There's nothing quite like the taste of crisp, summer fresh sweet corn-- in the middle of winter. Yes, winter. Sound too good to be true? With a little help from your freezer, you can enjoy all your favorites-- delicious sweet corn, crisp carrots, plump sugar snap peas and garden-fresh green beans anytime, all-year round.

Freezing is the best way to preserve the taste, nutrients and color of abundant vegetable harvests. You can take advantage of the tremendous selection, quality and prices available in season at roadside stands, farmer's markets, the produce section of your local grocery store or your very own backyard garden. All you need is a little time, your freezer and an ample supply of freezer bags for freezing because they help protect against freezer burn, are easy to seal and contain a convenient write on label for identifying contents and date.

With more and more consumers looking for ways to curb rising food cost, freezing has never been more practical or appealing. Home gardening has emerged as another way Americans are finding quality and value. And what better way to reap the full benefits of your vegetable garden than freezing its contents for later use.

In addition to making good economical sense, freezing has strong nutritional benefits. Frozen-fresh vegetables supply a variety of nutrients and are an important part of a healthy diet. The National Center Institute recommends eating at least five servings of vegetables or fruits every day as part of a low-fat, high fiber diet.

Freezing your own vegetables allows you to control the salt and fat content and package foods the way you'll use them--for family dinners, single-serving meals, snacks or entertaining.

Just like gardening, however, preparing the best quality frozen vegetables involves following certain procedures depending on the type, composition and texture of the produce. Some important considerations to keep in mind:

* Vegetables (like broccoli or corn) that are served cooked can be frozen. Vegetables that you're planning to serve raw should not be frozen before serving as they lose crispness when thawed.

*Use the freshest produce possible (within hours of picking, ideally)

*Don't cut or peel vegetables any more than necessary as nutrients and quality will be lost.

*Blanching--briefly steaming or boiling before freezing--is critical to freezing most vegetables, as it stops the action of naturally occurring enzymes that ripen and spoil food.

The possibilities are endless when it comes to preparing your frozen harvest. Frozen vegetables like tomatoes, beans, asparagus, carrots and broccoli can be used in your favorite recipes, combined with pasta and sauces, or simply heated and seasoned for side dishes.

Robert Lee School enrollment increases

New students and new teachers along with former students and teachers returned to class at Robert Lee School, Monday. The number of students enrolled on the first day of class is higher than at the end of school last year. The total enrollment for the school is 344, with individual class breakdown as follows: Kindergarten-16; 1st grade-27; 2nd grade-27; 3rd grade-27; 4th grade-32; 5th grade-25; 6th grade-27; 7th grade-26; 8th grade-32; 9th grade-34; 10th grade-23; 11th grade-22; 12th grade-26.

Due to the 22-1 ratio mandated by the state, the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, and 4th grades are split into two classes. Both teachers and students enjoy a smaller teacher/students ratio.

During a morning assembly, Mr. Tennison welcomed the new high school students, passed out Discipline Management Handbooks, and discussed the importance of regular attendance. Football practice is in full swing, as is band practice which is under the direction of Stazie Church, this year.

The first football scrimmage will be Friday, August 21, 1992 against Roby, here. For the first Steer football game, we travel to Miles on September 4, 1992. The game begins at 8:00 pm. The first home football game will be on September 11, 1992, against Water Valley at 8:00 pm.

Students and teachers alike are looking forward to a successful and enjoyable year at Robert Lee School. We hope that all the townspeople will participate with us at the athletic events, and academic events which will be scheduled throughout the year.

Chance Millican, 7, of Floyd, New Mexico competed in the Little Wranglers Rodeo Association in the 7-9 year old age group. He won two belt buckles; one in goat tying, with his best score of 20.66 seconds. The other buckle was for winning All-Around in his age group.

Chance also participated in the dummy roping at the Roosevelt County Fair where he placed 2nd.

The young cowboy is the son of Clifton and Ida Millican of Floyd, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. F.C. Millican of Silver, and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Griffith of Trent.

Notice of Public Hearing on Tax Increase

The Robert Lee Independent School District will hold a public hearing on a proposal to increase total tax revenues from properties on the tax roll in 1991 by thirty-five percent. Your individual taxes may increase at a greater or lesser rate, or even decrease, depending on the change in the taxable value of your property in relation to the change in taxable value of all other property.

The public hearing will be held on Sept 10th - 7:00 p.m. at Robert Lee I.S.D.

FOR the proposal: Mary Grim, Beverly Burdett, Billy Hill, Bill Burns, Ray Aldridge, Butch Davis, Jim Clendennen
 AGAINST the proposal: None
 PRESENT and not voting: None
 ABSENT: None

The statement above shows the percentage increase the proposed rate represents over the effective tax rate that the unit published on 8-14-92. The following table compares taxes on an average home in this taxing unit last year to taxes proposed on the average home this year. Again, your individual taxes may be higher or lower, depending on the taxable value of your property.

	Last Year	This Year
Average home value	$ 28,200	$ 28,200
General exemptions available (amount available on the average home, not including senior citizen's or disabled person's exemptions)	$ 10,640	$ 10,640
Average taxable value	$ 17,560	$ 17,560
Tax rate	.19468 /$100	.26369 /$100 (proposed)
Tax	$ 34.18	$ 46.30

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would increase by $ 12.12 or thirty-five percent compared with last year's taxes. Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the tax rate would increase by $ .06901 per $100 of taxable value or thirty-five percent compared to last year's tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.

Oglesby and Murtishaw visit Alaska

A trip to Alaska during July makes for a great vacation! That, Pat Oglesby and Helen Murtishaw of Bronte can vouch for. They recently returned from a two week visit with Pat's daughter and family, Cathy, Tony, Christina, Toni, and Carrie DiMaria in Anchorage.

While in Alaska the family members traveled many miles through the magnificent state. They made a day's drive down to Seward, a fishing town of 2,500 residents. During the annual salmon run and other seasonal fishing, the harbor and marina are crowded with boats and fishermen.

Earlier in the spring, Cathy had made reservations for a trip to Denali National Park (formerly named Mt. Mc Kinley National Park). The women and children boarded the Midnight Sun Express train for an eight-hour ride to the park. Viewing the countryside from comfortable glass-dome cars and enjoying fresh seafood in the elegant dining car made for a delightful journey. Accommodations were cabins nestled among tall pine trees. Early the next morning, the group (Tony had joined the group after driving the family Suburban to the park) with other sightseers boarded buses to drive into the park. A guide voiced history and told tales about the national park. Frequent stops were made along the way for rest periods, observing and photographing wildlife. A picnic lunch was enjoyed before the return trip. Park rangers provided entertainment in the evenings at a national amphitheater. They narrated the fable "The Wolf and Three Little Pigs" giving the Wolf's version of the story. The last day saw the group up and out early enjoying the cool mountain air. Helen, Cathy, Christina and Toni Lynn suited up in rain gear and climbed in to a rubber raft to make a twelve mile run down the Nenana River. They reported a fantastic trip through beautiful scenic country.

A tour of the kennels where husky dogs are kept and a demonstration of how the dogs are hitched to a sled was given by park rangers. The dog teams are used during the winter for transportation. The family members drove back to Anchorage.

Hiking, panning for gold at the Crow Creek Mine, looking for ice worms at Portage Glaciers, picking giant size vegetables at a Matanuska Valley farm, visiting a rein deer farm, were just a part of the busy vacation spent with loved ones in a beautiful, cool country.

The ladies flew home, arriving Thursday evening still in a dream state of all they had observed and done.

Breast cancer clinic set

The Breast Cancer Detection Unit will be in Bronte, Monday, August 31, 1992, at the Bronte Senior Center. Call 473-6471 for information or to make an appointment.

According to the American Cancer Society, one of ten women in the United States will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as the result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97 percent ten year survival rate.

A mammogram can detect a cancer, even before it can be felt.

The American Cancer Society has established guidelines for mammography in asymptomatic women. (Women who have no symptoms of the disease.) Those guidelines have been adopted by the American Academy of Family Physicians, American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, and The American College of Radiology. Those guidelines are as follows:

- 1) 35-40 years of age - One baseline mammogram.
- 2) 40-50 years of age - A mammogram every 1-2 years depending on breast type and risk factor.
- 3) 50 years of age and over - An annual physician examination and annual mammogram.
- 4) Asymptomatic women under 50 years of age with significant high risk factors should be examined at appropriate intervals. These risk factors include previous breast cancer and family history of cancer.
- 5) A symptomatic women should have a mammogram at any age when she experiences a mass, nipple discharge, skin changes or unexplained breast pain.

A screening mammogram is an x-ray of the breast using extremely low dosages of radiation (usually comparable to dental x-rays) and is designed to find very early cancers.

The charge for the screening mammogram is $70. The Unit accepts cash, check, Visa, Mastercard, & American Express. Now accepting Medicaid and Medicare.

Vitamin myth dispelled

Children will get the vitamins and minerals they need if parents sidestep the supplements and focus on the four major food groups, says Dr. Kathleen J. Motil at the USDA's Children's Nutrition Research Center in Houston.

"Even the most finicky eaters will get enough vitamins and minerals with a varied diet including meat, dairy products, grains, fruits and vegetables," says Motil, Assistant Professor of Pediatrics at Baylor College of Medicine.

"Children's vitamin and mineral preparations really treat the parent rather than the child. They provide parental peace of mind," she said.

Motil urges parents to exercise caution if they insist on over the counter supplements.

Vitamins can be potentially toxic, she warns. More is not always better, and megadoses of vitamins can be harmful. "Too much iron can be fatal, and there are cases where excess Vitamin A and D can damage the kidneys, heart, and brain," she said.

Motil believes supplements should only be given under the care of a physician for specific medical reasons such as a chronic illness, teen pregnancy, or eating disorders.

However, she points out that a pediatrician may decide to recommend a fluoride supplement, available alone and in combination with vitamins, if there is insufficient fluoride in the drinking water.

Why are supplements so popular?

We are only two generations removed from the era where vitamin deficiencies were real. Vitamins were even identified as required nutrients in the 1930's," Motil said.

"People began taking vitamins because they thought they were the cure-all for a number of illnesses. Like all things it takes two or three generations to see a change in attitude."

For parents who want to leave supplements behind, Motil provides the following dietary refresher:

To make sure your child gets adequate iron, serve red meat and liver, poultry and fish, legumes, fortified cereals, enriched whole-grain breads, dark-leafy vegetables and dried fruits.

Calcium is found in milk, cheese, yogurt, salmon and broccoli.

For Vitamin C, try citrus fruits, green peppers, tomatoes, broccoli and strawberries. Cantaloupe and apricots are rich in Vitamin A.

The B vitamin can be found in meats, fish, poultry, grains and cereals, sweet potatoes, bananas and eggs.

If parents are concerned about their child's eating habits, Motil encourages them to consult their pediatrician or a registered dietitian who specializes in children's nutrition.

Officer of the Year

San Angelo Police Officer Ricky Keeling received a plaque from David Brock, president of the San Angelo Police Officers Association, naming him Region Four Police Officer of the Year at the 43rd annual Texas Municipal Police conference recently in Dallas. Keeling received the award for saving the life of fellow officer Steven Quade in a January 27, incident when a suspect attempted to shoot Quade. Region Four encompasses all of West Texas, including El Paso, Midland, and Odessa. Keeling, who is assigned to the identification division, has served with the San Angelo Police Department for the past four years. He was formerly a deputy sheriff for Runnels County, at Ballinger.

Keeling's wife is the former Brenda Gray of Robert Lee and he is the son-in-law of Les and Geneva Gray of Robert Lee.

Gower named All-American scholar

The United States Achievement Academy announced recently that Christa Michelle Gower of Ballinger has been named an All-American Scholar.

The USAA has established the All-American Scholar Award Program in order to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in Academic disciplines. The All-American Scholars must earn a 3.3 or higher grade point average. Only Scholars selected by a school instructor, counselor, or other qualified sponsor are accepted. These scholars are also eligible for other awards giving by the USAA.

Christa, who attended Ballinger Junior High, was nominated for this National Award and will appear in the All-American Scholar Directory, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in American history. Certainly, winners of the All-American Scholar Award should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects All-American Scholars upon the exclusive recommendations of teachers, coaches, counselors, and other qualified sponsors. Once awarded, the students may be recognized by the USAA for other honors.

Christa is the daughter of Darlene (Brice) and Eddie L. Gower. Her grandparents are Bessie (Plumlee) Brice of Robert Lee, the late Edward Brice of Bronte, Jerry (Jones) Dixon of San Angelo and the late Carl Dixon.

It's important to control small mesquite as a follow-up treatment for an expensive clearing operation or as a preventative measure for removing small numbers of mesquite when they first come in. Small mesquite are plants with stems less than 1 inch in diameter and less than 6 feet tall. For individual plant treatment, when the number of plants averages greater than 200 per acre, it would probably be more economical to go to a broadcast treatment or general mechanical procedure. But if you are dealing with less than 200 per acre or small acreages, there are about five choices to select from:

- A) You can grub by hand or use one of several low-energy grubbing attachments to tractors and dozers.
- B) You can use foliage spray.
- C) You can treat stems basally with diesel fuel and herbicide or diesel alone.
- D) You can treat stems above ground with diesel fuel and a stout percentage of herbicide.
- E) You can use soil-active herbicide.

1) Grubbing

First or second year mesquite can be killed with a grubbing hoe. The important thing is to cut the stem bud below the zone to prevent sprouting. Usually the bud zone is no more than 2 to 4 inches below the soil surface unless soil has been washed in or blown in around the base of the plant. Mesquite cannot sprout from roots left in the soil. Soil moisture condition is more important than time of the year in grubbing. Some deep silty floodplain soils work better when dry. Most sands, clays, and loams work better when moist.

2) Foliage Spraying

Good results can be obtained using several herbicide mixtures. Best results have been obtained with Reclaim (clopyralid) spraying from May through September when plants are healthy, green and soil temperature at 12 inches deep is over 75 degrees. Root kill above 75 percent is consistently obtained. Often the percentage is above 90 percent. These results can be obtained when Reclaim is mixed with picloram (Grazon PC), triclopyr (Remedy or Grazon ET), dicamba (Banvel), Weedmaster, Grazon P+D or Hi-Dep. To mix a gallon of spray use 30 ml of one of the other herbicides (to reduce the cost) plus water to make a gallon. Spray the foliage until it glistens rather than until it drips, making sure that all leaves are hit. Some people prefer to add 1 pint of diesel fuel and 1/2 teaspoon emulsifier to obtain slightly better control. If so, it must be mixed or shaken vigorously to emulsify the oil and water. A gallon of spray mixture will treat approximately 50 knee-high to waist-high mesquite sprouts.

3) Basal Spraying

Basal treatment with diesel fuel is one of our oldest and most successful methods of killing mesquite. By adding 2 1/2 ounces (75 ml) Remedy or Grazon ET (triclopyr) per gallon of diesel fuel a higher percentage of root kill (above 90 percent) can be obtained alone. The lower 12 inches or so of each stem should be to the point of run-off accumulation at the soil surface. Basal treatment can be done any time of the year when soil is dry, but best results will occur when temperatures are high and soil is dry and cracked away from the mesquite stem base.

4) Stem Spraying

This is also called streamline basal treatment. A stout percentage of triclopyr (Remedy or Grazon ET) is added to diesel fuel; as much as 25 percent and as low as 10 percent have shown good results. Usually 10 percent of a penetrant such as Cide-Kick II is also added. A typical mixture would be 1 1/2 pints Remedy Grazon ET (18.75 percent), 1 pint Cide-Kick II (12.5 percent) to make one gallon of mix. A very fine stream of this mixture can be sprayed on the stem about one foot above the ground to make a band 3 to 4 inches wide completely around the stem. Streamline treatment can be done any time of the year and it is not necessary for all the soil to be dry. It should be used only on smooth bark stems.

5) Soil Applying

Control of small mesquite with the soil-active herbicide Velpar L (hexazinone) is effective any time of the year (the optimum time is late winter to early spring). It is usually applied with a hand-held drench gun that delivers a specific amount of herbicides in each squirt. One 4-cc squirt of Velpar is suggested for each inch of stem diameter. It should be applied on the soil beneath the canopy but not on the plant. Soil moisture is required to move the herbicide into the root zone. Because Velpar can kill desirable trees, such as Live Oak, it should not be used within 100 feet of any tree you don't want to damage or in the drainage above where soil and herbicide may wash down on it. Mesquite treated with Velpar L dies very slowly usually taking 2 to 3 years. This herbicide is more effective on sandy, shallow, or rocky soils, than on heavy clay soils.

HEALTH NOTES

Too Thin

Contrary to the adage, "you can never be too rich or too thin," there is evidence that a person can be too thin. Researchers at the University of California-Berkeley reported to an American Heart Association seminar that long-term studies show teenagers who are either very slim or very plump tend to develop high blood pressure later in life.

A separate study suggests people who are lean are more at risk of dying from heart disease than are overweight people with high blood pressure.

Epidemiologist Mary Nelson says it's important to point out that not every person who is slim or plump develops high blood pressure, just as not every person of normal weight has normal blood pressure. However, the studies may be the first to identify body weight of youngsters as young as thirteen as a risk for developing high blood pressure later in life.

Liquids cause infant tooth decay

The Texas Department of Health (TDH) Bureau of Dental Health Services warns parents that the practice of calming a baby for sleep by giving it a bottle of milk, formula, or juice can cause serious harm to the infant's teeth.

Dr. Donald Crow, chief of the bureau, said that prolonged bottle feeding of babies with sugary liquids during sleep can lead to a condition called "bottle baby tooth decay." The condition is the leading cause of oral health problems among children under three years of age, and often is the start of severe, life-long dental problems which can affect the patient's general health and nutrition.

While about 60 percent of Texas children have some tooth decay, about 16 percent is caused by baby bottle tooth decay, according to Dr. Crow.

Dr. Crow explained that when children feed from a bottle while they are awake, saliva helps to wash away concentrations of sugar and acid that damage teeth. However, while sleeping, a baby's saliva is greatly reduced. Consequently, sugar concentrations may remain in the sleeping baby's mouth for hours, allowing bacteria to convert more sugar into harmful acids.

The resulting decay, Dr. Crow explained, can rapidly affect several teeth and cause severe pain. The upper teeth are the most likely to be damaged, although others are susceptible. Pain and infection can discourage eating. It also can cause premature tooth loss, which can result in crooked or crowded teeth.

To avoid tooth decay, the TDH recommends that parents:

Fill the baby's bottle only with water for naps and bedtime.

Do not let a baby sleep with a bottle of milk, formula, juice or soda pop.

Do not give a child a pacifier dipped in any sweet substance.

When most baby teeth have appeared, begin brushing and flossing the baby's teeth.

Teach the baby to drink only from a cup before his/her first year.

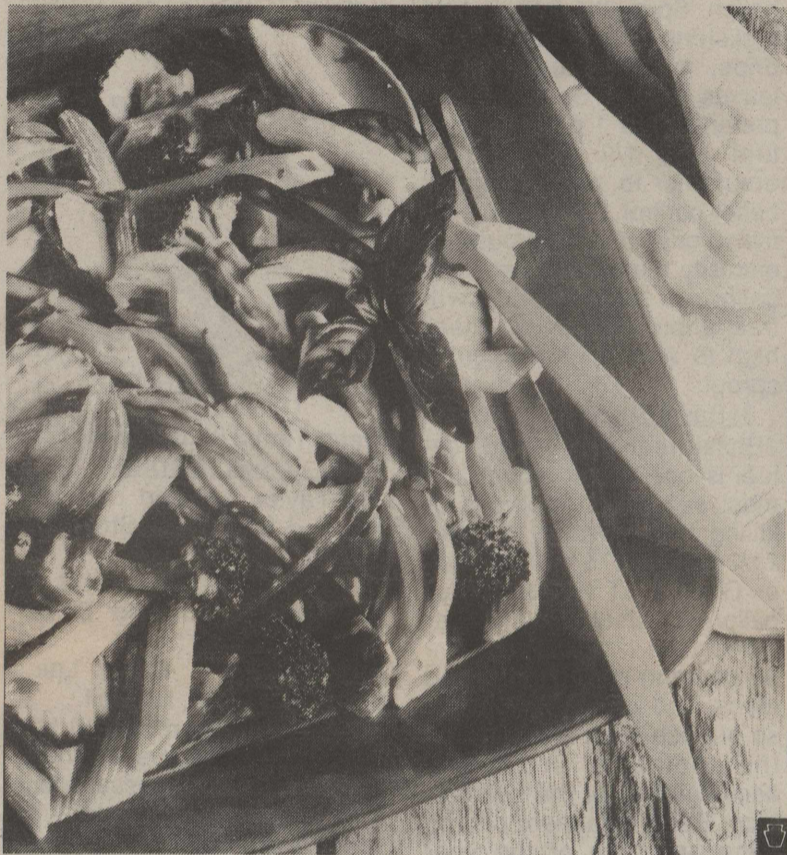

Begin the baby's regular dental visits before two years of age, or even sooner if any problems have appeared.

Ask the dentist whether the municipal water supply is fluoridated, and if it is not, ask what other fluoride sources are recommended to strengthen the baby's teeth.

The Bronte Nursing Home birthday honorees for this month were Minnie Wrinkle (pictured) and William (Gus) Kellis. The party was sponsored by the First Baptist Church on August 14. Megan Shelburne, daughter of Harold and La Quita Shelburne of San Angelo, furnished the entertainment. Megan is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Timmons of Bronte and Mickie Gann of Winters.

Asthma

It doesn't have to

Burning CRP acreage

The winter season will be here before we know it, and now is the time to begin thinking about prescribed burning in CRP fields. If you have not thought about burning your 3-6 year old CRP, consider these advantages; a reduction in the population of predators and varmints; a reduction in the chance of uncontrolled wildfire; benefits to quail and deer; and invigoration of grass.

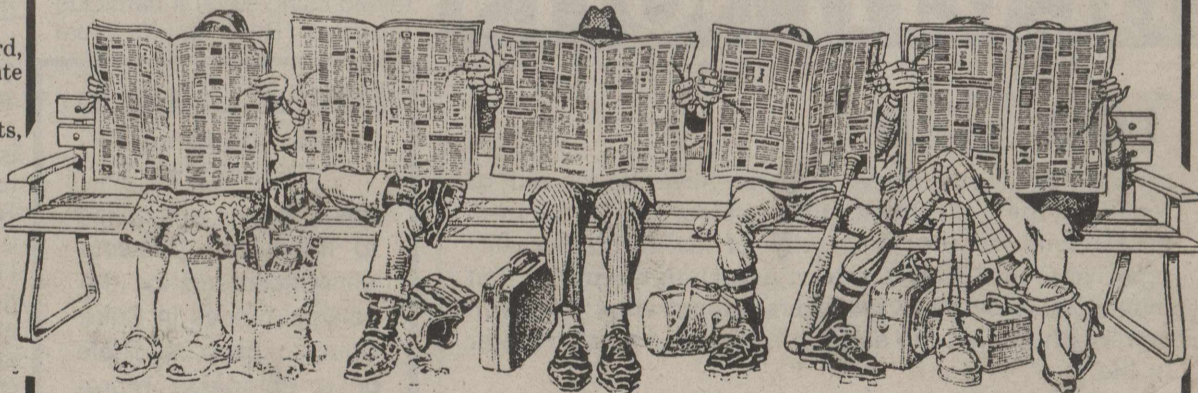

Several years after establishment, most CRP fields develop dense mats of old, dry grass. This accumulation of dry grass provides an ideal home for critters like skunks, coyotes, and wild housecats and poses an increased threat of wildfire. This same buildup of several years grass growth limits habitat quality for quail, who need sparse vegetation to walk through, and deer, who eat small weeds. Finally, range grasses developed under a fire and grazing ecology. If excessive dead top growth is not removed periodically, it will choke and severely weaken the grass stand. The prescribed or planned burning of CRP fields during the winter is allowed by ASCS as long as it is a part of the official CRP plan developed by Soil Conservation Service (SCS).

If you would like more information on the specifics of prescribed burning, contact Bruce Deere, District Conservationist, at the SCS field office at 11 East 6th Street in Robert Lee or call 453-2623.
