Officials Concerned

UF Campaign Drive Falters

The Reese United Fund campaign has shown little gain over the past week—and its progress has drawn an appeal from project officers for more interest and participation by base personnel. (See editorial on Page 2).

With the aim of having donations or pledge cards in by tomorrow, the campaign through Monday's report meeting has slowed to a trickle. Officials report only 52 per cent of the goal of $15,000 collected or pledged—or $7,793 in dollar figures.

Some units have come up, notably the 2053rd Communications Squadron which now reports 62 per cent of its objective met with 61 per cent of its personnel contacted. Only two units remain at 100 per cent—the wing commander's office which includes the Information and Safety Divisions—which has the best record—224 per cent of its goal, and the Resident Auditor's office which reports 154 per cent of its objective.

Indications are that unless a dramatic upsurge in collections are experienced over the weekend, the campaign will be extended at Reese in an effort to give all the opportunity to give to the United Fund.

Civilians Due Nine Per Cent Pay Increase

The Department of Defense announced Tuesday a nine per cent increase for blue collar workers at Reese AFB to be effective Sunday.

Col. Clyde J. Morganti, 3500th Pilot Training Wing commander, stated that, "this will mean more than $200,000 annually for our 371 skilled and semi-skilled workers—all of whom reside in Lubbock and the surrounding communities.

"Our pay scale is based upon the prevailing rates in this area which includes Amarillo, Midland, Odessa, Big Spring, San Angelo, Abilene, and Lubbock," he added.

AWARDS PRESENTED—Lt. Col. Charles K. Rose III, 3500th Pilot Training Squadron commander, admires the Air Medal he presented to Capt. Edwin D. Handley, an instructor pilot with the 3500th PTS, in the squadron's orderly room Oct. 14. Also recognized in the ceremony was Capt. Thomas N. Thompson who was presented a Well Done Award for flight safety achievement. (U.S. Air Force Photo)

Procurement Airman Cops Base's Monthly Laurels

The contract administrator for construction contracts at Reese has been selected as the Airman of the Month of October.

A1C Peter J. Fargerson, assigned to the Procurement Division, is responsible for the performing of contractor-labor compliance checks, reviewing payrolls and progress scheduled for all construction contracts. He also reviews all supply purchase orders to ensure that delivery of materials is accomplished as required by the purchase document.

Capt. Richard E. Sewell, chief, base Procurement Division, reported that "Airman Fargerson is a 'self-starter' whose initiative and abilities rank him head and shoulders above his contemporaries. He possesses the attitude to learn all he can about the procurement field. He has always demonstrated a high degree of judgment, business acumen and professionalism."

The airman was assigned to Reese from basic military training after passing the by-pass specialist test. According to Captain Sewell, "Airman Fargerson has shown great initiative in overcoming his lack of procurement knowledge and is now considered to be the most outstanding airman assigned to the Procurement office."

A native of Cicero, Ill., Airman Fargerson attended Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, Ill., for three years with a major in marketing. He is currently enrolled in courses at Texas Tech University and plans to participate in the Airman Education and Commissioning Program.

Airman Fargerson and his wife, Patricia, have one son, Peter, 8 months.

Pilots Awarded Flying Degrees

Three instructors with the 3500th Pilot Training Squadron have been awarded Doctors Degree of Instruction certificates and three awarded Master Instructor certificates for flying training.

Maj. Raymond A. Malacarne, Capt. Jimmie C. Gray and Capt. Gerald E. Copher were awarded Doctors Degrees of Instruction certificates for completing 1800 hours of accident-free flying time, including 1300 instructor pilot hours in jet aircraft.

Certificates of Master Instructor were awarded Captains Charles Chambers, Peter Jenks and Carl Lewis for completing 800 hours flying time in the Northrop T-38 Talon aircraft as instructor pilots without an accident attributable to pilot error, 500 hours of the time accrued at Reese.

Capt. Leo B. Hunt, instructor pilot for the 3500th Pilot Training Squadron, has been granted the aeronautical rating of senior pilot effective Oct. 22.

Committee Now Preparing Plan For Guidance

"Holidays From Danger" — a massive safety campaign aimed at Reesites over the Thanksgiving-Christmas holiday period—will begin Nov. 26 and carry through Jan. 1, 1970.

Despite the campaign being nearly a month away, a committee set up to guide the campaign has already held two meetings and has scheduled one such meeting each week throughout the end of the campaign. The committee consists of unit ground safety officers and representatives from the Safety and Information Divisions. The meetings are set for 8:30 a.m. on Mondays. Heading the committee is the campaign project officer, Maj. Charles C. Gaylord, Personnel Services officer.

The committee has already made preliminary plans for two contests to be held on the base in connection with the campaign. One is a slogan contest designed to promote intersection safety, with judging to be accomplished by the Lubbock Citizens Traffic Commission. Prizes for the contest will be a $25 U.S. Savings Bond donated by the Lubbock Citizens Traffic Commission to the first-place winner; a front-end alignment donated by L. T. Rhodes Brake and Alignment of Lubbock for the second-place winner and a Parker Award Series pen

Security Police To Hold Reins On Halloween

Reese Village will be well patrolled tonight by Security Police to insure against unauthorized trick-or-treating during the Halloween evening hours.

A security policeman will be posted at each entrance to the village along Fourth Street. Each will have a radio in their possession. All visitors to the village will be stopped and their destinations requested. The policemen will radio the Security Police desk sergeant and he, in turn, will phone persons being visited to verify the expected arrival. If the visitor is not expected, the visitor will be denied entrance to the village.

There will also be additional Security Police patrols within the village to look out for the safety of children, unauthorized visitors and to protect government property. Concerning the safety of children, the Security Police Division is asking parents to be sure their children have lights carried by them to help make them visible to motorists.

Trick Or Treat Rules Announced

Late word received as the Roundup was going to press is that trick-or-treating tonight will be limited to a two-hour period between 6 and 8 p.m. in Reese Village and the Trailer Park.

Personnel who expect visitors during those hours today are requested to notify the Security Police desk sergeant, ext. 615.

FOR THE COMMANDER

UF Campaign Needs Everyone's Support

Col. Clyde J. Morganti
Wing Commander

By Lt. Col. Elmer L. Tuck
Base Comptroller

As our annual United Fund drive goes into its final weeks, we find we are only a little more than half way to our assigned goal. We had high hopes that we would be almost there by this time. The cause is such a worthy one, that we who had the opportunity of visiting some of the agencies being supported by the United Fund and seeing the fine things that are being done, are rather despondent that we were not able to get the message across to those who have not seen how great the need is. If everyone could visit just a few of the needy agencies receiving UF funds, we wouldn't even have to ask for donations—they would be made spontaneously. And our quota is small as compared to UF's "Fair Share" and to what business firms downtown are asking their people to give. Lubbock is "home" to our civilian employees, and it is also our "home away from home". Somebody else may be taking care of the needy back in our hometowns; therefore, it is certainly appropriate that we in the military give our fair share in our temporary hometown. The agencies supported by UF generally have no other source of income; they are not on welfare; they have to depend entirely on our generosity.

Lt. Col. Tuck

The campaign isn't over yet. We still have a week or so to show that we do care. And we do believe that you will be generous if you are only aware that a truly great need does exist. Perhaps you were a bit short of cash when the key worker approached you the first time. Now we would like to afford you the opportunity to pledge a little for the future. All you have to do is sign a pledge card, specifying how much you are willing to give and when you would like to be billed for it. UF will take it from there and remind you during the next year at that time, or times, you have specified on your pledge card. If you haven't yet given, or if you have already contributed and can spare a few more dollars in the future, do get that pledge card to your key worker. You'll feel better because you did.

How About The Things Zero Defects Can Not Do For You

Everytime the subject of Zero Defects comes up, the first thing they tell you is what it will do for you. How it saves money. How it cuts down on manhours. How it benefits the safety program. You name it and they'll tell you how Zero Defects contributed to the success.

But what about the things it won't do for you.

1. It won't, aah . . .
2. In our squadron we find that it won't, uh . . .
3. We know a lot of people who say it won't, aah . . .

4. Most importantly, it won't, uh . . . hum . . . ?

Well, you can't win them all. We just couldn't find anything that Zero Defects is not a part of. If all our people strive for Zero Defects in their work, we'd have a much improved operation.

We did come to the conclusion that the end results would be rewarding if we do our utmost to reach the ultimate error-free goal. Remember, anything is possible with Zero Defects but Zero Defects is not possible without the full support of the people who do the work. (ATCPS)

The Whole Man Concept

Quest For Whole Man

(Prepared by the USAF Chaplain Board)
Survival in space flight will make inhuman demands upon terrestrial man. He will run the gamut of slow death if exposed to radiation belts, obliteration by gravity changes or destruction by other violent forces. Do we have astronauts to undergo these inhuman demands? Should we create a new man for these missions?

A science writer and several Air Force scientists with tongue in cheek attempted to design a perfect man to make their future flights into space. They framed his physical constitution with all the features lacking in the twentieth century homo-sapiens. Here are some of the suggested built-ins for their superhuman friend: two hearts as a safety feature; bones and muscles ten times stronger than the average man; ultraviolet and infrared vision; increased resistance to cold; a tail for balance in zero gravity; and other features for this titan figure.

A second look at this monster revealed an unexpected weakness. Under massive acceleration two hearts would necessarily be weaker than one. Extended vision requirements would lose what is already extremely flexible and acute eyesight. Each superhuman feature was soon eliminated in favor of the perfect man who walks the sidewalks of any town.

"There's a moral lesson to learn here," one Air Force scientist explained, "and that is to appreciate what man is right now." Man is a complexus of body and soul. He is created by God and has responsibilities to Him. He lives in a world community and must respect the rights of his fellow men. In order to fulfill these responsibilities he must discipline the whole man.

Credit Cards Could Prove Troublesome

Behold the credit card! Some cards are issued directly by merchants. Other companies issue a card good at many stores, airlines and hotels.

The cardholder is almost always responsible for purchases made by him or persons authorized by him.

Even an unsolicited card sent through the mail may contain conditions. If you use the card you have by that use accepted the conditions.

Most credit cards say you are liable for purchases until the issuer gets written notice of the card's loss or theft.

Keep a record of your card numbers. If one is lost or stolen, notify the company immediately by registered mail or telegram. Then, if a merchant is negligent in not indentifying or checking up on the unauthorized user of a card, the merchant bears the loss. (AFNS)

Quote of Note

(An AFNS Feature)

"I'd say that the young people in today's Air Force are better educated than any previous generation. As a result, they're more skeptical. You can't snow them and you can't look down your nose at them. But once they are convinced that something is worthwhile, they will do the job with a keen sense of mission and real dedication." (Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. John D. Ryan, Washington, D.C., Sept. 23, 1969.)

Reopening Of Schools Places Responsibilities On All Adults

(An AFNS Editorial)

Schools have reopened and children have returned to the classrooms.

This places increased responsibility on adults—for not merely getting the children to school, but insuring that they arrive safely. Every motorist can help.

Signs offer some assistance. "Stop." "School Zone." "Caution." "Speed Limit 25 m.p.h."

The signs have been there all year! But with the beginning of school, they have added emphasis.

Motorists must drive with extra care at the most critical times, the start and end of the school day. Be prepared to stop in an instant when driving by parked cars in congested school areas. Children can and do dart out at times.

Assume that a child riding a bicycle in the street might lose control as you pull past him. To avoid a tragedy, sound your horn long before you pass and when you do, pass slowly, giving him plenty of room.

It's difficult for a child to give up the delights of vacation time and return to school. It's asking a lot of him to exchange summer pleasures for the more serious business of education. Vehicle drivers can help by looking out for him until he is more settled in the business.

The rewards are easily worth the extra care.

Lessen Chances Of Burglary

(From the Security Police Digest)

The International Association of Chiefs of Police recommends you take the following actions to lessen the chances of burglary during your absence:

Stop regular deliveries, such as milk and newspapers, so they will not pile up outside and advertise that you are not at home.

Arrange with a neighbor or the post office to hold your mail.

Leave a lamp or two connected to an automatic timer so your lights will turn on at dusk and off again at bedtime, to give a "lived in" look.

Do not leave shades or draperies tightly closed—a tip-off you are away.

Do not leave valuables inside; put them in your safe-deposit box or leave them with a friend.

Arrange to have the lawn mowed, if it would have time to become shaggy.

Leave a key with trusted neighbors for use in an emergency. Ask that they check the house frequently to make sure everything is in order.

Notify the Security Police, or civil police if you live off base, when you will leave and return; tell them who has the key.

Make a final check to see that all doors and windows are locked.

The idea is to avoid anything that would make it apparent to a potential burglar that the house is unoccupied.

The association also recommends that, to increase security throughout the year, you have all outside doors equipped with locks of the dead-bolt type. In the case of a door with a glass panel within arm's length of the inner side of the lock, install a lock that requires a key to unlock it from the inside as well as the outside. Thus a burglar who broke the glass and reached inside still could not unlock the door. Simple spring-latch locks can be opened with a credit card or metal strip.

Society Provides Education Funds

The Gen. Henry H. Arnold Educational Fund, administered by the Air Force Aid Society, provides funds to Air Force dependent children who are in need of financial assistance for a college education or vocational training beyond the high school level.

The assistance provided by the fund is intended to supplement the financial support which may be expected from the parents and the student. Persons eligible for assistance are the unmarried, dependent children of: Air Force personnel and Army Air Forces personnel who died on active duty or after having been retired from active duty; Air Force and Air Force Reserve personnel who retire from active duty; Air Force personnel on active duty; and Air National Guard and Air Force Reserve personnel on extended active duty with the Air Force.

Assistance is in the form of a combination of loan and grant in amounts not to exceed $1,500 per student, per school year. Loans are interest free and do not have to be repaid until after the student graduates or leaves full-time attendance at an undergraduate school, whichever occurs first. Grants are outright gifts which do not have to be repaid.

The student must submit a certificate of admission to the school he will attend before the Society can determine whether assistance may be granted. There are no scholastic requirements for freshmen students. Students who are freshmen, sophomores or juniors in college must submit a complete, official transcript of the college work at the close of the academic year. Those who have not earned the necessary credits required by their institutions for promotion do not qualify for the educational assistance.

Applications for assistance are obtained upon request from the Director, Air Force Aid Society. Request forms may be obtained from the personal affairs office, building 815.

Board Chooses E-8 Promotions

RANDOLPH AFB, Tex. (AFNS) — A central promotion board meeting at the Air Force Military Personnel Center selected 1,338 noncommissioned officers for promotion to the grade of senior master sergeant.

The selection objective for 1970, less than experienced in previous promotion years because of programmed force reduction and personnel budget cuts, was applied to 26,068 eligible master sergeants nominated by major commands. Promotion opportunity was approximately 19-to-1.

Similar austerity was forecast for another central board which will convene at the center Nov. 13 to select chief master sergeants

New Registration Procedures Planned For Base Motorists

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Air Force, which on Aug. 1 implemented a standardized automobile decal system, has taken another step to reduce visits by base motorists to local Security Police offices.

Certificates of Compliance soon will be available at base outlets which will acknowledge the driver's possession of a valid driver's license, auto registration and proof of ownership, safety inspection, if applicable, and liability insurance coverage that meets at least the minimum requirements of the state in which the installation is located.

The certificates follow the Defense Department ruling that all military personnel and civilians no longer are required to show proof that they possess auto liability insurance to register and drive on military installations.

Previously, officers and senior noncommissioned officers were permitted to certify that they possessed the required insurance coverage while other base drivers were required to show documented proof of proper insurance coverage.

The Air Force action will, primarily, eliminate the visit to base vehicle registration to certify insurance coverage. The savings in manhours, by both the registrant and the registration clerks, and administration costs of maintaining the records is expected to be considerable.

The motorist arriving at a base normally will complete the Certificate of Compliance during the course of his "processing." The certificate will be retained by the driver for display if requested by a security policeman while operating a vehicle on base.

Individuals will be expected to keep base registration offices advised promptly of changes in data provided when the decal was issued. This can be accomplished by phone or memo.

Air Force officials report no snags in initial registration of the standardized decal program. The program is expected to be completed by August. The original supply of the bumper stickers was exhausted within 60 days and a second printing order has been made.

The 2x2 blue and yellow reflective decals, advocated for many years, is aimed at eliminating the time-consuming registration procedures during transfers and temporary duty assignments.

Secretary Orders Annual Mess Audit

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has ordered "immediate action" to assure that officers' and noncommissioned officers' open messes are audited at least once a year by independent certified or licensed public accountants.

Secretary Laird directed the Secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force and the directors of defense agencies to take the action, which will be financed from the nonappropriated funds of the activities concerned.

The requirement for at least an annual independent audit affects open messes which spend $10,000 a year or more.

Open Messes Sponsor Bright Halloween Weekend Activities

All of the Halloween activity will not rest with the kids tonight, as both the Officers and NCO Open Messes plan gala affairs.

One of the "wildest nights" of the year is shaping up at the Officers Open Mess with the initial appearance of "The Green Men," a group made up of four men and two women, all of which sport green hair. Open mess secretary 1st Lt. Jerry Goldstein said the act uses special effects, including fire, in their acts and summed it up with one word—"wild." In keeping with the motif, the mess will feature green beer as part of the Halloween evening. Everyone is encouraged to come in costume and prizes will be awarded to the couple, man and women wearing the costume judged best at the Open Mess.

A similar contest will be held at the NCO Open Mess with prizes awarded the couple wearing the best Halloween costume. An equally wild night is expected there with the appearance of the Nivicos from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. In addition, the NCO Open Mess is planning a special dinner to be served in the dining room for $1.50. Commendation, Air Medals Go To Former Honor Graduate

The Air Force Commendation Medal and the second through 11th Oak Leaf Cluster to the Air Medal have been presented to a Reese AFB captain who graduated from Undergraduate Pilot Training at Reese with high honors.

Capt. Edward T. Meschko, 3500th Pilot Training Squadron, received the medals for service while assigned to the 3rd Tactical Fighter Wing, Republic of Vietnam from Aug. 10, 1968, to May 1, 1969.

He received the coveted Orville Wright Achievement Award, given by the Order of Daedalions and was sworn into that order on graduation day by Brig. Gen. James P. Newberry, USAF Retired, national vice commander of the Order of Deadalions.

Captain Meschko is a graduate of the Air Force Academy and earned his master's degree in engineering science from California Institute of Technology the following year on a fellowship from the Atomic Energy Commission. He is currently assigned as an instructor pilot.

Reese Weather Detachment In Annual Contest

Forecasters at Detachment 11, 24th Weather Squadron, are currently sharpening their skills in preparation for the squadron's third annual Forecaster Jamboree competition.

The Jamboree, won last year by Vance AFB, Okla., is a forecasting competition among weather detachments of the 24th Weather Squadron.

The 18 detachments are grouped into two leagues, the Eastern and Western, and competition is separated into three rounds. In the elimination round, forecasters will match wits in an attempt to finish among the top three detachments in each league.

The playoff round follows, to determine the two league champions who will then compete against each other for the squadron championship.

The objective is for detachments to make the smallest error point score on their forecasts, which include surface and upper air data.

Information Chief Commended

Capt. William J. Hubbard, chief, Information Division, has been commended for his efforts in a recent community endeavor directly helping crippled children in Texas.

In a letter from Gil Moody, vice president of the Citizens National Bank, Lubbock, Tex., Captain Hubbard was commended for his aid in the 1969 Khiva Shrine Bowl football game held last month in Jones Stadium. The letter said in part: "Without the cooperation of your fine group, a task of this proportion would be utterly impossible. It was indeed a pleasure to work with you in this program and I know that any success we have will be a direct result of the tremendous effort on your part. My sincere appreciation to each of you and to your staff for a job well done."

Students Score Upset
 In Flag Grid Tourney

Student Squadron #1 scored an impressive upset over Air Base Group Sunday at the base football field to take a commanding position in the Reese AFB Flag Football Championships. The students won the game 13-0.

It was only the second game of an often-postponed tournament, and was sandwiched in between two heavy rain spells which left the playing field soggy and slick. Barring more rain, the third game of the tournament was to be played yesterday at 4:30 p.m. at the base football field between the two defeated squads — Air Base Group and Supply Squadron, both having met defeat at the hands of Student Squadron #1. The winner of yesterday's game is scheduled to meet Student Squadron #1 tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. and should they defeat Student Squadron #1, another—and final game—is set for 4:30 p.m. that will determine the base championship.

Banquet Slated
 Nov. 10 Honors

Principal speaker for the occasion will be Jimmy Keeling, coach of the Estacado High School football team. Other guests will include Col. Clyde J. Morganti, wing commander, Mrs. Morganti, and Chaplain (Lieutenant Colonel) Issac M. Copeland, base chaplain.

Highlight of the program will be a presentation of awards to be made by Maj. Ronald E. Gauger, chairman of the youth advisory council.

TOP ATHLETE—Sgt. Ken Hyde, 3500th Air Base Group, receives the Top Athlete of the Quarter award from Capt. John B. Peterson, Air Base Group Squadron commander during Commander's Call Tuesday at the NCO Open Mess. Sergeant Hyde was cited for his participation in a number of sports, including the base softball team which won second place in the ATC tournament recently. (U.S. Air Force Photo)

Base Badminton Title Decided

A 10-day badminton tournament ended at the Reese AFB gymnasium Oct. 24 with winners determined in the singles and doubles events of the tournament.

Tim Chilcutt of Student Squadron beat out Phil Wertheimer of Air Base Group on Oct. 21 to climax a week of competition among 16 entries in that division of play.

In the doubles, the team of Steve Willis and Jerry Beck of the 2053rd Communications Squadron beat out the team of Larry Stoll and Wertheimer to take the doubles event on Oct. 24. A total of six teams participated in that event.

 Entries will be accepted beginning tomorrow and through Nov. 21. They must be written so as to promote safety at street and highway intersections and submitted to the Safety Division. The other contest will be the squadron display contest at which squadrons are invited to erect displays depicting the basic theme of the campaign, "Home-Safe". Rules of the contest call for construction of the displays on a 4x8 foot piece of plywood with all auxiliary materials used in connection with the display firmly attached to the plywood. Entries must be erected before Dec. 10 with judging to be accomplished by Dec. 15. The winners will be announced and awards presented during the Wing Commanders' Conference.

An innocation this year will be a continuous changing display depicting the "Home-Safe" theme. The display will be set up on the crossover area on Main Boulevard with each large organization erecting a display for one week, then dismantling it and the four smaller squadrons erecting and dismantling the last display.

The first display is due to be erected Nov. 25 by Air Base Group. It will remain on display for a week, then weekly displays will be presented by the following squadron in this order, 3501st Student Squadron, 3500th Field Maintenance Squadron, 3500th Organizational Maintenance Squadron, 3500th-3501st Pilot Training Squadrons, 3500th Supply Squadron and 3500th USAF Hospital Squadron. The latter four organizations will combine their efforts during the week of Dec. 22 - Jan. 2.

HQ. ATC (ATCPS)—Applicants for Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps four-year, full-tuition grants must apply to the AFROTC Office of Information before Nov. 14 to be considered for the 1970-71 academic year. Along with paying the full tuition each year for the student, the grant also pays laboratory and associated fees, a book allowance, and $50 per month tax-free allowance. Cadets currently participating in four-year AFROTC programs can also apply for one, two or three year grants. These grants have the same benefits and qualifications as the four-year grants, except the cadet is not required to enter flight training upon graduation. Applications may be received by writing: Air Force ROTC, Office of Information, Maxwell AFB, Ala. 36112.

A cost reduction item that will net the base $1,429.41 for Fiscal Year 1970 has been forwarded to Air Training Command for validation. The item comes with management action at the base photo lab with the use of excess and surplus property. Previously, an obsolete printer had been used despite increasing workload placed on it. Management action resulted in obtaining a replacement at a Utah supply depot with the new printer received in September.
