communication, West should. simply insert the jack of spades, forcing the king to win. The defenders will now have separated their tricks. The best declarer can do is take three rounds of trumps and then lead a club to the queen. East wins and leads a spade to West, and the defenders will collect two spades, a heart, a trump and two clubs for down two and an excellent result.

Your play to the first trick could decide the fate of the contract! A writer once remarked: "There's no such thing as a blind opening lead, only deaf opening leaders!" ### LEE YOUTH CENTER CHATTER Swimmers set school records

Hey Rebs, we hope everyone had a fun St. Patricks Day, and recovered from all the pinchers.

Our great truckin' trackers raced to a second place victory this past weekend at the West Texas Relays. Phil Carleton and Gary Butler did a super great job! Way to go Rebels. The track team will be in Andrews next weekend, so everybody make your plans to go and see our trackers dust past everybody else to a

The swinging gymnastics team was also victorious this past weekend. The girls really put it to Midland High with Dayna Dixon and Patricia Johns leading the way. Our guys also made a great showing too.

Even though our red-eyed Rebel swimmers didn't win state, they set some fantastic new school records. Cleve Carrens, Robin Franks, and John Kimberly pushed it to the limit, while Scott Beatty, Mark Solari, and David Fishel also splashed to a fantastic ending. Congratulations to our swimmers for a great season.

Watch this space for information on what you've been waiting for. It's true, "Up With People" is coming back to Midiand for the benefit of the Youth Centers. The week of April 28, you will be seeing these people around and entertaining you. Then on May I, at Chaparral Center, they will spend hours entertaining you in concert. Plan to be there. Get your tickets early cause the best seats are available now. They are only $6 for the better seats.

SENIOR GIRLS: There will be a very important meeting Wednesday night at 7: 30 in the youth center. Be there.

Don't forget to go see our Rebel baseball players this week as they run over their opponents.

The Rebel Lee Chorale really put us all in heaven Thursday March 13, in the Lee Auditorium, as they won Sweepstakes. Their performance was excellent. The girls chorale placed first in concert and second in sight reading. The second mixed choir placed third in sight reading and second in concert. And our girls choir place second in concert and third in sight reading. We are supporting you all the way. Congratulations to chorale for their super perfor-

Never fear, just a few more weeks and we're off once again for another break. Stick in there Rebs.

Stock market loses

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market dropped sharply today, resuming its February-March slide amid recession worries. The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 9.30 at 791.64. Losers held a 3-2 lead over gainers among New York

Stock Exchange-listed

The Dow Jones industrial average, which has fallen more than 100 points since mid-February, made a stand at 800 on Tuesday and held there Wednesday, posting only a fractional decline.

But then it slipped into the 790s again this morning, and immediately began falling further.

Analysts said the market was beset by spreading concern that the economy was heading into a recession that could hurt corporate profits and dividends considerably. They also said a rebound in commodity prices this week had dampened hopes for any early progress toward bringing down the inflation rate.

Among actively traded oil issues, Mobil dropped 3 to 72½; Texaco lost ¼ to 35¼, and Exxon was down % at International Business Machines lost 1/8 to 581/2 in active trading.

BUSINESS MIRROR Economist says recession poor inflation cure

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — To John Winthrop Wright, whose investment firm handles $1 billion of individual and institutional investments, the idea of curing inflation by promoting a recession is equivalent to

That practice, more commonly known as bloodletting, was thought to be a universal cure many years ago when medicine was still in a very dark age. But still no darker, he says, than some of modern economics.

Recession, says Wright, a conservative, blue-chip investor, produces two effects he thinks should be obvious to everyone by now:

It reduces the numbers of independent, competitive businesses and compels government to borrow in order to finance jobless benefits and welfare programs that deplete the nation's industrial capi-

A recession, in other words, not only weakens the subsequent recovery but sets the stage for the next recession. And as the patient grows weaker, the doctors see no alternative but to let more blood Wright spoke Wednesday at the annual Symposium on American Capitalism, which he sponsors at Fairfield University, a short distance from the Bridgeport, Conn., offices of Wright Investors' Ser-

As he sees it, the designers of fiscal and monetary policy continually cut the veins of the patient, in this instance the private domestic economy, instead of attacking the disease that leads to the ailment.

The disease, Wright told an audience of busin people, academics and students, is Eurodollars. No. he does not attribute all blame to them, but he does believe they are an obvious and unchecked monetary

Do not let "Eurodollar" throw you; it is really a simple term. All it means is a dollar borrowed from a foreign bank. That borrowed dollar is an IOU to the bank. It is an asset. It is a dollar asset. And when a bank has an asset it lends it out.

That dollar asset does not take on the configuration of a dollar bill imprinted with the figure of George Washington. It is a credit dollar, the very same as that created when you borrow from your local bank.

As we have seen, the Federal Reserve can limit lending and borrowing in domestic banks, but there is no formal regulation of those dollars produced overseas. And, Wright points out, they now total $450 billion, or only $50 billion less than the domestically produced total.

Once upon a time, Wright observed, anyone wanting U.S. dollars would buy them on the foreign exchange market, creating a demand that would lift the price and protect us from imported inflation. If the dollars were valued higher, for example, oil might cost relatively less.

The dilution of dollar value is likely to continue if Eurodollar production is not slowed, said Wright. If unchecked, he forecast the Eurodollar total will be triple the domestic dollar supply in five years.

"There is no way of stopping the inflation of dollar prices all over the world, no way of stopping the escalation of Middle East oil prices payable in dollars," Wright told his audience.

"No way of avoiding the ever-rising cost of energy in the U.S.A. and the inflation which inevitably accompanies it; simply no way of accomplishing these basic objectives without first ... recognizing and acting on the obvious principle that the United States must control the creation of U.S. dollar credits and deposits everywhere!" Still, Wright is optimistic about the United States ability to see its way through.

While it is too late to avoid a recession, he said in an interview, a recession "with uneployment rising much more than forecast," he believes the country can find its way out of it.

He sees the Federal Reserve beginning to recog nize the need to control foreign as well as domestic dollars, and he hopes it can arrange control agreements with foreign central banks.

He has faith Americans will take whatever strong medicine is required if they see that it promotes health and that they will soon rebuild a strong

But first, he says, the monetary bloodletting - the weakening of the economy for futile reasons and without any implementation of long-range corrective measures, has got to stop.

MERCED, Calif. (AP) - Barbara Mathias was Steven Stayner's "mother" for two of the seven years the teen-ager lived with an alleged abductor. When she finally met Stayner's real parents, Mrs. Mathias assured them "he was a good boy."

"It's been hell for the last seven years," Kay Stayner told her visitor during a somber moment in the otherwise cheerful meeting.

"I know," Mrs. Mathias said quiet-"That's why I wanted to come. I know how I would have felt if it had been my kid."

Mrs. Mathias, first known only as the "Barbara" neighbors recalled seeing at a trailer park with Steven, told The Associated Press on Wednesday she babysat for Stayner for two years.

For about nine months, she says, she lived with him and Kenneth Parnell, the man charged with the 1972 abduction of Stayner, now 14, and the Feb. 14 kidnapping of 5-year-old Timmy White.

Both cases ended March 1 in Ukiah when Stayner took White to police because he "didn't like what was happening.'

Mrs. Mathias' 12-year-old son,

Lloyd, who played with Stayner during those years, tossed a basketball to the teen-ager as Mrs. Mathias and Kay and Delbert Stayner talked. Steven had greeted Mrs. Mathias, a dark-haired divorcee, with a broad grin as she entered the house.

"I thought that because I babysat for him you would want to know he was a good boy all that time," Mrs. Mathias said. "He was always a nice boy and he called me 'Mother' like my own kids did."

Mrs. Mathias recalled Steven had told her that his mother had died when he was an infant, prompting Mrs. Stayner to stick her tongue out playfully at her son.

"We're just getting around to get-ting him used to being called 'Steve," Mrs. Stayner said. During seven years of drifting, young Stayner was called Dennis Parnell and was registered at several schools under that "He said Parnell threatened to spank him if he told anyone that he was not Dennis," the elder Stayner said. "It's really remarkable how he remembers so much. For three or four years he did nothing but think about us."

As the 20-minute meeting drew to a close, the women exchanged ad-

"I don't care how late I get to sleep tonight, I'll be in heaven," Mrs. Mathias said before the 250-mile drive to her home north of Ukiah. In the interview, Mrs. Mathias said Parnell treated Steven like a son, occasionally spanking him for misdeeds, and Stayner called him

Mrs. Mathias, 44, also said Parnell had a birth certificate and other papers to show Stayner was his and that she didn't know Stayner was an abduction victim until she saw it on television

"I couldn't believe it," she said. "I didn't think Dennis was kidnapped or anything."
Mrs. Mathias said she met Parnell and Stayner late in 1973, about nine months after he was abducted while walking home from school. At first, she said, Parnell paid her $60 a month to watch Stayner in the afternoon. Later, in 1975, she lived with Parnell and Stayner in a mobile home in Willits, about 30 miles north of Ukiah, and in a converted school bus in Fort Bragg, 35 miles northwest of Willits.

What do you mean, 'born again'?

AFTER dark one night a Jewish religious leader named Nicodemus, a member of the sect of the Pharisees, came for an interview with Jesus. "Sir," he said, "we all know that God has sent You to teach us. Your miracles are proof enough of this."

Jesus replied, "With all the earnestness I possess I tell you this. Unless you are born again, you can never get into the Kingdom of God.

"Born again!" exclaimed Nicodemus. "What do You mean? How can an old man go back into his mother's womb and be born again?

-Jesus replied, "What I am telling you so earnestly is this: Unless one is born of water and the Spirit, he cannot enter the Kingdom of God.

Men can only reproduce human life, but the Holy Spirit gives new life from heaven;

So don't be surprised at My statement that you must be

Just as you can hear the wind but can't tell where it comes from or where it will go next, so it is with the Spirit. We do not know on whom He will next bestow this life from heaven."

"What do You mean?" Nicodemus asked.

Jesus replied, "You, a respected Jewish teacher, and yet you don't understand these things? I am telling you what I know and have seen-and yet you won't believe Me.

But if you don't even believe Me when I tell you about such things as these that happen here among men, how can you possibly believe if I tell you what is going on in heaven?

For only I, the Man of Heaven, have come to earth and will return to heaven again.

And as Moses in the wilderness lifted up the bronze image of a serpent on a pole, even so I must be lifted up upon a pole,

So that anyone who believes in Me will have eternal For God loved the world so much that He gave His only Son so that anyone who believes in Him shall not perish but have eternal life.

RINGING THE BELL

West Texas minorities sadly short of political experience

With BOB TIEUEL

In Southern New Mexico and most of the Texas Plains, Chicanos, blacks and maverick whites from independently minded urban neighborhoods are still struggling to make themselves heard in areas so long ruled by conservative business establish-

In Hobbs and Clovis, N.M., which have the largest black populations in the state, no black has ever been elected to a city or county office, with a notable exception at Hobbs, where a black has been elected to a school board position. A black was elected to a city council position in Carlsbad, N.M., some years ago. Every now and then a Chicano has been elected to the city council in Clovis and once in Hobbs, but each was defeated when he ran for re-elec-

In Odessa, Texas, a black was elected in recent years to the city council by a combination of black and brown votes and since, the black has been elected by the same combination to a position on the county commission. In Midland, no black has ever been elected to serve on the city council, although a black has served on the Midland school board.

In Lubbock, Texas, which has one of the largest black populations on the Plains, no black has ever served on the city council. However, a black woman was elected to the school board in recent years but was not re-elected. When this correspondent asked why Lubbock had not given blacks representation on the city council, a prominent black woman replied, "Bob, it just seems to be that the rank and file of us are not ready for political responsibility. And too, we are suffering from a lack of black leadership in Lubbock. In the meantime, Houston, Dallas and San Antonio may well turn out to be more cosmopolitan and politically competitive, more attuned to energy conservation, neighborhood and poverty issues than in the past. And as Neal Peirce, noted columnist, points out, "None of this means Texas will be transformed overnight into a nightax, high-spending mirror of northern metropolises."

But the signs of change or a brea-kup of the monolithic rule of big business circles are particularly evident in the big cities, Peirce pointed out.

ONE OF THE greatest drawbacks against minority representation in many areas has been the at-large voting prevalent in Southern New Mexico and West Texas, one black leader pointed out. In 1975 the U.S. Department of Justice reviewed electoral districts and annexations with the goal of preventing discrimination against minorities.

Results were amazing. Houston's council, previously elected all atlarge, suddenly has geographical districts for nine of its 14 seats and includes for the first time in history, three blacks, its first Mexican-American and first two women council per-

San Antonio, which has also dropped its business-controlled atlarge system in favor of districting, now has a council closely balanced between affluent conservatives and more liberal Chicanos and blacks. It is reported that there will be launched soon more efforts by black and brown leaders in such areas as Midland, Odessa, Lubbock, Amarillo, Hobbs, Clovis and Roswell to ask the U.S. Department of Justice to force division of cities into separate, rather than at-large, legislative districts, a parallel effort to city council district-

A RISING TIDE of Texas Republicanism seems evident, as witness the 1978 election of the GOP's William Clements as governor, and black leaders are saying that Republicans have an opportunity to win thousands of black voters if they will lend their efforts to grant more blacks and brown representation in Texas, New Mexico and other Southwestern states by districting rather than the traditional at-large methods.
