Special Day For Old Settlers Slated During Western Week

Early-day settlers of Haskell County will be in the spotlight during the coming week, when a series of Western events is scheduled, all centering around the sixth annual Rice Springs Roundup and Horse Show.

One of the major events will be "Old Settlers Day" on Friday, May 15, with all early-day residents of this section invited.

The large building on the west side of the square, formerly occupied by Perkins-Timberlake, will be fitted up as Old Settlers headquarters.

All persons who have lived in Haskell County 50 years or longer are urged to visit the headquarters building and register on Old Settlers Day.

Also, a display of Western antiques of all kinds will be arranged in the building, which will be open all week for visits by the public.

A special feature of Old Settlers Day will be an "Old Fiddlers Contest" to be staged on the south side of the courthouse lawn at 2:30 p. m. Friday. Cash prizes will be awarded the three top fiddlers, and the program will be free to the public.

Mrs. Luther Burkett is general chairman of the Western Week committee, with the following chairmen and co-chairmen of special events:

Red Cross Fund Campaign Nets $1,911 To Date

The annual Red Cross fund campaign has fallen far short of the $4,800 quota set at the beginning of the fund drive in March, it was reported today.

Only $1,911.97 has been reported raised, representing approximately 40 per cent of the 1959 quota, Mrs. Ethel Lou Shelton, secretary of the county Red Cross chapter, stated.

Three communities in the county met or exceeded their quotas: O'Brien with $352.00, Curry Chapel $45.00, and Cobb $21.00.

Amounts reported by other communities: Center Point, $50.10; Irby, $45.00; Jud, $17.00; Mattson, $45.40; Rule, $541.28; Sagerton, $121.20; Haskell, $805.69. Other contributions making up the total included: Ward, $15.50; Telephone Co., $12.80; Gins, $40.00.

Several community chairmen and local workers have yet to turn in their reports, Mrs. Shelton explained.

Rule's Joy Notes Present Program At Lions Club

One of the outstanding entertainment programs of the year was presented at the Lions Club Tuesday by a Rule High School choral group, The Joy Notes.

During the business session of the meeting and luncheon, held in the Highway Drive In, District Attorney Royce Adkins was awarded the Monarch Chevron in recognition of 10 years service in the Lions Club.

The club's song leader, Rev. Oscar Bruce selected a quartet composed of Dr. J. G. Vaughter, Allen Rieves, George Fouts and Rajah Hassan and the group sang "Suwanee River."

Members of the girls' quartet are Audrey Jo Smith, Fern Ross, Jackie Nell Estes and Jan Ousley. Mr. and Mrs. Novis Ousley are sponsors and instructors of the Joy Notes.

TALENT AND BEAUTY COMBINED—The Joy Notes, Rule High School choral group, have made more than 100 public appearances during their high school career. Shown are, from left, Audrey Jo Smith, Fern Ross, Jackie Nell Estes and Jan Ousley. Mr. and Mrs. Novis Ousley are sponsors and instructors of the Joy Notes.

Finishing touches are being made on rodeo grounds and pens this week, in preparation for the sixth annual Rice Springs Roundup and Horse Show, scheduled May 14, 15 and 16 under sponsorship of the Haskell County Sheriff's Office.

"All indications point to another successful show this year," Dr. T. W. Williams, president of the Sheriff's Office, said.

Many inquiries are coming in daily from prospective contestants. Brooks Middleton, in charge of rodeo entries, stated Tuesday.

A full schedule of rodeo events will be run off each night, including cowgirls barrel race, bareback and saddle bronc riding, bull riding, calf roping and ribbon roping.

More than $2,000 in cash prizes will be paid contestants, in addition to extra money in jackpot events, and a custom-made saddle for the champion roper of this year's show.

Special events will include both open and novice cutting horse contests, rodeo clown acts and other features.

THP Investigates 23 Accidents In Month Of April

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 23 traffic accidents which occurred in the nine-county Haskell area during April, Sgt. Frank Jircik, area supervisor, announced today.

The area accidents resulted in one death, 13 personal injuries, and caused property damage of $13,823.

Of the 23 accidents investigated, nine resulted from speeding, two from improper passing, three from driving while intoxicated, two from driving on the wrong side of road, four from making improper turn, one from running a stop sign, one from failing to signal, and one by improper start from parked position.

In Haskell County, the Highway Patrol investigated five accidents in April. Sgt. Jircik said. There were two personal injuries, $2,610 in property damage, and no deaths he added.

Compared with the first four months of 1958, when there were six fatalities from traffic accidents in Haskell County there were no deaths in the same period this year, Sgt. Jircik pointed out.

Sgt. Jircik advised that 50 per cent of the area accidents were caused by two factors: excessive speed and driving while intoxicated. Enforcement efforts of the Highway Patrol will be concentrated in cutting down the number of accidents caused by these violations, he declared.

Mother

You may have been only a freckle-faced, tousled-haired boy to most people in your native town. But to your mother you were a king of royal blood.

And as the annual observance of one of the sweetest holidays in the year approaches—Mother's Day—time finds mother thinking the very same thoughts.

That is the reason we have this beautiful holiday, and one of the reasons why we observe it.

If she is living and near enough for you to be with her this Mother's Day—spend the day in loving association and communion with her.

Something For Nothing?

One of the more enduring and damaging illusions of the time is that federal aid to states and cities and other local governments is somehow "free"—that it really provides us with something for nothing.

Economists Fred G. Clark and Richard Stanton Rimanoczy of the American Economic Foundation clearly and simply show the hole in that kind of reasoning by citing two prime principles of economics.

First: "Nothing in our economic life comes from nowhere or goes nowhere; there is always a source and a destination."

To supply federal aid, the government first takes away money that otherwise could have been spent directly at the local level, and then gives part of it back.

So federal aid, far from being "free," is as expensive a device as we can think up.

Haskell County History

20 Years Ago—May 13, 1939

At the regular meeting of the City Council Tuesday night, Aldermen authorized the payment of current obligations of the city with warrants which are redeemable at face value at the Haskell National Bank.

The farm home of David Hunt north of Rule was demolished and two automobiles parked near the house were damaged by a small tornado last Sunday afternoon.

Miss Gayle Roberts of Haskell was recently elected to serve as president of the Student Advisory Council at Texas State College for Women, Denton.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Brown are the parents of a fine son, who arrived at their home Wednesday night.

Charley Richards of Santa Anna is spending several days here and at Rule, visiting friends. He is a former resident, having served as deputy sheriff for several years.

Mrs. Ada Rike and daughter, Mrs. Gaines Post, were in Sweetwater Wednesday to attend the funeral of a relative.

Mrs. Harold Spain of Weston, Texas, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fouts.

Mr. and Mrs. George Henshaw spent the weekend here with relatives.

Mrs. Ernest Sutherland of Wichita Falls spent the week end here with relatives and friends.

PEOPLE, PLACES AND THINGS

By A. PATE

"If I were hanged on the highest hill, I know whose love would follow me still."

Mother o' Mine . . . We are hard-headed business men, callous doctors, care-free students, giddy teen-agers . . . "hard-boiled" by the crowded contacts of modern day living.

Somewhere in all of us there is a soft spot reserved for Mother. One day a year we like to reserve especially to do homage to that wonderful person who guided our first faltering footsteps, who endured our childish tantrums, and who today is perhaps wistfully wishing that she might receive just a bit of attention from those to whom she gave everything.

Five years late but in utmost sincerity, we offer apologies to a valued friend, Sam Herren, local weather observer for more than 15 years.

Our apology goes back five years to 1934, when Sam was cited for 10 years service to the Weather Bureau.

Two motorists who were given tickets for speeding on the Haskell-Stamford highway last Sunday had reason to be red-faced when stopped by Highway Patrolman Arthur Mason after they had whizzed by another car while trying to outdistance the cop.

The machinery of the light plant has been received and the plant started up Thursday. We understand that the plant is being overhauled and new machinery will be added and duplicated in such a way that service will be uninterrupted in the future.

The oil mill will finish its season's crush during the coming week.

Alvy Couch, who is connected with the bank at Knox City, attended the commencement exercises here Monday night.

Mrs. and Mrs. Witt Springer of Aspermont were here Wednesday for a brief visit with friends.

Misses Fannie and Florence Baldwin left Wednesday night for Honey Grove where they will spend several weeks.

M. A. Clifton, with a team and scraper on his place southeast of town in one day scraped out a basin that filled with a flow of pure living water.

B. F. Norman left Tuesday to visit his parents in Alabama.

60 Years Ago—May 13, 1899

The third annual reunion at Pleasant Hill, Haskell County, of the old soldiers and cowboys will be held commencing Tuesday, August 15, 1899, and continuing five days.

At the reunion of Texas veterans at Temple recently, there were present eight survivors of the battle of San Jacinto.

The crop outlook in Haskell County is more promising now than at any corresponding time for several years past.

At their ice cream festival last week, the Baptist ladies Aid Society cleared $24.30.

Cattle Inspector Roberts of Quanah was here this week looking after matters along the quarantine line.

A. H. Tandy left on Thursday with an outfit of men and horses to work on his ranch in the Indian Territory.

Ike Winfree, who has been employed on the X Ranch in this county for several years, left this week for Dickens County, where he will establish a ranch for himself.

Parties interested in the Stowell County copper mines 16 or 20 miles west of this place passed through Thursday en route to the mines to continue the work of prospecting.

Quite a party of prospectors were here Thursday from Bowie and vicinity. We understand that some of them were looking for a business location, and others for farm and ranch lands.

The date for the annual Cowboys Reunion at Seymour has been set for the middle of August.

The committee appointed to investigate the railroad proposition submitted to our people recently by Mr. Locke of Abilene, has now made sufficient progress in their work to make any worthwhile report this week.

that car you passed back there?" Both men replied they didn't know and weren't particularly interested.

"Now you might be," Mason countered. "That was the J. P. who'll hear what you have to say about these tickets."

Sure enough, the other car was occupied by Justice Merle Weaver, who was returning from Stamford when passed by the speeders.

Monday, when the two gas-burners had their second glimpse of the J. P., they were out $16.50 each.

The 85- and 90-degree temperatures in recent days has just about caused Sam Crume of the Highway Drive In Cafe to decide it might be safe to go fishing with Richard Bischoff again.

Last time they were on the lake together, a few weeks ago, the weather was extremely chilly. Sam got wet from water sloshing in the boat just as they started out and the ensuing hours were like fishing in someone's deep freeze.

Although he was just a lad when his parents and grandfather moved to this section from Hill County, Wayne Perry decided at the time that he'd make his home here permanently.

That was 70 years ago last May 2, and Wayne has never lived anywhere else, sticking with Haskell County through droughts, lean crop years, depressions, wars and Republican administrations.

Wayne recalls attending the old Ward School, a small frame building located south of town on land owned by Thos. B. Roberson.

Attending the Stamford C. of C. banquet last Friday night, John Crawford recalled that he hauled the lumber for the first permanent home built in Stamford.

A Myrmekiophila fluviatilis which has set up housekeeping near the Crown Central tank farm southwest of town has a friend in Jimmy Atkinson, C. C.'s gauger and field supervisor.

If this world-shaking bit of information means nothing to you because you've never made the acquaintance of M. Fluviatilis, we'll pass on the information given us.

The tongue-twisting monicker is the highest name for a trap door spider, a species seldom seen in this section.

Non-poisonous, the trap door spider digs a burrow or tunnel which is lined with a waterproof silken lining. A door of closely woven web fits over the entrance to the tunnel, which the spider opens and closes at will in the same fashion as a cellar door.

Atkinson's interest was aroused when he happened to see the flip-flop action of the blob of web when the spider emerged, and again when it went back into the burrow.

Several high school students have visited the site, interested in observing the actions of the burrow-dwelling spider.

And Atkinson to protect the spot from damage by trucks has built a small stake fence around a two-foot plot centered on the residence of Mr. M. Fluviatilis.

They tell this one on Postman Walter Kierka.

He was making his first mail delivery to a house rented by a new comer, an engineer on construction work at the WTU plant.

He couldn't help but notice a big vicious looking dog chained on the front porch.

"That's a queer looking dog there, ma'am," Walter said.

"What kind is it?" "I don't know," the lady replied. "My brother sent it from Africa. You should have seen it before we trimmed its mane."

Annual Homecoming Of Former Residents Held Here Saturday

The annual Homecoming of former residents of the Pinkerton, Whitman and Foster communities 30 or 40 years ago was held Saturday afternoon and evening in The American Legion Building.

Guests began arriving at 5 o'clock, and were registered by Mrs. Bob Herren and Mrs. Clinton Herren.

Highlight of the evening was an old fashioned basket dinner, spread on tables in the large auditorium.

At 6 p. m. the crowd assembled around the tables, and the Homecoming president, Steve Sloan, called for silence while a prayer of thanks was offered by Rals Loe of Brownfield, Texas, for the bountiful meal that was to be served, and for the fellowship the happy occasion afforded.

Mrs. Angie Mullino and Mrs. Nina Gibson poured tea and coffee for the group.

Following the meal, visiting got underway, and many recalled the good times of 30 and 40 years ago when traveling to the country school house for a night of singing, or a "literary society" program. The trips were made in a buggy drawn by a horse, or in a wagon perhaps, with quilt for the girls to sit on while the young men drove the team as they slowly plodded down the road. Highways and automobiles were not available to the "country" people then.

Next the president called the house together for a short business session. Minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. Angie Mullino, who gave a good report on the meeting of 1958.

Henry Smith was asked to serve as moderator when Steve Sloan and Mrs. Mullino asked to be relieved of their duties as president and secretary-treasurer of the association.

New Preservative Adds To Life Of Cotton Fabrics

In the constant battle of "Cotton vs. Synthetics," Texas' major crop has been given a boost with the development of a preservative which would give cotton fabric a better advantage on the market.

Cotton has always suffered a serious disadvantage because of its low rot resistant qualities. Each year, synthetics have grabbed more and more of the fabric market, partially due to superior lasting qualities under extreme weather conditions. Now that picture may change as a result of a practical meeting for "weathering"

The improved properties to cotton give it outstanding rot resistance as well as improving its chances for longer survival under ordinary weather hazards. This research development should open up even more markets for cotton in awnings, tents, tarpaulins and other outdoor fabric items.

National Home Demonstration Week Being Observed By Homemakers

Nearly 7 million homemakers who take part in home demonstration work each year will observe the 14th National Home Demonstration Week from May 3 to 9. Most of these women live on farms and in rural non-farm areas. Others live in towns and cities. Some are young, some older. Some are newly married, others have children and even grandchildren. But all are eager to become more efficient homemakers and better citizens which is the long-range goal of the home demonstration program.

In Texas there are some 40,000 Home Demonstration Club women who will observe National Home Demonstration Week. "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World" is serving as the national theme again this year.

During the week clubs in the state plan special activities to highlight their programs. Special exhibits, community programs, feature stories, radio and television programs and tours are planned to inform other homemakers and families of the purpose of home demonstration work and show its contribution to family and community life.

The club members in Haskell County plan a county-wide Family Night May 8. All club members, their families and friends will meet at the Methodist Church at 7:00 p. m. for a covered dish supper, and recreation for all ages.

Special guests will be members of the Commissioners Court and their families and the Extension Service personnel.

The Home Demonstration program is planned by homemakers and carried on cooperatively by the Extension Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the land-grant colleges and county government. New research information in all phases of homemaking is brought to women and families through specialists home demonstration agents and local leaders. Club members also conduct special programs in civil defense and encourage and assist with local 4-H Club programs.

Get acquainted with the home demonstration club program in your county... visit your county extension office and watch for announcements of special activities.

Weinert Youth In Group Leaving June 20 To Attend U-N Sessions

Weinert Youth... 24x2 P I c

What does the Berlin crisis mean for the peace of the world? What pressure and tensions can be relieved through discussions around the United Nations Conference table to prevent serious conflict from breaking out somewhere? How can the problem of divided states be met in places like Viet Nam, Korea, or Germany? Can there be both global and piece-meal approach to disarmament?

How these and other up-to-the-minute questions of international importance and grave individual concern are being faced will be learned this summer by about seven hundred young people taking part in the annual "United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth," a continental project for youth sponsored by the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of America.

Kenneth Sanders of Weinert is one of a group of young people chosen from this area to participate. This is the 10th consecutive year of these pilgrimages for youth to New York. The young delegates who participate are 16 or 17 years of age, becoming Juniors or Seniors in high school this fall. They will be from every Province of Canada and every state of the Union.

Native Trees Found Suitable For Schoolground Planting

BY R. C. COUCH, SR.

(Editor's Note: In the following paragraphs R. C. Couch Sr., tells of the final stages in what was virtually a one-man program to beautify Haskell's schoolgrounds with shade trees. The beautiful trees on the grounds today are the result of the hard work and planning, time and money spent years ago.)

We had several months ahead of us to figure, study and plan for the next step. The result of the first effort was rather shocking. We expected some jolt but it was worse than we had anticipated. The big question now was, where are the next trees coming from? In our mind we again surveyed rivers and creeks for what they had and we also knew the difficulty we would encounter if we tried it. What about East Texas for more trees? We could do that but the loss seemed too great to try it further.

We had one chance left and I was hopeful that it would work and it did. At that time my next door neighbor to the south was young and energetic and one of the jobs he tackled had been in operation for many years before the interest in trees sprung up and he was growing trees without any intention of doing so. He did this by raising strawberries for the public. This plant is a shallow rooted little thing and to grow it you had to water summer and winter and if you did not, you would wake up and find yourselves out of business. This neighbor was M. H. Gilliam, the grandfather of Theron Cahill, and the strawberry patch and the volunteer tree nursery was on the plot where Theron now lives.

I know that Mr. Gilliam could not feel right in chopping down all the little trees that came up so he just let them grow. So he just kept watering the strawberries which was the ideal thing for all the hackberries which had whiskered the patch all around the edges.

At the time of our tree-planting the patch had hundreds of trees growing all around the edge. They were from two inches to ten feet tall. Since I passed the place many times each week, and a lot of time afoot, I had plenty of time to observe what was going on. So I was not long in deciding that Mr. Gilliam would soon have the opportunity to help us along. I approached him about the matter after telling him what I was doing and he gladly offered me all the trees that I needed if they were big enough. His price was 25c each but he was quick to remind me that I had to do my own digging. So that we did. However, we had an advantage in this that we needed. I was determined to get these trees transplanted without the sun and wind touching a root if we could help it. This tree is easy to grow but hard to transplant. So another servant and myself would dig a few of these trees or as many as we could put in the turtle of the car, take them to the school ground, and get them back into the ground as quickly as possible. This was kept up the second year until all the holes were filled again and we were waiting for another sprouting time to come. Mr. Gilliam seemed very happy to be getting a dividend from his trees. And we were just as happy to get them. We filled all the vacant holes or about the second year with the Gilliam trees. We had another period of long waiting for the tree budding to begin. Finally they began to pop out and we were happy to see more than a hundred trees growing. We felt that we were over the hill.

The third year I stripped my place of the trees of suitable size and placed them in the vacancies. From then on until the end of the sixth year we searched the town for trees with which to make the replacements. At the end of the sixth year Mr. Breedlove told me that he and the janitors would finish the job, but at this time all trees were growing except the ones on the ground where the Johnny houses stood. This was on the NE corner of the high school. For six years we put out trees on this spot and for six years they refused to live. About the 7th year they made a start and did live for some time. But at the same time the ground had not been fully purified and now there were two dead trees among the lot. Mr. Breedlove finished this spot and I suppose the string on the east side of the buildings. We never did place any trees on the east side of the grounds for at that time it was considered a no-man's land and occupied generally by weeds mosquitoes and cats.

During the time that was spent getting the trees started, we were concerned in the thought that they might all die the first dry year if they were not given special watering attention. We never asked the City Water Department to look after the watering for as long as the task might prove too much to ask them to take the deal on watering one tree at a time. To make a certainty of the watering, we secured and placed a small pipe along the trees on each row and punched holes in the pipe at each tree, so that we could turn on the water at one place and water the whole row at once. This watering was kept up for several years until we felt the trees were well on the way. So far as I know the pipe was never taken up and I suppose that its remains are still there. Joe Maples was the engineer of this job and he still remembers it.

In 1940 Mr. Breedlove came to me and said that they would be short of room for the new high school building that was planned for the one just recently burned.

He said that they were going to need a few feet more to the south and that it would be necessary to take up about seven of the trees on the inside row so as to give them the room needed. Since I was not on the Board and my objection might not have been heeded, I reluctantly agreed that the trees come out and have regretted it ever since. With a long time to think, I still believe that the building would have been just as well off a few feet farther north and served the community just as well and those trees would have been a source of joy for many, many years. Then again it would have cost less to tie them together.

This is a job in the pipe that requires a lot of grit, patience, endurance and determination. To start a job does not help the matter a bit unless you see it through to the end. If it is not worth finishing then it is not worth starting. The gap in the treeline on the south side made by the fire is now as big as ever. If the replanting is conducted along the line of the early day planting then it will take at least fifty years to get that little gap covered. I recently saw some of the boys begin this replanting in the last year or so and at one time thought they were making an excellent start. Most of the sprouts seemed to be budding and ready to grow, but they are now dead or about. The young fellows were not instructed in one thing and that was that all babies require special attention for a few years and baby trees are no exception.

A few years back an article came out in The Free Press on the subject as given above. It was so far out of line that our Good Friend, Mrs. Courtney Hunt called me to ask if I had read the article. I told her that I had. She says that you well know that it is not correct. Why don't you answer it? I told her that I hoped some day and this is it. Mother Oates used to tell me that these trees would be my monument but I told her I was fearful that they might die too quickly. During

"The Hanging Tree," one of the important film events of 1935, spotlights the intriguing new romantic combination of Gary Cooper and Maria Schell in a drama-charged frontier background.

The Baroda production for Warner Bros. opens Sunday at the Texas Theatre.

Filed in Technicolor amid the breathtaking mountain scenery of the Northwest, "The Hanging Tree" introduces Cooper and Europe's Marie Schell as a potent new box-office team.

As a gun-slinging medico of the gold-mining days, Cooper plays the kind of role that made him and has kept him as an international film favorite. Miss Schell is rated not only Europe's greatest actress but also one of the world's most beautiful women. Together, their appeal is irresistible and they spell cinematic dynamite.

Making Miss Schell's presence in this film even more outstanding is the fact that she is appearing in a story laid in the early West, a complete departure for this highly talented actress.

An added dividend cast-wise is Karl Malden, one of the screen's most versatile actors and winner of an Academy Award. In fact, the three stars of "The Hanging Tree" are all award winners. Cooper has won two "Oscars" ("Sergeant

Attend Funeral Of Relative In Hillsboro

Mrs. John McGuire of this city and her son and wife, Floyd McGuire of Weinert, attended the funeral in Hillsboro last Thursday for Rev. Melvin R. Cox, brother-in-law of the Haskell woman and uncle of the Weinert man.

Rev. Cox had been a Baptist minister in Hill County for approximately 50 years. He died April 28 in Meridian at the age of 83 years.

During his almost half century as a minister, friends of Rev. Cox claim he married and baptized more people than any other preacher in Hill County.

Mrs. T. R. Conner entertained her mother, Mrs. Joe Holcomb of Arlington, with a coffee at her home in Rule Thursday.

Paint Creek . . . Community News

BY MRS. GENE OVERTON

We have had some rain, but little bit helps. However, every beginning to ripen and most of the farmers think we will be cutting in about 20 days. Most of the maize has been planted, and the cotton land is almost all ready for planting. The mesquites are all leafed out, and spring has really sprung in Paint Creek. Some farmers are caught up with bedding their land and have been fishing at the lake last week and this.

Open House Postponed
The Open House scheduled for Sunday, May 3, from 3 to 5 at the First Baptist parsonage was postponed due to the illness of the pastor, Rev. Rodney Dowdy. A date will be announced later. David Garlington filled the pulpit at the Sunday services. The Baptist parsonage has been remodeled and several changes made.

Visitors
Mrs. Fred Hughes has as her guests her husband, Fred Hughes of the Army Air Force stationed at Miami, Fla., and her daughter, Kay Springs, stewardess with National Air Lines, also of Miami.

Mr. and Mrs. David Hunt of Lubbock spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Honea and Mrs. David Hunt.

Rita Ann Estes of Lubbock spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Estes.

Mrs. J. A. Lissles Sr. is visiting her mother and other relatives in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holgate of Vancouver Island, British Columbia, are visiting with their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tilden Fouts.

Rot Resistance Is Added To Cotton Fabric
Texas cotton producers and consumers should be interested in a recent U. S. Department of Agriculture announcement dealing with the development of a practical method for producing cotton fabric with outstanding rot resistance and improved weather resistance.

Because of the improved properties, cotton fabric treated with the chemical promises to open new markets for cotton in awnings, tents, tarpaulins and other outdoor fabric items.

The treatment method, developed by the USDA's Agricultural Research Service, is based on the use of a water soluble acid colloid of methylolmelamine. This chemical is well known for its resin-forming qualities. The resin, which penetrates the outer portion of the fiber cell wall to become a part of the fiber rather than just a coating, makes cotton virtually immune to rot and mildew as demonstrated by soil burial tests in the laboratory.

Untreated cotton buried in soils containing fabric-destroying bacteria was in shreds after one week. The treated cotton, on the other hand, still retained 100 per cent of its breaking strength after 21 weeks.

Research of the ARS Southern Utilization Research and Development Division at New Orleans, has shown that the chemical can be used in conjunction with certain fabric coloring pigments to increase cotton's resistance to deterioration by sunshine. The treatment can also be applied successfully to many vat dyed fabrics.

And of major importance, said the announcement, cost of treatment is expected to be relatively low and it can be applied with conventional textile finishing equipment.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Coleman were fishing last week and they watched a man fishing near them who was using a net, and catching huge fish. He was throwing back fish, 15 and 20 pound yellow catfish, and Mrs. Coleman thought he surely must be crazy. But later Ira met him in a cafe in town and the man was a commercial fisherman, and he only keeps the rough fish. He has a contract with the government to fish any lake in the state. But he said he was catching too many good fish in our lake and having to throw them back, and not catching enough of the kind he can keep, so he is moving to Lake Fort Phantom for awhile. He has to catch enough of the rough fish to pay him because his fishing apparatus is expensive. Just imagine keeping carp and buffalo and throwing back yellow cat and bass.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Mickler and children of Fort Worth spent last week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mickler.

This is the last week of school at Paint Creek for this year. Final exams are to be on Friday and Monday, May 8 and 11th and children will return on Wednesday, May 13 for their report cards. This is the earliest we have been in years, but we started early so we could afford to miss a week or two because of muddy roads, and we didn't have any muddy roads. Then we had only one week for Christmas, and no Easter or spring holidays, and so we are out early.

Mrs. Cub Russell, Mrs. Raymond Davis, Mrs. John Wisdom and Mrs. Homer Campbell were joint hostesses for a bridal shower last Tuesday afternoon honoring Mrs. Eyd Davis, the former Joan Mars. The party was at the home of Mrs. Campbell, and decorations carried out the bride's colors of pink and white. Refreshments of punch and cake were served from a pink linen cloth, and favors were candy ring boxes. Many lovely and practical gifts were received by the bride.

Mike Overton and Mrs. Gene Overton were in Abilene Saturday night where Mike took part in the O. A. Inuit dances at the Scout Circus.

John Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cub Russell, has recently been promoted to produce manager of the M System, No. 5 in Abilene where he has worked for several years.

Clara Ann Fischer was able to return to her classes at Cisco Junior College Monday after spending last week at home with the flu. All the Paul Fischer family had the flu, and Mrs. Fischer was in bed two or three days, and Margaret was in the hospital two days.

Mrs. Bill Petrich underwent major surgery at the Stamford Hospital last week. She is improving at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Mickler are announcing the arrival of a baby daughter. She was born Saturday morning at 6:30 at the Haskell Hospital. She weighed 8 pounds and 4 ounces and has been named Dannette. Bob works on a ranch near Coleman and they live at the ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Overton and children have moved to their new farm in the southeastern part of the community. Dwight has been attending school at Paint Creek since mid-term, as they waited for

Get the Money to Finance It? Three possibilities are before the state representatives:
1. State income tax.
2. State sales tax.
3. Omnibus tax (tax on special commodities such as cigarettes, cigars, liquor, large industries — especially oil, gas, and sulphur which send much commodities out of the state with little or no taxation.)

Those who represent you in state government, DO wish you would let them know your wishes and opinions on these tax means.

If Haskell County citizens DO NOT write Mr. Ed Cloud, and Senator George Moffett in Austin, and a bill is passed contrary to local wishes, then "street" talk and "kicking" over those "government officials" in Austin in reality will be a kick-back at local laziness and indifference.

Relatives From Alabama Visit In Burson Home
A family reunion is being planned in the home of C. G. Burson Sr., Saturday night, honoring his three sisters and a niece who are here from Alabama this week as guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burson.

The visitors are Mrs. Mollie Luttrell, niece of Mr. Burson, from Birmingham, Ala.; and three sisters of the Haskell man, Mrs. C. C. Williams from Birmingham, Mrs. E. E. Beard from Decatur, Ala., and Mrs. Mattie Hardie from Russellville, Ala.

MRS. BLANCHE TOMPKINS NELSON

Former Munday Teacher Named "Baptist Mother Of The Year"

Dallas (Spl.)—Mrs. Blanche Tompkins Nelson, a 59-year-old Munday housewife who has reared five children and sent them all to college has been named 1959 Texas Baptist Mother of the Year.

One of her sons is a Baptist minister and the other is a physician. Both hold graduate degrees from professional schools. Her three daughters were school teachers before they married.

Mrs. Nelson was chosen because of her influence on her own children and other youngsters she taught in school. Baptist leaders said in Dallas.

She started teaching school when she was 17 years old to help support six brothers and sisters. Her father died when she was a senior in college.

"I was the only teacher in the little Red Creek school near Benjamin," she recalls. "I had to walk two miles and a half to the school house. Some of the 22 pupils were older than their teacher."

Mrs. Nelson was born in Munday, the second of seven children. Her father was postmaster in the town and operated a small store. She graduated from Munday High School and studied at Southwest Texas State Teachers College in San Marcos; Hardin Simmons University (then Simmons College); and the College of Industrial Arts, Denton.

She married in 1923 after a "horse and buggy" courtship that extended through two teaching assignments. She met Mr. Nelson while teaching at Gillespie and later taught at Jayton.

"It was too far for him to visit me during our courtship," the silver-haired mother recalls, "so I transferred to Goree the next year."

"We had 12 cows and had to get them milked, the cream separated and the kids off to school by 7:30 each morning," she said. "All of our children were taught to help with the work, and all of them helped work their way through college."

About 12 years ago, Mr. Nelson suffered a crippling attack of arthritis. Mrs. Nelson carried on the farming and faithfully cared for her husband until he partially regained the use of his hands and legs. She continues to drive the car for him to direct their farming operations.

Mrs. Nelson has taught a Sunday School class for more than 30 years and has been active in the Woman's Missionary Union of her church. Some members of the adult class which she now teaches were pupils in her public school classrooms 30 years ago.

She has developed a widespread reputation around Munday as a practical nurse. "I have always enjoyed taking care of silk folks." One time an infant was supposedly still-born. But Mrs. Nelson applied standard treatment "and the child hasn't stopped wailing yet!"

The "Mother of the Year" project is sponsored by the Baptist Standard and the 1 1/2 million-member Baptist General Convention of Texas. Judges for the final selection were Walker Knight, associate editor of the Standard; Oliver Hailey, news writer for the Dallas Morning News; and the Rev. Paul Petty, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, Dallas.

Mrs. Nelson is the fourth mother to receive the honor. Last year's award went to Mrs. J. B. Henley of Lamesa.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Edwards had as guests in their home during the weekend, their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Grant and children, Bob, Lou and Leon.

Research Foundation Extends Program To Haskell, Area Counties

Renner, Texas-Texas Research Foundation is shifting its regional agricultural experiment program from the West Texas Field Station at Merkel to full scale field trials on a number of farms and ranches in the 7-county area around Abilene and Sweetwater. Dr. C. L. Lundell, director of the Foundation has announced.

The direct transfer of the results of experimental research onto the land, which the program makes possible, will shorten greatly the time lag between application of laboratory research and field production on a commercial scale," Dr. Lundell said.

Counties included in the program are Nolan, Haskell, Jones, Taylor, Stephens, Callahan and Shackelford.

Field work in these counties will consist of two major phases. One will include rangeland improvement. The other will be the evaluation of crop rotations in which cotton and other field crops are planted over the fertilized residues of preceding crops.

"Cattle and cotton are among the major cash crops of the area," Dr. Lundell said. "The 1954 farm census shows 233,049 head of cattle and calves carried and 70,999 bales of cotton harvested in the 7-county area."

Cattle in appreciable numbers are carried in all counties, with Callahan showing the heaviest population, 41,236 head; hence rangeland improvement for higher carrying ratio and longer grazing season is significant to the prosperity of the area.

Three of the counties—Nolan, Haskell and Jones—lead in cotton production, with 63,868 of the area's total 70,999 bale crop in 1954. Actual field production of cotton planted after wheat and other small grain and grain sorghum, where residues have received different levels of fertilization, will aid in the compilation of valuable data for improving yield.

Dr. Lundell said that the field program has enabled the Foundation to use the plots at Merkel exclusively for testing of grasses and legumes for rangeland improvement.

Retiring Workers Should Have Data On Age, Earnings

possible to those persons entitled to payments, R. R. Tuley, Jr., manager of the Abilene office stated today.

To do this, Tuley said, it is necessary for the person claiming benefits to make inquiry for payments before he retires if he knows he will be retiring on a certain date. This will give the Social Security Administration and the person claiming benefits time to get the information and evidence together to establish his rights to the payment before the time his first check is due.

Generally, evidence will be required to prove the age of the retired person and the age of his wife. This may be an old birth certificate or other record of age that is old and reliable. Delayed birth certificates set up recently are not accepted without supporting evidence. Also, evidence of the worker's earning in the taxable year that ended before he plans to retire is necessary. This may be a copy of the income tax return for self-employed persons or the W-2 forms for wage earners.

One of the goals of the Social Security Administration is to pay benefits as promptly as

Local Weather Observer Given Service Award

S. P. (Sam) Herren, local weather observer for the U. S. Weather Bureau, has been awarded a 15-year service pin in recognition of his long service.

Accompanying the award was a letter from Gilbert E. Stegall, supervising climatologist in Kansas City, Mo., office of the Department of Commerce which read:

"We take this opportunity to congratulate you on behalf of the secretary of the Department of Commerce, the chief of the Weather Bureau, and the many Weather Bureau employees who use your data. You have made a valuable contribution to the climatological records for your community. Your worthwhile service is appreciated. We hope that you will add many more years to your fine record."

Herren, well-known farmer and resident of Haskell for 25 years, is a 1932 economics graduate of the University of California.

During World War II he acted as a listening post for British propaganda, sending his reports into Baltimore, to help determine the strength and accuracy with which they were being sent.

As local weather observer, he records temperature, rainfall and prevailing winds, sending his reports into Houston.

Driver Training Award Will Be Presented Mattson Schoolman

Southwestern Insurance Information Service will make one of a series of 17 awards for driver training on May 7, 1959, at the commencement exercises of the Mattson Rural High School at 8 p. m.

Thomas A. Barfield of the Barfield-Turner Agency in Haskell will make the award, an engraved trophy, to Supt. Wm. R. Baker.

Schools throughout the State were divided into 10 groups on the basis of the number of students enrolled. Mattson Rural High School has won second place award in Group IX. Winners were selected by the Texas Safety Association assisted by the Texas Department of Public Safety and the Texas Education Agency.

Mr. Barfield, in making the presentation, pointed out that "the Mattson Rural High School driver training program satisfied all the requirements set up by the Texas Department of Safety and the Texas Education Agency for an accredited driver training course. In addition to meeting basic requirements, Mattson's program exemplifies the very best in efficiency, thoroughness, and outstanding results."

Mr. Barfield further noted that, "Traffic accidents are one of the major problems in America today. We lose not only thousands of dollars in time, property damage and medical care, we are losing the lives of young men and women and who can say what this costs us in sorrow and loss of talent and training. The student will not make his contribution to society if he dies behind the wheel of some car."

"Traffic research has proved that 75% of the traffic accidents are caused by driver error or law violation. Research has further proved that trained drivers under 25 have a much lower accident rate. So much lower that insuring companies are willing to reduce premiums by 10% for the under-25 driver who has had an acceptable course in driver training."

"Your principal, your superintendent, and your driver training instructors are not wasting time! In a real sense, they are
