The Coke County Road Trip summer program has come to an end for another summer. Three names were drawn on Friday to receive prizes: Elizabeth Chancellor, Patrick Barrera, and Rani Coppedge can come to the Library any time to collect their prizes.

Although the Road Trip program is over, there will still be a Treat-of-the-Week for the young - and the adults, too, until school starts. Everyone is welcome to come in to take themselves to another place with other characters in a book. It's free, it's cool, and it's much better for the brain than television.

Thanks to all the parents and caregivers who brought (and will bring) young people to the Library.

Library hours are Tuesdays, 8-12; Wednesdays, 8-4; Thursdays, 1-5; Fridays, 8-12. Call 453-2495 for information. Books may be returned to the Main Street Market in Bronte and to the 24/7 book drop on the Library porch.

RL promotional

A new brochure is being prepared for Robert Lee. It will feature all businesses in town plus a map of the area.

The brochure is intended for visitors in the area, and it will be distributed around town and to San Angelo and to Fort Chadbourne and other nearby places with tourist activity.

Anyone who would like to have their business address or phone number changed please call City Hall (453-2831). If a new business has opened and is not on the brochure, please call in the information. The brochure will go to print next month.

HEB recalls raw Serrano peppers

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has issued a warning advising consumers to avoid eating raw serrano peppers from Mexico to prevent additional cases of Salmonella illnesses. In response, H-E-B is issuing a company-wide precautionary recall of raw serrano peppers as an extension of its commitment to the safety of its customers.

"We are closely monitoring the situation and view this as a necessary step to ensure the safety of our customers," said Winell Herron, H-E-B Group Vice President of Public Affairs and Diversity. "The recall is voluntary and only a precaution. None of our customers have reported any illnesses. We will return the product to our stores once it is determined safe to consume."

He Will Give You Love

For the Father Himself loveth you, because ye have loved Me (Jesus) and have believed that I came out from God. • John 16:27

But God commendeth His love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. • Romans 5:8

And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us, God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him. • 1 John 4:16

He Will Give You Hope

Why are thou cast down, O my soul? And why art thou disquieted in me? Hope thou in God: for I shall yet praise Him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God. • Psalm 42:11

Sales Tax Holiday Brings Relief to Family Budgets

With the rising cost of gasoline, groceries and other goods, the annual clothing sales tax holiday will help families' back-to-school budgets go farther, Texas Comptroller Susan Combs said today.

Combs announced that the 10th annual sales tax holiday will take place Aug. 15-17. During the tax holiday weekend, most clothing and shoes priced less than $100 can be purchased tax free. The tax break applies to both children's and adults' apparel.

"We estimate shoppers will save about $54 million in sales tax during the sales tax holiday, including approximately $42.1 million in state sales tax and $11.9 million in local sales taxes," Combs said.

Top Ropers! Roger Graves (left) of Bronte was named the top heeler in the Coke County Roping Club's second buckle series final roping on Sunday, August 2. Kaleb Jackson of San Angelo won the buckle for top header. Kaleb is the son of Daryl and Sherry Jackson of San Angelo and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Robbins of Bronte.

The shoppers' gain is not expected to have a significant impact on sales tax collections. "Though the national economy has slowed, Texas sales tax revenue continues to grow at a healthy pace," Combs said. "Through June, state sales tax collections for fiscal 2008 were up 6.1 percent compared to the same point in fiscal 2007. Cities' and counties' calendar year-to-date sales tax revenues were up an average of 5.1 percent." A list of items that will be tax exempt during the sales tax holiday is available on the Comptroller's Web site at http://www.window.state.tx.us/taxinfo/taxpubs/tx98_490/tx98_490.html. Combs reminds families that school backpacks and messenger bags costing less than $100 are now included in the sales tax holiday, but school supplies are taxable.

Why is gas so expensive?

By Jason Alderman

The news at the pump is grim: With the average cost of a gallon of gas well above $4 and rising, people are asking, "What happened?" Unfortunately, there is no simple answer. But here is what government and industry experts say are some key factors that impact fuel prices:

Rising demand, dwindling supply. Like every commodity, gasoline's cost is determined by supply, demand and competition. The odds are stacked against us on all three fronts:

* As easy-to-drill crude oil supplies become tapped out, increasingly costly exploration into the far reaches of the world – combined with ever more complex and expensive oil extraction techniques – are required to increase supply.

* World demand for fuel has risen exponentially, as developing nations like China and India clamor for a larger share of fuel.

* The vast majority (over 90 percent) of the world's oil reserves are controlled by nationalized oil companies – many of which are in unstable areas like the Middle East, Nigeria, Libya and Venezuela.

Component costs of gas. According to the Department of Energy, the breakdown for the four cost components of a gallon of gas is:

* Crude oil costs. The vast majority of the cost – approximately 75 percent – derives from the price oil refining companies pay for crude oil. So, for example, when host countries ratchet up the price of crude oil as they have lately, fuel costs at the pump quickly follow suit.

* Taxes. Federal, state and local taxes account for about 10 percent of the cost, on average.

* Refining. About 10 percent of the price reflects the operational cost to and profit by the company that refines the crude oil into useable products, such as gasoline.

* Distribution and marketing. The remaining 5 percent is the average retail price of gas at the pump minus the sum of the other three components, as well as costs associated with operating gas stations.

Gas station expenses. The price can also reflect the costs associated with operating a service station, including expenses for rent, salaries and accepting payment through credit and debit cards, if station operators choose to do so. One component of the cost to accept cards, which gas retailers' pay to their banks, is interchange fees, which enable the payment system to function.

To help ease the pain at the pump, Visa recently capped the per-transaction interchange fee for Visa-branded consumer debit card purchases at $0.95 per transaction. A similar fee restructuring is also in place for Visa credit card fuel purchases. On a $60 fill-up, this reduction yields a 14 percent savings in interchange fees; for a $120 fill-up, the interchange savings would be 43 percent.

Visa's hope is that oil companies will in turn pass some of these savings along to their stations and ultimately to customers, who are bearing the brunt of gas sticker shock.

Knowing why gasoline is so expensive doesn't make it any less painful on your wallet, but it should help you better understand the facts behind who is part of the problem and who is working to be part of the solution.
