

REPORT . . .

From Washington

By Armed Forces Press Service

Vacancies for Air Force personnel are available in the Armed Forces Information School course scheduled to begin next January 10. A departure from previous procedure is the present authorization for entrance of Airmen below the grade of corporal.

A selection board headed by Gen. Carl Spaatz, USAF (ret.), is engaged in visiting sites proposed for erection of a new Air Force Academy for training officers. Proposed locations have been narrowed down from 354 to approximately 30, which the board expects to examine before the end of the year.

The U.S. Coast Guard has been authorized to recall its Reservists to extended active duty, not exceeding 21 consecutive months, with or without the individual's consent. Provision has been made for exemption when the Reservist is a key man in essential industry, or when family hardship would result from involuntary recall.

The Air Force has named Dr. Robert L. Stearns, President of the University of Colorado, to conduct an evaluation survey of Air Force combat performance in Korea. He will be assisted in the month-long inspection by Maj. Gen. Thomas D. White, of USAF Headquarters, Washington.

Colonel McFarland Named New CO Of Pilot Training Group

Col. Thomas J. Barrett, Base Commander, announced this week that Col. Cecil C. McFarland, a West Point graduate, who reported for duty at Reese on 19 November, is the new commanding officer of the 3500th Pilot Training Group, replacing Col. Hugh D. Wallace who left last week for the Air University at Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama.

Under Colonel McFarland's supervision will fall the primary mission of the base, pilot training. It is the mission of the Pilot Training Group to actively conduct the advanced flying training for the future multi-engine pilots in the Air Force and all other functions on the base are subordinate. This group must teach the cadets the proper fundamentals of leadership which will qualify them to assume, following their graduation, the responsibilities of junior officers in the various tactical units of the United States Air Force.

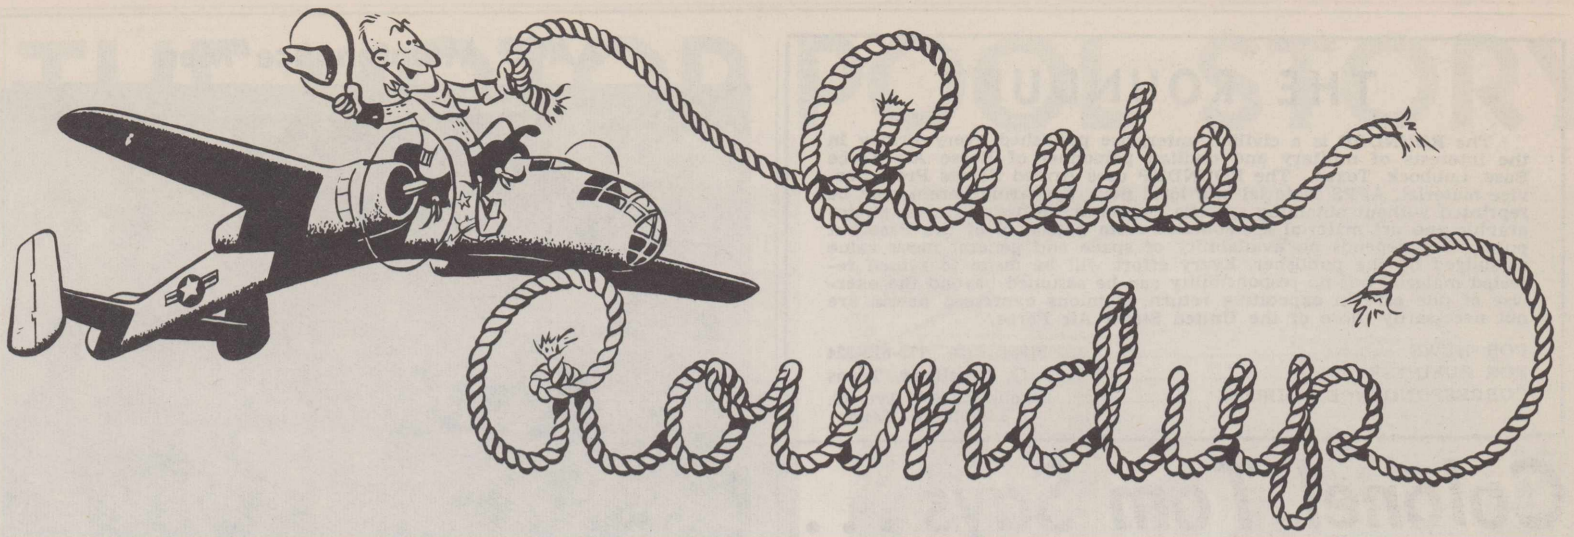

Colonel McFarland, who served 21 months in the European campaigns of World War II (was air staff advisor in Manking, China, from 1946 to 1948. Preceding his first assignment at Reese as assistant to Colonel Wallace, he was secretary of the Joint Plans committee in Washington, D. C.

Colonel and Mrs. McFarland with their two children, Sharon Kay, ten, and Sally Anne, 8, live at 3607 Twenty-ninth in Lubbock. Both children attend Overton school.

Motor Pool Reopened

Major William L. Wilson, commanding officer of the 3500th Maintenance and Supply Group, cut the tape recently at ceremonies marking the reopening of the RAFB motor pool which was resurfaced. Present at the ceremonies were members of Major Wilson's staff and Capt. William E. Carender, motor pool officer, at the far right.

First Of Class 'Q' Allotment Checks Slated For December 15 Delivery

The first mailing of Class Q allotment checks from the Army Finance Center at St. Louis, Missouri, will be made on December 4 to dependents of Army and Air Force personnel, it was announced last week by Maj. Gen. E. M. Foster, Army Chief of Finance.

The allotments are made under the Dependents Assistance Act of 1950 which provides allowances for quarters for enlisted personnel of all grades who have dependents.

Reserve Chaplain Is Recalled To Duty, Assigned To Reese

The chaplain's section was strengthened recently with the addition of Chaplain (Maj.) Edgar H. Brimberry to the staff. Recently recalled to active duty, Chaplain Brimberry came to Reese from the Chaplain's School at Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania.

A native of Arlington, Texas, where he was pastor of the First Christian Church, Chaplain Brimberry served five years as an Air Force chaplain before being separated in January 1946.

He was commissioned as a chaplain in July 1941 and called to active duty in September of that year with his first duty station at Luke Field Arizona. From there he went to Roswell AAFB, New Mexico where he remained until 1943 when he was transferred overseas to Hickam Field, Hawaii. While at Hickam he was assistant staff chaplain for the Seventh Air Force.

Chaplain Brimberry later served on Saipan and Okinawa before returning to the United States. Upon separation from the service he entered Texas Christian University for three years of study, during which time he took over the pastorate of the First Christian Church.

The Chaplain and his family are residing in Lubbock.

Consisting of approximately 220,000 checks, the mailing will represent payments covering applications received through November 14.

The first supplemental mailing will be made about December 15 in payment of about 90,000 applications received after November 10.

At this time it cannot be definitely stated when the second supplemental mailing will go out from the Army Finance Center. Checks are usually sent within three weeks after acknowledgement of receipt of the application in St. Louis.

General Foster pointed out that applications are being processed in turn, as received, and that correspondence with the St. Louis office is not advised unless the check is not received at the end of the three-week period. Dependents were reminded that during December mail deliveries may be delayed because of the holiday mail load.

Preliminary Figures Announced For RAFB Community Chest 1950 Fund Raising Campaign

Preliminary figures for the 1950 Community Chest Fund Raising Campaign have been released by Maj. Dean B. The total donation for the squadron was $259.00. Preliminary figure for the base is $738.00.

The LSO Hubettes will be hostesses at a Christmas Dance for RAFB military personnel, Thursday, December 14 at the Lubbock Hotel. Music for the formal affair will be furnished by the base dance orchestra from 2030 until 2250 hours.

Each airman bringing a date must register the girl's name with the hostess of the Service Club by the afternoon of December 13. All girls who will attend will have their names checked at the door as they come in.

Major Brown stated that final figures on the base's participation in the Community Chest campaign should be available for publication next week. Six organizations had not turned in a report at the time the Roundup went to press.

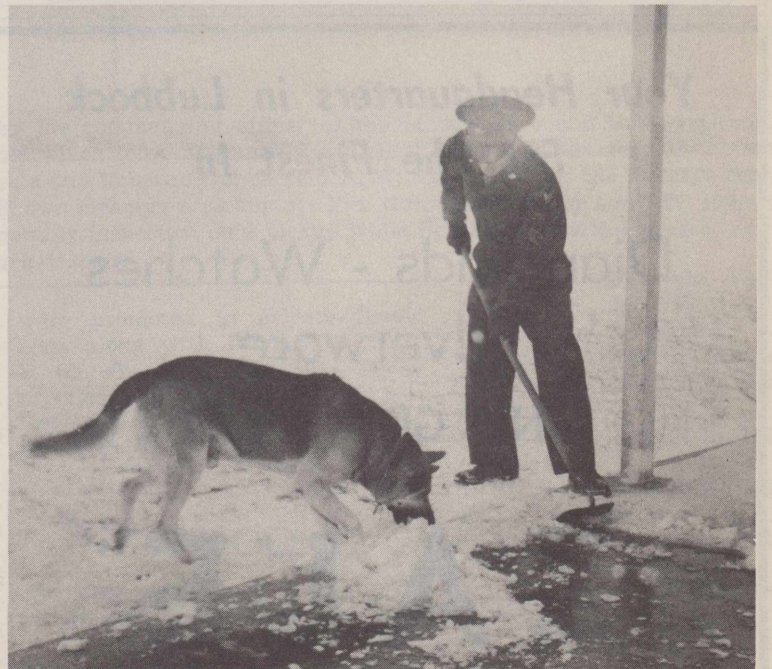

A breakdown of the figures show that the 3500th Tng. Sq. (Mil) lead with a donation of $259.00, civilian personnel second with $159.00, and Hq. Sq. ABG third with $133.85.

Colonel Tom Says ...

The base wood-working hobby shop will open Saturday and will be located in the old barber shop building, T-126. It's getting quite close to Christmas but there is still time to turn out a few articles that would make nice presents for your wife or mother. In connection with this, Air Base Group would like to have you call their headquarters if you are interested in ceramics or any other hobby.

I am glad to note that more and more officers and airmen are wearing their Air Force blues and wearing the new uniform as if they were proud of it—as they should be. It is a very distinctive uniform and has a definite eye appeal to the population of the surrounding area. I have, however, noted a few discrepancies in the wearing of this uniform, one in particular, the use of shoulder patches. Shoulder patches on the new blues (including the familiar Air Training Command patch) are out—entirely so. Training Command has issued a message stressing this fact.

While we are on the subject of uniforms, why not wear your uniform to church Sunday? I have heard it said that our Air Force personnel are not church-goers but I do not believe that this is entirely true. However, how is the stranger to know, unless you are identified by your uniform? I believe that wearing the uniform to such public gatherings would be very beneficial in cementing good relations between the personnel of the base and the civilians of the local community.

KADET KORRAL

Sunshine was generously spread on our humble bits of crust last Saturday with the announcement of the revised Christmas leave schedule for the Cadets. Cadet morale at Reese is exceptionally high at all times, but this new leave extension served to send mental attitude soaring to new heights. Mothers of America, keep your daughters off the streets from December 16 till January 1.

Cadets whose beer mugs runneth over with good deals this week are, Harry Rich, Dan Smearman, Gruber Stingel, Claude Phipps, Bill O'Conner, Otis Sleep, John Bradford, Bob Cope, Richard Lehman, Malcolm Burkman. This fortunate group flew to Troy, New York, for an affair at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, where Cadets from West Point and Midshipmen from Annapolis meet with the school's ROTC group. How lucky can you get?

Harry B. Rich has been carrying a vial of his lifeblood around lately. No, he hasn't gone vampire on us ... explanation is that Squadron B's chief plans to marry Miss Claire Van Doren, of Trenton, N. J. during Christmas leave and needs the scarlet fluid for blood testing purposes.

Just call us optimists but congratulations ahead of time to James Curtis and Pete Daniels who are planning matrimonial check-outs over the Christmas holidays.

John Bradford must have looked mighty impressive with those four stripes of his the other day. It seems that he and Lorne Howard were walking down the streets of Lubbock minding their own business, when they noticed a "large economy sized" Marine Corporal approaching from 12 o'clock with a cute blonde. As he came within range and noticed the stripped shoulders, he must have "panicked" because he threw our boys such a snappy salute they both ducked thinking they were about to be clobbered. The Marine probably still wonders what that was that he saluted, but "tis better to be safe than sorry."

AACS Maintenance Men

S/Sgt. Richard S. Naylor, maintenance chief for the Reese AACS detachment, instructs a group of maintenance men in the operation of the electrical circuits on the communication equipment. In the group are (l. to r.) Sgt. Edward D. Vanover, Sgt. Wallace D. Christian, Cpl. Max E. Chirvi, Sgt. Robert J. Martin, Cpl. Robert C. Manley, and S/Sgt. Virgil N. Oarman.

AACS Detachment Fixes Own Equipment

Vital to the successful operation of America's military air highways is the work of the AACS detachments who are found wherever military craft fly. But these men, like any other worker, need equipment to ply their trades and responsible for the operation of the equipment are the maintenance men of each detachment who care for the weather and radio equipment used.

The radio maintenance men install, inspect, test, and repair radio transmitting and receiving equipment, using such test equipment as voltmeter, ohmmeter, tube testers and oscilloscope. Many repairs are effected by repairing some of the units or by replacing the parts. Many times improvisations or substitutions have to be made when replacements are not available.

Responsible for the maintenance of the weather and teletype equipment are the Teletype Maintenance men who install, inspect, maintain, and repair these machines, including receiving, transmitting, and relay units.

M-Sgt. Dan L. Dowell, an AACS veteran, is commander of the Reese detachment, which includes operating and maintenance crews. With over eight years service in AACS, three in the Signal Corps, and five and one-half in the First Cavalry Division, all of his service time has been in some communications unit.

GROWING DAILY

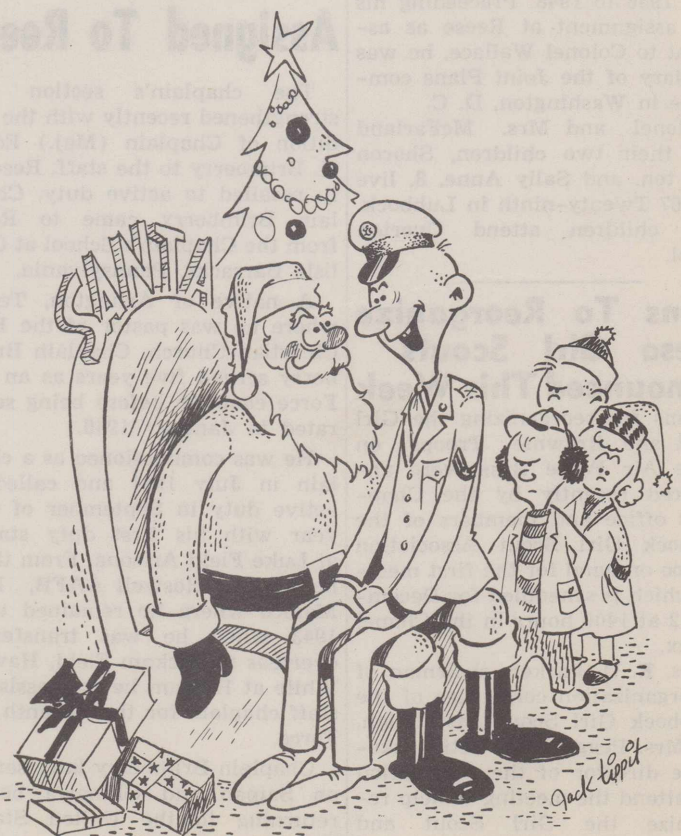

It has been said that the mind grows by what it feeds on. The same is true of our physical bodies. Also we find the same truth in the growing of our spiritual bodies. If we feed on the world we grow by the world, but if we feed on the living bread of life we grow in His likeness. Our devotion to Christ and our witnessing to Him can become a fixed habit by daily storing God's word in our hearts. In gratitude we need to humble ourselves and acknowledge our dependence upon Him.

We are told to keep the heart with all diligence, for out of it grows all life. As a heart and life filled with the word of God will be a continual witness to the better way of life.

Therefore, if the best man who ever lived, the only perfect man who ever lived, felt that he must feed daily on the word, then how much more, as imperfect men, should we feed daily on the living bread of life, The Word of God.

CHINA SHAKES THE WORLD
by
Jack Belden

When World War II ended, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek appeared to be one of the most powerful rulers in the world. The only possible threat to his regime was a small group of Communist-led guerillas whom eight years before he had all but liquidated. Today he has taken refuge on the island of Formosa with only a handful of followers and a few chests of gold bullion. Here he lives stripped of his authority, deserted by his generals, his army shattered and the people in revolt. In the meantime, these formerly despised guerillas have conquered all of Manchuria, and North and Central China, seized the national capitol at Nanking and are storming unchecked across Asia.

Here for the first time, Jack Belden tells this story of one of the most amazing turnabouts in history. The tale he weaves is a tangled one of war and politics, strategy and dialects, of murder, poison and seduction, all taking place in the midst of a struggle for survival between three different types of civilization: feudalism, Capitalism and nascent socialism.

This is a story of a civilization in ferment.

Written at a time when the U.S. policy toward China has divided a multitude of Americans into bitterly opposed factions, Belden's book is bound to produce controversy in this country. But no matter what your political views, CHINA SHAKES THE WORLD is worth reading solely on the merits of the book. It is a mass of instructive facts and is a fascinating story in its contemplative originality.

As for the importance of the events he describes, the author recalls Napoleon's famous prophecy: "China! There is a sleeping giant; let it sleep, for when he wakes, he will move the world."

BASE LIBRARY HAS A COPY OF THIS TIMELY BOOK.

Q. When is it mandatory for members of the regular establishment (both officers and airmen) to convert to the new Air Force blue uniform?

A. Air Force Letter 35046, as is presently written, authorizes the old Army type clothing until 1 July 1952.

Q. For what length of period have all AF Reserve officers appointments been extended?

A. Indefinitely. (Ref. AF Reserve Briefs, No. 9, Nov. 50)

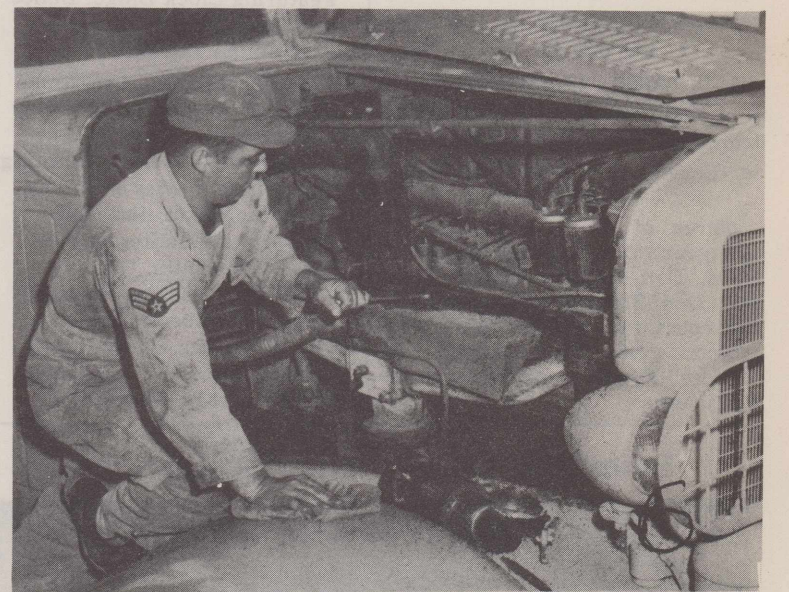

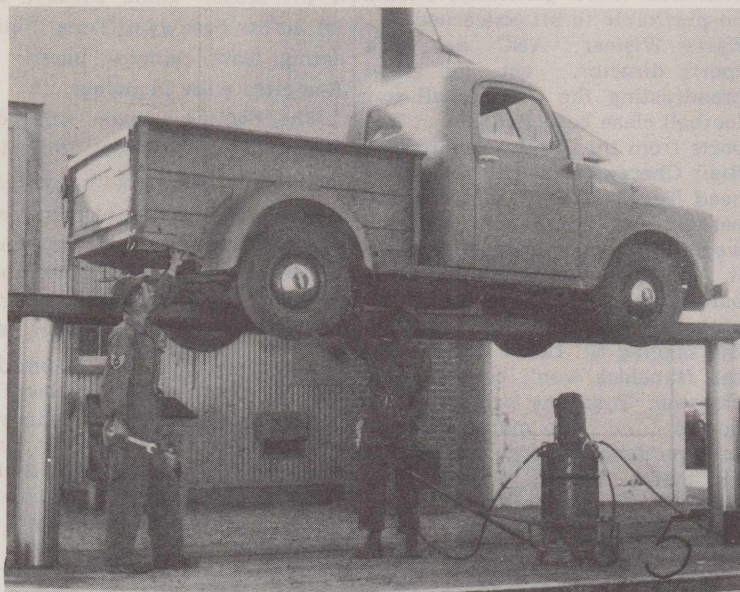

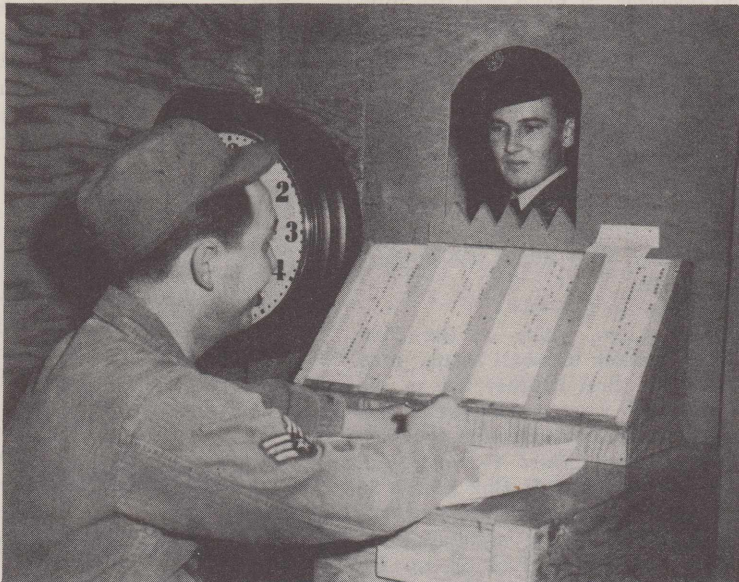

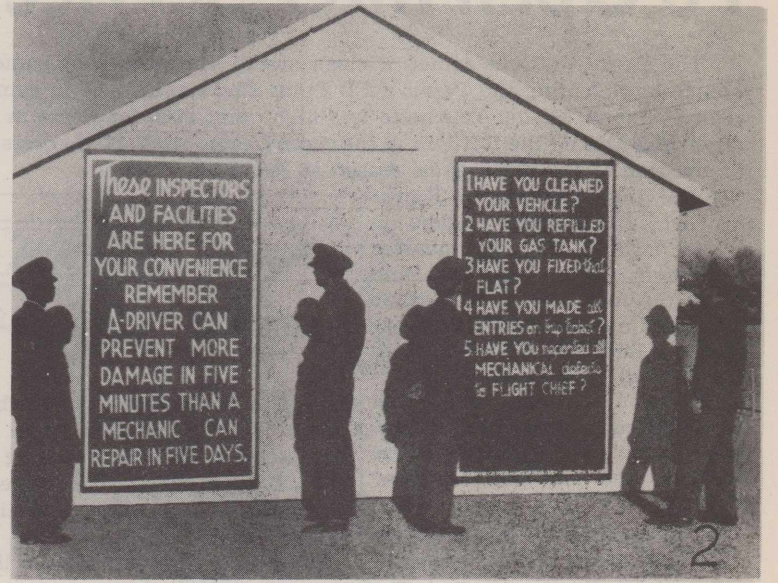

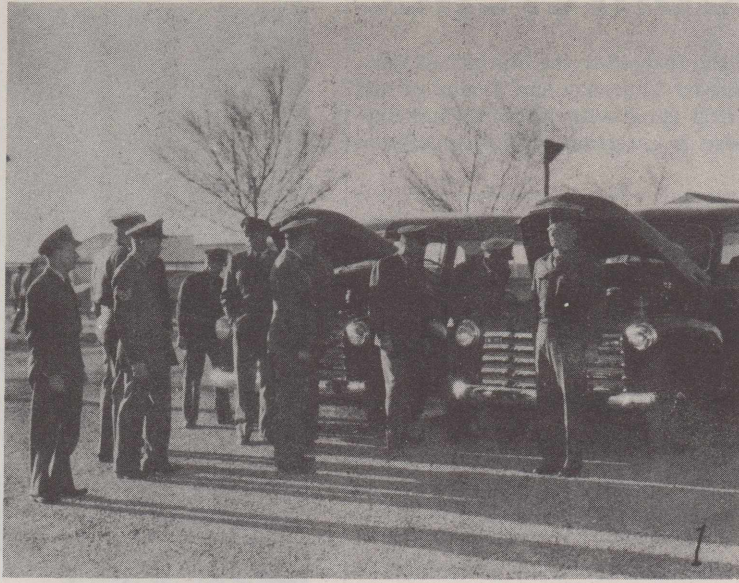

Q. If a member of the organized Air Reserve is recalled to active duty and has been receiving monthly Veterans Administration compensation benefits, may he still continue to receive those VA payments at the same time he receives his monthly service pay?

A. No. Acceptance of Veterans Administration benefits after reenlistment, recall to active duty, or re-induction into any component of the Armed Services will result in overpayments, and the VA is obligated by law to recover any such overpayments. Upon reentering active duty, a veteran should promptly notify the Veterans Administration office from which he receives compensation or pension so that the payments may be stopped. (Ref. AF Reserve Briefs, No. 9, Nov. 50).

Q. What is the present status on dependent travel to Hawaii and Alaska?

A. The Major Air Commands have been advised that the suspension of dependent travel from the West Coast to Hawaii and Alaska have been lifted. Action has been taken to reinstate priority lists for November travel.

THE MOTOR POOL STORY

1. Drivers of the motor pool and their vehicles are inspected by the commanding officer of the Maintenance and Supply Group. 2. Drivers look at the large charts near the entrance to the motor pool which serve as reminders to check their vehicles carefully before leaving the motor pool. 3. Sgt. William L. Powell, dispatcher, issues a trip ticket to Cpl. Gerald A. Wilson, driver for the message center. 4. Cleanliness is also essential in the life of a military vehicle. Shown cleaning a pickup are Pvt. Norman W. Foster and PFC Robert C. Berg. 5. S/Sgt. Thomas L. Yates, NCOIC of grease rack, pulls a monthly inspection on a pickup while Sgt. Edgar Starling greases rear springs. 6. Sgt. George W. Stevens tightens intake manifold on a truck-tractor.

Rattlers Dump Perrin Pilots Twice To Open Inter-Service Conference

The Reese Rattlers gained a clean sweep of the opening games of the Inter-Service Basketball Conference by defeating the Perrin AFB Pilots 70-54 and 55-54 in games played Thursday and Friday of last week at Perrin. Dalton Touchette was high point man for Reese in the first game with 12 points and Sylvester Muse paced the Rattlers in the second game with 14 markers. Reese is entertaining Vance AFB in the opening of the home game season at Reese.

In the first game played Thursday night, the Rattlers chalked up a 13-8 lead in the first quarter but Perrin came right back and led at the halftime 27-25. Reese's Joe Lopez and Wayne Cox spearheaded a Reese attack in the third quarter and ran the score to 47-39 in favor of Reese when that frame ended. After that Perrin never threatened again as Reese went on the capture the game 70-54.

Ray Kaples of the Perrin Pilots, a set shot artist, scored 16 points to head the Perrin attack. The Rattlers completed 20 out of 31 foul shots for a 67 percent average.

The second game saw the Perrin team come back fighting, giving the Rattlers a nip and tuck battle all the way. The first period score was 18-17, the Pilots getting the nod. At half-time the score was 28-27, again in favor of Perrin. In the third canto, Muse, Touchett, and Dale White launched an attack that gave the Rattlers a 41-34 lead. In the fourth quarter Bill Jupp of the Perrin team dropped in a field goal to give Perrin a 54-53 lead with less than two minutes to play. But Muse put Reese ahead in the game with a one-hand shot from the circle to make the score 55-54.

In the waning seconds of the game Bill Wilson, Rattler center, fouled a Perrin player who missed the free throw and a chance to tie the game and the final gun sounded giving Reese a 55-54 victory.

S-Sgt. Delbert D. Adams, team coach, stated, "the team spirit prevailed in the first game was present." He also mentioned that it isn't to late for anyone else interested in playing on the base team, to try out for a position.

Infirmary was also received that the Tinker AFB. Oklahoma team had withdrawn from the Inter-Service Conference competition.

Three of the five starters on last year's Notre Dame basketball team, Dan Bagley, LeRoy Leslie and Don Strasser, will return to the court for the Irish this year, which gives cage coach Ed "Moose" Krause hope of a successful season.

John Davis, defensive halfback on the Indiana football team, was proud of his 32 shining white teeth. So it was only natural that he took it hard when an opposing lineman knocked out a front molar.

"What made it even worse," Davis complained, "was the gall of the guy! He looked over the line before the next play and brazenly taunted me."

"You now have 31, would like to try for 30?"

Some of the West Coast critics are sniping at round Coach Pappy Waldorf, of California's Golden Bears, West Coast representatives in the impending Rose Bowl game.

Main complaint is that Waldorf-coached teams beat the ball. For the uninitiated, it should be explained that this is a rules infraction. The teams assumes an offensive stance, with the quarterback barking out the cadence "one and, two and, three and, four and," etc. Specific charge is that the Bear line charges on the "and" with the ball being snapped on the following number. If true, naturally it is quite an advantage to the offensive team.

Coach Waldorf is quite vehement in denying the allegation. "The only thing I can say is that we don't beat the ball, period," he declares. "I have said it a million times and I want to say it again, we don't coach out teams to beat the ball. We just get off with it."

Most coaches come to grief over failure to win games but it looks like Waldorf is setting somewhat of a precedent. Of course, there always is such a thing as winning too many. You make the opposition sore.

Mel Allen, voice of the New York Yankee baseball team, may have the first brother act in big time radio broadcasting next season . . . Mel's mike aide the past two seasons, Curt Gowdy, will air the Boston Red Sox games in 1951, and Allen may use his brother Larry, in the assistant spot . . . Are things looking up for the downtrodden football coaches? Herman Hickman, likeable Yale mentor, just signed a 10-year contract with the Elis . . . Seems like such long range policy, if practiced more generally, should be profitable to all concerned . . . Harry Wismer, ABC net work sports director, got his start broadcasting the Chicago all-star football clash back in 1935 . . . Reports from the Southwest are that Blair Cherry decided to resign the head Texas football coaching job because he didn't feel the job worth the abuse connected with it. And that from a winning football coach! . . . Texas oil money probably will be used to bolster the sagging St. Louis Browns but the franchise won't be moved to Houston, Texas as originally reported. . . Too many obstacles to overcome in transplanting a big major league franchise to minor league territory.

Reese Defeats Perrin

Bill Jupp (5) of the Perrin Pilots attempts a field goal during recent two game series at Perrin AFB of which Reese made a clean sweep. Reese's Bill Wright (12) tries to stop the shot. Waiting the rebound if any are Charles Dunlap (16) and Harold Woodall (4) of Perrin and Dale White (7) and Bill Ballard (13) of Reese.

Reesettes Ready To Begin Season Play In Femme League

The Reesettes defeated the Sandlin Cleaners of Lubbock 27-10 in a pre-season game Friday, Dec. 1st, in the base gym. Terry Pullen, acting team captain paced the Reesettes with 14 points.

The Femme League will begin operation in Lubbock on Monday, December 11 with six teams vying for the city women's basketball title. A strong contender for the crown, the Reesettes have defeated two of the teams in practice games and Bob Bishop, team coach, stated that he is confident that the team will "go places".

Competing for the title this year will be teams from the West Texas Hospital, Sandlin Cleaners, Southwestern Associated Telephone, Citizens National Bank, and the Reesettes.

Haney & Hagle Take Handball Crown

Maj. Richard P. Haney and Capt. Carl M. Hagle defeated 1st Lts. James O. Umphries and Robert E. Englebretson two games out of three to win the base Handball Championship for 1950. Final scores were 22-20; 21-23; and 21-19.

Major Haney and Captain Hagle won the first game and Umphries and Englebretson came right back to take the second one. The third game, a hard fought one all the way through, ended 21-19 in favor of Haney and Hagle to give them the title.
