SALT II 'dead', says Sen. Percy

MOSCOW (AP) — Sen. Charles Percy, the first top U. S. political figure to meet with President Leonoid I. Brezhnev in 16 months, said Friday he believes he convinced Kremlin leaders the SALT II treaty is "dead as a doornail." He said he expects talks to open soon on the possibility of rewriting the arms pact.

The Illinois Republican, expected to head the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in the new Congress, would not disclose what the top Soviet leaders said in three days of talks that also touched on the Afghanistan and Polish situations.

Percy, the first American leader to hold talks with Brezhnev since Senate majority leader Robert C. Byrd conferred with him on July 4, 1979, said he would brief Republican Presidentelect Ronald Reagan before publicly giving details of the meetings.

Percy's visit was originally billed as a "private" trip and he arrived in Moscow without any Kremlin commitment to meet him. It turned out to be the first high-level contact between the Soviet leadership and Republicans since the party won the White House and control of the U.S. Senate in the November elections.

Percy was also interviewed on Soviet television.

"I would be surprised if both sides would not agree to sit down and talk at an early date about arms control, leading to possibly negotiations for an arms control agreement," Percy told

'I do believe that they are now convinced after nine hours of discussions at the highest levels that there must be a new treaty," he said. In Santa Monica, Calif., Reagan said he was encouraged by what appeared to be positive signals from Moscow on the arms control issue. "I've said all along I would be willing to talk legitimate arms limitation and I'm glad to get a response," he said.

Percy offered no specific evidence the Soviets had budged from their insistence that SALT II be ratified in its present form, or on any other foreign policy positions.

But the level and length of the meetings, and the attendance at a session of Nikolai Ogarkov, the Soviet armed forces chief of staff and top disarmament negotiator, indicated the importance the Kremlin ascribed to high level contact with the incoming Republicans.

"I think they will agree very quickly on the need for an arms control agreement that will be meaningful, effective and hopefully that will have both ceilings and also reductions," Percy said.

He met for almost three hours with Brezhnev and Defense Minister Dmitri Ustinov and four hours with Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Both Percy and the Soviet news agency Tass said Brezhnev stressed the dangers of a "stagnation" in the arms control process.

The SALT II treaty was signed by Brezhnev and President Carter in June 1979, but almost immediately came under sharp criticism in the Senate, After Soviet troops moved into Afghanistan in December, Carter indefinitely postponed attempts to get the pact ratified by the Senate.

Percy said he also tried to convince the Soviets Reagan is not a "warmonger " and in fact welcomes many provisions of the treaty.

The others, he said he told the Soviets, should be tackled "one by one," and toward this end he predicted informal contacts would open

In an interview on the national Soviet television news program "Vre-mya," Percy assured the Russians that Reagan has shown a desire "to make arms control a matter of high

The veteran senator said other sensitive matters were discussed as he tried to impress on the Russians the importance of "creating an atmosphere conducive to ratification."

He said the start of a Soviet withdrawal of troops from Afghanistan "would help" create this atmosphere.

The senator said he took a tough stance on Poland, telling the Kremlin leaders that any use of Soviet Force there would prompt a "catastrophic"

"The use of force, of massive troops in Poland would change the face of the globe," he said. "It would call for an armament buildup the likes of which we have not seen since World Touching on the Persian Guif, Percy said he "clarified" to the So-viets that Americans would consider any attempt to interfere with the flow of oil to the West as a "threat to our national security."

The senator described the 74-yearold Brezhnev as "robust, healthy looking, vigorous and very, very much aware of the necessity now to find a basis of accord with the Reagan administration."

Percy said that while he told the Soviets SALT II was unratifiable in its present state, he also told them two treaties still pending ratific tion — 1974 and 1976 pacts on under ground nuclear explosions — could now pass the Senate if put forward by Percy leaves Saturday for Brussels, where he said he will meet with Gen. Bernard W. Rogers, the supreme allied commander in Europe.

DPS unaware wounded deputy in suspect's car

By KAY CRITES Staff Writer

ODESSA - An Ector County Sheriff's deputy was shot by a Department of Public Safety trooper Thursday night after the deputy slipped - unknown to other officers - into a car involved in a high-speed chase. Deputy Cliff Davis was listed in stable condition Friday afternoon in Odessa Medical Center with shotgun wounds in the chest, buttocks, knee

In a Friday afternoon press conference here to explain the shooting, Ector County Chief Deputy Ollie Carnes said DPS troopers and sheriff's deputies began pursuing the vehicle on U.S. Highway 385 about 11: 20 p.m. after a citizen had reported a drunken driver.

Officers chased the car at speeds of 80 to 90 mph.

One deputy reported he saw a woman passenger in the car trying to climb out a window and "it was believed to be a rape or kidnap situation," said DPS Sgt. Keith Morris.

The car, which was originally headed north, turned around several times and led officers back and forth on the highway. Just past State Highway 158, the car crossed the median and started back towards Odessa and officers "nudged" the car into a bar ditch and managed to stop it, said Sheriff's Office Criminal Investigation Capt. Gene Kloss

A woman jumped out of the car and escaped. Officers later determined that the woman had not been kidnapped or raped but was trying to convince the driver, later identified as 18-year-old Keith Lee Wilson, to stop the car.

It was when the vehicle was nudged into the bar ditch and stopped that Deputy Cliff Davis slipped, undetected by the driver or other officers, into

"No one knows how he got in there. Even our officers just a few feet away didn't see him, but they were on the driver's side of the car. Kloss said. Davis apparently slipped into the car on the passenger's side.

Wilson then "took off" again and tried to ram some of the Sheriff's Office patrol cars, according to Chief Deputy Carnes. DPS and sheriff's officers again joined in pursuit and about 1/4 of a mile down the highway shot out the vehicle's tires, forcing it to stop.

"Meanwhile, Cliff Davis and him

(the driver) had been struggling in the car," said Kloss, "and Davis forced him to turn the wheel and go into a bar ditch." As a DPS officer approached the stopped vehicle Davis apparently was struggling with Wilson, trying to pull him out of the vehicle. The DPS officer shot through the car door, wounding Davis. Carnes added, "No one knew Davis didn't know an officer was anywhere near the vehicle. And, remember, it was pitch dark out there.'

was there, so when the trooper shot he Carnes said the trooper was about 30 to 40 yards from Wilson's vehicle when he fired.

Wilson, 18, was arrested and charged with evading arrest. Bond was set Friday at $1,000, and he was released on bond.

The incident is still under investigation by the Highway Patrol, Ector County Sheriff's Office and Texas Rangers, Carnes said.

Militants deny hostage transfer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said Friday it had no new information concerning the whereabouts of the American hostages in Iran. But a spokesman said any transfer of the hostages from the Islam-ic students to the Iranian government negotiating their re-lease would be a positive step. The declaration, by State by telephone from Beirut, one of the militants at the U.S.Embassy in Tehran denied the reports. "We have not delivered the hostages to the government yet, and when we do we will issue a statement announcing it," said the militant, who refused to identify himself. Iran's official news agency Pars also said it could not confirm reports by two American television networks that the captives had been transferred to government custody. The militants have held 49 hostages while three others have been held at the Foreign Ministry.

"We have not had any report on the hostages transfer," said the day shift deskman at Pars' Tehran offices, who was also reached by telephone from Beirut. The staffer said the agency could not get in touch with Iran's Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rajai for a statement on the hostages because Rajai was in the Hamadan Province near the war front with Iraq in western Iran.

The question of the hostages' status arose as U.S. diplomats prepared a response to the latest communication from Iran concerning conditions for the captives' release.

Three Algerian intermediaries, carrying requests from Tehran for clarification of the U.S. position, concluded two days of talks with administration officials here Thursday. "We are now working on our next steps in the process," Trattner said Friday, adding it would probably take "several days" for the United States to formulate a response to the Iranian Iran's Majlis, or Parliament, stated its demands for release of the hostages Nov. 2. They are: return of the wealth of the late Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, dismissmal of U.S. legal claims against Iran, a pledge of non-interference in Iranian affairs and release of more than $8 billion in frozen Iranian assets in this country.

Administration officials have told Iran that, under U.S. law, they cannot fully comply with the first two demands, and Iran's request for clarification presumably deals with those two areas

Spring-like weather back

The wintery weather Midland saw Tuesday and Wednesday has eased into spring-like sunshine for the next few days with temperatures today expected to reach the mid-60s.

Sunday's high should be near 70, according to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport. ds will be a slight 5-10 mph from the south all weekend long.

On Friday the mercury started to climb again as the high temperature reached 65 degrees. Not much of a heat wave when compared to the rec-ord high for the date of 85 degrees set in 1949. But Friday's high was a wel-come relief to the chilling tempera-tures of the early week.

The low Friday morning was 26 degrees — 11 degrees warmer than the 1976-record low of 15.

Observers said the session probably will discuss ways for the party to regain the initiative in the liberalization process that is sweeping Poland and gave birth to the first independent trade unions in the Soviet bloc after a summer of crippling strikes.

It will be the first plenary session since early October. The 5th plenum Sept. 5 chose Stanislaw Kania as party leader to replace Edward Gierek, a victim of the labor troubles sparked by cancellation of government food subsidies.

The largest independent trade union, Solidarity, called off a strike readiness alert at Warsaw-area plants Friday after workers at a steel mill heeded an appeal by union leader Lech Walesa and ended their strike.

Walesa, clearly upset over the labor movement's frequent use of strikes and their use in support of political demands, told a rally of 10,000 work-ers "rockets and tanks" could be the Workers at Huta Warszawa began returning to their jobs at 6 a.m., some three hours after they agreed to end the strike during a series of meetings at the plant and deliberations with senior government officials.

Walesa, who led the August strikes along the Polish coast in which the independent labor movement was born, flew to Warsaw from Gdansk to take part in deliberations.

"The situation now is very tense," he told workers assembled after mid-night in the mill auditorium. "And I feel awkward for giving promises to the government that we will fight only for the union. Some of the demands are now political."

Walesa reminded workers that the government could send in troops or police to operate factories and rail service in an emergency.

"She must have been going 80 right smack through everybody." recalled another witness, Patty McClain of Hayward, Calif.

"She came right at us. She came right at us with a body still on the hood of the car and she looked like she was looking for somebody else to hit," said Marty Edmundson of Reno.

Reno suspect mysterious says former neighbors

JACKMAN, Maine (AP) — Priscilla J. Ford arrived in this Canadian bordertown last spring in a blue Lincoln, a stranger who described herself as a writer and kept referring to a daughter who was "stolen" from her sometime in her mysterious past.

Ms. Ford stayed about a month, keeping mostly to herself, sometimes talking about settling in the area and finding a job.

But Ms. Ford, 51, left Jackman in June, moving to Bangor where she rented a three-room apartment. She left Bangor two or three weeks ago and eventually wound up in Reno, Nev., where she was arrested Thanksgiving Day on five counts of murder.

Ms. Ford was accused of driving her car at high speed down a crowded Reno sidewalk, killing five people and injuring 27 others.
"She's a strange person. She never caused any trouble, and she never bothered a soul," said Arline Robinson, who occasionally chatted with her neighbor, Ms. Ford, in the Bangor apartment building.

Mrs. Robinson said Ms. Ford asked her to read her autobiography, a 200- to 300-page handwritten journal in which she told about state mental hospitals and about a daughter who was taken from her custody by the state. "Apparently it was her whole life story," said Mrs.

The journal was laden with religious allusions, and told of Ms. Ford's travels from one city to another, Mrs. Robinson recalled. "For a while she lived in Chicago, she lived in Philadelphia, she lived in the South, she lived in the West. She didn't stay in any one place very long."

During her stay in Jackman, Ms. Ford spent most of her time in motel rooms writing. She is known to have visited the Social Security office in Waterville, where she arranged to have her address updated, town

"It was very mysterious. She came here, and she said she was a writer, but she was very vague about it. Everybody in town wondered what she was doing here," said Patricia Thomas, owner of Briarwood Mountain Lodge, where Ms. Ford stayed for a week.

While in Jackman, Ms. Ford registered the 1974 Lincoln, which she had purchased in Portland, according to Town Manager Elsie Crawford.

Ms. Ford spent two weeks at the Jackman Motel, where owner Irene Gagne found her constantly depressed and tried to cheer her up. "I would tell her, 'why don't you erase the past and start out fresh again'," Mrs. Gagne recalled. "I tried to get to know her - she seemed like a very nice woman. But I could never get the real story behind her," she said.

She was writing all the time, up in her room," said Mrs. Gagne. She said Ms. Ford told her she had been married several times and had four children - a son in the armed service, a son and daughter in Los Angeles and the daughter who she claimed had been "kidnapped."

Tension grows between neighbors Syria, Jordan

By NICOLAS B. TATRO Associated Press Writer

RAMTHA, Jordan (AP) - Jordan's King Hussein has deployed scores of tanks and heavy weaponry near the border with Syria in response to a buildup of Syrian troops and armor in recent days

Tension between the two Arab neighbors arose as a result of the Iran-Iraq war and Syrian accusations that Jordan was aiding Islamic fundamentalists who seek to overthrow established Arab governments.

Jordan supports Arab Iraq in the war with non-Arab Iran. Syria blames Iraq for starting the war, which it claims is diverting attention from the Arab-Israeli conflict.

"There has been no shooting," said a police superintendent at this border post about six miles north of the front line of Jordan's armored force concentrated along the Damascus-Amman Highway. There have been unconfirmed reports of several incidents and of Syrian aircraft crossing into Jordanian

Sources have said Syria began a buildup Nov. 20 during a conference of Arab foreign ministers prior to the Arab League summit meeting here.

The reports said the buildup was centered at Deraa, three miles north of the Jordanian border across from

Despite the growing confrontation, the police superintendent said, "We treat the Syrians better than anyone. They are preferred visitors." The Jordanian-Syrian border remained open and cars and trucks could be seen crossing in both directions without delay. Police refused to say if traffic was less than usual as a result of the border tensions. About four miles south of Ramtha, the frontline of the Jordanian armor was visible, but there was no evidence of troop deployments. British-made Chieftan tanks, their guns pointed on rocky, treeless hills behind freshly dug earthen entrenchments. Artillery emplacements, scout cars and armored personnel carriers were deployed in a v-shaped line on either side of a crossroad, some dotting hill tops and others in the middle of farm

The Syrian forces could not be seen from the border post but sources said the first armored division with 400 tanks was stationed in southern Syria, across a line of border hills. King Hussein told a news conference at the end of the three-day Arab summit Thursday that Jordan would do its "utmost" to repel the Syrian forces should they cross the border. "I can't speculate on what is likely to happen on our border with Syria, the 46-year-old monarch said. "They say we interfered in their domestic affairs. That's not true."

Syria has a vastly larger military force than Jordan but President Hafez Assad's troops are spread thin with peacekeeping contingents in Lebanon, facing Israel on the Golan Heights and along the border with Jordan's army, about 70,000 men backed by 600 tanks and 60 combat aircraft, is rated as one of the besttrained Arab armies. Syria has a 250,000-man army with 3,000 tanks and 400 combat planes.

"If they venture as much as one inch into our land, they will be unforgettably beaten," vowed one Jordanian official, who asked not to be identi-

Despite the strong words, most observers here see the buildup on both sides of the border as saber rattling and say it is unlikely to develop into a shooting war.

Instead, the analysts said Syria appears to be trying to pressure Jordan not to become further involved in Iraq's war against Iran. The analysts also said Syria, which recently signed a 20-year friendship pact with the Soviet Union, seeks to. demonstrate to other Arab leaders that it is a power to be reckoned

In Washington, State Department spokesman John Trattner said the Carter administration regards Jordan "as a friend whose security is important to us."

Later in Los Angeles, he was asked as he left a barbershop whether he had telephoned any prospective Cabinet members. "Nope," he replied.

He said he had some "firm leanings" toward several possible appointees but was still open to discussing them with close advisers.

CBS News, meanwhile, quoted unidentified sources as saying that once Reagan decides on his entire Cabinet. he will take the unusual step of asking the Senate to hold confirmation hearings prior to his being sworn in Jan. 20. The report said the idea was proposed by Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., who will be the Senate majority leader in the new Congress. El Salvador bloodbath continues Salvador (AP) — Every-one in El Salvador, a tiny Central American nation of 4.8 million, has lost a family member, friend or acquaintance killed with a bullet, baseball bat, machete or bomb. Every night there are wakes for victims of the leftist-rightist battle for political power.

More than 8,000 bulletriddled or bludgeoned bodies have been found in shallow graves or along roadsides or in cars here this year, human rights officials say. That figure is 6,000 more than all the 11 years of sectarian fighting in Northern Ireland. Clayton wants trust fund for state water development

AUSTIN - Speaker Bill Clayton Friday called for creation of a "trust fund" using surplus state revenues to finance water development projects

Clayton, speaking to a pre-session legislative workshop at The University of Texas, said he is not proposing tying the fund to any particular tax, but noted that a similar fund had been created for the Canadian province of Alberta using oil and gas revenues.

However, the announcement said that paratroopers may buy berets before they are officially issued.

Nearly two years ago, Gen. Bernard Rogers, then Army chief of staff, banned the wearing of such berets by the airborne forces, along with other attention-getting headgear such as cowboy-type hats adopted by some Paratroopers and tradition-conscious veterans of airborne service never became reconciled to Rogers' order and have campaigned since 1978 to have it rescinded.

Last September Meyer, who had succeeded Rogers, told a news conference that he was taking a new look at the beret question as part of a multi-faceted program to buck up Army morale and troop pride.

At the time, Meyer indicated that he was leaning toward the idea of authorizing black berets for all 772,-

His new order stops well short of that, but officers hinted that the matter is still under study and that more changes are in the wind.

Meanwhile, the announcement said that the Army Special Forces will continue to wear their distinctive green berets and Rangers black berets, as was allowed by Rogers.

The maroon beret may be worn in place of the standard baseball-type headgear or overseas and service caps that are now in use, the announcement said.

Annoying, isn't it? We who love to think of ourselves as FREE are always being asked to conform. And if we show our spirit of independence by ignoring some stuffy convention — the shock wave registers on society's seismograph like an earthquake. Despite manners and customs shouldn't each of us be making his own decisions? Important decisions - moral and spiritual, should never be based on conformity. They must express our faith, always keeping God's purposes in focus. Every one of us is free to search the Bible's truth. In God's Word we find foundations on which to build our lives. In His promises we discover our hope and destiny.

Dress: formal

Decisions we base on the Bible's truth today will be an influence for good in society tomorrow

The West Texas Pastoral Counseling Center has recently moved into its new facility at 202 Pilot Road, Terminal. The 4,000 square foot building and 1½ acres of land were the gifts of an anonymous donor.

On Dec. 15 the center will conclude seven years of service in the West Texas area. The center is a non-profit counseling service supported by fees, church contributions and donations from individuals and foundations. It serves as a mission ministry of the area churches.

Staff members include Dr. Ray Bristol, executive director; the Rev. John Winham, associate director;

Brag on the Lord

Oh, don't worry, I wouldn't dare say that I am as wonderful as these other men who tell you how good they are! Their trouble is that they are only comparing themselves with each other, and measuring themselves against their own little ideas. What stupidity!

But we will not boast of authority we do not have. Our goal is to measure up to God's plan for us, and this plan includes our working there with you.

We are not going too far when we claim authority over you, for we were the first to come to you with the Good News

It is not as though we were trying to claim credit for the work someone else has done among you. Instead, we hope that your faith will grow and that, still within the limits set for us, our work among you will be greatly enlarged.

After that, we will be able to preach the Good News to other cities that are far beyond you, where no one clse is working; then there will be no question about being in someone

As the Scriptures say, "If anyone is going to boast, let him boast about what the Lord has done and not about himself."

When someone boasts about himself and how well he has done, it doesn't count for much. But when the Lord commends him, that's different!

Church leaders send good wishes, prayers to Reagan

By GEORGE W. CORNELL AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Leaders of mainline churches have sent congratulations to President-elect Ronald Reagan, assuring him of good wishes and prayers for the incoming administration, but some indicate uneasiness about its direct-less hopeful comments about the prospects. No one can "pretend to know what the future will hold," says the Rev. William Howard, president of the National Council of Churches, which includes most major Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations. But he told its governing board: "There is no doubt that many of those who have come to political power now have taken stands on critical domestic and global issues that are at opposite poles to those this council has taken.'

However, in a message to Reagan, Howard and council general secretary, Claire Randall said "we offer you best wishes and assurance of our prayers as you prepare to undertake the heavy burdens of the presidency. "We stand ready to work with you and your administratio in any way we Similar words went to him from the U.S. Catholic Conference, extending its congratulations and noting the "many critical problems, domestic and international, which our nation faces at this time.'

However, a meeting of U.S. Catholic bishops this month, while expecting compatability with the new administration on such matters as efforts to ban

"Perhaps the blame ought not to be placed on all the vigor of the right but maybe on the weakness of the 'saints' who somehow in their faltering leadership could not quite gain the confidence of the populace."

The United Church of Christ's Board for World Ministries sent Reagan a statement of support, but pleaded for a "clear, firm, visible commitment to reduce the proportion of the world's wealth which our country and others squander on military rivalries.

Equally outstanding leadership is needed to persuade our own society and others to cooperate in helping to raise the living standard of billions of persons who lack essential food, medical care and educaton.

'We urge you to increase our government's support for human rights and democratic freedoms in all lands.

Similarly, the United Methodist General Council on Ministries urged Reagan to be "president of all the people, giving special caring concern for the millions of Americans who may be left out.

We think of the poor, of the black, Hispanic, native and Asian Americans, of many women, of senior citizens and of the millions who live in our cities."

RELIGION IN BRIEF

Plans implemented to add programming

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Immediate plans to increase Seventh-day Adventist programming on radio stations worldwide are being inplemented with $200,000 set aside for the endeavor.

A recommendation under consideration at this year's Fall Council in session at Washington, D.C., includes exploration for denominationallyowned satellite possibilities plus buying time whenever and wherever

A report by the communication department stated that programs produced by Adventist World Radio are heard in 10 languages throughout Asia and 19 languages across Europe.

Negotiations to air Adventist programs in the Far East are in progress. Two areas high on the denomination's priority list, where nothing is being aired now, are Africa and China.

Besides the $200,000 set aside by the denomination's world office, another $100,000 is expected to come from donations. Midland's Seventhday Adventists support this program as well as all programs initiated by the world office.

In reply, the Vatican announced that these would be accepted into the Catholic Church if they fully accept the authority of the pope and bishops and other Roman Catholic doctrines. "Ecumenically, it's a very delicate thing," said Msgr. John R. Portman. ecumenical officer for the San Diego, Calif., Roman Catholic Diocese. There were two significant things about the Vatican announcement. The first is that it permits married, former Episcopalian clergy to function as priests after reordination by a Catholic bishop. The second is that it allows former Episcopalians or "Anglicans" who join the church to retain a "common identity" by keeping some form of the Anglican liturgy. Some saw these as a first step toward the institution of a married priesthood in the Western, or Roman or Latin, rite of the Catholic Church (Eastern or Byzantine rite churches already permit married priests). Church spokesmen quickly denied this as a likely possibility, however.

Others wondered whether admission of married Anglican clergy would necessitate creation of a sepa-

However, without such a self-perpetuating, separate rite, it was almost as if the Vatican were saying that once newly admitted former Episcopal priests die off, that would be the end of it.

The existence of married priests within the Roman rite would not be without precedent, however, since several married priests at present hold dual memberships in both Eastern and Western rites, Portman

'People expect a religious document, and they want to know why it is not more religious," said the Rev. Doug Manning of Hereford, author of "Don't Take My Grief Away From Me."

Manning, who is also a counselor, wrote the book after attending a series of grief seminars.

He said he views the book as religious, but not because of its content. "Maybe it's religious because it tries to help people. To me, that's the most religious act we can do," he said. His book says unresolved grief has led to many of the nation's social problems. "When troubled lives are explored, it seems they can be traced back to grief or trauma which was not dealt with and therefore, not resolved," he said. PARIS (AP) — The guillotine, France's official instrument of execution for nearly two centuries and once called the "national razor," is making headlines again and at the center of a European debate over capital punishment.

"The comeback of the guillotine," bannered the leftist French newspaper Liberation recently. "The eternal debate has been sparked again," headlined the mass circulation France-Soir.

Since October, three convicted killers have been entenced to die at the guillotine in France. If their appeals fail, the beheading of the three young men will be the first in France since 1977.

President Valery Giscard d'Estaing, who opposed the death penalty in his 1974 presidential campaign, has reprieved four condemned murderers since taking office but allowed three others to die.

The European Parliament, the directly-elected advisory branch of the nine-member Common Market, on Friday overwhelmingly approved a resolu-

Arkansas will be trying to get back on the winning track and create some momentum for its Dec. 27 bowl game when the Razorbacks entertain Texas Tech Saturday in a Southwest Conference football game

The Razorbacks' 31-7 loss to Southern Methodist last weekend was their fourth setback in their past five games, and Arkansas needs a victory over Tech to take a 6-5 record into the Hall of Fame Bowl against Tulane.

In one of three SWC games which wrap up the 1980 regular-season schedule, Arkansas is a one-touchdown favorite at Little Rock.

IN OTHER games, Houston is an 18-point favorite to beat Rice in the Astrodome on regional TV, and Texas is a 12-point pick over Texas A&M at Memorial Stadium in Austin.

Houston, which will play in the Garden State Bowl against Navy, has clinched a tie for second place in the SWC and can wrap up undisputed possession by beating Rice. Texas is headed for the Bluebonnet Bowl against North Carolina. 'No matter what the record of either team is, it will be a game where the two teams will compete," said Aggie head coach Tom Wilson.

Wilson said his team will stay with its new split back offense. He junked the I-formation last week, and the TEXAS TECH head coach Rex Dockery pointed out his team, like Arkansas, can finish with a 6-5 record with a win.

"The goal of any football team is to have a winning season, so it's a safe bet both Texas Tech and Arkansas will be anxious to play," Dockery

Houston will be trying to beat Rice for the fifth time in as many years since joining the conference. But Rice also has incentive. The Owls - who upset LSU, Texas A&M and Arkansas - can have its first .500 season in five years with a win.

The game is Rice's first on network television in eight years. The Owls, who haven't finished above .500 since 1963, made their last regional TV appearance on Oct. 21, 1972, against SMU in Dallas

"Excited? I can tell you we're ex cited," Rice coach Ray Alborn said. "It's just another sign of the progress our program is making."

He added, "A win would cap quite a season for us. Not many folks folks thought we would win a game. We're getting a lot of response on the re-

Pack joins El Paso teams in semifinals

Sports Writer

Herb Johnson and Horace Brown paced the Midland Bulldogs to a ragged 72-65 victory over the El Paso Burges Mustangs Friday night in the opening round of the 14th annual Tall City Invitational Basketball Tournament at the Chaparral Center on the Midland College campus.

Midland joins three El Paso teams into today's semifinals. Eastwood, Irvin and Bel Air, all Border City entries, took victories too.

BEL AIR'S HIGHLANDERS took a 63-58 victory over the hustling Midland Lee Rebels while Irvin downed the Odessa Ector Eagles, 74-69 and Eastwood, the defending tourney champion, took a 59-55 victory over Amarillo Tascosa.

Johnson, the talented 6-foot-9 senior center, dumped in 27 points and Brown, a 6-5 senior, added 23 more as Coach Jack Stephenson's Bulldogs racked up their fourth win of the season against no losses and a shot at Eastwood at 2: 30 p.m. today in one of the semifinal bouts. In the other semifinal battle, Irvin and Bel Air square off at 1 p.m.

JOHNSON AND BROWN were the only Midland players in the double figures while the Mustangs were led by Nate Rogers and Brian Stafford with 15 points each. Teammates Tom Shukitt and Blake Goodwin followed with 13 and 11 points for Burges which is now 3-1 on the year with the loss.

Burges hit 29 of 40 free throws to stay in the game, but Midland held 10 point leads late in the final period before some shabby ball handling gave the Mustangs some unanswered points.

The Bulldogs cashed in on 18 of 27 charity tosses with Jim Gunnels waxing hot, hitting seven out of eight from the free throw line.

The Mustangs took a 16-15 lead at the end of the first period and it was 34-28 in favor of Stephenson's crew at halftime and 51-38 going into the final eight minutes of action.

Paul Stueckler's Lee Rebels almost pulled out a victory over Bel Air. With the score 59-58 in favor of the Highlanders, Randy Pepper hit a free throw for Lee that apparently tied the score, 59-all, but a double violation in the free throw lane wiped out the point and gave the ball to the El Paso team. Bel Air went on to take the win with Frank Dean, Phil Larkin and Tony Castaneda paving the way with 14, 12 and 12 points, respectively.

LEE, NOW 2-3 on the year, was sparked by Alvin Dunson's 13 points along with 12 points by Darius Berry and 10 more by Olen Smith. The win evens Bel Air's record at 2-2 going into its semifinal game with Irvin this afternoon

Bel Air jumped to a 17-10 first period lead, mainly on the shooting of Larkin and Ernie Lara and it was 36-29 at intermission in favor of the Highlanders. Bel Air took a 53-45 lead into the final period where Stueckler's outfit outscored the winners, 13-10, but it fell five points short.

Lee faces Odessa Ector at 11:30 a.m. today in a loser's bracket game. while Burges (3-1) and Tascosa (0-3), square off in the other loser's bracket contest at 10 a.m.

Ector's Kevin Butler, a 6-5 junior jumping jack, poured in 24 points in a losing cause to Irvin's Rockets. Tony Gamble chipped in with 19 and Charles Ricks 16 more as the Eagles were dropping to 2-3 on the year.

Jim Tachibana ripped the cords for 22 points while teammates David McDowell and Greg Martch chipped in with 19 and 14 more to give the Rockets a 2-2 season reading.

In the opening game of the tourney, Tascosa caught fire in the final period to outscore Eastwood's Troopers, 24-11, but it was too late for the Panhandle team.

Eastwood only had one player in the double figures and that was Rick Clark with 19 markers while Marvin Jones, another leaper, flipped in 22 for the Rebels. Pat Farrell added 13 more for Tascosa.

The finals today are set for 9 p.m. with the third place game at 7:30 p.m.; consolation finals at 6 p.m. and the seventh place game at 4 p.m.

The cliche about Nolan Nell Cromwell is, "He's the best athlete on the Rams, maybe in the league." It's the first thing anybody says about the Rams' free safety. They don't say he's "blue-eyed" or "6-1" or "fast." They say "Nolan Cromwell, best athlete." You get a picture of Nolan Cromwell intercepting a pass in a game, then going to the sidelines to match long drives with Jack Nicklaus, or going to bat against Steve Carlton, going one-on-one with Magic Johnson, or racing a horse, doing pole vaults or, between the halves, swimming to Catalina. Stone said.

THE LEGENDS grow the farther you get from the Ram practice field. Nolan Cromwell used to outrun rabbits in his hometown in the prairies. He once jumped the Missouri River at Kansas City. From a standing start. Noian Cromwell used to run home from school every day -- a distance of 26 miles, 385 yards. Nolan Cromwell never bowled under 300 in his life. Nolan Cromwell birdied 18 straight ends of the court. Puntus Wilson picked up three fouls in the first half holes in a state amateur once. Nolan Cromwell could eagle Rhode Island. Nolan Cromwell was so fast as a pitcher, they thought he was Nolan Ryan. Nolan Cromwell was so fast as a college quarterback, he used to catch his own passes. Nolan Cromwell encountered a great white shark skindiving one time - and ate him. And so

The facts are heroic enough. In the first place, Nolan Cromwell is not 7-3 or 280 pounds. He does not look like something that was roped and broken. He looks like a guy who might be called "Fast Eddie" in a pool hall. He looks - well, Ready, if you know what I mean. He doesn't look like a guy who would ever be taken by surprise. Or would even pick the wrong shell at a carnival. There is no hay sticking out of Nolan Cromwell's ears despite his humble rural beginnings.

Nolan Cromwell is, for sure, the best athlete ever to come out of Ransom, Kansas. That's just a couple of hundred miles due west of Salina, and has a population of 387, unless it's exploded since Nolan was growing up there. If you ask folks there what position Nolan played on the football team, they'll tell you "Nolan (ital) was (unital) the football team.

YOU CUT away the frontier myth and you find that Nolan Cromwell was a two-way high school football player, he was a pitcher and shortstop in baseball. But he never beat up the town bully or saved the banker's daughter from drowning or ran the Dalton Gang out of town. But every school in the Big 8 was after him, which tells you something. He chose Kansas because he wouldn't have to concentrate solely on football but could run track

He was a world class intermediate hurdler in track. In fact, he got all the way to the finals in the Olympic Trials in Eugene, Ore., for the Montreal Olympics. He finished sixth, not bad when you consider the winner there (and at Montreal) was the great Edwin Moses and that three of the first four finishers in the Olympic finals were Americans Nolan trailed at Eugene. Nolan's personal best in the 400-meter hurdles was just over 49 seconds, compared with Moses' world-record time of 47.64 in the Olympics. Nolan Cromwell was also a decathlete. The decathlon is the 10-event torture chamber which is really designed to find the "Best Athlete." Nolan could get the javelin just out far enough so it wouldn't stick in his toes, and the shot put looked more like he dropped it after a throw, but, when it came to running and jumping, he put up 6,806 points, not bad for a college freshman trying the event for the first time. He dropped the decathlon to play football, which just might have been a good break for Bruce CROMWELL played safety for two years at Kansas, and then they switched him to quarterback in the wishbone offense. His team shocked Oklahoma at Norman in his junior year, 23-3. Oklahoma was a two-tothree-touchdown favorite, but not when Cromwell got through rushing for an NCAA record of 294 yards. (End 1st Take)

So, when Nolan went to the Rams, the state expected the Rams would play him both ways. That way, they would have the ball all afternoon. At the very least, they expected, if the Rams played him in the secondary, they wouldn't need anybody else, and they could have a 10-man rush, 11 if Nolan was blitzing.

The Rams had Dave Elmendorf and Bill Simpson at safety and looked set for years. They put Nolan Cromwell to holding for place kicks. It was either that or turn off the showers, and count the towels

But they put him on the special teams, too, and it was here the coaches realized that putting Nolan Cromwell onto holding footballs was like putting Caruso on a barbershop quartet or the Vienna Boys' Choir. Elmendorf and Simpson soon got the message, too, and, pretty soon Elmendorf was back in Texas in business, and Simpson was in Buffalo The league's "best athlete" was final ly his own team's best safetyman.

Back in Kansas they were unim pressed. The reaction was: "Sure takes them city slickers a long time to catch on, don't it?

Bowl-bound Middies seek service series edge

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Bowl-bound Navy takes on Army in the 81st service academy classic Saturday, and if the Midshipmen can topple the Cadets it will mark the first time since 1921 that they have held the series' edge.

Navy has been the victor in six of the last seven meetings, including routs of the Cadets in 1978 (28-0) and last year (31-7). Now, for the first time since 1923, the series is tied 37-37-6. It began in 1890 with time out for the two world wars.

Navy, which has beaten Army three times in a row, is 7-3 on the season and has a date against Houston in the Garden State Bowl on Dec. 14. Army is 2-6-1

"WE ALWAYS want to beat Navy," said Mike ahnestock, the Cadets' 6-foot-1, 174-pound split end. "That hasn't changed. But we have some extra tives this time around.

"First of all, we could make up for a lot of heartache this season with a win over the Navy. A lot of guys on this team have never played in a game ere we've beaten them.

where we've beaten them.

"But more than that, we have an awful lot of years riding on this game," said Fahnestock, a senior who holds three West Point records for pass receiving.

The Middies have a well-balanced attack out of their I-formation. The leading rushers are tailbacks Eddie Meyers, who is averaging 4.7 yards a carry, and Mike Sherlock, with a 3.8-yard average.

Senior quarterback Fred Reitzel has completed 44 percent of his passes for 770 yards and six touchdowns. A favorite target is tight end Curt Gainer.

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Jim Odle, executive director of the New Mexico Activities Association, has ruled against protests filed in connec-tion with the girls' state high school cross country championships.

Coaches from Albuquerque Manzano and Albuquerque Sandia had filed protests charging Santa Fe runners with cutting the course. It also was alleged the course was not marked properly and it was not marked soon enough to allow all the teams to walk through it before the competition.

Santa Fe won the girls' crown with 37 points, while Manzano was second with 46.

Without going to considerable expense to develop theoretical models of the atmosphere, it's impossible to be more accurate, he told a news conference.

Gilman, who has been making annual predictions for nearly a decade, insisted, however, the government forecasts are 10 percent to 15 percent more reliable than unofficial predictions from publications such as the Old Farmer's Almanac - which is betting on a mild winter with more snow than usual in the West and less than normal elsewhere - or the groundhog's shadow.

The weather forecaster said he expected cold air from Northwest Canada to sweep into the Great Lakes area, making the eastern half of the country, except Florida, colder than normal. "For home heating fuel, it means more than usual demand" in much of the region, he said.

In the West, Gilman said, there probably would be milder than normal winter weather over most of the region from the high plains of the Dakotas, through the central Rocky Mountains and to the Pacific Ocean. Conditions in a strip from the Rio Grande through most of Texas. Arizona and just east of the Rockies northward to Canada were "too close to call," he said.

Gilman added that the winter was expected to be a dry one for most of the United States with less than normal rain or snow from the Southwest, through the central Rockies, Great Plains, Midwest and on to the Northeast and New England.

DENTON, Texas (AP) - Despite the sexual revolution, and sometimes because of it, college students today know little more about human sexuality than their parents did, North Texas State University researchers say.

Dr. Susan Van Buskirk, a psychology lec-turer, and Dr. James Mrotek, biology assistant professor, say they are surprised at what students still don't know by their senior year.

"I guess we all think the kids are going to find out what they need to know somewhere else." Mrotek said. "Instead, we find that about all they know is whatever they learned in their high school phys ed film - the girls know about girls and the boys know about boys, and they all don't really know very much at all

Meat cutters strike

HOUSTON (AP) - Wednesday. The plant Striking meat cutters services Kroger superand representatives of chains reopened negotiatle a two-week old contract dispute.

Federal mediator E.D. "Bud" Kincade called the session to "try to get the bargaining started again" between United Food and Commercial Workers Local 408 and representatives of Kroger, Safeway, Weingarten's and Eagle grocery stores.

Kroger meat cutters here walked off their jobs and butchers employed by the other three chains were locked out after negotiations with the Houston Food Council broke down Nov. 17.

Union members demanding increased wages and benefits said they were dissatified with the proposed contract.

Last week, more than 5,000 cashiers, clerks and bakers employeed by the four chains voted to support the strike. Members of the Teamsters Union, who deliver goods to the stores, also agreed to onor pickets. Meat cutters at

Christmas selling season booming despite sluggish U.S. economy

By STEVEN P. ROSENFELD AP Business Writer

The Christmas selling season began Friday with some merchants reporting heavy traffic and hoping that sales will be strong despite a sluggish economy and rising interest rates.

An Associated Press survey showed many retailers expect shoppers to concentrate on practical

"The parking lot is full. We can barely walk in the aisles," said Kathy Siebert, a sales manager at an Abraham & Strauss department store in Paramus, Retailers are traditionally optimistic going into the Christmas season, but the optimism this year is tempered by the nation's economic problems and the fact that retail sales have not been strong at any time this year.

"Anyone who is expecting a banner year or a bogm isn't being realistic," said Steven Somers, president of I. Magnin, a San Francisco clothing store. He predicted a 2 percent to 3 percent sales increase over last year, after taking inflation into account. "No one is throwing their money away this year," said Janet Breiter, a spokeswoman for the Mall of New Hampshire, a shopping center in Manchester,

A good Christmas season could salvage the year for many stores, and the crowds Friday helped to improve spirits. "For retailers, it's certainly not a Black Friday," said Kay Murray, director of special events and promotions at John Wanamaker's department store in Pittsburgh.

In St. Louis, corner vendors sold fresh fruit and hot chocolate to shoppers, while carolers strolled the streets. A Santa Claus arrived at a tree-lighting ceremony at Keiner Plaza aboard a riverboat as part of a promotion to lure shoppers to downtown busin-

Weather was bad in much of the East, but Gloria Siel, marketing manager for the 70 stores in the Newington (N.H.) Mall, said, "Even with the bad year, but it will not be a good year for appliances weather, business is great. The merchants say it other than energy-related ones.

looks like peole are tired of not spending their money and they're going to spend it where and on what will give them the most value."

In Detroit, battered by the slumping auto industry, toy stores were packed. Some retailers said layaway sales, in which a customer makes a deposit on a purchase and the merchant holds the item, are running about the same as last year, but customers began the transactions earlier in the season.

Among items some stores said were selling well were sweaters, sportswear, microwave ovens, portable color televisions, wood-burning stoves, adult electronic games and educational toys.

The traditional start of the holiday buying season came amid some gloomy government reports. The Labor Department reported this week that the median weekly earnings of families, after adjusting for inflation, were down 4.2 percent in the 12 months that ended in October.

The cost of borrowing has also increased, with the prime lending rate of major banks now ranging between 17.75 percent and 18 percent. Loans to merchants and consumers are more costly, although the prime rate is not directly applied to such transac-Soaring interest rates are forcing customers to plan "a little further out in replacing that refrigerator or sofa," said Jim Grubbs, Phoenix district manager for J.C. Penney. "I think they're playing it a little closer to the belt and waiting to see if the interest rates go down." But merchants also point out that interest rate ceilings on many bank credit cards and store charge accounts are below the prime rate.

"The outlook is for very sluggish sales gains, with improvements very tough to come by," said retail analyst Monroe Greenstein of Bear, Stearns & Co. in New York

"Department stores should do better than chain stores, mainly because they deal with higher-income customers who are less affected by inflation," he said. "W)rm outer wear looks like a winner this

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Afghan radio reported series of changes Friday in the country's Sovietbacked regime, including added powers for Education and Training Minister Anahita Ratebzad, a close associate of Afghan President Babrak Karmal.

Afghan watchers had predicted a shakeup follow-ing Karmal's return from a trip to Moscow for talks with Soviet leaders two months ago. The Soviets sent 85,000 troops to Afghanistan last December and installed Karmal after ousting President Hafizullah Amin, who later was executed. Since then the Soviets have helped Karmal's army battle anti-communist Moslem guerrillas. The radio said Ratebzad would continue in her present post and at the same time run the ministries of information and culture and public health.

She was also named president of the Peace Soli-darity and Friendship Organization of the ruling

Day care centers linked to hepatitis outbreak

ATLANTA (AP) - An outbreak of hepatitis A in Texas earlier this year is an example of the increasingly recognized problem of the transmission of the disease in day-care centers, the national Centers for Disease Control said Friday.

From January 11 through May 22, 1980, the El Paso County Health Unit investigated 1 suspected and 17 known cases of hepatitis A associated with a local child-care center, the CDC said in its Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report.

Over the next 14 weeks, two other children, one employee of the center, and 13 family members developed hepatitis, the CDC said.

Such outbreaks have been reported in 17 states over the past three years and large outbreaks have been reported in Phoenix, Arizona and New Orleans,

It estimated between 9 percent and 12 percent of hepatitis type A or hepatitis type unspecified nation-wide to be day-care related. In some areas the figure approaches 40 percent, the CDC said. The Texas day-care center had 28 employees and served 163 children, who ranged in age from infancy to five years. After the outbreak was recognized, several measures were taken to control transmission of the disease, and no new cases developed after mid-April, the CDC said.

Afghan Communist Party, the radio said, without indicating what had happened to her predecessors.

The radio said the minister's new roles were approved at a joint meeting Tuesday of the Politburg and the Presidium of the Afghan Revolutionary

"She (Ratebzad) emerges with enhanced depart

Chicago Friday. An estimated million shoppers jammed the mall for the traditional mental power, but always has been — with (Presidium member Noor Ahmad) Noor — the closest to Karmal," said a diplomatic source here. State radio said the meeting also approved changing the ministry of planning to the state Planning Committee and named Deputy Finance Minister terial rank. It appointed Khalil Ahmed Abawi, governor of Herat province, the general president of state organizations, also with ministerial rank, the radic

Mehrabuddin Pakhtiawal as its director with minis-

A statement was issued after the joint meeting that "listed 10 points of reform and was very strong on the need to strengthen the revolution's legality," according to the diplomatic source here, who declined to be indentified by name.

The statement also said the government should "be responsive to the rights and needs of the people and to prevent and punish the misuse of power and position," the source added. He said the government changes were foreshadowed in a recent attack by Karmal against bureaucratic failures "and more (government changes) may follow." In a speech Nov. 13, Karmal said the "pursuance of eternal friendship and solidarity with the Leninist Communist Party of the U.S.S.R. ... are the basic measures and yardsticks for the appraisal of the work of every member of the party from top to bottom — and of party and government officials from top to bottom." Two days earlier, Marxist Afghanistan's ruling

Peoples' Democratic party adopted a resolution criticizing "the inefficient action and activity .. by most of the party committees, the armed forces and state information and police organs."

The resolution also noted "the lack of firmness and concrete instruction by the higher authorities to the lower ranks ..."

After being installed as president last December

Karmal forged a coalition government with members of his minority Parcham, of Flag wing, and members of the rival Khalq, or People's faction.

The coalition has not worked well, however, and for months activist members of the rival factions have battled each other openly, reportedly leaving numerous casualties.

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada is dropping out of the embargo on grain sales to the Soviet Union but will not try to replace the grain being withheld from the Russians by the United States, Sen. Hazen Argue, minister responsible for the wheat board, said Fri-release here on remarks he was to make to the Alberta Wheat Pool in Calgary. Canada will sell the Soviets more than five million metric tons of wheat and feed grain during the current crop year, up from 3.8 million tons during the crop year that ended July 31.

The Progressive Conservative government of Joe Clark, then in office, agreed last January to limit sales to the Russians as part of the U.S.-led grain embargo to protest the Soviet invasion of Afghanis-

The United States and its allies agreed to limit grain sales to Moscow to "traditional" levels. The United States allowed export of 8 million tons provided for in existing agreements, but embargoed an additional 17 million tons.

Washington also curbed the export of high technology to the Soviet Union.

Argue said new sales "will not go beyond levels which would have been exported in the absence of the partial embargo." "It is not the intention of the government to take advantage of the export policies of the United States or of other exporters," he said. Argue told the Calgary meeting a wheat board delegation arranged in Moscow last week for the sale of 2.1 million tons of wheat and barley to the Russians to be delivered between January and Au-

It was not known how much the Soviet Union would pay for the shipments, which will bring their purchases for the current crop year to more than five million tons.

Last week Argue said in an interview that Canada would sell the Soviets all the grain it could but was still respecting the embargo.

External Affairs Minister Mark MacGuigan told a Commons committee Friday the government would no longer "agree to volume retraints on grain exports" to the Soviet Union.

But he added that Canada "continues to oppose firmly the U.S.S.R. invasion of Afghanistan and to support a concerted and co-operative range of measures in response to the Soviet action."

Argue said the government decided to withdraw from the embargo because it was falling behind other exporting countries in sales to the Soviet Union and because of U.S. sales to other countries, particularly a major contract with China, announced in

Argue has left Cabinet colleagues, political oppo-nents and the international grain trade in confusion since he announced in July that Canada was pre-pared to sell the Soviet Union five million tons of grain during the crop year that started in August.

Clark's government decided the traditional level would be 3.8 million tons after, after averaging Russian purchases for the last 10 years, but Argue said that was too low.

In the Senate this week, he defined traditional sales as being basically how much the Russians were willing to buy and how much Canada could deliver, based on the size of the crop and state of the transportation system.

Man claims to have photo of monster

(AP) - A shipyard worker says he has a color photograph of a creature resembling the Loch Ness monster swimming in a Vermont lake, and a Chicago scientist says it looks real.

Anthony Mansi, a 50-year-old sheet metal worker at the Electric Boat shipyard in Groton, Conn., says his wife made the picture which he won't release to reporters - during a family outing at Lake Champlain two years ago. He said he didn't mention it to anyone at first because he was wary of skeptics.

But now, a University of Chicago scientist, Dr. Roy Mackal, says he has looked at a picture of the so-called Lake Champlain Monster and thinks

NEW HAVEN, Conn. it appears to be genuine.

AP) — A shipyard Mackal, a zoologist specializing in rare and extinct animals, said the Mansi picture appears to show what could be a primitive whale called a zeuglodon — an elongat-ed whale-like mammal thought to be extinct.

Mackal believes that so-called monsters do inhabit Loch Ness and that their prehistoric relatives exist in some Canadian lakes and in Lake Champlain.

"It is consistent with my hypothesis that all freshwater sightings are primitive relatives of the zeuglodon," he said. Results of objective testing of the photograph have not been released from the University of Arizona, Mackal added. Mansi, in a telephone interview Tuesday said,
