Snow Up To 10 Inches; Mercury Near Zero; Brief Warmup Due

By DAVE KNAPP

A NUMBING blast of Arctic air, feeding southward from the Great Plains over ice-encrusted snowfields, plunged the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas into a near-zero and below "deep freeze" early today after heavy snows brought virtual paralysis to parts of West Texas Friday.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted early morning lows of eight to 12 degrees below zero in the Panhandle today while forecasting minimums of near zero in Lubbock and at other spots on the South Plains by daybreak.

New, Less Severe Blow Due

Sub-freezing temperatures are due to linger for most of this weekend, when a Pacific cold front is expected to bring another less severe round of frigid weather to the area—possibly as early as Sunday night.

As the bone-chilling norther swept through Lubbock shortly after 11 a.m. Friday, much of West Texas still was reeling under heavy snows dumped by a far-flung Canadian cold front which closed hundreds of schools, hobbled air and highway traffic while causing scores of motor vehicle accidents.

One Of Most Widespread In Years

The storm, described by forecasters as one of the most widespread in years, spewed snow from Kansas to near the Mexican border and lashed more than two-thirds of Texas.

Ten inches of snow built up at points in southern New Mexico and there was nine inches on the ground in parts of the Panhandle. Four and six-inch falls were common on the Plains.

Roads were reported all but impassable in some sections of the Plains and Panhandle, where drifts piled almost to foot-high depths. U.S. Hwy. 82 near Guthrie was closed briefly Friday because of deep drifting.

"Hundreds" Of Schools Closed

The fierce storm, which reached blizzard proportions in the Panhandle, closed schools in at least 45 South Plains towns and shut down "hundreds" in the Panhandle.

Sixty per cent of students in Lubbock schools attended classes Friday, although Supt. Nat Williams announced that attendance was "optional." Most of the absenteeism reportedly occurred at elementary levels, officials said.

Lubbock police investigated a near-record daily total of 60 accidents on Friday, reporting two injuries. Two other persons were hurt in weather-related mishaps—one overcome by gas fumes and another critically injured in a sledding accident.

City Drivers Praised

Hub City police praised motorists for their prudence and caution in driving over the slippery streets and roadways, saying that it helped hold down the number of injuries.

"Very little" traffic was reported in Lubbock and at many points over the Plains late Friday. Hazardous driving warnings remained in effect for all of West Texas until early today.

The Department of Public Safety reported a few mishaps in the area, but noted that "hundreds" of vehicles not involved in accidents skidded off icy highways and were temporarily abandoned.

16 Flights Canceled

Texas Highway Patrolman said a bus mishap, which injured seven persons, one seriously, occurred earlier Friday in a "blinding snowstorm."

At least 16 flights into Lubbock Municipal Airport were canceled Friday because of ice-encrusted runways. Snowplows were at work on the runways at 4 a.m. Friday and worked for 14 straight hours getting the landing strips in condition for its airline traffic.

The first flight touched down at 3:29 p.m., when non-normal schedules were resumed. Continental, Braniff and Trans-Texas flights all were affected.

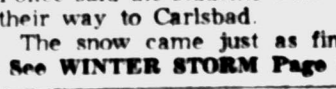

SMU Cagers Affected

The uncertain airline situation caused Southern Methodist University to cancel its charter to Lubbock and the Mustang cagers

Tech Students Hit

Numerous mishaps were reported "stranded" at motels because of the highway conditions. Police said the students were on their way to Carlsbad.

'Rock' Dispute Goes To NATO

MADRID (AP)—Spain projected its dispute with Britain over possession of Gibraltar into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Friday.

The Foreign Ministry notified the envoys of all NATO nations that because of "the risks and consequences to Spain of using Gibraltar as a NATO base," their planes will no longer be able to fly over Spanish soil to or from The Rock on Spain's southern doorstep. Spain is not a member of NATO.

In London, British officials said the move is no more likely to persuade Britain to negotiate than previous restrictions imposed by the Spanish on travel to Spain from Gibraltar.

NEWCOMB MOTT
Reds Say He Killed Self

U.S. Envoy To Conduct Full Probe

Convicted Tourist Mott On Prison Train

(Avalanche-Journal News Service)

MOSCOW — Newcomb Mott, an American tourist sentenced to 18 months in a labor camp for illegally crossing the Soviet border, has committed suicide, the American Embassy announced Friday night.

The embassy said it had been informed by the Soviet Union Ministry that Mott, 27, of Sheffield, Mass., killed himself by slashing his throat while being transported from a jail in Murmansk to an unidentified labor camp where he was to have served his sentence. He was tried and sentenced Nov. 24 in Murmansk.

Parole Possible In June

The formal Soviet notification said the suicide occurred in the toilet of the train on which the blond, red-haired book salesman was being transported, embassy sources said.

Mott was convicted of illegally crossing the Norwegian-Soviet frontier Sept. 4. He would have been eligible for parole next June 4 when half the sentence would have been completed.

The Soviets said Mott's body had been taken to the morgue at Kirov, 500 miles northeast of Moscow.

Ambassador Shocked

The U.S. Embassy made immediate plans to send two consular officials to Kirov but said disposition of the body would depend upon the wishes of Mott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mott, also of Sheffield. They have been notified.

U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler said, "I am profoundly shocked by the death of Newcomb Mott and deplore the handling of this matter which has come to such a tragic end."

Long Distance Phone Service Interrupted

Long distance telephone service out of Lubbock was interrupted for about 25 minutes Friday night due to an equipment failure at the central office, according to Southwestern Bell Telephone officials.

Officials said the delay in calls was not due to the severe weather conditions, but was possibly caused by a heavy load of calls being placed out of the Hub City. The trouble occurred about 9:45 p.m.

NO FILLINGS

Fancy Words Get Respect, Dentist Says

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA — If you're a dentist and a fellow comes in your office clutching a swollen jaw, don't say "let me pull that tooth."

Instead, come out with something like "It is highly advisable to extract that offending incisor at once."

And never, never speak of fillings. Not when something along the line of "replenishment" would better serve the purpose.

Is the patient plagued by simple gum trouble? "It is certainly not. He has 'a periodontal disease.'"

The idea is that plain talk will get you nowhere with a public that presumably expects polysyllabic palaver from professionals.

This point of view is advanced editorially by Dr. John L. Bomba in the current issue of the Bulletin of the Philadelphia County Dental Society.

Dr. Bomba says a person will have more respect for a dentist if he uses fancy talk. He advises his colleagues to get cracking with a vocabulary that shuns the vernacular.

People don't take plain talk seriously, in Dr. Bomba's view.

"The choice of words," he says, "can have an effect on both the patient's willingness to undergo treatment and the respect they have or do not have for the profession."

Rifle Drill Refusal Nets Prison Sentence

FORD ORD, Calif. (AP)—The commanding general at Ft. Ord Friday upheld a court-martial's three-year prison sentence for a former ministerial student who refused to break down and reassemble his rifle.

The sentence was handed against Pvt. James M. Taylor, 22, Portland, Ore., who said to obey would have helped the Army fulfill its "immoral mission" in Viet Nam.

Ice Spurs Mishaps

SNOW, ICE and hazardous driving conditions were cited as causes for an outbreak of traffic accidents in Lubbock late Friday after undergoing surgery for injuries received in day, while a Texas Tech student was critically injured in a sledding accident.

Red Terrorist Bomb Kills U.S. Soldier

(By United Press International)

SAIGON (Saturday)—The Viet Cong, attacking Americans despite the lunar new year truce, planted a bomb outside an American enlisted men's billet in Saigon early today. They killed one U.S. soldier and injured two others.

Viet Cong snipers also killed two U.S. Marines as the Communists committed at least 51 violations of the cease-fire throughout the country.

The bomb tore a three-foot hole in the side of the billet and killed a sergeant sleeping just on the other side of the wall.

15 Truce Violations

At least two Vietnamese and possibly more were wounded in the blast set off by an estimated 25 pounds of explosive brought into a small alleyway by a terrorist on a bicycle. The terrorist escaped.

Dozens of Vietnamese houses a few feet away on the other side of the alley were damaged worse than the billet, but there apparently were no Vietnamese deaths.

There were at least 15 truce violations during the day, the second of the temporary truce. They involved South Vietnamese forces and Americans and free world troops.

Robber Hits Dallas Bank

$11,000 Yielded By Drive-in Teller

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS — A tall, well-dressed robber took an estimated $11,000 to $15,000 from the Bank of Dallas Friday.

A bank spokesman said the man left a drive-in teller's cage where he took the money from Mrs. Mozelle Hamel, 43, at 4:55 p.m.

Robert E. Simmons, assistant vice president and cashier of the bank, quoted Mrs. Hamel as telling this story:

Opened Door For Him
The man knocked on the back door of her cage as heavy snow fell around the building.

When she opened the door, the man told her he had a gun and to fill with money a paper sack he handed her. As she hurriedly filled the sack, the man suddenly said, "That's enough," took the bag and disappeared.

Mrs. Hamel called officials inside the bank who notified police.

She described the man as tall and dark-haired, wearing a gray tweed coat and dark glasses. He was not masked. Mrs. Hamel estimated his height at 6 feet and weight at 200 pounds.

Didn't See Gun
The teller said she never saw the gun the man said he carried.

He left the scene on foot but police theorized he had a car nearby.

The bank, near the busy intersection of Lemmon and Oak Lawn in North Dallas, is open late on Friday's.

Mrs. Hamel said she thought the man's knock was that of one of the bank officers. "He knocked the same way."

She said he never threatened her.

Strikes At All Time Low, Says Teamster Head

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President James R. Hoffa of the Teamsters union said Friday that the number of strikes in all-time low and would be less if local officials did not try to go it alone in labor disputes.

Hoffa told his union officials Goldspring, Wolf Creek, Paul that the days of a local winning strike against a national pattern were over and he wanted to be consulted before a strike. White County, Lane, Glen, any walkouts were called. The controversial labor leader Hoffa, who is awaiting a Supreme Court decision on his appeal from a federal jail term for conviction, discussed the strike issue in his monthly message in the "Teamsters" magazine.

Hoffa, whose union already is the largest in the nation, also said that its membership on water pollution the TRB approved a resolution 1,772,194 by the end of 1965. He said the total would be over 2 million if automation had not been used.

Members Aided — Hoffa's proposed committee would include representatives of the AFL, CIO, and the Teamsters. Hoffa said that 2,000 members had received strike benefits in 55 different disputes during December.

Hoffa said the small number of strikes was "commendable." He added that the fact is, however, that all too often "problems develop into strike situations when there is no need for a strike."

Local union officials, going along with Hoffa's views, also spoke of the fact that approximately 3,000 jobs are currently under negotiation.

No longer is it possible for local union to win a strike without help from other unions, Hoffa said.

The days of David and Goliath, Hoffa said, are over. Hoffa said that the days of David and Goliath are over.

AT WESTMINSTER 'Papist' Invasion Of Abbey Draws Protestants' Anger

LONDON (AP) — Shooting Protestants, Friday night stand for the faith of our Protestants, as a Roman Catholic priest, Matthew Arnold, preached. It was the second time in 400 years that a Roman Catholic has preached in the abbey.

About 50 protesters, many of them Protestants, gathered outside the abbey to protest holding of a Catholic service. The abbey has been Protestant since the time of King Henry VIII.

The preacher was the Rev. Thomas (Tom) Green, former vicar of the London church of St. Dunstons, who had been invited to preach by the Catholic authorities.

Dean Edwin B. Dove said he had refused permission of the use of the abbey for the service. He said that the service was a "papist" invasion.

Grand Dragon Invited — McPhail, Texas grand dragon of the Klan had been invited to speak by the men's section of the Student Christian Association at a campus organization.

After Dove refused his offer, the University Faculty Council voted last Monday to ask the administration to reverse that decision on the grounds that it was an issue of free speech.

University vice-chancellor Norman Hackerman Friday sent a memorandum to Dean Jack Holland stating that use of the Student Union Building for McPhail's speech is in conformity with the present rules and regulations of the university.

Not "Endorsement" — "This therefore authorizes you to provide the facility for this purpose," Hackerman said. "But he said the authorization by no means is to be construed as an endorsement of the speaker's statements or views, just as the university does not endorse the views of any speakers invited to appear under such auspices."

Treasurer Will Seek New Term — Miss Jane Rieger has filed for re-election as Lubbock County treasurer, subject to the Democratic primary, according to Ralph Brock, county Democratic chairman.

Rieger, a resident of West Texas since 1921 and of Lubbock since 1930, was elected county treasurer in 1958. From 1952 until 1945, Mrs. Rieger was engaged in the abstract business. In 1945, she became a deputy county clerk.

Except for a leave of absence during the illness of her husband, the late Odell Rieger, she served in that position until 1952. From 1952 until her election as county treasurer, Mrs. Rieger was in the title insurance business.

AF Experts In Austin Disarm Bomb In Street

AUSTIN (AP) — Air Force demolition experts knelt in a damp street near downtown Austin Friday and snipped the wires of a homemade dynamite bomb, just 10 minutes before it was rigged to explode.

The bomb, inside a red shoe box, had been planted in an auto garage before it opened for business.

Clint Call, service manager at Austin Automatic Transmission Sales and Service, had moved the box away from the building after he heard a ticking noise and glimpsed a clock inside.

"I heard it ticking and knew nothing ought to be ticking," Call said. "I raised the lid up by a corner and saw those white sticks — like flares. Then I heard it ticking again and I looked at the clock. Then I saw that clock and I took off."

"Really Footed It" — He earned it first in a service station, saw the gasoline pumps and moved it to the driveway. "Then I really footed it," he said.

Someone evidently had placed the box inside the building through a glass door, which had a pane removed to permit customers to deposit keys after the building closed.

Police sealed off traffic for a block in each direction while the three-man demolition team worked on the bomb.

AID TO TAXPAYERS State Board To List Water Depletion Data For Plains

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Water Development Board, one of three state water groups meeting today at a cold, light rain fell on Austin, agreed to help 10,000 taxpayers in the Southern High Plains by furnishing them data on water depletion.

The Internal Revenue Service has asked the board to provide the data for those eligible to a refund on taxes for 1962, 1963 and 1964, but who are not in the High Plains Water District.

Water used for irrigation from the Ogallala formation cannot be replenished irrigation farmers in the High Plains won the right to a depletion allowance in a court fight last year.

The High Plains Water District provides statistical data for its members to use in calculating their water loss for income tax purposes.

The 10,000 taxpayers outside the district have no source of information other than the records of the Texas Water Development Board.

The board agreed that it must provide the information but it is uncertain exactly how it is to be done. An estimated 3,500 to 10,000 man hours in studying the problem and searching and correlating the records will be required.

Other Group Meet — The other groups meeting today were the Interim Water Committee of the Texas House and the Water Advisory Board.

The board, appointed by the governor, held a closed meeting. The interim committee, headed by Rep. Menton Murray, held an organizational meeting. It heard brief talks by Joe Moore of the Water Development Board and two of the three members of the Texas Water Commission, Bill Berger and Otha Dent.

Next meeting for the committee was tentatively set for March 28 in Corpus Christi, in conjunction with a meeting of the State Water Conservation Association.

Meningitis Hits Second Soldier At Fort Bliss — EL PASO (AP) — A Ft. Bliss soldier remained in critical condition with spinal meningitis here Friday, and his platoon continued its training while quarantined from other troops.

Army Pvt. Clarence E. Lay, 20, Newcomb, Tenn., is the second soldier struck by a form of meningitis here within a week. Lay was reported holding his own at William Beaumont General Hospital, an army spokesman said.

Pvt. Robert M. Mason, 24, Camden, Va., died of meningitis last Saturday. Mason and Lay both were transferred to Ft. Bliss from Ft. Gordon, Ga., for missile training but were in different units.

The units of both men are continuing training. They eat and train separately from other units. Lay is in B Battery, 1st Training Battalion, 1st Air Defense Training Brigade.

A Pentagon spokesman said in Washington that sporadic outbreaks of meningitis are not unusual at large army training centers at this time of year. Twelve military cases had been reported this year through Jan. 15 by the Public Health Service Communicable Disease Center at Atlanta, Ga.

DROUTH-STRICKEN LAND 12 Million Persons Face Famine In Western India

NEW DELHI (AP) — Hunger demonstrations spread in southwest India Friday as the government disclosed that more than 12 million Indians are threatened with starvation in the nation's looming food crisis.

A Food Ministry survey jolted the capital with news that all 12 million must be fed in the hungry months ahead from special relief stocks of food, and that some special camps will have to be set up.

At least 100 million will feel the pinch of the "scarcity conditions" before the food crisis can be expected to end, a ministry spokesman said. The survey was compiled from statistics assembled by special food teams touring drouth-stricken areas, especially in the west, the spokesman said.

He emphasized the statistics were as of the third week of December, and that more bad news may be forthcoming soon because there has been no rain or improvement.

The survey was released amid reports from the southwest state of Kerala of widening demonstrations against food shortage. For the first time, a political party with moderate policies joined demonstrations sparked by Communists and students.

India's last great famine in 1943, which killed an estimated one million persons, was blamed on faulty transportation facilities and rising prices which prevented impoverished masses from getting food.

U. S. experts now are cooperating with Indian authorities to try to avoid a repetition.

LOOT JEWEL HOARD Thieves Make Hay While Rich Socialite At Play

MIAMI (AP) — The oceanfront villa of a wealthy New York socialite was rifled of a half-million dollars in jewels Friday while she was at Hialeah Race Track.

Police said Frederica Emert, 56, took the loss calmly. She insisted on eating her dinner before she would allow detectives and FBI agents to question her.

While being questioned, Mrs. Emert, a horse-owner whose brother is New Jersey Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen, sported an estimated $150,000 in jewels that she had worn to the race track during the afternoon.

Other Gems In Vault — Officials estimated her wealth in jewels at close to $1.5 million. The rest of the gems are safely stored in a New York City bank vault, a detective said.

Mrs. Emert and her party, which includes two nurses, a Philadelphia physician and a chauffeur left for the track at noon and returned about 4:30 p.m.

They were in the apartment for a short while when one of the nurses went to the kitchen for medicines and saw the screen was torn.

A check showed that a small leather box containing Mrs. Emert's jewels was missing.

Cut Screen — Capt. Dick Shelton of the county sheriff's office said she thieves cut the screen and broke through an ordinary jalouse door on the back of the villa.

Mrs. Emert, a semi-invalid since she fractured a knee several months ago, told police she couldn't give them a listing of the jewels taken until she checks to see exactly what she brought to Florida. She gave the half-million-dollar estimate.

She is a divorcee and makes her permanent home in the Carlyle Hotel in New York City.

COLORFAST — There's no need for colored garments to lose their appeal before their normal wearing span has ended. Continued improvement of colorfast dyes has made it increasingly possible to launder colored fabrics with liquid chlorine bleach, a bleaching agent for dyes has made it possible to launder basic cottons and linens.

Flamboyant Lawyer In Mossler Trial Sidelined

MIAMI—Severe pains from an old back injury sidelined defense attorney Percy Foreman Friday after he had completed an exhaustive interrogation of 12 prospective jurors for the Mossler murder trial.

TODAY

Morton Meet On Crime Still Slated

MORTON (Special) — Undaunted by wintry conditions, Morton Chamber of Commerce officials continued with plans to stage the first annual Cochran County Area Youth Conference on crime here today.

Ice and snow, however, forced several speakers to cancel their engagements and last-minute substitutions were made.

Robert T. (Sonny) Davis, Austin, executive director of the Attorney General's Youth Conference on Crime will not appear. He was slated to deliver the keynote address.

Keynote probably will be Texas Sec. of State Crawford Martin, conference officials said Friday afternoon.

General Session
More than 450 area high school students, youth and adult leaders originally had been expected for the event which begins with registration at Cochran County Auditorium here from 8 to 9 a.m. today.

A general assembly at the auditorium is set for 9 a.m. with the conference moving to Morton High School auditorium for 16 discussion seminars.

On the program, Sgt. C. A. Dempsey of the Department of Public Safety in Lubbock, replaces Patrolman Ralph Briscoe, Wichita Falls. Patrolman T. A. Rowland, Morton, will assume duties formerly assigned to Sgt. A. E. Roberts with the DPS in Brownfield.

Mario Salazar of Kingsville will not appear.

Additional program changes list Melvin Evans, Bailey County Wildlife Refuge; Joe Harbin, Bailey County Electric Cooperative; and Roy Davis, Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce, as speakers.

Weather also cancelled the conference kickoff a ceremony which had been set for Friday afternoon at Whiteface High School, Whiteface.

Six Sentenced After Entering Pleas Of Guilty

Six persons were sentenced on pleas of guilty in misdemeanor cases Friday in Lubbock County courts-at-law.

Benton Kirven Jr., 51, Idaho was assessed $50 and court costs. He was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor in the purchase of intoxicants for a 16-year-old youth.

Judge Pat Moore, County Court at Law No. 2, was Grover Cleveland Collins, 69, 2772 E. 2nd St., to a charge of carrying a prohibited weapon. He was fined $15 and court costs.

Pleading innocent to a charge of carrying a prohibited weapon was Dwayne Rhea Millman, 25, 1501 21st St., who was placed under $500 bond by Judge Moore.

Others sentenced in the same case were: Prissy Walker, 25, 125 E. Quon St., $100 and costs; and Joe Sifuentes, 37, 2715 Erskine St., $80 and costs, both charged with check law violations.

Eliseo Guana, 25, 218 N. Ave. S., $150 and costs and three days in jail for John Amos Terry, 43, 5007 42nd St., who pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Labor Official Due For Meeting In City

George Leon-Paul Weaver, Washington, D.C., assistant secretary of labor for international affairs is to arrive at Lubbock Municipal Airport at 2:45 p.m. today and is scheduled to speak at 7:30 p.m. in the Booker T. Washington American Legion Hall.

The public is invited to the meeting, sponsored by the United Political Organizations of Texas, Lubbock Chapter, according to Edward Deo, chapter secretary of the local chapter.

Melvin Lane Powers against a charge that he murdered bank-fense attorney Percy Foreman announced Friday that he was going to a noon that he was going to a afternoon session and his associate, Harvey St. Jean of Miami, took over.

Weekend In Traction
St. Jean said the doctor believed that a weekend in traction would correct the back condition. Foreman was to fly to his Houston home, where he has a traction setup, and hoped to return to Miami Sunday night.

Circuit Judge George Schulz said that he probably would not grant a continuance if Foreman could not return at that time. The court recessed for the weekend.

This was the fifth day of an attempt to seat a jury for the joint trial of the 29-year-old Powers and his aunt, Candace Mossler, 39.

Foreman, a veteran, gray-haired defender of more than 700 persons charged with capital crimes, was injured in 1962 in an automobile accident. In order to sleep, he said he has taken so much pain killer lately that it has lost its effectiveness.

At midmorning, he told the court he could stand no longer and he finished his examination seated in a chair.

Before leaving, Foreman turned the 12 men in the box over to Clyde Woody, general counsel of the Mossler banking interests and chief defender of Mrs. Mossler against charges that she joined Powers in plotting the death of the 69-year-old husband.

"Perverted" Drew Objection
In his opening comments, Woody ran into objections from state attorney Richard Gerstein when he told the jury candidates they might hear testimony about "acts of perversion" by Mossler, Circuit Judge Schulz sustained the state's objections.

Woody then said that, although Mrs. Mossler and Powers were indicted jointly, one could be found guilty of different degrees of murder.

"Premeditated design," he said, "may have been in the mind of one defendant and not the other. When you consider the case of Candace Mossler, you cannot find her guilty unless you believe that she committed, aided and abetted, counseled or procured the crime."

"Not As Verbose"
Although the cases of Foreman and Woody are closely connected, Woody said, "Percy and I seldom agree on a juror." But he promised the men in the box that "I will not be as verbose as Mr. Foreman" in his examination.

This meant that Woody would lead each juror through his own line of questioning, exercise any of the 10 peremptory challenges allowed him, and still leave the selection wide open.

Foreman retains seven challenges on behalf of Powers and Gerstein has 17 challenges left. Any of these challenges may be used until the jury is sworn into service.

Registration Set Monday At LCC

Lubbock Christian College will begin registration for the spring semester Monday, with classes scheduled to begin Wednesday.

Enrollment is expected to reach the 700 mark, a record number for the spring semester. The student body reached an all-time high this fall semester, as 848 students registered.

The size of the student body has steadily increased since the college's beginning in 1957. LCC began in converted Army barracks with 110 students and 11 full-time employees. This year the college faculty and staff members number more than 100.

College Has Grown
The college is fully accredited with the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

The physical plant has grown from five barracks to a plant worth more than $3 million. The permanent buildings now include a $600,000 administration building, a $600,000 women's dormitory, a $600,000 men's dormitory, a giant $300,000 fieldhouse and a $330,000 campus center.

Pre-registration for the spring semester was conducted December 16. At that time, students selected classes and instructors and assembled a program sheet. Monday's registration will be a completion of this process, with final scheduling set Tuesday for freshmen.

Frail Oldster Stabs Wrestler

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A wispy, 79-year-old man who stabbed a 225-pound wrestler is on two years' probation.

Superior Court Judge H. Burton Noble ordered the probation Thursday for John W. Jones, Monrovia.

Jones, 5 feet 1 and 112 pounds, chased wrestler Benjamin Ramirez down an aisle and stabbed him last July 19 after Ramirez was ejected from the ring for "unnecessary roughness."

Computer To Improve Flight Info

A new computer system to speed and improve passenger reservations and flight information procedures is being placed in operation today by Braniff International.

The system, installed in Braniff's downtown Lubbock Office, Pioneer Hotel, will serve Lubbock and 29 of the airline's other major traffic-producing cities, according to Randall Jones, district sales manager. It will be capable of handling up to 30,000 inquiries per hour.

Through use of the new system, reservationists are furnished use of electronic push-button units through which they can check the inventory record on two computers at Dallas in a matter of seconds to determine seat availability on any Braniff flight up to three months in the future.

Jones said the computer also provides arrival and departure information on flights for the current day. The computers also read, process and respond automatically to reservations teletype messages.

'BLOWS WHISTLE'

West German Forced Into Red Spy Ring

By CARL HARTMAN
BONN, Germany (AP) — A young West German scientist, blackmailed into spying for the Communists, blew the whistle on a Soviet espionage ring, a government spokesman said Friday.

Disclosure that the ring, made up of five Russians, had been broken up was made Thursday. But the government will not proceed against the Russians because they stole no state secrets. What few secrets they apparently got were from private industry.

An official from the cloak-and-dagger Cologne Office for the Protection of the Constitution said the Russians were after "secrets in the field of atomic and electronic research" in the industrialized state of North Rhine-Westphalia.

The case of the five Russians is not closed, the spokesman said, even though the government has not decided to prosecute them. They probably will be kicked out of Germany and the Foreign Ministry may protest to Moscow.

The Russians are: Michael M. Shpagin, Boris L. Sarytshev and Albert M. Kuznetsov of the Cologne trade mission; Igor I. Yakovlev, of the Bonn staff of the Soviet news agency Tass; and Igor S. Modnov, correspondent of the Soviet radio-television network.

All are believed to be in Germany except Modnov, who is reported on home leave. The spokesman declined to say where the young scientist worked or where he had obtained the documents, but said he received a total of $1,250 from the Russians. Asked if the scientist would have to turn this money over to the government, the spokesman replied: "Well, the income tax people will certainly be getting in touch with him."

Cities Receive Urban Grants

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House announced Friday that the first federal grants under the new urban beautification program will go to Pittsburgh, New Haven and Washington, D.C.

New Haven was granted $325,244 to improve parks and playgrounds and to beautify streets, greenways, stream valleys, rights of way and other public places.

Pittsburgh was given $464,680 for similar activities. The nation's capital was awarded the largest grant—$482,553 to landscape around public buildings and to build or improve parks and playgrounds.

Khartoum — A brewery is to open up in Sudan.

Carlisle Burglary Under Investigation

Lubbock County sheriff's deputies Friday were investigating a burglary at Carlisle Grocery store.

Deputies Jack Bryant and D. L. Young said intruders pried open two doors to gain entry into the market. Listed missing by Horace F. Fry were 150 cartons of assorted cigarettes, $10 to $12 in pennies, a quantity of meats and eight denim work jackets.

The officers said a heavy snow covered any track the intruders might have made outside the store.

ATHENS — Greece will increase housing expenditures.

JULIAN BOND ISNT NEEDED

Georgia House Has The Right Idea

IF JULIAN BOND never gets to sit in the Georgia House of Representatives, very little will have been lost by that State and by the nation.

When the Legislature convened on January 19, the House duly swore in seven other newly elected Negro Representatives. But not Bond, a young Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee agitator elected from a predominantly Negro district of Atlanta.

He appears to be too mixed up to hold a place in any Legislature. Although contending that he had never advocated violation of any law, he freely admitted that he had advised young men to try to dodge induction into the armed forces and had praised those who burned their draft cards.

It also signed a SNCC statement charging that U.S. action in Viet Nam is "aggression." His position has gone far beyond the right to dissent into the field of subversion.

In New York City, Thursday, Bond further demonstrated his unfitness with a statement that he believes the majority of Negroes have reservations about the war in Viet Nam.

ing overseas for something they don't always enjoy at home."

This is the same argument used by Martin King in his attempts to prove some connection between Viet Nam and "civil rights." King has, of course, been busy leading marchers through Atlanta in support of Bond's claim to seating.

There are many whites as well as Negroes who have "reservations," yet all of them should have the obligation to use restraint in interjecting either with the orderly assurance of the basic rights of citizenship or with a national commitment, such as that in Viet Nam.

There is irony in the fact that Bond's rebuttal took place in Georgia, which has been making real Southern history in fighting "racism" and in trying to go beyond the mere observance of civil rights laws in the interest of inter-racial harmony.

Meanwhile, the Kings and the Bonds, et cetera, must continue to find excuses for more demonstrating publicity, for benefit of their depleted treasuries.

A Federal Court will get Bond's case February 25, but that will be after a special election is held to replace him and after the Legislature adjourns. In the upcoming vote, he should be given a definite impression that he is not wanted.

Virtue And Power

IN A RECENT interview, the Rev. Doctor Reinhold Niebuhr, Protestant theologian and social critic, accused President Johnson of pursuing a Viet Nam policy whereby "we commit the same error the Russians committed when they suppressed the Hungarian uprising."

The trouble, he said, is that the U.S. has "both the sense of virtue and the power" to pretend that it is delending a weak democratic nation, whereas the South Vietnamese culture does not have the resources for true democracy.

It will be recalled that Doctor Niebuhr was a Marxist sympathizer until he saw a light after the Second World War. Apparently, he needs a new light which will show him that the real objective of American policy in Southeast Asia is to block the spread of Communism.

Does Doctor Niebuhr suppose that if the U.S. did not have the necessary power, and "virtue" (Communist "virtue"), the Communists would fail to take over still more countries as they did Hungary?

Incidentally, in the same interview, the great Doctor, criticizing the willingness of Catholics to accept Papal authority, said: "My answer would be to say 'I hope I'm not too glibly saying 'To hell with the Pope.'"

Which do you prefer, Winter or Summer? In winter we prefer Summer, and vice versa.

In my young days, I was a waste of time to ask a girl for a kiss, says an olderster. It is a waste of time now.

If you are afraid of tanks, you have kung-fu phobia, says a psychiatrist. Not only that, but you are pretty silly.

Nigerian Lesson

NOW THAT Nigeria, the "showplace" among the new African nations, has been hit by revolution, murder, arson and rioting, new justification has been provided for those who issued warnings that the native peoples needed a better way to emerge from colonialism.

Nigeria is the fifth of these "nations" in which power has been seized by military regimes. In others, pompous dictators have made a mockery of the "democracy" thrust upon the "prepared" civilian governments.

Eventually, those who are able to consolidate power in their own countries will begin to think about conquest among their neighbors.

This is only one reason why the effort of the Rhodesian Government to assure an orderly sharing of political power between the black and white segments of the population is a commendable one.

Thanks, Miss Raye

A GOOD GAYLE, Miss Raye, veteran cosmetienne and vocalist, who is back home after 12 months in South Viet Nam, entertaining American troops.

She didn't move as long a troupe as Bob Hope, a good guy, but she was there long enough to make up the difference. In fact, news reports indicate that she, alone, was her entire troupe in some isolated posts.

She's a funny one, all right, but there's nothing funny about her resolve to continue, as long as she can, the efforts of those at home who are determining the course of the armed forces.

Thanks, and good luck to Miss Raye.

DAVID LAWRENCE:

Did Mr. Meany 'Tone Down' Johnson Strike Ban Pledge?

WASHINGTON. The answers to two very important questions about President Johnson's message on the "State of the Union" have not been given the public. Did Mr. Johnson permit George Meany, head of the AFL-CIO, to know in advance about the President's proposal in Congress for a law to ban strikes by employees in government service? If so, did Mr. Meany's criticism result in "toning down" the President's message as finally delivered to the public?

The New York Times raised the point in an editorial as follows: "Reports from Washington indicate that his (the President's) State of the Union pledge of tighter strike curbs was toned down before delivery in response to objections voiced by George Meany. If even the promise must be diluted before it gets to Capitol Hill, what real hope is there in this Administration for effective protection for the public against public-service strikes?"

THE AMERICAN people are entitled to know what went on behind the scenes. Millions of dollars were collected from members of labor unions as campaign contributions to help elect the Democratic party in 1964. But even if the Administration did not have this support, it presumably might not wish to alienate a sizeable bloc of votes among labor unions throughout the country and would like to know ahead of time of the language would be considered too harsh.

DIRECT ANSWERS to the questions now being raised are pertinent. Under the parliamentary system in Great Britain, a prime minister would be asked to reply to any questions of this kind. If he declined, he would run the risk of a resolution of "no confidence" being voted by a majority, irrevocable of party, so that the people could decide whether the incumbent regime was worthy of further public confidence or should be put out of office.

Although the reports about a change in the President's message to please labor have been current in Washington for several days now, no official answers have been given out as to what happened. Secretary of Labor Wirtz was the go-between and asked the opinion of Mr. Meany concerning two alternative paragraphs in a draft of the President's message recommending legislation against strikes in the public service. Mr. Meany is reported to have objected to both, but indicated the paragraph he deemed less objectionable. The information was relayed to the President, who, in turn, dropped the stronger paragraph and inserted instead what seemed to labor leaders to be "the lesser of two evils."

IS THERE anything wrong with showing a passage in a draft of the President's message to any knowledgeable person and getting his opinion? Not at all, provided the counter-suggestions are in the public interest and do not represent the bias of an organization which not only can collect large campaign funds but can deliver a mass of votes at the next election.

It has been reported from time to time that the President has asked business organizations some questions that have a bearing on proposals for legislation. Here, too, there can be no objection provided the President, in evaluating the responses, doesn't back away from his duties and responsibilities and continues to be the President not of one segment but of all the electorate.

THE AMERICAN people, therefore, have a right to know just what the President originally proposed and Mr. Meany vetoed. It would be only fair now for the Administration to make a complete disclosure of what occurred in the clandestine councils of state so that public opinion then may decide whether the substitute chosen by Mr. Meany and accepted by the President was justified or whether the first draft should have been retained.

In debating the issue, Congress should have available all the data so that it can finally decide what is the best way to safeguard the public interest and save the people from any more catastrophes such as befell New York City.

Don't Forget The Other Ingredients

ROWLAND EVANS & ROBERT NOVAK:

The Snakepit Squirms

WASHINGTON. A disturbing sign of Democratic disorder in the senate was an embarrassing quarrel last week between the Senate's top two Democrats over a minor housekeeping job in full view of their colleagues.

The symbolic exchange between Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Assistant Majority Leader for Whip Russell Long of Louisiana occurred behind closed doors at the annual first day caucus of all the Senate Democrats. It was triggered innocently enough by Ronald Russell, a freshman Senator from South Carolina.

Russell suggested that every consideration be given to Charles Jones, a veteran Senate employee and fellow South Carolinian, for a vacancy as assistant sergeant-at-arms of the Senate. Mansfield replied courteously that such appointments are made not by the Senate caucus but by the Majority Leader himself.

That brought Russell long to his feet. If the caucus previously hadn't filled such jobs, he said, it ought to start doing so now. He then proposed that the caucus proceed to the consideration of Jones for the job.

MANSFIELD, PRESIDING over the caucus, reiterated that this was not a matter for the caucus. It was, he said, a question of whether Senate Democrats did or did not have confidence in him as their leader. The tense, embarrassing moment over this trifling issue quickly passed with the caucus, implicitly backing Mansfield with no great enthusiasm over Long.

What this incident revealed was that Long can't begin to challenge Mansfield as Majority Leader. But Mansfield's unsuitable, rather clumsy manner of dealing with Long's challenge scarcely won him new allies. Rather, it again confirmed what is still the most important single fact in the Senate today: the yawning power vacuum created when Lyndon B. Johnson left as Majority Leader in 1964 is wider than ever.

AT THAT SAME opening caucus, Mansfield and Long not only widened the gap between themselves but further proliferated Senate power. Inevitably enough, Mansfield announced that he would appoint some extra Senators to help him on the Senate floor now that Long is burdened with the duties of Finance Committee chairman as well as Whip.

It wasn't until the caucus was over that the Democratic Senators realized what Mansfield had in mind. Four relatively junior Senators, Philip Hart of Michigan, Edmund Muskie of Maine, Daniel Brewster of Maryland, and Daniel Inouye of Hawaii, would assist Long as deputy whips. Not even the four defectors themselves had been tipped by Mansfield in advance of the caucus.

WHAT MANSFIELD had in mind became clear in whispered cloakroom comments by Frank A. Vales, Mansfield's floor assistant and after Long, the Majority Leader. Vales carefully explained what a reliable stand-in, not Long, the elected Whip, was able to take his place running the Senate whenever Mansfield himself cannot be present.

Thus, the war has been passed. Mansfield does not want Long running the Senate when important issues are at stake. Involved is no clash of ideologies but a clash of personalities, introverted, ascetic Mike Mansfield vs. extroverted, voluble Russ Long. The result is an unprecedented split in party leadership.

THE WIDENING split and the addition of four ambitious new senators in leadership positions simply compounds the diffusion on the Democratic side of the aisle. An unusual number of shadow power alliances are already developing. The Kennedy brothers have a distinct following. Minnesota's Eugene McCarthy and Indiana's Vance Hartke are a potent team. And the Southern leader, Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, is still a formidable figure with Dixie's vote behind him.

All the snafus trouble for President Johnson in the uncertain days ahead. As we have reported, the Senate Democratic reaction to his mid-tax increase program was unexpectedly severe. Now Long is being urged by Democratic critics of the Administration to use his new Finance Committee chairmanship for a hard-hitting investigation of LBJ economic policy.

The insights, squabble between a Majority Leader and a Minority Whip over the selection of an assistant sergeant-at-arms is symbolic of deeper, more troublesome conflicts ahead.

On Memory Lane

(Taken from the files of the Lubbock Morning Avalanche, Jan. 22, 1946.)

LONDON. Russia and the Soviet Ukraine asked the United Nations security council tonight to "put an end" to what they termed "military actions" and "internal interference" by Great Britain in Greece and Java.

Offhand Thoughts

There is no breakdown in the communication between generations when it comes to asking for money.

House-to-house salesmen have a way of beating a path to your door.

Modern man can control most everything nowadays but his temper and his family.

The honeymoon is over when they quit calling each other by pet names.

Most everything changes in time except human nature.

To a business man the sweetest of all tunes is the ring of the cash register.

KENNETH DIXON:

Strike Loss Spread Far

LAKE CHARLES, La.—Many and varied estimates have been made as to how many millions of dollars a day the New York transportation strike cost the business firms of that city and their employees.

But how much it cost the rest of the country is seldom mentioned, and it is probable that anything approaching the actual figure will never be known.

Countless business and industrial men throughout the South and Southwest have called up to report the losses they have suffered as a result of the strike. It may surprise you, but some of them have been even forced to shut down and sell out.

PERHAPS THE clothing industry is the best example.

One leading department store in the Southwest had set up a fashion show to parade the 1966 styles for women. I had been well advertised in all the media, and personal invitations had gone out to those customers who consistently buy hundreds of dollars' worth of clothes each year.

The store's buyers had been to New York, looked over the new fashions, made their selections and given their orders. Then they returned home to set up the show.

BUT BECAUSE of the transit strike the clothing didn't arrive when it was supposed to and the show had to be called off.

It is easy to say that it can be restaged, but that in itself costs money, and, in the case of women's fashions in particular, the ladies like to get in on the start of things. Everybody wants to be among the first. If they can't, they tend to lose interest, and there goes another sale.

AND ALL OF this was because thousands of employees could not get to their jobs in New York and the shipments did not go out on schedule.

Men are not quite so time-conscious in the fashion field as are the ladies, but when something affects their business or industry, that is quite another thing.

AN OIL-DRILLING rig needed a spare part in a hurry. It had to be shut down until the replacement was installed. The foreman phoned New York to get it sent down by air express. Unfortunately, nobody was at home in the New York office. They hadn't been able to get to work because of the transit strike.

So the company's profit took a loss but it also had to lay off all the workers except maintenance men until it could put the rig back in operation. And the men lost their wages.

YOU COULD multiply those two examples by the thousands if you want to get in to higher finance. Men who make a business of trading on the stock market found that their Wall Street brokers were not available when they telephoned. They had not been able to get to the office.

Of course, it could have been a blessing in disguise. The stocks they wanted to buy may have dropped or the ones they wanted to sell may have gone up.

HOWEVER, MEN in that income bracket will survive. The ones who really suffered across the country were the shop girls and the oil field workers and their kind who got laid off and lost their wages because of the New York strike.

There is no way they can ever be regained.

Under Every Bed

IF WE ACCEPT the John Birch Society's own claims as to its total membership, the proper slogan for Johnson Prosperity might be: "Two cockroaches in every pot, two cars in every garage, and a further under every bed." It is our impression an unfair one, perhaps that many Birchite rank and files are so generally fearful and suspicious that they sleep under their own beds out of habit, which ought to cut down on the Birchite membership of 100,000 and say that business continues to boom.

Birch Society business apparently is becoming an Arkansas specialty as expected to begin booming shortly. The state recently was assigned its first full-time organizer, and as the president of the Little Rock PTA Council, Mrs. Cecil L. Kelly, has just repudiated us, never do they send a coordinator into a state and then sit idly by. The Birchers have quite a lot of money to play with, but they always like to concentrate it where it will do the most harm.

Actually, Arkansas's first full-time organizer for the Birch Society, Franklin M. Childs, now of North Little Rock, but late of Salt Lake City, isn't quite. The state's Birch branch has been set up for administrative purposes of the John Birch society, a thought for Arkansas to conjure with if and when the Birchers actually "take over" the country.

We do not believe that the John Birch Society is going to take over the country, but the far from the language never seem to be very without promoting. When Mrs. Kelly sought to elect individual affiliates of the Little Rock PTA Council to patterns of infiltration already used by the Birchers in local schools, in line with the hierarchical structure of the organization, deferred to a regional spokesman to make some kind of answer. The spokesman, Roy Westerfield of Dallas, responded first with the usual argle-bargle about the Birchers' interests in the schools being only that of any good citizen, but then added, with the peculiar arrogance that sometimes goes with the feeling of impotence, that if take over the PTA and, through it, the American public school system itself, "we would have taken it over a long time ago."

The mystery is not who but the John Birch Society now may or may not have 100,000 members, but that Founder-President Robert H. W. Welch Jr., ever was able to enroll a second member. The membership now is divided into two categories.

(1) Those who believe with Mr. Welch that the Reds are paying Dwight Eisenhower's greens fees at Palm Springs and the Augusta National.

(2) Those who say you can't believe anything Bob Welch says, but the latter category is much the larger of the two, which, at once, is both the most and the least you can say for the John Birch Society in all or any of its parts. (Arkansas Gazette)

Black, Maybe

STATE COMPTROLLER Robert S. Calvert says the State of Texas will end the fiscal year next August in the black. This is agreeing with House Speaker Ben Barnes, who agrees with Mr. Calvert, cautions against wild rejoicing.

At best, the books of Texas will barely be in the black. And more taxes, at least 50 million dollars and probably more, must be imposed by the Legislature in 1967 to keep Texas income and outgo balanced, as the Constitution requires. Legislators face a big job. They must provide more money for services which more Texans will need, at higher levels of quality. But taxes should be levied fairly and broadly, on a pay-as-we-go basis. This is no easy task and if any candidate for the 1967 Legislature wants to think twice before running, we don't blame him. (Dallas Morning News)

Bell Sounds For Teachers For Overseas Assignments

By NED CURRAN
Avalanche-Journal Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Almost indistinguishable amid all the alarm bells that ring hourly at the Pentagon is the annual school bell.

It is tolling now for new teachers to staff the Defense Department's global school system. The Pentagon needs 2,000 for the 1966 school year in its 327 schools in 29 localities around the world.

Schools Often Forgotten
The current recruiting drive points up the often forgotten school system which reflects the vast U.S. commitment overseas.

Asked if the public recruiting is a new tack that betrays Pentagon concern over finding enough teachers, a Defense Department spokesman said it is a routine thing, more to inform the public than to counter any peace camp competition or rev up flagging interest in the program.

"As a matter of fact," he said, "we do this because we have so many inquiries we like to put out all the information we can generally. And rather than things like the peace camp or poverty war competing for young teachers, we get a lot of ex-peace camp volunteers who want to become teachers to continue their overseas service."

There is always difficulty, he added, in finding qualified personnel for uncrowded specialties, but U.S. schools have the same problem.

Requirements Rigid
The lure is unmistakably there for anyone interested both in the glamor of far away places and some constructive undertaking.

Requirements are fairly rigid but not insurmountable. An applicant must be 21, a U.S. citizen, have a bachelor's degree, 18 hours of professional teacher education and two years' teaching or administrative experience as of next June.

Basic pay for the lowest grade is $4,825 a year. But to this is added either free housing or a housing allowance plus a cost-of-living differential ranging from 10 per cent to 25 per cent, depending on the locality. There are automatic base pay raises every year until a teacher reaches the nine-year maximum of $6,715.

Applicants with a master's degree start higher, at a $5,015 base pay, and those with a doctorate or 30 hours of graduate education training begin at $5,115. The extra benefits are added to these base figures.

Prefer Single People
There is considerable choice for map-readers. An applicant can choose from among places like Ireland, Labrador, Newfoundland, Bermuda, Trinidad, The Azores, Korea, Japan, Okinawa, The Philippines, Taiwan, Midway, England, Scotland, France, Germany, Italy, Spain

The Netherlands, Norway, Denmark, Crete, Libya, Turkey, Ethiopia and Morocco.

Choices are usually honored, at least as to country, with the assignment within a country left up to the officials on the scene.

The Pentagon spokesman said the Defense Department is seeking both elementary and secondary teachers, librarians, counselors, and teachers of the handicapped, mentally retarded and remedial reading. Most schools have full athletic and extra-curricular programs.

The preference is for single people, but qualified teacher couples or married teachers with families are not discouraged, he added. About three-quarters of the applicants are single women.

Application information can be obtained from local post offices or federal office buildings.

The sprawling overseas school system is almost 20 years old, having gotten underway in Europe in October 1946. All children of Defense Department military or civilian personnel are admitted free, while children of other U.S. government personnel, ordinary U.S. citizens and foreign nationals are admitted on a space available basis for tuition ranging from $400 to $500 a year.

Canada To Launch Attack Against Mafia

OTTAWA (AP) — The Immigration Department will put 16 special agents to work this year to halt what is described as a progression of top Mafia men into Canada, the department chief, L. E. Lafave, said Thursday.

An agent will be placed in Rome, probably by April 1 and he may be the forerunner of an expansion into areas where the narcotics racket flourishes, Berlin, Toronto and Sicily.

Agents also will be placed in Toronto, Montreal, Windsor and Vancouver.

AT ANNUAL MEET: Robert Edwards Named To First Federal Board

Tattoo Really Spelled Trouble

Robert A. Edwards was named a new director of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Lubbock at the annual meeting of its board Thursday in the home office, 1120 14th St.

He also was elevated from vice president to executive vice president and treasurer.

Amos H. Howard was re-elected chairman of the board, with H. B. Bryan as president, Pearl H. Fonville as vice president and secretary, and Donald Tapp as vice president. Bryan and James L. Quicksall were re-elected as directors.

Several promotions were announced by Bryan at the afternoon session.

Weldon Garrett, Charles B. Perry and Charley R. Pope were promoted from assistant secretaries to assistant vice presidents.

Jerry West was named assistant treasurer; Delbert Nunn was appointed loan servicing officer; and Paris D. Burnham was named as appraiser.

Other directors of the association include J. D. Hassell Jr., J. Louis Murree Sr., L. Edwin Smith and George W. Spinning. Edwards, 48, 16th St., joined First Federal in August 1955, became auditor in 1957 and was named vice president and treasurer in 1959.

FOR FUGITIVE

Tattoo Really Spelled Trouble

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — Police officer Joe Smith figured that anyone with "L-O-V-E" tattooed on his knuckles must be wanted for something, so he made a quick check on a stranger in a coffee shop.

A detective arrived minutes later and arrested John Dawson, 27, wanted by the FBI as a fugitive from prosecution on bad check charges in Dayton, Ohio.

GOP Convention Acts To Get Appeal Study

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican National Chairman Ray C. Bliss said Friday that the GOP planned to study the political convention system in hopes of making it more pleasing to the public.

Bliss said a 12-member committee on convention reforms would meet here Jan. 30. The idea of convention reforms was an outgrowth of criticism voiced by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. Eisenhower particularly disliked the carnival-like atmosphere of conventions.

Winter Storm Knifes Across Entire State

examinations of the fall semester were being completed at Texas Tech and numerous students were planning weekend jaunts.

Lubbock street department concentrated most of its efforts on major thoroughfares and intersections, dumping over 40 tons of rock salt on 80 miles of streets. Road graders also were pressed into service.

The U. S. Weather Bureau, Lubbock Municipal Airport, recorded four inches of snow and a high of 29 degrees Friday.

Although some melting occurred in the late afternoon, just before the final rush traffic hour. Precipitation measured .37 inch.

As traffic cleared and temperatures started nosediving, icy crusts formed on snow ruts.

Mercury In Plunge
The mercury here hovered at 18 degrees from noon until 4 p. m., slipped another degree at 5 o'clock and dropped five degrees in minutes later.

Early today, readings gradually were a p. p. to a chilling zero mark.

Four inches of snow fell in Dimmitt. One man suffered minor injuries when a leaky gas line exploded in a cafe, touching off a flash fire which caused about $200 in damage.

Shortly before midnight Friday, the temperature at Dimmitt was five degrees.

At Tulsa, observers said nearly 5 1/2 inches of snow was recorded there, causing an indefinite postponement of the town's Chamber of Commerce banquet which was scheduled Friday night.

Drifts "Knee Deep"
Snow was about a foot deep and drifts were "knee deep" at Texico on the Texas-New Mexico border. Snow plows were busy on U. S. Hwy 70-84 in the area, but wind returned the dry flakes to the roadways as fast as the plows brushed it off.

Area snowfall reports include Brownfield, 3 1/2 inches; Tabor, four inches; 34 inches at Floydada, six inches at Hereford, 2 1/2 inches at Ropesville and Morton, five inches at Plumville, 4 1/2 at Spur.

South Plains schools closing for the day were Seagraves, Lorenzo, Wolfforth, Friendship, New Deal, Southland, Anton, Crosbyton, Florida, Wilson, Denver City, Ralls, Plains, Post, Wellman, Spade, Cotton Center, Whitharral, Cooper, Shallowater, Slaton, Spur, Snyder, Ira, Phyllana, Bernhilde, Malheur, Lamesa, Lubadiddle, Sudan, Friona, Springlake, Bovina, Bala, Pep and Olton.

Deep In Panhandle
Although public schools in Lubbock were open, buses did not run. Suspending classes were St. Elizabeth's, Christ the King and Reese AFB schools, as well as Milam's Children's Center and Mechem School and Kindergarten.

Hundreds of schools, both rural and metropolitan, in parts of the area became snow covered highways as fast as snowplows could clear them.

Eight to nine inches of snow hit Fallett and Wellington and a 20-mile-an-hour northerly wind piled the snow up in knee-deep drifts.

Cattlemen Warned
Warnings went out to cattlemen to take every precaution in protecting their livestock and hazardous driving warning were being emphasized.

Airplanes were grounded in the Amarillo area all day and ground traffic was almost as limited. Snowplows concentrated on the downtown intersections after attempts at clearing the snow on surrounding highways proved fruitless.

About 400 residents of southern Amarillo were plunged into darkness when an electric line fused. Power was restored 2 1/2 hours after the blackout, which came as the temperature dropped 10 degrees in one hour to a low in nine early Friday. Then it sank to five.

The storm also caused power failures in Finney and Kress, both north of Plainview on the South Plains.

Huge Area Snowed
Seven inches of snow was on the ground at Quanah, Childress and Hamlin. Other amounts included Wichita Falls, Pampa and Bushland, all five inches. Abilene and Sherman, four inches. Dalhart, Midland, Big Spring and Borger, three inches.

At Wichita Falls stores selling tire chains reported their supplies virtually exhausted.

The wintry blast sent snow as far south as Austin.

The roof of a block-long grain warehouse collapsed under the weight of snow at Haskell, 40 miles north of Abilene. No one was injured. The warehouse, which had a capacity of 553,502 bushels, was empty.

Service stations at Denver, Colo., where the temperature was 8 below, reported a booming business in starting stalled automobiles.

Near a blizzard conditions forced the Civil Air Patrol to suspend a search in eastern Colorado and western Kansas for a light plane missing since Saturday with two Denver-area businessmen aboard on a flight from Denver to San Antonio, Tex.

BANK HELD UP—The Bank of Dallas was robbed Friday of an estimated $11,000 to $15,000 by a tall, well-dressed man. A bank spokesman said the man left the drive-in teller's cage, went from front, shade drawn, where he took the money from Mrs. Mozelle Hamel. (AP Wirephoto)

'BIG BROTHER' ALWAYS WATCHING

Another American Recalls Experience In Red Prison

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—I've been watching that guy's against that sort of thing, although the guards seemed pretty careless on the prison trains.

Explaining what the trains were like, Landerman said: "The train is like a long wagon with bars on the outside and frosted windows. Inside, there is a long corridor on one side of the car, and against the other wall are lines of cages."

These are separated by solid wooden and metal partitions, so you can't see from one into the other."

Landerman, now a graduate student at the University of California at Los Angeles, wrote after his release that he was not mistreated during his time in prison. But he said he felt "Big Brother" was always watching him.

Apprehension had become a way of life," he said Jan. 3 in a copyrighted article for the Saturday Evening Post.

"Big Brother was watching me always through the eyes and ears of my closest friends. And even if the man in the adjoining cell was not a stukach (stool pigeon), Big Brother still triumphed. I had to assume that he was."

Although the guards were goateathered and understanding, Landerman wrote, "I soon began to feel some of the dehumanizing effect that confinement in a Soviet prison seems deliberately to produce."

It was not just the oppressiveness of our tomblike cell, the constant security checks, or even the light bulb which glared all night... what was worse was their passion for secrecy.

For keeping prisoners in a state of total dependence and total ignorance about their fate.

Landerman said there were some 300 prisoners at the camp. Living conditions were spartan, but not unbearable, except for their guards and guns, the colony might almost have passed for a primitive work camp in any frontier area."

He said that the "experience has helped me develop maturity and understanding."

"But when I first returned, I felt only withered and narrow, lonely and disoriented. I wanted to be alone, to walk alone down a long city street. That is the effect of dehumanization."

rib in the mishap.

The bus accident occurred on snow-covered U.S. 87 about three miles north of Lubbock around 7 a.m. It resulted when the bus swerved to avoid vehicles involved in an earlier two-car accident.

The bus was en route from Denver to San Antonio and had 16 passengers.

Reported in serious condition in West Texas Hospital with head and back injuries was Mrs. Myra Tamer, 57, Pascagoula, Miss., a passenger in the bus.

Six other persons in the bus treated and released were Mrs. Allen Rhodes, 23, 3508 E. 15th Place; Bruce Stephens, 69, and Mrs. Mary Stephens, 63, both of Alberta, Canada; Wilbert J. Smith, 22, and Mrs. Shirley Smith, both of San Antonio, all passengers, and Roger Pierce, 29, 2809 36th St., the driver.

Stalled Car Hit
Department of Public Safety investigators said Riley Cochran, 50, Rt. 3, Lubbock, a passenger in one of the cars involved in a hip injury at St. Mary's Hospital and dismissed.

Highway Patrolman Homer Clecker of Lubbock who investigated said the "double" accident occurred after an auto driven by John W. Shropshire, Rt. 3, Lubbock, struck Cochran and his vehicle, which was stalled, about 7 a.m.

Clecker said the auto driven by Mrs. Cochran was on an outside lane of the highway and Cochran was standing beside the car, attempting to start it, when Shropshire swerved his car and skidded into Cochran and the auto.

Bus Little Damaged
The bus, traveling south on U.S. 87, swerved to avoid the cars and skidded out of control and overturned in a ditch. The bus, owned by Kerrville Bus Co. of San Antonio, was being operated by Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches, Inc. Damage to the bus was slight.

Three persons were treated and released at Methodist Hospital after being injured in a two-car collision about 10:50 a.m. at 4th and Quaker Ave., according to police. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baker, 4827 11th St. and Beth Faulkner, 14, 3002 24th St., were involved in the mishap. Miss Faulkner was treated for a shoulder injury.

400 Viet Cong regulars against a South Korean Marine position. The Koreans threw down their weapons and fought hand-to-hand in a bloody, see-saw battle that left 40 of the enemy dead.

The Marines were killed in the Da Nang area during several days of fighting. The fighting was halted for the duration of the truce.

One Marine was killed six miles south of the Da Nang air base. The other was killed seven miles south of the city.

The pre-dawn assault near Tuy Hoa about 220 miles northeast of Saigon was the most serious of cease-fire violations.

Time fighting was so close that U.S. jeeps rushed to aid the beleaguered Koreans were unable to make their strikes.

In the capital, celebrating Vietnamese touched off a string of firecrackers that brought both U.S. and South Korean troops swarming down Hai Ba Trung Street a short distance from U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge's home.

Three truckloads of Korean troops mistook the firecracker explosions for automatic rifle fire and leaped from their trucks. They took up defensive positions in the street just as a convoy of trucks carrying U.S. troops passed. The Americans immediately joined the Koreans and a Korean sergeant fired a shot into the air in an attempt to draw what he thought was enemy fire. A Vietnamese policeman came along and quickly explained the situation.

American Prisoner Of Reds Said To Have Killed Self

partment said "It is indeed a matter of deep regret and concern to the U. S. government that the numerous appeals to the Soviet government for a more reasonable, humanitarian disposition of this case were not heeded before it came to this tragic end."

Statement Given
The embassy said it had inquired at 3 p.m. Friday on the status of a clemency appeal filed with Soviet authorities on behalf of Mott's parents when an earlier appeal against the sentence had been denied.

There was no action reported then, an embassy spokesman said. But three hours later an embassy representative was called to the Soviet Foreign Ministry and the following statement was read:

Competent Soviet organs informed the ministry that American citizen Newcomb Mott, sentenced to the Murmansk Oblast court on Nov. 24, 1965, to 1 1/2 years deprivation of freedom for violating the state border of the U.S.S.R., on the night of Jan. 20-21 this year while en route to the place where the sentence would be served committed suicide, having cut his throat.

Probe Ordered
"The body is presently in the morgue at the city of Kirov."

Kirov is about 1,000 miles southeast of Murmansk and about halfway along a main rail line from Moscow to the Ural Mountains that mark the beginning of Siberia.

The embassy spokesman said the two consular officers were leaving for Kirov as soon as transport could be arranged. One of them, William T. Shinn Jr., had visited Mott in the Murmansk jail several times and also attended his trial.

The embassy here had argued early in the case that Mott should be put back across the Norwegian border. Some other persons who had strayed across the border in the same Arctic region had been released without being prosecuted.

Mott's parents, antiquarian book dealers, were present at the trial in the courtroom far above the Arctic Circle.

Mott, who had been working for the Van Nostrand Book Co. of Princeton, N. J., received the sentence with no sign of emotion. Then he had a tearful reunion with his parents.

Fearful Of Future
They told reporters he felt the worst thing was not knowing what would happen to him after leaving the Murmansk prison, where he said the guards had been kind to him.

Mott said his son was "full of praise for his lawyer and thought he had done a wonderful job—the best that could be done."

The lawyer, Boris Zolotukhin, had asked the court for a probationary or conditional sentence. This would have allowed Mott to go home with his parents.

The prosecutor had demanded a 2 1/2-year sentence.

Said He Was Lost
Mott appealed, but the Soviet Supreme Court turned him down Dec. 16.

The Motts reported they told him he was kept by himself from his arrest to trial—81 pending at Moore Funeral Home days. They said they spent here as much of their meeting with their son assuring him that the State Department was doing everything possible for him.

"He had been told (by the Soviet) that the state Department was doing nothing," Mrs. Mott said.

Mott testified at the three-day trial that he hoped to find the Soviet control point at the Norwegian border to ask permission to enter the enclave at Borleygsk but became "hot, tired and lost."

The court deliberated for 2 hours and 23 minutes and then read a verdict saying "all the evidence finds Mott guilty of illegally crossing the frontier."

Norwegians need no visas to cross there.

As a result of the Mott case, the Norwegian government has indicated it will refuse to renew that tourist agreement.

Associated Press correspondent Henry S. Bradsher, who covered the Murmansk trial, said that Mott, 6 feet 5 and red-haired, "wore a half-humorous look on his face; occasionally he seemed to treat the proceedings as a joke." He was apparently trying to keep up his parents' spirits, Bradsher said.

Apology Offered
In his final statement to the court, Mott said: "Since Sept. 5 I have often thought about my careless actions at the border. I shall not repeat them. I apologize for them."

"I am very sorry I have given the Russian government and this court unnecessary work. Having been in prison more than 11 weeks, I have already been punished. I ask the court to free me and let me return to my own country in the company where the sentence would be served come a long way to be with my parents as they have thought about my careless actions at the border. I shall not repeat them. I apologize for them."

This plea, his parents' pleas and appeals from the U.S. Embassy all were rejected.

Mott wrote to Shinn about 10 days ago that the temperature in Murmansk was 7.6 below zero Fahrenheit. That letter was not believed to have shown any signs of unusual despondency.

4F In Draft
Mott thanked Shinn for packing the embassy had forwarded to the prisoner, a bachelor, was also allowed to receive mail from his parents and younger brother.

Newcomb Mott was graduated from Antioch College in Ohio as a major in history. He taught briefly before becoming a book salesman.

The Motts said their son spent his vacations traveling and had visited about 20 countries. The ill-fated crossing into the Soviet Union, however, was his first visit to a Communist country.

They added that he played basketball and soccer in college, injured his knee and had two operations. This made his draft classification 4F, they said.

Mother Believes Son Murdered

SHEFFIELD, Mass. (UPI)—Mrs. Howard S. Mott, mother of Newcomb Mott, said Friday night she was "convinced" her son was murdered or met death in some other foul-mannered way.

"How could a person commit suicide while being surrounded by guards on a train?" Mrs. Mott said. "Can you tell me how this could happen?"

"Newcomb was not the type who would commit suicide. He was a boy who was very much on his feet," Mrs. Mott said.

The whole thing seems very odd, Newcomb Mott was a boy of courage and stamina," she said.

Mrs. Mott said that when she telephoned the Soviet Embassy seeking more information and to arrange to travel to Russia in some other foul-mannered way.

Gonzales Seeks To Save Scenic Vistas With Rails

By ED JOHNSON
Avalanche-Journal Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — Rep. Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio, a fan of the scenic Southwest, fears that great expanse may someday become an asphalt jungle.

His may be a lone voice trying to preserve the wilderness. But Gonzalez has plans to turn the clock back to ally his disquiet. A staunch supporter of the Great Society, Gonzalez could hardly be accused of wanting to return to the covered-wagon era.

Bill For Railroads
Yet, he is calling for a renaissance of railroading, and is willing to work like a rail splitter back on the right track.

The Congressman, on the first day of the new session, again introduced a bill which he feels might give railroads a new ride. He would have Congress consent to Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California entering into a compact to establish a multistate authority to modernize, coordinate and foster passenger rail service within the four-state area.

AT 8 P.M.
Miss Tureck To Perform In Solo Recital Today
Members of Lubbock Community Concerts Association will welcome Miss Rosalyn Tureck, outstanding pianist, in solo recital at Monterey High School auditorium at 8 p.m. today as the second event of the series 1965-66 season.

The distinguished Chicago-born musician comes to the South Plains at the peak of a reputation which has been gained not only as a brilliant solo pianist but also as an author, lecturer, teacher and authority on the works of Bach.

As a conductor, Miss Tureck has distinguished herself, a number of her six by achieving highest honors at the head of many distinguished orchestras. She made history in 1958 by being the first woman ever invited to conduct the New York Philharmonic in four concerts on its regular weekly series.

Honored Many Times
Her performance of the Goldberg Variations at Philharmonic Hall in 1961 in New York caused the magazine Time to remark "She played without intermission or breaks or applause for 80 minutes, and when she stood at last the cheers that greeted her seemed like shouts from the heart. She had perfectly captured the spiritual momentum of Bach's music."

She has received many honors, one of them the Diploma of Honorary Membership in the Guildhall School of Music and Drama in London, an honor rarely accorded Americans.

Her program today includes the Fantasia in C Minor by Beethoven, the Sonata in F Major Opus 109 by Ludwig van Beethoven, Variations and Fugue on a theme by Handel by J.S. Bach, and the Partita No. 2 in C Minor by Bach.

DURING LEAVES
Post Soldiers Find 'Home' Not Too Safe
POST (Special) — Two Post GI's home on leave — one from Turkey and one from Viet Nam — no doubt have ideas of their own as to whether things are safer and smoother at home.

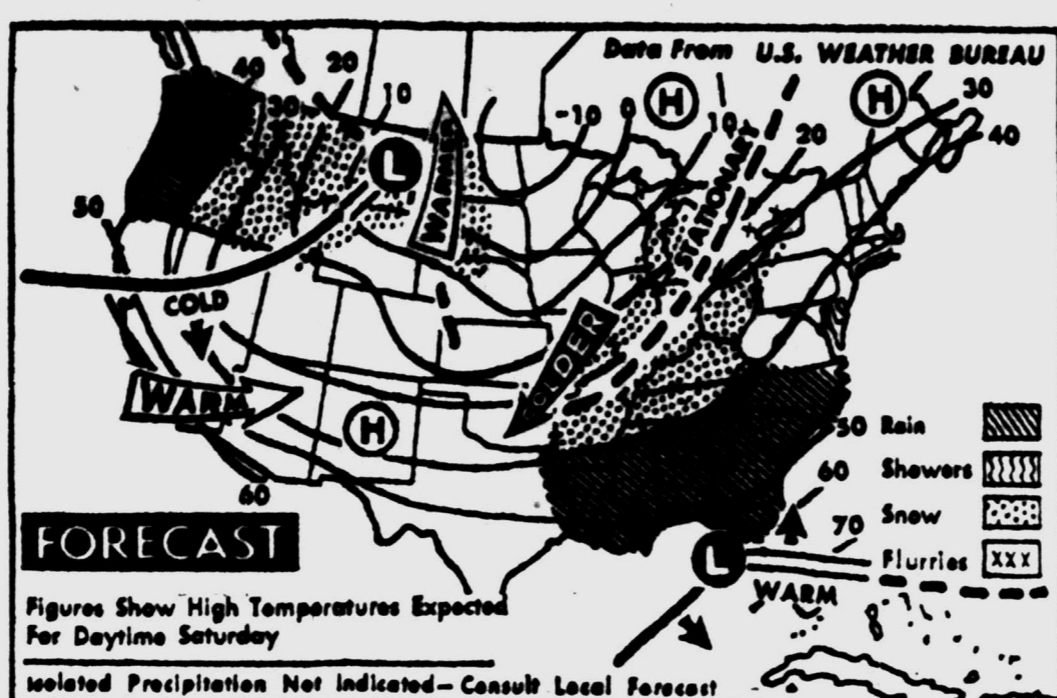

Sp-4 Frankie Gary developed a case of laryngitis en route home by plane from Turkey and had to cancel plans to call his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gary, from New York to tell them he had arrived.

By the time the GI's plane reached Dallas, he had recovered his speech enough to whisper a phone message to his parents for them to meet him at the Lubbock airport.

Breaks Leg
Then, a night or two later, Gary fell and broke his leg while out with friends. He will spend most of his 30-day leave recuperating at home.

The other soldier, Pfc. Ramon Gonzales, who arrived home Dec. 28 from Viet Nam on 30-day emergency leave, was involved in an automobile collision last Friday night. The soldier escaped serious injury, but his brother's car that he was driving was heavily damaged.

Oddly, both of the returned servicemen are in security work in their respective overseas theaters. Pfc. Gonzales, a security guard with the U.S. Army, is stationed at Pleiku, and is scheduled to return to Viet Nam Jan. 27. Sp-4 Gary had spent 17 months in Turkey with the U.S. Army Security Agency.

WEATHER FORECAST Snow or flurries are expected today for northern plains, plateau, mid-Mississippi, Ohio and Tennessee Valleys, and Lakes area. Appearances Set For Lady Bird

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon Johnson has scheduled two Texas dates March 30 and April 1. She accepted an invitation to cut a ribbon officially opening the annual Roundup homecoming celebration at her alma mater, the University of Texas in Austin March 30.

Two days later she will attend the dedication of a San Antonio River lighting project. The Johnson's daughter, Lynda, 21, is a senior at the University. Mrs. Johnson will join her there for the celebration.

San Antonio will be opening an unusual lighting beautification system on the San Antonio River. Mrs. Johnson accepted the invitation of San Antonio Mayor William McAllister to be there for the dedication April 1.

'Petrolie Anonymous' Child's Slayer

To Get Chair

LONDON (UPI) — A doctor said this week he believed he had come across the first case of intoxication from drinking and inhaling gasoline.

Dr. Vinodh Karani, formerly registrar in the department of neurology at a group of Bombay hospitals, said a 20-year-old motor mechanic accidentally drank gasoline while siphoning a tank when he was 17.

"Thereafter he took about a liter (two pints) of petrol a week," Karani said in the British Medical Journal. He said that five months before admission to a hospital the man developed weakness of the left leg and a month later the right one.

$2.1 Million Trial Planned For Trains

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Commerce Department has awarded a $2.1 million contract for a trial demonstration of two high-speed gas turbine trains.

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., made the announcement Friday. He said the trains would run between Providence, R.I., and Boston, Mass. Pell said he believes they could hold the key to "revival of our New England railroads."

Utah's Pioneer Day (July 24) commemorates the date Brigham Young and his Mormon followers arrived at Great Salt Lake valley in 1847.

DO FUNERALS COST TOO MUCH?

1,750 KILLED Dead In Viet Top Two Wars

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. combat dead total in the Viet Nam war has reached 1,750, topping the battle fatalities in two previous wars in U.S. history.

The Viet Nam war toll from Jan. 1, 1961, through Monday, Jan. 17, 1966, included 1,753 Americans who fell in the Mexican War and the 385 who were killed in action in the Spanish-American War.

A total of 68 U.S. servicemen died in combat with the Communists last week, the weekly report of the Pentagon showed Thursday.

The roster of wounded increased by 34 names, bringing the overall total since January 1961 to 8,377.

The missing decreased by nine to 140 and the number of known prisoners went up one to 26.

Resthaven's "PRE-NEED" plan is revolutionary.

For you are the one who can answer that — and the only one who can. The fact is, the 1966 Resthaven funeral service is indeed more elaborate, and has become a far more deeply expressive memorial than in the days of your great-great grandfather, when a pine-box was the rule.

Resthaven has found no Lubbock families who want a pine-box funeral. Yet for those who do want a complete service, but with the utmost in economy, Resthaven does offer exactly that.

And this is important: EVERY DETAIL OF THIS RESTHAVEN SERVICE WILL BE PRECISELY THE SAME AS EVERY OTHER ONE AT RESTHAVEN. The only difference will be the casket itself.

The fact is, your own choice will probably be made parallel to your station in life. Precisely like your choice of a home, a TV set, or a car.

Unlike burial insurance, you pay only what you contract for, then pay no more. EVER. Also unlike burial insurance, money paid in can be used for any member of the family.

It is available to anyone — regardless of health or age.

It is available for as little as $1.25 per week. And — in Lubbock, this plan, including funeral and cemetery arrangements all at one place is available only at Resthaven.

This is why we are repeatedly stating frankly: "We welcome questions — particularly the question of COST."

You look ahead, plan ahead, for every other important event of your life, why not for this? Why should you make any great decision under deep emotional stress, when you can make it as a calm and thoughtful one?

WIDESPREAD WALKOUT THREATENED Railroads Ask Court Action To Block Trainmen Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The railroads sought a court barrier Friday to block a major strike and a spokesman for the carrier said there isn't going to be any walkout.

The railroads filed an action in U.S. District Court asking an injunction to bar a possible strike next week by the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railway and Air Transport, against some 80 Southern and Western railroads.

And the railroad attorneys asked the court to block the union from holding a strike.

While the legal situation will be after the Jan. 25 expiration of a federal arbitration ruling under which the carriers have been planning to take work stoppages.

'Quiet' Beatle Takes A Bride: One Loner Left

EPSON, England (UPI) — Beatle George Harrison, the most famous big-haired son in England, was married Friday to baby-faced fashion model Pattie Boyd. That left only one Beatle brideless.

Although the wedding was unannounced, the news soon flashed to fans around the world that George, 22, the "quiet Beatle" had married his girlfriend of the past two years in a seven-minute ceremony at the Epsom Registry Office.

"It's the happiest day of my life," said a contented George, who made her one attempt to act a two-minute appearance in the 1964 Beatles movie "A Hard Day's Night."

Only immediate relatives and a few close friends knew about the late-morning wedding in the little blue and white registry office. Paul McCartney, 21, now the sole unmarried member of the musical group, was the only other Beatle present.

John Lennon, 25, married before the Beatles became famous, and rings start, 25, married last year, were vacationing in the West Indies. But George told them about it before they left.

"Of course I am very happy," said guitarist George, who was once an apprentice electrician. "But we shall not have a honeymoon yet. We won't get any peace."

The couple was staying at the George's $56,000, five-bedroom bungalow in a wealthy residential estate at Esher, near Epsom, in southern England. It is surrounded by a 14-foot-high wall.

REVERSAL EFFORT CITY HALL PHOTOGRAPHER

Court Rejects Appeal By Bond

ATLANTA (UPI) — The state court Friday rejected an appeal by a federal court judge in his effort to reverse the Georgia House refusal to seat him.

Atty. Gen. Arthur K. Bolton in a motion filed with a three-judge court said that neither King nor Mrs. Arel Keyes, residents of Bond's Atlanta district had been deprived of constitutional rights.

Bond, a Negro, was refused his seat when the legislature convened two weeks ago after he endorsed a statement describing the United States as an aggressor in Viet Nam and urging men to seek alternatives to military service. Bond also said he admired the courage of anyone who burned a draft card. A temporary lack of representation does not deprive the voters in a district of their constitutional right of representation, the state argued in seeking to dismiss King and Mrs. Keyes from the controversy.

Poverty Worker's New Post Stirs Another NY Hubbub

NEW YORK (AP) — A second big picture regarding the new city photographer at City Hall, it seemed best to focus on New York's First Lady. Her husband, the mayor, said it's all out of focus to him.

New administrators said Mrs. John V. Lindsay said she would not accept the position of city photographer, a job she had held for 10 years.

She was asked to resign as a result of an anti-poverty program, which she had opposed. Lindsay said she was not interested in the job and was not interested in the anti-poverty program.

Miss Thomas, a slender, blue-eyed brunette, was holding the newly created post since 1954. Lindsay, the new Republican mayor, had ordered an economy freeze on hiring in all city departments.

The development involving Miss Thomas led Lindsay to remark, "I didn't know any-

Kasavubu Is Urged To Head Congo Province

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Joseph Kasavubu, ousted president of the Congo, is being urged by provincial politicians to take over as governor of the Congo Province in the central part of the country, a spokesman for the group said Friday.

The plan would involve the voluntary resignation of the present governor, Vital Faustin Moanda, a Kasavubu ally. Lt. Gen. Joseph Mobutu, army commander, ousted Kasavubu last November and took over the government.

Machine Gun Shortage May Save Armory

QUINCY, Mass. (UPI) — Machine guns are being stripped from tanks in Europe and rushed to Viet Nam because of an extreme shortage of such weapons, the president of the Assn. of Government Employees said Friday.

Kenneth Lyons said in an interview here that he was confident the doomed Springfield Armory would be saved from the economy axe of Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara who ordered the facility phased out.

"The prime source and prime supply of some of these major weapons in the small arms field comes from Springfield and the government has not as yet found another supplier," Lyons said.

Referring to upcoming hearings, he stated "I think I'm quite positive that Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., is going to raze McNamara over the coils concerning our shortage in small arms weaponry."

Holdouts On Medicare Now Are Signing Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of persons over 65 who initially rejected the voluntary medical coverage portion of the medicare program now are signing up, a Social Security Administration spokesman said Friday.

Last weekend the agency began a second mailing of explanatory material and application forms to those who previously had rejected coverage.

Response Heavy

It said it had received 32,517 responses by Wednesday, and of those processed it had counted 16,633 who had changed their minds and signed up and 13,656 who stuck to their previous rejection.

Through Wednesday, 10,031, 425 persons over 65 had signed up for the medical program either as a result of mailing or by visits to Social Security offices.

As of that date, the total number of persons was 1,118,036, including those who since have changed their minds.

March 31 Deadline

Persons who were 65 by Jan. 1 must sign up for the medical benefits by March 31 if they want coverage to begin July 1. U.S. 16th Air Force headquarters at Torrejon, near Madrid, becomes effective. They will have to pay $1 a month, beginning July 1, for the protection.

If they don't sign up by March 31 they will have to wait until Oct. 1, 1967, to apply for the coverage and will have to pay a higher premium.

For those persons who have become 65 since Dec. 31 or become 65 hereafter, the law provides a seven-month period within which to enroll, with the seven months beginning three months before the month in which the age of 65 is attained.

Probers Of Crash Site 'Radioactive'

ALMERIA, Spain (AP) — Spanish physicians doing physical checkups on persons engaged in recovering wreckage of a U.S. nuclear bomber said Friday night they had found slight traces of radioactivity among several Spanish Civil Guards (policemen).

There was a brief street demonstration Friday night by about 50 persons in the village of Cuevas de Almanzora who shouted "Down with the Americans and their bombs!" The village is 60 miles northeast of Almeria.

The doctors, flown here by Spain's Board of Nuclear Energy, said these traces were "very slight and should disappear in a few days."

Officials on the spot theorized that one of several nuclear devices picked up from the crash wreckage in the sand dunes hereabouts had broken open enough to let a minimum amount of radioactivity escape.

Spanish sources said these devices have been flown to the U.S. 16th Air Force headquarters at Torrejon, near Madrid.

Submit Clothing

Movors of the Spanish villages of Garrucha, Cuevas de Almanzora, and Vera appealed to all persons who may have touched or picked up pieces of wreckage to submit their clothing to medical teams for examination.

Some of the estimated 1,000 Spanish and U.S. military men who had been searching a still unexploded nuclear device, were switched to a new coastal base in Garrucha. Many believed the missing device had fallen into the sea and preparations apparently were being made to expand an underwater search.

Spanish officials prohibited two chartered planes bringing foreign newsmen from landing at the Spanish Air Force base of San Javier, general headquarters for the search. Both planes were told to land at a commercial field.

U.S. Air Force officials on the scene would not comment on the developments.

Drama like that of these past few days is no stranger to the 85,000 residents of this city. They have participated in it — as movie extras — in films made along the rolling sand dunes.

Bomb Bursts In Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI) — A "low intensity bomb" exploded in a gutter along North Michigan Avenue's "million dollar mile" early Friday, damaging two cars and breaking windows.

The blast occurred about 2 a.m. in front of Stanley Kotshak Inc. an exclusive women's apparel shop, and broke three windows in the second floor of the building.

The explosion touched off fears that the city's "mad bomber" may be back in business.

Police said the bomb was placed between the cars of Robert C. Cochran, 27, a groom broker, and Gene Onesto, 27, a jewelry salesman.

Near Playboy Club

Both were inside the nearby Playboy Club when the blast occurred. They told police they knew of no reason why anyone would bomb their cars.

Damage from the blast was estimated at $300.

Last summer five explosions ripped various sections of Chicago's downtown and near downtown areas, causing thousands of dollars worth of damage to business firms.

The latest explosion, as reported by the public relations director of the Playboy Club, who was standing in front of the club's main entrance, took place when the blast occurred.

Tet Celebration Really Opens Up In Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet. (AP) — Tet really opened up in a radius of two or three feet and they had the potential of starting a fire that could have even blinded.

Little kids and big kids were playing in the air were whooping and shouting.

Missing from the noises of Viet Nam were the American soldiers, fighters, and armed forces as part of a strange confused confusion declared by each side but never agreed to by common consent.

With all the Vietnamese South and North, seemingly dedicated to the sacredness of joining family ties, the makeup of the military units was an understandable. I was scarcely any time to ask any commander of the other government forces or the Communist insure the best they were doing with their AWOLs.

Such a situation presented the Australian, New Zealand, and Korean command's with something they never were taught at the military academy or in boot camp.

So the order was out. Alert duty alert.

It was an thing but a safe and sane Tet.

Mother's Last Desire, To See Sons, Granted

ORANGE, Calif. (AP) — Alta Lombard, 37, a Mexican mother who had cancer, died Friday with her last wish granted.

That wish was to be with her sons, whom she hadn't seen in three years.

The boys, Juan 12 and Baltazar, 9, brought here from Mexico by public donations at Christmas, were with her at Orange County General Hospital when she died.

The visa granted to the boys expired Thursday but immigration authorities in Los Angeles renewed it until July 20, saying they wanted the youths to be with their mother as long as she lived.

Mrs. Lombard, a housekeeper in nearby Santa Ana when the illness was diagnosed, said she wanted to be sent to Mexico, but was declared ill to be moved. The boys tried to come here, but didn't have enough money.

The boys did arrive, however, thanks to funds donated after the Santa Ana Register ran a story of her plight.

"I cannot die now,"

With them from Parral, Mexico came their godmother, Mrs. Pascuala Ojeda. On Dec. 20 the death to the hospital room occurred and in they walked "My little boys," she cried. "My little boys! I thought I wouldn't live through the day to see you."

"I just cannot die now," she told the boys then "I must keep on living because I cannot leave you."

Two New Regents On State Board

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally appointed two new regents Friday for the state university system. They are William Kennel, Marathon rancher, and John Crocker Jr., Houston lawyer.

Reappointed were Mrs. Savannah Cross Lowrey of Troup and J. L. Huffines of Greenville.

Donnell was named to succeed Ed Gossett of Dallas, who resigned for a term ending Jan. 31, 1967. Crocker will succeed Donnell.

To the American in Saigon on "rest and relaxation" leave from some remote outpost, it was hardly what he had been counting on.

Said Miss Thomas: "The bulk of my work will be as a poverty photographer, though I'll be at City Hall whenever they ask me. If it doesn't bother Mayor Lindsay, it doesn't bother me."

"I like my work at City Hall. It's in the thick of things."

Sounds Like A Lot Of Bull

UVALDE (AP) — C. A. McDaniel, owner of the Mirasol Ranch near Uvalde, said Saturday he has sold a 25 per cent interest in his herd sire, Masterpiece 511, to A. O. Phillips, owner of the Diamond P. Ranch of Plano.

McDaniel said the $62,500 paid for the one-fourth interest in his six-year-old Santa Gertrudis bull set a new record for Santa Gertrudis bull sales, either at public auction or private sale. McDaniel placed the total value of Masterpiece 511 at $250,000.

The herd sire will remain at the Mirasol Ranch.

FINALS OVER Semester Closes At Texas Tech

With the fall semester completed, Texas Tech officials are predicting another new enrollment record will be established by the time registration for the spring semester is over. Orientation for freshmen and new students will begin at 1:30 p.m. Monday in the Coronado Room of the Student Union, with registration for entering freshmen and upper classmen slated to get under way at 8 a.m. Tuesday.

Semester Ends
 The fall semester ended Friday with the final round of final exams. Classes for the spring semester begin at 8 a.m. Friday.

Registration will be from 8 a.m. until noon and from 1:30 to 6 p.m. both Tuesday and Wednesday, then again Thursday from 8 a.m. until noon. No late registration is planned.

Tech officials estimate that enrollment will exceed 15,000 students this spring. Last fall's all-time record enrollment was 16,305, but enrollment figures normally are lower in the spring.

Registration Slated
 Tech's largest spring enrollment was 13,380, a record established last spring. Graduate students unable to complete enrollment during the regular registration period can register from 8 a.m. to noon Saturday.

Bill Daniels, Tech's traffic chief, announced that streets leading into central areas of the main campus will be closed to general traffic from 7 a.m. until 3 p.m. daily during registration in the interest of pedestrians and to facilitate enrollment.

FOR UNDERGROUND ADDITION Roosevelt School District Bond Vote Slated Today

Voters in the Roosevelt Rural High School District go to the polls today to decide the fate of a $100,000 school bond election need for additional classroom. Voting will be held from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. today in the Roosevelt Community Clubhouse, adjoining school year to the present figure, representing an increase of 87 per cent.

Absentee ballots were cast through Tuesday and Sept. 14. No tax rate increase in the district is anticipated if the bond issue passes.

If approved, the bond money would be used in construction of an eight-classroom addition to the present buildings and probably the classrooms will be walled underground.

Communists Make No Move To Peace Probes

By STEWART HENSLEY
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sec. of State Dean Rusk somberly reported Friday that the Communists had given no positive or encouraging response to President Johnson's peace overtures.

Rusk hinted that the United States would be justified in resuming its bombing of North Viet Nam.

During the 29 days that the raids have been halted, he said, the North Vietnamese have been given "every opportunity" through the President's worldwide peace offensive to make some response.

"We have been waiting for some word from Hanoi that goes beyond bitter invective or charges that talk of peace is a trick, or a deceit or a swindle," Rusk told a news conference.

"We have been listening for sounds other than the sound of bombs and grenades and mortars in South Viet Nam," he added. "I regret that I cannot report to you any positive and encouraging response to the hopes of the overwhelming majority of mankind."

No "Speculation"
 Rusk refused to speculate on what military moves would be made next, or whether the bombing would actually be resumed.

In response to a question about this, he referred to President Johnson's speech in See RUSK Page 7

Kansas Man Is Charged In Robbery

LOVINGTON (Special) — Guy Wellman Holloway Jr., 36, was charged late Thursday here on two counts including robbery while armed and the second count of fugitive from justice in Kansas.

He reportedly had been charged with possession of firearms while on parole.

Holloway's arrest Thursday came after a hitch-hiker told police of being shot and wounded while fleeing a motorist who gave him a ride, then robbed him.

Holloway, of Wichita Kan., remained in county jail here today after bonds totaling $11,000 had been set by Peace Justice Drayton E. Wasson. Bond of $1,000 was set on the robbery while armed charge, and bond of $10,000 was set on the fugitive from justice charge.

Lea County Sheriff John Pannell identified the alleged robbery victim as Lones Joshua Wynn, 42, Harlan, Ky., who was in a Hobbs hospital with a left shoulder wound.

Holloway was shot and wounded slightly by police at Carlsbad, southwest of Hobbs, when he was arrested Thursday for questioning in the case.

A rifle was found in the prisoner's car.

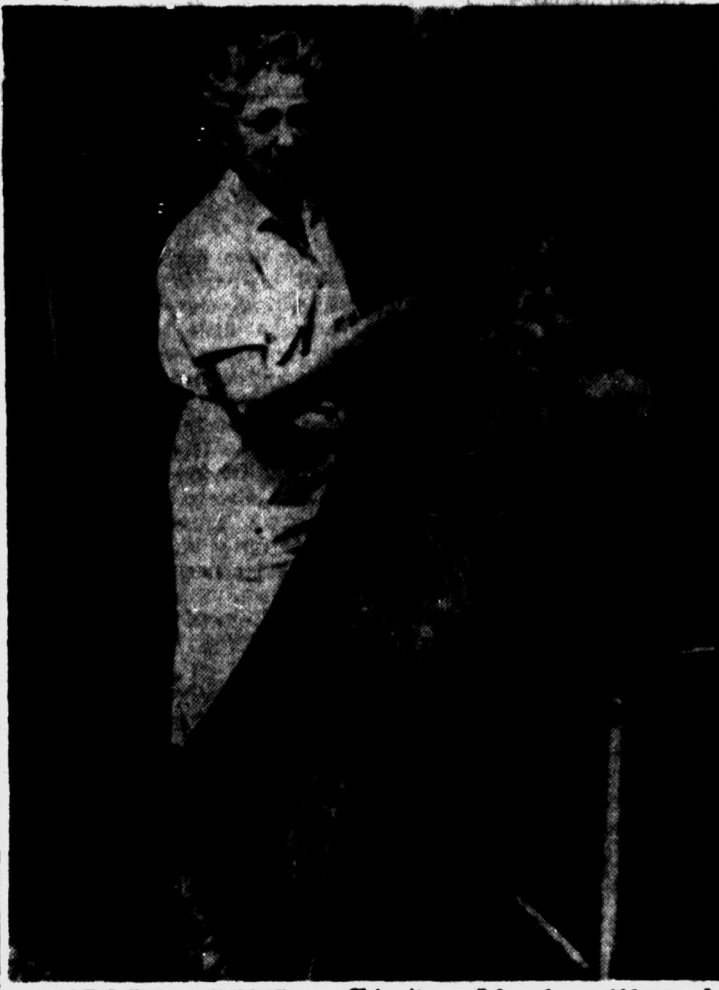

Hitchhiking To Tucson
 Sheriff Pannell quoted Wynn as saying he was hitchhiking to Tucson and accepted a ride out of Hobbs late Wednesday. Wynn said the driver stopped the car about 20 miles west of Hobbs, took about $20 and a pocket watch from Wynn, and then told Wynn to start running.

Wynn, the sheriff reported, said he started running across an open field when he heard See KANSAS Page 7

WORLDWIDE Satellites To Keep 'Eyes' On Weather

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans to put the world's first global operational satellite system into service next month were disclosed Friday.

Two Tiros Operational Satellites — TOS — twin spacecraft with unprecedented weather-reporting capabilities, will be launched from Cape Kennedy, Fla., three weeks apart.

One will provide local stations around the world with daily cloud cover pictures of their particular areas, and the other will perform daily global cloud picture coverage.

Complete Pattern
 Together they will provide a complete pattern of storm development, cloud masses, ice flows, snow cover and other vital weather data on a scale pointed out by, but never possible for, the 10 Tiros experimental and developmental satellites launched to date.

Abraham Schnapf, Tiros-TOS project manager for Radio Corp. of America Astros-Electronics Division, Princeton, N.J., told a reporter the launchings will be a major milestone in U.S. space accomplishments and will satisfy a U.S. commitment to the United Nations world meteorological organization.

Launch Feb. 2
 The National Aeronautics and Space Administration confirmed that the first Tiros operational system, TOS 1, is to be launched from Cape Kennedy Feb. 2.

If the launch is on time and successful TOS 2 probably will be placed in orbit about Feb. 23.

The NASA spokesman who confirmed these dates said that as of Jan. 1, the agency has removed the security classification on launch dates on all satellites of its space sciences and applications office except for spacecraft.

It was learned also that after TOS 1 and TOS 2 get into orbit they probably will be known as ESSA 1 and ESSA 2. This identifies them with the Commerce Department's Environmental Science Services Administration.

ESSA, established last year, combined the former activities of the Weather Bureau, the Coast and Geodetic Survey, and the Central Radio Propagation Laboratory.

ESSA plans ultimately to acquire nine satellites of the TOS type, with two constantly in operation and a third always ready for launch when needed.

The satellites are designed for See SATELLITE Page 7

ANN LANDERS

Use Care With Pills

Dear Ann Landers: The man whose wife died after taking an overdose of sleeping pills may not have been lying to his children when he told them, "Mommy made a mistake and took the wrong medicine."

Two years ago I went into a deep depression when we lost our only son. Our physician prescribed sleeping tablets along with tranquilizing pills. The night of the funeral I took two sleeping tablets and left the bottle on my bedside table. I was awakened at 4:00 P.M. the next afternoon by my panic-stricken husband and a concerned physician.

During the night I had taken four sleeping pills although I had no recollection of doing so. I could have taken the whole bottle and died.

The physician told us that medicine should never be placed on a bedside table. It should always be placed in the medicine cabinet, so one must get out of bed and walk to get it. Please publish this letter. It could save a life. Lucky To Be Alive

Dear Lucky: Thank you for the lifesaver. And while we are on the subject, I'd like to add this: Partly-used bottles of medicine should be stored in a locked cabinet to eliminate the danger of getting the wrong medicine during the night.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been happily married for over 20 years. Craig is a fine person and he is kind and generous by nature. We have very few arguments and our sex life is excellent. During the last several months Craig has shocked me with his remarks in mixed company about our intimate relations. His slyly-worded "jokes" suggest that I am an inadequate bed partner.

Can it be that when men reach their middle 40's they feel the need to appear more active sexually than their wives? Is this part of the male ego?

I know very well that Craig is totally satisfied at home and I cannot figure out why he tries to make it appear otherwise. Please enlighten me. Puzzlement

Dear Puzzled: The reason for Craig's guess, and your guess is probably right on target. But whatever the reason, he is guilty of gross bad taste. I can't imagine a topic less suitable for small talk than this one. Tell him to stay off the subject unless he wants to be thought of as a boorish chatterbox.

Dear Ann Landers: I married into a family that just loves to give showers for engaged girls, new brides, new babies, anniversaries, birthdays, and anything they can dream up. Many of the women bring their husbands along, and even their children. They say, "I couldn't get a sitter," or "my husband decided to come and see if he could get up a pinocchio game."

I always wind up feeding eight or ten more people than I had planned on and, of course, I run short of food. Would it be all right to tell the women when I invite them to my house to please leave their husbands and kids at home? Outnumbered

Dear Out: Most husbands couldn't be dragged to a woman's shower with a 20 mile team. Since you married into a family where the husbands enjoy going why not count on it and let the men have their pinocchio game?

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Cooking Not Dull...It's Exciting!

By GRACE HOLMAN
Women's Staff Writer
"Cooking three meals a day, three hundred sixty-five days a year cannot be described as a dull necessity, but rather as something that is fun, exciting and challenging," said five members of the Flair for Living Roundtable committee at Lubbock Women's Club Friday.

B. Blankenship and J. J. Christman, demonstrated "The Way to a Man's Heart" with new recipes. "The creative approach," they said, "is the answer to converting an ordinary, 'run-of-the-mill' meal into an extravaganza. This includes reading cookbooks for fun, using 'tastebuds' of the mind, making changes in both old and new recipes and knowing the 'whys' of ingredients and experimentation."

Imagination, not formality, gives the final glowing touch."

Four parts of any meal are the beginning and ending. The beginning gains interest and perks appetites with vegetables chosen and cooked at the peak of goodness, or a cold soup, such as Gazpacho. The end forms a climax with a dessert of correct heaviness or lightness. "Men, contrary to their denials, particularly like desserts," they agreed. "The heavier, gozier and sweeter, the better."

The Mature Parent Wants Reassurance Of Her Son's Reliability

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: My husband's mother is trying to make us take her into our home by threatening to enter a Golden Age community. But we are, frankly, terrified to do it. Though we see her every weekend, by Monday she's on the phone telling us how lonely she is and asking us to see her that night. She has been a dominating woman all her life and is now so clinging and dependent that she wears us out.

Answer: You really think she regards living with two people who don't want her as an enchanting prospect? If you do, you're crazy. She doesn't want to live with you. Nobody wants to live with people who don't want them.

What she wants is someone that she can rely on. You are as scared as we are of the hurts we may give each other. People of different generations and interests used to living independent lives. What you really want is our pledge that we are not going to let anybody abuse you. You want to know you can trust us to see to it that you get what you need.

"You can trust us to do this. We promise this. If you will believe this, you can begin to think about the advantages of living in this Golden Age community over living with us."

I hope she'll be able to hear you. Sometimes, elderly people who've been dominators can't hear anything but echoes of the terror they felt as children of unreliable parents. They had to become dominators because they couldn't trust their parents to insure their safety. As terrified children, they had to adopt the dominator's tragic solution to the problems of survival around untrustworthy adults—only by making you afraid of opposing me can I be safe.

Though they may manage with this solution so long as they retain their power to terrorize by their tantrums, demands and reproaches, old age begins to erode this power. In the poor dominator's frenzied clinging behavior we are shown the child's original despair of any human concern for him, in all its nakedness.

Try to get through to the terrified child she is revealing to you. Anyway, try.

VIEWPOINT STIRS DEBATE IN RELIGION

Practitioners Of 'New Morality' Believe Right Depends On Situation

By GEORGE W. CORNELL, no person can know what is sex between a married couple... Associated Press Religion Writer right or wrong until in the who hate each other is "living"

Ordinarily, lying is considered a sin... The situationist is prepared in any concrete case to suspend, ignore or violate any principle if, by doing so he can effect more good than by following it.

What is right depends on the situation... Rules Believed Flexible... He points out that it does not abandon the old moral standards, but sees them only as "general principles" rather than inflexible rules.

Some theologians defend it... insisting that it invokes greater personal responsibility... Others, however, condemn it, claiming that it undermines God-given codes of conduct.

It is variously called "contextual morality" or "situation ethics"... It holds that every decision on whether an action is good or bad hinges on the act itself means or ends.

Objectives Raised... One objection is raised, how, argues that goodness is "what counts" that tends to make things... Situationist Prepared... For instance, he says, while some insist that lying is wrong in itself, it is ordinarily wrong because of the consequences.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The world is filled with the sound of many drums. Drums of militarism stir man to war and conquest. Drums of conformity invite him to keep step with low standards and false values. Drums of greed lure him into the killing pace of selfish getting and gaining. But a different drum sounds, too. It beats in the rhythm of law and love, and rings with the sound of eternal truths. It beckons man to integrity and true self-fulfillment; it calls him to the path of duty and to the way of service. The different drum is God's.

A man must choose which drum he will listen for and follow. Many years ago, Henry David Thoreau wrote: "If a man does not keep pace with his companions, perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer."

God's house is one place where you will hear the "Different Drummer." Worship there this Sunday with your family.

IRONSI AT HELM

Nigerian 'Strong Man' Sets Military Regime

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Gen. Johnson Aguiyi Ironsi announced Friday night the formation of a two-pronged military government with himself as president and supreme commander controlling the entire administration of Nigeria.

The strong man, who took over from the former civilian government last weekend, named the heads of the Nigerian army, navy and air force as his top advisers.

An official statement by Ironsi said the military regime would consist of two organs — the Supreme Military Council and a Federal Executive Council.

Ironsi Heads Both

Ironsi appointed himself president of both. The Federal Executive Council will perform the functions exercised by the former Council of Ministers the statement said. The three service chiefs will also serve on both councils.

Military governors earlier appointed by Ironsi to run the administration of Nigeria's four regions were made members of the Supreme Military Council.

The military government reaffirmed the assurances given by the previous government that it had no intention of nationalizing Nigeria's industries. A statement said the government would not go beyond the extent to which public utilities were already nationalized.

Welcomes Businessmen — The government welcomes all honest businessmen who are prepared to invest in the country in mutually beneficial projects, the statement added.

It also re-emphasized an intention to honor all treaty obligations and financial agreements entered into by the former government.

The military governor of the midwestern region, Lt. Col. D. A. Ejor, arrived in the city to assume his duties.

He held a news conference the people of Nigeria were experiencing the birth of a new nation.

"Birth Of Baby" — "We are experiencing the birth of a baby. To nurse the baby you and I have to give it care to bring it to manhood," he said.

He expressed Ironsi's gratitude for the willingness of Nigerians to cooperate, and added he hoped the people would work together as brothers and so build up the country.

There still was no word on the whereabouts of former Prime Minister Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa, kidnapped by army officers on the first day of the coup. Some fear he has been killed.

Rusk

Independence, Mo., Thursday in which he said the United States would fulfill its commitment to the Vietnamese people.

The secretary also declared that he recognized the Viet Nam conflict might ignite a wider war in Asia, but he said the Communists must realize that this would mean great peril to them.

Door Kept Open — Rusk said the United States would continue to pursue the path toward peace "with patience and persistence," but he added:

"As President Johnson put it yesterday, the door of peace must be kept wide open for all who wish to avoid the scourge of war, but the door of aggression must be closed and bolted if man himself is to survive." So we shall do what we can to bring peace to Southeast Asia, and shall do what we must to prevent the success of a cruel aggression.

As for the peace offensive itself, the secretary said that it had produced an "overwhelmingly favorable response" except "from those who could in fact sit down and make peace."

McNAMARA SAYS REDS USE LULL TO ADVANCE — WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sec. of Defense Robert S. McNamara accused Friday that North Viet Nam was taking military advantage of the U.S. bombing lull, but he said this was a small price to pay in the search for peace.

After testifying at a closed meeting of Senate committees, McNamara acknowledged that the Communists were making use of the time to regroup and resupply their forces in South Viet Nam, and said the rate of infiltration from the North had been stepped up.

McNamara appeared for a second day before the Senate Armed Services Committee and defense appropriations subcommittee on President Johnson's request for an additional $1.7 billion for the Viet Nam war.

JAPANESE PEACE PLEA REJECTED IN MOSCOW — (AP) — The Soviet Union rejected Friday a plea to bring North Viet Nam to a negotiating table with the United States.

The foreign minister of Japan, Ichiro Shima, asked Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin to use his influence in Hanoi to get negotiations started.

But the reply was that the Soviet Union is not directly involved, and therefore is not going to be a mediator. Shima told a news conference.

TWO ARRESTED

Burglaries In City Are Cleared Up

City patrolmen reported two burglaries cleared up Friday with the arrest of two men who drove out of a service station without headlights.

Charged with burglary were Dwayne Rhea Millman, 25, 1504 21st St., and L. D. Collier, 43, 1906 15th St.

Justice of the Peace George H. McCleskey set bond of $5,000 for Collier and $2,000 for Millman. Both were remanded to custody in lieu of bail.

The pair was arrested a short distance from Shamrock service station, 301 Ave. H.

An alert had been broadcast on the car occupied by the suspects, officers said.

Earlier, at 12:35 a.m. today, patrolman H. E. Brink had checked on the car at M. Linn's station, 2302 Clovis Road. The driver said he just needed water for the car, Brink reported. But at 1:45 a.m., Brink found the station had been burglarized and two vending machines looted. He reported descriptions of boot and tire tracks and the car he checked previously.

At the Shamrock station, patrolman R. L. Newton spotted the vehicle. Officers said boot, shoe, and car tracks were found there and were matched with those of the suspects and their car. Found in the car were tools taken from the station and also a bag with about $86 in it and a receipt of Lubbock Cigarette Service, also identified as taken from the Shamrock station.

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — City Judge Eugene Weiss Friday fined 18-year-old Phillip Caputo, Baltimore, Md. $50 for riding down the hallway of a high school on a motorcycle to impress a girl he had met.

PREMIER MORO RESIGNS

Nursery School Aid Issue Topples Italy Government

ROME (UPI) — The coalition government of Premier Aldo Moro fell Friday on the issue of aid to nursery schools.

The government crisis was complicated by a full-scale battle for power in Moro's Christian Democratic party. Moro handed in his resignation to President Giuseppe Saragat, who immediately asked him to remain on as caretaker. He kept almost certain Moro would be asked to form a new government when Saragat finished a round of tedious conferences with all the political leaders.

Queen Reduces Death Sentence For Rhodesian

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth II Friday night ordered the death sentence of second Rhodesian African convicted of arson commuted to life in prison.

Earlier in the day the Rhodesian government charged the Queen's remorse for another African under the same sentence was a political move designed to embarrass the Rhodesian government.

Commutes Sentence — The Queen Friday commuted to life the sentence of Simon Runwaya, after she had reviewed an African identified only as Lazarus. Both men were convicted under a Rhodesian maintenance of law and order statute.

Under British law, the Queen's orders make it illegal for the Rhodesian government to carry out the death sentences against the two men.

Normally a reprieve would have been granted by the governor of Rhodesia, Sir Humphrey Gibbs, acting for the Queen on the advice of a Rhodesian minister. But since Britain does not recognize the regime of Ian Smith, the order was issued from London.

"Quite Irresponsible" — "On such flimsy information as can have been available, it (the reprieve) was quite irresponsible," a Rhodesian government statement said.

"It goes much further than that because here a man's life is at stake and the British government have used it for their own political ends quite obviously with the intention of trying to undermine law and order in Rhodesia and to interfere with local security."

"It must be made quite clear that the Rhodesian government does not recognize the authority of the British government to interfere in Rhodesian affairs and regards so-called exercise of royal prerogative in this instance an illegal act."

$228.8 MILLION — AUSTIN (AP) — State Treasurer Jesse James said Friday that the state's deposits in bank savings accounts will earn 4 per cent annual interest beginning Feb. 1, instead of 3 1/2 per cent. Texas has $228.8 million in (savings) accounts, James said. These accounts are distributed among Texas banks which apply to serve as depositories for state money.

Interest Raised On State Funds — At the new interest rate, James said, annual interest income this year should total $9.1 million. Interest on the accounts has totaled around $5 million for two years.

The new rate was put in force by a vote of the State Depository Board. James said the board determines the rate of interest the state will receive from

AT PLANE

Stowaway GI Is Arrested

NEW YORK (UPI) — A young Army private who stowed away aboard a United Airlines Seattle to New York jetliner was taken into custody Friday by Military Police after the plane arrived at Kennedy International Airport here.

He was identified as Pvt. Larry R. Pakke, about 20, of New York City. The tall, thin serviceman who appeared surprised by his reception as he stepped from the plane, was questioned by FBI agents for more than 90 minutes in a private airport room before he was turned over to the Military Police.

Pakke, dressed in a peaked cap, three-quarter length gray tunic and dark green slacks, was weeping as he was walked, handcuffed, to a waiting car. The private, absent without leave from Fort Lewis, Wash., was taken to a rooming house on Friday night in New York's 18th Police Precinct where the armed forces police detachment maintains an office.

Pakke declined to talk to newsmen. He told two stewardesses aboard the plane that he lived in New York City, but he did not go into any further details as to why he hid in a lavatory aboard the plane.

He apparently slipped aboard the TCS while one of the three stewardesses, who normally stands in the door to check passengers, was occupied.

It also was reported that the Minister Ambrose Bonfanti also had stowed away. Mrs. Observance said a major fight broke out between the party members had voted against the plan.

If Viet Nam Peace Negotiations Fail, Alternate Military Plans Are Ready

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Even while President Johnson's administration continues casting about for a way to bring Hanoi into Viet Nam peace negotiations, its military branch must have ready alternative plans for use if the effort fails.

It is standard procedure for any government in any war. At the end of World War II, the United States had plans completed and huge land-sea-air force poised for invasion of Japan if Tokyo did not surrender. The plan, "Operation Comet," never was needed but it was ready.

Alternative Plans Ready
This is not to say there is any plan for the invasion of North Viet Nam. It is to show only that alternate plans always are made, patterned to fit shifting military situations or changes in broad national policy.

The options prepared by the strategy makers for application in Viet Nam obviously would range from modest to maximum.

As the weeks of lull in the bombing and peace efforts have worn on, speculation on what President Johnson might elect to do has ranged widely.

Clue From McNamara?
Some thought a clue was to be found in the testimony given by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to senators on his request for another $12.7 billion

Attention was caught by two points in McNamara's statement, as released to newsmen. These were a request for money to procure huge tonnages of ammunition for a "massive application of firepower" in Viet Nam; for funds to continue extension of the system of harbors, warehouses, barracks and other troop support and facilities.

Each point toward a much bigger war within Viet Nam. McNamara made no public reference to where, when or how attacks on targets in North Viet Nam might be resumed.

Secret Sessions
Sen. Richard B. Russell, (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, told newsmen that in the secret session McNamara had "implied it would not be too long" before operations were resumed if Johnson's peace offensive failed.

However, McNamara told reporters he knew of no deadline on the lull. And Secretary of State Dean Rusk at a news conference Friday declined to discuss the question of resuming bombing or its timing. But he said he looks for intensified Communist activity after the current new year holiday lull.

While the McNamara statement may have been grounds for believing that heavier ground action, with accompanying heavier air operations to support the action, might be in the course. Johnson would choose, there was nothing substantive to rule out the possibility of sending the bombers back to North Viet Nam.

What Johnson has in mind about the future course of the war is one of the best kept secrets in this capital.

There are reasons to believe that no more than half a dozen men in the whole Pentagon have been given any clue—and that these do not include operational commanders who draft alternate plans.

The machinery for resumption of bombing, and for heavier bombing if ordered, remains assembled and ready for use. Air Force bombers, currently concentrating on Viet Cong targets in the State of the Union address to Congress on Jan. 12, Johnson said he couldn't give the lawmakers a blueprint for the course of conflict because "we cannot know what the future may require."

But he assured Congress that American fighting men must have "every gun, every dollar and every decision whatever the cost and whatever the challenge."

Other Steps Discussed
In early December, before the diplomatic drive for peace negotiations was started, Johnson had talked about "other hard steps" which would be needed if the Communists continued to refuse proposals for unconditional peace negotiations.

Even without any major escalation by either side, the proposals of the war promise to expand steadily and inexorably. Manpower and supplies continue to come into South Viet Nam from the North.

The United States currently has more than 191,000 men in Viet Nam, may have more than 400,000 in another six months.

These, however, are not new "hard steps" or going ahead with plans "whatever the challenge."

New "Hard Steps"
What might some new hard steps be?

There are, of course, proposals to bomb North Viet Nam more intensively, particularly the capital, Hanoi, and port areas of Haiphong.

The United States has said it does not want to overthrow the government of North Viet Nam, but merely to stop it from imposing its system on South Viet Nam.

Intensified bombing, in addition to somewhat symbolic strikes at the capital itself, would be designed to destroy the war-making economy of North Viet Nam. More electric power plants would be bombed to cripple munitions factories.

Harbor Target
Haiphong harbor could be a target and the approaches to the harbor closed off by mines or actual blockade by ships and aircraft. But that might lead to attacks, intentional or unintentional, on Soviet ships bringing supplies and equipment to the Hanoi government. If there is any hope that the Soviet Union might have influence in coaxing Hanoi toward suspension of hostilities, bombs on Soviet ships might blast this hope as well as the ships.

An even more delicate decision would have to be made if direct attacks on Viet Cong sanctuaries and supply lines in Laos and Cambodia were to be made.

Over the so-called Ho Chi Minh trail, actually a number of somewhat parallel routes, flow substantial supplies and reinforcements and replacements for Communist units in South Viet Nam. The trail loops out of west North Viet Nam, winds southward to Laos and enters Red-held areas of South Viet Nam.

Forward elements of the division drove to within one hundred feet of the river boundary—and stopped there.

Cambodia Problem
Cambodia is an even more perplexing problem. Despite official disclaimers by the Cambodian government, it is being used by the Reds as a sanctuary.

This was demonstrated dramatically last week. U.S. troops had moved into the area west of Pleiku in heavy force. The 1st Cavalry, Airmo-

Force 11, and the 2nd Air Division aimed at surrounding and capturing or destroying some of the thousands of guerrillas who had held the region for years.

The division drove forward, destroying the Viet Cong camps and other installations. But there were no Viet Cong, only signs that they had left hurriedly across the border into Cambodia.

Forward elements of the division drove to within one hundred feet of the river boundary—and stopped there.

Carriers On Stations
The three Navy carriers, from which thousands of sorties had been launched at the time of the bombing cessation, remain on their stations, two on the Northern "Yankee" station and one on the Southern "Dixie" position off the Vietnamese coast. Aerial reconnaissance of North Viet Nam continues.

In his State of the Union address to Congress on Jan. 12, Johnson said he couldn't give the lawmakers a blueprint for the course of conflict because "we cannot know what the future may require."

But he assured Congress that American fighting men must have "every gun, every dollar and every decision whatever the cost and whatever the challenge."

182 Animals Sold After Tullia Show
TULLIA (Special)—A total of 182 animals sold here Thursday night for $27,522.88 to end the annual Tullia County Fair Stock Show.

Officials announced Friday that 23 steers sold for an average price of 186 cents a pound for all peace negotiations.

Even without any major escalation by either side, the proposals of the war promise to expand steadily and inexorably. Manpower and supplies continue to come into South Viet Nam from the North.

In the hog sale, 110 animals brought a total of $11,517.21 an average of 54 1/2 cents a pound.

Some thought a clue was to be found in the testimony given by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to senators on his request for another $12.7 billion

Attention was caught by two points in McNamara's statement, as released to newsmen. These were a request for money to procure huge tonnages of ammunition for a "massive application of firepower" in Viet Nam; for funds to continue extension of the system of harbors, warehouses, barracks and other troop support and facilities.

Each point toward a much bigger war within Viet Nam. McNamara made no public reference to where, when or how attacks on targets in North Viet Nam might be resumed.

Secret Sessions
Sen. Richard B. Russell, (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, told newsmen that in the secret session McNamara had "implied it would not be too long" before operations were resumed if Johnson's peace offensive failed.

However, McNamara told reporters he knew of no deadline on the lull. And Secretary of State Dean Rusk at a news conference Friday declined to discuss the question of resuming bombing or its timing. But he said he looks for intensified Communist activity after the current new year holiday lull.

While the McNamara statement may have been grounds for believing that heavier ground action, with accompanying heavier air operations to support the action, might be in the course. Johnson would choose, there was nothing substantive to rule out the possibility of sending the bombers back to North Viet Nam.

What Johnson has in mind about the future course of the war is one of the best kept secrets in this capital.

There are reasons to believe that no more than half a dozen men in the whole Pentagon have been given any clue—and that these do not include operational commanders who draft alternate plans.

The machinery for resumption of bombing, and for heavier bombing if ordered, remains assembled and ready for use. Air Force bombers, currently concentrating on Viet Cong targets in the State of the Union address to Congress on Jan. 12, Johnson said he couldn't give the lawmakers a blueprint for the course of conflict because "we cannot know what the future may require."

Best Time Set Friday At Riverside

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—A sharp assault on the clock was staged at the Riverside Raceway Friday with Cale Yarborough of Timmonsville, S.C., coming up with the best qualifying time for Sunday's $75,000 race.

Yarborough, driving a 1966 Ford around the 2.7-mile circuit, made the distance in 1:32.96 at a speed of 104.56 miles per hour.

Yarborough's rapid turn, made only 20 minutes before the day's qualifying runs ended, bumped Billy Foster of Vancouver, B.C., Canada, out of the 11th place berth.

Foster, driving a 1965 Dodge, set a speed of 103.86 m.p.h. earlier.

A. J. Foyt of Houston pushed his new Ford around the course at 103.33 m.p.h. to qualify for 13th place. Foyt had had luck Thursday when he hit the wall and had to return to the pits for repairs.

Other qualifiers Friday were Norm Nelson of Racine, Wis., in a 1965 Plymouth, and Bobby Isaac of Catawba, S.C., driving a 1966 Ford. Nelson hit 103.23 m.p.h. for qualifying. Isaac made the course at 102.72 m.p.h.

David Pearson of Spartanburg, S.C., won the pole position Thursday with a record qualifying time at 106.07 m.p.h.

Cowboys Hire Ernie Stautner

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League announced Friday the hiring of Ernie Stautner, 40, as defensive line coach.

Stautner, line coach of the Washington Redskins last season, played 14 years with the Pittsburgh Steelers and was a player-coach in the 1963 and 1964 seasons.

He played in nine pro bowl games and was voted the outstanding lineman in the 1958 game. Jim Myers, who has been serving as defensive line coach for the Cowboys, will become offensive line coach.

Stautner, 1950 graduate of Boston College, is a Marine Corps veteran of South Pacific action in World War II. He is married and has three children.

Cager Charged With Eleven (11) Fouls!

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Walter (Buddy) Harris may have set some kind of record when he committed 11 personal fouls in a high school basketball game Friday night.

His school, Roxborough, beat Olney 66-64 in a Public League game. The Public League does not permit a player to foul out, but grants possession to the other team for each foul over five.

Harris had scored only seven points when he drew his fifth foul, but he eventually scored 34.

AUSSIE TENNIS Americans Start Strong In Meet

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The United States got off to a strong start when Marty Riessen, 0-40 in the second. However, he pulled out the second game with a series of powerful serves and achieved the decisive break through in the ninth game with winning five straight points on sharp passing shots.

The chief American hope for wrestling the title from Australia's Roy Emerson, Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., will make his debut Saturday as will Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, the No. 2 foreign seed.

Ashe's opponent is Richard Crealy, a Sydney youngster who is expected to cause him no trouble.

Move On Riessen and FitzGibbon brushed past lightly regarded Australian opponents in quick straight sets but McManus, of Berkeley, Calif., had to stage a spectacular comeback for a victory over Rodney Brent, 23-year-old Australian school teacher, 5-7, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

Riessen, No. 4 in the foreign seeded list and son of the tennis coach at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., trounced Ray Wilson 6-1, 6-3, 6-2. The gangling, hard-hitting FitzGibbon, former Princeton University tennis captain from Garden City, N.Y., had a similarly easy time with Noel Holland, 6-0, 6-3, 6-3.

It was a different story with McManus, who appeared headed for elimination when he dropped the first two sets to Brent and later fell behind 0-1 and 0-40 in the fifth.

The Californian changed from cautious tactics to a go-for-broke aggressive game in the third set and the shift paid off. He immediately caused Brent to lose both his rhythm and confidence.

After tying the score at two sets each, McManus again

AUSSIE TENNIS Americans Start Strong In Meet

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The United States got off to a strong start when Marty Riessen, 0-40 in the second. However, he pulled out the second game with a series of powerful serves and achieved the decisive break through in the ninth game with winning five straight points on sharp passing shots.

Massengale

Massengale started his par-breaking Friday by chipping in from 25 feet on the second hole.

He curled in the long putt on the 370-yard fifth and finished the first nine with a 34. An 18-footer dropped for a birdie at the 10th and a seven-footer at the 13th.

He three-putted the 16th for his bogey and then dropped a 25-foot birdie putt on the next hole.

Wife Was Waiting "My wife was waiting for me when I finished, so we just got out of the car and left," he said of his disappearing act. "We didn't learn I was in the lead until we saw the world last year in the 100-yard dash—a clocking of 0:91. Anderson was NAIA's outdoor champion but Hines has beaten both men in previous races. Duncan ran several .094 races last year as a freshman.

Texas Represented Other NAIA outdoor champions entered include Frank tough Pebble Beach course Erlacina, Sam Houston State's pole vaulter, Don Lakin over-par 74 and a 142 total of Fort Hays, two-mile run, and Pat McMahon of Oklahoma Baptist University, cross-country.

McMahon will compete in the two-mile run.

George Woods of Southern Illinois Sugar Bowl meet shot

Arnie Hits Tree Palmer's worst hole was a double bogey 6 on the 11th hole when he hit into the woods and slammed the ball into a tree trying to hit out.

Four were tied for second with 69 at the end of the first round and they came a crashing at Pebble Beach. Phil Bondson skidded to 77. Ken Towns went to 79. Ernie Vossler had 78 and Lee Raymond 78.

Bill Ozden, who had a hole-in-one during his opening round 72, skied to 81 for 155.

Pitchers Aid Pros The two pitching aces of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax, continued to help their partners in the best ball competition.

Drysdale and Al Besselink carded 62-64 for a 126 and a second place while Koufax and Ken Still were in the group at 127 with 63-64. Besselink had a 77-148 on his own ball and was helped 13 strokes by Drysdale in the second round. Still had 72-143. Both pitchers are playing with handicaps of 18 in this event.

Chris Blocker, playing the toughest course of the three used in the tourney, Pebble Beach, shot a three-over par 75 for a 145 total, eight strokes off the pace.

Blocker had trailed the leaders by only two shots after the first round Thursday, but four bogeys on the front nine to fall down the line although he was one-under for the last nine holes.

Terry Dill of Muleshoe, playing at Cypress Point, turned in a two-over par 74 and now has a 151 total.

PRESCRIBED BY FEDERAL LAWS

LBJ Crime Commission To Prepare For Effort To Abolish Death Penalty

By LESLIE CARPENTER (Washington-Journal Washington Bureau) WASHINGTON—President Johnson's national crime commission will start preparing for an effort to abolish the death penalty for federal offenses, while toughening up on the length of jail terms.

The issue likely will not go into Congressional debate before 1967 because time is needed to review the punishment now prescribed in various federal criminal laws. Once it does bounce into debate, it could become one of the hottest domestic items on the agenda for the next Congress.

Capital punishment has been a controversial issue for a long time. A 1965 Gallup Poll showed 45 per cent favoring it and 43 per cent opposing it. Another poll by the Christian Herald last year asked a different, but related, question: "Do you think of the Department of Justice," which is that capital punishment should go, but not until all aspects of crime, punishment and sentencing are "adequately" considered. This means consideration of how much prison on each federal crime should require. Justice's "position" contains these two sentences: "Society must be protected. Probation and parole should reflect our full experience with corrections and public safety."

Book Heightens Interest Today, obviously because a million are reading the stirring Truman Capote book, "In Cold Blood," the White House is getting a large volume of letters for and against the death sentence. These are dispatched to Myrl E. Alexander, Federal Prisons Bureau director, who replies with a form letter over his signature.

Alexander recites "the position," "Do you think of the Department of Justice," which is that capital punishment should go, but not until all aspects of crime, punishment and sentencing are "adequately" considered. This means consideration of how much prison on each federal crime should require. Justice's "position" contains these two sentences: "Society must be protected. Probation and parole should reflect our full experience with corrections and public safety."

Some Disagreement While not yet announced, the President's crime commission, headed by Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach (who is against capital punishment), will soon undertake the study. It is believed a year's work will be involved in getting recommendations ready for Congress. There won't be any Capitol Hill action until the commission reports. A call for ending the death penalty seems certain to be proposed.

Capital punishment can now be assigned for a variety of federal crimes, including aircraft piracy, espionage, treason, sale of heroin to minors, train or airplane wrecking causing death, murder or rape on a federal reservation or others.

There is controversy within the Administration about the death penalty. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover is for it, but has dropped the hint, through one of his agents, that he would go along with a full lifetime in prison as an alternative.

Wardens Against It Hoover's agent, Dwight J. Dalbey, told the last American Bar Association convention, that the FBI doesn't agree with two of the main arguments used against the death sentence. One holds fear of execution is not a "deterrent" in major crimes, and another is that the "wrong man" can be executed. Dalbey said the FBI believes capital punishment is a "deterrent" and that new rights given defendants in U.S. courts leave slim likelihood of a "mistaken judgement."

On the other hand, an impressive list of people are against capital punishment, including South Carolina's long-time warden, Clinton T. Duffy, and Sing Sing's warden for many years, Lewis E. Lawes.

The Capote book, a thriller which makes all the characters and events of a senseless mass murder in Kansas become vivid, is certain to set off a new national argument over capital punishment. Capote states no personal conclusion about whether the pair of killers should have been hanged. The alternative in Kansas is a life sentence with parole possible after 15 years.

But Capote makes such real, breath-taking people out of the murderers, their families and their backgrounds, that each reader can and will reach his own conclusion over their punishment.

Thirteen states have abolished the death penalty, some with exceptions such as the murder of prison guards or police officers. The trend is in that direction. Four of the 13 wiped out capital punishment last year.

Poverty War Investigated The House Appropriations Committee is taking the most meaningful look of all at the war on poverty.

As chief disburser of the nation's money, the committee has been quietly investigating the much-buffed program with an eye toward a showdown when its administrators appear to ask for refinancing. Obviously enough, that's slated for around the Ideas of March.

Five committee sleuths, including at least one FBI agent and several specialists from other government agencies, have been probing the poverty program since the last session of Congress ended. Their report is due March 15, and won't be made public.

But committee members will have facts, dug up for them by their own agents, on the program. They will then be able to question anti-poverty officials on how money has been spent and how the program can be put in better working order.

While it is not generally known, the House Appropriations Committee spends $700,000 a year investigating the use of money by a number of federal agencies.

BRIEFLY: The Rockefeller family will have its first Democratic candidate for office this year in all places. West Virginia, Young John D. Rockefeller IV (known as "Jay" to the family) has been working in the anti-poverty program as a volunteer at $8,000 to $11,400 annual salary. The Agriculture Department has hired Negroes as food inspectors and Negroes now hold white-collar jobs as fire inspectors.

When the state school superintendent resigned recently, his Jack Miller in Iowa this fall, successor was urged by Negro educators to appoint Negroes to 100 high-level jobs in the department but there were no immediate results.

New Negro Chemist Virginia hired its first Negro chemist in recent years—an Agriculture Department employee. Among Negroes also have jobs as lab specialists, engineers and draftsmen.

North Carolina's Good Neighbor Council reported that about 60 Negroes have been moved into "nontraditional" jobs in the past three years. Most are employed as prison guards.

KHARTOUM—Sudan is buying old foreign films.

the death penalty is a deterrent to crime?" The answers: 61 per cent, "Yes"; 32 per cent, "No." Others in both polls were undecided.

The Johnson Administration is the first to put itself on record publicly as against the death penalty, but it has been done in a roundabout way. The President has said nothing; the Justice Department is doing the talking.

Stocks Do About-Face

NEW YORK (AP)—Stocks reversed direction after losing ground Friday and closed mixed. Trading was active. Volume totaled 918 million shares.

Blue-chips, weak in the morning hours, firmed to trim losses or close with fractional gains. Aircraft makers and electronics stocks were mostly lower. Motors and steels were mixed. Rails fell.

Trading again was heavy in low-priced stocks and specialty issues. Roan Selection Trust continued to benefit from an announced agreement with workers on its African copper mines. The stock was the day's most active on a turnover of 340,000 shares, closing up 1/2 at 10 1/2.

Texas Gulf Sulphur, seventh most active stock, climbed 5 1/2 to 8 1/2. The company said it would expand its previous market plan at Timmons, Ont.

The Dow Jones average of 30 Industrials closed up 1/4 at 988 1/4.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off 1/4 to 367.0 with Industrials off 3/4, rails off 1/4 and utilities unchanged.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index was up 1/4 at 93 1/4.

Of 1,429 issues traded, 542 advanced and 624 declined. There were 73 new 1965-66 highs and 20 new lows.

Brokers said there was little in the economic news to give the market a direction. Indications were that military outlays in Viet Nam would increase. At the same time, interest rate increases continued to widen and commercial banks appeared more strapped for funds for lending and investing.
