

Famous WAF Band To Play Here

A-1C Patrick Weir Is First To Extend Present Enlistment

A/1C Patrick L. Weir is the first Reese Airman to take advantage of the new policy for base commanders to authorize extensions on present enlistments, Maj. Homer L. Parsons, base reenlistment counseling officer, announced this week. Weir is acting NCOIC of the Airmen Personnel Administration Section and has been stationed here since Oct., 1953.

"The new policy has made it possible for me to keep a steady job until school starts in the fall," said Airman Weir. He has extended his enlistment for five months and plans to attend Louisiana State University at the completion of the extension.

Extensions may be made by making the request to the squadron commander. The squadron commander, in turn, sends a recommendation to the base reenlistment section for final approval, state Major Parsons.

Airmen interested in further details may contact the reenlistment counseling section.

Volunteer Band Is Organized Here At Reese

Reese this week has its own band again, an organization which is scheduled to make its first official appearance at today's retreat ceremonies.

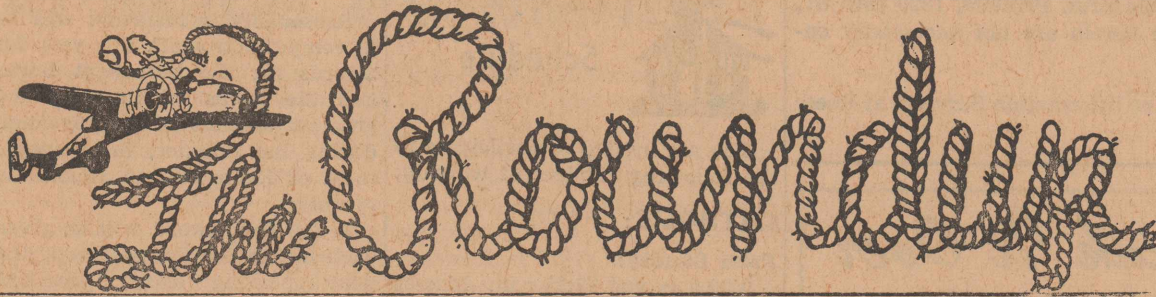

Directed by 2nd Lt. Theodore E. Dahlfors, Student squadron adjutant, the Reese Air Force Base Volunteer Band has been formed to appear at any function where its service may be useful. It has upward of 30 members and expects to have a march membership of about 20 members for each appearance, the other members being on duty elsewhere, Lt. Dahlfors said.

The 514th Air Force band formerly was assigned to Reese, but last March 15 the organization was disbanded and its members were re-assigned to other bases. The inactivation orders said that four men would be left at each base where bands were disbanded so that there would be a nucleus for volunteer bands, dance orchestras, drum and bugle corps, and other musical groups.

Aviation Cadet Charles W. Gauntlett is commander of the new volunteer organization. He formerly played with the high school band at Knoxville, Tenn., and later was leader and director of the Lackland AFB drum and bugle corps and was bugler for the Hondo AB retreat ceremonies. He has been playing retreat at Reese.

Lieutenant Dahlfors has a bachelor of arts degree in music from Coe college, Iowa, where he studied band and choral direction. He was director of music in an Iowa high school prior to being called to active duty in the Air Force, directing the school band and chorus. At Reese he is also director of the chapel choir.

"The Reese Volunteer band will appear wherever its presence will be helpful," the lieutenant said.

WAF BAND BELL RINGERS—Versatile band members set aside their instruments and become one of the few bell ringing units in the country. The group is scheduled for performance with the concert band which will appear here at Reese April 12 and in Lubbock April 13. No written music is known to exist for bell ringing groups and the WAF group uses special arrangements by band director Capt. MaryBelle Nissly. (Air Force Photo).

Bigger Paychecks Now In Sight For All US Military Personnel

Washington (AFPS) — Fatter paychecks for members of the Armed Forces may be realized in May if legislative progress continues at a fast pace.

The Senate Armed Services Committee has completed open hearings on the military pay raise bill which recently was overwhelmingly passed by the House.

The next step is the drawing up of the committee's report to the Senate and then consideration on the Senate floor.

During the open hearings, which included testimony by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson and top officers from all services, members of the committee showed little inclination to dispute the provisions of the pay increase approved by the House.

Summer Uniform Mandatory April 18

Wearing of the summer uniform will become mandatory for all personnel starting April 18, Col. C. P. West, base commander, said this week. With the old policy of having an optional period for wearing both summer and winter uniforms discontinued, the date for the seasonal uniform will be determined by each base commander.

The Senate group made only minor amendments in the proposed measure and Chairman Richard B. Russell, Ga., said he expects Senate floor action some time this week.

Russell also stated that he doubts if the measure could be enacted in time for the raise to apply to the April 1 pay period although there might be a chance. The Senate has made minor changes in the bill and Senate and House must get together before the bill can become law.

Quotas Are Set For April Promotions

Allotment of 54,100 airmen promotion spaces has been authorized by Hqs USAF for the April-May cycle.

The new cycle has spaces set as follows: 900 for master sergeants; 2,200 for technical sergeants; 10,500 for staff sergeants; 18,500 for airmen first class, and 22,000 for airmen second class.

More than 500 additional spaces have been set for airmen first class promotions. Technical and staff sergeants and airmen second class allocations are decreased some for this cycle.

The February-March overall quota was 55,010.

Promotion criteria, subject to career field vacancies, remains as follows: to be eligible for master sergeant, 16 months in grade and seven-level skill; to technical sergeant, 14 months and seven level; to staff sergeant, 12 months and five level; to airman first class, eight months and five level, with the exception of a few technician specialties which afford promotion to airman first class with a three level; and to airman second class, six months and three level.

Captain Guy Assumes Duties As New Base Provost Marshal

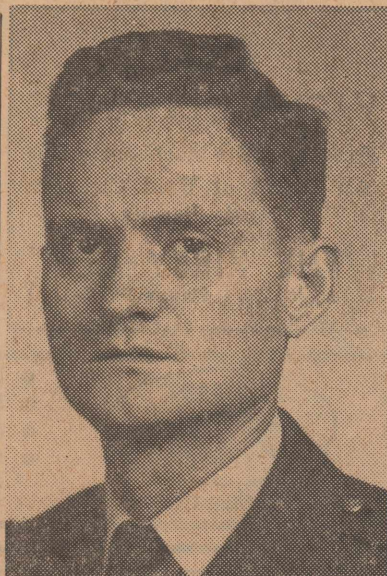

Capt. Edgar W. Guy, flight instructor at Reese since August, 1953, today assumed new duties as provost marshal of the base, succeeding 1st Lt. Kermit A. Hall, who has been re-assigned to England.

Served In Japan

Captain Guy served in the Southwest Pacific and Japan during World War II and in Korea during the conflict in that area. He flew 50 night interdiction missions in the latter war. He holds several decorations, including the Distinguished Flying Cross and Air Medal.

Native of South Carolina

The captain is a resident of Spartanburg, S. C., where he was graduated from high school in 1941. He is a graduate of several service schools, including the squadron officers course at Maxwell AFB. His wife is the former Margaret L. Finch of Spartanburg. They have a daughter, Carol, 10.

Concerts Held At Tech Gymnasium, Base Parade Field

Arrangements for the two-day visit of the United States WAF Band to Reese and Lubbock, April 12 and 13, have been completed, Col. C. P. West, base commander, said this week.

Arrive April 11

The WAF band will arrive the night of April 11, after completing appearances in Amarillo and will be quartered on base, the colonel said. The following day, April 12, a concert is scheduled for 5:45 p.m. at the base parade field, with all base personnel invited. Wednesday, April 13, the band will make appearances at Texas Tech. A concert will be presented at 8 p.m. in the Tech gymnasium. During the concert the Lubbock Jaycees will hold a beauty contest to select "Miss Topflight of 1955", a young woman who will appear at functions during the year in "Operation Topflight", a campaign of education in behalf of the United States Air Force, being conducted by the Lubbock Jr. Chamber of Commerce. The band will leave April 14 to continue a tour of Air Force Bases in this area.

Organized At Lackland

Organized in 1951, at Lackland AFB, the WAF Band first played only for local functions. In 1952, tours were started, along with enlargement from 18 to 50 pieces. The band is directed by Capt. MaryBelle J. Nissly and spends about 80 per cent of its time on tour, appearing on radio, television, parade and in concert.

Performances of the band have ranged from the presidential inaugural parade, national convention of the American Legion and state affairs, to strictly local appearances at bases. Future plans call for the organization to tour the Alaskan Air Command this summer.

Play Variety Of Music

Each concert, Colonel West pointed out, includes various types of music, from classical to popular. Selections to be played by the band include novelty acts and a group called the WAF Bell Ringers. The bell ringers play classical and "pop" tunes, their Wedding March being one of the most unusual numbers.

$1,873 Donated To Red Cross Drive

Red Cross donations here at Reese have amounted to $1,873 with the drive on the base slated to continue until April 17, Maj. Tobias Schindler, base project officer for the Red Cross Drive, stated recently.

Contributions have been made through soliciting through unit project officers and through special fund raising parties in the clubs and messes of the base.

Calling All Stripes

Why is it when many of these fuzzy-cheeked kids put on a uniform representing the U. S. Armed Forces the first thing they try to do is act tough, look tough or just plain disgrace the uniform before the public?

It leads us to believe just one thing. You, the NCO or PO with the stripes on your arm, aren't keeping an eye on these kids. Have you called these characters aside and clued them in on what the service expects of them when they are out of sight of officers and stripes?

Have you reminded them that their actions in town reflect on you, your base or ship and servicemen in general? Do they know that many of the civilians wonder what has happened to the NCO and PO corps of the service today?

If not, bossman, it's about time you double checked your outfit and screened out these disillusioned characters that are giving all of us a bad name. Take 'em aside and lay down the law. That's what you're getting paid for. Wind it up this way: when you're in uniform, you stand out, so be outstanding. (AFPS)

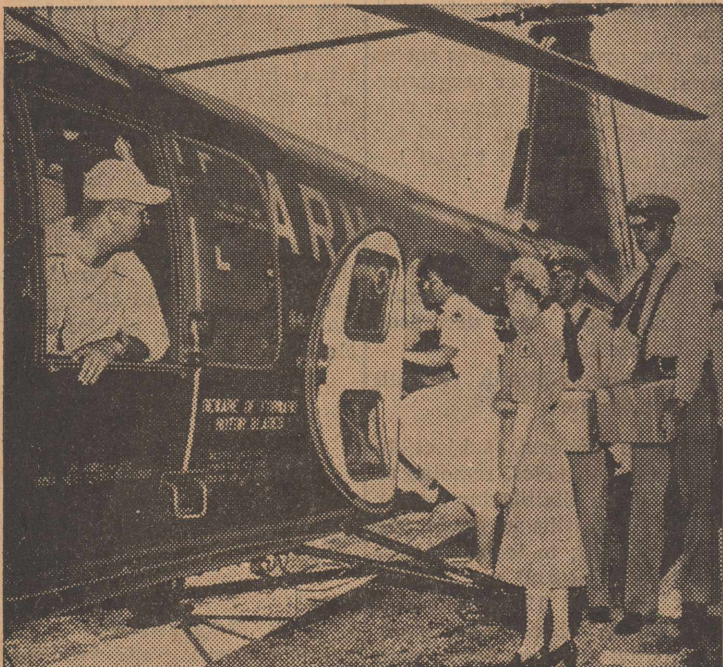

What's The Big Idea?

The prime reason for the build-up and maintenance of the Air Force in great strength right now is the threat of Communist aggression. But the idea of communism moves sometimes without the help of arms. How big a threat to us is the Communist idea? What kinds of people does it appeal to? What does the threat demand of us?

Recently the noted historian and philosopher, Arnold J. Toynbee was asked some pointed questions about his opinions on the future of communism in world history. He gave his answers to ten questions in the New York Times Magazine of February 20, 1955. Asked whether he thinks that communism is "the wave of the future," he answered:

"No, I do not. In the long run, I believe that communism will fail to captivate mankind, because, as I see it, communism has very little spiritual help or guidance to offer to men and women in the personal trials and troubles of their individual lives. I know of no religion or ideology that has captivated people in the past without having proved itself to be a very present help in trouble of the personal kind. I therefore believe that 'the wave of the future' is not communism, but religion of the kind that does give the individual human being effective spiritual help in leading his personal life.

Toynbee concludes, however, we can be confident that "if we exert ourselves" in what he calls "our own faith," our side will win in this struggle. "We believe," he says, "that our faith is the true one, and that 'the truth is mighty, and will prevail'."

Two Red Cross nurses accompany a helicopter mercy flight carrying typhoid vaccine to victims of the disastrous Rio Grande floods last summer. Of the $734,900 spent for food, clothing, medical and other supplies furnished by the Red Cross a part went to victims on the Mexican side of the river.

Residents Compete For Best Kept Lawns

Reese Village residents will be in competition again this year for awards for the best kept lawns and the lawns which show the greatest amount of improvement during the summer, the management of Reese Village announced recently.

A $50 first award will be given each month for the best kept and neat-appearing leased premises, with $25 going to the runner-up. An additional award of $25 will be given for the premises which show the greatest amount of improvement during a 30 day period. Cash awards will be applied against the winners' rent. The first inspection of lawns will be made during the last week in April and the awards applied against May's rent.

Committee for each month's judging is to consist of two officers and three NCO's not residing in Reese Village, and to be selected by their respective Group commanders. Reese Village Management will also furnish one individual to act as a member of the judging committee.

From the back of the church came a voice: "Amen."

Twice Monthly

Pay Method Made Permanent

Twice a month pay for Air Force personnel has gone into effect on a permanent basis at Reese Air Force Base, with one change from the trial basis, Col. C. P. West, base commander, said this week. Pay days will be on the 15th and either 30th or 31st of each month, the colonel said.

The United States Air Force last October set up a six month test of two pay days each month, instead of one. Recently it surveyed communities most affected by the plan, at the same time securing reactions of military personnel receiving pay twice a month. Lubbock businessmen were highly in favor of the new system and Reese AFB personnel also endorsed it.

Unit Commanders Point Out Base Regulations For Salesmen

Unit commanders on the base this week were counseling personnel to make certain that salesmen attempting to move merchandise, insurance, or other items conform to existing regulation.

Regulation, they pointed out, permits sales only in the base salesman's showroom in Building T-61 or in family quarters after duty hours in instances where definite appointments are made. All sales people who wish to solicit business on base must be cleared by the wing adjutant, with the staff judge advocate advising on companies represented and its offering, the commanders cited. Approved salesmen may talk with personnel only in the showroom in T-61 or in family quarters. Excluded from provisions of the base regulation are employees of military establishments.

It was pointed out that the showroom was set up to permit salesmen to display merchandise and to conduct their selling programs, provisions of the regulation being in line with directives from higher headquarters. Reese personnel were advised by unit commanders to call the wing adjutant, Extension 410, immediately if salesmen attempt to make sales in a manner contrary to the regulation.

The unit commanders also counseled troops this week to make close check on all stocks and bonds which they may wish to buy. All personnel were counseled to confer with the staff judge advocate's office or wing personnel services officer before making purchases. It also was pointed out that reputable brokers in Lubbock will give advice on stocks and bonds, without charge.

Little Theater Invites Variety Act Tryouts

Lubbock Little Theater is especially interested in persons doing variety acts to come out and try out for their forthcoming play, 'The Drunkard,' stated Peter Monasch of the Little Theater Group. Tryouts will be held Sunday afternoon, April 3, in the Little Theater building, 2508 Avenue P. Further information may be had by calling SH 4-5328.

Colonel West was notified over the week end that the two pay days a month was a permanent part of the Air Force program and should be made effective at each base as soon as possible, with the 15th and the last day of each month as the dates to be used for payments.

At Reese AFB the 5th and the 30th had been in use, but this was changed immediately. Personnel were paid yesterday, instead of next Tuesday. The new program also gives officers and the top three grade airman the choice of being paid once or twice a month. During the test all airmen were paid twice a month, while officers had the choice of one or two paydays monthly. A majority of officers at Reese AFB chose two paydays.

Base personnel also are being urged to have their checks sent directly to Lubbock banks for deposit. It was pointed out by Colonel West that much work is saved for base finance officials and personnel if checks were deposited directly by the finance officer. Thus, he said, each bank would be sent a list of depositors each pay day and one check covering all deposits would be issued by the finance officers to each institution.

AWARD WINNER—M/Sgt. Hosea Farow is shown receiving his safety award from J. C. Crawford, editor of The Houston News, at the Texas Safety conference held in Houston, Texas this past week. The inscription on the award reads: in recognition of an outstanding industrial safety achievement, as a commercial motor vehicle operator in Texas.

New Air Base Is Added To SAC Installations

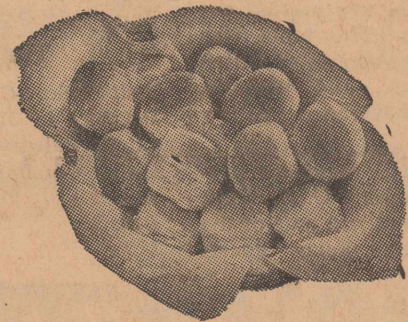

Washington (AFPS)—Columbus AFB, Miss., has been added to the growing list of Strategic Air Command installations scattered throughout the U. S.

At present, Columbus is a unit of the AF's Air Training Command. The base is scheduled to become the home of a wing of strategic reconnaissance fighters following an expansion program.

SAC will activate the 4228th Air Air Base SQ, at Columbus as a small "housekeeping" unit during the building period. The AF said the fighter wing will be activated as soon as necessary facilities are constructed.

Air Force Pays Special Attention To Adequate Family Housing Bill

The Air Force is turning its principal attention to adequate family housing now that it appears Congress will this year pass a new pay bill, Secretary Talbott said in a speech delivered March 22.

The Air Force Secretary said he is personally concerned over the problem of obtaining family housing of proper standards and within the proper rental brackets for men in the Air Force. He said correcting this problem should go a long way to making AF service career more attractive.

"The Air Force is in favor of any measure that will give us additional housing," Secretary Talbott said. "We have two ways of replacing this housing. The first method is for the government to come in and put up the money and build housing on the base. The second is to depend on private funds to provide housing we need."

The Secretary said he would like to see private interests in communities provide rental housing of a proper standard and at a reasonable cost for AF personnel, adding: "I say rental housing because I do not feel it is good to force military personnel whose tours of duty will normally not exceed three or four years at any one base to buy a house. Unless they plan to settle in a community, they must then resell it on a possible changed market at the end of their tour. I am firmly convinced that the Air Force owes it to its people to protect them against such requirements."

ROPA Establishes Firm Policies For Officers

An Act of Congress designed to make firm policies on such matters as promotion, seniority precedence, constructive credits, distribution, retention, and elimination of Reserve Officer personnel to become effective July 1, 1955, Major Richard W. Davis, Officers Personnel officer, has announced.

The Act, on file as Air Force Bulletin No. 17, dated Sept. 17, 1954, but popularly known as the Reserve Officer Personnel Act, is primarily directed towards the Reserve Officer who is participating in the reserve program while a civilian, accruing points for retirement, but is of interest to all reserve officers.

Promotions

All reserve officers on extended active duty are eligible for promotion, the bill said, but reserve officers in training as civilians must accrue a number of points as established by the Secretary of the Air Force. This will never exceed a maximum of 50 points yearly. Time in grade requirements are outlined in AFR 36-68, Major Davis said.

The Officers Personnel section of this headquarters has screened Qualification records of reserve officers on active duty at Reese AFB, and has submitted the names of those currently qualified for promotion in the Reserve to the Reserve Promotion Board, the major said. The board convenes in April, 1955.

An officer on extended active duty who is recommended for promotion to a reserve grade higher than that in which he is serving will be asked, prior to promotion, to elect to continue serving at the lower AFUS grade or to take release from extended active duty, Major Davis said.

Seniority

The Act also provides for seniority among reserve officers. Under its provisions, an officer in any grade is senior to a lower grade. Among officers of the same grade, seniority is determined by the longest period of promotion service in grade, then the longest period of commissioned service. The Secretary of the Air Force will establish seniority in cases not covered by these provisions.

Discharge

Under the provisions of the Act, an officer on active status with 18 to 20 years Federal service will not be discharged or transferred to inactive status, without his consent, prior to the date he is credited with 20 years service. Active status means extended active duty or civilian participation in a reserve program, Major Davis said. This provision does not apply to officers transferred or discharged for cause, physical disability, or by reason of having attained the maximum age of 60 years. Officers in grades below Major General who read the age of 60 will normally be discharged or, if application is made in the 59th year, be transferred to the Retired Reserve, if otherwise qualified.

Change In Travel Regulations Is Expected Early In April

An expected change in joint travel regulations will authorize travel at government expense for dependents of airmen first class with more than four years service on permanent change of duty station after April 1.

In the past airmen first class were not entitled to this career benefit until after completing seven years service.

The change particularly will help the career man who has assumed family responsibilities. He will be allowed transportation for his dependents at the beginning instead of the end of his second enlistment in the AF.

Airmen first class with seven years service are now entitled to ship 4,500 pounds of household goods, and those of the same grade with less than seven years may ship 3,000 pounds. The change will authorize shipment of 4,500 pounds by airmen first class with more than four years of service.

A savings clause will be included to continue the 3,000 pound allowance for individuals who are presently in the grade of airman first class, but have less than four years service. Airmen promoted into grade of airman first class after the effective date of the change will have no household goods shipment entitlement until after they have accrued four years service.

Six States Adopt Laws To Give Bonus To Korean Veterans

Six states have adopted laws granting bonuses to Korean veterans, information in THE ROUNDUP office indicated this week. Indiana and Michigan are the latest bonus states, joining Massachusetts, Vermont, South Dakota and Louisiana. Connecticut apparently is about ready to grant bonuses to Korean conflict participants.

Indiana will pay $15 a month for service in Korea, with payments expected to start in May. Michigan will pay $10 per month for stateside service, $15 for service in Korea during the war. Vermont is paying the bonus only to enlisted men.

Applications for bonuses should be sent to the adjutant general of most states.

Remodeling Nears Completion; Cadet Open Mess Has 'New Look'

Remodeling of the Cadet Open Mess is nearing completion as many long hours of planning and work have given the building a completely new look, M/Sgt. Fred Peche, club secretary, stated recently.

The operation first began last October and many apparent changes have been made. The club has been completely repainted in attractive colors and several full length outdoor panoramas and murals were painted by Mrs. Glenn Smith, a well known artist from Lubbock. Also, a larger bar was installed and a new hi-fidelity music system was purchased and installed. Several improvements have been made in the game room facilities.

Easter Sunday the job will be completed with the addition of the latest styling in furniture for the entire club. The social schedule for Easter week-end will include an open house on Easter Sunday with a dance from 3-6 p.m. Key officers of the base and prominent persons from Lubbock will be guests at the open house.

Change Of Command Held For Cadets

By A/C Michael C. Grinnell

Last week, as spring arrived with temperatures of 15 degrees, the Cadets were indeed pleased to hear that the Wing Parade had been cancelled. However, an exceedingly chilly open ranks inspection was conducted by Cadet squadron officers.

This week all Cadets find themselves one step nearer to graduation as they all move up one class. Class 55-N will take over their duties as first class. A change of command ceremony was held Wednesday evening and the new Cadet officer positions were announced.

With an influx of shiny, new cars and the peal of wedding bells, Class 55-L is preparing for graduation, which is set for April 14th.

Except for about 100 who had previous military service and some who will be granted deferments to continue their academic work, the AF expects to call all the new officers to active duty.

More than 8,000 ROTC cadets to be graduated during the coming year have been accepted for flight training.

Ground safety officials this week were studying a date for the second first aid course, following compilation of results of a previous class which brought certificates of completion to 24 Reese military and civilian personnel.

All phases of the Red Cross first aid course were mastered by the 24 students in classes in charge of M/Sgt. Samuel Jervis of ground safety. The students heard lectures and performed demonstrations of first aid functions.

Cooperation in the classes was given by the Lubbock Red Cross chapter, which provided student handbooks to each student. Arranging the classes were Joe Lopez, ground safety technician, and Tom Ireland, civilian personnel officer.

An Instructors Creed

Give me the patience to forgive the faults in others when I know full well I have enough of my own.

Let me be considerate of the feelings of others and not hurt them only to bolster my own ego.

Let me show humility when the braggard in me cries out for self-attention.

Let me be sincere in my associations with others and not allow my selfish interests to interfere.

FLIGHT 9

A Proclamation

WHEREAS for more than seventy years the United States government has participated, with other governments, in international treaties which fix responsibility for providing comfort and relief to sick and wounded members of the armed forces, and which establish the Red Cross as the protective symbol under which those purposes shall be achieved; and

WHEREAS these treaties envisioned the need for establishing in each participating country a volunteer organization to assist the government in carrying out its obligations, and to engage in such other humanitarian activities as the government might prescribe; and

WHEREAS, by appropriate federal statute and in accord with its international commitments, the government of the United States has established the American National Red Cross as this nation's official volunteer agency to act in matters of relief under the treaties, and has prescribed other humanitarian duties to be performed by the Red Cross on behalf of the government and people of the United States; and

WHEREAS during the last half century the American People, through Red Cross membership and the voluntary contribution of their time, their blood, and their money, have made possible the assumption and discharge by the American National Red Cross of its obligations during periods of both war and peace; and

WHEREAS, through its services to our armed forces all over the world, its extension of relief to sufferers from disasters at home and abroad, its blood program, its Junior Red Cross activities, and its contributions in the fields of nursing, first aid, and water safety, the American National Red Cross has strengthened the nation by saving lives, salvaging hopes, and preserving human dignity; and

WHEREAS, by reason of its origin, its official status, its record of accomplishment, and the humanitarian purposes that it serves, the American National Red Cross must continue to have the support of all the American people:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER, President of the United States of America and honorary chairman of the American National Red Cross, do hereby designate March, 1955, as Red Cross month; and I urge all Americans during that month to assure the continuing effectiveness of the work of the Red Cross by contributing liberally of their funds and by enrolling for active membership in this organization.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.
