Posters promote Earth Day project in RL

Robert Lee Recycles '92, sponsored by the City Council, will benefit from projects being turned in to City Hall this week. Students at Robert Lee schools have been working on posters to promote recycling.

Projects will be judged April 13 just before the City Council meeting. Any students wishing to submit posters should turn in projects to City Hall this week. The Robert Lee State Bank is offering two $20 savings accounts for the two outstanding projects. All projects will be displayed around town.

Recyclable collection barrels have been prepared by the city crews, who painted and labeled the cans so the collection site will look presentable. Recycling is different from garbage. These items will be used again. Please rinse all bottles and cans before recycling. Cans which have other metals besides aluminum cannot be collected yet. If a kitchen magnet sticks to a can, that can will not recycle.

April is Earth month. April 17 is Earth Day. Any Earth-friendly action will help maintain the Earth for future generations.

Students and families are invited to the Gazebo at 6:30 for the presentation of the awards. Certificates will be given to all participants. Student participation has been greatly appreciated, along with the efforts of teachers and Superintendent Gibbs.

Robert Lee Bike-A-Thon set

Riders will pedal their wheels for "Wheels for Life" Bike-A-Thon Saturday in support of St. Judes Childrens' Hospital. Registration will begin at 9:00 am in front of the courthouse at Robert Lee. Bike route will begin in front of the courthouse and proceed up the lake road to observation point with rest stops along the way. A picnic will follow the ride with prizes being awarded. Refreshments will be provided by Super H, Davis Grocery & Gas, and S. S. Grocery & Station.

Lots of riders are needed. It's not too late. If you would like to sponsor a rider or make a donation, contact Kay Torres at 453-2289.

Super H IGA is donating 200 cypress seedlings to the city. Coca Cola is supplying the wire cages to protect the young seedlings. Planting is under the supervision of the West Coke County Community Development and various organizations.

IGA donates seedlings

Super H IGA Grocery and the City of Robert Lee are joining hands to help protect our environment and beautify the city for generations to come. The ceremonial tree planting was held last Friday, April 3rd, at Cody Bill Park in Robert Lee. Two hundred cypress seedlings will be donated by Super H IGA to the City of Robert Lee. The West Coke County Community Development is in charge of the distribution of the seedlings, with various service organizations in Robert Lee responsible for planting and maintaining the trees.

Coca Cola is assisting the local effort by furnishing wire cages to protect the young seedling trees.

The national tree planting program was initiated by IGA and Coca Cola, USA and the Louisiana Paper Company. Their goal is to plant 100 million trees throughout the United States in the next ten years.

Some interesting facts that most people don't know about trees include: the average American uses seven trees per year in paper, wood, and other products made from trees...a 15 year old tree will only make 700 paper bags. A large supermarket can give that many bags away in one hour.

Super H and IGA would like to express their appreciation to the WCCCD and the organizations involved in the tree planting project.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Hal,

I would like to respond to the letter from Bud Roan regarding the unit road system.

Hang in there, Bud and don't kick over your traces yet. You want us to show you on paper what this will do. Well Sir, we aim to get all this information together and present it to all the Coke County people in the next few weeks so you can see what this system can do for all of us.

This will not be an easy thing to accomplish but with all of us working together, it can be done. The main thing it will do is make our system more efficient and cost effective. All this means is it will save us money and get more work done with less equipment because of a concentrated effort. There should not be any people lose their jobs or anything like that.

It's kinda like the coon that is treed by a pack of hounds. The coon knows he's gonna be shook out among all them hounds. He has the option of whipping all them hounds and walking away or be killed by them. We all know that one coon don't stand much of a chance with all them hounds. But if you shake out several coons at one time, them coons have a good chance of walking away with their dignity and pride intact!! Same thing with a job or work to be done. Two people may not be able to do much, but you put six or eight people working together and they can get a lot of work done.

We want it so we can "blade" good roads - not just scrape the trails - might even make a better road to your fishin' hole so you can get there easier and maybe stay a little longer.

So hang in there, Bud - we will get this information to you soon.

A native of Coke County,
Mike Ross

Recycling barrels now in Robert Lee

Four collection barrels are now available for recyclable cans and glass. The city crew has painted and labeled the barrels and placed them by the post office. Please remember to rinse recyclables to avoid smells and bugs. Recyclables are not garbage and the site should be kept clean. Recyclable cans are any cans that a kitchen magnet will not stick to.

Students and families are reminded to create posters and projects to encourage recycling. The Robert Lee State Bank will award savings accounts to two outstanding projects. All projects will be displayed throughout the city. Projects are due at City Hall April 7.

Future projects include a collection site for paper and plastic. Also, an information brochure for composting yard and kitchen items is being prepared.

Anyone who has ideas regarding the recycling program is welcome to submit their ideas to City Hall or any city council members. This is a new venture for the city and ideas are needed.

Meanwhile, the use of products with sensible packaging, products of recycled materials, and creative ways to use permanent items rather than throw away are all helpful.

BHS names NHS scholarship nominees

The Bronte National Honor Society announces its three nominees for the National Honor Society scholarship program. This year, the national organization is accepting two nominees from each membership school to vie for national scholarships and one nominee to vie for one of the Olan Mills Teacher 2000 Scholarship.

The two nominees for the national scholarships are: Shayne Crumpler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Crumpler; and Alisa Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Richards. Sonja Salser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Salser, was nominated to vie for the Olan Mills Teacher 2000 Scholarship. These three students were selected based upon their academic achievements, leadership, service and character qualities.

Because in fact the number of scholarships available are limited and are competed for by students from all over the United States, being nominated is a big honor in itself. Results of the scholarship awards should be announced sometime in May by the national organization.

The United States Border Patrol presented a Drug Awareness Program to the K-3 grades at Robert Lee Elementary Friday morning, April 3, 1992. Officers Clayton Haynes and Billy Evenson gave the students information concerning personal safety and drugs. A video entitled "Just Say No" which used the cartoon characters of the Flintstones was shown which also stressed the importance of saying "no". The students were then entertained by Officer "WADE" of the US Border Patrol, a robot that also told the students the importance of staying away from drugs.

More Lawn Care Fallacies

by Tommy Antilley

Fallacy No. 4: "Organic fertilizers are better than chemical fertilizers. Organic fertilizers are good sources of plant nutrients, but the grass responds the same to nitrogen compounds derived from manure as to that derived from urea, ammonium nitrate or some other chemical fertilizer. Certainly some organic chemical fertilizers contain a variety of plant nutrients and may better meet the needs of the grass, but all of those nutrients can be provided by chemical fertilizers. Grasses utilize fertilizer nutrients as chemical ions. The grass cannot distinguish between organic or chemical origins of those nutrients."

The argument that organic amendments improve the physical and biological condition of the soil is valid. But, most organic fertilizers such as manures, sludges, etc. are applied at such low rates that they do not meet the needs for soil modification. For example, applying a ton of manure per acre will produce a fertilizer response, but adds only 0.1 percent organic matter to the turfgrass rootzone (the top 6" of soil). Nearly 10 times that amount is needed to significantly modify the rootzone. Also, manures and other organic nitrogen sources decompose very rapidly and do not contribute to the residual organic component of the soil. On the other hand, peat moss is a good organic amendment when added in sufficient quantity, but is not considered to be an organic fertilizer.

When properly applied, chemical fertilizers produce plant growth which contributes to the organic component of the rootzone and improves the physical and biological properties of the soil. Organic fertilizers produce the same response. Both chemical organic fertilizers are good. The turf manager needs to weigh the cost and convenience of application of the various products and make the choice based on those factors.

Fallacy No. 5: "Fertilization leads to brownpatch."

One Extension specialist has tried to promote brownpatch in St. Augustine lawns for years with 2 pounds of soluble nitrogen per 1,000 sq. ft. applied in September or October in order to evaluate fungicides for brownpatch control. He has yet to observe an increase in brownpatch in fertilized areas over not-fertilized areas. The only difference has been the greener and more dense grass in the fertilized areas.

Brownpatch is a disease caused by a fungal organism, Rhizoctonia solani. When night temperatures are in the 60's and day temperatures are in the 80's and when moisture is provided from rainfall, dew or irrigation, brownpatch develops on St. Augustine grass. Although nitrogen fertilizers promote growth and perhaps, increase the "succulence" of grass leaves, there is little evidence that they increase brownpatch. They do, however, enhance the color contrast between healthy turf and diseased turf and cause the disease symptoms to be more noticeable.

St. Augustine grass fertilized in the fall is more competitive with winter weed, holds its color longer into the fall and recovers faster from brownpatch than grass not fertilized in the fall. Overall, the benefits of fall fertilization far exceed the risks of increased brownpatch problems.

Fallacy No. 6: "Fertilizers high in phosphorus relative to nitrogen and potassium promote rooting in grasses." For years lawn fertilizers high in phosphorus were recommended as a "Winterizer" to promote with warm season grasses (St. Augustine, bermuda, zoysia, centipede, etc.) has not generally supported that recommendation.

High-phosphorus fertilizers such as 10-20-10, 12-24-12 and 16-20-0 do promote the rate of spread in newly seeded, sprigged or plugged turf, but they do not enhance rooting in established turf. In fact, continued use of high-phosphorus fertilizers can lead to high soil phosphorus levels and related problems with iron deficiency.

The leaves of turfgrass contain 0.2 to 0.4 percent phosphorus tends to accumulate in the soils of lawn fertilized with phosphorus. Nitrogen does not accumulate where grasses are grown. Besides being taken up in large quantities by the grass, nitrogen is lost through leaching and volatilization in significant amounts. Thus, fertilizers high in nitrogen relative to phosphorus are required for established turf.

Current research has focused on the role of potassium in root growth, winter survival, wear tolerance and the overall health of a turfgrass. Potassium like nitrogen, is needed in much larger amounts than phosphorus. Grass leaves contain about 2% potassium compared to 0.2 to 0.3% phosphorus. Research has generally shown that grasses high in potassium (2% or more) have greater root development, cold tolerance and stress tolerance that grasses low in potassium (below 1.5%).

Thus, lawn fertilizers should be higher in nitrogen and potassium relative to phosphorus. Fertilizers high in phosphorus are only needed during the early establishment phase of turfgrass.

Blassingame honored

Susan Blassingame, formerly of Robert Lee, was one of two doctoral students at Texas Christian University who swept the awards in the recent Student Book Collecting Contest sponsored by Friends of the TCU Library.

A collection of books on Texas won first prize for Marvin Schulz of San Angelo, a Ph.D. candidate in history.

Second prize of $100 went to another San Angelo area doctoral student, Susan Blassingame of Robert Lee, whose major is English.

Her collection of political fiction began with Allen Drury's Advise and Consent and grew to more than 60 volumes, including all the works of Ward Just, which became the topic of her master's thesis at Angelo State University. Blassingame holds three degrees from Angelo State -- the B.A. in English, Master of Education and M.A. in English -- and has taught English in Robert Lee schools.

Blassingame's doctoral dissertation at TCU will be based on the treatment of Richard Nixon in literature.

The Student Book Collecting Contest is sponsored by the Friends organization to encourage and recognize the building of a personal library by individual students.

Fire resistant furniture

Before buying a piece of furniture, consumers should check it for a fire-resistant label, especially if there's a smoker in the house.

The Upholstered Furniture Action Council (UFAC) has designed new methods and materials for the manufacture of furniture that is more resistant to smoldering cigarettes.

Most upholstered items sold in furniture and department stores are safer today because of efforts made by the furniture industry. A gold UFAC identification hang tag indicates that the furniture is more effective in preventing fires caused by burning cigarettes.

A lighted cigarette left on upholstered furniture is a common cause of home fires. About 2 percent -- 10,300 -- of the nearly 513,500 home fires that occurred in the United States in 1989 started in upholstery.

About 80 percent of those upholstery fires were caused by burning cigarettes left unattended or smokers who fell asleep, said Joanna Maitland, UFAC consumer education chairman in High Point, NC.

Manufacturers have been working for 15 years to make products more resistant to burning cigarettes, and research has paid off. Latest figures, based on data from the National Fire Protection Association and the US Fire Administration, show a 65 percent reduction in upholstered furniture fires started by burning cigarettes.

UFAC construction criteria is based on testing combinations of furniture materials to determine how they react with one another when exposed to heat. Furniture is safer today because it's more fire-resistant, but that doesn't mean it won't burn.

The gold UFAC tag warns consumers that while this furniture provides increased protection, it is still not fire-proof. Users are urged to practice safe smoking habits whether they own furniture of UFAC construction or products made before the industry developed this voluntary product safety program.

Consumers also need to take precautions to help prevent other types of home fires. This means doing such things as routinely checking batteries in smoke detectors, electrical wiring and equipment for safety, inspecting heating units and being more cautious when cooking.

Personal

Eboni Taylor of Bronte, injured in a pickup accident March 29, is showing marked improvement following surgery late last week at Zales Lipsky University Hospital in Dallas. She was transferred there for neck surgery from Hendricks Medical Center in Abilene. Three broken vertebrae were fused and repaired and casts were fitted for a broken wrist and foot.

Her friends, she began therapy Tuesday for her injuries.

Eboni is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stover Taylor of Bronte and a student at ACU.

SW Golf

Saturday, April 11, has been set for the 2 Person 27 Select Shot Tournament to be held at the Singing Winds Golf Course in Bronte. Tee-off will be at 8:30 am.

The young people of the First Baptist Church of Bronte will have a concession stand on the course.

Perry named Eagle Scout

Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry has joined the ranks of former President Gerald Ford, film director Steven Spielberg and Wal-Mart founder Sam Walton.

Perry on Saturday, March 14, was honored with the "Distinguished Eagle Scout Award" during ceremonies in Abilene.

Fewer than 1,000 of these honors have been given nationwide since the award was established in 1969.

Perry was nominated for the honor by the Abilene-based Chisholm Trail Council of the Boy Scouts of America. The award was granted by the National Eagle Scout Association, located in Irving.

To be nominated, individuals must have earned an Eagle rank -- the highest in the Boy Scouts organization -- and had that position for at least 25 years. Perry became an Eagle in 1964 while in the Paint Creek Troop in Haskell County. Nominees also must have obtained eminence in their careers and rendered outstanding service to their country or state.

John Clark, executive director of the Chisholm Trail Council, said Perry was nominated because, "We are always looking for someone we can use as a role model."

Perry credits scouting with building his character and helping him develop as a leader.

"Scouting has always been at the forefront of my life," Perry said.

"It has helped shape my future, and for that I am eternally grateful."

Perry's son, Griffin, is following in his father's footsteps. Griffin, 8, is a Cub Scout.

Bike-A-Thon
termed success

Wheels for Life Bike-A-Thon was a success, according to Jody Johnson, chairman of the event.

Eighteen riders turned out to help raise money for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

"The riders have turned in close to $850 so far and the money is still coming in," said Mrs. Johnson.

Riders and their mileage included Lindsay Rogers, 23 miles; Dustin Holland, 21 miles; James Green and Heather Randazzo, 20 miles each; Aaron Peel rode 18 miles while Josh Schoenfield and Salavador Randazzo each rode 15 miles.

Kyle Sanford rode 14 miles, Lindsay Shaffer and Jerrod McClure each rode 13 miles, and Cody Lee rode 12 miles. Students riding 10 miles each are Jesse McClure, Tiffany Coulter, Pamela Kresta, Joel Webb, Tyler Corley, and Quade Patterson. Courtney Beam rode 8 miles.

Special recognition is given to Kindergartner Cody Lee for raising the most money.

"I'd like to thank all the riders, volunteers and citizens of Bronte for the hard work, support and concern for this worth-while campaign to raise money for cancer research," said Mrs. Johnson.

"I'd especially like to thank Patsy Sanford, Rick and Pam Randazzo Alisa Webb, and Shelly Corley for their help Saturday morning. A special thank you goes to Kerry Hall and Hall's Super Save and to Dr. Pepper for donating the refreshments for the ride."

Refreshments for the ride.

Round-Up

Surprise Activity

Our surprise activity for March was sort of a "Get Ready for St. Patrick's Day" Party. Everyone was given a ticket as they entered the Rec Room and we had an Irish Sweepstakes. Winners of glass animals were: Bernice Roberts, Loma Preslar, Mildred McAdoo, Edna Adkins, Ruth Conger, Wilda Collins, Viola Pierce, Mary Auston and Audra Quisenberry. The Grand Prize winner was Myrtle Lasswell. She won a glass turtle, which promptly earned her a nickname of "Myrtle the Turtle". Fortunately, Myrtle has a sense of humor!

Rootbeer floats were served to everyone, while we watched a video of Ireland.

Auxiliary Notes

The flower beds at the West Wing entrance have been planted by Olive's Nursery, thanks to the Auxiliary. In a few months we will see flowers everywhere.

Tasting Party

The March tasting party was chips and dips. We had Avocado Dip, French Onion with Bacon bits, and Creamed Cheese with Picante. Hot Picante. Very Hot Picante. Joan made the dip, and we suspect there's a good reason her name is Joan Burns.

She burned up the whole bunch, except Tommy, and despite all his groaning about it being hot, he kept eating.

Movies and Videos

Thanks to Milburn Wink, we had some good movies in March. He kindly lent us "How the West Was Won" and "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers". We also saw two travel videos of his, "Atlantic Vistas" and "Pacific Frontiers". All of these were good, but everyone said they enjoyed the movie, "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers", the most. We finished up the month by watching last year's St. Patrick's Pub Party.

RL Senior Citizens Calendar
