NEW YORK (AP) — A 25-year-old Hawaii man who apparently stalked John Lennon for three days was held today on a charge of gunning down the former Beatle, as the music world mourned the death of the legendary songwriter and singer.

The suspect, Mark David Chapman, was held in an isolation cell at the Manhattan Criminal Court Building. He will be turned over to the Correction Department if no bail is set or if a psychiatric examination is ordered at his arraignment, expected to take place this afternoon

A police source, who asked not to be identified, said Chapman gave different stories to detectives about the slaying. But he said Chapman was "emphatic" that he knew he was shooting the 40-yearold Lennon, who helped make the British rock group into superstars and pop-culture legends in

More than 1,000 people gathered this morning outside the Dakota, a luxury apartment building on Manhattan's Upper West Side where Lennon lived with his wife, Yoko Ono, and their 5-year-old son, Sean, and where he was shot Monday night after stepping from a limousine.

David Geffen, president of GeffenRecords for which Lennon recorded, said Miss Ono, upstairs in one of the couple's five Dakota apartments, was 'very upset" by the crowd after daybreak. "They're a bunch of crazy people out there ... they're drunk and rowdy. It's like a party," Gef-

Former Beatle Ringo Starr and his wife broke off a vacation to fly to the United States. The Starrs slipped into the Dakota early today through a side entrance. After visiting about half an hour with Miss Ono, they left by the same door but this time about 100 people crowded around before they were driven off in a limousine.

A smaller, more subdued crowd had stood vigil outside the building on 72nd Street across from Central Park late Monday night.

Geffen said that if Lennon had a funeral it would be in New York City and "very private. Yoko doesn't want a circus.'

Then he added: "I don't know there will be a funeral. It'll be no event, I can assure you. He repeated a statement issued last night by Miss Ono: "John loved and prayed for the human race.

Please do the same for him." President-elect Ronald Reagan, visiting in the city today, called Lennon's death "a great tragein Decatur, Ga., before moving to Hawaii, told them he had a license for the gun used in the shooting but could only produce a bill of sale for the weapon, a Charter Arms .38-caliber revolver, pur-

Police said Chapman, who had apparently lived

According to authorities, Chapman had come to New York from Hawaii about a week ago and had been seen near the Dakota three times in the past three days.

Lennon had autographed a record album for Chapman about 5 p.m. when he was accosted by the young man as he left his apartment complex to go to a recording studio.

The police source said that at one point Chapman indicated he was annoyed that Lennon had only scribbled his autograph on the album.

Lennon, who was the co-author with Paul McCartney of such famous songs as "I Want to Hold Your Hand," "Yesterday" and "Let it Be," was returning from the studio when the shooting occurred at 10:50 p.m. Monday.

Murder-for-hire trial begins here

By ED TODD Staff Writer

A 27-year-old Odessa woman who allegedly plotted to have her estranged husband killed in a murderfor-hire scheme is being tried today in 142nd State District Court before a five-man, seven-woman jury.

The accused, Patricia Louise 'Patty" McPeters, a brunette, and the two "hit" men, Rex Bradley Shanks, 27, of Abilene, and Willie Wayne Jennings, 19, of Wichita Falls, were indicted last August in the stabbing death of Mrs. McPeters' 46year-old husband, James David McPeters, on July 28.

The three are being held in Midland County Jail in lieu of each posting a $50,000 bond. McPeters' bloodied body was found by Texas State Department of Public Safety troopers slumped over the steering wheel of his car on the morning of July 28 on the north service road of Interstate 20 between Midland

Evidence suggests that Mrs. McPeters' "set up" her husband for the stabbing by telephoning him from a truck stop and asking him to meet her between Midland and Odessa.

Once there, McPeters, who some-time earlier supposedly had attacked Shanks with a knife, got into a knife-wielding scuffle with Shanks, who was cut on the ear and hand. Jennings joined in the fight, according to a statement Mrs. McPeters made to law enforcement officials.

McPeters suffered stab wounds to the chest, shoulder, back and groin. The defendant is being prosecuted by David Joers and Jim Rex, assistant prosecutors to District Attorney Vern Martin.

She is being defended by Leonard Howell, a Midland attorney who on Monday afternoon cautioned the jury panel that the adversary system of justice is a grave matter. "It's sometimes called a deadly game," he said of the trial. "It's serious by nature."

If convicted of murder, Mrs. Peters could be sentenced from five to 99 years or life in the state penitentiary and could be fined $10,000. Too, she could be placed on probation if any sentence does not exceed 10 years.

"The people that do all the work," said John Crosby, who himself is known to be a cause booster and workhorse, "are the professionals, and they do a real great job."

What Crosby was lauding were the likes of Charlie Green, Sharon Hillis, Willie Stumberg and Cindy Mann — Midland County agents for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service

Those folks have the skill, training and motivation to inspire those young, those beginning and those established in agriculture to do the best job possible in their fields, Crosby said Monday night at the annual TAEX's Midland County Extension Program Building Committee meeting in Post 7208 of the Veterans of Foreign War.

But sometimes the elements - such as costs, the middle-man, labor, the bugs, and the weather - that contribute to a successful harvest don't mix well and a disaster replaces a profit. But many times, the folks in agriculture win out. When those men have to face the weather (drought, rain, freeze and a scorching sun), the bugs and everything else and come out with a crop, Crosby said, "you've got to hand it to them. Crosby, who bears a kinship with farmers and ranchers, operates the Michael-Brandon Vineyard. The vineyard's 1980 yield, which, unlike last year's pickings, didn't exactly prod-

"I'm the Gallo of Texas," Crosby had jested earlier in the evening and may realize his goal.

Shortly after Crosby's remarks. Green, the senior county agent for agriculture, presented a color-slide show of the extension service's activities for the year.

Activities ranged from the Midland County Livestock Show to the annual farm-ranch tour sponsored by the Midland Chamber of Commerce to the pecan show and the annual 4-H Club Food Show, which this year, noted Green, attracted 11 boys and 28

The advent of boys in the kitchen drew this comment from Green. "By George, if they (girls) can get

"Except, I haven't seen Mr. Green in the kitchen," murmured his wife,

The county agent also noted the Outdoor Learning Center, geared to the basics in agriculture and operated largely by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service and Midland Independent School District.

"There are a lot of kids that don't know where milk comes from," said Green. He suggested that the center should help "educate" the young folks in the basics.

He mentioned other programs sponsored by the extension service. And he implied that those professionals in the field would be virtually helpless without assistance and cooperation from supporters in agriculture and those on the fringes.

"We're just as good as you leaders and committee folks, and that's as good as we can be," he said.

"I think you do a really super job," said Marie Gersten, mother of 11year-old 4-H'er Kimberly Gersten.

The meeting was climaxed with the re-election of Crosby as chairman of the county's extension program building committee. Jackie Forsyth was re-elected vice chairman and Dolly Calhoun, secretary.

The committee's 1981 chairmen include A.C. Teinert, crops; George Logan, landscape horticulture and turf; David Harris, horticulture; J.D. Crawford, livestock and range, and Bob McBryde, 4-H Club and youth; and Mrs. Forsyth, family living.

LUFKIN, Texas (AP) - A church pastor is free on bond and three trustees lie wounded in a hospital today after what has been described as a "standing church feud" erupted in gunfire.

Soviets told not to interfere

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi told Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev today that India wants no further interference in this region.

We sincerely hope that the independence, sovereignty, territorial integrity and non-aligned status of the countries in the region will not come under strain or jeopardy through con-flict and interference," Mrs. Gandhi declared at a heavily-guarded indoor civic meeting for the visiting Soviet state president and Communist Party

Accompanied by declarations of Indo-Soviet friendship and praise for Brezhnev as a world statesman, Mrs. Gandhi's message about non-interference was regarded as a strong reference to the Soviet military presence in Afghanistan and the Moslem insurrection there.

It was the second such Indian message in two days for Brezhnev. Indian President Neelam Sanjiva Reddy told him at a Monday night banquet that "we in India remain opposed to any form of intervention - covert or overt by outside forces in the internal affairs of the region."

Afghanistan, the most sensitive issue in Indo-Soviet relations, prompted Soviet and Indian authorities to shift the meeting — billed as a

"mass rally of citizens" — to an indoor assembly hall where it was attended by about 1,000 invited guests. The originally-announced out-doorlocation was the historic Red

But the presence of militant Afghan exiles in the capital forced the shift indoors on Soviet advice, Indian offi-cials said. Some Afghan, Moslem and other Indian political groups staged two anti-Soviet demonstrations Monday, the day of Brezhnev's arrival, and his motorcade was diverted to avoid one of them.

Alexei Kosygin in sudden obscurity

MOSCOW (AP) — Less than two months after Alexei N. Kosygin resigned, hardly a trace remains in Moscow of the image of the hard-driving premier of the Soviet Union

The press is silent about him. The switchboard at his former office claims it has no way to reach him. Soviet officials are uncertain what political posts he may still hold.

Kosygin, a top diplomatic troubleshooter and the master planner of the Soviet economy since the overthrow of Nikita S. Khrushchev in 1964, stepped down from the premiership Oct. 23 after a prolonged period of illness. Soviet sources say he is still undergoing treatment for heart and circulatory problems, probably at a secluded VIP clinic near Moscow.

He has been neither praised nor criticized in the press since his resignation. Westerners have spotted only one published reference to him since then — a routine footnote, referring to his published writings, in a little-read historical journal.

leagues was his very decision to resign. The average age of the nation's top leaders is now close to 70, and many of them, including Brezhnev, have soldiered on despite regular bouts of illness.

Kosygin, on the other hand, is said to have wanted to spend his last days relaxing in peace, particularly after his recent illnesses

Books by Kosygin are still on sale at a major Moscow bookstore - although the public shows little interest in them — and his writings are still available at the Lenin Library in downtown Moscow

But bookstore clerks have quietly removed his portrait from the little packets of leaders' photographs sold to patriotic citizens. His picture did not go up last month with posters of other leaders on the anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

This led to speculation that in addition to losing his premier's post, Kosygin had also been dropped from the Politburo, the top council of the Communist Party. But foreign reporters and other observers don't know for

Officials at the party's Central Committee in Moscow, telephoned last month by a reporter, hastily conferred with each other and said no. Kosygin was no longer a Politburo member

But a Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman said the same day that Kosygin is "definitely" still on the Politburo, since his removal from that body has not been formally an-

Klementi Voroshilov, purged from the presidency by Nikita Khrushchev in 1960, returned to the party Central Committee after Khrushchev's downfall and retained his seat until his death in 1969. Anastas Mikoyan, president in 1964-65, remained a member of the Supreme Soviet until 1974, four years before his death.

Vyacheslav Molotov, Stalin's veteran foreign minister, retained some government posts after Khrushchev purged him in 1957, and he has occasionally been spotted in Moscow in recent years.

Kosygin's ill health may preclude further government work. But the absence so far of any public reference to him or his years of service keeps alive speculation about other reasons for his retirement. Many analysts believe it will be years before the full story of Kosygin's withdrawal from the Kremlin leadership is known — if it ever comes out at all

A point to consider

About March 1, 1981, the Select Commission on Immigration and Refugee Policy is expected to present to Congress and the president its recommendations on how to revamp the United States' immigration policy. There's little doubt that the immigration policy needs to be updated considerably to bring it into step with the needs of the 1980s. After all, an estimated 1.2 million legal and illegal newcomers are expected to make their way into the United States this year. And immigration likely will account for almost half the nation's population growth this year, according to Michael Teitelbaum, a population expert at the Ford Founda-

The commission rewriting the immigration policy faces some tough work and difficult, farreaching decisions. The next immigration policy adopted by this nation could well determine the direction of the United States socially, economically and politiclike to see the commission study and, hopefully, embrace a proposal put forth by Gov. Bill Clements.

There is one area we hope the commissioners do not overlook. That is the special needs of some of the border states - like Texas in the Southwest.

The governor would like to see worker visas issued to Mexican nationals much in the manner of some European countries. Mexican nationals then could legally enter Texas or other parts of the United States for a period of time to find temporary employment. It would virtually eliminate the problem of illegal entry.

Texas and some other areas need such a program because the rapid growth being experienced suffers more from a shortage of workers than a shortage of job possibilities. In many instances, Mexican nationals probably could fill jobs Americans would only turn up their noses at. So they wouldn't be adding to the unemployment problem.

Such a system could fill a need for both the United States and Mexico. Some parts of the United States need workers desperately and many Mexican nationals could benefit from the employment.

It wouldn't answer the total immigration question, by any means. But this is one aspect of the immigration question that definitely deserves the attention of the commission.

Reagan camp struggling with old, new perspectives

Threaded through most of the commentary and speculation about the incoming administration is the belief that, except for the faces, it will be more or less business as usual on the same old Potomac River in the same old world.

That's to be expected from the commentators. That it's not to be business as usual and that the world is a new one was recognized by the people. The election was a response to that perception of the changes which require a new way of doing business. What is taking place at the present is a struggle inside the Ronald Reagan camp between the old perspective and the new. We won't know which group has won until Reagan announces his appointments and actually begins the work of his presiden-

What is important for us to keep in mind, however, is that reality exists and that partisan politics and the mundane business of rewarding sup-porters are irrelevant. The reality is that the world, for us, has turned dangerous and we must mobilize as if on a war-time basis if we are to survive beyond the next few years.

The old perspective which in reality was bipartisan put us in the present danger. The old perspective viewed the Soviet Union as a competitor in a sort of friendly global monopoly game. The new perspective recognized that the threat to the safety and liberty of the American people is communism and that the Soviet Union is only communism's most powerful in-

Charley Reese

The old perspective saw the Soviets launch the world's most massive arms race and initiate an aggressive world-wide attack on the vital arteries of Western civilization and its response was to disarm and retreat.

The new perspective recognizes that a purely defensive strategy must necessarily end in defeat and we must aggressively meet the Soviet' chal-lenge in the Persian Gulf, in the Caribbean, in Asia and in Africa.

The old perspective viewed communism as a fixed and undefeatable feature of the world and hoped to form an alliance with it. That is the perspective which resulted in the U.S. government downplaying the threat of communism, trading with and granting credit to communist governments and muting its criticism of communist abuses

The new perspective sees the truth that communism is inherently evil and that its abuses of human rights are not mistakes. The new perspective recognized that the hostility of communism toward the free societies is-implacable and that no alliance is

The old perspective reflected the Marxist belief that socialism was inevitably the wave of the future. It was that false belief which caused American administrations to abandon anticommunist allies around the world.

The new perspective recognized that Marxism, as both a philosophy and as a view of the world, has been thoroughly discredited. The new perspective understands that the alternative to a Fulgencio Batista need not be a Fidel Castro but that if circumstances are such that a communist is the only alternative, than it is in the interests of freedom to back the anti-communist. The old perspective reflected fear and materialism; the new perspective reflects courage and morality. The old perspective is visible in Sen. Charles Percy running over to Moscow and returning like a child, happy that the Kremlin murderers smiled at him over tea. The new perspective means we tell the Soviet don't care whether they like us or

The people trying to co-opt the Reagan administration are cowards and materialists and the only suggestion they have is the same old poison, appeasement.

Those of us who understand the truth must continue to fight in the political arena against the appeasers regardless of whether they are Republicans or Democrats. We must understand that any attempt to resist Soviet propaganda, any attempt to re-arm, any attempt to confront Soviet aggression around the world, will be resisted in this country by an unholy alliance of fearful materialists, socialists and Soviet agents.

If you understand that the stakes are your life and your freedom and the safety of your children, you won't shrink from a fight that only began on Nov. 4, 1980.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Did U.S. leaks aid Israeli missile project?

WASHINGTON - The Central Intelligence Agency is probing the possibility that the joint development of cruise missiles by Israel, South Africa and Taiwan was aided by highlevel leaks of U.S. technology to Isra-

The chief target of the CIA probe is the Air Force, some of whose officials are suspected of opposing the official U.S. policy of refusing the Israelis our long-range nuclear delivery knowhow - and of taking illegal steps to circumvent this policy.

As I reported in an earlier column, the three nations have pooled their resources to develop nuclear weapons: and they can now produce cruise missiles that can thwart enemy ra and deliver the atomic warheads up to 1,500 miles away.

Now that it's known that Israel has been sharing its nuclear technology with other nations, the CIA may be given authorization to pursue its investigation of the suspected leaks to Israel. "We don't so much mind Israel having the stuff," an intelligence official told my associate Ron McRae, "but we sure wish they'd be less free in passing it around.' One basic problem is that U.S. intelligence agencies don't agree on the question of sharing knowledge with Israel, which is not only the single truly democratic country in the Middle East but has powerful political clout in the United States. While the Air Force has a long history of close ties with the Israelis, the CIA has argued that Israeli intelligence activities in the United States should be curtailed. What particularly worries the CIA is the possibility that the KGB routinely includes its agents among Soviet Jews who are permitted to emigrate to Israel. Thus, the CIA fears, any technology given to Israel may wind up in the Kremlin No exchange of strategically useful technology or material has been au-thorized by the White House, and the Pentagon has refused to supply Israel with specific nuclear weapons like the Pershing missile. But the United States has given the Israelis certain technology that could have been adapted to cruise missile development, and has studiously ignored the Israelis' conversion of American conventional weapons to nuclear capabil-

The intelligence community's split over Israel may undergo a change when Ronald Reagan takes office next month. Joseph Churba, former deputy director of Air Force intelligence and now an adviser to Reagan, is an unabashed Israeli partisan. He once lost his security clearance after publicly attacking critics of Israel in the national security community.

A friend in Bangkok wired her "bail money." But hours before her scheduled departure, the consulate bureaucracy struck again. Sasaki was summoned to the embassy to "sign a few forms" - which turned out to be paperwork that looked like an application for federal employment, in cluding a history of her professional positions for the past five years. She was also asked to sign a form relinquishing any claim to money sent to her in Nepal, though the money for her helicopter flight had arrived two days earlier. Sasaki refused to sign the paper.

Now in San Francisco recuperating from her traumatic experience, Sasaki is trying to figure out how to repay the money sent by her friend. She told my reporter Charlie Bermant she feels that since it was a Nepalese army officer who assaulted her, and a Nepalese army helicopter that carried her to Katmandu, the money should be returned to her by Nepal. But she's getting no help from the State Department.

TRANSITION NOTES: Ronald Reagan has brought together some disparate personalities on his Republican transition team. Like Rep. Jack Kemp, R-N.Y., and Arthur Burns, former head of the Federal Reserve Board, both on the economic policy task force. Kemp, the youthful conservative, left a breakfast meeting with the erudite Burns and said, "It took about a half hour for me to understand what he was saying."

- Vice President-elect George Bush has assured old congressional buddies that he, unlike past holders of the No. 2 spot, will have an active role in selection of top officials in the new administration. Bush said he's been told this by no less an authority than Ed Meese, the soon-to-be chief counselor to Reagan. And when you get the word from the president's chief counselor, you know you can count on it, even if you're only a vice president.

Reagan is likely to keep Mike Mansfield in Japan

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — President-elect Reagan probably will ask Democrat Mike Mansfield to stay on as ambassador to Japan at least for the next year as dramatic reassurance for the Japanese establishment. Mansfield, 77, the former Senate majority leader, has become the most popular U.S. ambassador ever sent to Japan since his appointment by Present Carter in 1977 following retireent from the Senate. Japanese leaders have feared Reagan would replace Mansfield with a less prestigious and less sympathetic am-

Initially wary and prepared to dislike each other, Reagan and Mansfield quickly deve-loped a congenial relationship based on mutual respect.

REAGAN VS. STOCKMAN

President-elect Reagan has made Rep. David Stockman of Michigan a Rep. David Stockman of Michigan a possible exception to his general exclusion of incumbent congressmen from the Cabinet mainly because of Stockman's performance as stand-in for Reagan's presidential opponents in debate rehearsals.

A former aide to Rep. John Anderson, Stockman played Anderson's part in Reagan's rehearsal for their debate. Stockman did such a good job

Novak Evans that he also took Jimmy Carter's role in Reagan's preparation for his de-bate with the president.

Stockman turned out to be a lot tougher debater than either Carter or Anderson. "I think I beat both Carter and Anderson," Reagan told a friend after the election, "but I know I never beat Stockman.'

NOFZIGER'S LAST ADVICE

Before setting off on a leisurely auto trip from Washington back home to California, longtime Reagan aide Lyn Nofziger passed on a final piece of public relations advice to the president-elect's senior staff: Spread, out announcement of the Cabinet selec-

Nofziger advised against announcing the Cabinet all at once (as Richard Nixon did and has recommended that Ronald Reagan also do) or in two or three packages (as Reagan's senior aides are now inclined to do.) Nofziger advised that announcing Cabinent members one at a time would not only maintain a steady flow of positive news but would guarantee each lesser Cabinet member his place in the sun for at least one day.

A footnote: Apart from finding a successor to Nofziger as a sage public relations counselor, Reagan does not yet even have a new press secretary to succeed him. James Brady, who was once John B. Connally's campaign press secretary and is now Reagan's Washington-based spokesman, is not considered close enough to the new president to be Nofziger's successor.

VAN CLEAVE OUT? William Van Cleave, the stormy

leader of President-elect Reagan's defense transition team, has been quietly removed from the tentative list of prospects to be deputy secretary of defense.

Nor is it any longer likely that Van Cleave will become deputy to Richard Allen, who is sure to be named national security assistant to the president. Allen and Van Cleave have had acute disagreements and sharp words during the transition. Accordingly. Van Cleave may end up outside the main policy-making sphere, perhaps as secretary of the Air Force.

Van Cleave's friends say this represents a determined plan to prevent Van Cleave from bringing his hardline defense views to bear on Reagan administration policy. His critics deny this, contending that Van Cleave's abrasive personality has done him in.

Although Nesen was assistant secretary of the Navy in charge of financial management for three years during the Nixon-Ford administration, his name is unknown in defense circles. His claim to the job stems not from qualifications in national security but from his status as a faithful supporter of Reagan's political ventures dating back to 1966.

Until the kitchen cabinet's recommendation, the naval post seemed a choice between former Sen. James Buckley, who personally is highly regarded by Reagan, and Dr. John Lehman, a defense consultant who is a favorite of key naval officers. Whether the president-elect will set aside both of them and accept his kitchen cabinet's choice is being watched closely at the Pentagon.

Their eyes were on the Dakota apartment building where minutes before, former Beatle John Lennon was fatally shot.

The stately building where the mystery film "Rosemary's Baby" was filmed, where tour buses in the spring and summer pass ever so slowly so the driver can tell tourists of its history and of its famous tenants, was now an eerie scene of flashing red and blue lights from police cars, of brillant white lights from television crews, of bewildered and grim faces - and cries of disbelief.

"Oh, my God. Oh, my God," screamed one young woman as she embraced a male friend, tears streaming down her face. "I really don't believe it!"

"Man, this is heavy," said a young

Even six hours after the shooting, 150 people were kneeling outside the building, reciting prayers. A color picture of Lennon was on the fence; flowers littered the sidewalk.

About 300 people had gathered in word of Lennon's death spread. "Move back! Move back!," shouted one policeman. "I don't want to push you, but if I have to...." The crowd moved.

Television camera crews pushed into the crowd, their lights searching for expressions. Arms reached over heads to hold black camera bodies that searched for more faces.

The faces looked up at the dirt-covered building, seemingly searching for Lennon's apartment

A woman in a blue bathrobe looked down from between her closed white shutters in a second floor apartment and just shook her head.

A crying and shaking Gildna Radner walked across the street. The crowd grew silent as she was ushered through the black gates.

Another young man standing next to him fainted and fell on the car.

A policeman wearing the name tag "Luciano" rushed over, and gently slapped his face a couple of times. "Come on, come on. What's his name?" he asked the two women with "Abe," said one. "Come on, come on, Abe. Wake up," said Luciano. Some photographers rushed over. Their strobe lights kept his face lit.

"They're taking his picture! How disgusting!," cried the other woman friend. "Cover his face!"

"Is he high?" asked Luciano. "Quaaludes and beer," said the friend

"Let's get him to a hospital," said Luciano.

"No, no hospital," said the friend. "I've seen him this way before. Just

And then more strobe lights. Abe collapsed in the arms of his friends and they took him away.

The man with the black and silver radio moved away and sat in front of the apartment building; his face staring at the sidewalk. The songs continued: "She loves you, yeah, yeah, yeah."

A young woman with a black dog stood nearby. She looked at him, broke into tears, kneeled down and hugged her dog.

One person in the crowd held a newspaper. People peered over his shoulder. The headline: "John Lennon Shot Dead.

Passing taxi cabs, their passengers rubbernecking to see what had happened, blared their horns as the crowd and reporters spilled into the four-lane street.

The reporters worked the crowd. Their questions became repetitive:

"What does this mean to you?" "How did you hear about it?"

"How do you feel?" "Did you see the guy who did it? No, don't worry, I won't use your name.

"Oh, I'm sorry, I've already interviewed you."

On the other side of the gate, someone had managed to stick a small American flag in the mortar that separates the building's cement blocks and near a plaque that reads: "Landmark of New York

The blank-faced man with the black and silver radio continued to sit motionless. He pressed an assortment of buttons on the box and the music continued:

He was 'Starting Over" ...

By YARDENA ARAR Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) - It seemed John Lennon had finally put the turmoil of his past behind him: the screaming bysteria of the Beatle years, the tangled lawsuits that followed the band's breakup, the long fight with U.S. immigration officials, the troubles that beset his marriage.

At 40, John Lennon had just re-emerged into the public eye after five years of being a "househus-band" — tending to his home and 5-year old son — when he was killed Monday night, gunned down outside his New York apartment.

He and his wife, Yoko Ono, had released a joint album, "Double Fantasy," his first recording effort since he retreated to family life. He appeared relaxed and happy in promotional interviews; a tour was in the offing.

Ironically, the first single from "Double Fantasy" was a song called "Starting Over."

"Double Fantasy" is an excellent album — cer-tainly more personal and upbeat than his solo LPs and it has fared well with the critics. But like all his post-Beatle works, it will probably always live in the shadow of the hundreds of pop masterpieces he wrote with Paul McCartney between 1964 and 1970.

There were two other Beatles, of course - Georg Harrison and Ringo Starr — and they occasionally chipped in a tune or two. But for all practical purposes, as far as songwriting went, Lennon and McCartney were the Beatles, and theirs is probably the most widely played and familiar body of contemporary music in the world.

They dominated and stretched the parameters of pop music in a way no one had ever done before or since, and they did it by changing — both in what they were saying and how they were saying it. Like the art of Picasso, their music did not became static and settled; it evolved and broke new ground.

High School when he formed a group called the Quarrymen in 1955. McCartney joined the next year and Harrison, still a schoolboy, in 1958. Ringo Starr was not added until 1962.

In 1959, they changed their name to Johnny and the Moondogs. During 1960, it was Lennon's idea to change again and they became the Silver Beats. When they went to West Germany in the summer of 1960 to play in Hamburg, they became the Beatles. The Germans loved them.

They gave their first concert in Britain as the Beatles on Dec. 27, 1960, in Liverpool. They were billed as "Direct from Hamburg," and the audience thought they were Germans.

By the time others began imitating and expanding on their approach, the Beatles would already have moved on to something else.

Lennon, McCartney lauded as leading song-writing team

By MARY CAMPBELL Associated Press Write

NEW YORK (AP) — The songwriting team of John Lennon and Paul McCartney was the most important new entry on the popular music scene in the last 20 years.

Elvis Presley is the father of rock 'n' roll, but his pelvic gyrations and raw secularizing from gospel music roots appalled middle and older generations. The first time the Beatles came to America, to perform on the Ed Sullivan Show, conductor Leonard Bernstein took his three children and praised the music.

Less erudite musically liked them, too. The "mop-top Liverpudlians" looked clean and wholesome and their songs were nice, "I Want To Hold Your Hand" and "I Saw Her Standing There."

The Beatles, with Lennon and McCartney standing out because they wrote the songs, brought such strength to rock 'n' roll that for a time all other music was out. Jazz went under the tidal wave and so did previouly hit crooners like Eddie Fisher.

The Beatles sang with a U.S. Southern accent when they began, although they talked with the Liverpool accents they grew up speaking. They had been listening to American records.

Anyone would expect that the Beatles would be innovators and then fade away, as Bill Haley and the Comets had done after their "Rock Around the Clock" spoke so strongly to teenagers in 1955. But they didn't. Lennon and McCaroney remained innovators and excellent songwriters, of songs that continued to grab the teen, and older, public.

Bob Dylan is certainly second in creative importance in rock history, his lyrics changing rock's course, even while changing his own course, and influencing other rock practitioners and the lives of fans. And there are other long-lasting rock groups, like the Who, the Rolling Stones and the Beach Boys, all with members who have died or suffered. ABBA and Bruce Springsteen are big record sellers now.

But the Beatles, performing the Lennon-McCartney songs and only occasionally a song by George Harrison and Ringo Starr, remained the top pop music group in the world from their first album in 1964 to their last in 1970.

Most critics agree that the individual writing of Lennon and McCartney since the breakup of the Beatles is far less good than the songs they wrote together. McCartney has been writing, performing and recording steadily, with his group Wings. Lennon, with his wife Yoko Ono, made an album, "Double Fantasy," released in November, the first since he dropped out of pop music in 1975 to be a "househusband" with his wife and their son Sean, 5.

After those first nice songs, Lennon and McCartney didn't just keep repeating. They went from pop to rock to ballads to Indian-influenced, with sitar, and beyond that. "Norwegian Wood" and "Michelle" were mature songs. The psychedelic era came in and they wrote "Strawberry Fields Forever" and "Lucy in the Sky with Diamonds."

Surviving Beatles mourn Lennon

By JEFF BRADLEY Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — The three surviving Beatles were reported in deep shock and mourning today over the murder of their former partner, John Paul McCartney was in "deep, deep shock and saddened" by the slaying. Shut away in his Sussex farmhouse in southern England, McCartney refused to see anyone. A brief account of his reaction came from his company, McCartney Productions Ltd.

Ringo Starr broke off a vacation to fly to the United States, said a spokesman for his record company. "He is extremely shocked. He doesn't want to say any more."

George Harrison, the fourth of the "Fab Four" who revolutionized pop music in the 1960s, was reported deeply upset and was said to have cancelled a recording session scheduled for today.

In his native Liverpool, Lennon's death caused dismay and anger "It's bloody terrible, bloody terrible," said John Chambers, head of the local Beatles' fan club.

Like the music he wrote and sang, word of Lennon's slaying flashed 'round the world, stunning a generation of fans raised on the Beatlemania explosion.

Hundreds gathered outside the stately apartment building on New York's upper West Side where Lennon was felled by an assassin's bullets Monday night. Some wept, others softly sang the lyrics of Lennon's songs or played tapes of the legendary rock group.

Police charged 25-year-old Mark David Chapman of Hawaii with murder but gave no indication of his Record stores in Seattle and Los Angeles reported runs on Lennon's latest album and the older Beatles' records. A music company in Tokyo said it would re-issue his recordings to commemorate Lennon's death.

"It's like what happened when (Elvis) Presley died," said a saleswoman at a shop on Hollywood's Sunset Boulevard. "The records are selling like crazy."

"So brilliant, so gifted, so giving," said Sid Bernstein, who produced the Beatles' Shea Stadium concerts of 1965 and 1966. "He was the Bach, the Beethoven, the Rachmaninoff of our time."

Family wants Yoko to return to Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Yoko Ono's younger brother said today he was preparing to leave for the United States in an effort to persuade his sister, widow of murdered John Lennon, to return to Japan "where she doesn't have to worry about gunshots anymore"

Keisuke Ono said he was "deeply shocked and saddened" by the former Beatle's slaying in New York Monday night. He said he would leave for New York on Wednesday and urge his sister to return to Japan "and lead a peaceful life."

"He (Lennon) was a really good man, a good father, good husband and a good friend," One said. Other members of the One family were in mourning at their residence in Fujisawa, 30 miles southwest of Tokyo, he said.

In London, Alan Williams, the Beatles' first manager, said Lennon was a "great musician" and urged the city of Liverpool, the group's hometown, to commemorate them with a

The proposal has been made repeatedly by the quartet's fans, but municipal officials in the big port in western England have always turned it

"Surely the pop world owes something to the name of the Beatles and especially John, and there should be a statue in their home town," Williams said. He said Lennon "was aggressive, a very strong character; he wouldn't suffer fools gladly." Williams is known as "the man who

Williams is known as "the man who gave the Beatles away" because he broke with the group early in their career, after a row with Lennon over money.

"I actually wrote a letter to John Lennon saying, 'I'll fix it that you never work again.' But it was me that never worked again,"

George Martin, the British record producer who made the Beatles internationally famous and was often called the "fifth Beatle," said he was "stunned beyond belief" by the news of Lennon's death.

Iran claims bombing of oil terminals

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Iran said its jets bombed and burned Iraq's two major oil loading terminals at the northern flank of the Persian Gulf today. Iraq said it crushed an enemy counter-attack aimed at breaking a two-month-old siege of Iran's burning oil city of Abadan, killing 420 Iranians.

Iran's official Pars news agency claimed 200 Iraqi troops were killed and 12 captured in fighting at the refinery city of Abadan, blunting an Iraqi tank-led advance across the Bahmanshir River bridge to storm into the beleaguered city from its northeastern outskirts.

Baghdad Radio said Iraqi helicopter gunships rocketed Abadan's giant oil refining complex on the eastern bank of the embattled Shatt al-Arab waterway at daybreak, setting new fires in the facility that provided 60 percent of Iran's needs before Iraq invaded Sept. 22.

The helicopter strike was reported a few hours after a communique from the Iraqi command said an Iranian counterattack to break Abadan's siege was "crushed and the enemy put to flight in chaos.

Iran's high command said in a communique broadcast by Tehran Radio that fighter-bombers blasted the oil jetties at the Iraqi terminals of Mina al-Bakr and Khor al-Amaya 12 miles offshore, south of Iraq's southernmost pipeline terminal of Fao at the mouth of the Shatt Al-arab.

Pars said the giant piers that handled most of Iraq's 3.2 million barrel a day exports before the war began were in flames as a result of the new air strikes in Mina al-Bakr and Khor

Western reporters taken on an Iraqi tour of the Fao area on Sunday said damage appeared considerably less than either side claimed had occurred to bombed oil facilities on both sides of Shatt al-Arab.

Iran claimed 10 days ago that Mina al-Bakr was "completely destroyed" by Iran's navy in the heaviest sea battle of the war. Iraq denied the claim.

Industry sources say Iraq's oil exports have dropped to about one-quarter of their level before the war broke out. They said Iraq now exports 800,-000 barrels a day via pipelines to the Mediterranean, and that the exports bring in about $25.6 million daily, compared with $102.4 million a day before the war.

Iran's oil minister, Mohammad Javad Baquir Tonguyan, who was captured by Iraqi forces Oct. 31 near Abadan, has recovered from an operation he underwent in Baghdad shortly after he was seized, the Beirut newspaper An-Nahar reported.

Shortly after his capture, the official Iraqi media reported that the minister was found wounded at the time of his arrest. He was taken to Baghdad, where Iraqi doctors "fought to save his life."

Nun's last letter told of her insights of dying

CLEVELAND (AP) — In her last letter to the Ursuline Nuns of Cleveland. Sister Dorothy Kazel, slain last week in El Salvador, confided that missionary work in the Central American nation might mean laying down a life.

Sister Dorothy's mother and father, her brother and about 50 Ursuline nuns honored her Tuesday and today in a wake held at the order's motherhouse in suburban Pepper Pike.

The sister was one of four women slain last week in the strife-ridden nation. She had been in El Salvador since 1974.

Her final letter to the motherhouse was received Dec. 1.

Sister Dorothy, 41, wrote that El Salvador is "a country that daily faces the loss of so many of its people, and yet a country that is waiting, hoping and yearning for peace."

The Ursuline community helped staff and kept in close touch with the Cleveland diocesan mission team that first went to El Salvador 16 years

"The steadfast faith and courage our leaders have to continue preaching the Word of the Lord even though it may mean 'laying down your life for your fellow man in the very real sense is always a point of admiration and a most vivid realization that Jesus is here with us," Sister Dorothy

15 more killed in El Salvador

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Fifteen more people were murdered in the San Salvador area, presumably victims of right-wing terrorists who struck despite the presence of a high-level U.S. commission investigating the slaying of four American women.

Most of the 15 victims found Monday were young men. Police said all had been shot and most of the bodies bore signs of torture. They were the latest among more than 8,500 persons killed this year in the civil war between the left and right in this little Central American nation.

U.S. Undersecretary of State William Bowdler and former undersecretary William D. Rogers met for nearly seven hours Monday with members of the military-civilian junta to discuss allegations that army and police forces were involved in the murders a week ago of the four Americans.

The four, three Roman Catholic nuns and a lay social worker, were killed while driving from the San Salvador airport to the city. Although no group claimed responsibility, it was generally assumed they were victims of the rightists, who have been warring on the Catholic Church because of its campaign for civil rights and economic and social reforms for the peasants.

After the murders, the Carter administration suspended economic and military aid to the junta, which it had been supporting since it ousted a right-wing military government 14 months ago.

The American envoys met earlier with military and church leaders. They refused to discuss their findings, saying the White House would speak for them after they returned to Washington today. But the junta issued a communique which said the Americans expressed anger at the murders of the women, the junta condemned the killings, and the junta offered protection to priests and other cler-

Can you afford credit cards?

Can you still afford your credit

Credit-card terms, conditions and costs have undergone major surgery in 1980, says Nancy Granovsky, a family resource management specialist with Texas A&M University.

No longer are credit cards merely "convenience devices." No longer can every card user who pays a bill in full automatically avoid a finance charge. And the cards are no longer free in some states, the specialist

Because of these changes, you may wish to take a second look at your bank credit cards to determine how or if you wish to continue to use them, she says.

For example, the Annual Percentage Rate (APR) for bank credit cards is subject to state law. In Texas, the APR ceiling is 18 percent.

Some states charge 22 percent, while others charge 12-16 percent, so don't assume that because you live in Texas, your bank credit costs are 18 percent.

The rate of your card depends on the state from which your card was issued. Some banks have moved their entire credit-card service operations to states where they can charge higher interest.

Some banks have also changed the method used to compute finance charge by eliminating the "free float" period. It used to be that if you paid your bill in full each month, no finance charge was assessed.

Now you may be assessed a finance charge from the day charges are posted to your account. Still other banks assess annual fees, most typically $12 per bank credit card. However, many banks still offer the cards at no annual charge. Others assess transaction fees or flat monthly fees.

Consumers can do several things to minimize their credit costs. Read the fine print in the credit contract. What is the APR? How are finance charges computed and to what balances are they applied? Is there an annual fee for the card?

Check to see what credit-card terms and conditions are available from other financial institutions. You may want to apply for a bank credit card from another institution if you can save money. But, don't expect credit granted immediately. Approval depends on your credit rating as well as on the policies of the institution regarding new accounts.

Threatened stores ready to reopen

After most massive re-stocking effort in country

WACO, Texas (AP) — After the "most massive stocking effort the country has ever seen," six H-E-B Food Stores here prepared to welcome back regular customers Wednesday, hoping a poison "hoax" would not dampen business too severely.

And while store officials were taking steps against a recurrence, one corporate official said there was little his company could do to protect itself against

The stores were closed and completely restocked of foodstuffs and other items during the weekend after anonymous telephoned threats by a male caller who said he had laced items with strychnine in three of the stores, said H-E-B Vice President Bill Ault.

After two unsuccessful attempts to arrange ransom drops, store employees were joined by H-E-B workers from other cities and from wholesalers to replace possibly tainted items, Ault said.

Officials at the Texas chain's Corpus Christi headquarters decided Saturday to pick selected samples of the discarded items and have them tested for poison at a Dallas laboratory. Sunday, the lab reported it found none, said Ault.

H-E-B owns and operates 153 grocery stores in Texas and is "one of the larger privately owned grocery store companies," Ault said.

It normally would have taken 12 weeks to restock six supermarkets but the "mind-boggling" cooperative effort finished the job in two to three days, he

Ault said the company had estimated the cost of the huge undertaking but was not going to make that information public.

Waco police Lt. Marvin Horton said the firstthreatening call came Thursday, as a man claimed he had put strychnine in three of the six stores and would reveal the location if he received $60,000. Twice, police and FBI agents tried to arrange a

Hundreds of H.E.B. Food Store employes worked into the early hours Monday in an effort to clear the shelves of merchandise in three stores after a telephone caller said he poisoned items in three of the stores and demanded $60,000 to reveal the location

"We felt it was a hoax from the start but at that point we didn't have any assurance and had to take the action," Ault said.

"About 50 percent of all the merchandise in the stores was taken out," he said. "Things you don't eat or things in tin cans were left in the store. Non-food and it remains under very close guard.'

Proposed prison site draws 'mixed reaction'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A proposal to build a new state prison unit in Grimes County has drawn a "mixed reaction" from area residents, but opposition is not expected to be as vocal as that leveled against a similar plan in South Texas, officials said.

The Board of Corrections voted earlier to pay $6.7 million for 5,968 acres in Grimes County.

A three-member Prison Approval Board, consisting of Gov. Bill Clements, Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong and Board of Corrections Chairman James Windham, has scheduled a meeting for next Tuesday for final action on the purchase. "There is mixed reaction from what we can determine," TDC spokesman Rick Hartley said in a telephone interview from Huntsville Mon-

"I don't think we're going to see that kind of opposition," Hartley said, referring to the overwhelmingly negative response from Starr County of ficials and residents.

Some Grimes County residents have expressed the same fears raised by the Starr County opposition.

Hartley said some opposition is inevitable no matter what area is se-

Opponents to the Grimes County purchase are running a petition and post card campaign against the plan. However, some Grimes County idents have spoken in favor of the proposed 2,000-cell prison. The site is about six miles from Navasota, where city commissioners refused to approve a resolution endorsing the prison. Armstrong said Monday his office has received mail and many phone calls about the Grimes County site.

"I get a lot of mail about it, basically in opposition, but not totally in opposition like in Starr County," Armstrong said.

Harrelson facing more charges

VAN HORN, Texas (AP) - Prosecutors have added two more charges to a growing list filed against convicted hired killer Charles Harrelson, apparently so federal investigators can use them as leverage in their investigation of the assassination of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr.

The Culberson County grand jury returned two indictments against Harrelson Monday, accusing him of illegally carrying a gun and possession of cocaine.

"Naturally the state of Texas is interested in securing as much cooperation as possible from Mr. Harrelson with regard to the federal investigation," said Bill Ellis, an assistant prosecutor from the El Paso district attorney's office who presented evidence in the case to the grand jurors

"We indicted Mr. Harrelson for violations of the law that he committed in Culberson County, and if he wishes to cooperate with the federal authorities in their investigation of the (Wood) assassination, then we would certainly be mindful of that cooperation at a later date," Ellis said. Ellis refused to make any specific promise of leniency for Harrelson, who is being held in lieu of bond in Houston on a multitude of charges.

The latest charges against him stem from a Sept. 2 incident in which Harrleson was arrested in this far West Texas town after a service station attendant saw him with a pistol. When law officers surrounded him, they said he put a .44-caliber pistol to his head and threatened to kill himself. He surrendered six hours later.

Harrelson was transferred to Houston and has been held there ever since on charges of jumping bond, possession of gambling materials, a narcotics violation and carrying a firearm.

Wood was slain by a rifleman May 29, 1979 as he left his San Antonio townhouse on his way to work. No charges have been filed in his death, despite an exhaustive federal investi-

Shaped like children's playing jacks, these concrete "tetrapods" are part of a $12 million floodprotection project for the dock area of Exxon USA's Baytown refinery. In the event of a hurricane, the tetrapods would break up the force of heavy waves which might sweep out of a small bay nearby, cross the road pictured at right and then crash into the seawall at left. Each of the tetrapods weighs two tons and stands about five feet

Amazing catch sets up field goal as Dolphins topple Pats

By FRED GOODALL AP Sports Writer

MIAMI (AP) - New England free safety Tim Fox sat in front of his Orange Bowl dressing cubicle staring

Minutes before, the five-year veteran from Ohio State had been beaten by Miami wide receiver Duriel Harris on a 54-yard pass play that set up Uwe von Schamann's 23-yard field goal. The kick gave the Dolphins a 16-13 overtime victory over the Patriots in a nationally-televised National Football League game Monday night

Fox credited Harris with making 'an amazing catch of the pass thrown by Miami rookie quarterback David Woodley.

"I don't know what happened," said Fox, who took a swipe at the ball as Harris gathered it in at the New England 15-yard line. "I thought I had a chance to knock it down.

Harris stumbled to the 5 and on the next play — at 3: 20 of the extra period - von Schamann kicked his third field goal to cap the game-winning, six-play, 82-yard scoring drive.

"He just outjumped the defensive back," said Woodley, who added that he was counting on Harris' leaping ability to make the play work.

the 7-7 Dolphins, who were beaten 34-0 at New England on Oct. 12. The Patriots, 8-6, lost for the second straight time and fell two games off the pace set by AFC East leader Buffalo.

The Pats host the Bills next Sunday, but Monday night's game shattered their chances of winning the division title outright.

New England could still gain a tie for the crown, however, by beating Buffalo and then closing the season with a victory at New Orleans. But final day of the seas co. In the event of a tie, New England would win the division and an automatic playoff berth with a better conference record.

The Patriots, who have lost 13 in a row in Miami, used second-period field goals of 23 and 33 yards by John Smith to take a 6-0 halftime lead. von Schamann responded with a pair of his own - from 27 and 24 yards - to the score at 6-6 after three quarters.

Tight end Russ Francis' diving, juggling catch of a 38-yard touchdown pass from Matt Cavanaugh, starting in place of the injured Steve Grogan, gave New England a 13-7 lead with 12: 55 left in the fourth quarter.

The Dolphins forced the overtime, however, by a launching a time-consuming, 10-play, 78-yard drive that Woodley capped with an 8-yard scoring pass to wide receiver Nat Moore. The ball deflected off the hand of tight end Joe Rose into the grasp of Moore in the end zone with 2:28 to go.

"I thought Joe had it, then I thought incompletion. I couldn't believe it,'

Horace Ivory returned the ensuing kickoff 39 yards to put the ball at the Patriot 46. Cavanaugh moved the Patriots downfield to the Miami 20-yard the Bills would have to lose on the line, where Smith came on to attempt a potential game-winning field goal with three seconds left. Miami nose tackle Bob Baumhower blocked the attempt, however, and the game went into overtime.

"We've got the best field goal kicker in the league from inside the 20-yard line. We thought we'd make it for sure, but we blew it," said Patriots Coach Ron Erhardt

"The snap was good, the placement was good, everything looked good,' said Cavanaugh, who was holding for Smith. "I'll have to see the films to find out what went wrong.

Smith was equally puzzled. "I had my head down when I kicked it." he said. "And when I looked up, I saw all those arms." Several crucial penalties hurt the Patriots, including a holding call on the first play of the second period that nullified an apparent 7-yard touchdown pass from Cavanaugh to Andy Woodley, an eighth round draft choice from Louisiana State, completed 15 of 24 passes for 192 yards. Cavanaugh, playing with a bruised left knee, was 12 of 16 for 163 yards.

Miami fullback Woody Bennett led all rushers with 77 yards on 15 carries. Rookie running back Vagas Ferguson picked up 47 on 12 tries for the Patriots and fullback Don Calhoun added

45 on 14 attempts. Miami wins

Tal Smith is to be rehired

DALLAS (AP) - Tal Smith will be rehired next week as general manager of the Houston Astros, and Al Rosen, the man who took Smith's job, will be fired or reassigned, the Associated Press has learned.

The popular Smith was fired by Astros controlling partner John McMullen after the National League playoffs, touching off a lengthy, comolicated series of legal battles that finally ended in McMullen's ouster as working head of the team.

The AP learned Monday at baseball's winter meetings that as soon as the legal technicalities of McMullen's ouster have been tied down, a threeman committee, including McMullen. will vote to reinstate Smith.

Chaps earn hard fought victory

Competition in the Western Junior College Conference this season is going to be very exiciting and ba-

Midland College coach Jerry Stone will most likely agree to that after his Chaparrals took a hard-fought 88-83 basketball victory over the hustling New Mexico Junior College Thunderbirds Monday night in Chaparral Cen-

It could have been easier and looked like it might be when the Chaps were enjoying leads of 10 to 18 points in the second half, but the T-Birds came back to make it interesting.

BALANCED SCORING has been the key all season long for the Tall City power and it was no different Monday with four Chaps in the double figures as they were bringing their season record to 12-0, but more important, a 2-0 mark in WJCC play.

Alan Reed, 11, picked up a fifth place finished in the 500 freestyle. He also swam on the North sqaud 400 freestyle relay team that nabbed a third place finish.

Perry, 12, collected to fifth spot finishes. He swam in the 100 and 200 freestyle and the North sqaud 400 freestyle relay team.

The COM swimmers helped the North team to the team title for the first time ever. The meet has been an annual event since 1973.

more to the attack. Joining Johnson and Willingham in the twin digits were Puntus Wilson and Scotty Tutwiler. Wilson, a 6-3 freshman jumping jack from Dallas South Oak Cliff, who leaps more like a 6-8 athlete, netted 16 points and Tutwiler 12

DICKEY GREEN and Jeff Roberson led the T-Birds with 23 and 20 points, respectively while Mike Smith and Jeff Hannan added 12 and 10 points as the New Mexico five was dropping to 9-6 on the year and 2-1 in WJCC action after beating Odessa College and Clarendon prior to its meeting with MC.

Midland took a 40-34 lead to the dressing room at halftime and then came out to score eight consecutive points for a quick 48-34 lead before NMCJ looked up. Green hit a bucket for the T-Birds to make it 48-36, but MC came right back on a tip-in by Willingham with 16:43 left in the

The Chaps' biggest lead of the game came with 13:21 left when Johnson stole the ball and drove for the basket to produce a crowd-pleasing slamdunk shot. That made it 62-44, but back-to-back buckets by Roberson and Smith on a steal, made it 62-48.

MC's 66-54 lead still looked good with 10:10 left, but suddenly, NMJC started hitting and the Chaps began making numerous turnovers and on a dunk-shot by Roberson with 4:51 left, the lead had dwindled to 74-69 and the visitors were back in the contest and beathing down the backs of Midland.

Green hit a shot from close in to cut it even closer, 74-71 with 3:28 left. Johnson came through with a key basket for a 76-71 MC lead with 3:25 and he capped the play with a free throw to complete the three-point play and a 77-71 advantage.

THE T-BIRDS were not grounded yet. Smith hit a basket and Roberson sank a pair of free throws to cut the lead to 77-75 with 2:47 left, but that was the closest that the New Mexicans were going to come.

Willingham scored on a tip-in and Wilson hit his patent shot from the corner for a 81-75 lead for MC with 1:58 left.

Kenny Patrick hit a 20-footer for NMJC to make it 81-77, but once again, Mr. Cool, Charles Johnson, calmly hit two charity tosses for an 83-77 lead. A slam-dunk by Green made it 83-79, but Tutwiler hit two more free tosses for an 85-79 edge and the Chaps went on to score on a free toss by Willigham and a basket by Johnson with 14 seconds left after Ricky Black's 12-footer had cut the MC lead to 86-83 with 21 ticks left in the clock.

MC hit six of seven free throws while NMJC connected on only three of six as the game was pretty-much free of fouling.

Midland hits the road Wednesday night when it travels to Roswell, N.M. for a conference encounter with New Mexico Military Institute and then on Saturday, squares off with the South Plains Texans in Levelland in another WJCC tilt. In fact, MC won't return to the friendly confines of Chap Center until Jan. 15 when it plays Howard College of Big Spring. Meanwhile, MC plays in the ABC Classic in Big Spring, Jan. 8-9 and faces Amarillo College in Amarillo, Jan. 12.

Georgia remains No.1; Irish drop to seventh

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

The Georgia Bulldogs are the No. 1 team in the country in today's Associated Press final regular-season college football poll but their anticipated national championship Sugar Bowl shootout with Notre Dame lost some of its glamor over the weekend when the Fighting Irish were beaten by Southern California and fell from second place to seventh.

Georgia, the nation's only unbeaten and untied team, has been No. 1 for five weeks and undoubtedly will nail down its first-ever national championship if it defeats Notre Dame on Jan. 1. But the Bulldogs will have plenty of challengers if they lose.

Georgia (11-0) received 60 of 64 first-place ballots and 1,274 of a possible 1,280 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscas-

While Notre Dame's 20-3 loss to Southern Cal knocked the Irish out of the runnerup spot they had held for three weeks, Orange Bowl-bound Florida State jumped from third place to second by defeating unranked Florida 17-13 and finishing with a 10-1 record. The Seminoles, ranked No. 2 for the first time ever, received the other four first-place votes and 1,208 points.

Pittsburgh, another 10-1 team, climbed from fourth to third with 1,127 points while Oklahoma (9-2), Florida State's Orange Bowl opponent, went from fifth to fourth with

The USC-Notre Dame and Florida State-Florida games wrapped up the regular season. The national championship will be decided following the bowl games when The AP releases its final poll at 6: 30 p.m., EST, Saturday, Michigan (9-2) and Baylor (10-1) each moved up one and sixth with 947 and 914 points.

Then came Notre Dame (9-1-1) with 860 points, followed by Nebraska, Alabama and Penn State with 801, 800 and 644 points, respectively. Nebraska and Alabama traded positions from last week. The Second Ten consists of Ohio

State, Southern Cal, North Carolina, Brigham Young, UCLA, Washington, Mississippi State, South Carolina, Southern Methodist and Miami

Last week, it was Ohio State, North Carolina, BYU, UCLA, Washington, Mississippi State, Southern Cal, South Carolina, SMU and Miami.

There were no new teams in the final regular-season Top Twenty, although Southern Cal's impressive triumph over Notre Dame vaulted the Trojans from 17th place to 12th.

Bowl-bound Top Twenty teams also include Pitt and South Carolina in the Gator, Michigan and Washington in the Rose, Baylor and Alabama in the Cotton, Nebraska and Mississippi State in the Sun, Penn State and Ohio State in the Fiesta, North Carolina in the Bluebonnet (versus Texas), BYU and SMU in the Holiday and Miami in the Peach (against Virginia Tech).

Eagles have plays stolen

By BRUCE DALLAS

AP Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles have had plays stolen from them for the second time this year, this time involving the game plan for the Atlanta Falcons.

"I don't know where it went. I'm sure it wasn't Atlanta," Eagles coach Dick Vermeil said Monday in disclosing the theft of the cassette from his desk sometime Friday night. "I can't figure out why someone would want to steal a cassette tape -I should have written Neil Diamond on it," joked Vermeil, referring to the singer. The coach explained that he meets with Eagles quarterback Ron Jaworski and backup Joe Pisarcik each Friday preceding Sunday games. "We go over the game plan - philosophy-wise, execution-wise, everything — and put it on tape," Vermeil said. Saturday morning, the tape is copied and both quarterbacks get their own cassettes to help their prep-"I left it on my desk when I left about 7 p.m. Friday, and Saturday morning it was gone," Vermeil said. Vermeil had the lock changed on his office door, although he admitted he 'never locks anything." Vermeil was sure the theft had nothing to do with the outcome of Sunday's game, which Atlanta won 20-17. Several weeks before the Eagles' game with the Dallas Cowboys Oct.

19, mimeographed pages from Philadelphia's playbook were mailed to Cowboys assistant coach Ernie Stautner. The Cowboys returned the pages and said they didn't copy anything

The three envelopes sent the Cowboys included a note saying: "Please use this info as you see fit. No strings attached. Just whip the hell out of the upstart Eagles."

Young singers show winning form

NEW YORK (AP) — Three young classical singers, who sound as if they could step into major opera roles tomorrow, gave a recital Monday night at Town Hall.

Sopranos Lani Karen Norskog and Shirley Willis Jaron and baritone Nicholas Karousatos are three of the four winners of the Eleanor Steber Music Foundation prizes this year. Winner Robert Galbraith, baritone, was performing with the Texas Opera Theater on Monday.

Miss Steber sang 286 times at the Metropolitan Opera House and 118 times on tour, through 1966. Lately, a major concern has been the time for a singer between training and the first rung of career security. She started the foundation with her own and friends' money. Each of the four winners received, besides exposure at the concert, $2,500 to use for whatever the individual feels he or she needs.

In this concert, Miss Norskog, of Sacramento, has the most impressive voice. She has an opulent tone, which speaks for itself since she never tries to dramatize it, and which sounds the same whether she is singing high or low and with any composer.

She went from "Dove Sono" from Mozart's "The Marriage to Figaro" through two selections by Duparc, taking a listener deeper into her confidence as she went. By the time she ended with Marietta's "Lied" from "Die Tote Stadt" by Korngold, she sounded thrilling. She was having the effect that opera singers sometimes achieve, of seeming both a trusted friend and an amazing star worthy of bravos and fan clubs. Pulling a listener into a singer's orbit isn't usually done as quickly as Miss Norskog did it here.

She sang last summer at the Chautauqua Festival in upstate New York. Karousatos went for showing versatility. He started with clear enunciation of English and a manly, straightforward tone in Handel, went on to wax romantic, then resonant, then heroic turning drunk, with Ravel and ended dramatic with Verdi. It was a very good performance, only slightly weak on the heroism and drama and a few of the bottom notes.

Karousatos can act an unusual amount with hands and face and not look overdone. A New Yorker, he has received prizes from the New Jersey State Opera Company, where he has been in the in-school program, and in an operatic competition in Ostend, Belgium. He will tour in the spring through the South with the Virginia State Opera.

Miss Jaron, of Philadelphia, varied the most. Her voice is very focused. Sometimes, as in a "Don Pasquale" duet with Karousatos, it sounded creamy in the mid-range and sharp-edged on top, with enough vibrato to give it personality. Sometimes it sounded sharp-edged all through, giving it the bite needed for Bernstein's "Glitter and Be Gay." But in a Mozart aria, it was harsh, with a sharp edge which seemed to have a shadow sharp edge trailing along with it. A pensive Poulenc piece was her best, the top notes clear and lovely.

Miss Jaron is a member of the Merola Opera Program in San Francisco. Miss Steber made her Met debut as Sophie in "Der Rosenkavalier" 40 years and one day before the Monday concert. The evening ended with Miss Steber, Miss Norskog and Miss Jaron singing the trio from that opera.

Churches, surgeons devote time, money to surgery for tot

DALLAS (AP) — Two churches raised money and two surgeons volunteered their time to remove an extra finger and two extra toes from an 18-month-old Columbian boy whose father credits hospital staffs and an airline with the surgery's success.

Doctors at Baylor University Medical Center removed a sixth finger from the child's right hand and an extra toe from each foot during surgery Monday. Danny Garcia was born in June 1979 with the additional digits. His mother said shoes did not fit properly and the boy was having difficulty using his right hand. The Rev. Harold Garcia of Bogota said the operation was the culmina-tion of a year of prayers and efforts by Braniff International, the medical center, two surgeons and two Dallas-area churches. "The doctors in Colombia advised us that we should have the surgery done in the United States," said Danny's mother, Diane Garcia. "They didn't have the proper resuscitation equipment there for a child this

A Dallas plastic surgeon, recommended to the couple by a friend, advised them to wait until Danny was at least 15 months old before considering surgery. But Garcia's small salary as pastor of the Bogota Baptist Chapel would not cover the cost of travel, much less the medical costs.

"We knew it would be expensive and impossible for us to take care of," Mrs. Garcia said. "But we just knew the Lord would take care of it."

GOREN BRIDGE

Have you spotted the simple stratagem that would have saved declarer from his own folly? At trick two, declarer should cash the queen of hearts before touching trumps!

This maneuver makes the contract ironclad. Suppose that West wins the queen of spades and, as before, plays ace and another club. Declarer wins in dummy and cashes the ace and king of hearts, discarding two clubs from his hand. Now he can get back to his hand with a high diamond and lead the king of spades.

West wins and returns a club, but declarer can ruff high, draw trumps and claim the rest of the tricks, thus making his contract.

Rubber bridge clubs throughout the country use the four-deal bridge format. Do they know something you don't? Charles Goren's "Four-Deal Bridge" will teach you the strategies and tactics of this fast-paced action game that provides the cure for unending rubbers. # Board supports increases in tuition, faculty salaries

HOUSTON (AP) -The Coordinating Board for the Texas College and University System has supported increases in state tuition rates and faculty salaries but suggested that building expansion be curtailed on state campuses

The board met Thursday to map out strategy for the coming decade and to discuss recommendations to the upcoming session of the Texas Legislature. Board members tentatively approved portions of a 101-page long-range plan developed by Commissioner of Higher Education Kenneth Ash-Several members and educators critized the proposal as "too negative" in its review of financial problems and for suggesting state-supported universities reducing rather than expanding educational and buildings programs.

College President Robert Shoback told the board that keeping faculty isolated from policy-making affairs "is scary and it could lead to collective bargaining that would make management of colleges a nightmare."

Board members suggested a moriatorium on establishing medical and law schools in Texas. But the heated discussion came over a proposal that should Texas have an over-supply of physicians, state financial support be reduced for some institutions and should be geared toward enrollment in state medical schools be cut back. During the spirited de-
