Base Crowns Sweetheart During Dance

Brown hair and hazel eyes partially describes Miss Seliece Cartwright, this year's Valentine Sweetheart, presented during the annual Valentine Dance last night at the Mathis Service Club.

Miss Cartwright is 21 years of age, five and a half feet tall and weighs 115 pounds. At the present she is a civilian employee at Reese, assigned as a military personnel clerk. She has been working at Reese for six months.

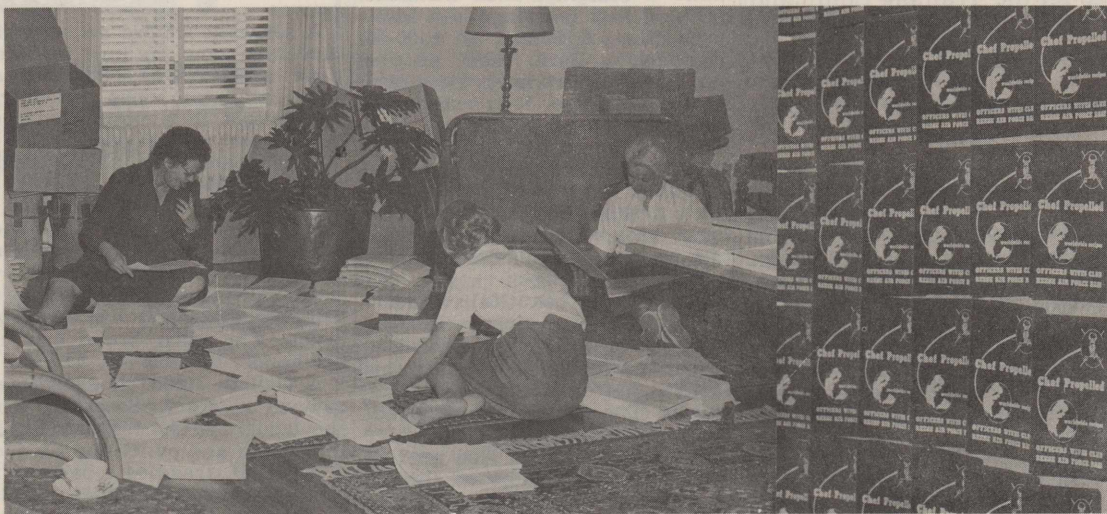

Upon the announcement of Miss Cartwright's selection as Valentine Sweetheart, her escort, A2C Clarence Johansson of the 3500th PTW, the sponsoring squadron, presented her with a bouquet of red carnations. Presentation of the winner was preceded by a grand march of all contestants and their escorts.

Miss Marion Wilks, sponsored by Air Base Group, was first runner-up. She is a Monterey High School student in Lubbock. The second runner-up was Mrs. Sharon Lea Kershenbrock, sponsored by the Air Police.

Entertainment for the near capacity crowd of 400 was supplied by the "Swinging Sergeants" band of Amarillo AFB.

MISS CARTWRIGHT

COOKBOOK!—Hours went into compilation of the new cookbook of the Reese Officers Wives Club. Pages at various times were spread over the floor and on furniture in the home of Col.

L. C. Hess. Hard at work here are Mrs. Russell Hainline, left; Mrs. Ben Gibson, center; and Mrs. John Erdmann, right. Stacked in the right picture are part of the printed volumes.

Cookbook Goes On Sale

After thousands of hours of work, the Reese Officers Wives Club cookbook, "Chef Propelled," went on sale this week at the Officers' Club and BX. The 435-page book, with blue and yellow cover, contains recipes from all over the world, gathered by wives now here and formerly stationed here. The price is $3.50.

Recipes gathered by the women while stationed in all parts of the world are included. One section, aimed particularly at men, deals with all phases of wild game, from skinning to dressing to storing to cooking.

Another section is devoted to increasing flavor of foods through use of wine.

Mrs. Lewis J. Britain, a nutrition expert who has won prizes in Paris, New York and elsewhere, assembled the recipes and tested each of them. To the book she added numerous rare recipes which show how the cook may improvise and use replacements in countries where customary ingredients are lacking.

One of Mrs. Britain's recipes is for sour dough, as used in Alaska. She explains how the eskimos prepare the dough, wrap it and carry it around on their stomachs for two weeks to make it useable.

Members of the OWC have been working on the book several months. Mrs. Joseph Burdick, project chairman, spent upward of 2,000 hours sorting and typing recipes for the printer.

Printed pages of the book were assembled by wives and their husbands and children in day and night work. Assembly at the home of Col. and Mrs. L. C. Hess on occasion ran well into the early morning.

Tornado Alley Tracks Wind Conditions To Aid Forecasts

Project Tornado Alley, aimed at assisting in the forecasting of impending heavy winds over the nation and particularly in the Southwest, is functioning again at Reese AFB.

The seven-member Flight C of the 6th Weather Squadron arrived from Tinker AFB, Oklahoma City to start its second annual operation of providing atmospheric conditions and wind speeds at all significant upper air levels to 95,000 feet. This information is relayed over the zone of interior teletype networks to the Severe Weather Warning Center at Kansas City, where forecasters, in turn, analyze the information, along with that from other units strategically located over the Southwest, and issue severe weather warnings, including tornado warnings, for certain locations in the United States.

The team, headed by TSgt. Charles Bain, combines more than 46 years of experience in tracing weather and its members come from various parts of the country. The team will remain until May 20 and then will move to a more northerly area to resume operation for a 45-day period.

Sgt. Bain, from West Virginia, has 15 years experience. SSgt.

Wilbur Lawyer, Ohio, has 13 years in weather work and A1C James Winder of Nacogdoches, Tex., has 6 years. A1C John J. McDonald of Massachusetts is a five-year veteran in weather work. Airman Richard L. Brandt of Montana has five and a half years, and A3C Donald Corder of Oklahoma City is in his second year. A3C Tom Hackett of Ohio rounds out the team with almost a year's experience.

From the Tornado Alley van near the Aero Club, helium balloons go up at 5 a.m. and 5 p.m. To each 350-gram balloon is attached a radio transmitter which sends signals to the ground.

An automatic radio track direction finder keeps "its eye" on the balloon until the helium container breaks, recording temperatures, humidity and pressure changes, as well as wind direction and velocity. The information is recorded in the mobile unit. The balloon rises to 95,000 feet or more and is conditioned and heated to 140 degrees for 12 hours before it goes aloft.

Each balloon is about six feet in diameter when it leaves the ground. It is estimated to be as large as a Reese AFB dormitory when it bursts. The radio floats to the ground by parachute.

All weather information obtained in Tornado Alley is given to the weather detachment stationed on the base, which is used in conjunction with the weather radar. It is then passed along to other weather stations of the nation, as well as to the Kansas City Severe Weather Warnings Center.

Order Brings Back Former Rules Control

The Presidential order lifting the ban on dependent overseas travel has resulted in Air Force reinstating most travel rules which were in effect last November.

In an all commands message outlining the new travel policy, Air Force pointed out that normal forecast procedures for officers will again apply and that normal date of estimated return from overseas will be re-established.

The message also gives airmen who signed statements declining to reenlist because of the travel ban a chance to reconsider, withdraw their statement and, if otherwise eligible, still reenlist.

Airmen overseas volunteer statements were also covered in the message and allowances made for those who desire to change or withdraw their statements. This must be done, however, prior to Feb. 20 to allow time for morning report entry before the February reporting cycle.

Almost normal concurrent travel and unaccompanied dependent movement to overseas bases will resume in March.

Air Force members will proceed according to instructions contained in their current orders and will not receive time extensions or new port departure dates in order to reprocess orders for accompanied dependent travel. Instead, those who are eligible will be allowed to make applications for their dependents' travel when they reach their overseas organization.

Travel authorization issued by overseas organizations for unaccompanied dependent travel will be effective for March travel or later port calls.

PLAY SCHEDULED

The Junior Class of Frenship High School is sponsoring a three-act play, "Bolts and Nuts," March 21 in the school auditorium. The original date was March 31.

Entertainment will be provided at the intermission.

GENERAL SPEAKS—Maj. Gen. Kenneth P. Bergquist takes time on a visit to Reese AFB to explain the mission of the Air Force Command and Control Development Division to instructor pilots of the 3500th PTS. The general has commanded the division at Hanscom Field, Mass., since its inception in 1957. He is responsible for research and development in the communications and electronics areas.

ON TOUR—Capt. J. Q. Spell, AACS commander at Reese AFB, shows Col. L. C. Hess, base commander, new equipment in the control tower while touring facilities. The tower cab was completely renovated by a depot level maintenance team from Kelly AFB. Work included relocation of equipment, modification of the console, erection of additional shelf space, and rewiring and repainting of the interior. (Photo by Sorge)

From The COMMANDER'S DESK

By Col. L. C. Hess, Base Commander

The Air Training Command will conduct its Annual General Inspection of Reese, March 27th through March 31st. This inspection will be unique since Air Force Inspectors will also accompany the ATC Inspectors and evaluate them. In all probability this will be one of the most thorough inspections Reese has ever had.

This inspection will provide the Commander of Air Training Command with a personal observation, examination and evaluation of the efficiency of management here at Reese; the effectiveness and economy of our operations; the readiness of our units to perform their missions; the adequacy of our facilities; and the compliance with laws, regulations and directives.

At the same time it will provide us with unbiased attitudes and recommendations from the visiting inspectors. It will also give us a wonderful opportunity to let the Training Command and the United States Air Force know the sincere dedication we have for our mission, and pride in the way we accomplish it.

Let's not pass up this opportunity.

Spend At Home

On recommendation of the Secretary of Defense, the President announced a rescission of the Nov. 16 directive regarding movement of dependents to foreign countries.

Detailed instructions covering specific actions are being developed at Defense and Air Force levels.

The Nov. 16 directive was based on the government's concern for the rapid depletion of the U. S. gold reserve. To insure that we in the Air Force give maximum support to this critical economic problem, we must, whenever possible, spend our money "at home"—on American and not foreign made items.

In the above regard, the Chief of Staff, United States Air Force, stated: "I am confident that you would give any such matter your full support but exhort you to give even greater effort as specific evidence of Air Force support to the President and Secretary of Defense."

The Bench and Gavel

(From Office of Staff Judge Advocate)

The Air Force is making a vigorous effort to educate its personnel in sound ground safety practices. Yet, some members refuse to take warning under the mistaken idea that "accidents are something that happen to someone else" or "guys who are bothered with safety are gutless sissies."

We know that carelessness can lead to injury and death. However, another result is often ignored — the criminal prosecution. Every state in the union, and every branch of the Armed Services provides stiff penalties for involuntary manslaughter, negligent homicide or infliction of grievous bodily harm through wanton disregard for human safety.

Only last year, an Army private received a dishonorable discharge, total forfeitures and a year's confinement at hard labor for negligent operation of a government truck in Germany. His careless driving caused a multiple vehicle collision which resulted in the deaths of three persons.

Back in the states another serviceman used his automobile as a lethal weapon. He drank some beer, and a beverage known as Thunderbird wine at a Lawton, Okla., tavern. Then, with several passengers aboard, he sped through the city and out upon the highway. The accident happened when the accused failed to make it around a gradual curve and bolted into a utility pole. For killing the young man riding beside him, he was given a dishonorable discharge, total forfeitures, and a year's confinement at hard labor.

In yet another case, an airman was playing with a loaded revolver in a living room of his trailer. Across from his sat his wife and children. As he thumbed the hammer, there was a sudden roar, a scream, and his wife lay dead with a bullet through her body. For this inexcusably stupid act, a sentence of dishonorable discharge, total forfeitures and a three-year confinement was given.

Negligent homicide is one of the easiest criminal charges to avoid. Simply refuse to be reckless with the lives of others, and we'll never see you in court.

'Prepare' We Do

The diversified mission of Air Training Command is represented in the recently approved symbolic design shown below. The symbol stresses the motto, "Prepare the Man," and depicts an airman in an aerospace environment. ATC officials feel the design represents the command's mission of training personnel for all commands in the United States' expanding Aerospace Force.

The trained man is and always will be an indispensable factor in aerospace. No weapon can be fired, no aircraft can be flown without a man at the controls. Regardless of the number of missiles or other machines developed, man must tell them what to do and where to go.

ATC has the mission of training all people to carry on in aerospace. It is training the astronauts which someday, perhaps soon, may make the first flight into space. It is training the men who will control the missile in which they go aloft. It is training the men who may fly out to recover the missile and the men.

Reese AFB also works to "Prepare the Man." Its activities are aimed at preparing proficient pilots to play their part in Air Force and world history. Its graduates will serve the United States and many foreign lands in halting aggression.

"Prepare the Man" is a fitting motto. "Prepare the Man" Reese people do.

Ideal Marriage Illustrates God's Gift To Mankind

By Chaplain Jerry L. Rice

This week's word is 'marriage'. I suppose that marriage is about the most difficult, the most exasperating, the most wonderful, the most beautiful and ideal institution God gave to man.

It is the most difficult because there are individuals involved. When a minister states that two are made one, he does not mean that each of the personalities are dissolved and done away with. He means that pride takes a back seat and each person recognizes the other's individual personality and loves them than much more because of it.

It is exasperating because one must bend over backwards to make a marriage last. Someone has said that marriage is a 50-50 proposition. I feel it is a 90-90 proposition. Both sides of the partnership must work for a successful marriage. It is exasperating if one side does not try. It is exasperating to the Chaplain because people are too embarrassed to admit they need help. They don't hesitate to go to a doctor for a broken leg, but they hesitate to come to the Chaplain for a broken marriage.

Marriage is beautiful, wonderful and an ideal institution because it is a gift of God. The sooner more people recognize this fact the better off their marriage will be. The gift is sort of an analogy. It illustrates God's love for us. In the act of God sending Jesus into the world, God showed to us a new kind of love; a love even though we were unworthy; a love of God for his creatures. Thus we have in every act of marriage this same display of unselfish love for the partner. "Love knows no limit to its endurance, no end to its trust, no fading of its hope; it can outlast anything. It is, in fact, the one thing that still stands when all else has fallen . . . In this life we have three great lasting qualities — faith, hope and love. But the greatest of these is love." Without love we have nothing; no peace, no solution and least of all no real marriage.

Teen Club

The Tornados Dance Combo will play for the Teen Club Valentine Dance, from 7:30-11 p.m. tonight in the base gym. New club officers will be presented. Mrs. Elwin G. Kirby is to be chaperone.

Refreshments will be on sale at the dance, and an admission charge of 50 cents will be asked of those who attend. This dance is for both junior and senior members.

Alan Kirby is the club's new president and Diane Faulkner is the club's new first vice president. Donna Blissette was elected second vice president; Judy Westbrook, treasurer; Nancy Woodruff, secretary; and Richard Stuart, sergeant-at-arms.

There will be a regular business meeting of the Junior Teen Club at the usual time tomorrow evening.

Officer's Club

The Dunbar Combo will appear at the Reese Officer's Club from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the club's regular Friday evening dinner-dance tonight.

The Jake Miller Combo will supply the entertainment for this week's Saturday night hop, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Drivers exceeding the speed limit cause 43.1 per cent of the nation's fatalities.

Ground Safety Report

By Joe Lopez
Ground Safety Director

One of the difficulties supervisors face when "talking safety" with their people is the attitude, "It can't happen to me." It couldn't happen to these people either. But it did — and here are the results.

The descriptions here are not published to draw attention to any person, but to demonstrate that accidents are no respecters of persons. It can happen, and it can happen to any of us if we fail to use protection equipment, if we try to hurry, fail to pay attention. Very simply, we should think, then act.

At Reese AFB an airman had his foot on the corner of a table shining his shoes. His foot slipped and his knee struck an open drawer.

A sergeant slipped on ice while shoveling snow. He hurt his knee. An airman was operating an IBM tabulator when his finger was caught in a closing catch as he released a card jam.

An airman's knuckle was lacerated on a file cabinet.

A civilian was installing a tongue to an oxygen cart when the tongue slipped from his hand and fractured a toe.

An airman was washing a drinking glass and had his hand inside. The glass broke and cut his hand.

A civilian stood on a ladder to remove a brace. Stepping from the ladder, he encountered a nail in a board and punctured his foot.

An NCO straddled a ball-return at the base bowling alley to push a ball up the incline. Another ball rolled from the bowling pit to mash his thumb between the balls, causing a fracture.

It couldn't happen — but it did.

Youth Activities Top PTA Program

Activities available to youth at Reese and projected plans for expansion of the youth program will be detailed by Col. James D. C. Robinson, deputy base commander, at the February meeting of the Reese Elementary School Parent-Teachers Association at 7:30 p.m. Monday. All parents are being urged to attend.

Lt. Col. Charles F. Ford, PTA president, will preside at the meeting, which will be followed by a social hour and refreshments.

DEADLINE EARLY

Because next Wednesday is a holiday on the base, copy for the Roundup should be turned in no later than 2 p.m. Tuesday.

MSgt. Arnie Ingraham of the Hospital Squadron rolled the high game of 216 and high series of 570 in last week's Intramural League bowling.
The 3502nd Flight Line Maintenance Squadron hit the high game of 853 and high series of 2,563.
The Hornets hold top place with 8 wins, no loss, while the Hospital, Air Base Group and 3501st Student Squadron are tied for second with 7-1 records.
Officers Wives League
Gail Corbin rolled the 223 high game and 562 series in the Officers Wives Bowling League this week, with Jayne Ellis at 186 and 477 in second place.
The Sleepers hit a 1,606 high team series, while the Alley Oops had 1,605. The Bowling Bags rolled the 584 high game.
The Sleepers and Gutter Gals are tied for first place with 10-6 records, while the Pin Topplers, Bowling Bags and Cherry Pickers have 9-7.

Golf Notes
By Ken McGuire
Good weather and sunny skies seemed to have brought out everybody to play golf this past week.
The first half of the intramural league is over. Teams winding up in the top position are '02nd, in first place, and ABG in second. The second half of Intramural Golf play will resume this week.
Feb. 22, George Washington's birthday, will bring a tournament for the Reese golf course. Play will be for 18 holes best ball by a team of two with full handicap. Entry fee for the tournament will be $1.00 per person. Prizes for winners will be in golf merchandise. Registration deadline is set for 12 a.m. Feb. 21.
A qualifying tournament for the Lackland AFB Invitational will be held on March 4 and 5. The fee for this event is $1.00. Play will be for 36 holes by flights. Entry must be made by March 2 at the Golf Club House.

Colonel's Son Wins Air Science Award
Harold A. Robinson, son of Col. and Mrs. James D. C. Robinson, has been awarded the Chicago Tribune Silver Medal at Texas Tech. The award is made annually to the outstanding freshman AFROTC student and is based on air science grades.
The winner is a freshman pre-medical student at Texas Tech. He was selected from 300 freshman cadets. He also is a member of the Tech AFROTC precision drill team.

Retiring Reservists May Become Airmen
Reserve officers scheduled to leave service as a result of being twice passed over for promotion are being offered a chance to stay in uniform.
A special program set up by Air Force gives most of the officers a chance to enlist in the regular Air Force in the grade of airman first class. For most this would allow them to finish out the time needed for "20" and then retire in their former officer rank.

The Air Base Group Headquarters Squadron Section has been praised by Col. L. C. Hess, base commander, for its outstanding ground safety record during 1960.
"I am pleased to inform you that the . . . section established the lowest accident cost per capita, $1.19, in the administrative accident potential category during 1960," said the colonel in a letter of appreciation. "This is an outstanding achievement which is indicative of the ground safety practices observed, and reflects the interest and cooperation of all personnel in this squadron."
"In reducing the accident rate, not only have manhours and other resources been conserved, but the anguish and suffering that inevitably result from carelessness and indifference have been minimized."
Capt. Robert McCall is squadron commander.

"We're A Friendly Bunch"

First term airmen who previously declined to apply for selective reenlistment may have an opportunity to change their minds, says USAF.

The selective reenlistment program for first term airmen, in effect since March, 1959, was re-evaluated in a Feb. 14-15 conference at Randolph AFB.
