

Three Slated For Overseas Shipment

Chief Nurse at the Reese AFB Hospital, Maj. T. Gates expects to leave early in the fall for a new assignment at the 6208 USAF Hospital at Clark AFB, Philippines.

Major Gates, assigned at Reese AFB since February, 1953, has been a service nurse since February, 1945. She has served in the Pacific area and Bermuda in the late years of World War II, and came here from assignment at Craig AFB, Ala.

The major attended Columbia University and worked as a nurse before coming into service. She became a regular major under a recent promotion.

The major will be accompanied by her husband, Capt. Albert Gates, who will be retired from service the last of this month.

To Okinawa

First Lieutenant James F. Wood, medical supply officer at the Reese AFB Hospital since December, 1954, will be leaving for overseas assignment at Naha Air Base, Okinawa, in September.

A Pharmacy graduate of the University of New Mexico, Lieutenant Wood was commissioned from ROTC training in 1953. He came to Reese AFB after completing medical administration course at Gunther AFB, Ala. The lieutenant worked as a pharmacist at Albuquerque, N. M., before entering service.

Korean Assignment

First Lieutenant Harry C. Armstrong, staff judge advocate at Reese Air Force Base, has received assignment to Korea, reporting in October.

Lieutenant Armstrong came to Reese AFB in October, 1955, being assigned to the base legal office.

A graduate of DeLavan, Illinois high school, Lieutenant Armstrong received his Law degree from the University of Illinois.

AF Dictionary

Distribution of the first official Air Force dictionary was made early this week. The 578-page book contains more than 16,500 listings of official and unofficial words and phrases related to USAF operations. The distribution was made to all groups and tenant organizations as well as wing staff sections. The book was prepared by the Air University, Maxwell AFB, Ala.

Communication Center Rated Tops By Network

Recognition of the Reese communications station, (RJWFLB) was noted in a pamphlet published by the major communications relay station RJWF for the area located at Carswell AFB.

The Reese station was cited as the "Most Outstanding Station" in the 47 relay station network, as it has shown "diligence and consistency in effectively applying good communication operation procedure."

Maintenance of the communications center during the first half of 1956 has excelled with the station logging 12 months without an equipment outage charged to the Air Force that exceeded the 15 minute minimum.

The publication also cited the operating, efficiency of the unit mentioning the two superior and one good ratings given the center for overall operation.

During the month of June, 3,818 messages, both incoming and outgoing, were handled by the base communication center.

Military Construction Bill Reconsidered

Approval of the military construction authorization legislation for fiscal 1957 has been delayed due to a veto of the original measure by President Eisenhower July 16 and return of the bill to Congress to consider the objections of the President. The objections pertain specifically to the authorization of the Department of Defense to proceed with land acquisition and construction for guided missile sites and military housing projects.

Included in the legislation was $4 million for Reese AFB.

The House of Representatives has passed a new bill which does not contain the features found objectionable by the President. Senate consideration of that bill is expected momentarily. The authorization is for construction totalling $2.1 billion, of which the AF portion amounts to approximately two-thirds.

New Operations - Training Officer Is Former College Boxing Champ

Former intercollegiate boxing champion and World War II bomber pilot, Lt. Col. Heston D. Daniel has arrived at Reese AFB for duties as Wing Operations and Training Officer.

The colonel, while attending Louisiana State University, won three letters in boxing. He was Southeastern Conference welterweight and junior middleweight champion for three years and fought in the National Inter-collegiate finals in 1938 and 1939. For his athletic abilities and student leadership, Colonel Daniel was placed in the LSU Hall of Fame.

Commissioned a second lieutenant in the infantry in 1940, Colonel Daniel went through flying training at Randolph and Kelly fields as a flying cadet, graduating in class 41-B.

As Commander of the 89th Bomb Squadron, he was shot down in a mission over Sardinia in 1943 and taken prisoner. He was liberated in 1945.

The colonel has had overseas assignments in England, Africa, the Central Pacific, and came to Reese from assignment at Pepperrell AFB, Newfoundland, serving in Plans and Programming at the Northeast Air Command Hq. He has served at Goodfellow AFB and Hq. FTAF and attended the Air Command Staff School at Maxwell AFB, Ala.

His awards and decorations include the Purple Heart with one cluster, Air Medal, Asiatic Pacific Ribbon, European Medal and World War II Victory Medal.

Colonel Daniel and his wife, Martha, are living with their son, Dennis, age 13, and daughter, Marcia, 7, at 110 Yount Drive, Reese Village.

Marine Sergeant Thanks Personnel For Assistance

Base personnel this week were given thanks by M/Sgt. B. E. Odekirk of the Marines for assistance to him following the recent tragedy in his family.

"To all of you, I wish to state that there just aren't words, or deeds left to express to you my thanks for all you have done for me and my children," Sergeant Odekirk wrote the NCO Mess board of governors. "It has been your kindness, your thoughtfulness, your generosity, and, yes, your prayers, that have sustained me throughout the ordeal."

"In 29 years of service with the Marine corps, and association with all branches of the services, both abroad and at home, I have never seen the equal of you people here at Reese Air Force Base, and that, I may add, includes your wives and families."

Handle With Care

Let's face it. Those poor ole "life-saving" parachutes are sure catching it rough these days. They are packed with extreme care, taken to the parachute pool for checkout and then BANG, they are treated like a sofa pillow.

Chutes are thrown on the ground, left out in the rain, thrown into the trunks of cars or left where grease or hydraulic fluid will seep into the pack and chute itself. Some have found they make a very comfortable cushion.

Parachutes are delicate things. Made of nylon, a parachute plays a very important mission wherever airplanes are flown. In fact, the chute is the final link between life and death in case of emergency. Roughing or letting water and grease in the chute will lower the efficiency of the chute. Inspections of the release pins are completed every ten days by the parachute pool and each and every time a chute is checked out the same inspection should be completed by the user. Many times this is not so.

Every time a parachute is turned in wet or soiled it must be washed and hung to dry for 48 hours. Then comes repacking and return to the parachute pool.

That is only a minor consequence of being careless with a parachute.

If the many careless acts with a parachute continue, some day a chute that has been abused will not open at the time it is most needed.

PARACHUTE INJUSTICE — The above pictures were posed to stress a point, but they are identical to the way some treat this delicate life-saving device. (Photos by Bernard)

Complete Support Urged In United Fund Drive

Contributions of $4,012.80 to the United Welfare fund were recorded Wednesday, but the total was considered much less than hoped for.

"Compared with last year, the amount of money given is about the same," Maj. Edward S. Ashley, campaign project officer, commented. "But it was hoped the money raised to aid welfare organizations would be so much more. Records show many, many persons at Reese AFB have not aided the drive. If everyone would join in, then our goal would be met."

M&S group units continued to lead in total contributions with $1,698.22 paid and an additional $2,379.49 pledged. The 3501st

Become Permanent Majors

Five Reese AFB majors were selected by USAF for promotion to permanent major. All are effective in calendar year 1957 except Maj. Mary T. Gates, Chief of nurses at Reese. Others are Elmer T. Edwards, Jr., Glenn H. Donaldson, Thomas P. Carroll and Tobias Schindler.

Periodic Maintenance squadron had contributed the most, $511.41.

Pilot Training group units contributed $1,072.35 and had an additional $392.01 pledged. Headquarters Squadron section of the group reported a total of $376.20 in unpaid pledges.

Headquarters Squadron section of the wing contributed $317.84 and had $544.39 additional pledged this week. Installations group contributed $191.71 and pledged $330 more. From the Hospital personnel came $137.55, with $403.91 more pledged.

Air Base group personnel contributed $594.63 and pledged $596.12 more.

Unpaid pledges for the base as a whole totaled $4,645.92.

Major Ashley pointed out that almost half the personnel of Reese had not contributed or pledged to the campaign. He expressed the hope that most of the unrecorded personnel would participate.

"The United Welfare Fund campaign is the only one held at Reese each year," he said. "This year the Air Force Aid Society financial campaign also is included. In the past we have done so well, and we will in this campaign. But time is slipping by and all personnel are asked to help. We are asking one day's pay from each individual on the base. If this amount was given, then we would be able to do so much more good for those in need."

The United Welfare fund has been set up to assist 14 organizations, most of them in Lubbock county. Contributions will be made to the March of Dimes, Community Chest, cancer, heart, and tuberculosis association, and other organizations. The contributions last year were larger than before. The current drive was planned to increase Reese AFB participation in each welfare activity.

Leadership "Secrets" For You

Most of us would like to be leaders in one field or another. Leaders have followers—people who respect them and seek their help and guidance.

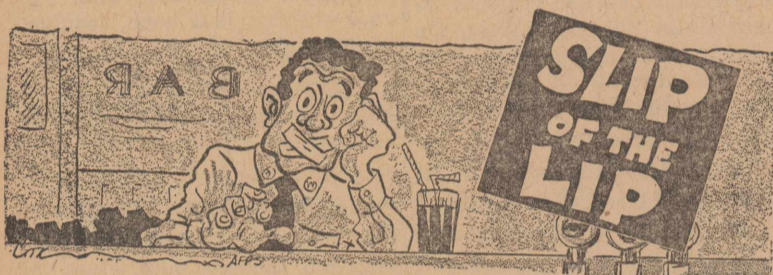

Leadership is a quality useful almost anywhere. It's "secrets" are good to know whether you're in charge of several people or a squadron or a larger unit.

Without leadership, no large-scale undertaking of men can be entirely successful. Without it, no team — even the smallest — can be fully effective.

Now you can get a book on leadership that is mostly cartoons, and can be read in a few minutes. It's titled: "Right Down The Line". Like winning friends and influencing people, being a good leader is easier said than done. But in "Right Down The Line" the how-to-do-it said easier than in most books on leadership. Key principles of leadership are illustrated by cartoons with Air Force settings. That the principles are sound is attested to by the Air Force leaders and major commands who have endorsed the book.

Published by Arrowhead Books, Inc., New York, this "U. S. Air Force edition" of "Right Down The Line" will be distributed to libraries throughout the Air Force in July and August. If you qualify, you can get a copy for your personal use at a discount by sending $1.90 to Air University Book Dept., Maxwell Air Force Base, Montgomery, Alabama.

To qualify as a purchaser you must state whether your duty status is active or reserve, and declare that the book is for your personal use in advancement of your military career. (All books carried by AU Book Department serve this purpose.) If you are not on active duty with the Armed Forces, or a member of a reserve component, see AFR 70-6 to learn whether you qualify.

Remember World War II? When you couldn't enter a bar or a restaurant without meeting head-on a sign that read, "A Slip of the Lip—Might Sink a Ship"?

Well, those signs, more or less, have gone the way of the one-horse shay. But, the need for security has not.

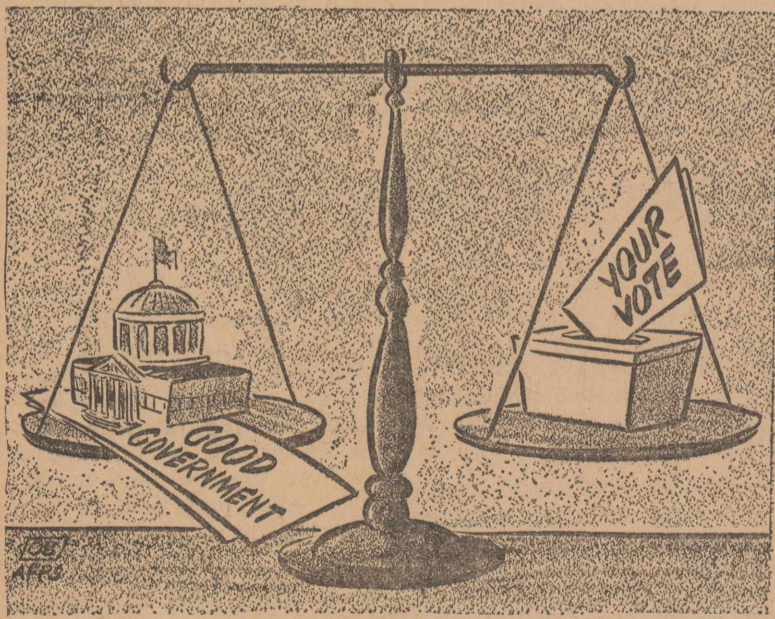

Security is a personal affair, as well as a collective operation. Each man, no matter what his job, must realize the need for continuing security consciousness—personally, professionally and socially.

Security consciousness means locking the safe at the end of the day. It means not confusing shop talk with small talk. It is not impressing someone with the importance of your job by detailing all the "hush hush" stuff you handle.

In this age of complex war machines, it is difficult to distinguish between classified items and those that are not. The best "rule of thumb" is to leave your job at the office.

Security consciousness must be with us always. There is no middle ground. We in the service either live with the responsibilities of our job uppermost in mind—all the time—or the nation which has charged us with our special trust will be short-changed.

AF Chaplain Marks Seven Years Of Religious And Personal Aid

Washington (AFPS) — The Air Force Chaplaincy has completed seven years of serving the Air Force under its Six-Point Program. The system, which was initiated by Chaplain (Maj. Gen.) Charles I. Carpenter, Chief of AF Chaplains, is now followed by nearly 1,200 chaplains serving Air Force personnel and their families throughout the world.

In order of priority, the program is as follows:

At The Base Library

By Mrs. Helen Fuller

CHARLIE WOULD HAVE LOVED THIS

by J. P. McEvoy
This story should be required reading in domestic circles. In this shrewd and amusing inquiry into the nature of husbands-versus-wives conflict, McEvoy manages to say just about everything there is to say on the subject. Nobody but the author could make such good sense such delightful reading.

Whether he is writing on the rewards of parenthood or illustrating how "many married couples have learned that a joke can be the shortest distance between two points of view", he always hits the bullseye.

You can't afford to miss this book.

A SAILOR'S LIFE

by Jan de Hartog
You will laugh until you are weak over pages of this book. On others you will be thrilled by the intensity of de Hartog's perception. Throughout, you will know the rare and marvelous delight of listening to someone talk with ease, enthusiasm and light-heartedness about a way of life that he knows and loves.

Bill Authorized 24,000 Reservists Regular Air Force Appointment

The Armed Forces Regular Officer Augmentation Act of 1956 is presently in the hands of the President. It was passed by the Senate on July 12 and the House of Representatives July 2.

A key piece of the President's 1956 military legislative program, the bill increases the Regular officer strength authorization for the Air Force from the current number of 27,500 to a total of 69,425.

The Air Force's initial goal is to increase its ratio of Regular officers to Reserve officers from the current 17 per cent to 36 per cent during the next two years. In doing so the AF may offer Regular commissions to about 24,000 active duty Reservists. Upon reaching this level of Regular officers the AF will gradually increase its Regular structure until a 40 per cent ratio is reached.

The AF also will be able to reduce its Regular officer "hump" by increasing the promotion list service of many Regular officers from one to two years, including some of those newly appointed.

The President and top officials of the Departments of Defense and Air Force have expressed their concern over the number of Reserve officers who leave active duty after acquiring skills that are in some instances irreplaceable. It is their feeling that the Augmentation Act would bring about a large number of applications for Regular commissions from Reserve officers now on active duty.

The report of the House of Representatives' Committee on Armed Services showed the approximate percentage of Regulars in the other services as: Navy, 45 per cent; Marine Corps, 50 per cent; and Army, 26 per cent.

Recent surveys indicate that 73 per cent of Reserve officers currently on active duty in the AF are interested in making a career in the Air Force.

The Augmentation Act would permit the AF to transfer officers from Reserve to Regular status in permanent grades from 2nd lieutenant through lieutenant colonel.

The commissioned grades in which persons may be appointed in the Regular AF based on service credited are as follows: second lieutenant for those with less than three years service; first lieutenant for at least three, but less than seven years service; captain for at least seven, but less than 14 years service; major for at least 14, but less than 21 years service, and lieutenant colonel for at least 21 years service.

The formula for making appointments in the Regular AF officer structure under the Augmentation Act is as follows:

The basic maximum age limit is 30 years. This limitation is increased by the period of active Federal commissioned service performed in the Armed Forces after the appointee's 21st birthday. No person may be appointed a Regular AF officer if he cannot complete a total of 20 years active commissioned service before his 55th birthday.

To determine grade, promotion list position, grade seniority in the Regular AF, eligibility for promotion and mandatory retirement, all active Federal commissioned service in the Armed Forces performed after an appointee's 21st birthday will be credited.

Appointees to the Regular AF as Veterinarians, Chaplains or Judges Advocate shall be credited with three additional years service under the Act's provisions.

Air Attaches' Wives Win Friends; Help Husbands' Success In Capitols

If there's one job in the Air Force where a good wife can contribute more to her husband's success than in any other, it's probably with an air attache's office in a foreign capital.

If she's discreet, a good mixer and cooperative, she can contribute much to the success of the Air Force mission. She also can help promote good will toward the United States.

By the same token, if she's tactless, too talkative, a constant complainer, inclined to drink or gossip too much, she can do serious harm to international relations and possibly wreck or retard her husband's career.

That's why men are assigned to air attache duty only after personnel people determine that their mates can be expected to help them succeed.

Main job of air attaches is to collect air information of interest to the United States. Airmen assigned to air attache offices normally do administrative work or serve as crew members on aircraft used for attache duty.

Wives of both officers and airmen have the job of establishing American-type homes in foreign countries where their husbands are assigned. The Air Force hopes they'll do much more.

The most successful wives dress simply and in good taste, are polite to everyone they meet, and take a sincere interest in the culture, customs and favorite activities of the host country concerned. It helps tremendously if they also learn the language.

Something they never do is complain about the country or the people, no matter how hard it is to get prompt service from the local coal dealer, or to train servants to clean house "according to American standards."

Wives of officers on air attache duty entertain several times a month. Not necessarily the kind of entertaining everyone does—mostly just to have a good time—but official parties and get-togethers.

Much of the work assigned to air attaches is accomplished through host country officials. Knowing these people intimately makes the job simpler.

This is where the wives come in. They help their husbands by hosting social gatherings where a majority of guests are host country representatives. They get plenty of advise and assistance in these matters, and as their skill increases they not only build goodwill for the United States, but also gain much in social poise and prestige.

While on the job they also enjoy traveling to new places, meeting new and interesting people and developing their own personalities. After their tours are up, they can go on to virtually any assignment with the self-confidence that comes from doing well a difficult and demanding, but very important job.

Survivor's Benefit Bill

Both houses of Congress passed the Military Survivor's Benefit bill on July 17 and sent it to the President. Major benefit to survivors of AF personnel is the increase of Veterans Administration death compensations. The bill increases the present $70 monthly peacetime payment to service widows to new sums on a sliding scale of $122 to $266, based on earnings of the man in military service. Also, service personnel will come under the Social Security system, paying for part of the credits, as civilians do.

Softball Team Has Two No-Hitters

Two no-hitters in two ball games. That's a pretty good record and is the record of the Reese softball team in their final games in the Lubbock Major City softball league.

Tuesday evening, Ray Whitley pitched a perfect no-hit, no-run game against Hemphill Wells. He faced only 15 batters and none reached first base, while the team was winning 11-0. Reese scored their 11 runs on 6 hits and played errorless ball, while Hemphill Wells was marked with 5 errors. Hamilton hit a triple and a single, pacing the hitting attack.

Wednesday night, Lefty Forrester pitched his no-hit game against Miller-Daniel, as the Rattlers won 4-1. The only run scored on an error. The Rattlers scored their 4 runs on 6 hits and were charged with 3 errors. Cordrey had a triple and Bowling had two singles to pace the batting.

As a result of the two wins, the Rattlers ended in a tie for fourth place in the League. The team has won the last 11 out of 14 games played.

The Rattlers will leave today to play a week-end double-header at Walker AFB, Roswell, N.M.

August 13-17, the Reese Team will play in the West District (Southwest Conference) softball tournament, being held this year at Clovis AFB. The winner and runner-up will play in the conference tournament.

The last week contest between the Hospital and 3502nd Maintenance Sq. really did turn out to be a hard fought battle. In fact, at the end of the contest most everyone, including us and even the scorekeepers had presumed that the 3502nd had won the game 4-3. However, this turned out to be a slip of the pencil. It was the Hospital squadron that won 4-3.

The first half of the intramural softball league was completed this week with Pilot Training Wing on top with an 8-2 record. The top four teams will play the top four in the second half of the season in a double elimination tournament for the base championship. 3501st Maintenance was second, AACs, third, and 3502nd Maintenance, fourth.

Other team standings were, Support, Hospital, and Flight Line Instructors, tied for fifth; Pilot Training group and Air Installations, tied for sixth and Hq., M&S, 05th Maintenance, and the Air Police, tied for seventh.

Points were given each team in tie softball league in the competition for the Commander's athletic trophy. Points were given on the following basis: 5 for entering a team, 3 for each win, and 1 for each loss, 8 for winning the league, 5 for second place, and 3 for third. For each forfeit, 3 points were subtracted from the team.

Second half of the intramural softball league is slated to start Tuesday with ten teams entered. Games will be held from Tuesday through Friday nights. On Monday nights the three little league teams will be playing on the field.

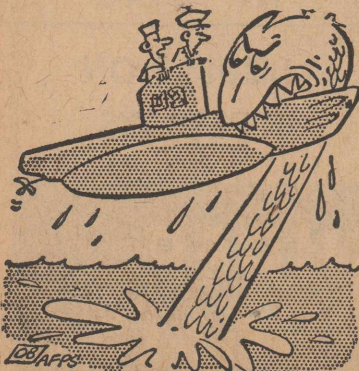

Regional Olympic boxing tryouts are being held at Lackland AFB, San Antonio, September 20-23. The Personnel Services Office, (Ext. 612) has all the information and entry blanks for interested persons.

Reese Personnel May Compete In Drag Races

Many Reese personnel are expected to witness the July 29 drag races at the new Teen-Age park, and some base airmen and officers may be entries, Joe Lopez, Reese representative on the park operation committee, said this week.

Lopez said several class of races will be run, including some for stock cars, hot rods, and modified stock cars. Races will be under rules of the National Hotrod association and any Reese driver desiring to race need only report to the starting pits with a qualified car to race. All cars must be safe. All will be inspected.

Money obtained through admissions will be used to develop the park, to build a micro-midget auto race strip, a soapbox derby area, and other features which are expected to appeal to the teen-ager, Lopez pointed out.

"Still think it's a hoax?"

Base Softball Team Takes 2 From Webb

The Reese Softball team made it four out of four by taking both games of a week-end series from Webb AFB. The first, 8-4, and the second, 14-4.

In the Saturday evening contest Reese scored 8 runs on 9 hits and was charged with one error. Wally Leonard hit a four baser and Ronald Larson had a perfect day at the plate with 3 hits in three times at bat. Whitley was the winning pitcher.

The second game turned out to be a slugfest for Reese with everyone hitting. The locals scored their 14 runs on 13 hits and had 2 errors. Webb had 4 runs on 5 hits and three bloop. Lefty Forrester was the winning pitcher, striking out eight batters.

Scoring by innings:

First Game:
 Webb AFB — 0 2 0 0 1 1 — 4
 Reese AFB — 2 0 1 0 1 4 x — 8

Second Game:
 Webb AFB — 1 0 0 0 1 2 — 4
 Reese AFB — 2 5 0 3 1 3 x — 14

Accident Roundup

Eleven first aid accidents, involving four civilians, two officers, and five airmen, were recorded on the base last week, Joe Lopez, ground safety inspector, said Thursday.

One civilian was bitten by a dog; another received a cut finger while installing an aircraft cowl; a third received a cut in the palm of his hand when a safety wire on a pulley broke; and the fourth civilian received a cut eye from a foreign object while installing equipment in the NCO open mess.

One officer cut his foot on a sharp object in a swimming pool and another sprained an ankle when he slipped on wet stairs.

One airman received abrasions of the fingers when a saw used in cutting pipe slipped; another airman received contusions of a hand when he entangled it in a volleyball net; a third airman cut his head while moving an aircraft inspection stand; another airman twisted his ankle moving another stand; and the fifth airman raised up under a B-25, cutting his head.

Approval Received For AF Magazine To Inform Airmen

Office of the Secretary of the Air Force in mid-July received approval from the Bureau of Budget to continue its plans for "The Airman", a monthly magazine to be published for all members of the Air Force.

The forthcoming magazine will provide its airmen readers up-to-date information on policies and programs affecting their well-being and AF careers. Its articles and illustrations will stress the Air Force mission, teamspirit, pride of service, service benefits, understanding of the American form of government and the communist threat.

"The Airman" will be edited by Maj. Harmon Harper, former editor of AAF Review. His most recent assignment was Associate Professor of Air Science and Tactics at Grove City College, Pa. The 52 page magazine will have a monthly printing of one copy for each 10 airmen, distributed in barracks, dayrooms, libraries, offices and shops at every AF installation in the Z.I. and overseas.

"The Airman" is a part of an overall Air Force Information Services program which also includes the monthly "Commander's Call" and Air Force News Service for base newspapers.

The new magazine, as a "tool of management", will enable the Air Force to speak with a consistent voice to all concerned about the role of air power in national defense, in addition to informing its airmen readers of AF actions and policies affecting them.

Personnel interested in a position on the staff of "The Airman" may send professional resumes or Civil Service Form 57s to: Internal Information Division, Office of Information Services, Office, Secretary of the Air Force, Washington 25, D. C.

To New York

S/Sgt. Richard A. Kozina of M&S headquarters will leave this weekend for a new assignment with an air division of SAC at Plattsburgh AFB, N.Y. He will take a month's delay enroute.

Twining Gives Report To Congress On Facts Of Russia's Air Force

Washington (AFPS) — General Nathan F. Twining, Air Force Chief of Staff, has told Congress the Russians have made "undeniable strides" in the field of air power but have not outdistanced the U.S. although they have "progressively narrowed" the technological lead held by this country.

This and other information on Soviet air power was given the Senate Armed Services committee by the four-star general following his recent eight-day visit to the Communist nation with six of his aides.

In a 31-page statement to the committee, Gen. Twining made the following observations on the Soviet air arm:

1—"On the basis of aircraft we saw or were told about, the Soviet air force is engaged in the development of a surprisingly wide variety of aircraft.

2—"It was the judgment of my group that the designed configuration of most of these aircraft reflected a high level of scientific and engineering talent. They were proof that Soviet designers are now pioneering on their own in the field of modern aircraft development.

3—"It was further our judgment on the basis of aircraft shown us, that despite undeniable strides made by Soviet designers, they have not outdistanced us. Nothing we saw could honestly be described as being superior to the best U.S. aircraft in comparable categories . . ."

General Twining pointed out his trip was too limited and controlled "to provide a basis for any substantial revisions of previous estimates of Russian air power."

He reflected, however, that his visit "had the positive effect of strengthening our previous judgment that the rate of progress and improvement in Soviet air weapons—backed by massive scientific industrial effort—is such as to give us cause for serious thought about the future."

Supply Paper Work To Be Standardized

Washington (AFPS) — The Defense Department, in a new move to simplify paper work in the Armed Forces will standardize forms used in military supply operations.

All requesting, shipping, billing and receiving of materiel will be done on a single series of forms after Dec. 31, 1956, the Defense Department said.

The consolidation, which follows the recent establishment of the single manager system for food, clothing and medical supplies, was ordered when it became apparent that the lack of common supply forms impeded the furnished of materiel by one service to another.

Existing stocks of forms will be used until exhausted.

The "uniform documentation program" will ease the task of civilian personnel, streamline supply operations and bring substantial savings by eliminating numerous forms used throughout the services, according to the DOD.

Mackay Trophy

The Mackay Trophy for 1955 has been awarded to Col. Horace A. Hanes, director of flight test and development at ARDC's Edwards AFB, Calif., Flight Test Center. Col. Hanes established a new world's record on August 20, 1955, flying an F-100C Super Sabre aircraft 822.135 mph. The Mackay Trophy will be presented to him at the Pentagon on August 15. The record-breaking flight also earned him the 1955 Thompson Trophy which was presented to him last September.

Seven ANG Pilots To Race Saturday For Hicks Trophy

Washington (AFPS) — The third annual Earl A. Ricks Memorial jet race will take place July 28 over a 1,900-mile course between San Francisco and New Orleans, the Air Force Assn. has announced.

Seven top Air National Guard pilots will compete in this year's classic, which will be restricted to F-86 Sabre jets to eliminate the complex handicap system used in previous competition.

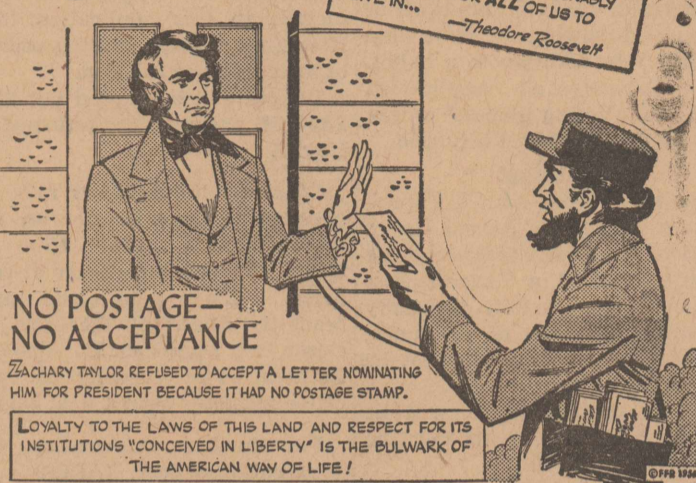

The cross-country jaunt will begin at Hamilton AFB, near San Francisco, and end at Moisant International Airport, New Orleans. The 1954 and 1955 events were run over a similar distance between Los Angeles and Detroit.
