Fraternity members arrested

Police arrived during SAE party

BY DANIEL KERR
The University Daily

During a Friday Sigma Alpha Epsilon function, a re-enactment of the shooting of Paddy Murphy, two Texas Tech SAE members found themselves in a "Paddy wagon."

Lubbock police responded to a complaint of shots fired at 4208 17th St. and found SAE members firing blank rounds from rifles and pistols while re-enacting the Paddy Murphy shooting.

Paddy Murphy, a former SAE member from a Chicago chapter, reportedly stole Al Capone's girlfriend and was shot on the steps of the SAE lodge in Chicago. The re-enactment is a special party in the spring to honor graduating seniors.

After SAE members explained they were firing blanks and that it was a re-enactment, police arrested Justin Minter and McCann Northington at 3:46 p.m. for public intoxication. Fredrick Grates, Benjamin Luedtke, Richard Greth and Sterling Johnson were issued citations for disorderly conduct and released at the scene.

Jason Nelson, a senior management information systems major from Denison and SAE president, said six or seven guns loaded with blanks were used in the re-enactment.

"What we were supposed to do is get a parade or an excessive noise license, but for some reason we didn't get one," Nelson said. "After about 30 minutes to an hour, whenever everything cleared up, we finished the re-enactment."

Forrest Duke, a junior management information systems major from Stephenville, said the police came in the middle of the re-enactment.

"It was an oversight by the Paddy Gang (the senior SAE members who re-enact the shooting) in not calling the police to let them be aware that we would be shooting blanks," Duke said. "It was a lot of commotion over absolutely nothing. I guess you live and learn."

In a separate incident which occurred at the same time and in the same vicinity as the re-enactment of Paddy Murphy's shooting, a Tech student filed a criminal mischief report because an unidentified assailant dented the victim's car hood. Police have no suspects.

"SAEs had nothing to do with the hood being dented. We played no part in it," Duke said. "I really have no idea what the guy was thinking or why he did what he did."

Nelson said as far as he knew the assailant was not a SAE member.

Registration lines pose problem for students

BY GINGER POPE
The University Daily

Lines to the Texas Tech registration office stretched outside the front door of West Hall Friday as it was the last day to drop a course, and many students still were registering for summer and fall classes.

The level of frustration varied from one student to the next depending on their reason for being in line, a problem Tech administrators hope to alleviate with new computer registration software.

Many students were in line to drop classes, but just as many were finishing registration.

During May, Tech officials will shut down registration to install a new student information service.

Michael Layman, a senior business management major from Dallas, said he spent three hours Friday trying to work out the kinks in his upcoming summer schedule.

"I've been waiting in line with my adviser and now here for registration," Layman said. "I'm trying to add a last class for summer session, so I can graduate."

Layman is just one of many who wish the new TechSIS could have been installed at the beginning of his college career.

Don Wickard, acting director of admissions and records, said he does not know why a newer computer system had not been installed sooner.

"We got real close several years ago, but it fell through," Wickard said. "We decided a few years ago that we wanted to upgrade by the year 2000."

While some students wonder why a new computer system has not been installed already, others do not understand why they have to go to an adviser.

Jacquelyn Grady, a junior advertising major from San Antonio, said she has been frustrated with her registration process from an adviser standpoint.

"I've been working on my schedule for two weeks," Grady said.

Ireland tells message of empowerment

BY JAMES WALKER
The University Daily

Patricia Ireland, leader of the National Organization for Women, does not have horns growing out of her head or "666" emblazoned on her forehead.

Before coming to Texas Tech Friday, Ireland faced those grotesque characterizations during a stop at Kansas State University. A local church group that disagreed with her pro-choice and gay rights views distributed fliers showing her as a demonic figure in league with Lucifer.

"I'm actually only 90 pounds," Ireland said Friday. "The rest is thick skin."

In truth, such attacks do hurt, she said, but they are the price of trying to change the world.

"It's an enormously satisfying way to live," Ireland said. "The only people who aren't criticized are people who do nothing at all."

Ireland, one of the nation's foremost feminist activists, came to Tech for a conference sponsored by Tech's Women's Studies Council. She addressed a crowd of about 300 Friday with a message of women's empowerment.

Ireland pointed to Rosa Parks, the black woman who provided a jump start to the civil rights movement by refusing to move to the back of the bus, as an example of one woman who made a difference.

"The same way we began this century by winning the right to vote, we can end this century with real political power," she said. "Not over others, but power over ourselves and over our lives."

Ireland said she was here to celebrate the progress in women's rights during the last 30 years. At that time, birth control was illegal in many states, women made 59 cents for every dollar earned by men and many people did not believe women deserved equal pay for equal work.

Now women make 74 cents for every male dollar, sexual harassment laws govern the workplace and birth control and abortion are legal. But there is more to be done, she said.

"Not all of us will be in roles that are traditionally viewed as important, just as I wasn't when I was a stewardess, but you can make a difference," Ireland said.

As a flight attendant, she forced her company to give health coverage to families of female employees for the first time.

Her message for women in the audience was simple: "Your voices are important."

Women should speak up in class, vote in elections and run for office themselves.

"I don't want you to be satisfied affecting the people in power, I want you to be the people in power."

Linda McCartney, wife of former Beatle, dead at 56

LONDON (AP) — Linda McCartney, the American photographer who broke a generation of teen-age girls' hearts when she married Beatle Paul McCartney, has died of cancer, her publicist said Sunday. She was 56.

Linda McCartney died Friday while on vacation in Santa Barbara, Calif., Geoff Baker said. Her husband and children were with her.

"The blessing was that the end came quickly and she didn't suffer," a statement from Paul McCartney's office said.

Two days before her death, Linda and Paul had been horseback riding, one of her main passions, according to the statement.

The couple announced in December 1995 that Linda McCartney, a vegetarian who marketed her own meat-free dishes, was being treated for breast cancer.

The treatment at first appeared to be working well, but in March the cancer was found to have spread to her liver, Sunday's statement said.

It said Sir Paul, 55, will issue a statement later in the week and asked that people wanting to send flowers should give a donation to charities involved in cancer research, animal welfare, "or — best of all — the tribute that Linda herself would like best: Go veggie."

Linda Eastman was already acclaimed for her moody, gritty photographs when she married

Paul McCartney in 1969. They had three children, Mary, 27, Stella, 25, and James, 19.

The McCartneys largely avoided the celebrity lifestyle and lived quietly in remote homes in southern England and Scotland, saying they wanted a normal upbringing for their children and Heather, Linda McCartney's daughter from her first marriage to geophysicist John Melvyn See.

Healing, progress urged on third anniversary of bombing

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Michael Hinton grimaced and finally succumbed to tears Sunday when the names of his slain co-workers were read aloud at the third anniversary of the federal building bombing.

"You have to move on with life, but at the same time, you never forget," the Secret Service agent said.

Survivors, relatives of victims and others gathered Sunday at the site of the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building, where a truck bomb killed 168 people on April 19, 1995.

Hundreds of people rang small bells after 168 seconds of silence — one second for each of the dead — and placed flowers and mementos on the grass-covered site. Across the street, a grassy field served as a playground for young Rebecca and Brandon Denny, who were in a second-floor day care center in the federal building when the bomb exploded.

"I don't see why we have to have an adviser sign our cards if we know what courses we need."

Wickard said the adviser process is left up to each individual college, but every college requires students to have their registration cards signed by an adviser.

"This process is necessary. We get so many phone calls from parents who wonder why their student won't get credit or only has three hours left to graduate," he said. "The university is looking at the adviser process, however."

Freed Chinese dissident leader Wang Dan arrives in America

DETROIT (AP) — Wang Dan, a leader of the 1989 Tiananmen Square protests, arrived in the United States Sunday after being freed from a Chinese jail. His release comes just two months before President Clinton's planned visit to Beijing.

"It's very welcome news," said White House national security spokesman Eric Rubin, who was with Clinton in Chile for the Summit of the Americas. "This is something we've raised repeatedly with the Chinese and we consider it a very positive step."

Wang, the second major Chinese dissident to be released in six months, was hospitalized for tests.

In the past, China has tried to use such releases to improve the atmosphere before high-level contacts, prompting human rights groups to accuse it of playing "hostage politics."

Wang's flight from Beijing arrived at Detroit Metropolitan Airport shortly before 9 a.m. and he was immediately taken to Henry Ford Hospital for evaluation.

"He has some fatigue. He's been through a lot in the last 48 hours," said Dr. Thomas C. Royer, chief medical officer at Henry Ford.

Wang Dan

- A leader of the 1989 Tiananmen Square protests
- Served 3 1/2 years in Chinese prison

Royer said Wang complained of a chronic cough for several years and headaches, especially when he reads. Doctors said the cough may be related to allergies or chronic bronchitis.

Friends of Wang's were optimistic about his health.

"He's doing great. I'm so happy to see him doing so good," said Shen Tong, president of the Democracy for China Fund in Newton, Mass., and a former classmate of Wang's at Beijing University.

"He's in very good spirits. He's very upbeat," Shen said. "I think all those prison years made a difference, but it's a positive difference."

As a student, Wang led marches and gave speeches during the Tiananmen Square protests. After the army violently crushed the protests, Wang's name topped the government most-wanted list.

He served 3 1/2 years in prison and emerged unrepentant in 1993. Over 27 months — before he was taken away by police in May 1995 — Wang criticized the Communist Party in essays published abroad, met with other activists and petitioned for democracy.

Ireland's speech was a compelling call to action for the women present, Latta said.

"It was important for someone to actually confirm what I've been feeling for a long time," Tucker said.

President Donald Haragan were supportive of the conference, and the result was increased participation.

Jennifer Latta, a junior general studies major from Crosbyton, said she enjoyed the conference and

Astronauts remove mice fetuses to study development

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Astronauts aboard space shuttle Columbia removed the fetuses of nine pregnant mice Sunday so they can be examined to determine how the nervous system develops in space.

The experiment, one of 26 being performed on the two-week Neurolab mission, should help scientists learn whether gravity is required for normal brain development.

The answer is critical in determining whether animals and humans could be born in space, enabling space colonies to be established.

"These experiments are going to answer very basic and very important questions that are particularly relevant not only to humans but to animal health here on Earth as well as in space," NASA scientist Louis Ostrach said. "The value of these experiments is considerable."

Before the dissections, crew members injected the pregnant mice with cell markers to label the brain cells in their embryos.

This allows scientists to track the development and migration of the cells.

Conference brings attention to Vietnam

BY ANJELA ANAYA
The University Daily

Representatives from Vietnam were in Lubbock Thursday through Saturday to promote cultural awareness.

"Vietnam in Asia," hosted at the International Cultural Center and sponsored by Texas Tech's Center for the Study of the Vietnam Conflict, was conducted to establish a more balanced educational perspective and dialogue about the Vietnam War.

Tech president Donald Haragan said the conference has brought a lot of attention to the university already.

"I think it's done a lot to focus attention on the Vietnam conflict and show that Vietnam is not forgotten," Haragan said. "It's an important part of our history and of Vietnam's history. Now is the time to understand how the conflict occurred and hopefully establish friendships."

Haragan said the Vietnam Archive probably is one of the largest collections of its kind in the world, outside of the Library of Congress, regarding the Vietnam conflict.

develop the collection and establish endowments. We hope that it will attract scholars from all over the world and provide some assistance to students who are utilizing the archive."

"We're trying to develop an exchange program for some students, mostly history students, to have an opportunity to be in Vietnam for at least a portion of the time," Haragan said.

"We're continuing to de-

James Reckner, conference coordinator and director of the CSVC, said the aim of the conference was for people to look at the Vietnam conflict from a different angle.

"I think the main purpose of the conference was for people in the field of Vietnam studies to present their latest research and have veterans from the war to think about the Vietnam War as Vietnam history instead of an aspect of American history," Reckner said. "We want to improve relations between Vietnam and the U.S., which are very different because of our experience, and important particularly because of the war experience. We won't get past the Vietnam conflict until we get a chance to meet these people."

Ex-FBI profiler says JonBenet note 'ridiculous' as proof of crime

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — The key to solving JonBenet Ramsey's slaying may be contained in 430 words of small, sometimes shaky script that two experts suggest were written to throw investigators off the killer's track.

As the investigation winds down and heads toward a grand jury, the 2 1/2-page ransom note looms large as one uncontaminated piece of evidence in the 15-month-old case.

Yet the note initially caused trouble: Police, accepting it as proof of a kidnapping and assuming the missing child had been whisked away, allowed friends and family to wander unescorted through the house and taint the crime scene.

No officer was with John Ramsey, for instance, when he went to a basement storage room and returned carrying his daughter's beaten and strangled body.

"The note was totally ridiculous

“It's probably the best piece of evidence they have.”

Robert Ressler, former FBI profiler

from the standpoint of having any credibility as a kidnap note," former FBI profiler Robert Ressler told The Associated Press.

Police "wasted effectively eight hours of crucial time in buying this kidnap note."

But, said Ressler, "get the person that wrote that note and that person may not have killed JonBenet, but they certainly know what happened."

For that reason, he said, "It's probably the best piece of evidence they have."

Ressler has assisted with hundreds of investigations, including those of multiple murderers Charles Manson, Ted Bundy, Jeffrey Dahmer and John Wayne Gacy.

Darwin Awards cause pause, awe at stupidity

AMY OSMULSKI/
EDITOR

For the past few years, a group of pseudo-intelligents have been putting together a list of, well, obituaries and accidents for what they call the Darwin Awards.

They find the "strangest" stories of how people die and send them out to be voted upon by the general public.

I received this year's nominations via e-mail, and I have to say I was a bit disturbed at the thought of publicizing the oddities of a person's demise — until I started reading them.

Everyone's heard sayings like, "Two cans short of a six pack." But these poor, poor people actually are. I wanted to share some of these, but have withheld the names to be somewhat human.

- A 34-year-old Michigan man was killed in March as he was trying to repair what police described as a "farm-type truck." The man got a friend to drive the truck on a highway while the man hung underneath so he could ascertain the source of a troubling noise. The man's clothes caught on something, however, and he was found "wrapped in the drive shaft."

- It makes you wonder if this guy watched "Speed" before he decided to hang on to the bottom of a MOVING VEHICLE.

- A Mississippi man cleaning a bird feeder on the balcony of his condominium apartment slipped and fell 23 stories to his death. The man was standing on a wheeled chair when the accident occurred.

Wheeled chair. That's it.

- A North Carolina man accidentally shot himself to death when, awakening to the sound of a ringing telephone beside his bed, he reached for the phone but grabbed instead a Smith & Wesson 38 Special, which discharged when he drew it to his ear.

I'm all for a person's right to bear arms, but this is ridiculous.

- A terrible diet and a room with no ventilation are being blamed for the death of a man who was killed by his own gas. There was no mark on his body, but an autopsy showed large amounts of methane gas in his system. His diet had consisted primarily of beans and cabbage. It appears the man died in his sleep from breathing from the poisonous cloud that was hanging over his bed.

Had he been outside or had his windows been opened, it wouldn't have been fatal. But the man was shut up in his near airtight bedroom. He was "... a big man with a huge capacity for creating [this deadly gas]." Three of the rescuers got sick and one was hospitalized.

Out of all of these, this one has got to be a joke. I mean, really.

- The poacher who shot a stag standing above him on an overhanging rock and was killed instantly when it fell on him.

I... I really don't have anything to add to this one.

I have no idea if any of these actually happened. I know they are grotesque and even mean, but isn't nice to know we're all in the same gene pool.

Amy Osmulski is a senior journalism major from Big Spring.

A hole lotta shakin'

People should be aware of hurt their recklessness causes

LAURA HENSLEY/
A&E REPORTER

Imagine, restfully sleeping in your downstairs apartment, nestled in the warm spot between the sheets. You're dreaming about some happy place and Mel Gibson is there.

All of the sudden you're awake, startled by a booming crash. At first you think it's thunder, but it sounds way too close to be somewhere up above in the clouds.

Your eyes pop open to see bright headlights beaming into your room. You jump out of bed and run out into the hallway to find what used to be your living room, except the couch is moved, your chair is crushed and a red car is in the middle of the floor.

This nightmarish event happened early Sunday morning at my apartment complex. One of my neighbors was driving home, and was going a little too fast, missed the curve and crashed into the wall of a downstairs apartment. But not only did he just hit the wall, he went straight through it.

But here's the weird part, the driver backed out, drove around to his apartment, got out and went up stairs. He still had big chunks of the building on his car. It really didn't seem to phase him.

Meanwhile, at the woman's apartment, the police had showed up, the fire department and several neighbors surrounded the gaping hole. The woman was pretty shaken up and stayed with friends over night. The upstairs neighbors wanted to make sure the apartment was safe to stay in, and just about everyone else stood in awe of the entire event that seemed only to happen in the movies.

Luckily no one was hurt. Sunday the hole was patched with plywood, but you could still see the skid marks on the street and grass.

This was just ridiculous. One person's recklessness caused someone a lot of terror and damage.

I know thoughtless acts happen like this all of the time and cause pain and heartache to many people. Running a red light, driving home drunk after a party or speeding. Senseless acts that end up costing someone a lot of money or even costing someone their lives.

I know I'm not the most careful person in the world, I've been known to do some very stupid things. We are humans and allowed to screw up from time to time. It's just sad when one person's carelessness causes another's heartache.

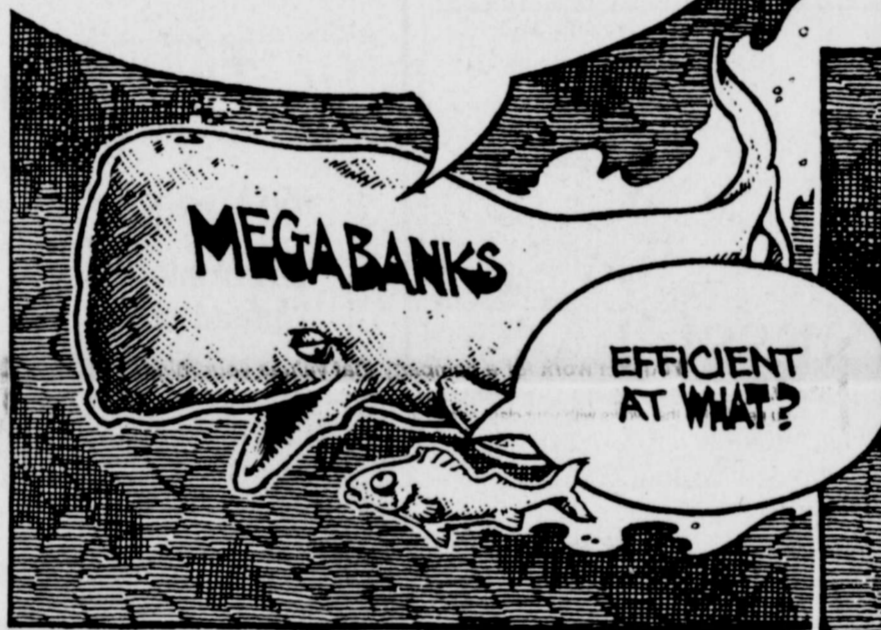

I just urge everyone to think twice before doing something your gut says not to next time. Deep down we know when things are wrong. This way everybody will be a little safer. It seems like usually all of the innocent people are the ones that suffer.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Administration has skewed priorities

To the Editor: I recently had my car towed on campus because I was parked in the faculty parking for one night by mistake.

My question is, doesn't Texas Tech make enough money charging $99 for faculty, $56 for on campus and $39 for commuter parking permits — oh wait, now the price went to $62 for campus and $43 for commuter.

You think they would make enough money to pave the entire Tech campus.

Which leads to another important question, where does all that money go, plus the money they make from writing parking tickets and towing people for $65. It is pretty obvious that the money does not go toward repairing or construction of the lots, due to the fact that there aren't enough parking spaces for residence halls and commuters.

We did not pay this large sum of money to park in dirt or to not being able to find a parking spot outside of our dormitories.

Maybe the school should focus more on the student needs rather than there own.

The police department has other important issues it needs to pay attention to, they might even have the time to catch some of the guys in Bledsoe that keep catching the building on fire.

Instead, Tech administrators seem to think that the police need to spend their entire day trying to find cars to tow and ticket for an outrageous price, rather than for the security of the Tech community.

I really believe there are more important issues to tend to on campus besides towing cars all over campus.

Finally, with the ungodly amount of money Tech makes, they should be willing to make the school a better place for everyone.

They should be proud to give some of it back to the dining halls, so we won't have to eat chicken fried steak from last week that's harder than a brick.

Also, paving more lots so we don't have to park in the mud, making new streets for easier entering and exiting of commuter lots and getting better and more bus routes for students. So where is all this money going?

I think for the prices we pay for the parking permits and for all the tickets and towing, we should be seeing some improvements in the parking systems.

Weekly Tip: Both Taurus and Aquarius are fixed signs. That means people will take longer to make decisions, and be less flexible about making decisions.

If you're having a birthday this week: Your work could bring you lots of things this year, not the least of which is romance. Learn to deal within the system this year and you will never be bothered by it again.

Taurus (April 20-May 20). You are stronger now, so do not let and older person push you around. Your team comes to your rescue. They bring you luck and plenty of help.

Gemini (May 21-June 21). Travel plans are hard to carry out, but you can make final decisions. An older person wants the best for you.

Cancer (June 22-July 22). A friend gets rather pushy, but it is a push in the right direction. Better study the language. Travel plans could materialize.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22). You will not get away with much. Sell something valuable you do not use to get the money you need.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Your good looks and charm could earn you a free lunch. Accept acknowledgment for a job well done.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Love should go very well, especially if you make a commitment. Your work dominates your life.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Carefully consider your options before making decisions. Those decisions will be written in stone.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). You are very good with technical assignments. Use a new tool to achieve success. Home is where the heart is.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Pay travel expenses. Save whatever is left. You will need it later. Postpone making a decision. You do not have enough information yet.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You are strong, but you will need to be patient, too. The only changes accepted are ones that save money.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20). There are lots of hopes to jump through, but you are determined. Get a Virgo to help. Follow your hunches and abundance is your reward.

Aries (March 21-April 19). Group activities may be thwarted due to lack of funds. Pool your imaginations and your talents to generate more income.

'City of Angels' holds on at No. 1

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Romance reigns at the box office.

That apparently was the word from moviegoers who made the supernatural love story "City of Angels" the top-grossing film for a second weekend, according to industry estimates Sunday.

"It kind of has replaced 'Titanic' as the romantic picture for a female audience," said Art Rockwell, an analyst with Rockwell Capital Management. "I was surprised ... but obviously romantic stories are in."

"City of Angels," which grossed an estimated $13.2 million, stars Nicolas Cage as an angel who must choose between immortality or human life when he falls in love with a heart surgeon played by Meg Ryan. The film held off a challenge from another love story, "The Object of My Affection," a poorly reviewed piece starring Jennifer Aniston of "Friends" as a pregnant woman in love with a gay man.

"The Object of My Affection" grossed an estimated $10 million in its first week of release, according to Exhibitor Relations Co. Inc.

"Lost in Space," based on the 1960s television series, dropped to No. 3 with $7.7 million followed by "Titanic," which grossed $7.3 million in its 18th week.

"Paulie," a children's story about a talking bird, opened in fifth place with $5.5 million, followed by "Species II" with $3.9 million and "Neil Simon's The Odd Couple II" with $3.7 million.

The Bruce Willis thriller "Mercury Rising" fell to No. 8, tying with "The Players Club" at $3.6 million each.

"The Players Club," directed by rapper-actor Ice Cube, pulled in the highest per-screen average of any top 10 film at $6,071.

The only other new film in the top 10 was "Major League III: Back to the Minors," another sequel in the baseball comedy series. It earned $2.1 million.

Several other new films were in limited release. "Suicide Kings," a crime story with Christopher Walken and Denis Leary, brought in $525,000 on 135 screens. "Sour Grapes," a comedy by "Seinfeld" co-creator Larry David, pulled in $125,000 on 28 screens.

Final figures were to be released Monday.

Here are estimated grosses for the top movies at North American theaters for Friday through Sunday:

1. "City of Angels," $13.2 million.
2. "The Object of My Affection," $10 million.
3. "Lost in Space," $7.7 million.
4. "Titanic," $7.3 million.
5. "Paulie," $5.5 million.
6. "Species II," $3.9 million.
7. "Neil Simon's The Odd Couple II," $3.7 million.
8. (tie) "Mercury Rising," $3.6 million.
8. (tie) "The Players Club," $3.6 million.
10. "Major League III: Back to the Minors," $2.1 million.

Critics of Diana grief are snobs, says Prime Minister Tony Blair

LONDON (AP) — Critics of Britain's outpouring of grief over Princess Diana's death are snobs, Prime Minister Tony Blair said in a television interview broadcast Sunday.

Blair's comments were the latest in a controversy sparked by a new publication by a right-wing think-tank that described Diana as muddled and self-obsessed, and criticized "mob grief" over her death Aug. 31.

"They are perfectly entitled to their view ... but I think there is an element of snobbery about it," Blair said of "Faking It: The Sentimentalization of Modern Society," which was published Friday.

"When they go on about fake sentimentality in relation to Princess Diana — people really felt like that," added Blair, interviewed by Sky Television during a Middle East tour. "Why it is fake just because there happen to be a lot of people in the country who feel like that?"

In the publication by the Social Affairs Unit, a series of academics said Britain is dominated by self-indulgence and sentimentality that was epitomized in Diana's funeral — "the elevation of feelings above reason, reality and restraint."

Meanwhile, The Sunday Telegraph reported that Diana's sons have turned down an invitation to spend part of their summer holiday with her sister, Lady Sarah McQuordale, opting instead to stay with their father, Prince Charles.

Prince William, 15, and Prince Harry, 13, have refused an invitation from Earl Spencer, Diana's brother, to attend a pop concert in her memory this summer at Althorp, the Spencer family home, British media reported.

Buckingham Palace had no comment.

Tech Fest '98

Free concert,
free food,
a lot of fun
part of end-ofyear event

The last Friday of the semester is quickly approaching, and University Center Programs, Recreational Sports and the Residence Hall Association would like to invite all Texas Tech students to enjoy themselves one last time before finals begin in grand fashion with food, games and live music on the grounds of the Student Recreation Center.

TECH FEST, April 24, is an afternoon and early evening event developed as a way to show Texas Tech's appreciation for its students and foster relations between student organizations and other departments. This event is free and will include a variety of intramural sporting activities on the Rec Center Sports Field and Student Recreation Area. Prize giveaway's, food and beverage vendors, and a late afternoon concert at the Urbanovsky Park Amphitheatre (located on the southeast corner of Flint and 18th Street) will round out the event. TECH FEST will begin with sport events at 3 p.m. and end after the concert is finished at 9:30 p.m..

Sporting events include 6-on-6 Soccer Tournaments at the Rec Fields just east of the Rec Center. This tournament is open to all students, faculty and staff. Men, women and co-rec teams will all compete together, and games will be played on a 50-yard field and will consist of two fifteen-minute halves.

The other event hosted by the Rec Center is the co-rec 3-on-3 sand volleyball tournament on the outdoor courts south of the Rec Center. Teams will consist of three players, two of which must be of one gender. Only one club volleyball player is allowed per team and scoring is by the best two out of three games to eleven points. The third game, if necessary, will be by rally scoring.

All interested students, faculty and staff can sign up for these events anytime before April 22 at 5 p.m. in Room 202 of the Student Rec Center. Both tournaments will begin at 3 p.m. and run simultaneously.

Even if volleyball or soccer isn't your thing, students are still encouraged to come out and cheer for their favorite team, play Frisbee, get a tan, enjoy provided food and drink, or bring a blanket and find a spot to enjoy the concert that begins at 4 p.m..

American Horse

The headlining band is American Horse, formerly Jackopierce - a Texas Tech favorite. While the name American Horse probably doesn't ring a bell, some of its members might: singer-guitarist Jack O'Neill, bassist Clay Pendergrass and drummer Earl Darling made up three-fourths of Jackopierce, the long-running Dallas band that broke up Dec. 31 of last year.

Guitarist Chris Claridy, who's played with Jack Ingram and Fever in the Funkhouse, rounds out the new quartet. American Horse — which takes its name from a Sioux Indian chief — might mix a few Jackopierce tunes into its repertoire of new songs, but singer O'Neill also says he's eager to put the old days behind him. The sound of the new band is much more mature and rich and there is a lot more freedom on the stage than in year's past.

The other bands filling out the bill are 7 Medium and Storage 66. Also, just added to the bill is Spilling Poetry, who will be premiering its latest CD at TECH FEST.

Student organizations are encouraged to make this event part of their early recruitment for next year.

Call John Harris, Douglas Palmquist or Darryl Robbins at UC Activities, 742-3621, for more info.

UC Programs announces officers, campus leadership opportunities

The votes have been cast and the new class of leaders has been chosen for University Center Programs' 1998-1999 season.

Jason Meier, a junior from Escanaba, Michigan, will take the reigns as UCP President, while Blake Houser, a sophomore from Fort Worth, will assist him in the role of Vice President.

Jennifer Beck, a freshman from Midlothian, will be the new Ideas and Issues chairperson, and the Cultural Exchange committee will now be spearheaded by Jake Owens, a sophomore from San Antonio. John Harris, a freshman from Mesquite, will return as Concerts chair, and Chere Gipson, a sophomore from Eagle River, Alaska, will continue her work as Films chairperson.

"This group should prove to bring another year of success to University Center Programs," said 1997-98 UC Programs President Jeff Blackwell. "The new officers are all hard workers and have the dedication to continue the mission of UCP."

There are many more leadership opportunities available in UCP in the summer, as well as the fall and spring.

There is still an opening for the 1998-1999 Fine Arts chairperson. This committee focuses on providing fine arts programs to the Tech and Lubbock communities. In the past their topics ranged from dance and theater, to music and visual art.

If this type of opportunity interests you, talk to Jason Meier for more information. University Center Programs also needs people to organize and assist with programs from all five of our committees. So if you would like to help, or just want more information, stop by room 228 of the University Center.

Games Room Grand Re-opening

Spare time between classes? Need a study break? Want to relax before heading home or back to the residence halls?

The University Center now has your answer!

After a long period of asbestos abatement and remodeling activities, the UC Games Room will reopen on April 20th with a new look and a much more pleasant environment. The Games Room has been under renovation since mid-December.

In the process of removing asbestos from pipes that run over the ceiling, the decision was made to not reinstall a ceiling, rather to leave the overhead open, creating a more spacious feel.

To create a better acoustical environment, the whole games area has been carpeted and before summer a wallcovering will be installed from the floor to a height of nearly four feet. With all of that in place, the acoustics in the room will be much improved.

The same nine pocket billiards, two snooker, and one billiard tables will remain, but the pool players will have new stools and tables to relax in between shots. The furniture should arrive before the first of May.

The pool players are not the only ones getting some new equipment. Our table tennis players will have four new Stiga competition tables to play on in an enlarged space.

Of course, we cannot forget the electronic games players! We have created a space in the northwest corner of the games room that the electronic gamers can call their own. It is inside a contained area where the game players do not have to worry about dodging cue balls and have complete concentration on their games.

Our game supplier has made the commitment to bring us the newest and the best in electronic games, so make sure and check out the game selection often.

As the room reopens, there will be some items that may not be completed. All our best efforts are going into the installation of general lighting and completion of the new service counter, but they may not be done come April 20th. That is the day we will reopen.

We have some special activities planned for that time including Jack White returning Wednesday through Friday April 22-24.

Jack will hold a clinic and tournament on Wednesday and Thursday and do his traditional show and announce the tournament winners on Friday.

To reintroduce the Tech students to the redone area, we will have free pool, snooker, and billiards from April 20 until May 4th!

Be sure and come down to the Games Room and see all that we have accomplished through this project.

We want you to have the best facility possible for your out-of-class enjoyment!

Red Raider tennis falls to Longhorns

The Texas Tech women's tennis team fell to No. 5-ranked Texas, 8-1, Saturday at the Penick-Allison Tennis center in Austin. Texas swept all six singles matches as No. 28-ranked singles player Cristina Moros defeated Tech freshman Zana Zlebnik, 7-6, 6-2.

The doubles team of junior Misty Meyer and sophomore Sarada Ravindra posted the only win for the Red Raiders in the match at the No. 3 doubles slot. Meyer-Ravindra defeated the Texas duo of Jill Liberman and Sonia Moorthy, 8-3.

Tech will next be in action as it plays Abilene Christian in a make-up match at 6:30 p.m. today at Lakeridge Country Club. After the battle against ACU, the Red Raiders then will move on to the Big 12 Tournament beginning Thursday in Lincoln, Neb.

Rodriguez, Rangers roll past Baltimore

ARLINGTON (AP) — Ivan Rodriguez capped a five-run fourth inning with a three-run homer Sunday to lead the Texas Rangers over the Baltimore Orioles 11-7. Rodriguez went 4-for-5, and Juan Gonzalez had four RBIs to take over the AL lead with 22. The Rangers, who took an 11-1 lead into the ninth, won for the sixth time in seven games. Rangers starter Bobby Witt (2-0) allowed three runs and eight hits in eight-plus innings. He walked three and struck out one. Texas won twice during the three-game series after going 1-10 against Baltimore last season. Roberto Alomar and Harold Baines had two hits each for the Orioles, who have lost four of five.

Tech fastpitch sweeps Baylor

BY JASON BERNSTEIN
The University Daily

The Texas Tech fastpitch softball team recorded its first-ever sweep of Baylor Saturday at the Berl Huffman Complex as the No. 19-ranked Red Raider squad sent their first senior class out on a winning note.

In the first game, Tech (42-16 overall, 8-6 Big 12) scored two runs in the bottom of the second inning as junior infielder Amiee Weathers drove home Jenny Kohler on a screaming double to the outfield. Weathers later scored on a passed ball giving the Red Raiders all they would need to claim the 2-0 victory.

"It's nice to finally get a win over Baylor," said Tech senior Kim Tillett.

Tech had posted an 0-7 mark against Baylor in seven previous meetings.

Freshman pitcher Amanda Renfro tallied the win, moving her to 20-10 on the season. The shutout was her 14th shutout of the season as she limited Baylor to two hits in seven innings.

The second game had a different look to it as Baylor dominated play by jumping out to a six-run lead after tallying two runs in the top of the fifth and four more in the sixth.

The Bears used timely hitting to capitalize on three Tech errors, helping them tally what seemed to be an insurmountable lead.

Freshman infielder Jennifer Beach overthrew first base, leading to two unearned runs in the Baylor half of the fifth. Sophomore infielder Tamara Harrington committed her 11th error of the year as she overthrew second base leading to one more unearned Baylor run. "It was all about momentum," Tillett said of game two.

And momentum there was as the Red Raiders fought back in the bottom of the sixth to get on the scoreboard with three runs of their own.

Senior catcher Jessica Karenke plated junior outfielder Stephanie Walls, who singled to lead off the inning.

A double by Kohler scored sophomore Paula Workman.

The two-out barrage continued as Harrington atoned for her defensive miscue as she scored pinch-runner Jeanette Lanford, cutting the Baylor lead in half.

"It said so much for our team to come back and put some runs on the board," Karenke said of the Red Raider effort.

But Tech wasn't finished as they continued to pound Baylor starting pitcher Carrie Arn who surrendered 11 hits in 6.2 innings.

Tech reliever Emily Hayes pitched 1.2 innings of relief for starter Renfro as Hayes held Baylor to one earned run while striking out three of the five batters she faced.

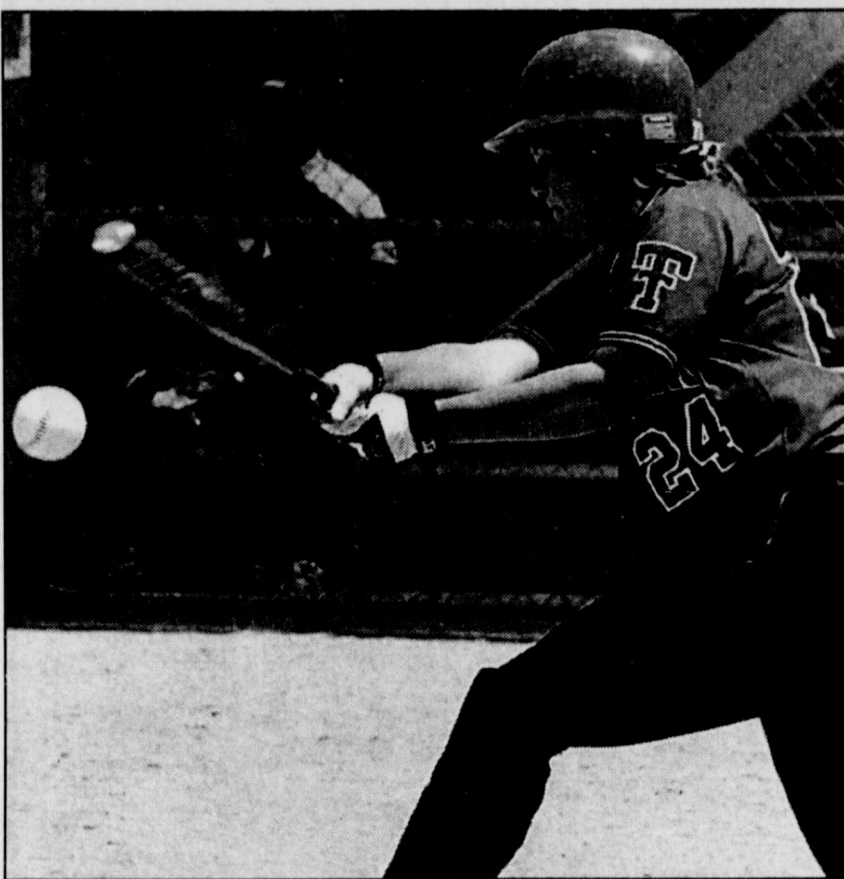

She recorded her 14th win of the year as she held down the fort until the Tech offense took over.

Renfro pitched 5.1 innings of seven-hit ball while striking out five. She gave up four runs on the day but did not figure in the decision.

The Tech half of the seventh proved to be a wild one as Karenke doubled in Beach, who had started the inning off with a walk.

The two-out double followed two Tech walks and brought Weathers to the plate for a possible game-tying opportunity.

intentionally walking Weathers to get to Kohler.

Kohler was hit by a pitch scoring pinch-runner Beth Hurley, who was running for Workman.

Harrington was due up and was poised to get the job done for her team.

After working the count full, she jumped all over a Stacey Allison pitch, sending two runners home on a double and Baylor back to Waco with the 7-6 loss.

Harrington's hit capped a 2-for-3 day with three runs batted in as Tech picked up seven two-out runs in less than two innings.

"It just took us awhile to get onto her (Arn's) pitches," Karenke said of Tech's effort.

"Once we saw the ball better, we just made things happen. It really says a lot about our team."

The losses dropped Baylor to 18-30 overall, 2-12 in the Big 12.

"I think not so much about the win over Baylor, but the way we won today," said Tech coach Renee Luers-Gillispie.

"To me, the way we came back in two innings and scored seven runs with two outs shows the true character of the girls on this team. We've known all season long that we've had this type of effort in us, but we've just played a little flat towards the end of the season. It just shows a lot for these girls to step up and take care of business the way they did."

Tech next will move on to College Station Saturday to battle Texas A&M before closing out regular season play Sunday against the Texas Longhorns in Austin.

Raiders start stretch with Big 12 series win

AMES, Iowa (Special) — The Texas Tech baseball team got off to a strong start on its six-game conference road trip by winning 2-of-3 games against Iowa State at Cap Timm Field this weekend.

The No. 19 Red Raiders (32-14 overall, 12-8 Big 12) used a strong performance from pitcher Jesse Cornejo, whose three-hit complete game handcuffed the Cyclones, 12-1, Sunday.

The game was scoreless until the top of the fourth inning, when Red Raider catcher Josh Bard hit a solo home run to lead off the inning. It was Bard's 11th homer of the season, and his ninth in conference play.

Tech made it 2-0 in the fifth when Keith Ginter scored on Brennan Burns' RBI single to right.

Tech didn't know it at the time, but that was more than enough for Cornejo. The junior moved to 8-3 on the year, and 3-2 in conference play. He retired 14 of the last 15 batters he faced and recorded 11 strikeouts to match his season high.

It also was Cornejo's second-consecutive complete game, and the seventh complete game in the last nine conference starts for the Tech pitching staff.

"It really gave my confidence a boost," Cornejo said. "My arm felt great last weekend and this weekend. I felt like I could put my fastball wherever I wanted to."

Cornejo did not give up his first hit of the game until the bottom of the fifth when Doug Kinsel reached on an infield single. Tom Wierzbicki, who reached on a fielder's choice, moved to third on the single.

He then scored when Jason

McNertney singled to center. It was McNertney's first hit of the season, and it cut the Tech lead in half.

But the Red Raiders were in no mood for a close game. Tech scored three runs in the sixth to push their lead to 5-1. Bard doubled to lead off the inning and scored on Mark Austry's RBI single. Miles Durham then singled and scored along with Austry when Jason Huth laced a double down the left-field line.

Cornejo retired the next nine Cyclone batters, and Tech further padded the lead. Kevin Jordan hit a two-run home run in the seventh to give Tech a 7-1 lead.

"I got a lot of run support," Cornejo said.

"I had a lot of support, and I was able to relax out there and just pitch. It felt good to roll through innings like I did. The key was to get the first guy out in every inning."

In all, Tech scored five runs in the ninth to make the final score 12-1.

It was a stark contrast from the Red Raiders 10-7 losing performance Saturday.

After blowing out the Cyclones 12-2 in Friday's opener, Tech jumped out to a 7-2 lead on the strength of Bard's 10th home run.

But the Red Raiders could not hold the lead. Monty Ward, Tech's designated hard-luck pitcher, again pitched well enough to win. He left the game after 7 1/3 innings, with Tech ahead 7-3. He allowed four runs, three earned, on seven hits. Ward walked five batters and struck out seven.

Tech now moves on to Lincoln, Neb., where the Red Raiders will play Nebraska twice Tuesday and once again Wednesday.
