The Commander Says:

I wish to take this opportunity to pledge the support of the Reese family to the cause of the American Red Cross. Mem-bership in the Red Cross is tangible evidence of your desire to help other people when they are not able to help themselves

Disaster could strike any of us and we could call on the Red Cross for help. Any of us may need blood transfusions and we could call on the Red Cross for help. These are but two of the many humanitarian services the Red Cross supports.

During this Red Cross drive for financial help, let us help ourselves and our fellowmen by helping the Red Cross as much as we are able.

Of the officers, six are college graduates, four are former college men who did not graduate, and one is a high school graduate without further formal education. The cadets include two college graduates, eleven other former college men, and two high school graduates.

Members of the class completed primary pilot training in Air Force civilian contract schools.

Warning Given

Suggestion to parents that plastic bags be eliminated from the child's toys was given this week by Air Training Command headquarters.

"There are increased reports of infants having suffocated while playing with thin plastic bags, such as those used by dry cleaners to protect clothing," a letter stated. "Apparently the material becomes electrostatically charged and literally covers the face of a youngster through electrical special services at 10 a.m. and attraction. Parents should use extreme caution against permitting infants to play with this thin plastic material." will sing at the sunrise service.

Retainability criteria for PCS movement of Airman personnel has undergone considerable change.

Basically the change requires any airman, regardless of discharge date, who is selected for reassignment to extend his enlistment or reenlist to insure retainability of as least 12 months upon reporting to a new duty station.

USAF has spelled out the policy concerning those personnel who do not desire to extend or reenlist. In each instance, the individual concerned will be asked to sign a statement indicating that he does not intend to re-enlist.

This statement places the airman in an ineligible status for SEE AIRMAN Page 5

Visits Cut

Curtailment of visits to the Air Force academy from May 4 to June 7 has been requested by academy officials. Graduation of the first class is scheduled for June 3 and the staff will handle a heavy workload during the period it was said.

Fifty dollars in prizes will be | offered at base, ATC, and USAF levels.

By Credit Union

Reese Credit Union members with $500 or more in shares may obtain a loan in any amount at three-quarters of one percent interest per month, the union board has ruled.

It also was decided that the shares must not drop below $500 while the low loan rate is in effect or the rate will go up.

Any loan of $1,000 or more, regardless of share balance, may be obtained at three-quarters of one percent per month on the unpaid balance of the loan, it was decided.

Reese Credit Union loans to buy three year old automobiles may squal the NAADA car guide loan value, plus the a-mount allowed on signature, at the discretion of the Credit committee.

Many thousands of dollars are available for loans and applications are solicited, Tom Ireland, union president, stated.

Clean-Up Week Set for Housing

The annual Clean-Up weekend for the housing areas has been set for April 3 through 5, Capt. Warren P. Falk, project officer has announced.

"The idea is to have all occupants make a general cleaning at the same time," he said. "Specifically, areas around houses, lawns, fences, driveways and garages should be cleaned. Garage storage lockers should be locked and children cautioned to stay out of trash areas."

The captain said additional barrels have been placed in regular garbage can areas for grass and tree trimmings and will remain throughout the summer. On Monday, April 6, a special pick-up will be made to dispose of trash collected in the

Services Offer Many Things

Family Services means many things to many people. To the newcomer to Reese, it's a place to go to get information, gather up housing data, borrow a crib or other needed item for brief use till the household goods arrive.

But Family Services is not only for the newcomer: it serves a very important need for others about to depart for new assign-ments and new chapters in their lives. At the Family Services Center, Bldg. T-821, a complete file is kept on information of bases abroad and in the United States. Family Services can show useful information on where the assign-ment might be so in advance, percented may know what two ment might be so, in advance, personnel may know what type housing is available, how soon, what the climate is, whether to ship household goods immediately, what the new community will be like, and a lot of other things.

Pamphlets are available on Japan, Italy, Germany, Newfound-land, and many other places. Family Services can help locate someone at Reese, perhaps, who "has been there." A well-informed family adjusts more quickly and better to a new place of life in a place near or far.

"Why Believe In Easter"

By Chaplain William D. Franks "THE EASTER FAITH"

Robert Tuttle has written some lines in a pamphlet entitled "Why Believe in Easter," which could well live their way into our thoughts. In these lines, he makes a striking comparison between the hatching of a baby chick and death. Here is a portion of his writing

"Why believe in Easter? Because God reveals its truth in everyday miracles.

Tap upon the shell, speak to the chick within, Say the terrifying word: "Your shell must be broken!"

If he could speak, Frightened, he would cry to you: "Don't break my shell! This is my world—Here I find protection, warmth, and food. Do not destroy my world!"

But you break the shell, and his world is destroyed; The chick literally passes through the Gates of Death. To find that Death is but the passing from bonds to freedom; From a world of blackness to a world of blue and open sky. The mother hen hovers near, her warm feathers of faring Sure and cortain protection Con this be death? Amazing! Astounding! Breathtaking! Impossible! Unbelievable! Unimaginable!

BUT TRUE!

It happens every Spring! So also the resurrection of man: "Eye hath not seen nor ear heard, Neither hath it entered into the heart of man, The things that God hath prepared for them that love Him." Christ arose! He is risen now! "I am not afraid to go where Christ has gone!"

Keep 'Em Covered

Through the dust and at times blowing mud of recent days, you might have seen swirling trash. You don't have to be a camel to see the trash that litters the base after a storm.

Reese Air Force Base, like every other Air Force Base, is a showpiece of the Air Force. Trash blowing from uncovered trash cans and storage places is unsightly. Even on a calm day, an uncovered trash can is a blight.

We can insure a neater, cleaner base by putting discarded boxes, cigarette packages, cans, bottles and other refuse IN the trash cans, and SECURING the lids.

A wide variety of youth programs at Reese was cited this week by Col. Harold T. Babb, chairman of the Dependent Youth Activities council. At the same time, the colonel urged greater participation by par-ents in supporting activities.

"You will find something here for almost every child," he said in a letter to parents. These activities are kept alive through the efforts of interested individuals, who dewote their free time to the activity they are most interested in."

Squadron 148, Air Explorer Scouts, meets the first and third Monday of each month at 7:30 p. m. in Building T-100, with the main interest in aviation and secondary interest in outdoor activities. Weekend camping trips are made. Boys 14 to 17 years of age are eligible. Lt. Col. D. A. Rockie, Extension 439, is in charge.

Troop 148, Boy Scouts, meets at 7:30 p.m. each Monday in Building T-451. The main interest is citizenship by doing the best through God and country, with secondary interest in scouting.

Camps are held. Boys 11 through 14 may be members, with MSgt. E. W. Bchl, Extension 264, as scoutmaster.

Cub Scouts include boys from 8 to 11 years old. Each den meets weekly at the home of a den mother and the pack of four dens meets the third Tuesday of each month at the Reese school. Capt. Richard Monroe, Extension 219, is in charge of the Cub Scout program.

The Girl Scout program starts with the Brownie in the second grade and continues through all grades. Each troop has its individual meeting time. Girls learn crafts, folk dancing, singing, and other skills. The Girl Scout house is in Building T-244. All workers are volunteers. Mrs. Thomas 19. Carroll, Phone Hurlwood 3352, is leader. Alertness to Battle Fire Urged; Use What's Available

By Truett S. Cranford

Wing Fire Chief

Alertmess against fire continues to be quite important to Reese personnel, especially living in the housing area.

Where approved portable hand operated fire extinguishers are not available, these emergency measures are effective:

Use water from a garden hose, bucket or faucet adapter with a hose on wood, paper, or trash fires.

Ordinary baking soda or sand may be used on fires originating from oil, gasoline, electrical appliances and other type blazes. The soda or sand should be spread over the burning surface in a thin layer.

In addition every home should have available a short ladder, shovel and pickaxe to aid in reaching the seat of the fire and in disposing of burning embers and debris.

precautions A few simple should be observed in operation of fire extinguishers. Carbon tetracholoride gives off harmful fumes and toxic vapors in confined spaces. Proper ventilation should be made when an ex-The liquid tinguisher is used. may irritate tender skins.

Acid in souda and acid extinguishers could cause severe burns if in contact with the skin. More damage than from them small and completely exthe fire may result if the spray covers clothing, furniture and draperies.

Should the liquid fail discharge promptly, move away: there may be an explosion.

Water, soda and acid, foam and loaded stream extinguishers are electrical conductors. Flour, starch, and solid streams of wa ter will cause flash explosions and spread the fire if used on cooking grease, melted paraffin oils, or similar flammable liquids. It is safer to let the fire burn until firemen arrive, if it is impossible to control the blaze.

Never throw burning materials out a window or door; someone may be outside and get burned.

tinguish. The first two minutes of a fire are most important to eliminate spread of the blaze. This means quick and efficient action by everyone.

The rule should be in all fires, use what you can where you are. Garden hoses, step-ladders, buckets, shovels, are in every block. Practice with these will help.

Rule 1 always is to call the fire department immediately, giving your building number, street address, and nature of the fire. Then use your best efforts to extinguish the fire.

The Airman Magazine is the official journal of the Air Force. It carries a wide variety In controlling fires, keep of articles.

reenlistment for a minimum period of 91 days following his date of separation. In addition, personnel who are not properly utilized (in a valid UMD position) at his installation of assignment and who decline to extend or reenlist for PCS move may be immediately separated.

In any instance, he must elect one of the options within a 5-day period after or on written notification of the pending PCS movement

This program, coupled with a previously announced program, has affected the clear cut picture of the entire retainability criteria for all personnel movement.

One of the important aspects is that career airmen will be determined at an earlier date and all airmen will be considered equally for PCS movement. In short, this program is a gross step forward to insure that some personnel are not retained at one base while others are moved regularly because of declared career intentions.

USAF headquarters has advised base officials that retroactive approval of requests for separate rations is pro-hibited and payment of separate rations based on retroactive approval will not be considered.

Payment of separate rations for incoming personnel and personnel who otherwise become eligible after assignment will be paid effective with the date that the wing commander or his designated representative signs the approval. Unit commanders should encourage all personnel, who become eligible, to expeditiously process their request for separate rations.

Regular Airman Retirement during the past year has been delayed because of an extremely heavy workload at USAF headquarters. There is a continual problem with personnel desiring retirement within a 60 to 90 day period following sub-mission of application.

Some personnel are withholding retirement applications until a suitable civilian job becomes available.

This factor alone has delayed retirement of some persons.

Personnel assigned to this base who contemplate retirement are requested to submit applications a minimum of four to six months prior to anticipated retirement date. Processing time for retirement applications may take six months.

An extensive reassignment counseling program is available to all airmen and NCOs who are

In some instances personnel have contacted USAF headquarters representatives in an effort to procure specialized assignment or gain advanced information concerning normal reassignment. The volume of inquiries has reached such proportions that a very closely controlled policy has been instituted in USAF.

Additional Instructor Pilots Join Training Squadron

By 1st Lt. Antonio Lopez

Featured instructor pilot from the 3500th Pilot Training squadron this week is 1st Lt. John A. Tall.

Born in Rigby, Idaho, John grew up in this potato-famous state. After high school, the University of Idaho beckoned him, where he earned his bachelor of science degree in premed. While at U.I., John was an ROTC cadet, and upon graduation was subsequently commissioned into the Air Force.

Going through pilot training with class 57-D, John was stationed at Lackland, Graham and Bryan AFBs while in training. Upon graduation from basic, the lieutenant chose to be an instructor and went TDY to Craig before reporting back to Bryan for his duty assignment.
