Guide pulls ads

RADNOR, Pa. (AP) — TV Guide magazine withdrew planned full-page advertisements endorsing Republican presidential candidate Ronald Reagan from 23 large newspapers around the country because they might violate election laws, the magazine's publisher said Friday.

The ads, scheduled for Friday's editions, were pulled on the advice of attorneys, according to publisher Walter Annenberg.

Annenberg, a former ambassador to Great Britain, said the ads were typical of ones run by the magazine periodically, featuring reprints of his column in TV Guide.

Balloon record

LONGMONT, Colo. (AP) — Britisher Julian Nott regained the hot-air balloon altitude record Friday with an ascent of 55,900 feet during a 50-minute flight over Colorado's eastern plains.

Nott's mark surpassed the 53,000-foot record set by Denver balloonist Chauncey Dunn last year. Dunn broke Nott's 46,000-foot record set in 1972.

Friday's ascent was observed by a steward of the National Aeronautics Association of Washington, D.C. The NAA's findings will be sent on to the Federal International Aeronautical Association in France, the recognized sanctioning body of world balloon records.

Cuba-Soviet pact

MIAMI (AP) — Cuba and the Soviet Union signed a 5-year, $35 billion economic exchange agreement Friday that commits the USSR to aiding the communist island nation through the end of the century, Havana radio reported.

The agreement represents a 50 percent increase in aid over 1976-1980, according to a broadcast monitored in Miami.

The report said the two countries agreed to coordinate their economic activities through 1985.

Lady pilot born too soon

By BRUCE PARTAIN
News Staff

Like many persons who have seen nearly eight decades come and go, Edna Gardner Whyte has witnessed her share of revolutionary changes.

Perhaps not enough, however. They tell Edna that she was born 40 years too soon; that if she was a young, experienced female pilot today she would have it made.

Maybe that's true; maybe not. There's no doubt that most men with her flying credentials easily went from piloting World War II war machines to flying the lucrative skies of the commercial airlines.

Edna never got to be one of the fighter pilots. She just taught them how to fly.

And after the war, the airlines either avoided her, made excuses or flat out told her that no passenger would trust his life in the hands of a woman pilot.

The frustration for Edna Whyte must have been at times overpowering.

A pilot since 1926, she has logged tens of thousands of hours in the air and is certified by the FAA as a commercial pilot capable of flying multi-engine planes. She also holds helicopter, glider and instructor ratings and is considered one of the best stunt aerobatic pilots in the country.

She is nonetheless a buoyant booster of aviation, giving anyone from teenagers on up an evangelical spiel on the fun and career possibilities in flying.

According to Edna, things are getting better.

"It was very difficult the first 25 years," she said.

"The men would sit right next to me when I flew and wouldn't tell me anything. This was a time when they would ask you to come to the airfield before dawn, dressed like a man, and maybe then you would get some instruction. They seemed to think you were stealing their glory. I learned more listening in on their conversations in back of the hangar than I ever did with them in the planes."

Mrs. Whyte was a good enough student to open her own flight school — the New Orleans Air College — which she sold before moving to Fort Worth to train Navy and Army pilots.

Also a registered nurse, Mrs. Whyte served in the Army Nurse Corps in the Philippines and South Pacific after enough pilots had been trained for the war effort.

Throughout her flying career, a continual backlash of resistance to women pilots hindered Edna's progress.

"When I applied for my first license with the Department of Commerce, the man made me sit there until all the applicants had gotten their licenses," she said. Then he walked me around the back of the hangar and asked me what I wanted with a license. He said, "I never gave a woman a license and I don't know if I want to start now."

"Once I was refused a job because I was supposed to be too short. Two of my own male students who were shorter than me got hired instead. And I had 3,000 hours flight time compared to their 200."

She received similar treatment at Braniff's old headquarters in Houston.

After being kept waiting for all the other applicants to be interviewed, she was finally allowed to see the personnel man.

"I'll bet you're Edna Gardner," said the man. "Sit down, please."

"I thought, oh, I'm going to get it!" recalled Mrs. Whyte. "But instead he said, 'Now, Miss Gardner, do you really think our passengers want to walk into a plane and see a woman fly it?' I said I didn't know what he meant; I had had hundreds of students and passengers fly with me and never had a problem. He didn't know what to say to that, but I didn't get hired."

At this point many people would have quit, as did most of Mrs. Whyte's contemporaries. "They all got married or just gave up."

But Edna continued in aviation, concentrating on instruction, precision flying and derby racing. She gath-

Iranians split three ways on hostages

By The Associated Press

An Iranian legislator said Friday that freedom for the 52 American hostages is just a problem "of time. Otherwise, everyone wants the question to be settled." He said conditions for their release could be announced Sunday after parliamentary debate.

Assadollah Bayat told The Associated Press in a telephone interview the Parliament is split three ways: Whether the captives should be freed before or after the U.S. elections Tuesday or if they should be held until there is an end to the six-week-old war between Iran and Iraq.

The Parliament - Majlis - has been stalled by hard-liners, but Bayat predicted there would be a quorum at the session scheduled for Sunday and "maybe it will approve the conditions Sunday and announce them the same day."

Earlier, Iran's government radio declared Iranian militants had won their year-long confrontation with the United States over the hostages and a "just method" had been worked out to release them. U.S. officials continued to express skepticism that an end to the crisis was imminent.

State Department spokesman John Trantner told reporters in Washington, "I have no way to indicate to you that I feel any more hopeful, that we are any closer." But he said the Carter administration offered assurances that it recognizes Aytollah Ruhollah Khomeini's revolutionary Islamic regime as "the legally constituted government in Iran" and America would lift economic sanctions against Iran if the hostages are freed.

It was disclosed in Stockholm that a Swedish airline company had been contacted about flying a jetliner to Tehran, presumably to pick up the hostages. But a communique issued by Scanair's managing director, George Olsson, corrected earlier reports that the plane was on standby at Stockholm's Arlanda airport for a flight to Tehran on two-hours notice.

Olsson's statement said, "Various world-wide news media today reported that Scanair has a DC-8 passenger aircraft, with some facility for stretchers, standing by at Stockholm airport to depart for Tehran to transport American hostages to Europe."

"These reports are completely inaccurate. The situation is that Scanair was contacted by an unnamed party which inquired about the feasibility of such a transport, when and if the requirement arose. Scanair said that, if required, it could make an appropriate aircraft available at about two-hours notice. The matter has been taken no further since the initial contacts were made."

He had said earlier arrangements were made for the plane to fly from Tehran to "somewhere in Germany."

County sets record in absentee voting

Absentee voting in Midland County struck a record Friday, as 6,972 voters — more than 15 percent of the 44,102 registered voters in the county — either cast ballots in person for Tuesday's general election or had been sent absentee mail-out ballots.

The previous absentee balloting record here was 5,375 in 1968, when Republican Richard Nixon edged out Democrat Hubert Humphrey for the presidency. That year, 23,529 voters cast ballots in Midland.

Absentee voting here began Oct. 15 and closed 2½ weeks later. During that period, 5,209 Midland Countians cast "in-office" ballots in the Midland County Courthouse, said County Clerk Rosanelle Cherry, and an additional 1,763 ballots were mailed out. Of the latter, approximately 90 percent of the mail-out ballots will be returned to the clerk's office. They must be returned no later than 7 p.m. Tuesday in order to be counted in the election, Ms. Cherry said. Many have been or will be returned by Express Mail to ensure speedier returns.

On Friday, 786 voted in person here, and 51 ballots were mailed out, Ms. Cherry said.

Headlined in the 1980 general election are Republican Ronald Reagan, who is bent on ousting President Jimmy Carter from the White House and sending him back to Plains, Ga.

In the 1976 general election, which pitted Democrat Carter against then-President Gerald Ford, 4,418 absentee ballots were cast in Midland. In that election, 27,369 voted in Midland.

In 1972, when Nixon successfully defended his presidency against challenger George McGovern, 24,290 Midland Countians cast ballots. Of that number, 4,748 were absentee voters.

Deputies battle for Midland Constable's office

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one in a series of stories taking a close look at the local races and candidates in the Nov. 4 general election.

By DAVID CAMPBELL
Staff Writer

The Midland County Constable's office hasn't seen much change of leadership since the two terms of its respected officeholder, Jack Merritt, who died in office this year at age 76.

Even before his death, his two deputy constables, Republican Thomas E. McGinnis and Democrat Charlie D. Jones, began vying for votes to get the constable's position. Following Tuesday's election, one will become constable, courtesy of Midland voters, and the other will remain as deputy constable.

Both men carry nearly the same number years of experience — 23½ years for Jones and 22 years experience for McGinnis.

In that 23½ year period, Jones has served with the city police and sheriff's departments as well as 3½ years as deputy constable.

McGinnis lists his law enforcement experience with federal, county and city agencies.

But that is about as far as the similarities go. Jones notes the responsibilities of the office are primarily involved with servicing Justice of the Peace Court.

The Democrat says the county's population is growing which correlates to a bigger load of paperwork in civil matters like forcible detainers.

And he states that there really are no big issues in the race.

However, McGinnis says the Texas Constitution gives the constable a wider range of duties as a county law enforcement officer.

Interpretation of those duties depends on the officeholder, the Republican said.

"The constable not only serves the Justice (of the Peace) Court, but we also service the County Clerk and Treasurer," McGinnis said of the other areas the constable works.

Both hold basic law enforcement certificates.

The Republican holds an advanced certificate from the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Standards and Education. McGinnis also points out he holds an Associate Degree in law enforcement from Midland College and teaches several courses at the police academy.

Jones notes he has taken many continuing law enforcement courses which pertain to his job.

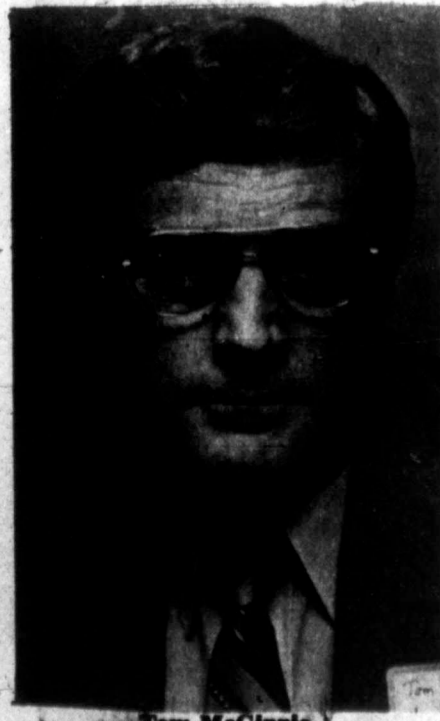

When questioned about why he decided to run for the constable's position, McGinnis replied, "Jack Merritt asked me to run for the office."

The main goal he mentioned was to continue the office in the Merritt tradition.

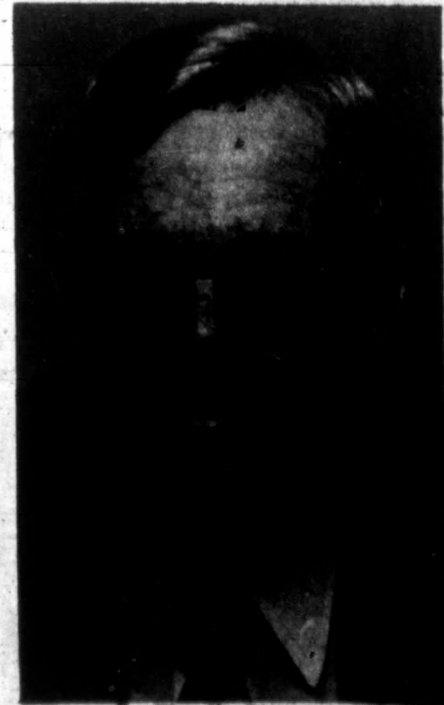

"Many Midlanders and law enforcement officers respected what Jack has done for the office."

Jones mentions that during his years as deputy constable, he has worked hard to do the job efficiently and courteously.

Both men like the community and say they want to continue serving Midland in their capacity as law enforcement officers.

Clements sees big margin for Reagan

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements predicted Friday Ronald Reagan will win three out of every five Texas votes — 60 percent — in next week's election.

"I expect a three-to-two split, Reagan-Carter," said Clements, who is Reagan's campaign chairman in Texas.

The governor appeared at a news conference with former Govs. John Connally, Preston Smith and Allan Shivers, who also support Reagan.

"It's not going to be a close election," Connally said, dismissing predictions that Texas and several other states heavy with electoral votes are too close to call.

"Governor Reagan is going to carry Texas by a very significant margin and is going to carry the nation by a very significant margin," Connally said.

Clements said the Reagan-Bush campaign organization's latest Texas poll, taken Wednesday, shows 48 percent for Reagan, 41 percent for Carter, 4 percent for John Anderson and 6 percent undecided.

Connally and Clements said Carter would not benefit politically if Iran releases the 52 American hostages before Tuesday's election.

"People understand that this administration does not have the influence to compel the release of the hostages. ... It is in the hands of the Ayatollah Khomeini, and nobody wants the Ayatollah Khomeini to control the election of the next president of the United States," Connally said.

The former secretary of the treasury and unsuccessful presidential contender was asked if he would accept a post in Reagan's administration if Reagan wins.

"I doubt it," he said.

Secretary of State George Shultz predicted 4.25 million Texans, out of 6.5 million registered, would vote in Tuesday's election.

He said he has deputized 150 inspectors to rove about 80 counties and look for election law violators. "We intend to pursue violators to the maximum degree," Strake said.

The state's chief election officer said inspectors would be concentrated in Dallas, Harris, Bexar, Hidalgo, Gregg and El Paso counties, "and we will have somebody in Amarillo."

Retraction settles suit against NBC network

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. John M. Murphy said Friday he will drop a $10 million libel suit against NBC because the network agreed to retract an erroneous statement concerning Murphy's alleged involvement in the FBI's Abscam investigation.

The network announced it would televise a retraction of its Feb. 3 report on the NBC Nightly News on Saturday.

In the erroneous report the day after the FBI investigation was disclosed, the network said Murphy, D-N.Y., had introduced a bill on behalf of a supposed Arab sheik. Network officials said Friday that they had learned the "statements by federal authorities were wrong."

Murphy was indicted in connection with the Abscam investigation, and is scheduled to stand trial Nov. 10.

Murphy, locked in a tough re-election battle, said Friday he had no doubt that announcement of the agreement with the network, which came just four days before the election, will work in his favor.

The Staten Island Democrat, chairman of the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, said he expected the correction to "fortify my supporters and probably will clean up some doubts in the minds of the undecided."

Murphy's opponents in the 17th District are Republican Assemblyman Guy Molinari and a Liberal Party nominee, Mary Codd, of the City Council.

Murphy, speaking at a news conference, said that in return for broadcast of the retraction, he would drop his suit against NBC.

But he also announced that, following his Abscam trial, he planned to file a multimillion-dollar libel suit against ABC for its coverage of his alleged Abscam activities.

McQueen returning to clinic

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Steve McQueen will return "in a few days" to the Mexican clinic he left earlier this week after undergoing three months of cancer treatment, a spokesman for his doctors said Friday.

McQueen, 50, and his wife have been at his ranch at Santa Paula, Calif., since his release from the Plaza Santa Maria Hospital in Baja California, where he was following a nutrition-based treatment program developed by William D. Kelley of the International Health Institution of Dallas, Texas.

McQueen was admitted to the Mexican hospital with mesothelioma, a form of lung cancer generally considered incurable.

The doctors said that by early October, malignant tumors on his neck, abdomen and chest had shrunk by about 25 percent.

"Dr. Kelley had promised Mr. McQueen he could take some time off if he followed the program at the hospital, that he could go home and take care of things," institution spokesman Ed Haag said in an interview from Dallas. "We expect him back at the hospital in a few days, when he's had his holiday."

"We look at it as encouraging" that McQueen felt up to the trip home, Haag added.

Haag said that while McQueen is home, he is supposed to be maintaining the hospital regimen, which includes doses of vitamins, minerals, enzymes and the controversial anticancer preparation Laetrile and a diet of mostly unprocessed raw vegetables.

London newspaper folds

LONDON (AP) — The Evening News, eight months shy of its 100th birthday, printed its last issue Friday and a chain operating four newspapers was said to have given printers a week to agree to a six-month pay freeze.

These developments came as Fleet Street, Britain's newspaper row, continued to be plagued by rising costs, outmoded printing methods, and falling advertising and circulation.

Last week, The Times of London and The Sunday Times were put up for sale by their owners, the Thomson organization. The two famous newspapers will close next March unless suitable buyers are found, the owners said.

The Evening News folded in a merger with its rival, the Evening Standard, owned by Express Newspapers. Beginning Monday, the Standard, which was also losing money while there were two evening newspapers, will be the only surviving evening paper in this capital of 7 million people.

Will Zambia 'reap the rewards?'

By NICHOLAS HANKS

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP) — Six months after the guerrilla-backed forces of Robert Mugabe triumphantly led Zimbabwe to freedom, the impoverished people of neighboring Zambia wonder if they will ever reap any rewards for their sacrifices and suffering through the war.

Other essentials. The newspapers blame the situation on poor distribution, limited production and shortages of raw materials for what industry there is.

About 2 million of the country's 5.5 million people are unemployed, according to Kaunda, while only 400,000 receive salaries, wages or allowances in the economy's public and private sec-up like logs of wood," said one prison superintendent.

Corruption, which complicates efficient administration and lowers morale in the general population of hard-working Zambians, has cropped up in government departments.

Black marketeers do a brisk business along the 400-mile frontier, playing havoc with the value of Zambian currency, and smugglers illegally buy up foreign currency to buy goods in Zimbabwe and spirit them back to eager Zambian consumers.

"They were told their sacrifices would bring them something when the war was over. Then they come across here and wonder whether it was all worth it."

losers," muttered Amos Phiri, a railway clerk who, like thousands of Zambians, goes to Zimbabwe each week to buy supplies usually unavailable in Zambia.

"Our people went hungry and some died so Zimbabwe would be free. Now the Zimbabweans want to forget all that," said Lameck Chirwa. He and Phiri were piling soap, sugar, candy, cigarettes, butter and brandy into a cart at a Zimbabwe border town.

Zambian president Kenneth Kaunda, at the helm of government since independence was proclaimed 16 years ago, on Oct. 24, 1964, is painfully aware of the poverty of his landlocked, southern African nation.

AT INDEPENDENCE, Zambia was an exporter of food. During the seven-year Zimbabwe-Rhodesia war, Zambia had to import millions of dollars worth of corn, a diet staple here.

In the past, Kaunda convincingly blamed the war for Zambia's perennial woes — food shortages, unemployment, low wages, poor development and inadequate social programs.

The war had, in truth, crippled Zambia's transport links to the sea. But Zambians are fed up with excuses, especially after seeing how well their neighbors are living so soon after war's end.

"Before independence we had everything except a black government," one man wrote in a letter to the government-controlled Daily Times of Zambia. "Today all we have is a black government."

FIVE MONTHS ago, Kaunda announced "Operation Food Production," an ambitious 10-year program to get the country back on its feet economically.

But if the foremost obstacle to development, the war, has been removed — leaving the way open, the president said, to "prosperity and the rise of Zambia to unparalleled heights of greatness" — dozens more problems have assumed new prominence.

The government must deal with corruption, unhappy labor unions and blatant political challenges to its own authority.

Endowed with rich copper lodes, Zambia depends on wildly fluctuating world copper prices for more than 90 percent of its foreign exchange earnings. And because industrial development has been limited mainly to the copper interest, it must import virtually everything from baby food to railway cars to the fertilizer it uses to grow its corn.

The government's acute shortage of foreign exchange, coupled with its determination to use it to create new industry and agricultural projects, has left the people no better off than during the war's most spartan hours.

THE WAR HAS ended but not the shortages of soap, salt, flour and Labor unions, which represent about two-thirds of the employed, are threatening a general strike before the end of the year unless "standards of living are improved."

But the greatest cause for government concern now is common crime and corruption, which Home Affairs Minister Wilted Phiri said had increased between 300 and 400 percent in the first half of 1980, compared with the same period in 1979.

SINCE AUGUST, police and national guard units have rounded up thousands in an anti-crime campaign mounted in every urban area from the northern copperbelt to Livingstone, site of the Victoria Falls.

Commissioner of Prisons Jonathan Mwanza said about 10,000 men and women are detained in Zambian jails — many of them underfed and without clothes. "Overcrowding is so serious that prisoners are piled

State voters get chance to Bingo

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a three-part series reviewing the pros and cons of each proposed constitutional amendment.

By LANA CUNNINGHAM
Staff Writer

Bingo!

That may be the comment by thousands of people around the state Tuesday night if Amendment No. 4 passes.

That proposal and two to increase the governor's capabilities are included on the ballot as part of the nine constitutional amendments requiring the public's approval before they can become law.

If No. 4 is passed, voters in a county, justice precinct or incorporated city can hold elections to determine if bingo games for charitable purposes will be held in those areas.

If enacted, the legislature would also require that proceeds from the bingo games be directed for a charitable purpose of the organization conducting the games; the games are limited to one location on the organization's property; the games are conducted, promoted and administered by members of that organization; and that organization must report quarterly to the comptroller of public accounts about the proceeds collected from the games and where those proceeds were spent.

AT NO TIME since Texas became a state has bingo been legal, according to a booklet prepared by the Texas Legislative Council.

State Rep. Tom Craddick of Midland remarked that since bingo is being played throughout the state now, "we might as well make it legal so we can monitor it."

Bingo would be limited to charitable purposes and the games organized by churches, synagogues, religious societies, volunteer fire departments, veterans organizations, fraternal organizations and medical research and treatment groups.

The Legislative Council specified the money would be limited to use in this state.

And because attitudes about the games vary from community to community, the law would allow each town to decide whether or not to permit these games, added the council.

ANOTHER PLUS the council lists is the entertainment and relaxation provided for a part of the community, primarily the elderly.

But there are negatives, according to the council. There is the possibility of fraud, say the opponents. And this could present the opportunity for organized crime to spread throughout the state.

Opponents also fear that low-income persons would be attracted to the games, thus wasting money that could be better spent on necessities, according to the council.

Gov. Bill Clements supports the passage of Amendments 5 and 6. During a recent stopover in Midland, the governor explained each and why it is needed.

The fifth amendment would authorize the legislature to grant budget execution powers to the governor. His decisions, however, would be subject to a budget execution committee.

CLEMENTS EXPLAINED that the Texas Legislature budgets for two years at a time; and occasionally an agency will run out of money before the next session while another agency has a surplus.

Allowing the governor to move funds where they are needed will eliminate the need to call a special session of the Legislature, Clements said, explaining it would be a costly procedure.

Craddick also supported the amendment, adding that it would keep an agency from spending its surplus when the money wasn't needed. "This is a power the governor should have had a long time ago," he said.

Clements and Craddick refuted the argument that it would give the governor too much power. The state legislator pointed out that Clements' decisions must have the approval of the budget execution committee.

However, the Legislative Council — listing pros and cons of the amendment — pointed out the governor already has adequate means for checking on spending practices of state agencies.

AMENDMENT NO. 6 would allow the governor to remove appointed officers with the advice and consent of the Senate and to permit the state leader to call a special session of the Senate for this purpose.

Clements said he wouldn't be allowed to remove officers appointed by previous governors — only those he selected and whom he decided weren't doing their job.

"There are enough good people, regardless of party, standing in line for those jobs that we don't need someone who's not working," said Clements.

Craddick, again, supported the governor and the amendment. "The governor's running the largest business in the state and he ought to be able to fire the people he hires. The governor has to answer down the road for this person."

OPEC will begin own news agency

VIENNA (AP) — The world oil cartel announced that it will begin a daily news summary Monday emphasizing developments in Third World nations, for distribution to 70 countries, it announced Friday.

The 1,500-word summary will be written at Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries headquarters here from material provided by national news agency correspondents in the 13 OPEC countries. It will be distributed through its new news agency "Opecna," according to a statement.

"OPEC member countries hope that the newly established news agency will provide an effective vehicle of communication in promoting the aims, objectives and achievements of OPEC member countries as an integral part of the Third World," the announcement said.

The summary will cover "activities, decisions, policies and efforts in promoting a better world undertaken either individually or collectively by OPEC member countries, and inform other nations of the world of the true nature and magnitude of such undertakings," OPEC officials said.

They added that general OPEC news would also be covered and distributed to 350 clients.

The 13 OPEC members are Algeria, Ecuador, Gabon, Indonesia, Iran, Iraq, Kuwait, Libya, Nigeria, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, United Arab Emirates and Venezuela.

Funds OK'd to monitor dumps

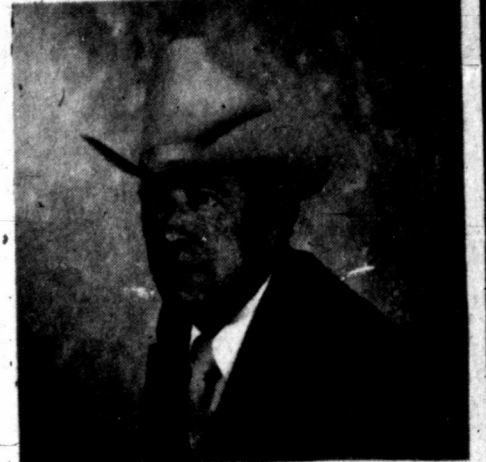

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Legislative Budget Board on Friday approved a staff recommendation that would give the "Department of Health additional money to monitor hazardous waste dumps.

The LBB-approved budget would give the department a total of $191 million in 1982 and $203 million in 1983. The agency now operates with a $150 million annual budget.

Greta Rymal, an LBB staff member who presented the report to the board, said the increases include 10 new positions in solid waste programs and 23 new positions in radiation control. The state would draw matching federal funds for the allocations.

NEWSPAPER BIBLE

How can a dead body come to life?

But someone may ask, "How will the dead be brought back to life again? What kind of bodies will they have?"

What a foolish question! You will find the answer in your own garden! When you put a seed into the ground it doesn't grow into a plant unless it "dies" first.

And when the green shoot comes up out of the seed, it is very different from the seed you first planted. For all you put into the ground is a dry little seed of wheat, or whatever it is you are planting.

Then God gives it a beautiful new body—just the kind He wants it to have; a different kind of plant grows from each kind of seed.

And just as there are different kinds of seeds and plants, so also there are different kinds of flesh. Humans, animals, fish, and birds are all different.

The angels in heaven have bodies far different from ours, and the beauty and the glory of their bodies is different from the beauty and the glory of ours.

The sun has one kind of glory while the moon and stars have another kind. And the stars differ from each other in their beauty and brightness.

In the same way, our earthly bodies which die and decay are different from the bodies we shall have when we come back to life again, for they will never die.

The bodies we have now embarrass us for they become sick and die; but they will be full of glory when we come back to life again. Yes, they are weak, dying bodies now, but when we live again they will be full of strength.

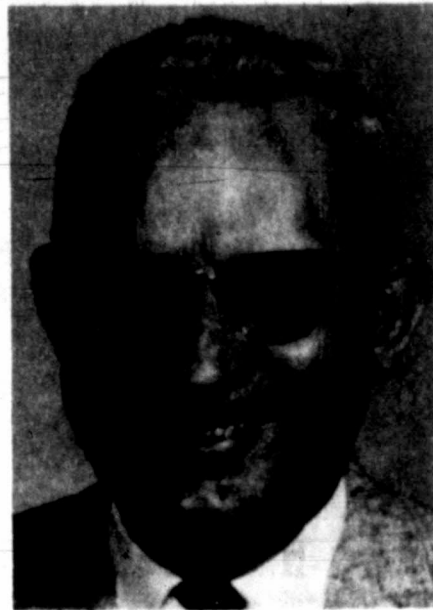

They are just human bodies at death; but when they come back to life they will be superhuman bodies. For just as there are natural, human bodies, there are also supernatural, spiritual bodies.

Seaga forming new Jamaica government

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—Jamaican Labor Party leader Edward Seaga began forming a government Friday after a landslide election victory that was the latest and biggest setback for the left in the English speaking Caribbean.

Sources close to the 50-year-old Seaga, who favors a free enterprise-based economy, said he probably would be sworn in as prime minister Saturday.

The sporadic gunfire that marked the campaign since outgoing Prime Minister Michael Manley announced in February that elections would be held continued. Gunmen opened fire on several police substations in and around Kingston, and the central police station came under heavy fire several times.

Authorities said a policeman was killed in a gun battle at the central station and two civilians had died in separate incidents since the voting places closed Thursday night.

Scattered fires in the Kingston area destroyed "about a half dozen" structures in slum sections and one Labor Party candidate's office, police said. No injuries were reported, and there was no estimate of damage.

Election workers who had stopped counting ballots Thursday night after gunmen strafed the central counting office returned to work Friday. The trend toward a massive Labor Party victory continued as counting resumed.

Labor candidates had won 27 seats and were leading in other races that would give them 51 of the 60 elected seats in the legislature. Manley's People's National Party, which Seaga charged was leading the country toward communism, had won nine seats.

The sources said Seaga was making his Cabinet selections and former Prime Minister Hugh L. Shearer was expected to become foreign minister.

The Jamaica election climaxed a year of disarray for the English-speaking Caribbean's left-wing parties in the face of severe economic hardship.

After the March 1979 coup that installed a revolutionary government in Grenada, the influence of Fidel Castro's communist Cuba in the region appeared to be growing rapidly. A left-center coalition came to power in Dominica and a socialist party in St. Lucia, both by constitutional means.

The United States countered with stepped-up aid to the region, and a warning it was increasing its military presence.

Then last December, voters in newly independent St. Vincent, just north of Grenada, rejected an infant leftist party and retained conservative Milton Cato as prime minister. He had stressed fear of Grenada's authoritarian direction during his campaign.

Other elections in St. Kitts-Nevis and Antigua, still under the British flag but moving toward independence, also kept or installed conserva-

Government calls in farm loans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farmers with corn in the No. 1 farmer-owned grain reserve have until the beginning of February to repay government price support loans, the Agriculture Department announced Friday.

The department's Commodity Credit Corp., which provides the loans, announced it was calling them in because the national market price of corn has been above $3.15 per bushel for five straight days.

The five-day average price through Thursday was $3.26 a bushel, the highest received by farmers since September 1974.

The call does not mean farmers have to sell the grain in the reserve. They can keep it there if they anticipate higher prices. But it does require them to repay their government loans within 90 days of notice.

The exact date in February when the loans are due may vary, depending on when farmers are notified by local offices of the Agriculture Department.

Today's call does not apply to the No. 2 and 3 grain reserves. Those loans will be called only if the average price for a bushel of corn stays at $3.26 or higher for five straight days.

Approximately 560 million bushels, or 14.2 million metric tons, of corn remain in reserves No. 2 and 3.

John Goodwin, acting executive vice president of the Commodity Credit Corp., said "farmers who have corn in reserve have reaped higher prices because of their participation. This proves the value of the reserve to farmers and shows that it is working as intended."

The reserve system is designed to let farmers store their grain when prices are low in return for price support loans from the government.

The call level for corn in the No. 1 reserve is 140 percent of the loan rate, which was set at $2.25 per bushel.

Office holds meeting for adoptive couples

The Permian Basin Office of Lutheran Social Service of Texas held its annual introductory meeting for 1981 adoptive couples recently at Midland Lutheran Church.

Each of the 55 couples attending the meeting had previously expressed an interest in adopting an infant through the agency during 1981.

L.S.S. is the second largest adoption agency in the state of Texas. Last year the agency placed 210 infants and reached a landmark in July with 2000 total placements.

Locally, 15 infants have been placed in permanent adoptive homes since the Permian Basin office opened two years ago. This year, 16 babies are expected to be placed in homes.

Eligibility for the adoption process is limited to couples who have been married at least two years, who are both under 40 and who have no more than one child already in the home.

Social workers use further criteria attained at the introductory meeting to select the couples with whom the agency places its infants. Income, religious preference, age, geographic location and flexibility are some of the factors considered in seeking a representative group of couples.

During the year, L.S.S. also provides counseling and referral services for those experiencing an unplanned pregnancy. Foster care between the relinquishment of an infant by a client and placement of the baby with the adoptive parents is also a service.

Located in the former parsonage of Midland Lutheran Church at 2705-A W. Michigan St., the office is open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Lael Cordes is the director.

No bias in ABC poll on debate, says AT&T

NEW YORK (AP)—American Telephone & Telegraph Co. said Friday that all callers had an "essentially equal" chance to participate in a controversial ABC-TV telephone survey following the debate between President Carter and Ronald Reagan.

In addition to pollster complaints about the network's decision to use an unscientific survey to sample opinions of the debate, there were charges that callers from the West and rural areas had a better chance of being counted because it was late at night in the East and circuits were busy in metropolitan areas.

Freelance cop makes it

ONSOCKET, R.I. (AP) — Fired from one police force, Salvatore Lombardi spent six lonely years in the shadowy world of prostitution, drugs and stolen goods to prove himself worthy of the detective's badge he wears today.

"He has the knack. He could infiltrate a convent," says police Sgt. Ted Dolan of Pawtucket, one of eight Rhode Island towns where Lombardi worked undercover as a hired gun.

"He's got guts. He fears no one," said Capt. Frank Ricci of the Warwick police department. "He certainly proved himself here."

Lombardi was hired as a detective for the Woonsocket police a year ago. But his "police academy" was a series of smoky bars and undercover buys of drugs and hot cars.

The heavy-set, 30-year-old Lombardi packs a pistol even in his living room where he relaxed one Sunday to tell his story while watching his favorite professional football team, the New England Patriots, on television.

He agreed to an interview on the promise he would not be photographed, but he laughed a lot as he talked, acting like his life among criminals was a huge lark.

Lombardi's odd career began in 1973 in Johnston, an industrial town adjoining Providence, when he was fired from the force just one hour before his probationary term would have expired.

"Sal just didn't measure up to what we thought a uniformed officer should be," said Johnston Police Chief William Tocco. "I admire his undercover work. But that's not what we were looking for."

Lombardi said the firing black-balled him from other police forces, making him "travel an unusual road to get my badge back."

Lombardi said he gets no thrill from the danger of working among people who would kill a police officer without hesitation.

"I did it for one reason, to get my job back. It's not that I enjoy the danger. I just don't mind it too much," he said.

"He's never lost sleep worrying about things," confirmed his wife, Michelina, 30, even after Woonsocket police this year nabbed a man outside the couple's house who was carrying a can of gas and a note threatening Lombardi's life.

"I don't worry about him too much either," added Mrs. Lombardi. "I know Sal can handle himself."

Your horoscope

©1980 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

Sunday, November 2, 1980

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: Both Burt Lancaster and Stefanie Powers share this birthday with you. In the coming year, friends and relatives show new appreciation, admiration for sacrifices you have made in the past. Personal finances show slow but steady improvement, and the outlook for business gains is brighter than ever. Thoughts of love, marriage are the source of your increasingly optimistic view of the future, and you recognize a need to be a bit more forceful in romance!

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You enjoy many advantages within the family circle. A grown child may pay an unexpected visit. Roll out the red carpet! An old argument is best forgotten.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Spiritual guidance helps to put you on the right track. A member of the opposite sex has an ingenious idea. When loved ones talk, be a good listener.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): A young person may ask you for a favor. Keep any promises made to romantic partner, mate. A friend's dropping in to visit could be a source of irritation. Hide your dismay and be hospitable.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Your ideas and your way of doing things may be questioned by others. Refuse to be put on the defensive! Tact and diplomacy are essential when dealing with family members.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): News regarding distant interests adds to the day's enjoyment. The emphasis is on change and travel. Consult mate, spouse about vacation, holiday plans. Be sure to return a social invitation.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): When discussing differences with loved ones tread lightly and be willing to make intelligent compromises. A romantic interlude brings you happiness. Avoid asking too many questions about the past.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): A personal relationship intensifies but you may not be ready to make a commitment. Trust your intuition in affairs of the heart. A family member may be jealous of you without even realizing it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): An older person becomes an ally, and a family member applauds your choice of a partner. Plan entertainment that will include people of all ages.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): A talented friend or relative urges you to "break out of a rut and try new things. Choose projects and hobbies that will really hold your attention."

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Garner support for family project through quiet, thoughtful discussion. Loved one's enthusiasm is almost always contagious. You would be wise to enlist this person's assistance in endorsing your ideas.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Family, marital responsibilities are lightened. Romantic partner is entirely supportive when of a new personal goal. A surprise gift can make the afternoon a very special time.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Avoid asking favors during morning hours when others are involved with their own concerns. Loved one's behavior could be a source of puzzlement. Look beyond surface appearances.

HP's Teichmann attending Sul Ross

BY REX WORRELL
Hogan Park Golf Pro
For those who have been wondering where Hogan Park's David Teichmann is...well, here's the latest. David is attending college at Sul Ross and has just been qualifying for the golf trip to Pecan Valley Country Club in San Antonio.

provements list. They have been busy dressing up the entrance to the course as well as the entry to No. 1 and No. 10 tee boxes.

They have begun working on the practice trap and green by the golf shop. They are also reconstructing and replacing drinking fountains on the course. You will see a great deal of landscaping going on around the course and golf shop as well as other needed improvements.

The pairings for the Hogan Park Women's Golf Association playday will be posted on the bulletin board this week.

Odessa defeats Bulldogs, 25-21

from Subia to Darrin Carr, set up the score. Subia connected on seven of nine passes during the evening for 146 yards. One of those passes was dropped.

A short 21-yard punt off the toe of Odessa's Darrell Cruze gave MHS the break it needed before the half to score. It took three plays as the Pack had the ball on the Broncho 31. Feldt, who passed for 158 yards on the night, hit David Bledsoe for 19 yards and five yards and then he dialed Kyle Ford's number correctly for an eight-yard touchdown. Hank McClung's kick cut the OHS lead to 19-7 with 21 seconds left in the first half.

OHS took the second half kickoff and fumbled the ball away with Scott Louderback recovering at the Midland 20 after an onside kick misfired for Cuilpepper's crew. The Pack moved the ball to the OHS 43 where Subia picked off a Feldt aerial.

MATT CARR recovered a fumble by OHS' Cobos at the Midland 24 to turn the Broncos away, but Garza fumbled again with Mike Nunnelle recovering for OHS at the OHS 44.

Once again that magic number of three came up for OHS as the Broncs went 56 yards to score. Subia gained 21 yards, Adams six and then Adams went 34 yards for the score. A pass for the two-pointer failed, but OHS led, 25-7 with 2:28 left in the third period.

Midland came back to score 14 points in the final period. The Bulldogs marched 61 yards in 10 plays to score. A 15-yard pass from Feldt to Bledsoe got the Tall City team started on the drive. Feldt hit tight end Wade Johnson for a TD for the fourth consecutive week, from four yards out on a great scrambling play. The run for the two-pointer failed, making it 25-13 with 10:55 left in the game.

Lance Langford gave his MHS teammates a break moments later with a fumble recovery at the OHS 43, but the Broncs held at their 34.

With time running out, MHS drove 80 yards in 15 plays to score with a pass interference call at the goal line giving them the ball with 50 seconds left. Feldt knifed over for the TD and then also ran over for the two-pointer to cut the OHS lead to 25-21 with 40 seconds left. OHS then ran out the clock after an onside kick failed for MHS.

MIDLAND IS now 5-3 on the year and 3-2 in 5-5A play while OHS is 6-1 and 5-1 going into its game with Big Spring in Odessa a week from today. Midland, meanwhile, travels to Abilene to take on the Cooper Cougars next Friday.

With Feldt's 124 yards rushing and an additional 158 through the airways, the talented senior had a total offense output of 282 yards.

Jazz topples Dallas, 144-122

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) - Ron Boone played his 1,000th consecutive professional game Friday night, but the spotlight was on Adrian Dantley with 50 points and Darrell Griffith with 37 as the Utah Jazz whipped the Dallas Mavericks 144-122 in National Basketball Association action.

Boone, who hasn't missed a game since his pro career started 12 years ago Friday with Dallas of the old American Basketball Association, managed just five points for the night.

Dantley's scoring effort tied his career high, while rookie Griffith's total set a new personal record in his brief NBA career. Geoff Huston topped the Mavericks with 24 points, 19 of them in the third quarter. Jim Spanarkel came through with 17 for the losers and Tom LaGarde added 16.

Watt stops O'Grady in 12th round

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) - Jim Watt of Scotland retained his World Boxing Council lightweight title by stopping American challenger Sean O'Grady in the 12th round at the Kelvin Hall arena in the early hours of Saturday morning.

Watt, making his fourth successful defense, fought back from the brink of defeat to halt the 21-year-old challenger from Oklahoma City on cuts.

The 32-year old southpaw, his own face a bloody mess, opened a gaping wound over O'Grady's nose and referee Raymond Baldeyrou of France had no option but to call a halt to the brutal battle.

The champion, unbeaten since 1976, looked to be headed for defeat in the ninth.

O'Grady opened a cut over Watt's right eye and the referee called for a doctor before deciding the Scot could continue.

Instead of continuing to work on Watt's face, O'Grady went looking for one decisive punch and Watt got back to jabbing out piston-like right hands.

An apparent clash of heads in the 10th opened the cut over the bridge of O'Grady's nose and a brave champion produced two superb rounds to finish off O'Grady's challenge.

With blood seeping into O'Grady's eyes, it was clear he could not continue.

Watt was well ahead on points when the referee stepped in but O'Grady's stern punching frequently had him back-peddling.

O'Grady, who received a threatening letter before the fight and was booed when he entered the ring, was given a standing ovation for his bravery by the 2,500 crowd.

Watt said afterwards: "The injury to O'Grady's nose was caused by a head clash - but it was accidental."

"It wasn't my toughest title fight. Alfredo Pitalua of Colombia was tougher, but this was really tough, too."

"I was so low when the doctor came over to my corner in the ninth that I thought the championship had gone."

Midland Lee girls keep golf title at Plainview

PLAINVIEW—Penny Sutcliffe shot a medal 80 to lead defending champion Midland Lee to first place in the 14-team Plainview Girls Invitation Golf Tournament here Friday. The Rebels had a 357 total to beat out Amarillo Tascosa by two strokes and Midland High by four strokes.

Ann Coombs shot an 81 to tie for second medal, but lost in a playoff.

McClinton, ex-Skin, dies

WASHINGTON (AP) - Harold McClinton, middle linebacker for the Washington Redskins from 1969 through 1978, died Friday of injuries received in a hit-and-run accident, according to the Washington Hospital Center. He was 33.

The cause of death was listed as "failure of major organ systems" as a result of the injuries.

The news of his death was withheld for a time at the request of McClinton's wife so that she could notify his children, who were Halloween trick-or-treating at the time.

If it seems like more than a month since Texas Tech played a game at home, your instincts are correct. Last time Tech played at home was against Baylor in September. The Raiders, however, do come home with a flare, facing the Texas Longhorns at Jones Stadium, one of those crossroads games for both teams. Texas' case, victory or defeat will determine whether the Steers remain in the Cotton Bowl running or whether they readjust their sights for something less rewarding. For Tech, a victory could make the season. Unfortunately, the Steers, coming off a defeat, will be endeavoring to recoup lost prestige, and probably will... Texas 27, Texas Tech 13. Elsewhere in the SWC... SMU 17, Texas A&M 7—Mustangs may suffer letdown, but how do you predict the Aggies?... Arkansas 19, Rice 10—Hogs have depth and Owls can't come up with two strong performances in a row, can they? Houston 24, TCU 19—Despite all their early season problems, would you believe the Cougars are still in the thick of the Cotton Bowl fight.

UT's Lam turned in on scalping

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — University of Texas Athletic Director Bill Ellington said Friday he has told NCAA officials about Johnny "Lam" Jones' alleged improper sale of football tickets. A federal indictment returned here Thursday charged Lloyd Davis, a former Lampasas bank official, with spending bank money on UT athletic teams. The indictment included a count charging Davis used $700 to buy 14 tickets from Jones, a former UT receiver now with the New York Jets, on Aug. 18, 1978. Jones is a Lampasas native. At that time, the NCAA did not allow players to sell

Notre Dame. Georgia 28, South Carolina 27—Football's two premiere running back square off so there's got to be a touchdown or two. LSU 6, Ole Miss 7—Remember when this annually was one of the season's headline games? Stanford 27, Oregon State 20—Beavers won this one last year, but they couldn't do it again unless they cheat, could they? Where Eagles love to fly... Iowa State 40, Colorado 6—Cyclones get well in a hurry. Ohio State 21, Michigan State 7—Buckeyes couldn't beat Wisconsin 58-0 and won't be Spartans by that margin. Purdue 17, Northwestern 0—Who says this pickin' business is so tough? Florida State 17, Tulsa 3—Seminoles aspire to bigger things and game like this will help. Alabama 35, Mississippi State 7—Tide will remember last year when Emory Ballard's Maroon, er, a Bulldogs, gave 'em a scare. Arizona State 42, UTEP 20—This one must be for old times sake when both were Border and WAC members. USC 33, California 30—Trojans aren't what they used to be. They make kids enroll and go to class, now, but they should still pass this test. UCLA 22, Arizona 3—Bruins will be out to better Notre Dame's margin over Wildcats. Celtics nip Kings

BOSTON (AP) — Cedric Maxwell scored 24 points and Larry Bird added 22 as the Boston Celtics rallied from a 14-point first half deficit Friday night to post a 115-110 National Basketball Association victory over the Kansas City Kings.

Nets tip Bullets PISCATAWAY, N.J. (AP) — Rookie Darwin Cook hit a 20-foot jump shot from the right side of the key as time ran out to give the New Jersey Nets a 100-98 victory over the Washington Bullets Friday night in National Basketball Association action. The victory snapped a five-game Nets losing streak. New Jersey now is 5-7. Washington has lost its last four games and is 2-8.

Court can't stop team

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Madison defeated Houston Lamar, 21-13, despite a late federal court restraining order. The order signed by U.S. District Judge Carl O. Bue shortly before gametime Thursday night enabled quarterback Kevyn Williams to play for Lamar even though the District 18-5A executive committee had declared him ineligible and ordered Lamar to forfeit six victories, including four in district play. Bue's order sent Williams back onto the field and reinstated Lamar's 4-0 district record.

But the Madison victory made all that academic. Madison moved to a 4-0 district lead as Lamar dropped to 4-1. The district committee ruled that Williams, a transfer from Strake Jesuit, does not reside in Lamar's area. Against Madison, Williams completed 12 of 30 passes for 117 yards had two interceptions and was sacked seven times.

Sixteen arrested in Manila bombing

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos said Friday a Filipino woman from New York City who is married to an American was among 16 people arrested in connection with a bombing at a travel agents' convention here Oct. 19.

Marcos, who has decreed the death penalty as punishment for terrorist acts, promised more arrests to break a reputed conspiracy aimed at toppling his eight-year-old martial law government.

He identified the woman as Doris N. Baffrey, but withheld the names of the others saying more arrests were still to be made. It was not immediately known if Mrs. Baffrey is an American citizen.

The bombing at the American Society of Travel Agents congress here injured 18 people and forced cancellation of the meeting attended by 5,000 people. It was the latest in a spate of bombings that have rocked the Philippines, killed one American woman and injured scores of people.

In a presidential press release based on an interview with local reporters, Marcos said Mrs. Baffrey was an employee of the Philippine Tourism office in New York and the wife of an American he did not name.

When asked if Mrs. Baffrey's husband was in the Philippines, Marcos said, "Let us not talk about her husband."

He said Mrs. Baffrey came to the Philippines as a convention participant and alleged she was linked with anti-Marcos elements in the United States who initially recruited her as a courier.

Marcos said Mrs. Baffrey "tearfully confessed" her role in the bombing at the travel agents' meeting and said she thought the bomb was "just an oversized firecracker and that nobody would get hurt."

Oldest emigrant coming to U.S.

MOSCOW (AP) — An 111-year-old Soviet Armenian woman picked up her U.S. entry visa Friday at the American Embassy in Moscow, diplomats said, the oldest emigre of that nationality on record.

Khatun Karapetyan, whose maroon-colored Soviet passport lists her birthdate as March 12, 1869, is departing with three other family members Nov. 16 to join her daughter in Montebello, Calif.

"I am excited because at my age I want to see my daughter again before I die," said the tiny, gray-haired woman, who was born in Turkey and came to the Soviet Union in 1946.

Informed by a Turkish-speaking interpreter that winter weather is mild in Southern California, Mrs. Karapetyan smiled and said, "If that's the case, then I'll probably live longer."

She attributes her long life to avoiding smoking and alcohol. She uses a black cane because of a broken right leg suffered in a fall last year.

Mrs. Karapetyan, her 50-year-old son Karapet, daughter-in-law Lena, 40, and nine-year-old granddaughter Narine raised their right hands in the U.S. Consular office to swear that information on their emigration papers was correct.

Granting of the U.S. entry visa to the Karapetyans came more than two years after they first submitted emigration requests to Soviet authorities in Yerevan, capital of Soviet Armenia, the U.S. Embassy said.

They qualified for Soviet exit visas after presenting an invitation from a "close blood relative," Mrs. Karapetyan's daughter Mariam who emigrated four years ago.

A U.S. Consular official said about 7,000 Soviet Armenians are departing for the United States this year, the second largest group of emigrants behind Jews granted permission to go to Israel. "Almost all the Armenians go to the Los Angeles area to join family members already living there," the official said.

Mrs. Karapetyan's documents show she was born in Adana, Turkey, moved to Greece in 1915 and joined other members of her nationality in Soviet Armenia in 1946.

Her husband and six of her nine children have already died.

Another daughter is remaining in Yerevan. The family's exit visas authorize them to depart the Soviet Union after Nov. 14. They have airline reservations for Nov. 16 to take them to the U.S. refugee center in Rome, and are expected to reach Los Angeles about Nov. 24.

Shooting at school kills one student

HUEYTOWN, Ala. (AP) — An apparently innocent remark while comparing photographs led to a classroom shooting that left one student wounded and another dead Friday, according to Jefferson County school officials.

A group of students in the art room at Hueytown High School were comparing photographs of themselves when the shooting erupted, said spokeswoman Nez Calhoun.

She said it appeared the incident was touched off by an innocent remark about whose picture was better.

Miss Calhoun said Rudy Farmer, 17, pulled a .22-caliber pistol and shot 17-year-old Walter Lewis in the face.

me and bothering me and bothering me every day."

Marcos, who was at the convention but was unhurt, said other bombs were confiscated during the arrests and that other suspects were linked to previous terrorist bombings.

A group called the April 6 Liberation Movement has claimed many of the attacks, including the convention bombing, and says its goal is the end of Marcos' martial law rule.

The group takes its name from a "noise campaign" organized by Marcos' opponents on the eve of parliamentary elections April 6, 1978.

Marcos has charged that terrorists here receive financial backing and leadership from U.S.-based Filipino dissidents, and said Friday he would produce evidence proving the claim.

"I want to know what the American government will do, considering the seriousness of the conspiracy which was concocted on American soil," Marcos said.

He gave no details on the arrest of Mrs. Baffrey and the others but said the government has located alleged terrorists' "safehouses" and seized their explosives, most of which had come from the United States.

Marcos earlier ordered the arrest of 30 people, including former politicians, in connection with the ongoing terrorism. All but two are apparently living in exile in the United States and only former Sen. Jovito Salonga, who denies having anything to do with the bombings, was arrested.

Solar plane test success

SIMI VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — A runway "taxi test" of a scientist's latest solar-powered plane, the Solar Challenger, was successful except for a flutter in the propeller, officials said Friday.

And if all goes well, the plane will be ready for a high-altitude 100-mile flight by mid-November, said spokesman Ray Morgan.

The ground test was conducted Thursday along a runway in Simi Valley, 30 miles northwest of Los Angeles.

Problems with the propeller should be corrected over the weekend so that the Solar Challenger can be flight-tested next week near Shafter in Kern County, Morgan said.

"The air frame was very good and the controls were very responsive," Morgan said of Thursday's tests.

The Solar Challenger, designed by scientist Paul MacCready of Pasadena, is a one-person plane like the Solar Penguin, which carried a 95-pound schoolteacher on a bouncy, 15-minute ride for two miles along a desert stream bed at Edwards Air Force Base in August, said Morgan.

The difference is the distance and altitude the planes are designed to achieve. The Solar Challenger, with up to 30,000 photovoltaic cells on top of its 47-foot wingspan, is designed to fly at altitudes of 5,000 to 10,000 feet for up to 100 miles. The Penguin, which carries a rack of solar cells above it like an umbrella, once got 12 feet off the ground.
