Rehearsals underway for county pageant

Rehearsals are well under way in preparing for the 16th Annual Pageant. "Ole Coke County - Home of the Rabbit Twisters" will be presented in the Mountain Creek Amphitheatre in Robert Lee, the last two weekends in July, (July 24-25 and July 31 - August 1, 1992)

Sponsored by the Coke County Pageant Association, Inc. the annual historical musical, involving approximately 75 Coke County "Rabbit Twisters" or their descendents, depicts early years of exciting experiences of settlers in the county.

The evening will begin with "A Sing-Out" by the Pageant Choir at 8 pm. The pageant begins at 8:30 pm with Indians, cowboys, the gossips, settlers, a fight for the county seat, horse trading, Booger Red, and through the closing of the last saloon in Coke County. New scenes have been added, so if you saw the production in 1991, come again this year and enjoy the changes.

There will be a concession stand and souveniers. Tickets will be sold at the gate.

The amphitheatre is located at 102 E. 16th Street in Robert Lee. Benches only, stadium seats or cushions may be desired.

The Harvest Lady

Motorists and truck drivers have been waving all week at the "Harvest Lady" located in the plentiful garden of the Kenneth Campbell's, located at the corner of Highway 277 (San Angelo) and Parkwood Drive in Bronte.

Some travelers are astonished at waving to the waving lady to realize she is not alive, and stopping to view her or to take pictures.

Ken and Katie Campbell of Bronte and their daughter, Roxie Belew, of Big Spring made and fashioned the waving lady with the harvest basket on her arm last week and placed it in the garden and orchard.

The "Harvest Lady" waves to passers-by while watching over the Campbell's garden in

Local dealerships lauded

Two local car and truck dealerships have recently been honored by the Texas Automobile Dealers Association for length of service by the same family. Ivey Motor Company was hailed for the distinction of having 47 years of continuous service in Robert Lee. Ben Bessent Chevrolet was recognized for its 40 years of service by the family.

The dealerships were named recipients of the Silver Select Circle Award during the 75th Celebration Convention and Trade Show of TADA and its Texas Truck Division, June 21-23, in Houston.

Texans have long felt a strong affection for their cars and trucks. Some 419 Texas dealerships have served these Texans for at least 25 years, 125 dealerships have served for at least 50 years and 17 for at least 75 years.

The Texas Automobile Dealers Association represents some 1,300 franchised new car and truck dealers in

Lions offer free vials

A free tube or cylinder in which to store vital medical information on each household member is available from the Robert Lee Silver Lions Club or West Coke County EMS members, who are sponsors of the program. After inserting the medical histories, the tubes are stored in the refrigerator as a central known storage and a sticker, provided with the plastic vial, is placed on the refrigerator door. This alerts emergency personnel, relatives, or neighbors to look for the bright orange tube for valuable medical questions, such as allergies, special problems, type medications, blood type, etc.

The tubes were made available by the Concho Nursing Center in Eden and Administrator Betty Wojtek.

Lions Club President, Joe Brazier urges every family to take advantage of the free Elder Alert Protection System. As he said, "Fill these medical forms out and use the tubes; they are of no value left on the table".

The tubes are also available at no charge from WTU and J&B Lumber. The system can save the lives of not only the elderly but anyone in an emergency situation.

Wink named national award winner

Achievement Academy announced today that Lori Wink has been named a United States National Award winner in English and Foreign Language.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10% of all American High school students.

Lori, who attends Robert Lee High School was nominated for this National Award by Mrs. Elena Sanchez, Spanish Teacher and was nominated for the English National Award by Mrs. Tricia Ballew, English teacher at the school.

Lori's biography will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly United States Achievement Academy award winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the

Letter to the Editor

Recently my husband and I were in Robert Lee to take care of some business affairs and to visit friends at the Bronte Nursing Home. I decided to take a small gift to our friends and went to the IGA store to purchase a basket of fruit. In my concern of trying to arrange the fruit in the basket, I accidently left my wallet lying on the check out counter.

That evening when I returned home I had a phone message from the manager of IGA letting me know he had my wallet and wanted to know how he could return it to me.

It restores your faith in mankind when your path crosses the path of an honest man like Mr. Dave Hughes. I would like to thank him for returning my wallet and I hope to meet him on my next trip to Robert Lee.

Emergency plans made

Juan Parales, of Austin and Joe Crabtree of Midland were in Robert Lee last Thursday evening for an Emergency Management planning meeting at the county courthouse. They were in town to advise local county officials of guidelines and areas of compliance to the state's recommended Emergency Management plan for Texas cities and counties. The pair work out of the state and regional offices of the Texas Department of Public Safety. Although county and local Emergency Management programs are not mandatory at this time, Governor Richards has asked all counties to take part in the preparedness plans.

Other state areas have experienced disasters of numerous descriptions and have had panic and confusion to work through while dealing with injuries, death, and destruction.

The governor's office has set forth some guidelines for the emergency planning that will lend some semblance of order in case of tornadoes, floods, explosions, plane crashes, hazardous spills, etc. That office delegated the carrying out of the plan to county judges over the state, followed by the leadership of mayors of towns and cities. These individuals will work with leaders of "annexes" or responsible groups such as those volunteers for communication, evacuation, shelter, water and food supply. All would work closely with fire departments and emergency medical personnel.

Preliminary plans call for the use of the courthouse basement as a shelter headquarters in Robert Lee. Bronte residents would be aware of

Swimmer's ear

Swimmers aren't the only candidates for swimmer's ear, a potentially dangerous condition caused by moisture in the ear canal.

"Swimmer's ear is not really a sports-related condition,' says Dr. Dan Franklin, an otolaryngologist at the Methodist Hospital.

"Anyone who takes a shower, perspires when exercising, or, for that matter, lives in the humidity of Houston can get it."

Swimmer's ear is a layman's term for inflammation and infection in the external ear canal. It happens when water breaks down natural skin barriers, allowing bacteria to infect the ear's soft tissue.

Pain in the ear is the most common symptom of the condition. Other, less common symptoms can include fever and hearing loss.

Franklin says swimmer's ear is usually preventable by keeping the ear dry. "Overthe-counter ear drops containing acid and alcohol can help keep the ear dry,' he says. "But once an infection sets in, you should see a physician."

Treatment is two-pronged: keeping the ear canal clean, and applying antibiotic ear drops.

going to the school's basement. County officials would be available at the courthouse for whatever information and aid they could offer. Much of the responsibility will fall on the sheriff's office and the DPS officer. Alternative communication or citizen's band radios would be vital. The county airport could be used for emergencies.

As Parales and Crabtree pointed out, although the governor gave an executive order to detail an Emergency Management Plan, it is not written in stone, but those counties that do have one are looked upon favorably when state aid agencies are called upon. Twenty-eight agencies on the state level are available for immediate assistance following most disasters.

Volunteers from all walks of life are urged take part in upcoming meetings for any emergency to come our way.

Medicare helps with mammograms

Breast cancer is among the top health concerns of American women. In fact, more than 40,000 will die of breast cancer this year. Fortunately, more and more women have learned that early detection through mammography could allow effective intervention and treatment of the disease.

However, many women may not know that part of the costs of mammography screening may be paid for by Medicare. Since January, 1991, Medicare Part B has paid for up to 80 percent of the lowest of these three amounts -- (1) the physician's charge; (2) the amount allowed under the Medicare physician's schedule; or (3) the established fee limit. (The 1992 fee limit is $56.76 of which Medicare would pay a maximum of 80 percent or $45.41.)

Who is eligible? Women must be age 65 or older, or receiving Social Security disability benefits to be eligible.

Medicare will help pay for diagnostic mammograms for women who have any signs of a problem - - such as a lump or mass in the breast - - any time they're ordered by the attending physician and are considered necessary.

If a woman is 65 or older, Medicare helps pay for a mammogram every other year. For women aged 35-39 who are disabled, Medicare will help pay the cost of a baseline mammogram. For women who are disabled and aged 40-49, payment is for one screening every other year.

Women aged 50-64 who are disabled are covered for a yearly mammography screening. And, so are women age 40-49 who have been diagnosed as high risk for breast cancer. For information about this coverage, consult the Medicare carrier responsible for processing Part B claims. In Texas, that is Blue Cross-Blue Shield, 1-800-442-2620.

Information on cancer detection and prevention is available from the Cancer Information Service's toll-free number of 1-800-4-CANCER.

WTU creates new business department

West Texas Utilities Company is strengthening its commitment to the future of West Texas with the creation of a new business development department. Heading the department will be David Young who was promoted from manager of economic development to director of business development.

Young will be responsible for the company's economic support programs which help local and regional groups like cities, chambers of commerce and industrial development agencies attract business and jobs to West Texas. "Attracting new industries is critical to the economic well being of this region" according to Paul Brower, WTU's vice president of marketing and business development who announced the changes. "This organizational change emphasizes the increased importance we see for this effort and will allow David and his team to maximize their efforts in promoting the many advantages of WTU's service territory" Brower said.

Young, a graduate of Northeast Louisiana University, holds a BS degree in business administration and a BBA in marketing. He joined Southwestern Electric Power Company in 1979 as a research assistant, then held staff advisor positions in energy audits and residential marketing before he became an economic development specialist in 1986. He moved to WTU in 1989 as manager of economic development. Both WTU and SWEPCO are subsidiaries of Central and South West Corp.

Working with Young are David Scott, community development consultant, Eric Geisler, economic development specialist, and Rita Sanchez, secretary. The department concentrates its efforts on promoting the region's traditional economic strengths and exploring opportunities for a more diversified future.

Traditionally railroads, agriculture, ranching and oil were the economic foundations of the West Texas economy. As these industries have matured, cities and counties have initiated economic development programs to help diversify the local business base and capitalize on regional resources.

WTU's business development team is staffed to help communities and regional economic development organizations establish strategic plans and marketing strategies for their local job attraction efforts.

To identify prospective businesses which may have an interest in WTU's service territory, the department attends trade shows and conducts out-of-state trips armed with information about the many economic advantages of the region. Together with other WTU departments, the economic development staff encourages existing businesses to expand or become more competitive through efforts like investment in technology or increased regional trade.

WTU serves 177,000 customers covering 52 counties and 53,000 square miles of West Texas.

Diet Mania

Many of us say we watch our weight and some fifty million of us go on diets each year. While some will succeed in losing weight, only about five percent of dieters will manage to keep the weight off for very long. Part of the reason for the low success rate is that many of us look for quick and easy solutions to weight problems.

The Federal Trade Commission, Food and Drug Administration, and National Association of Attorneys General are warning that some of the claims for quickfix weight loss are misleading; others are outright phony and dangerous. The three groups have prepared a free pamphlet called The Facts About Weight Loss Products and Programs. It warns about diet scams and offers sensible dieting tips. You can get the brochure by writing: "Weight Loss," Federal Trade Commission, Washington, DC 20580. It may help you to lose weight - without losing money.

Mildew prevention

Mildew flourishes in warm, humid weather -- just the kind we have been having in Texas. Mildew grows best wherever it is damp, warm, poorly aired and poorly lighted, such as in closets, bathrooms and laundry rooms.

Several things help prevent mildew growh. Provide adequate ventilation throughout the house, especially in enclosed spaces. For example, run an electric fan in places that cannot be exposed to outside air easily such as linen and storage closets.

Leave closets and dresser drawers open occasionally to allow moisture to escape. Burning a small electric light bulb in a closed closet will help dry it out. So will heating it with a small, electric heater placed on the floor of the closet. When heating the closet, be sure to follow the directions for safe operation of the heater.

Hang clothes loosely so air can circulate around them. Keep shoes and other articles on shelves, preferably perforated ones, to maintain better air circulation. Be sure things are clean and dry before putting them away.

Dry shower curtains and walls after each shower to reduce moisture in bathrooms. Leave shower curtains open to allow air to circulate in the shower or tub area. Hang wet towels to dry immediately after use or place them in the dryer on air dry to speed drying time and to vent moisture out of the house through the dryer vent.

Commerical products are available that remove moisture from the air in enclosed spaces. Silica gel, activated alumina and calcium chloride absorb moisture from the air. Silica gel and alumina can be dried and reused once they have absorbed as much as they can hold. Calcium chloride is converted to a liquid as it absorbs moisture and must be discarded when it is completely liquified. These products may be available from building supply centers, variety stores, or through catalog

Keeping all surfaces clean and dry will help prevent mildew, too. Washing walls, floors, tile, and other hard surfaces with a chlorine bleach solution will get rid of musty odors and prevent mold spores from growing. Use one-half cup to one cup of liquid chlorine bleach to a gallon of water. Use only on surfaces that are safe to bleach. Rinse with clear water

Horn fly control

Heavy winter and spring rains across much of Texas have created extra parasite problems for livestock producers.

Horn fly control has always been important for many ranchers, but this year it is even more so.

These blood-sucking flies reduce weight gains and milk production in mother cows with calves. Weight gains worth $2 to $8 have been measured in experiments for every $1 invested in horn fly control.

Horn flies spend most of their time on the cow, the females leaving only for the few minutes it takes to lay eggs in freshly deposited manure. A single fly may feed up to 20 time a day.

Horn flies can be successfully controlled with insecticides because the flies spend so much time on the cow and are soon exposed to a lethal dose. Insecticides can be applied with selftreatment devices such as dust bags, back rubbers, the LiquiDuster, and ear tags, or by using sprays, boluses, and feed supplements.

Ear tags have been commonly used because they combine an effective insecticide, a pyrethroid, with the ear tag, which is a slow release device. The result is several months of control.

However, these very factors that make the tag so effective have led to their widespread use, and the increased resistance to pyrethroids in horn flies.

Resistance occurs as season-long use of the same insecticide kills the susceptible horn flies, leaving only resistant pests to reproduce. Soon, the resistant flies are dominant and the insecticide is no longer effective.

There are several practices ranchers can follow to delay horn fly resistance.

Producers can rotate the pyrethroid tag with a n organophosphate tag every one to three years. Resistance to organophosphate tags has not been documented in Texas.

Ranchers should apply tags or treat with insecticides only when horn fly numbers reach 200 to 300 per head. Research has indicated that fewer than 250 flies per animal rarely cause economic losses.

Depleted tags should be removed at the end of the horn fly season.

An organophosphate insecticide spray, dust or bolus may be used to kill pyrethroid-resistant flies.

These practices allow some susceptible flies to survive and reproduce in the spring and fall, helping to dilute the resistant genes in the population. Tolerating a few horn flies actually helps slow resistance, making insecticides like pyrethroid ear tags effective when they are most needed.

Certain insecticides in feed additives and boluses also, control horn flies. The active ingredient is an insect growth regulator called methoprene. It passes through the cow into the manure and kills the developing horn larvae, or maggots.

Methoprene is neither a organophospate or pyrethroid and therefore is effective in managing horn fly resistance by rotating insecticide doses.

Boluses are applied once at the start of the fly season, and an insecticide spray can be used to kill adult flies present at the time boluses are administered.

Animals should be observed after dosing to ensure that if boluses are regurgitated, the animal is treated again.

Flies migrate between herds, so fly control in bolustreated herds is improved if horn flies are controlled in adjacent herds.

Producers are reminded to use unlined, rubber gloves when applying ear tags.

Abilene pair visit Newfoundland

Emmagene (Brooks) Mitchell of Abilene and daughter, Cathy Ferguson, have returned from a ten day trip to Newfoundland where they visited Cathy's birth mother and family. Cathy was given up for adoption at 6 1/2 months of age and had not seen her birth mother since that time, 35 years ago.

They flew from Dallas- Ft. Worth to Toronto, Ontario where they had a four hour layover and were met by Cathy's half-brother and wife. The two then flew to St. John's Newfoundland where they were met by the birth mother and and two halfbrothers. They then drove about one hundred miles to their home. While there, they visited in the Western and Northern Bay areas. They met all the family which included two half-sisters, threehalf brothers, the birth mothers' two sisters and brother.

The weather was cool and at times quite foggy. They saw a number of whale at a distance.

On their return to St. John's they went through Cabot Tower and the museum on Signal Hill. They drove by the hospital where Cathy was born.

The two flew back via Toronto where the half-brother and wife again met them for a two hour visit. Asked if she would be going back to Newfoundland, Cathy replied, "Maybe to visit but not to live."

Van goes to San Angelo on Tuesdays

If you are interested in going on the Rural Public Transportation van to San Angelo on Tuesdays, contact Fayne Thorn at the Bronte Senior Center by noon on Monday. We will not be able to make reservations after that time. Medical appointments, Social Service Agencies, and Welfare Agencies are our top priority. We are able to fit in shopping on Tuesday also; Fayne must have a route schedule so everyone will know where the van is expected to stop before you leave your home county. You may reach Fayne at the Bronte Senior Center on Monday mornings at 473-6471 or at home 473-6281.

The TRAX van is not just for Senior Citizens. It is available to all ages. The cost of the trip is a non-expensive round trip for those under 60 years of age. Those over 60 are not charged a fare although they are encouraged to make a contribution to help meet the expenses of the program. Fares for qualified Medicaid and AFDA clients are paid by the Department of Human Services.
