

Reese Personnel to Witness Missile Launching Drama

Dramatic night shots of the THOR-ABLE and ATLAS missile launchings are featured in the Air Force News Review film scheduled for the May Commander's calls at Reese.

Compilers of the film stated the missiles "appear unreal and eerie as they rise slowly, majestically, from their pads."

Daytime firing of the BOMARC interceptor missile is also shown, as is the newest intercontinental ballistic missile, the TITAN, and the strategic missile, SNARK.

The Air Force world-wide basketball tournament is shown in its final stanzas at Lackland AFB.

Another sequence in the film shows the first captive flight of the X-15 as it goes aloft, huddled under the wing of a B-52.

At Kelly AFB, fire fighters demonstrate a new method of blanketing a runway with foam, a faster method using less manpower.

Other film sequences show the F-105's final testing at Eglin AFB and TAC's participation in the joint Army-Air Force operation in Panama.

Citizenship Nears for Reese Pair

Citizenship in the United States is scheduled to come to SSgt. Oleg Petroff and Mrs. Edith Spangler of Reese, Saturday.

Both decided when quite young to come to this country, the sergeant because "it was the land of opportunity"; Mrs. Spangler because it "apparently was the land of plenty."

Petroff, son of Russian parents who fled the Soviet union in the early 1920s, was born and raised in Alexandria, Egypt. He came to the United States in 1944, after working for the British Army, a spot where he frequently was required to remain in camp during outbreaks of violence.

"When I was old enough to make decisions, I decided to come to the United States where opportunity for education and advancement were so great," he said.

He plans to enter the Massachusetts Institute of Technology as soon as he can to study electrical engineering.

The former Edith Maria Theresa Lemp of Munich, Germany, was married to TSgt. Darrel Spangler of the Air Force while he was stationed in Munich.

The Spanglers came to Reese in December, 1956, when he received assignment here as an aircraft maintenance man. Presently he is training as a sheet metal worker at Amarillo AFB.

"After World War II Americans occupied Munich and they ate so good I decided I

"BIG" DAY IS NEAR—Mrs. Edith Spangler and SSgt. Oleg Petroff laugh with joy as they anticipate United States citizenship this week. They have just been looking over the DAR manual on citizenship, basic book of study for prospective citizens.

Talent Winners Named

Six Reese airmen, winners of base-wide competition, this week represented the base in the Northern District ATC Talent contests at Sheppard AFB.

The Reese musical organization is the Silvertones; vocal soloist and dancer is A/2C Walter J. Jackson; master-of-ceremonies is A/3C Kenneth D.

Chance; and western singer is SSgt. William T. Glennon.

The Silvertones, composed of A/3C Kenneth Cole, A/2C John T. Smith, and A/2C Ramon Villafraña, were judged top entry on the base, playing "Honky-Tonk" and "Cotton Ball." Second went to Jackson with a cha-cha dance routine and vocals "Laura" and "After You're Gone." Chance was rated third.

Judges for the April 15 contest were from Lubbock.

Drive Saturday

A paper and coat hanger drive will be conducted by Air Explorer squadron 148 in Reese Village Saturday. Area occupants have been asked to give all available aid. Proceeds of this drive will be used to finance Explorer activities.

Weather Detachment Adds Seventh Victory, Installations Fourth Win

Headquarters squadron section, Installations group, and Detachment 17, Eighth Weather group, were honored Tuesday for achievement in the off-duty education program.

Certificates of Achievement were presented by Col. Clayton A. Scott, wing executive officer, to 1st Lt. Brien Ward, Installations squadron commander, and 1st Lt. Dean Traxler, weather detachment education officer, for their units.

Awards are based on highest percentage of men participating in the off-duty education program, including attendance at Texas Tech, in study classes, enrollment in correspondence courses of ECI and USAFI, and completion of USAFI tests.

The Installations unit had 30.7

percent for the quarter ending March 31. Wing headquarters squadron was second, with 27.3 percent, among units of 75 or more personnel.

The weather unit had 55.6 percentage, with Air Police 32.7, among units of less than 75 men.

The weather unit has won seven of eight certificates awarded, while Installations has won four of eight.

"Tell your men that education pays dividends the rest of their lives," Colonel Scott told the lieutenants. "No one can stand still in learning, he only goes backward. It is only the digger for knowledge who advances. Your units have good percentages; but what we should have is 100 percent. I am real proud of both your organizations, but work remains."

For the quarter ending March 31, Reese had 32 students at Texas Tech, 132 taking ECI courses, 13 enrolled in USAFI, 33 having finished ECI test, 40 completing high school GED tests, and 22 GED tests for college, and 24 in group study for a total of 295 participants.

59-G Graduates Will Get Wings From Instructors

Seventeen instructor pilots will award Air Force pilot wings to students they taught to fly the T-33 trainer as Class 59-G is graduated at Reese next Thursday.

The class includes 17 student officers and 20 aviation cadets of the USFA, and a Pakistan cadet who will become a pilot officer on graduation. The cadets will be commissioned second lieutenants on graduation day.

Instructor pilots awarding wings from Flight 2, 3501st Pilot Training Squadron will be Capt. Carwin J. Pomeroy and Robert L. Rorabaugh, and 1st Lt. Robert C. Bosman, William L. Eaves, George G. Goodell, William S. Harris, Richard H. Head, Don L. Morris and Frederick A. Wilhelm.

From Flight 7, 3500th PTS, will be 1st Lt. J. Donald Boren, Donald L. Dederick, Daniel J. Doughty, Robert T. Duffy, Carl R. Gregory, Karl H. Grosh, Donald C. Patch and John A. Tall.

P-TA Names New 1959-60 Officers

Maj. Frederick F. Shriner, flying safety officer, has been elected president of the Reese Elementary school PTA, with SMSgt. William C. Lindler as vice-president.

Named 2nd vice-president at the Monday meeting was MSgt. Herbert C. Craig; Mrs. Vernon K. Repose was elected secretary; Maj. Hanford Wright, treasurer; MSgt. William R. Pomeroy, assistant treasurer; Mrs. John K. Norred, historian; and Miss Ethel Brown, parliamentarian.

Going to Korea

First Lt. Norb Glidden has been reassigned to an air division in Osan, Korea, reporting in August, following advanced survival training at Stead AFB.

Pamphlets on Counter-Communism Distributed; Lauded by Commander

A series of pamphlets, "Democracy Versus Communism," has been distributed around the base, Col. Dross Ellis, commander, stated yesterday.

"One of the big dangers of Communism," the Commander continued, "is that people don't know enough about it."

"The Communists would like nothing better than that we forget about their existence and their aims. If we are lulled to sleep in the face of the danger of Communism, then the Communists can quietly infiltrate and undermine our American way of life. If they do this, we will certainly wake up too late."

Colonel Ellis added that "these pamphlets give a complete breakdown on Communism—everything from 'What Communists do to Liberty,' to 'How Communism Controls Peoples Economic Life.' Every intelligent American, whether he be airman basic or general, should read these pamphlets."

New Officer Opportunity Offered

Enlisted personnel of Reese and all other Air Force bases will have opportunity to obtain up to two years of college and an officer's commission under a newly developed Airman Education and Commissioning program.

Designed to provide the Air Force with long-term retainable officers having educational backgrounds in some of the more scarce scientific and technical areas, the program is intended to provide a new means for airman to advance to officer status.

Applications will be limited to airmen on active duty with sufficient college credits to qualify for a degree within two years.

Details are expected soon by the Reese education office.

Missiles Need People

Guided missiles and their equipment are produced for the Air Force by science and industry.

Propulsion systems with enough thrust to escape the earth's atmosphere, guidance systems capable of finding targets half-way around the world, and warheads with city-destroying punch are furnished by missile manufacturers and their contractors.

Only one essential remains to be provided: people.

All the expensive, intricate hardware of modern warfare possessed by the Air Force is useless without people, not just ordinary people, but highly skilled technicians.

For this ingredient of its operational missile capability, the Air Force looks to the Air Training Command.

Each time the Air Force receives a new missile weapon system into its inventory, fully trained launch and maintenance crews must be on hand to correctly use the weapon.

This means that months earlier, ATC must begin programming courses and training people in skills peculiar to a missile still in the primary stages of testing.

Classes are set up and men are taught to work with the new missile's hundreds of components. After the missile development is well along, changes occur and ATC must keep its courses in pace with them. The Command has programmed or in progress courses on more than 15 different missiles systems.

Reese personnel have gone into the new fields; many more are eligible for training in the weapon system area. Many of the guided missiles in use and those under development cost millions of dollars and they can be launched only once. This situation calls for the highest level of technical skill in every man charged with preparation and launching of the weapons.

Action to join the force of qualified missiles airman is worthy of consideration.

Base Furthers Science

Management as a science, so considered since late in the nineteenth century, has become an important part of Air Force operation.

A man named F. W. Taylor is called the father of management, placed on a scientific basis. His book on the subject has been widely used, and other men have developed and expanded his theories.

Research has gone into the field, and the Air Force has joined in trying to do the most efficient and economical job — for that is good management as a science.

As a major part of the program, management classes are conducted at Reese for supervisors, unit commanders, first sergeants, and other top level personnel. The same course is being used by civilian enterprises to train their supervisors.

The Management course for supervisors offered by the Wing Manpower and Organization office gives 50 hours of instruction in fundamentals of organization, functions of management, work distributions, methods improvement, and many other areas.

Students attend daily for five weeks, and about 160 supervisors graduate each year. Each turns in at least one improvement suggestion, and about 23 percent have been adopted.

Reese and the Air Force are overlooking no step which will save money and bring easier and better operation.

Hopes High

High hope that Reese will be able to share in the Air Training Command ground safety cash award this fiscal year were expressed this week by Joe Lopez, ground safety director.

The last ATC report, as of March 31, found Reese in seventh place, with little margin between that and third place. Concentrated effort on the base might move Reese upward quickly, Lopez said.

The ATC first place award is $25,000, second $15,000, and third $10,000, with competition ending June 30.

Reese stood tenth among military, fifth for civilians, ninth on USAF vehicles, and eighth for private vehicles. James Connally AFB is first and Lackland AFB second in over-all standing.

"We are well above average in all categories and should climb within the next few months," Lopez commented.

The Ground Safety council this week was to map a program aimed at improving the record.

Reese for the past few years has been high among ATC bases and had a part in honors coming to the Air Force.

For the ninth consecutive year, the Air Force recently received the "Award of Honor" from the National Safety Council for outstanding achievement in ground safety.

The council credited the drop in 1958 accidents to effectiveness of the sustained ground safety program of the Air Force.

Why A Preaching Mission?

By Chaplain Henry C. Bielski

From May 3 to 8, the Reverend Father Harry F. Wade, C.Ss.R., will conduct a Preaching Mission at the Reese Air Force Base Chapel.

Fifteen centuries ago Saint Augustine summed up the essence of a Mission in the prayer: "Lord, grant that I may know myself and that I may know Thee!"

Unless a man is content to flit like a moth without purpose or a sense of direction, periodically he needs what a Mission does for him. He needs to hold a mirror to his soul and to begin to know himself. He may be surprised at the reflection which he sees there, but he will not despair of improvement for the Mission not only diagnosis the illness but applies the remedy.

Any intelligent man would like to know many things about his religion.

There are many dogmas to which he has given intellectual assent of the faith, accepting them coolly and academically, as if they were so many dry, barren theorems of geometry but which he wishes to move down from his head to his heart. This takes a little time, a little help and above all, the extraordinary graces unusual in his everyday life. The Mission is made to order—it is expressly devised to provide the time, the help, and the graces which he needs.

At times a man feels that he is not getting as much strength and consolation out of his religion as he might get, and he wonders also how he can remedy the situation. He feels vaguely that he would really appreciate an opportunity to learn a little more about himself and to discover the reason why his faith affords him something less than joy.

What he wants without knowing it, is a chance to attend a Mission and there discover the barriers that stand like a wall between himself and the happiness which is his birthright in God.

Actually everyone needs a spiritual inventory in which he becomes familiar with his spiritual assets and liabilities and systematically plan his spiritual future with this inventory in mind. Through the Mission he will make a restatement of his purpose in living. He will consider his future course in working out his soul's salvation. He will recuperate his dissipated energies and regain his spiritual strength. He will "taste and see that the Lord is sweet." He will stand up and be counted for Christ when the call to colors sounds for the King's army and all the King's men.

The schedule during the Mission includes daily Mass at 7 a. m. and 12 noon and evening services at 7:30 p. m. There will be a talk to the ladies on Tuesday, May 5 and Thursday, May 7, at 1:30 p. m. in the Chapel Annex.

Listeners Learn

Let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak—James 1:19. The listener is wiser than the talker. When any person talks he only says something he knows—when he listens, he learns something someone else knows.

Epictetus, a Roman philosopher of the latter part of the first century, A. D., said that nature had given men one tongue and two ears so that they might hear twice as much as they spoke. It requires, however, a great deal of skill and not a little ability to be a good listener. One who has achieved the art of listening well is usually more popular than the one who has the so-called gift of gab.

Shakespeare says that brevity is the soul of wit and even wit is a burden when it talks too long. Only the very well informed dare to be talkative. George Eliot says, "Blessed is he who, having nothing to say, refrains from giving wordy evidence of the fact."

had to go to the United States to live," Mrs. Spangler said.

"The piles of food were too much for me. Stacks of bread, bread so white it looked like cake, were for every meal. I used to beg a piece of that bread whenever I could. It was the best thing I ever tasted."

Mrs. Spangler has been attending night classes for citizenship applicants conducted by Miss Murvil Rankin in Lubbock.

"I am so thrilled over becoming a citizen I don't know what to do," she said.

"I have been waiting years for the day when I gain all the opportunities of a citizen," Sergeant Petroff declared.

The federal court will admit citizens in exercises at 2 p. m. tomorrow in Lubbock.

Helen K. Fuller, Reese Librarian, Receives Honors

Observance of National Library week at Reese was climaxed with an open house Friday morning, attended by large number of officers, airmen, and civilians.

The event was highlighted by presentation to Mrs. Helen K. Fuller, base librarian, of a letter of appreciation for nine years of service to the base and award of a superior service citation and a check for $200. Col. Dross Ellis, base commander, made the presentation.

Gray Ladies served coffee and cookies during the open house. Aiding were Mmes. Frederick F. Shriner, Charles M. Lyons, Homer L. Parsons, John L. Johnson, Foley Collins and Edward M. Pallette.

Charles M. Lyons was chairman of the week's observance.

During National Library week about 1,000 persons visited the base library, an increase of about 40 percent over a normal week. Free paperbound books were given visitors and the Reese Library scrapbooks since 1952 attracted interest. Some of the books were ATC winners, one an Air Force-wide winner.

Colonel Ellis brought to the open house Colonel Wood and Major Overstreet, both of ATC.

Lt. Col. Charles M. Lyons was chairman of the week's observance.

A business meeting and open house will be held at the Youth Center from 7:30 to 10:30 p. m., Saturday. The chaperons will be Capt. and Mrs. Leland E. Strecker and MSgt. and Mrs. Carlton Wilshere.

On April 11, a party was held at the Youth Center and the teenagers thank the chaperons, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Victor Correll and Capt. and Mrs. Donald S. Knierim.

STARTS EARLY—Already working for her new boss while still in her former office, Miss Okylene George takes dictation from Capt. John J. C. O'Shea. Next day she went to work for the captain as a court reporter. (Photo by Moore).

Veteran Employee Changes Duties

A veteran Reese employee was transferred Wednesday to a new office. Miss Okylene George, secretary to Lt. Col. Robert L. Velde, wing personnel officer, went to the office of the staff judge advocate as court reporter.

Miss George has been secretary to the wing personnel officer since August, 1952.

"People are wonderful and have always been nice to me," she commented. "I've enjoyed my work very much."

Colonel Velde added: "She's one of the most efficient secretaries I've ever seen."

Miss George was born in Sla-

Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C., and for the Army inspector general in Norfolk, Va., returning to Lubbock in 1952.

Her move to the legal office was necessitated when her position was downgraded. Faculty and Flying Evaluation board proceedings, which she used to transcribe and type, were transferred to the Pilot Training group.

Staffs of the wing offices presented her with a broach and earring set at a surprise coffee-break party, complete with cake. On the cake: red roses and "We'll miss you."

Boys Wanted

All Reese boys, 8 to 12 years old, who have not played in the base Little League before, are asked to report to the diamond, north of the base housing area, Saturday at 1:30 p. m. for tryouts.

Sports Report

by SSgt. George A. Bates

The Intramural softball league is shaping up in good fashion for the May 4th opening.

All squadrons have entered a team and have started their practice sessions with all the hustle of spring itself. All the sore arms and pulled muscles are beginning to show up after a winter of inactivity.

Most managers expect to be rid of the ailments and pitfalls that plague ball teams during spring training by opening day.

MSgt. Carlton Wilshere of ABG, was named March Athlete of the Month.

In Golf, Wilshere won four out of five matches and shot two games of 42 during this period. He improved his golf score by bringing his score from 48 to 45.

The sergeant placed No. 1 on the base bowling team, rolling a total of 2,870 pins which constitutes a 179-plus average. He also rolled the highest individual series, 773, for four games averaging 192-plus. He was captain of the winning team, Air Base Group. Presently he holds the highest average on the base 164.

Wilshere was active in organizing the base volleyball team and coached the team prior to its going to the ATC tournament to place second.

"It was a great finish to a great season."

That's the way Lt. Robert Sullivan described the Air Force Academy's romp to an easy triumph in the Rocky Mountain AAU gymnastics championships.

The Falcons scored 162 points, with Colorado State College's "Cubs" a distant runnerup with 114½. Cadets took 9 of the 11 firsts, with Ken Smith the individual champion with 45½ points.

Corder Beginning Academy Duties

First Lt. Lloyd Corder, formerly an outstanding Texas athlete, is leaving soon for duty as physical education instructor at the Air Force academy.

He is the first of several Reese officers expected to become teachers at the academy. First Lt. Dennis Gray, former school secretary, and 1st Lt. William Goodwin, military training instructor, are taking advanced schooling prior to going to the academy. Other base officers are expected to be assigned to the school later.

Lieutenant Corder was among the nation's leading scorers as fullback for East Texas State in 1951-52-53, and was an out-

He came to Reese in June, 1954, and graduated in Class 55-B. He received a trophy as outstanding athlete of the class. After a tour as C-119 pilot at Ardmore AFB, he returned to Reese in May, 1956, as instructor pilot. He presently is assistant flying safety officer.

SMSgt. Lee Grimes is the new holder of the course record at the Reese Golf club. He has scored an amazing round of 33-34-67.

Last weekend's sweepstakes were won by Capt. Doug Ramsel and SSgt. Doug MacLeod, 1st Lts. Kyle Johnson and Carlos Gonzales. These two teams scored low ball scores of 66 to tie for first place. Another tournament of the same type is planned this Saturday.

Refuse May Cause Fire, Says Chief

By Truett S. Cranford
Wing Fire Chief

The term, Good Housekeeping applies not only to housewives but to all base activities. Many aspects of Good Housekeeping tend to prevent fires, although we may not think of such action often.

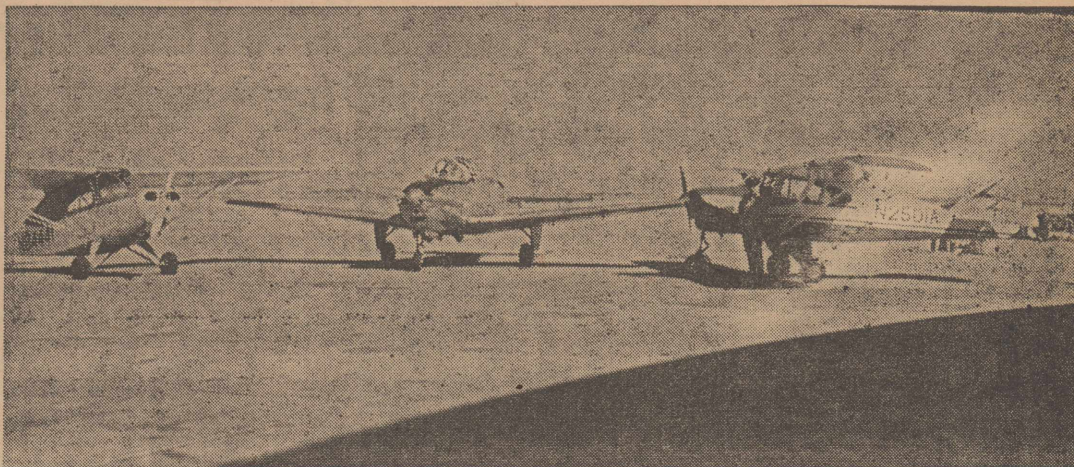

Good Housekeeping insures a fire-safe home or shop. Start now to go through the house or shop with the proverbial fine tooth comb, covering the attic and basement. Check everywhere and get rid of old clothes, broken toys, discarded pieces of furniture, newspapers, magazines, and all such useless items.

Dispose of rubbish and waste; cut the grass and weeds to eliminate fire hazards.

Fires listed as "cause unknown" all too frequently come from what is called "spontaneous combustion," a chemical process in certain materials which produces kindling temperature. Sufficient heat for a fire may come in 20 minutes, or it may take days for the flame to start.

House mops or cotton rags saturated with oil may cause such a fire. Unventilated spaces generally produce the fires.

Any cloth, rag, mop, brush, cardboard carton, or fabric moistened with furniture polish or any type of oil should be disposed of.

FOR CLUB USE—Three of the four aircraft belonging to the Reese Aero club are lined up on the ramp of the Lubbock Municipal airport. The fourth plane, an Aeronica, was in the air. Left to right are the Aeronica, T-34, and newly purchased Piper Tri-Pacer, which holds four adults and all baggage for cross-country flights. MSgt. Rodney Bills, club board member, stands alongside. (Photo by Perez).

Base Aero Club Adds Fourth Plane

The newly purchased Reese Aero club's new Piper Tri-Pacer is on its first cross-country flight this week, piloted by 1st Lt. Glenn A. O'Bannion, club member.

The fourth aircraft was bought by the club last week and the lieutenant started his flight to California for a ten-day visit soon after. He flew to San Antonio to pick up his brother enroute.

The club has three other aircraft, two Aeronicas and a T-34. The Aeronicas are used as trainers and the T-34 for cross-countries and local flights. The Tri-Pacer is intended primarily for cross-country hops.

The Aero club has announced a contest to select insignia for all of its planes, with $10 in flying time as the prize. Entrants may be any Reese person or dependent and suggestions must be filed in the office of the wing chaplain by 4 p. m. Tuesday, May 12. Insignia suggestions may be in color or areas of color may be marked.

Flying time may be in any of the four aircraft the club owns and if the contest winner is a non-pilot, the club will provide a pilot, Chaplain Willis L. Stowers, president, said.

Three new students have began flying lessons on joining the club. They are Mrs. Jack Brandt, 2nd Lt. Robert B. Bixler of the hospital staff and Chaplain Henry C. Bielski.

Chaplain Stowers said the club is grateful to the CNWF council for aid in securing the Piper Tri-Pacer.

Drama to Feature Next Canyon Film

A psychological drama will be featured on the "Steve Canyon" episode at 7 p. m. next Tuesday on KCBD-TV, Lubbock.

An Air Force pilot lands his plane and is discovered to be in a state of shock—triggered by hearing Canyon's voice on the radio. Investigation reveals the pilot served under Canyon in the Korean conflict, and that a deep-seated guilt complex has been preying on the pilot's mind.

Family Services Set Up To Serve

By Mrs. William Mahoney

Have a special problem? Need a baby crib or some other household item for a few days? Do you have a housing problem, or need information on your next assignment? Perhaps we at the Family Service Center can help you.

Every day your Family Services Center has answers for questions above and many others.

Family Services may be a strange and unidentifiable title to some of the older enlisted men and their families. The change recently has been made from "Dependents Assistance." We are not only to assist you, but to serve in any capacity we are able—thus, the change.

The Family Services office is manned by volunteer wives of Air Force personnel. Due to many recent PCS and TDY moves, we are in need of volunteer women to aid in work three hours in the office each month. Free nursery service is provided for your children while you are working in the office. Any wives interested in office work or on any one of the particular committees is urged to call Mrs. LaViece Fraser, 2742, or leave your name at the office. We need your help to help others.

Clothing Sought

Lubbock's Hub City Kiwanis club this week asked cooperation of Reese housewives in helping finance purchase of milk for needy children through donation of used clothing. The club has started collecting for a fall rummage sale, on the theory spring house-cleaning will produce items for the sale. Many thousand containers of milk are given needy children annually by the club. Persons wishing to donate clothing may call POrter 2-8011 and the items will be picked up.
