Final preparations for staging the rodeo, among the first major events to be presented this season, were completed Wednesday, and the entire business section took on a festive appearance as flags, streamers and street banners were strung throughout the area around the courthouse square.

Sponsors, enthusiastic over recent drought-breaking rains and the splendid cooperation of the citizenship in advance plans for the event, expect this year's Roundup to surpass the previous successful shows.

The list of contestants entering the various steady events has been growing steadily since last weekend, and some of the top rodeo talent in the Southwest will be seen in action in the arena.

Bucking stock to be used in the rodeo events was brought in Tuesday by Morris Stephens, Silverton, Texas, rodeo producer. Stephens said Wednesday that the stock in the bronc riding and Brahma bull riding events would be used for the first time in the Haskell show.

Final Community Clinic Session Set For May 16

A final session of the Community Clinic, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce with the assistance of the West Texas C. of C. will be held Thursday night, May 16, in the High School Auditorium.

OUT ON A LIMB
By CHARLENE WHITE

From the If That Ain't Just Like A Man Dept.—John Payne insists that if two women get together and start talking it's gossip. However, if a man is involved, well then, of course it's news.

The recent storm reminded John Winters of the day he moved to Haskell. It was late August and a threatening looking cloud had all the local residents out peering at the sky. When the siren sounded, "First thing I knew we were all loaded in the car and headed for a dugout. We sat there until 11 o'clock and it turned out to be a fire in East Haskell."

The aforementioned Mr. Winters and Frank Martin have formed a new club for this club-crazy town. This is called the Nothin' Club. There are no duties, no dues, no meetings, and anyone can belong and you can do anything you want, but they'd prefer that you do nothin'. Stanley Furrh has made application to become a charter member, we hear.

The Jaycees have been awfully disappointed that they did not get to play ball in their ladies outfit. They spent quite a good deal of time and effort completing their costumes.

We overheard Allen Rieves discussing his ensemble with Ray Reeder. "Have you seen my hat? It's the prettiest thing!"

Rex Felker, C. of C. manager, received a letter recently from a Tyler, Texas 7th grader who wanted some information about this section. She needed the data for a school report and urged Rex to send the brochure immediately as the "report is due any time."

Brownwood Woman Recalls Early Days in Haskell

An early-day resident of Haskell, Mrs. S. E. Low who now lives in Brownwood recalls some of the early history of this section in a note which accompanied her renewal to The Free Press. After seeing a recent TV program which mentioned the observance of Haskell County's 100th Anniversary this year, Mrs. Low recalled that her family came to Haskell in 1887. A neighbor was Mrs. Martin, whose three sons established The Free Press as Haskell's first newspaper. Mrs. Low distinctly remembers the location of the building which housed the old "Road to Ruin" Saloon and its famous sign, the letters "Whis" on a wooden replica of a key hanging in front of the saloon. "As I remember, Pete Hazelwood and John Keister were owners, and neither touched liquor," the Brownwood woman wrote. Her address is: Mrs. S. E. Low, 1615 Sixth Street, Brownwood, Texas.

High Waters Hike Cattle Sales at Fort Worth

By TED GOULDY
Fort Worth—Expansion of the cattle receipts was general over the country Monday, and at Fort Worth a part of the increase was credited to movement of cattle and calves out of the low-lying pastures by the high water. In some cases the cattle were reported moved off pastures which are now at the bottom of the larger lakes.

Other shippers reported they were starting shipping a bit earlier than usual because of their reluctance to wait until the annual summer break in cattle prices hits the grass fat variety of yearlings and older cattle. "The high prices on grass cattle can't be expected to hold once hot weather comes," was the way one East Texas cowman put it. "A sharp price break would more than offset any gains we could put on."

Slaughter cattle and calves opened in the face of sharply lower bids at Fort Worth Monday, but reliable stocker demand and some independent packer support, offset the worst of the low bids. Prices on slaughter cattle and calves ranged from steady to 25 to 50 cents lower. Stocker classes were firm.

Comparative prices: Good and choice fat yearlings and heifers $19-$23; few mature steers arrived. Common and medium yearlings and heifers $12-$18. Fat cows $12.50-$15, some heiferish kinds $16. Canners and cutters drew $8.50-$12.50. Bulls were reported from $11-$15.75.

Good and choice fat calves sold from $19-$22.50, a few fancy kinds $23-$23.50. Cull to medium slaughter calves $10-$17. Stocker calves $23 down, and stocker steer yearlings $21.50 down.

Little Linda Griffith, Amelia Perry and Paul Early have the measles this week.

We took the twins to College Station this past weekend to take the Opportunity Award exams, and you have never seen prettier country than that is now. Tall trees and wild flowers everywhere, and grain beginning to ripen. We saw fields of oats and one of corn that were actually drowned. The oats were just laying over, and turning yellow, and the poor little corn was just shriveled up and brown. I suppose it had stood under water just too long. Some of the high-ways showed considerable damage from the high water, too. But most of the crops were good. The pitiful thing to me was the good grass in the pastures, and no cattle. I guess the farmers and ranchers had had to sell their herds during the drought while they had no grass, and now haven't been able to buy back yet. That was in the Central Texas country. I don't think they have had such a long dry time of it down Aggie land way. When we came home and saw our grain it looked almost as pretty. It just isn't as close to harvest as theirs.

Granddaddy Dee G. Tidwell had surgery Monday in Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene for the removal of cataracts from an eye. The eye had been so badly damaged by the cataracts that the doctors may have to remove the eye later on. However, his daughter Mrs. Larned, told me that he was resting well following the surgery. Another daughter, Mrs. Garland Calloway and Mr. Calloway are in Abilene with Mr. Tidwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Livengood, who have just recently moved from Lubbock to Abilene, spent several days with his brother Homer Livengood and family last week. Earl is the oldest son of the late Uncle Bob and Mrs. Livengood, and finished school at Post.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Cook had as their guest last week end his nephew, Bob Cook and his wife from Grand Prairie. The Bob Cooks have recently moved from Tulsa, Okla., and he is now designing engineer for the Chance Vought Aircraft Co. of Grand Prairie.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Bergstrom, Arvie and Joy, spent Thursday in Austin where they made necessary arrangements for Arvie to enter Texas University next fall.

Gene Overton attended a meeting of the Scout Jamboree planning committee in Abilene Friday afternoon. That evening there was a special meeting at the Scout office for men who conduct the Scout training school in this council, and Gene was one of them.

Dangerous Gases Encountered in Oil Industry Studied at SPL Safety Meet

A discussion and demonstration of dangerous gases encountered in the oil industry highlighted a district safety meeting of Service Pipe Line employees and members of the Haskell volunteer fire department held Wednesday evening, May 1, in the dining room of the Texas Cafe.

Also present, at the meeting were company officials R. R. McAnear, Stamford, district superintendent, and P. E. (Pete) Clark, Fort Worth, safety supervisor for SPL Company.

Conducting the discussion and demonstrations was A. M. Evans of Dallas, specialist in the safety division of the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

Evans' talk dealt with four harmful and deadly gases most commonly encountered in the oil industry: Carbon monoxide, carbon tetrachloride petroleum vapors and hydrogen sulphide.

Carbon monoxide, being odorless, colorless, and tasteless, was described as the country's biggest gas killer by the safety expert. It results from automobile exhaust, and from open gas flames, he pointed out. Carbon tetrachloride, a basic ingredient in cleaning fluids, is extremely dangerous to humans. Evans explained, and exposure to its fumes can cause death, he warned.

Petroleum vapors discussed included methane, ethane, butane, propane, and gasoline fumes. A demonstration was conducted showing the effects of gasoline fumes on a white rat, with the rodent being overcome by the vapors within one minute's time. Continued exposure would have killed the animal, Evans explained.

Most deadly gas likely to be encountered in oil field work is hydrogen sulphide, sometimes called "sour gas" or "stinking gas" because of its odor, Evans said. This type gas is found in several West Texas oil fields, and has been detected in some quantity in the South Haskell field.

When hydrogen sulphide is present in quantities of one to two thousandths parts in a million, it is fatal for humans, Evans declared. He warned that gas masks and other precautionary safety measures should be used when working in areas where this gas is present or suspected.

Illustrating the deadly effect of "sour gas," a second white rat became apparently lifeless after being exposed to the gas for 32 seconds. Placed in a miniature

Ernest Sutherlin, Former Resident, Dies Saturday

Ernest Sutherlin, 78, former longtime resident of Haskell who had been living in Wichita Falls for the past 30 years, died unexpectedly in that city Saturday afternoon, May 4.

Mr. Sutherlin had suffered with a heart ailment for three or four years. He became critically ill Saturday, and died while being rushed to a hospital.

Funeral services for Mr. Sutherlin were held at 2:30 p. m. Monday in Owens & Brumley Funeral Home and burial was in Crestview Memorial Park in Wichita Falls.

Dr. Alfred Freeman, pastor of First Methodist Church in that city, officiated for the rites.

Born April 9, 1879 in Red River County, Mr. Sutherlin came to Haskell when a young man and was engaged in the barber business here for a number of years. Later he was in the automobile business until moving to Wichita Falls in the late 20's. He married the former Miss Ola Fitzgerald of Haskell in 1900.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Ola Sutherlin; two sons, Walter E. and Jack Sutherlin, both of Wichita Falls; two daughters, Miss Mary Sutherlin and Mrs. G. W. Butler, both of Wichita Falls; a brother, Frank Sutherlin of Mexico; and six grandchildren.

Attending the funeral services from Haskell were Mrs. Ada Rike, Mrs. Addie Middleton, Marvin Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Cobb.

"Iron lung" the animal was received in two minutes, but would show effects of the poisoning for several days, Evan stated.

SPL Company employees attending the meeting included Tom Adams, W. A. Grimes and C. N. Haley of Stamford, W. W. Runnels of Aspermont, E. R. Smart of Knox City; and from Haskell: H. A. Bayless, B. C. Roundup— (Continued from page 1) will furnish parade music for the dozen or more riding clubs and hundreds of cowboys and cowgirls taking part in the gala event.

Grand Entry preceding the initial rodeo program tonight will be highlighted by the presentation of parade trophies to the three top riding clubs selected by parade judges. All visiting clubs will take part in the colorful grand entry.

Rex Felker will be announcer for the rodeo events over a public address system installed in the judge's stand.

Show officials will include Arena Director Brooks Middleton; Fred Albright of Paducah and N. A. Pitcock of Aspermont, judges; and Ray Overton, Jr., and Dude Montgomery, timekeepers.

Producer Stephens will also work in the arena as show supervisor, along with several pickup men and other helpers.

Last Year's Records Contestants in the roping events will be endeavoring to beat the records set in last year's show, when identical time of 11.3 seconds was turned in by Jack Newton of Abilene in calf roping, and Jimmy Bird of Post in ribbon roping.

Champion roper and winner of the saddle awarded for this feat in the 1956 show was N. A. Pitcock, veteran Aspermont cowboy whose time of 17.3 seconds was the best average on four head of stock, two in calf roping and tie-down and two in ribbon roping.
