Base Contribution To Chest Up Again

The largest contribution by Reese Air Force Base personnel to the Lubbock Community Chest was made late last week as Col. Dross Ellis, base commander, presented a check for $4,449.25 to Everett Fulgham, chest campaign chairman.

"This money from Reese personnel is most deeply appreciated," Fulgham told the colonel. "Our Community Chest goal this year is a little larger than last year. Base personnel have increased their contribution slightly. If all organizations do the same, our goal will be met."

The Reese AFB contribution came from funds collected in the annual United Welfare fund drive earlier in the year. A committee determines the amount for each organization. Last year the contribution was $4,482.87, a sum slightly smaller than the $4,549.24 for this year. A day's pay was asked of each military and civilian assigned to the base and distribution will be made after analysis of previous donations by base personnel to each welfare unit.

Colonel Ellis pointed out that virtually all money collected in the United Welfare Fund drive will go to Lubbock county welfare organizations.

"Reese AFB personnel are happy to assist these welfare units of our neighbors in Lubbock," the colonel said. "To me, it is just another example of the excellent manner in which our military establishment and the city of Lubbock and its citizens have been and are continuing to work together."

Fulgham pointed out that the Lubbock Community Chest campaign goal is about $1,100 larger this year than last and contributions need be only a little larger, as in the case of Reese AFB, for the goal to be met.

Maj. Edward S. Ashley was United Welfare Fund campaign chairman. Lt. Col. Charles E. Wilson is chairman of the base committee in charge of distribution of welfare funds.

Non-Duty Days

Three non-duty days are scheduled for the month of November. This Saturday will be a non-duty day with Veteran's Day November 12 to be observed as a holiday. Thanksgiving day will be November 22.

NCO Toastmasters Discussed; Meeting Set For Wednesday

An airmen's toastmasters club is in the planning stages with an organizational meeting to be held next Wednesday noon in the NCO Open Mess.

The club, which is to include the first three graders, is being headed by M/Sgt. Robert Hoover and M/Sgt. Richard Synan. Both are former members of toastmaster clubs, and Sergeant Hoover is a member of the Will Rogers toastmaster club of Lubbock.

The purposes of a toastmaster club is to aid its members to master the art of public speaking, teach members to appear effectively before any audience and train them for leadership and for chairmanship in meetings of all kinds.

The sergeants urged all NCO's interested in formation of the club to be present at the meeting Wednesday.

THE JESTERS will give instrumental variety to the "Tops in Blue" show when it appears next Friday evening at 6 p.m. in the Base theater. The trumpet duet, consisting of Jack Jensen and Milledge Blair, has appeared before audiences both in and out of service. Jensen will do trumpet impersonations of Harry James, Perez Parado and Clyde McCoy.

First Payments Made At Reese As Program Goes Into Use

Ten military personnel were recognized for suggesting improvements in base procedures. Three of them receive cash awards, the first military men to be so honored. Two officers were in the ten, the rest being enlisted men.

Maj. Peter L. Coffield, maintenance control officer, was given a letter of appreciation for his suggestion on replacement of hangar door rail filling. The improvement will not be made because of cost, but the letter was issued to commend interest in improving operations.

T/Sgt. Stephen S. Johnston, formerly of the Maintenance and Supply group, now overseas, was mailed a letter of commendation for his approved suggestion on jig prop rear cone reworking, estimated to save $176.40 in man-hours on the base annually.

S/Sgt. Raymond L. Midciff, 3502nd Flight Line Maintenance squadron, was awarded $10 in cash for his suggestion on easier methods of securing special tools on the flight line. An annual saving of $500 in manhours per year was estimated for the base.

Another approved suggestion came from T/Sgt. Albert N. Dale, also now overseas who was sent a letter of commendation for "Flushing Tank TB-25 Oil System". The suggestion was estimated to save $1,463.75 in manhours annually on the base.

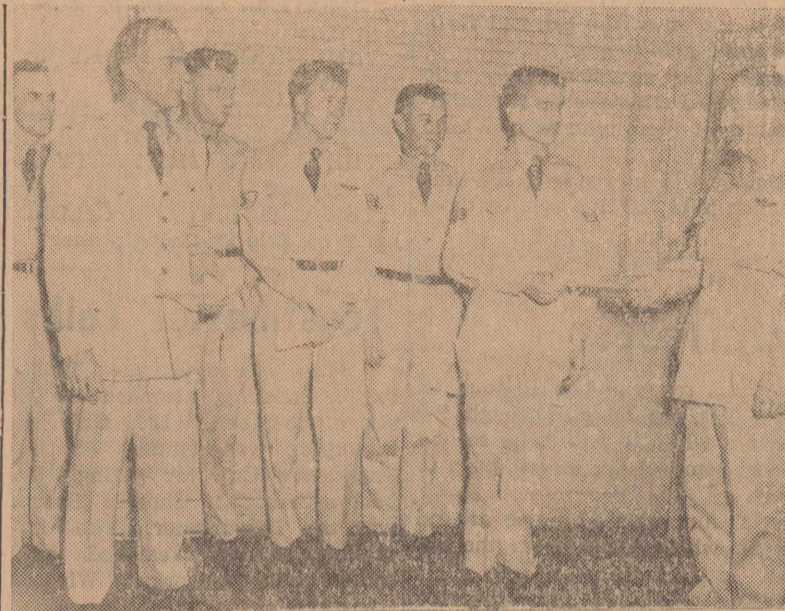

A/IC Melvin R. Watts, 3505th Field Maintenance squadron, received $10 and a letter of appreciation for his special tool for removing cylinder hold down studs. The suggestion was estimated to save $403.20 annually.

S/Sgt. Junior E. Newton, also of the 3505th, received a $5 award for his additional aid for installing cylinder hold down studs, an improved work method of intangible saving.

Letters of appreciation for interest in improvements, but for suggestions which failed to gain approval, went to T/Sgt. Gaylor W. Miller, 3502nd, for modification of the auxiliary power unit for B-25L type aircraft, a method which conflicted with current technical orders; S/Sgt. Carl H. Thigpen, 3501st Periodic Maintenance squadron, for modification of inboard wing flaps to facilitate repair, also in conflict with current technical orders; and S/Sgt. Frank Howorth, 3500th Installations squadron, change in communication system, a proposal which was credited with being worthy but not adoptable because of change in the transportation system.

First Lt. William J. Nassif, a base supply officer, was commended by letter for his proposal for teletype coding, an improved method which simplifies work and saves manhours.

Awards were presented by Col. James C. Watkins, commander of the M&S group, in behalf of Colonel Ellis.

IMPROVEMENT SUGGESTIONS — Eight military personnel of Reese Air Force Base and two former airmen assigned to the base, but now overseas, were honored for suggestions on improvement of procedures which would bring savings to the Air Force and Base. Here Col. James C. Watkins, extreme right, presents a certificate of merit to A/IC Melvin R. Watts for a proposal on a special tool. Watts also received $10, the first monetary award given military. Other suggesters honored were, left to right, S/Sgt. Carl H. Thigpen, 1st Lt. William J. Nassif, S/Sgt. Frank Howorth, S/Sgt. Junior E. Newton, and T/Sgt. Gaylor E. Miller. Not in the picture are Maj. Peter L. Coffield, T/Sgt. Stephen S. Johnson, S/Sgt. Raymond L. Midciff, and T/Sgt. Albert N. Dale, all of whom were commended. (Photo by Roca)

Greater Highway Caution Stressed As Accidents Increase Over Area

A rash of accidents brought considerable worry to ground safety officials this week as they considered three bad accidents on highways between the base and Lubbock, the death of an airman near El Paso, injury to an officer involved in a Lubbock automobile crash, and 13 first aid cases on the base.

"Safety officers all over the South Plains have been urging special caution because highways have on them right now drivers from below the border who are not familiar with Texas laws," Joe Lopez, ground safety inspector, said. "Yet, during the past three weeks three accidents involving cotton trucks have occurred between Reese and town.

"Personnel on the base cannot be too careful how they drive while those cotton trucks move on and across our roads. There is a particular dangerous area in and near Carlisle where trucks are moving in and out of the gin, many of the vehicles without lights on trailers and a shortage of proper reflectors. Luckily, Reese drivers have not been involved in accidents on the way to Lubbock. But the cotton trucks and trailers will be around for several weeks and we must be careful."

Lopez pointed out that an airman was killed last week on his way to El Paso when his car collided with another and turned over several times. He also cited a Sunday accident in which a Reese officer - driver collided with an automobile in Lubbock and was hurt. The El Paso death was marked up as a $31,500 cost against the base, as well as a lost worker.

The 13 aid cases cost $91 and eight airman, four civilians, and an officer.

The officer was playing with his baby at home when the child stuck a finger in the officer's eye and cut it.

One airman received a cut head when he struck a wheel well drive on a B-25; another cut his hand buffing metal; and a third sprained an ankle playing basketball. Another airman cut his hand working on his private vehicle in the automotive hobby shop; another burned himself steaming chairs in the mess hall; and a

France Drafts Airman, But He Probably Won't Go

Roger Delobel this week received orders to report for induction into the French army. But he doesn't think he will report, for he is an airman third class in the United States Air Force, stationed at Reese Air Force Base.

The notice came from the French consul at San Francisco. It said report as soon as possible. Airman Delobel, assigned to distribution in the wing adjutant's office at Reese AFB, thinks "as soon as possible" might be a long time off. He's enlisted for four years. Then, anyhow, he thinks the French government may not have much jurisdiction.

The airman came to the United States four years ago under an immigration visa. He's made application for citizenship in the United States. He thinks, thus, he is free to continue living and serving the United States. He's going to try to find legal authority to back him up.

At any rate, Airman Delobel thinks he is pledged to serve out his term with the United States Air Force; by the end of his service he will have become a citizen of the United States; and then, he thinks, he most certainly won't be subject to French Army service.

He plans to write the consul a nice letter explaining his views.

Tackling your service assignment has a lot in common with tackling a football dummy. Doing the job right can give you a lot of satisfaction, and prepare you for bigger things in the future. Goofing off seems easy at the time, but it doesn't pay.

You can run up to the stuffed bag ferociously, making a great display of eagerness—then glance off it with a minimum of effort. In the same way, you can run through the daily routine of a job, filling the requirements only in a sketchy manner.

A good coach knows the men who strain to the utmost on every play, building themselves up mentally and physically. These are the men who form the backbone of his club, the ones who can call forth that vital "something extra" when the going gets rough.

Officers rate their men the same way. They appreciate those who make a special effort to attain excellence when others settle for ordinary performance. They know that habits of thoroughness and hard work can't be learned in a day.

The man who takes every job seriously will be ready if the time comes again when the Armed Forces must hold the line against those who would destroy America. (AFPS)

What Is Courtesy?

Sure you know what courtesy is? You say you had it pounded into you when you came into service. Yes, we all go through the amenities of military courtesy, for after a while it gets to be second nature with us. We have found, at least some of us, that it pays to observe the military rituals of courtesy.

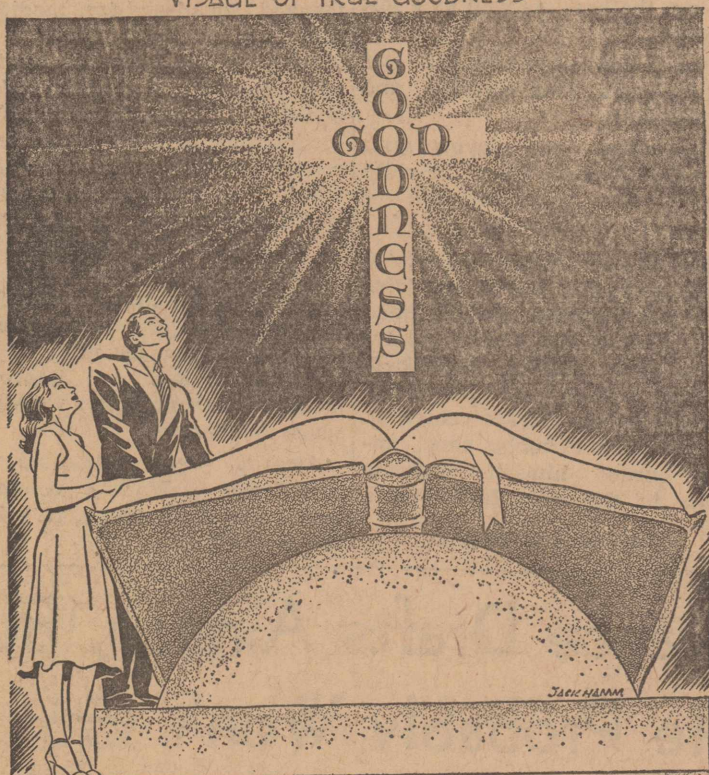

How do you measure up at a social function? At home around your family? On the golf course or anywhere away from the demands of duty?

First, let us define courtesy with this axiom . . . it is the only thing in this world that does not cost you one cent, yet the returns are a thousand-fold. Courtesy as defined in the dictionary: politeness combined with kindness; inherent considerateness. Simply stated, courtesy is merely being polite. Certainly we are polite, but are we able to have this politeness not as a veneer or cloth that can be placed or turned on or off at our own pleasure, but as something that is a part of us as much as our own skin. Going back to the dictionary definition: inherent considerateness. If you were fortunate in having consideration for the other fellow pounded into you as a child growing up then you know what is meant by inherent considerateness.

Performing courtesies or just being polite from day to day with our families, with the ones we work with and the people we come in contact with throughout the day requires practice. An elaborate show of courtesy merely indicates a real lack of manners also usually shows an inferior person who wishes to merely be a part of society's rules and conventions.

Courtesy doesn't mean to just hold the door open for some aged person, but holds true in our conduct, our speech, our work, our true inner feelings.

VISAGE OF TRUE GOODNESS

THERE BE MANY THAT SAY, WHO WILL SHOW US ANY GOOD? LORD, LIFT THOU UP THE LIGHT OF THY COUNTENANCE UPON US. — PSALM 4:6

Sergeant Hicks Selected Month's Honorary Jaycee

M/Sgt. William E. Hicks, chief clerk of the military personnel division at Reese Air Force Base, was honored as Honorary Jaycee of the Month at the regular weekly meeting of the Lubbock Jaycees Monday in the Caprock hotel. He was presented by Maj. Richard W. Davis, military personnel officer of the base.

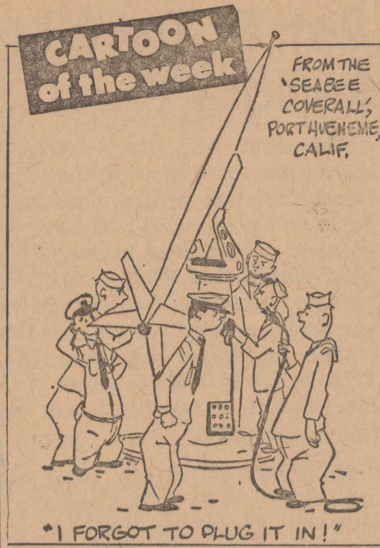

Selection of the Honorary Jaycee is based on several factors, including civic performance. Sergeant Hicks was chosen for job knowledge and performance, contribution to the Reese Elementary School Parent-Teachers Association, contribution to the Reese chapel as a Sunday School teacher, aid to the base NCO club as a director, and active membership in Masonic order.

Sergeant Hicks came to Reese AFB from three years duty in England. He has been in the personnel section as supervisor. He has been in service since 1940 and holds several decorations, including the Medal for Humane Action. The sergeant is a graduate of Mt. Pleasant High school and is a resident of San Angelo. His wife is the former Emily Ruth Dougherty of San Angelo. They have a daughter and son.

TV Series To Show Many Advancements In Air Progress

A new series of TV shows depicting the role of the Air Force in the development of "Air Power" from the Kitty Hawk to today's supersonic planes will begin Sunday, November 11.

The commercially sponsored program will have its premier with a special one hour show starting at 5:00 p.m. over most CBS Stations.

A total of twenty - six shows are programed for successive Sundays. All but the first will be half hour programs commencing at 5:30 p.m., over Station KDUB-TV.

The program will feature documentary films on the early days of flight, the German Luftwaffe, Pearl Harbor, The Battle of Britain, the Ploesti Raid, and a host of other historical events.

The program, sponsored by the Prudential Insurance Co., of America, is designed to acquaint the public with the importance, progress and capabilities of Air Power.

OJT Course In Progress For Base Supervisors

Greater emphasis on on-the-job training is expected to follow the former TechTAF OJT administrator-supervisor course in progress on the base, M/Sgt. Dewitt Simmons, OJT monitor, said this week.

R. H. Petty, OJT training officer at Sheppard AFB, is conducting the school, attended by 24 students and concluding November 9. Students represent all groups and squadrons on the base. They will supervise OJT in the units.

Sergeant Simmons said that present and future policies are being given in the school and the new policies will be put into use as quickly as possible. Morning and afternoon classes are being held.

Thanksgiving Theme Carried Out At Officers Wives Luncheon

By Audrey Hall

Cornucopias filled with fruit centered the dining tables for the November luncheon Thursday afternoon in the Officers Open Mess. Carrying out the Thanksgiving theme were a church with Pilgrims placed in the display window and a turkey mounted on the wall of the bandstand. Senior hostess for the luncheon was Mrs. Stanley Byrk. Assisting her as junior hostesses were Mmes David H. Schaub, Vincent Savukinas, James D. Boyle, John D. Shirack and Theodore Beck. The traditional menu of turkey with all the trimmings was served.

The Newcomers Coffee was held Tuesday morning in the Phantasy Room of the Officers Open Mess. Hostesses for the affair were Mmes. John G. Conklin, Amos O. Fox and Michael McGee. New student officers wives, permanent party personnel, council members and committee chairmen were invited. The table was laid with a black cloth, over which an orange cloth with Hallowe'en designs was placed. Black spiders, white flowers and white candles completed the decorations. The centerpiece was won by Mrs. Wade F. Johnson. Pouring at the silver service were Mmes. Peter Coffield, Foley Collins, William Reynolds, and W. J. McDaniel.

It has been announced that tea day, featuring your "Home State" will take place on November 16th instead of November 15th, as previously stated.

Assisting the senior hostess, Mrs. Amos O. Fox, at the November 8th bridge and canasta will be Mmes. Stanley Bartelt, Edgar Guy, Howard Cole, William Ritchie and Richard Coffland. A 200-point bonus will be given to those who arrive by 1:30.

A dessert bridge and canasta party complimenting Mrs. Howard Eveland was given this afternoon in the Phantasy Room by Mmes. Ross D. White and Harry C. Fisher.

Mrs. Charles Norby entertained Wednesday morning with a "Come as you are now" Halloween coffee.

Lt. and Mrs. Richard Schimberg spent the past weekend in Carlsbad, New Mexico.

Officers and wives of Flight 10 hosted a farewell cocktail party in the Phantasy Room of the Open Mess Friday evening in honor of Lt. and Mrs. Milton Farley, who are returning to civilian life.

Fifteen guests attended a farewell coffee for Mrs. Milton Farley given Thursday morning by Mmes. Stanley Bartelt and James L. Wadley in Mrs. Bartelt's home.

Mrs. Robert C. Huber introduced her sister-in-law, Mrs. Dee Hallock at a tea last Friday afternoon in her home. Approximately 20 guests attended.

Mrs. Rex G. Aten is visiting Capt. and Mrs. Guy A. Belzons, Jr.

Col. and Mrs. Raymond Lawn entertained General Clyde Brothers with a small uncheon on Tuesday, October 30, in their home.

Lt. and Mrs. L. R. Chur recently returned from a 3-week vacation spent in Palm Springs, California, where they visited Mrs. Chur's parents.

Capt. and Mrs. Charles Mayer are spending two weeks with their parents and relatives in Malwaukee and Mayville, Wis.

Diet To Top All Reducing Plans

The Blitz diet, the Rockefeller diet, your own special diet! At Reese for many weeks, diets have come and gone, with success or no success. There have been so little good results that THE ROUNDUP became worried. Our special agents have been working on the matter and have come up with THE ROUNDUP diet. Here it is, for what it is worth. Read and follow carefully.

MONDAY — Brunch, weak tea, one buillion cube in 1/2 glass diluted water; dinner, one pigeon thigh, 3 ounces of prune juice (gargle only).

TUESDAY — Breakfast, half minced sausage skin; lunch, one doughnut hole, without sugar; dinner, 1 glass diluted water.

WEDNESDAY — Breakfast, scraped crumbs from burnt toast; lunch, 1/2 dozen poppy seeds; dinner, bee's knees and mosquito knuckles in vinegar.

THURSDAY — Breakfast, shredded eggshell skin; lunch, 2 ounces boiled watermelon, sugar removed; dinner, three eyes from an Irish potato.

FRIDAY — Breakfast, one cornflake; lunch, two lobster antenna; dinner, one guppy fin.

SATURDAY — Breakfast, one pickled hummingbird tongue; lunch, JUST REST; dinner, salad of tossed paprika and one clover leaf.

SUNDAY — Breakfast, four chopped banana seeds; lunch, broiled butterfly liver; dinner, aroma of empty custard pie plate.

That is the diet for now. Good luck. THE ROUNDUP medical staff risks its reputation in stating that anyone following this diet rigidly WILL REDUCE.

Like To Have $1000 For Christmas?

Just qualify for a "Short Discharge" under the provisions of AFR-39-14, meet the following qualifications and cash in the neighborhood of $1,000 will be yours for Christmas if you take a short discharge and reenlist for six years:

1. Be an A/1C or S/Sgt. on your first enlistment.
2. Have completed at least half of your en-

- listment.
3. Be eligible for mustering out pay.
4. Be qualified to reenlist.

In addition to the above, many prior servicemen who have completed half of their enlistment may take a short discharge and qualify for a large sum of cash.

For all the details and exact amount you will receive, contact the base reenlistment office, Ext. 202, located in Bldg. T-11.

October 29 Big Day

October 29 turned out to be a big day for A/1C and Mrs. Smiley Smith of Hq. Maintenance and Supply group. Early that morning, 12:33 a.m., Airman Smith became the father of a baby girl and later in the day he signed papers for his first reenlistment in the Air Force for six years.

Cub Scouts To Meet

The Reese AFB Cub Scout pack will have its first meeting of the year in the Reese Elementary School cafeteria at 7 p.m., November 8. Awards earned last spring will be given out and new adult leaders will be introduced.

Travel Regulation Changes Storage Rulings

New changes in the Joint Travel Regulations liberalizing their household goods storage provisions will go into effect December 1.

Personnel in the AF and other uniformed services will be entitled to free government temporary storage of household goods for 90 days or less without the former restriction requiring the pre-existence of a situation beyond the individual's control.

This temporary storage, made in conjunction with shipment of household goods, can be authorized at the place of origin, in transit or at the destination.

Further, if the serviceman is unable to accept the stored household goods after the 90 day period because of conditions beyond his control, a transportation officer can authorize 90 more days of government paid storage.

Storage without shipment may be authorized in cases of modification or cancellation of orders. Further storage can also be authorized when the individual receives further PCS orders upon assignment to a new duty station and has not had time to re-establish a residence before moving again.

Free government storage of household goods also may be provided service personnel making a permanent change of station with a temporary duty period en route.

The JTR changes also provide for cumulative storage entitlements. This permits a serviceman whose entitlement to temporary or nontemporary storage under one situation has expired to obtain storage entitlement under another situation.

The changes in the storage provisions of the JTR emphasize the responsibility and authority of the transportation officer. He has the authority to approve or disapprove applications for storage; decide on location of storage points; and interpret regulations and assist service personnel with their storage problems.

Most of the Football statisticians threw up a no comment attitude over the outcome of the past week's defeats. The Notre Dame and Michigan State rooters, in particular, just shrugged their shoulders and walked away mumbling something about, wait until next year. Our experts, Lord Helpus and Count MeOut were no exception. Both took an unexpected leave of absence and claimed they may return after everything cools off. Seems they were sure that a 4 out of 10 record wasn't so hot in anyone's books.

Some of the fans, including yours truly, were very pleased with the outcome of the Minnesota-Michigan game. Although the smell of the Rose Bowl has reached every Minnesota fan, the Gophers still have to cope with Iowa, Michigan State and Wisconsin, which could be disastrous.

This week the big Oklahoma Sooner, who is a question as to its strength against a really "tough" team, led everyone's poll as the top team in the nation and humiliated Michigan State, dropped to fourth. However, this week we feel that Michigan will do a little scoring and defeat Iowa, Minnesota will beat Pittsburgh and Clemson will win their contest with Virginia Tech, in games among the top 20 in the nation.

Basketball and boxing enthusiasts were busy warming up for the forthcoming season competition, with the basketballers to have their first start against Goodfellow AFB in the base gym, November 16 and 17. The cagers have been practicing each evening from 7:15 to 8:30. 2nd Lt. Max Hooper, Rattler player-coach, urges all interested to attend the practice sessions.

Boxers, being coached by A/2C Pat Crow, of the Air Police, are looking forward to the Cotton Belt Boxing tournament in Lubbock December 6, 7 and 8. A large number have turned out for the daily workout sessions and it is indicated that some are making a very impressive showing.

21 Air Force Athletes Will Compete At Melbourne In '56 Olympic Games

Twenty one young Air Force athletes will temporarily set aside their AF blues in favor of official American Olympic Team sports clothing when they journey to Melbourne, Australia, in November to compete in the 1956 Olympic Games.

The 21 Air Force athletes were selected as members of the American Olympic Team following competition in a series of pre-Olympic eliminations and trials. They will be competing in the Melbourne games as members of ten squads. The Track and Field squad will have seven AF members and the Basketball squad will have five AF members.

The Olympic Games will be held from November 22 through December 8.

AF athletes selected for American Olympic squads are:

Basketball — 2nd Lt. Richard J. Boushka, forward, of ARDC's Kirtland AFB, New Mexico; 1st Lt. William B. Evans, guard, of ATC's Ellington AFB, Texas; 2nd Lt. Gilbert Ford, forward, of AMC's Tinker AFB, Oklahoma; 2nd Lt. Robert E. Jeangerard, forward, also of Ellington AFB, and 2nd Lt. Ronald P. Tomsic, guard, of ADC's Truax Field, Wisconsin.

Canoeing — 2nd Lt. William H. Schuette of HEDCOM's Bolling AFB, Washington, D.C.

Cycling — 1st Lt. Joseph H. Becker of ATC's James Connally AFB, Texas.

Fencing — 2nd Lt. Richard W. Pew of CONAC's Mitchel AFB, New York.

Gymnastics — 2nd Lt. Karl K. Schwenzfeier of AMC's Olmsted AFB, Pennsylvania.

Rowing — 2nd Lt. Peter W. Sparhawk of Mitchel AFB, New York.

Soccer — 1st Lt. Ronald T. Coder of SAC's Hunter AFB, Georgia, and 2nd Lt. Richard R. Packer of Bolling AFB, Washington, D.C.

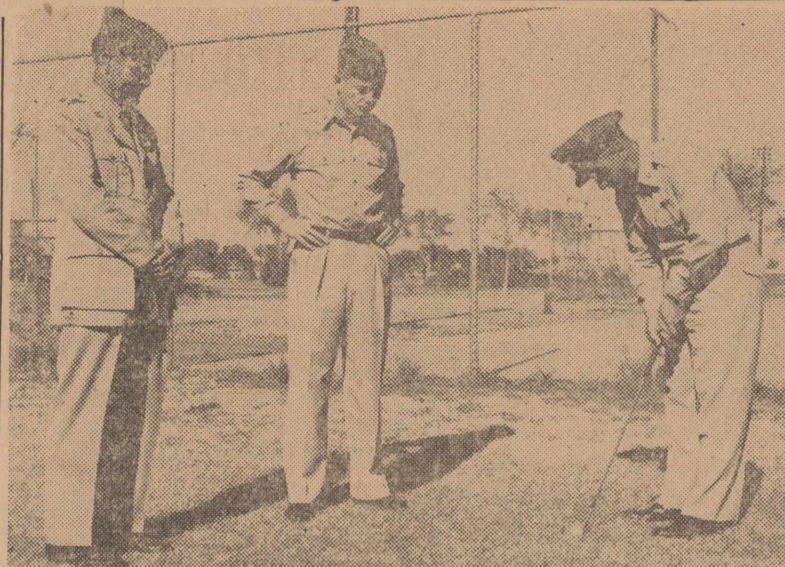

Swimming — 2nd Lt. Yoshi Oyakawa, backstroke specialist of SAC's Lockbourne AFB, Ohio.

Wrestling — 1st Lt. Jay T. Evans, 147 lb. class Greco-Roman style, of ATC's Harlingen AFB, Texas.

Track and Field — 2nd Lt. William S. Dellinger, 5,000 meter run, of ADC's Portland International Airport, Oregon; 1st Lt. Walter Thane Baker, 100 and 200 meter dashes, of Lockbourne AFB; 2nd Lt. Desmond D. Koch, discus throw, CONAC's Long Beach Muni Airport, California; 2nd Lt. James G. Lea, Jr., 400 meter dash, of ARDC's Edwards AFB California; 1st Lt. W. Parry O'Brien, shot put, of SAC's Travis AFB, California; 2nd Lt. Lonnie V. Spurrier, 800 meter run, of ADC's Hamilton AFB, California, and Capt. Adolph Weinacker 50 kilometer walk, of ADC's Willow Run AF Station, Michigan.

Maj. Roy P. Johnson, AF assistant chief of sports, will serve as assistant manager of the American Olympic basketball team, and Col. Taylor Drysdale, of Hq ARDC, will serve as assistant manager of the swimming and diving team.

Hospital Ahead In Football Scramble

Another full week of play is left in the intramural football league before a double elimination tournament to determine the base champs.

So far the top four teams in the league are Hospital with a 5-0 record; 3502nd Maintenance squadron, 5-1; Pilot Training Wing, 5-2; and Support squadron and the Air Police tied in fourth place with a 3-2 record.

A little moisture cancelled some of the week's contests and some of the teams failed to show up for the Monday night contests.

Tuesday Pilot Training Wing stopped the Support squadron threat 22-6 and Hospital squadron remained in their winning ways by taking Hq. M&S 16-0.

The league schedule calls for the final game to be played Wednesday but make-up games will be played for the remainder of the week.

Motivation Team Visits Bartow

A Reese motivation team paid a visit to Bartow Air Base early this week, its work being closely observed by a Vance AFB team which is entering an active motivation program immediately.

Permanent party officers on the Reese team were 1st Lts. James M. Zerker and Eldon Golden, instructor pilots, and 2nd Lts. Donald E. Alexander and Glenn B. Ashworth, student officers. Ashworth is a graduate of the Bartow AB primary pilot training.

Purpose of the visit was to motivate students toward the multi-engine pilot training program. The B-25 flown to Bartow was on display on the flight line, while "bull sessions" were held with students of the primary school and formal discussion of Reese training was held in the base theater.

The Reese team was watched closely by the Vance team. Vance has conducted few motivation visits to primary bases, but has been directed to increase its activity. The visitations, it was said, will follow the Reese plan closely.

Service Club Starts New Program; Building Completely Renovated

A Newly renovated Service club and a revamped program of varied activities has gone into use at Reese, with indications that the airmen and their families will make expanded use of the club, Sue Phillips, director, announced this week.

"We've painted the interior, re-finished the floors, and cleaned the drapes," Miss Phillips said.

The Service club, it was pointed out, "is to assist in sustaining and improving morale and increasing the efficiency of airmen by providing, during off-duty hours, a friendly, homelike atmosphere and wholesome social and recreational activities for him and his dependents on a regular, effective schedule."

Miss Phillips said that the new program was intended to be flexible enough to meet needs at all times and maximum service would be sought through alertness in buying supplies and equipment, and in economies which would make funds go as far as possible. She said that the club was located in the center of the base, making it adaptable for varied uses and facilities are available for individual services. CNWF funds support the club, with monthly approval of requests.

"The scope of a Service Club program must be broad and flexible if it is to make its maximum contribution to the overall morale building program of the Air Force," Miss Phillips commented. It is now a well recognized fact that the way an airman and his dependents spend his off-duty time has a direct bearing on his attitude toward the service and, more important, on his efficiency on the job. Carefully conducted studies show that a well planned and well balanced recreation program, one that appeals equally to the interests and likes of all airmen and his dependents, is invaluable in developing 'esprit de corps' and the high morale so necessary to the accomplishment of the mission of the Air Force.

"Activities cannot be set down in any program with finality and adhered to as law. A set of rigid activity program followed day by day in the club will lead only to boredom.

The basic essentials of a good program are: variety, continuity, originality, long range planning, and master program schedule."
