4,000th Reese Student Gets Wings

Five In Class Named Distinguished Cadets; Dupree Is Speaker

Reese AFB Wednesday graduated its 4,000th pilot from the multi-engine pilot training program as wings were awarded Class 55-P in exercises in the base theater at 9 a.m. Col. Murray W. Crowder, base commander, announced, this week.

Previous classes contained 2,523 United States Air Force aviation cadets and 1,428 student officers, or a total of 3,951 students. The 4,000th USAF student to receive silver wings of the pilots Wednesday was Cadet Raymond R. Middleton of Topeka, Kan. He is a graduate of Topeka high school and a former student of Washburn college. He completed primary pilot training at Stallings Air Base, Kinston, N. C., prior to coming to Reese AFB in January.

Train 47 Allies

In addition to training the 3,951 USAF students, Reese AFB personnel also trained 47 students of friendly allied nations prior to this week and added four more graduates to the Mutual Defense Assistance Program graduates this week when three students from Chile and one from Colombia are in Class 55-P. The second graduate Wednesday and the 4,000th total graduate of Reese AFB was Lt. Gustavo L. Latorre of Chile, who was commissioned while at the base.

This week's graduating class includes 55 USAF aviation cadets, 55 USAF student officers, and the four allied officers.

Must Make Contribution

Newest pilots of the United States Air Force were told Wednesday that they must make contributions to "the greatest age the world has ever seen" as Class 55-P completed training at Reese AFB.

"Life may be likened to a football game," George W. Dupree, Lubbock attorney, told the graduates in his address. "We are in the third quarter of that game, if we consider World War I as in the first quarter and World War II as in the second quarter. The ambitions and aims of the future and the responsibilities of this land rest on our shoulders, yours and mine. You will carry in your hands the responsibilities of

Plans Are Made To Reorganize Pilot Training

Preliminary plans for a drastic change in organization of pilot training at Reese Air Force Base are being worked out with implementation tentatively set for August, Col. Murray W. Crowder, Jr., base commander, said this week.

Plans call for elimination of the 3500th student squadron as a strictly military training unit and for establishment of a second pilot training squadron. Under the program military training will be handled by the two pilot training squadrons.

Colonel Crowder and Col. James F. Mears, commander of the 3500th Pilot Training group, recently attended a conference of Flying Training Air Force officials at Bryan AFB, which has been experimenting with the new program the past six months. Maj. Gen. G. P. Disosway, FTAF commander, Maj. Gen. Fred Dean, deputy commander, and other FTAF officials attended. Decision to install the reorganization at all flying training bases was reached.

At present the student squadron supervises all tactical and military training, the 3501st Pilot Training squadron directs flying, and the academic section handles academic instruction. Academics would stay in its present status under the new program, while the two pilot training squadrons will give military training, have charge of barracks, and perform other supervision and training, as well as flying instruction.

The new program is intended to provide greater unity of command, to provide stricter supervision and to produce better graduates, as well as to improve ability of a majority of instructors, the colonel said.

Reese AFB Among The Leaders For ATC Ground Safety Award

Gaining slightly, Reese AFB maintained second place among the 43 Air Training Command bases in battling for the Commander's $25,000 ground safety award, Col. Murray W. Crowder Jr., base commander, said this week.

The colonel pointed out that latest figures on the contest for the best ground safety record in the fiscal year 1955, ending June 30, show Sampson AFB, N. Y., continuing to lead with an index of 1.952, while Reese holds second place with 2.355, just ahead of Ellington AFB, Houston, with 2.483. Figures are up to April 30.

Sampson AFB ground safety officials are quite concerned over an accident in which one airman was killed and six seriously injured. The accident happened June 8. They are uncertain as to the effect that it will have in their lead in ATC competition.

Standings show that Reese cut its index .213, thus gaining ground in the home stretch. However, Ellington moved from fourth to third place with an improvement of .235, cutting its separation from second-place Reese.

Colonel Crowder pointed out that Reese leads all 43 bases in the private vehicle accident rate with .028, while Craig AFB, Ala., in second place had .083. Reese was in second place in military accidents behind Lackland AFB.

The colonel said he was hopeful by the end of the month that Reese AFB could move into first place. The $25,000 prize to the winner will be used for recreational and morale-building purposes.

Outside Recognition Given Aid Society

Effectiveness of the Air Force Aid Society even is recognized outside the Air Force. On June 7 Secretary Talbot, as honorary president of the organization, accepted a check for $5,000 presented to the Society on behalf of His Highness the Emir Saud Bin Abdulah Bin Jalawi, Governor of the Saudi Arabian province of Al Hasa. The gift was His Highness' personal expression of appreciation for the medical therapy treatment accorded him recently by the 7100th Air Base Hospital at Wiesbaden, Germany. The sum will go into the fund which aids AF personnel and their dependents.

136 Participate In Summer Training

This Sunday, June 19, 136 Air Force ROTC Cadets who have just completed their junior year in college and 14 who have completed their senior year will report to Reese AFB for four weeks of training, a requirement that must be fulfilled before they can be eligible for a reserve commission.

These men have studied leadership and management, military aspects of World Political Geography and other allied military subjects at their respective schools as a part of their reserve officer training taught by qualified active duty officers. This three years of instruction has been at college campuses so they have had little or no opportunity to see the Air Force in action.

Receive Important Training

Upon reporting to the base they will receive a short but very important part of their training. The training here will give them the opportunity to observe and take part in the operation and function of an Air Force base, with each member of the base being an instructor to insure the success of the summer training.

So that each of us may meet this responsibility the following questions and answers are offered so a better understanding of the mission of the AFROTC summer encampment.

Q. What is the Air Force ROTC program?

A. The AFROTC is a training program conducted in certain colleges and universities throughout the U. S. in which young men are selected and trained to become Air Force Officers. AFROTC is primarily interested in training cadets who will enter pilot and

The Day Red Tanks Were Stoned

(Editorial)

June 17th is a date that may some day become as well-remembered by Americans for what happened in Germany as for what happened at Bunker Hill in 1775.

Two years ago today, on June 17, 1953, demonstrations by East Berlin workers against labor conditions in the Soviet zone turned into major anti-Communist riots. Some 20,000 to 50,000 workers turned out for an assault on government buildings. East German police resorted to gunfire and the Soviets moved an armored division into their section of Berlin to bring the outbreak under control.

One of recent history's most famous news photos came out of the riots—the young German hurling a stone at close range at a Soviet tank. It was symbolic of the difference in physical strength between the powerful dictatorship of the state and the unarmed people who suffer under it. But more than that, it was a symbol of the spirit of resistance and defiance that people historically have developed for the "all-powerful" state.

Riots in other cities in East Germany and in Czechoslovakia—and even at Vorkuta, the huge Soviet slave labor camp above the Arctic Circle—broke out that same summer.

The United Nations Report on Forced Labor, written by representatives from India, Norway and Peru, finds that the Soviet Union and its satellites use forced labor on a vast scale. Other evidence presented to the UN indicates that about 15 million persons constantly fill the Soviet labor camps.

Secretary of State Dulles has described the Soviet workers outside the labor camps as: "the most underpaid, overworked persons in any modern industrial state. They are the most managed, checked-on, spied-on, and unrepresented workers in the world today. There is no freedom of movement, for the Russian worker is not allowed to leave his job and shift to another job. He is bound to his job by his labor book. Except for the relative few who have class privileges, wages provide only a pitiful existence."

Official reports to the UN on forced labor in Red China show that the existence of many thousands of slave laborers is actually admitted by spokesmen of China's Communist regime. According to the official publication of the Chinese Communist Party, 83 per cent of the persons in confinement in that country of more than 600 million have been assigned to forced labor.

Experts do not know exactly how many millions of Chinese are today in Peiping's slave labor camps, or how many are serving at compulsory labor outside the camps. They do know that the number is large.

Whether circumstances will ever permit the enslaved people to free themselves from iron-clad Soviet and Chinese Communist control can only be guessed at. Meanwhile, life under the Communists is anything but agreeable for millions of slave laborers as well as millions of ordinary workers. This element of weakness in the Communist world is, in effect, an element of strength for the free world.

If the smoldering discontent of the slave workers ever flares up on a large scale, June 17, 1953, will be remembered as one of the first bright flickers of that flame.

You Have Time For An Education

You've got all the time in the world—24 hours a day! There isn't any more.

Not that you don't have plenty of demands on your time—most of us do! But if you can squeeze a little spare time out of your schedule, why not spend it in a way that will pay off like a Bananza? Invest your spare time in a correspondence course through the USAF Extension Course Institute. In this way you can continue your professional education and increase your chances of promotion and advancement by studying Air Force subjects at home.

You don't have to change your station, leave your job, or otherwise uproot your affairs. Just sign up for an ECI course and set aside some spare time to work on it.

Through ECI you can take courses that practically duplicate the Officer Candidate School, the Squadron Officer School, Command and Staff School and the Air War College. In addition, you can get an ECI technical course in many military fields.

Why not see your education officer at Building T-421 today about an ECI course? You couldn't invest your spare time in a better way.

Chaplain's Chat

By Chaplain (1st Lt.) Robert Quigg

Said Lacardacre: "If you would wish to know how the Almighty thinks of you, listen to the beating of your own heart and add to it infinity." There is a ugly twist in us all; and yet in spite of this the world has seen many fine examples of real God-like fathers. Humility, sincerity, and hard work can do much to compensate for our deficiencies. There is no greater opportunity or responsibility that can come to man than to properly show his child in a small way what the heavenly father can do with perfection—to give the child a glimpse into the mind of God.

BOND DRIVE—Maj. A. J. Primm, base project officer, points out that the sign at the main gate was a little behind the actual final standings in the base bond drive. The total came short of the goal, but bond allotments were increased 75 per cent from the start of the drive. (Photo by Wilhite, Base Photo Lab.)

Bond Allotments Are Increased 75 Percent At Reese Village

Final tabulations in the base Savings Bond Drive show that the base goal to increase allotments 100 per cent fell short of its mark but the number of bonds in effect were increased 75 per cent since the start of the drive, Maj. A. J. Prim, base project officer, announced recently.

A total of 337 bond allotments were sold during the drive. Hq. Sq. Maintenance and Supply who increased its allotments 170 per cent and now has 77 per cent of its personnel with allotments was the largest participating squadron.

Although the bond drive is over, it is never too late to purchase a bond allotment, Major Prim stated. Allotments may be made through the wing personnel section.

Toastmasters Meet

Operation of the dial telephone system began in Reese Village on June 15, R. E. Blatz, district manager for General Telephone Company, announced.

Under the system, calls to the base from the Village and vice versa are made by dialing 8, waiting for the dial tone, and then dialing the number. Since the phone system is a separate unit, all calls to Lubbock from Reese Village are considered long distance and are toll calls.

Directories were distributed in Reese Village and on base the latter part of the week.

Say The Children "Pops Is Tops"

The following article was disseminated this week by the associated press and shows that the adult world, and its inhabitants, is sometimes a baffling thing to small children.

MILWAUKEE, June 12—Children love their fathers. But you'd be amazed why. Here are some entries, with original spelling, in the Milwaukee Sentinel's annual "My Pop's Tops" contest which ends next Sunday.

"He lets me take acordine lessons. He lets me practice outside. When I practice outside he goes inside. He can tell better from a distance."

"He can fix the wachamachine. The dam thing is all the time bust."

"Every child should love their father because if it was not for their father where would they be? Nowhere, that's where you'd be. If it was not for fathers you wouldn't see hardly no children around Milwaukee."

"I know more about it than most kids when I say my pop is tops. Other kids have their first father but we're on our third one already."

"When my Pop was a little boy he used to go to the grocer store. A little girl there always gave him a big sour dill pickle which later turned out to be my mother."

Service Club To Hold Last Dance Of Summer

Tonight a June Moon Dance, the last dance for the summer, will be held at the Service Club, Miss Sue Phillips, club director, announced.

The dance will begin at 8:30 p.m. and feature Kay Carter and his orchestra. Dress will be a white shirt with tie or a dressy sport shirt, Miss Phillips added.

Clothing Prices Cut At Sales Store

For the fourth straight year Air Force Headquarters has ordered a cut in price of uniform clothing sold at base sales stores. The reduction in prices go into effect July 1.

The initial clothing allowance for airmen has been reduced to $193.90 from its present rate of $199.15.

Monthly maintenance allowances will remain unchanged at $4.20 paid from the 7th through the 36th month of service and $6 a month thereafter.

Some of the male clothing items reductions are the blue wool overcoat, $33 instead of $34; black service shoes, $5.15 instead of $6.20; raincoat, $10 instead of $11.20, and cotton khaki trousers, $3 instead of $3.30.

Officials pointed out that the reduced clothing prices mean airmen will be able to get more for their maintenance allowance in the way of replacement clothing.

Assistant Adjutant Returns To Farming

First Lieutenant Andrew L. Watt, who has been serving as assistant wing adjutant for the past year has terminated his active duty and will return to farming at his home in Leonard, North Dakota, July 1, Col. Murray W. Crowder, base commander announced recently.

Lieutenant Watt was assigned to the base, February 1954 as a student officer and upon his elimination, he became a permanent party officer. He served two years in the Air National Guard and received his commission as a second lieutenant July, 1953.

He is a graduate of Fargo High, Fargo, North Dakota, and graduated from North Dakota State college, in July 1953, obtaining a degree in animal husbandry.

Upon his release from service Lieutenant Watt will attend the fall quarter at North Dakota State and then return to farming.

Capt. John H. Lloyd, Hq. Sq. Sec. PTW, commander, will assume part time duties as assistant adjutant.

American citizens wherever you are."

Graduates and those awarded silver wings of the pilot were nine men who trained as student officers, 55 who were aviation cadets and were commissioned second lieutenants today, and four officers of friendly allied nations—three from Chile, one from Colombia. Five cadets—William F. Brennan, William E. Hale, Richard W. Krueger, Joseph C. McGuire, and Leroy J. Schekel—were named Distinguished Cadets on the basis of achievement in flying, military and academic training in pre-flight, primary, and basic pilot training.

2nd Lt. Walter W. Bednarsky and James D. McCracken were given awards as outstanding athletes, selected by members of the class. Bednarsky, Cleveland, O., high school graduate and 1954 engineering graduate of Ohio university, was a football, track, and wrestling letterman in college. McCracken, from Corvallis, Ore., played basketball at Oregon State college.

Survivors Benefits To Be Equalized In Recommendations Committee

Public hearings began this week on a survivor benefits bill, one of the legislative actions supported by Secretary Talbott to improve career service for the AF member and his family.

The bill was compiled by a special committee after months of study of proposals and recommendations.

Generally the new bill would put all military classes, Regulars, Reserves and National Guard, under the same legislation. This would provide equal benefits for the same grades and ranks.

At present many types of survivor benefits are payable under different conditions to varied classes of military personnel. For ex-

Special guests for the evening were Mrs. Richard Boulware, Mrs. W. O. Elliot, Mrs. W. W. Reed and Mrs. Frank Carnes. After the business meeting, members and guests were served refreshments.

Week end guests of Mrs. Frank Messerole were Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Kincaid of Albuquerque, New

Mrs. E. J. Bordelon and children are spending ten days with her parents in Ada, Oklahoma.

T/Sgt. and Mrs. L. G. Gregory are vacationing for two weeks in Kilgore, Texas.

Senate Passes Bill To Aid AF Families

On June 7 the U. S. Senate passed by a vote of 60 to 25 a national housing bill which includes a provision for 100,000 housing units for families of military personnel. The Air Force would obtain a yet to be determined number of these units if the bill is enacted.

The housing bill next goes to the House of Representatives.

The bill was introduced in the Senate on June 1, with the affirmative vote coming less than a week later.

This bill, and other actions which would provide more family housing for AF members, is being supported by Air Force officials.

ample, those presently entitled to Veterans Administration benefits are paid a flat sum no matter what grade or rank they hold. This sum is $70 monthly for a single widow during peacetime and $87.50 during wartime. The committee's proposal changes this to monthly payments equal to $100 plus 15 per cent of the member's basic pay, with no distinction between wartime and peacetime deaths.

Other recommendations in the bill:

Death Gratuity—Six months basic and special pays, with maximum $3,000 and minimum $800. Under present law the minimum for airmen in E-1 pay scale is around $400. The $800 is a marked increase for airmen in the lower grades.

Insurance—Present free insurance would be terminated in view of higher benefits provided under Veterans Administration compensation. AF members wouldn't lose any money; they simply would get their dollars in another form. Holders of NSLI and USGLI insurance policies under waiver of risk premium may reinstate within four months of effective date of the new act.

Present laws allow survivors of some Reserve members as much or more than the members earned while on active duty. By comparison some Regular AF and Air National Guard members' survivors are allowed less than a living allowance, as Secretary Talbott has pointed out in the past in asking that benefits be equalized.

Under the new plan all survivors are assured an adequate living allowance, based on the earnings of the deceased member while on active duty.

The Reese Softball team played two games this week at Holloman Air Force Base, New Mexico, with thirteen players on the traveling squad. The first game was played Tuesday, June 4th, and the second game, Wednesday night. No reports as to the outcome of these two games had arrived here Thursday morning.

The team is coached by T/Sgt. LeRoy Hanes and players are: Kenneth J. Wycoff, Joe Bauwens, Donald Cordrey, Melvin Jewell, Howard Reshe, Allen Wilkerson, Alfred McCoy, Wilmer Merritt, Robert C. Scire, Henry A. Forrester, Walter Leonard, Jack Spooner, Jack Garlington, Wilson Williams, and Donald Cowan.

A/1C Joseph Deady and A/3C Frederick J. Abington are now competing in the Air Force Wide track and field meet at Rome, New York. The past week the two were with the Southwest conference team in the Houston AAU.

Deady is the present record-holder in the 880-yard run and will be defending his title. Abington will be running the mile, in which he placed third in the SW conference meet at Waco, Texas.

Improvement In AF Food Service Sought In AMC Research Project

Hqs USAF is seeking methods to improve its food service program throughout the Air Force.

As a result of the desire of Secretary Talbott and other AF officials to give airmen the best food and finest service possible in AF dining halls, Air Material Command is making a study of methods being used by leading civilian food serving concerns.

AMC's research is being conducted by food technicians of its Services Division. They are studying preparation and serving methods used by leading restaurant and cafeteria chains, as well as a large vocational school training food program, and similar commercial establishments. They also are studying methods used by commercial firms to train their cooks and bakers.

Information obtained by AMC will be used by Hqs USAF so refinements can be made in AF dining hall service wherever possible to bring them up to the standards of leading restaurants.

Along with improving the quality of food and service, the Air Force also plans to make improvements in dining halls facilities.

Try-Outs For Base Golf Team To Be Held At Hillcrest Course

Attention all you golfers! Here's your chance to make your game pay off for you. A base golf team is being organized and those who are chosen to be on the team will represent Reese AFB at the South West Conference Golf Tournament which is being held at Barksdale AFB, Louisiana July 18-21.

If you are interested in qualifying for the team, be sure to contact WOJG Kenneth W. Wolgemuth, personnel services officer at Extension 612 before June 21. All those who enter their names will play a 36-hole qualifying tournament at the Hillcrest golf course in Lubbock. Six golfers will be chosen to make the trip to Louisiana as the base team.

If you shoot a decent game of golf, be sure to submit your name to Mr. Wolgemuth. The six low scores will go, and it promises to be a fine trip.

AF To Issue Top EM Certificate Of Rank

The Air Force top three graders soon will be issued certificates of appointment to their permanent rank, AF Hq. has disclosed.

The certificates, scheduled to be issued shortly after July 1, are part of the AF overall effort to increase the prestige of NCO's.

Non-coms will be the only AF personnel to be given such documents in recognition of their rank.

Certificates of commission for officers were abolished in 1952. There has been some talk of revising the practise for officers, but no action has been taken.

The regulations governing the issuance of certificates and documents are being published.

Credit Unions Provide More Democracy

The military needs its training grounds for soldiers; and even more, democracy needs training grounds for its citizens. The credit union is one such training place that the world needs today.

Credit unions provide for more democracy with their spirit of neighborliness by allowing a person in need to borrow from neighbors and friends. Its like borrowing within a family rather than borrowing from a total stranger. Red tape is cut out, prying questions into a personal problem becomes unnecessary because the minimum needed information is easily and willingly given by the applicants so the loan may be made.

Fair and equitable treatment is the rule and the practice since the whole purpose of the credit union is service, not profit. He who deals with a loan shark deals with a ruthless dictator who treats the borrower as a victim, but he who deals with the credit union deals with a system of organized kindness. This system is supported by a democratic legal structure which has developed over the years to afford additional protection for members.

S. J. Day, secretary and treasurer of the base credit union office, is in a good position to give sound advice on this subject and urged personnel to join their credit union now or on their next payday. Only five dollars is needed to become a stockholder in a nation-wide organization that promises a good return on your investment.

Warrant Officer Preston

 in Occupation Germany in 1948-52, coming to Reese AFB from the latter assignment. He was in eight campaigns during the war. Preston also won several decorations.

His service career has included attendance at 23 service schools and commissioned service as a first lieutenant from December, 1942, to February, 1947, as well as enlisted and warrant officer service. He became a warrant officer in April, 1952. He served seven and a half years with the Signal Corps of the Army, holding the rank of technical sergeant. He was graduated in 1942 from the engineer officer candidate school and was with the engineers and the air corps in dual duty as communications officer immediately following. He reverted to enlisted status early in 1947.

In high school he lettered in football and was a member of the track team. In service he was a boxer while in Hawaii, winning the light weight championship of the island.

His wife is the former Dorothy Mae Gilbert of Albany, N.Y. They have two children, Clinton, Jr., 8, and Peggy Sue, 5.

AFROTC Camp

observer training upon graduation from college.

Q. What does summer training consist of and how is it conducted?

A. Summer training is a program or period of instruction whereby the AFROTC cadet goes on Active duty at an Air Force base and is given an introduction to the AF by participating and observing the functions of an Air Force Base. Every phase of officer training is covered and the cadet is given an opportunity to occupy leadership positions in Group and Squadron situations. At Reese this year he will be given a cross-country flight in the B25 and a jet orientation ride in the T-33 at Webb AFB. The Cadet will report to the Instructor pilot with whom he is taking his flight in the morning and be briefed on all phases of flight planning and then conduct the flight.

KADET KORRAL

Squadron II Wins Honor Squadron

Last Friday afternoon when the squadron points were added up and compared, it was Squadron II who once again came out ahead. It would seem that Squadron I has some sort of jinx on it.

The Honor Squadron competition is one of the much looked forward to highlights in cadet life, especially to the winner and the extra privilege of a double overnight.

The much looked forward to day of graduation has been realized by Class 55-P. Graduation exercises were held Wednesday morning, June 15, at 9 p.m. as the cadets and student officers were graduated and now are rated pilots in the U. S. Air Force.
