Base Host To British Air Chief

Operations of Reese are being reviewed by several high officials within a short time, Colonel James A. Gunn III, wing commander, has been advised.

On Thursday, Major General Frederic H. Miller, commander of the Middletown Air Materiel Area in Pennsylvania, came to Reese for a briefing on M. & S activities. He was taken on a tour of M & S and was briefed by Colonel Joseph E. Payne, group commander.

On November 18 and 19, Air Marshal Augustus Walker, commander of Flying Training Command of the Royal Air Force, will come to Reese for a briefing and study of the undergraduate pilot training program. Accompanied by Squadron Leader L.E.H. Scotchmer, he is scheduled to tour UPT activities and to be briefed on Reese training. He also will be taken for an orientation ride in a T-37 jet trainer.

Marshal Walker is touring Air Training Command bases and is visiting Stead, Lackland, Randolph, Reese and Mather AFB's, in addition to ATC headquarters and the Air Force Academy.

On November 19 and 20 an Air Force inspection team from Norton AFB will visit Reese to study flight management.

MONDAY HOLIDAY

Monday will be a legal holiday at Reese and Sunday schedules and activities will prevail. Veterans Day falls on Sunday and the law sets aside the following day as a federal holiday for workers.

Willis Shanks, Civil Engineers; and CWO Roy L. Merritt, Air Base Group. Colonel Bowman holds the "Topper" award for going "over the top", while the others have Outstanding Citizenship Awards.

Caution On Deadly Gas In Home Urged

With the "carbon monoxide season" close at hand, Reese ground safety officials this week warned against dangers of space heaters and other equipment which may be hazards.

Joe J. Lopez, ground safety director, cited that Reese personnel have died in previous years because they failed to provide fresh air in apartments while unvented space heaters were used.

"Heaters require air to function properly," Lopez declared. "They may use up all available oxygen if windows are not left ajar to bring in the air. That means carbon monoxide develops and without warning someone is overcome."

He also urged that with winter at hand all Reese people check their ranges and other equipment using gas to see that the equipment is working properly and does not need adjustment. He said that the gas company and city of Lubbock firemen are available without charge to check equipment off-base and the Civil Engineering Group personnel will check on-base stoves and other units if called.

"There is always the tendency in cold weather to not be cautious in preventing carbon monoxide from forming," Lopez added. "We at Reese do not want to be counted among fatalities or those who become ill merely because we fail to check our heaters and provide enough oxygen-filled air so they burn without forming deadly gas."

Boys, Girls Honored

Reese youngsters held the spotlight at the annual Friendship school carnival as two of the three queens crowned were from families of the base.

Donna Blissette, daughter of MSgt. and Mrs. W. E. Blissette, was crowned queen of the senior high school and Judy Ann Mangum, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. James W. Mangum, became queen of the junior high. Crowning Judy Ann as king was Mike Christian, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. John W. Christian.

Unsuccessful candidates for king and queen of various classes made up the court. Included were Jo Gayle Mangum, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Mangum; Gloria Nelson, daughter of AIC and Mrs. Richard Nelson; Jackie Prestjohn, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Lawrence O. Prestjohn; Pat McCaffrey, son of Maj. and Mrs. Donald B. McCaffrey; and Bill Warring, son of

The base was awarded a shingle to attach its previously won Campaign Award. Units honored were the Air Base Group, CWO Roy Merritt, key worker; Civil Engineering Group, 2nd Lt. Willis Shanks; 3501st Pilot Training Squadron, Captain Ronald Tingley; 3500th PTS, Captain Alexander Milligan; Pilot Training Group, MSgt. James E. Sheppard; Hospital, Captain Alwyn Abernathy; Air Force Communications Service, CWO Basil Parker; and Mobil Training Detachment, TSgt. George L. Kepner.

"Despite the fact that Reese has a large number of new personnel, the goal was reached," said Lt. Col. Robert Bowman, Reese project officer. "The people of our base always are proud to participate in United Fund and other campaigns to cooperate with our civilian neighbors. Key workers in each unit join me in giving wholehearted thanks to everyone who participated. I know that the 27 Lubbock organizations which have been given financial aid also are thankful."

Reese families this week began receiving oral polio vaccine at the Base Hospital, with vaccine for Types I and II available.

Military men and their wives and children may receive treatment during immunization hours from 1 to 4 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and persons who have already taken Type I elsewhere may receive Type II on base. Type III will be given later only to children under 18 years of age.

School children will be given vaccine at the Reese Hospital during "shot" hours when not in school for the Thanksgiving and Christmas Holidays.

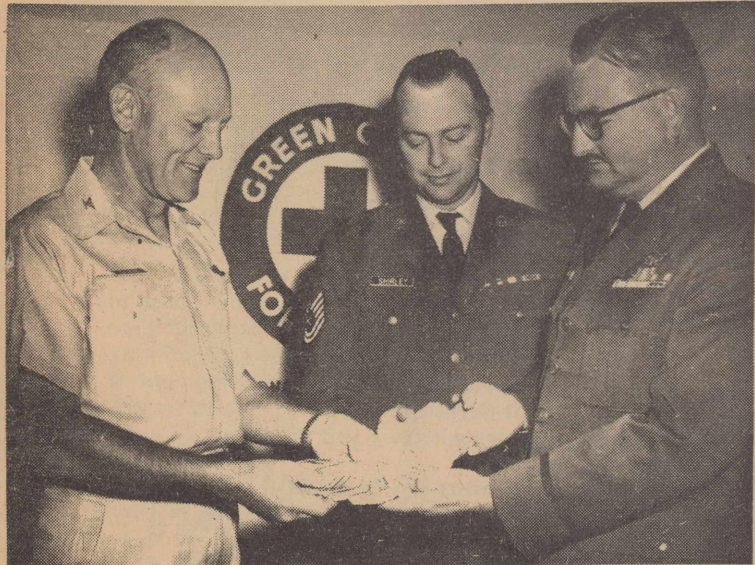

All Reese assignees and their families should be immunized for polio, Lt. Colonel David Davis, director of medical services, stated. Those people who have been taking the Salk injection vaccine should complete their treatment, he said.

PRESIDENT LAUDS READY SERVICE

Washington (AFNS) -- President Kennedy Oct. 30 met with and commended two Air Force officers who have been flying reconnaissance missions over Cuba. He also met the Air Force officer charged with evaluating reports and photographs provided by the Air Force during these missions.

The three officers, Lt. Col. Joe M. O'Grady, Maj. Richard S. Heyser, both pilots, and Col. Ralph D. Steakley, the evaluator, were brought to the White House by General Curtis E. LeMay, Air Force chief of staff, for a review of the Cuban situation.

LOT OF LOOT - Colonel James A. Gunn III, wing commander, gives $100 to Capt. Alwyn Abernathy for use of the Hospital Headquarters Squadron for winning competition for ground safety during the July - September quarter. The Hospital had no cost. Standing by is TSgt. T. N. Shirley, ground safety NCOIC for the winning unit. The Rescue and Communications detachments shared a $25 award for no accident costs as attached units.

SUGGESTION PAYS - LaVada M. Paul, right, received congratulations and $45 from Maj. Theodore G. Smith, commander of Detachment 3, 2505th Communications Squadron, for her management improvement suggestion on setting up uniform communications records. The proposal saved $900 a year here in man hours and service charges. Mary Lou Owen was awarded a Suggestion Certificate for her suggestion on correcting the personnel data code.

Parson-to-Person

By Chaplain Wayne L. Stork

The world events of recent weeks should have raised questions for many of us. In a real sense, our peaceful pattern of existence was broken, for we couldn't be positive that we would wake to see the light of a new day. And in the few moments when eyes were closed and sleep was to come, we faced the question—"Just how ready are we?"

We should never wait until such a moment to raise such a critical question. For the only answer that can come must have its beginning in the way we live each day. In other words, this is a question we must constantly raise, and the life we struggle to live must seek to be the answer, for at any time and any place, existence for us could be over. You see, -it happens every day. Young parents must say "Good bys" to their little ones: Fathers and Mothers must learn to be both parents all too frequently.

In the particular profession we have chosen, we have committed not only our time, but our life, to protect the freedom of our land. If that freedom requires our life—"Just how ready are we?"

SPEAKING OF MEN

"IT IS BY PRESENCE OF MIND IN UNTRIED EMERGENCIES THAT THE NATIVE METAL OF A MAN IS TESTED."

...JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL

SERGEANTS TOUR CITIES TO TEACH RESCUE ACTIVITY

A couple of Reese assignees on TDY to Laughlin AFB have become widely known in South Texas for their training in crash-rescue procedures for T-33 and T-37 jet aircraft.

SSgt. Robert Hoover and SSgt. Clarence Price of the 748A Mobile Training Detachment have been lecturing firemen, state employees and others in 13 cities near Laughlin AFB or rescue work. The sergeants have traveled more than 1,600 miles on lecture tours, in addition to teaching in the MTD unit which is assigned to Reese but is on TDY for a few months to Laughlin.

The detachment is scheduled to return here in the spring and to shift over to T-38 instruction. However, Captain John Lee, detachment commander, and Sergeants Price and Hoover will go overseas before the transfer.

Alert Continues

With no apparent easing of the Cuban crisis, Strategic Air Command is continuing its "no leave" policy for its personnel and at the same time is maintaining its long-range strike force on ready alert.

There are nearly 7,000 hospitals in the U.S., with about 1,600,000 beds.

Life expectancy in the U.S. is 70 years.

'I Saw No God'

When the Russian cosmonaut, Gherman Titov, visited the United States in the spring of 1962, he was interviewed by newspaper reporters at the Seattle World's Fair. The question most persistently put to him was this: had his 25 hours in space changed his philosophy or his way of thinking?

Through an interpreter, Titov gave his reply: "Some people say that there is God out there. But in my travels around the earth all day long I looked around and did not see him. I saw no God or angels. Up to our first orbital flight by Yuri Gagarin no God helped build our rocket. The rocket was made by our people. I don't believe in God. I believe in man, his strength, his possibilities, and his reason."

Titov, in this statement, was using the sorriest and most infantile type of argument: if I do not see a thing, it does not exist. If this were the ultimate criterion, we would have to reject the existence of the atom since no scientist has ever seen one! We would have to reject the very existence of ideas!

The affirmation of the existence of God outside the world of sense is more than a childish fancy. The greatest intellects in all ages have come to the conclusion that a Supreme Being exists, since there is no other explanation for the complexity and harmony of the universe.

Even a professed unbeliever like Charles Darwin, in writing on the descent of man, said, "The question whether there is a Creator and Ruler of the Universe has been answered in this affirmative by the highest intellects that have ever lived."

While Titov may be admired for his courage and skill his orbiting the earth 17 times, his standing as a scientist will always be in question. No scientist with a thought for his reputation would ever reject the existence of something—even of God—because he didn't "see" him. This would be the weakest of all arguments for the establishment of atheism.

"The United States is not willing to permit the Soviet Union to dominate space with all that it might mean to our peace and security in the coming years."—President Kennedy

"The military have an important and significant role in space though the primary responsibility is held by NASA, and it is primarily peace. The present proportion, or that mix, between the DOD and NASA should continue."—President Kennedy

"We cannot afford a Soviet technological surprise in military space activities. We don't reasonably expect NASA to solve defense rendezvous and landing problems because DOD requirements are more stringent."—Roswell L. Gilpatrick, deputy secretary of defense

"The earth can be dominated from space. The defense of our lands must extend to space. Going to the moon is only a benchmark of progress toward the eventual mastery of space."—Eugene M. Zuckert, secretary of the Air Force

"It is potentially true that he who controls space controls the world. It is our job to make sure that if anyone controls space from a military standpoint, it is the U. S. that does."—Eugene M. Zuckert, secretary of the Air Force.

"Honest, Fellows—I'm Only Fishing"

Timer Put Into Use

Air Force pilots assigned to experimental flights in the X-15 rocket-powered aircraft can now measure elapsed time of their flights with a revolutionary timing device previously employed aboard four families of satellites.

The timepiece, called "Astronaut Accutron" was recently purchased by the Air Force for use by pilots at the Flight Test Center at Edwards AFB, California.

It uses an electronic circuit, a tuning fork and a tiny power cell good for one year's operation and does not need either the balance wheel or escapement mechanism found in conventional watches.

Developed by Bulova, the timepiece is guaranteed to be accurate to within two seconds a day.

Coin Discussed

Nearly 50 officers of ATC bases and USAF headquarters discussed counterinsurgency, nicknamed COIN, at a week's meeting at ATC. The aim was to lay a background for COIN actions.

Merger Brings Benefits

(Editorial)

In an age when science and morality are topics of daily discussion, it is well to have a clear understanding of each and of their relation to one another.

Where the nature of science is not properly understood, one may win many an argument simply by declaring, "It's a scientific fact!" This is a vague statement, generally undepicted, based on the erroneous opinion that science is fixed, absolute, and certain. Nothing could be further from the truth.

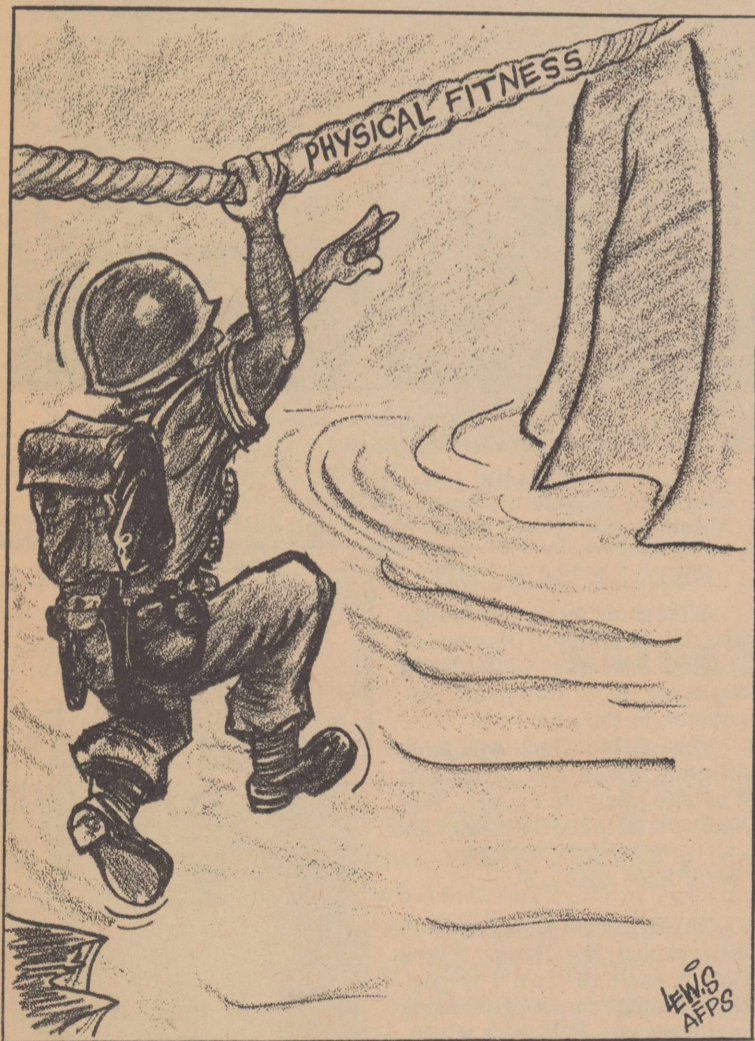

For example, at one time a Swedish chemist named Arrhenius received the Nobel Prize for his electrolytic theory of dissociation. A few years later another scientist named Debye received the same prize for disproving the theory of Arrhenius! It is evident, therefore, that "scientific facts" have a habit of changing, sometimes overnight.

Science, then, may be defined as that human activity concerned with man's control of nature. He observes, he experiments, and he arrives at an hypothesis, i.e., a supposition based on his observations and experiments. He continually discards theories and arrives at new conclusions. Science is always on the move, always reaching upward and outward. It is never perfect, absolute, or final. It is a means to an end and not an end in itself.

Morality functions in the area of the spiritual rather than the material. It involves the principle of right and wrong in personal behavior. While science tries to answer the "How?", morality delves into the "Why?"

When science and morality are combined, all mankind benefits materially and spiritually.

Santa Opens Office

Santa Claus will again send greeting to Air Force children, courtesy of the members of Detachment 1, 55th Weather Reconnaissance Sq. stationed here.

Weather Service personnel will continue a project started seven years ago and will use their free time to forward Santa Claus letters to youngsters all over the world. Here's how the project works: Parents can write a letter to their child, sign it Santa Claus, address the envelope to the youngster, affix the proper return air-mail postage from Alaska, mail this letter in a larger envelope to Santa's Mail Bag, care of Det. 1, 55th Weather Reconnaissance Sq. APO 937 Seattle, Washington.

When your letter is received at the post office, officially called Santa Claus House, North Pole, an AWS volunteer will open your letter and re-mail the child's message after affixing the authentic postmark. Deadlines for mailing these letters to Santa Claus House is December 15.
