Obituaries

Hester

Funeral services for Joe Hester, 74, of Bronte were held at 2 p.m. Monday in the First Baptist Church in Bronte. Burial followed in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Shaffer Funeral Home. The Rev. R.W. Blackmon, assisted by Rev. Charles Woodward, pastor of the Church, officiated the rites.

Joe died Saturday, July 1, at his home in Bronte after a long courageous battle with cancer.

He was born Joseph Myrick Hester Oct. 4, 1914, to Ida Mae and Robert Wyatt Hester in Sterling County.

His vocation was as a farrier or, in Texas, horseshoer. He was well-known in West Texas for his shoeing ability. He could put shoes on a young horse or an outlaw and had shod ranch horses, polo ponies, and race horses. A local declared that Joe had done corrective shoeing for years, before it was a known technique. After shoeing thousands of horses, he lost his right hand in a roping accident a few years ago and learned to shoe left-handed before his health failed. He spent his life outdoors and did ranch work in addition to horseshoeing.

He is survived by his wife, Marguerite of the home; his children, Bob and wife, Jillian of Richardson, Wayne and wife, Debi of Randolph, Armilda Colvin and husband, Steve of San Angelo, Janice Ware and husband Jerry of Grape Creek, Sue O'Banon and husband, Don of DeLeon, Kay Vaughn of Oklahoma City; a sister, Mozelle Smith of Bronte; a brother, George Weldon Hester of Weatherford; and numerous grandchildren and great grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his first wife, Martha, and son Donald, in 1975; and his daughter, Deene in 1974.

Pallbearers were Rupert Robbins, Tony Barrett, James Vaughn, Donald Cooper, Bobby Blaylock and Jimmy Lee.

The family requested memorials be made to American Cancer Society, c/o Cindy Bessent, P.O. Box 479, Robert Lee, Texas. 76945, or any favorite charity.

ONE THING HAS INFLUENCED EVERY PRESIDENTIAL DECISION IN THE HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES.

The Constitution.

For 200 years, through war, the Depression, even civil unrest, the Constitution has influenced every Presidential

It's what the framers of our Constitution wanted. They when our Founding Fathers created the Constitution they wrote Article Two specifically to define the powers of the Presidency.

Barron at Vegas confab

[Editor's Note--Mrs. Pauline Coalson Barron of Robert Lee has spent most of the spring and summer in Colorado visiting her daughter, Yvonne McElwain, and son Derwood Coalson. She attended the annual Southern Baptist Church Convention in Las Vegas, Nevada June 13-15. She sent the following article to the O/E from the "Daily Camera" of Boulder, CO.]

Rev. Bolin has his own style in Vegas

By Michael Hirsley
Chicago Tribune

Twenty-one is a lucky number at the blackjack tables, but it's not much of an audience.

Nonetheless, Charlie and Bobby (one talks and the other sings) were working the small but friendly "crowd" of 21 people in a Dark Riviera Hotel Showroom that normally features female impersonators in a "La Cage" revue.

Charlie, a thin man in white trousers and a white-on-white sport coat, gave an appreciative hug to Bobby, after the big man in a blue suit segued from a song into an introduction.

Sitting on the top step of a short walkup to the circular stage, Charlie began his "act," aware that a few preachers were in the audience.

With a nervous laugh, he asked, "How do you like our saints?" He was referring to illuminated statues at the door and at the back of the room, each a stylized female form holding a microphone.

Knowing his audience, Charlie Bolin was comparing this place to a church. And he wasn't joking.

Because this Las Vegas Strip showroom is the borrowed "chapel" where Charlie Bolin leads Sunday church services.

Beneath his sport coat, clasping the neck of his dark shirt, is a white collar. Like Rev. Bobby Shurden the singer, Rev. Charlie Bolin is a Southern Baptist minister.

Charlie Chaplain, if you will. He has been in ministry on the Strip for seven years, helping to support it by performing marriage ceremonies in this town's offbeat chapels.

Normally, he said after the La Cage service, he doesn't draw this many preachers, but he does draw more employees from the Strip.

There were a few audience members in the latter category.

"He meets a group of us regularly for bible studies at a pizza place," said Donna London, who works in the wardrobe department for a show at the Bally Hotel-Casino.

"Charlie is like a godsend to us," said Floyd Harrison, a performer with a unicycle-riding basketball-playing show troupe that is frequently booked in town. "We're believers, too, even if our daily lives don't start until the sun goes down."

Rev. Bolin's day also runs into night, as his ministry dictates.

"I've seen him minister to casino dealers and showgirls. I've been backstage with him at Willie Nelson and the Judds concerts," said Rev. E D Bedrosian, a longtime friend and former partner of Rev. Bolin's in a California plumbing business.

Though pleased to see his old friends, here with the Southern Baptist Convention this week, Charlie Bolin was disappointed in his denomination's attitude toward Las Vegas.

First, he was unhappy that many fellow Baptists chose to be "messengers," as convention delegates are called, because of Las Vegas' sinful image.

As for those who did come and "witnessed" in a door-to-door evangelizing effort all across the city, Rev. Bolin said, "I think they were wrong to avoid the Strip."

Although Las Vegas regulations prohibit soliciting in hotels and casinos, "you can go into a bar, for example, have a Coke, and get to know these people, ask what you can do for them," Rev. Bolin said.

"They won't know God's love until they see it in you."

As corny as that may sound, it is a philosophy that seems to work for the pastorknow here simply as "Charlie."

In the overhead lighting booth at a dancing-swimming-sometimes topless revue called "Splash," stagehand-spotlight operator Kay Bovino hugged Rev. Bolin. "Charlie is our buddy," she said. "We get a feeling that he respects what we do."

"A lot of people look down on what we do, in a religious sense."

She and fellow spotlight operator Gerald Abraham were both impressed that Rev. Bolin came over after a performer's death and led cast members in prayer right up on stage.

"He read scriptures, and then had everybody say what they felt. It made a big impression on us," Alexander recalls.

Rev. Bolin said he was brought up in the Southern Baptist evangelistic tradition of "sudden soul-winning by asking people, 'Do you know where you'll spend eternity if you die tonight?'"

"If I used that approach here, in a week I'd destroy this ministry."

A newly hatched alligator is just eight inches long. It will grow about a foot a year until it reaches the average adult length of six to eight feet.

Nelson jumps on antilitter bandwagon

Singing "Mamas, tell all your babies don't mess with Texas," Willie Nelson is the latest Texas entertainer to jump on the state's maverick antilitter bandwagon.

Joining the ranks of Stevie Ray Vaughan, The Fabulous Thunderbirds, Jerry Jeff Walker and Joe Ely, the Willie Nelson spot continues a tradition of using well-known Texas entertainers and sports figures to help win the state's tough battle with trash. The new television and radio public awareness campaign will debut at the Keep Texas Beautiful conference in Houston on June 29.

The effort coincides with an increased national emphasis on the many formidable environmental issues. The "Don't Mess with Texas" campaign is taking a leadership role in mobilizing individual citizens to take responsibility for the environment by actively participating in antilitter programs.

According to Don Clark, director of the highway department's Travel and Information Division, the success of the overall campaign is the result of cooperative efforts of hundreds of thousands of Texans, including over 50,000 Adopt-a-Highway volunteers and thousands more from community clean-up organizations in every city.

Summer Hazards

Winter is long gone, spring has sprung and folks are out enjoying the woods and waters. It's time for summer picnics, camping trips, fishing and water sports. It's also time to remember proper precautions.

Summer and its attendant activities do pose some hazards besides those filled with sand and water at the local golf course. First off, there's Old Sol himself to consider. Excess sun exposure is very uncomfortable in the short run and can cause serious problems in megadoses on an unprepared body. This is why sunbathers (the smart ones) monitor their exposure and use sun blocks.

On the other hand, Donald Deskbound spends the entire day on the water worrying about what the pike will like. Sun block? Never! None of that sissy stuff for daring Don who is medium-well in time for dinner.

Not laughing matters are the other summer sun and heat hazards. Heat exhaustion, heat stroke and dehydration are serious and potentially fatal conditions. Heat exhaustion is usually the result of overdoing it in hot weather, particularly if one is out of condition. It is the result of too much blood being diverted from the brain to help cool the body. Symptoms include dizziness, nausea, irritability, faintness and heavy sweating. The remedy — back off and cool down.

If you don't, heat stroke is the next step. The body's cooling system overloads and shuts down. The skin becomes hot and dry, and the victim may become confused and lose consciousness. Heat stroke is a medical emergency. Cool the victim with water and good air circulation and seek medical assistance.

Dehydration is another danger. The loss of body fluids and salts through profuse sweating can bring on cramps and, ultimately, shock. Replace lost fluids with fruit juice and "thirst-quencher" beverages containing electrolytes.

Bugs — the nemesis of summer fun. They range from the merely irksome, such as midges ("no-see-ums"), mosquitoes and chiggers, to the truly painful bees and wasps, to the dangerous ticks, which may carry Lyme disease or Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever.

A good insect repellent helps ward off the midges, mosquitoes and ticks. The milder concoctions are OK for a backyard cookout. But for serious outdooring you will want to consider one of the 100 percent DEET preparations. This, combined with protective clothing, and in tick country, frequent body checks, provides your best protection.

The stinging insects — wasps, bees, etc. — are best avoided by caution. Their stings are painful and dangerous to those who are allergic. The best treatment is a paste of meat tenderizer applied immediately to the sting. Some redness and swelling are to be expected. But if the symptoms worsen, and if the victim feels faint, disoriented or complains of shortness of breath, suspect an allergic reaction. Seek medical aid immediately.

Are we ready to skip summer entirely? That is not the intention. Summer is a wonderful time for family fun. But fun, whatever the season, should be tempered by common sense and reasonable precaution. ll

Texans have higher rate of skin cancer

Some 400,000 new cases of skin cancer, the most common form of human cancer, will be diagnosed in the U.S. this year. Most of them, recent studies conclude, will be the result of repeated overexposure to the sun. And as might be expected, because of the state's climate, many of the patients will be Texans.

Dr. Clift Price, TDH Associate Commissioner for Personal Health Services, said, "Texans, used to outdoor work and recreation, sometimes fail to realize that the temporary discomfort of a sunburn is not as serious as the permanent radiation damage that goes unnoticed, sometimes for years. Some people think of sunburn as an annual ritual they have to live through in order to get a glamorous tan."

Dr. Price warned that the repeated ill effects from the sun are cumulative. "It is as if each person has an individual tolerance for how much of the sun's ultraviolet light he or she can stand in a lifetime." He explained that children and older people, especially those with light skin, generally have a lower tolerance to overexposure than those with dark skin. "But even dark-skinned people have their limits," he said.

People should watch for warning signs of skin cancer as they grow older, since the likelihood of skin cancer increases with age, he said. Warning signs include a sore that does not heal or any unusual skin condition, such as a change in size or color of a mole or birthmark.

The American Cancer Society recommends a monthly skin self-examination. Use a full-length mirror and hand mirror to study the whole skin carefully for overall condition and tiny changes, including the skin of the scalp and between the toes. Any noticeable change warrants a medical opinion.

To reduce the risk of overexposure to the sun, Texans are advised to: wear protective clothing, including hats, long sleeves, even gloves. Choose—and use—sunscreens which are best suited to skin sensitivity. Apply a waterproof sunscreen (rated 15 or higher) at least an hour before going into the sun, and reapply after swimming or heavy perspiration. Avoid sun exposure between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., when the sun's ultraviolet rays are most intense. Do not use sun-lamps or tanning pills. Be especially cautious of sunlight when using prescribed drugs, since some tend to increase the skin's light sensitivity.

Bryan inducted into Hall

U.S. Army Col. Alan J. "Pete" Bryan, a native of Ballinger, was inducted into the Army Officer Candidate School (OCS) Hall of Fame during ceremonies held recently at Fort Benning, Ga.

Bryan, who presently serves at the Army's National Training Center at Fort Irwin, Calif., as the senior National Guard advisor, graduated from OCS and was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1962.

The OCS Hall of Fame was established in 1958 to honor OCS graduates who distinguish themselves in military or civilian pursuits. Past inductees include U.S. Sen. Robert Dole, Army Secretary John O. Marsh Jr., and former Defense Secretary Casper Weinberger.

Bryan is married to the former Ginger Newby, also of Ballinger. He graduated from Ballinger High School in 1955, she in 1963. He began his long Army National Guard career in Ballinger and has served in various positions throughout the U.S., West Germany, Italy, Korea and Panama.

His assignments have included two tours in the Pentagon, command of a tank battalion in Texas, and director of the U.S. Army Mobilization and Deployment Planning Course at Fort Sam Houston, in San Antonio.

In June, Bryan was reassigned to Seoul, South Korea, where he is the National Guard advisor with the 8th U.S. Army. His wife and son, Christopher, accompanied him.

Bryan is the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. George Newby of Robert Lee.

Jogging in the swimming pool

Exercise is safer in water because of reduced pressure on joints. So next time you're splashing around, consider a "pool run." Jog as you would on dry land: Maintain your regular running posture and move your arms and legs normally. After a few workouts, running in the water will feel as natural as running on land, and you'll be just as fit while minimizing risk of injury.

Murtishaw 97th birthday

On June 24th and 25th, family and friends gathered at the Robert Lee Recreation Hall to celebrate Mrs. Grace Murtishaw's 97th birthday.

Fifty gathered Saturday evening and enjoyed good food, reminiscing and music and singing by Darrel Eubanks.

Seventy gathered Sunday for a picnic lunch, sharing fun, old pictures, and old times. All enjoyed the music and singing by Darrel Eubanks and Kyle Long. Many enjoyed swimming and tennis.

Mrs. Murtishaw spent about 3 hours with the group on Sunday. Many pictures were made. There were 11 great-grandchildren present. So many 5 generation pictures were snapped. Five of her 6 children, 9 of her 16 grandchildren, and 17 of her 32 great-grandchildren were on hand to celebrate.

Mrs. Murtishaw of Bronte was the oldest at 97 and Seth

Personal

Joyce and Kayla Dickenson of Pasadena spent last weekend with Owen and Katherine White of Maverick. Kayla is remaining for the next two weeks for a visit with her grandparents.

Ryan Eubanks of Lovington, New Mexico was the youngest, at 5 weeks, to attend the event.

There were families from New Mexico, as well as Oklahoma, and different parts of Texas attending.

Vacation time relieves stress

A vacation can mean lying on a beautiful beach or relaxing around the house. Sometimes, however, the most important consideration is not where to go, but when to go.

According to Alan Buster, community educator of Methodist Hospital, taking a break when you realize you need one can be the key to reducing tension.

Buster said it could be time for a vacation if you are experiencing these symptoms: frustration, increased fatigue, irritable or angry feelings, loss of concentration, or a pessimistic attitude.

Continuous, unrelieved stress can lead to emotional problems as well as physical illness. For example, stress is a leading factor to heart disease. However, stress is controllable. Just a couple of days off can be physically and mentally refreshing.

A vacation doesn't have to be a change in location, but it should include a variation from your usual activities.

Personal

Craig Davis, 6, son of Mike and Cynthia Davis of Hawley, spent last week in Robert Lee with his grandparents, Add and Joan Davis. His parents were in Houston at M.D. Anderson Clinic for Cynthia's routine check-up following her surgery in February. Craig visited friends, other relatives, and did some horseback riding and swimming during his visit.

CONSUMER ALERT

by
Jim Mattox
 Attorney General

Nutrition

Don't Bite on Advertised Claims

Consumers rightfully expect accurate information about the nutritional value of the foods they buy. Unfortunately, some advertised nutrition claims are misleading and deceptive.

For example, the Attorney General's Office alleged that a recent national soup company advertisement misrepresented the fiber content of some products by including high and low fiber soups in the same ad. Another ad claimed certain soups contained "10 percent of your daily requirement" of calcium when, without adding milk, the soups contain two percent or less of the recommended daily allowance for calcium.

Some ads mislead consumers by blurring the distinction between certain nutrition claims and possible health benefits. An ad may falsely imply a single high fiber, low fat product can prevent "some kinds of cancer." A complete high fiber, low fat diet has been proven to help reduce colorectal cancer, but not other types of cancer.

Another deceptive ad may link the low fat, low cholesterol content of a food with a reduced risk of some forms of heart disease, but fail to disclose that the food is high in sodium which may increase the risk of heart disease.

Get Reliable Nutritional Information

Advertising is used to sell a product or service and is not always a reliable source of nutritional information. Consult independent sources, such as health care providers, nutritionists, or consumer publications and books.

Read The Labels

On most food labels, the major ingredient is required to be listed first, followed by the second most prominent ingredient, and so on. If the first ingredient is sugar, for example, you know that there is more sugar than anything else in the food.

Know What It Means

Low calorie means there should be no more than 40 calories in each serving.

Reduced calorie foods must contain at least one-third fewer calories than similar foods in which the calories are not reduced.

Imitation must be indicated if some part of the nutrition is artificially replaced. For example, some cheese products are not 100 percent cheese.

Sugarless can be very deceptive because it only refers to table sugar, or sucrose. The product may contain corn syrup, honey, or some other sweetener which has as many calories as sucrose.

Organic describes foods produced using non-chemical methods. To be marketed in Texas, organic products must carry a certified label from the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Low cholesterol does not necessarily mean a food is low in saturated fats.

VLB bidding deadline set

The bidding deadline for 270 tracts of land recently forfeited by the Texas Veterans Land Board (VLB) has been set for August 23 at 1 p.m.

Located in 115 counties throughout the state, all the tracts are being offered exclusively to Texas veterans who are eligible to participate in the Texas Veterans Land Program. The interest rate will be 8.75 percent for a 30-year loan.

At a February forfeited land sale VLB sales hit a six-year high when 119 forfeited tracts were sold for nearly $2.5 million. The sale continued an upward trend first seen in August, 1988, when the VLB sold 107 tracts totaling $2.2 million.

The VLB will finance the entire loan amount of all winning bids and there is no limit on the amount loaned. The buyer will be responsible for the current year's taxes only.

The sale will be by sealed bids only with the minimum bid set by the Board. Winning bidders will be notified by mail within one week of the sale. The VLB may reject any bids for any reason.

Bidders must submit a $25 non-refundable bid fee for each bid and $320 to cover closing costs with their bid form. Unsuccessful bidders will have all money refunded except the $25 bid fee.

Periodic sales of forfeited tracts are consistent with the VLB's commitment to run the program in a cost-effective, businesslike manner at no cost to the Texas taxpayers. Prompt action on these rare forfeitures will continue to ensure that not a single dollar is wasted on this program, according to Garry Mauro, General Land Commissioner.

To be considered an eligible Texas veteran, the only residency requirements are that a veteran live in Texas for at least five consecutive years immediately prior to filing an application with the Board or must have entered the service while a resident of Texas. In addition, the veteran must be a resident of Texas when filing an application.

Other eligibility requirements include:

The veteran must have served at least 90 consecutive days of active duty in the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines or Coast Guard, unless discharged sooner due to a service-connected disability. Service must have been after Sept. 16, 1940, and the veteran must not have been dishonorably discharged.

A bid form, the list of forfeited tracts in the sale, bidding instructions and directions as to how to reach each tract for inspection is now available from the VLB.
