IRRIGATING LATE-PLANTED COTTON ON THE TEXAS SOUTH PLAINS

Most farmers will be making decisions on irrigating cotton in the next few days or weeks. Although the crop is irregular with respect to stage of growth the early planted cotton is making good progress to date. However, decisions on when to irrigate or whether to even apply water to some late planted cotton will be critical in view of increased emphasis on fiber quality and recent rains this season.

County Agent Calvin D. Holcomb says we must remember that cotton has a low water demand until the first blooms appear. Thereafter water use increases rapidly through the peak fruiting period.

Generally cotton planted during the latter part of April and May will be blooming at the present time (the middle of July) and will be in the peak fruiting period in late July or early August. Soil moisture must be adequate during this period or yields will be reduced. If recent rains have not provided sufficient moisture for cotton which is now blooming, the first summer irrigation should be applied at this time.

Holcomb says some wilting will be observed during mid-afternoons. This is normal and does not always indicate a need for irrigation. Temporary wilting is due to moisture being lost faster through the leaves (transpiration) taken up by the roots and not due to lack of soil moisture. The plants recover and look normal during the evening and morning hours. Decisions on whether to irrigate should be made by checking soil moisture and not on wilting of plants during the afternoon. However, wilting during mornings hours usually indicate low soil moisture levels and a need for irrigation.

Miss Nancy Jeter of Mary Hardin Baylor College in Belton, Ernest Ledbetter and Conray Thomas of Ft. Hood spent the week-end in the home of Nancy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Jeter and Phyllis. Sunday they visited Cloudcroft and Ruidoso.

Generally late May and June planted cotton has sufficient moisture at the present time. In most cases this cotton has sufficient moisture to make a crop. It is extremely important not to irrigate June planted cotton until it blooms. Because of current emphasis and the need for producing mature fiber of good quality, we need to get late-planted cotton fruiting as early as possible. Water applied prior to blooming will delay fruiting and further shorten the period left for maturing the crop before frost. Unfortunately, we cannot 'catch up' or make up time lost to replanting or late planting by such practices as early watering or putting on additional water. In fact, the opposite effect is the usual result, that of delay fruiting and production of a large vegetative plant. Low quality lint (especially low mike) in our state as well as other states has been traced to cotton receiving improper irrigation (applied either too early or too late) along with late application of nitrogen. Therefore, we should avoid any practice that tends to delay maturity. Such practices as the prudent use of irrigation water applied at the proper time will go a long way in producing quality fiber from late-planted cotton on the South Plains.

Q & A

ART SECTION

(Q) I have tried to paint with watercolors and the colors always turn out looking muddy. Can you tell me what I am doing wrong?

(A) You are trying to paint to fast and not letting the paper and color dry. Paint in your light colors first let them dry. Second paint in your final accents in dark tones here and there, as your taste dictates. Never try to paint a light color over a darker color.

A few points to remember in painting with water color: (1) Let the painting dry between each step. Otherwise, you are apt to get an unfortunate blending of colors along edges, or worse, the paint will run. A situation with which it is extremely difficult to cope with. (2) Do not strive for a photographic effect, but leave the apinting rather sketchy, underdone, rather than overdone.

(Q) I have trouble mixing color to paint a talisman rose. Can you tell me the colors to use?

(A) Use Cadmium Red light and Alizarin Crimson with yellow for the dark part of the flower. For the lights use Cadmium Red light with Titanium white.

They were: Alton Montgomery, Gaines County Sheriff; Jack Ramsey, Earl Bartley, Rusty Bartley, Ward Christain, all of whom are Gaines County Sheriff's Department members; Ed Welch, Chief of Police; Don Jackson, Steve Johnson, members of the City Police Department; Bill Ganmell, Chief of Police at Seagraves; John Rebber and Raymond Cox of the Police Department of Seagraves. Guests attending were J. A. (Bud) Gregory-Andrews Sheriff, and Melvin Bartley, Chief of Police at Kermit.

The Gaines County Sheriff's Office also sponsored a Bar-B-Que at the conclusion of the school, and approximately 140 people attended. The guest speaker was Leland D. Stephens, Special Agent in charge Lubbock district, Lubbock, Texas. Mr. Stephens graduated from Strayer College in Washington D. C. as an accountant. He has worked for the FBI in Washington, D. C.; Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Minnesota and Lubbock. He has been with the FBI for 19 years.

Other FBI Agents attending the Bar-B-Que were Ben Harrison, Dan Crawford, and Al Baskerville, all agents located in Lubbock.

Wayne Sheffield, pastor of Temple Baptist Church in Seagraves, gave the invocation, and Sheriff Montgomery made the introductions for the group.

Local Law Activity

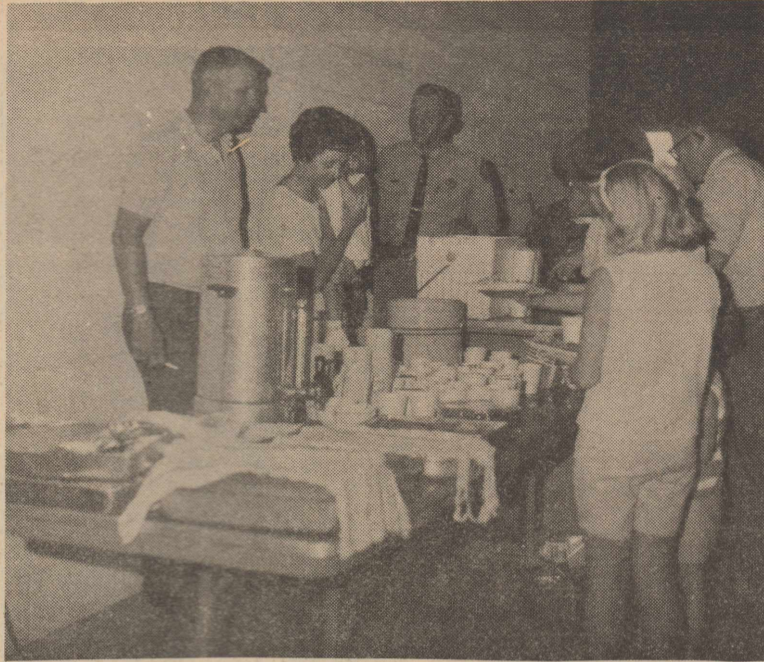

NEWS FROM THE SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT

Deputy Earl Bartley departed on July 18, 1967, enroute to Huntsville, Texas to deliver three prisoners to the Texas Department of Corrections.

West Royal, Jr. received two years for theft over $50.00. Roy Parrott delivered on sentence from Dawson County on charge of Forgery. Jimmy Burnett delivered on sentence from Dawson County on charge of forgery.

Parrott and Burnett both have forgery charges pending in Gaines County, and await Grand Jury action on charges.

If the law is upheld only by government officials, then all law is at an end.

THIS IS THE LINE-UP!!!! -- But it is more pleasant than the usual line-up. It's the line-up for the sheriff's department barbecue which was held last Friday evening.

The crowd is milling around in anticipation of the forth coming feed. It was worth waiting for!

HEAVY
RAINS REPORTED

Heavy rain fell in the early morning hours in Gaines County. The rain seemed to be north and east of Seminole. One farm house East of town reported the strong winds had blown doors open and broken some window glasses. The rain was so heavy in Seagraves that flares were set out because of water running over the highway, near the Belaire Restaurant in Seagraves.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Scudday and children, Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Scudday of Ed Paso visited Saturday with Roy Cupert and Leon Foote. They were on their way to Brownfield to visit relatives and to attend to some business.

Mr. Raymond Jones, is back on the job at Custom Farm Service after a bout with pneumonia and a stay in the Seagraves Hospital. Raymond says he is feeling better.

Kenneth and Betty Saylor of Lubbock spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Saylor and Mr. and Mrs. Myrle Welch.

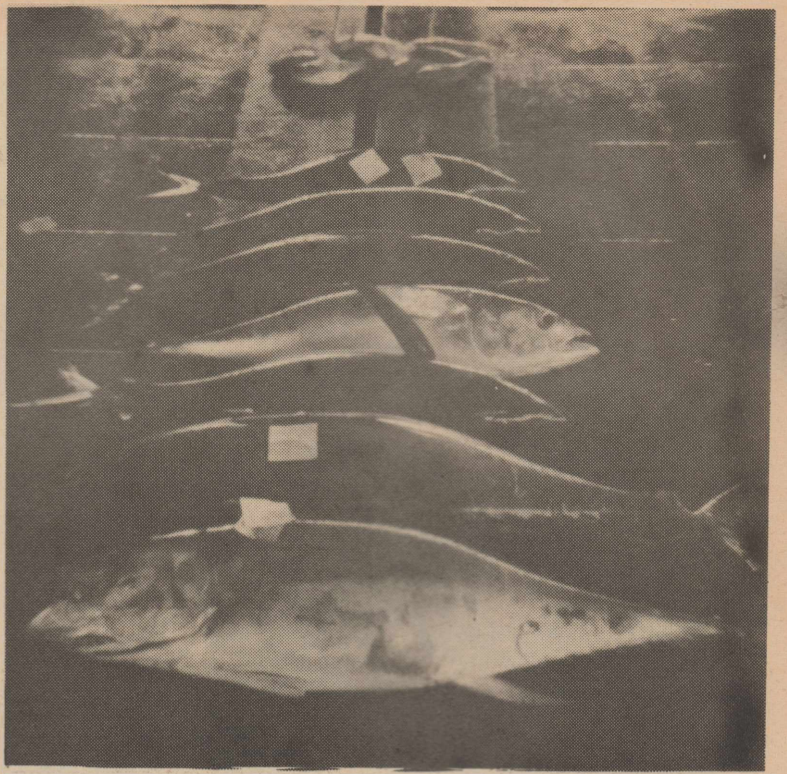

May I say to the readers of the Seminole NEWS that I am sorry. This marlin only weighed 246 pounds. Dick Davis of Portland, Oregon, brought in one 797 pounds.

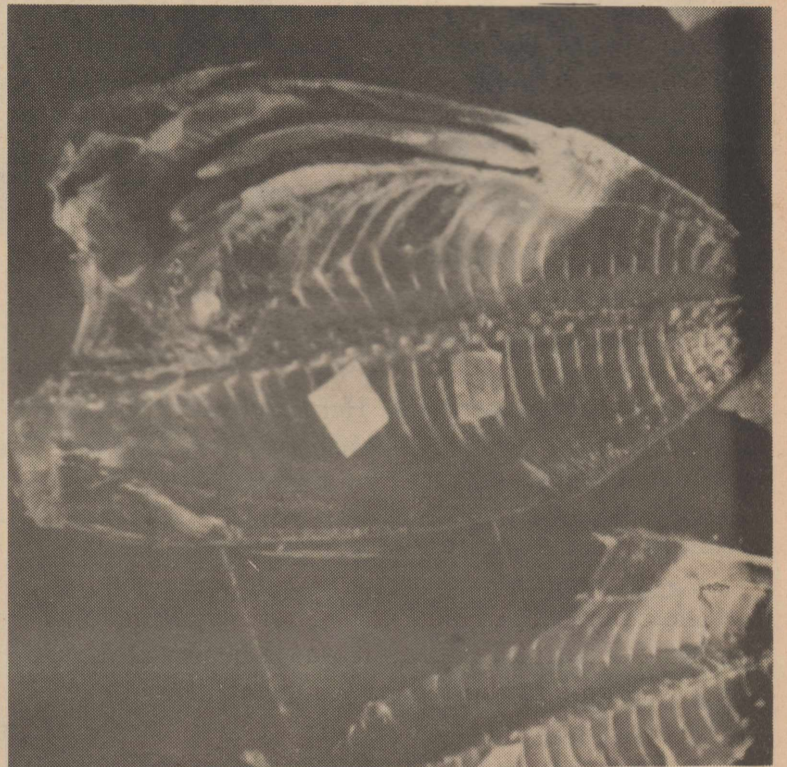

The Corsair, out of Hilo is part of the Commercial Fishing Boats. Because of the abundance of water and so many Orientals that diets are mainly fish and rice. The boats go out in the late afternoon, spend a few hours catching bait, then out for a night of fishing. They try to get back into the fish auction or sale by 7 a. m.

This is "ROCKFELLER's Hotel at Mauna Kea Beach.

The fish are laid out by the hundreds, weighed and tagged, then auctioned off and tagged again by the auctioneer to the buyer.

Yes, you can even buy a half. These are sold to the fish peddlers and local fish markets who retail them.

A lot of them are cleaned right on the boards where they are sold, some weigh as much as 60 pounds here. Note the size of the man's head compared to the fish, and the knife in his hand as he works. Most of the fish sold here are yellow fin and blue fin tuna.

LETTER HOME FROM THE TRAVELING FOLK OF SEMINOLE

Dear 'NEWS' Bunch,

The paper was Monday getting here. But the 'NEWS' was sure worth waiting for.

I must tell you about one of our trips.

There are two directions you can go from Hilo, toward the volcanoes, and the other direction. This trip was the other direction. We saw a lot of sugar cane.. It grows up to 1500 feet on the side of the mountains and is worked by crawler type tractors. As all highways go around the island, every few minutes one gets a new view of the 'Blue Pacific', and to see the sun rise over the horizon is a new awakening. Out of the sugar cane, into a few miles of timber, and then to the fry side of the island; 100-200 inches of rainfall here and forty on the dry side.

Here is the ranching country. Today the Parker ranch, owns and leases some 200,000 acres. (Only the King ranch in Texas is bigger, so they say) I have heard there are 25,000 to 40,000 white face head of cattle. John Parker was a New England seaman who got his start on this island shooting wild cattle for King Kamehameha. But he was smart; he married the King's granddaughter. Then their children and children's children used sound judgment and continued to build a cattle empire. Round steak is one of the few things on the island that is a good price, 45¢ per pound. No wonder they did well, cheap land, wonderful grass and water, and not one predaceous menace on the ranch. (One day four years ago I lost two live calves to the coyotes when rabbits were in short supply).

The cattle were 'Mud fat'. There were several small ranches in the area. It was a beautiful drive. Next, we came to the Mauna Kea Beach Hotel.

I have seen cattle crossings, pedestrian crossings, railroad Crossings, deer crossings, and now, Golf Cart Crossings. Where? The Mauna Kea Beach. The $20 million luxury hotel was built here by Laurance Rockefeller two years ago. The golf course was a pretty one.

Visiting on the island and in the hotel for 10 days are the Nelson Rockefeller's from New York. We did not get to see Nelson or his last wife -- in fact we did not get to see many people. It was 9 a.m. and the people were not up and around. You would not have been up either if you had paid $65.00 for a room. But who could sleep thinking about it? ($65.00 is for two people.

The beach there and nearby were the only beaches on this island that we have seen that would do for a swim. They were so nice. The picture is for you to see the giant size trees they hauled in and transplanted. Some were planted in an inter court. It was the only hotel I have ever seen where one could gather coconuts from the third story balcony.

Just $65.00 per day. Yes, we can get you reservations in late September or October. Full now. I checked the parking lot and I guess they were full, too.

Anyway, the beach was nice.

We drove on further and saw the 'coffee bean trees'.

There are very few beaches where one can swim on Hawaii and fewer still that has white sand with out rocks and stones. Here the four Woods' leave their marks on the sand at Hapuna Beach.

Parker ranch school and the beautiful grass covered mountains--no trees.

TAU UPSILON CHAPTER OF BETA SIGMA PHI HAS SOCIAL

The Tau Upsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi enjoyed a Summer Social at the City Park Friday night at 8:00 with their families. A hamburger cook-out with potato salad, beans, chips, salads, and drinks, and deserts was on the menu.

Discussed at the party was taking part in the August "Fun-night", and the possibility of having an auction again this year as the Club's booth.

A special guest of the cook-out was the newly adopted daughter from Girlstown U.S.A. 5 year old Kimberly Kay Monique Plazzo. This is her first visit to Seminole.

Members and families attending were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Carlisle, Lane, Chris and Page; Mr. and Mrs. Jess Treadwell; Mr. and Mrs. Gail Barnett, Mike, Sherril and Dwayne; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Stokes, Rodney, Skeeter, Mike and Brenda; Mr. and Mrs. Monte Paxton, Sherri and Kristi; Mrs. Herman McReynolds, Debra, Denise, Terry and Nora; Edward Rodgers; and Kim Plazzo from Montreal to North Carolina. The shortest route was via New York City. Time did not permit a tour of New York.

In Sanford, North Carolina, Henry, Charlene and girls visited with his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Holder and family. The holders live on a farm where they raise tobacco. It was very interesting to see and learn of this crop from planting to processing.

Last Saturday night, the Hicks attended the 'Grand Ole Orpry' in Nashville, Tennessee. This was on TV and radio and a pleasant experience for Lena Rene and Loretta.

On the return trip, the Hick's visited Ft. Worth with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hicks, and in Abilene with his brother Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Hicks and family.

The Hicks felt the trip very educational as well as pleasant, from the ride on the steamer on the Mississippi in St. Louis, beautiful Maryland Virginia, Vermont, and upper New York, the pleasant weather, the gentle rains, (in rained some every day the Hicks were gone)--"Best of all was Texas and home."

RETURN HOME THIS WEEK

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hicks, Lena Rene and Loretta returned Monday from a 5,000 mile, 17-day vacation.

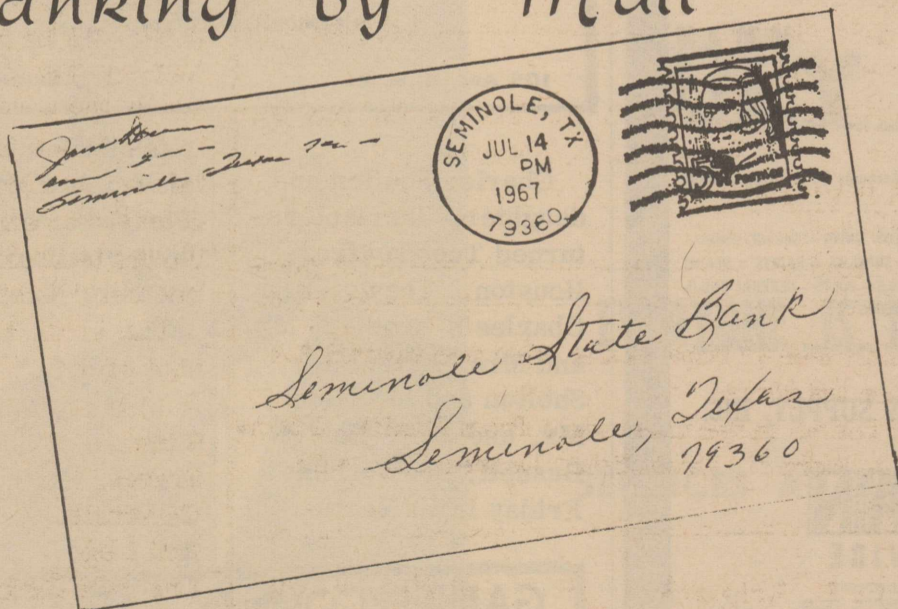

The family attended the Lions Club International Convention in Chicago. It is always interesting to meet people. A great deal of information was learned about the Seminole Indians from a Florida Conventioneer.

Lena Rene and Loretta particularly enjoyed shopping at the gigantic Marshall Fields Company in Chicago.

In Montreal, the family visited Expo '67. They felt that 2 1/2 days was not enough time to see the fabulous sights and elaborate buildings. They stated, "There was just too much to see." The first day they were in Expo '67, the attendance was 300,000.

The trip took the Hicks through 17 states, 2 provinces (including Quebec and Ontario). They toured ten capitols. In Canada, they took side trips into the rural areas and small communities to gain a better knowledge of the people and the country. They saw Niagara Falls and visited

"My Antonia" by Willa Cather

A lawyer tells of his boyhood days and his friendship with a Bohemian girl. A convincing picture of pioneering conditions, and an inspiring story of an indomitable woman who triumphed over life. The story is simply and faithfully told with appreciation of character and a strong feeling for the stubborn country.

"Silas Marner" by George Eliot

Silas Marner, a handloom weaver whose life has been wrecked by a false accusation of theft which cannot be disproved. For years he lives a lonely life. After finding a small child he lavishes time on making her happy. After sixteen years the real thief is discovered, and Silas's good name is restored. On this slight framework are hung the richest pictures of middle and low class life that George Eliot has painted.

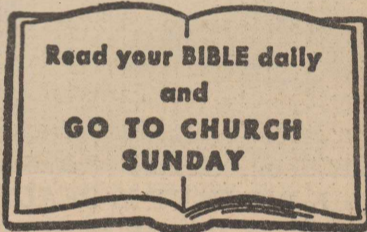

"One more Spring" by Robert Nathan.

Written in beautiful and simple prose with tenderness and quiet humor. Four people view life from quite different angles, but they all wished to live to see 'one

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. -- I am 32 and have a wife and three small girls. My earnings have averaged about $4800 annually for the past several years. What would my family get from social security if I died?

A. -- Your wife would receive a lump sum death payment of $255. In addition, monthly family payments would total about $306 per month. As each child reached maturity, their social security benefits would terminate. The monthly amount would be reduced when two of the three children reached age 18 (or age 22 if they stay in school and remain unmarried).

Q. -- If my average earnings were about $460 per month, what would my surviving wife and two children receive per month?

A. -- About $330 per month or about $4,000 yearly. By the time your oldest child reached age 18, your family could have received over $50,000 from social security.

Q. -- Would social security also help my children through college or assist my widow in her old age?

A. -- Yes, on both accounts. Even after your children reached age 18, they would continue to receive monthly benefits until they reach the age of 22 if they continue their education and remain single.

Q. -- I requested a statement of earnings from the Social Security Administration. I do not believe that all of my earnings have been properly credited. What should I do?

A. -- See your social security representative and take your statement of earnings with you together with any evidence you may have of your earnings not properly credited. The Social Security Administration will correct your record to reflect the proper amount of earnings after a thorough investigation.

Q. -- Last year I was 62 during the month of October. My employer is no longer deducting the social security tax from my wages. He states that it is not necessary. Is this correct?

A. -- No. He should continue to deduct the social security tax. There is no age limit on payment of social security taxes. As long as you work under employment covered by social security, the tax must be paid. The additional earnings may increase your social security benefit.

Q. -- I was 65 in March but did not sign up for Medicare. Is it too late?

A. -- For the hospital insurance part of Medicare, no. For the medical insurance part of Medicare, yes. You will be given another opportunity in 4th qtr. 1967 to sign up, and your coverage will begin July 1968.

LLANO ESTACADO PORCELAIN ART CLUB MEETS

The regular monthly meeting of Llano Estacado Porcelain Art Club was held Saturday, July 15, at 9:30 a.m. in Singleton's Civic Room. Mrs. Doyle Hankins and Mrs. O. B. Smith were hostesses.

Coffee and rolls were served after a short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. C. V. Singleton, president. Members were urged to keep in mind that Mrs. Louise Jones, well known Midland china art teacher, would be a guest artist of the club in November.

Mrs. Cecil Jones, china teacher from Lovington, New Mexico, is the scheduled artist for the August 19 meeting. A workshop is planned for the afternoon. Mrs. Dean Smith and Mrs. Jimmy Markham will be hostesses.

Program chairman Mrs. A. Ray Russell, introduced the artist for the day, Mrs. Dave Anderson, Seminole Junior High art teacher who is also a member of the club.

Mrs. Anderson spoke on "Design." She had on display three percolators, each a different design, for illustration. One was a wedding gift which she plans to use as a lamp base, one was a "surprise" pot used at their farm, and the other was a round shaped samovar, an antique, given to her recently by a relative. She had charts to show the different line designs of the pots. She also had pictures on display.

Door prizes of hand painted china were won by Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Ina Lee. A special prize was won by Mrs. Hankins.

Those attending the meeting were Mesdames Singleton, Hankins, Smith, Eddle Jameson, Lee, P. A. Morgan, Dave Anderson, A. Ray Russell, Jimmy Markham, Charles Gay, and Lillian Gilmer.
