Local poet/farmer to hold book signing Saturday

By ROGER CLINE
 Staff Writer

He's a writer and a farmer, a poet and a philosopher, a musician and an advocate of natural farming practices. He's a resident of Ackerly, Texas, and he's signing his latest book, "I Am the Tumbleweed," at the Heritage Museum of Big Spring, 510 S. Scurry Street, Saturday evening. His name is Eric Herm.

"Eric is doing a book signing on his poetry. He's done several books, but this particular book, the 'Tumbleweed,' is about his views on farming and life in the country," said Heritage Museum Director/Curator Tammy Schreengost. "Very interesting anecdotes and poems. He is also a farmer – a cotton farmer – but he believes in all-natural farming. He doesn't believe in the pesticides and the all the poisonous things they put into the Earth. He likes to Friday is approaching, which means it is almost time for Kindred Coffee Hour. If you haven't yet attended this free public event put on by Kindred at Home and SMMC, here is a little information about it.

Kindred Coffee Hour is a weekly event that takes place every Friday from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m., and is always free to the public. This informative coffee hour takes place at the Yellow Rose Cafe inside Scenic Mountain Medical Center, located at 1601 W. 11th place here in Big Spring.

The Kindred staff provides blood pressure checks as well as oxygen and heart rate checks; and, of course, coffee! Most of Kindred's coffee hours feature a guest speaker to help educate the community about their health, whether it be medically related or not. According to Kindred Community Sales Specialist Christian Fair, the goal for this program is to develop relationships in the community while also educating people on their health.

"Whether we are able to steer people in the right direction when it comes to their health, or even if they are already doing

Kicks for Cash, a Howard County tradition

By TYLER SCHELLIE
 Staff Writer

If you often find yourself underneath the Friday night lights every week, you might have heard the phrase Kicks for Cash announced over the speaker a time or two. In case you aren't familiar with it, Kicks for Cash is an event sponsored by Sonic that takes place at half-time in both Coahoma's and Big Spring's Football home games. This tradition has been going on for numerous years, and shows no sign of slowing down as it is a fun and interactive, even rewarding portion of our school's athletic events.

This half time activity gives one lucky person a chance to kick a field goal from the 15 yard line (a 25 yard field goal) for cash to either donate to their favorite charity or to keep all for themselves.

"Each week the field goal is missed, the money will roll over to the next game," Kbest's Mark Richardson said. During what is promised to be a very heated match up between The Big Spring Steers and Andrews Mustangs this Friday, October 26, the Kick for cash has reached the highest cash prize Richardson has seen so far at $500, and one lucky participant gets to Every week there is something different in store for the guests of Kindred Coffee Hour. This Friday, their will be two special guest speakers in honor of Domestic Violence Awareness Month, Big Spring Police Department's Sgt. Taft and Linda Calvio of Victims Services. Calvio went on to say that one in ten women know someone in a violent domestic relationship and that it's a very real thing.

"A lot of people don't know about our services and what we offer," said Calvio. "I will also be there to give details on Big Spring Victim Services. I encourage the public to come and educate themselves on a real situation at the Kindred Coffee Hour this Friday."

South Carolina convenience store sells $1.537 billion ticket

By JACK JONES and
MICHAEL WARREN

Associated Press

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — A flimsy little piece of paper that crossed the counter of a convenience store on a country road in South Carolina is now worth $1.537 billion, so lottery officials could hardly be blamed Wednesday if their excitement seemed colored by anxiety.

They said a single ticket sold at the KC Mart in Simpsonville, South Carolina, matched all six numbers to win the Mega Millions jackpot. And unless the winner chooses to come forward, the world may never know who bought the ticket that matched all six numbers drawn Tuesday night.

"Our message to the $1.5 BILLION #Mega Millions jackpot winner: Sign the back of the ticket, place the ticket in a safe location, speak with a trusted advisor and CALL THE LOTTERY at 1-866-736-9819. Take a deep breath and enjoy the moment!" the South Carolina Education Lottery tweeted.

An earlier Mega Millions estimate of $1.6 billion would have been a world record for lotteries, but actual sales came in below the $1.586 billion Powerball jackpot prize shared by winners in California, Florida and Tennessee in January of 2016.

"The final total was less than the $1.6 billion estimate," confirmed Carol Gentry, a spokeswoman for the Maryland Lottery, which leads a consortium of state lotteries participating in the Mega Millions jackpot.

"Estimates are based on historical patterns," she explained Wednesday morning in a phone interview with The Associated Press. "The jackpot's been rolling since it was hit in July in California, but there are few precedents for a jackpot of this size. Typically, about 70 percent of sales occur on the drawing day, so forecasting precise numbers in advance can be difficult. That's why we always use the term estimate."

The ticket is worth about $877.8 million in a lump-sum cash payment, which most winners choose to take, rather than collect the full amount in South Carolina is one of eight states — along with Delaware, Georgia, Kansas, Maryland, North Dakota, Ohio and Texas — where winners can remain anonymous. The winner also has up to 180 days to claim the prize.

Sheriff feels 'outpouring of support' in missing girl case

Volunteers cross a creek and barbed wire near Barron, Wis., Tuesday, Oct. 23, 2018, on their way to a ground search for 13-year-old Jayme Closs who was discovered missing Oct. 15 after her parents were found fatally shot at their home. The search for Closs was expanded Tuesday, with as many as 2,000 volunteers expected to take part in a search of the area.

By JEFF BAENEN

BARRON, Wis. (AP) — A Wisconsin sheriff thanked volunteer searchers who helped canvass the area surrounding the home of a 13-year-old girl who is believed to have been abducted and whose parents were killed.

Barron County Sheriff Chris Fitzgerald said in a Facebook post Tuesday that investigators were assessing several items that volunteers found during an expanded search for clues that might lead them to Jayme Closs, but none of them seemed to be linked to her disappearance as of Tuesday evening.

As many as 2,000 volunteers from in and around the Closs family's hometown of Barron and as far away as the Minneapolis area, about 80 miles (130 kilometers) to the southwest, heeded the call for volunteer help. They walked through swamps, cornfields and woods in chilly weather.

"The outpouring of hope and support from the community and law enforcement has been overwhelming," Fitzgerald said, adding that Jayme is believed to still be missing and endangered.

Fitzgerald said authorities had received more than 1,400 tips as of Tuesday and had closed 1,100 of them while continuing to work the others. Some of those tips led authorities to conduct Tuesday's expanded search.

After being instructed to proceed slowly, to yell "Stop!" if they see anything and to wait for the authorities to come check it out, volunteers fanned out in lines to search marshes, wooded areas and fields. Video posted on Twitter by a KMSP-TV reporter showed searchers walking in a grid pattern, using the sticks to bat down tall grass and vegetation.

Reporters tracking various search groups tweeted that volunteers were told to look for anything that could be a clue, such as a cellphone, piece of clothing or gun.

Jayne Closs has been missing since sheriff's deputies responding to a 911 call early on the morning of Oct. 15 found the door to her family's home near Barron kicked in and her parents, James and Denise Closs, dead inside. They had been shot. Investigators believe Jayme was abducted and ruled her out as a suspect on the investigation's first day.

Joe Scheu, a retiree from the nearby village of Haugen, said he was taking part in Tuesday's search because he has a 13-year-old granddaughter and he wanted to help out. He said the violence in the case is terrible and that he feels sorry for Jayme.

Jill Robinson, who lives about 60 miles (100 kilometers) south in Eleva, drove to Barron with a friend to join the search.

"I guess I'm not doing anything different than I would hope someone would do if it was one of my loved ones in this situation right now," said Robinson, 48. "I just think anytime it hits close to home like this, it just makes you think it could be you or one of our loved ones."

Investigators are also searching for two cars — a red or orange Dodge Challenger and a black Ford Edge or black Acura MDX — that may have been near the Closs family's home on the night of the attack, Fitzgerald said. He didn't have information about the cars' license plates.

Relatives plan to hold a funeral for James and Denise Closs at 1 p.m. Saturday at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Cameron, a village next to Barron. The funeral will be preceded by an 11 a.m. visitation.

Fitzgerald said he planned to provide another update in the case on Wednesday afternoon.

Child death toll hits 7 in viral outbreak at rehab center

Police cruisers are seen parked near the entrance of the Wanaque Center For Nursing And Rehabilitation, where New Jersey state Health Department confirmed the 18 cases of adenovirus, Tuesday, Oct. 23, 2018, in Haskell, N.J. The outbreak has left six children dead and 12 others sick. The facility has been told it can't admit any new patients until the outbreak ends. Adenoviruses usually just cause mild illnesses. But officials say this outbreak is particularly severe because it's affecting medically fragile children with severely compromised immune systems. They also note this strain has been particularly associated with disease in communal living facilities.

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Another child has died following a severe viral outbreak at a New Jersey rehabilitation center for "medically fragile children," bringing the death toll to seven, the facility said Wednesday.

There have been 18 cases overall of adenovirus at the Wanaque Center for Nursing and Rehabilitation in Haskell, about 30 miles (50 kilometers) northwest of New York, the state Health Department said. The 227-bed, for-profit facility cares for children and elderly residents.

The agency had said Tuesday that six children died this month. But the center said it learned Tuesday night that another child had died.

Adenoviruses are a group of common viruses that typically cause mild illnesses, from cold-like symptoms to conjunctivitis. But people with weakened immune systems, particularly children, are at higher risk of severe illness.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

21). People open up to you whether you want them to or not. You'll hear secrets. You'll hear stories that don't make sense.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23).

But that's OK. You'll form an opinion based on what you feel, not what you understand.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). While it would be foolish to launch your ship straight into a storm, it's also true that there's always a storm out there somewhere. Those who wait for calm seas everywhere will never launch.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). The meal can start a lot of ways -- with soup, a salad, a cheese platter -- but it almost never starts with candy. Maximum sweetness is something to work up to because there's nowhere to go from there.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). A fun friend would be thrilled to monopolize your afternoon, and if you take this route, you'll have the kind of good time that will make you wonder why you didn't do it sooner.

Would you look strong or be strong and look weak? Don't answer -- you're too smart to commit to one look. You play each situation as needed, and you let neither pride nor modesty get in the way.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). What looks pretty in pictures may only be happening in the instant of a camera click. Can it be sustained over time? This remains to be seen. Keep the principle in mind while you peruse today's images of so-called real life.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). You know that you are enough just as you are. You don't have to prove yourself by showing what you can do or spending lavishly. If you chose to do these things, it will be out of enjoyment, not insecurity.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Those on the inside seem to know more than those on the outside, but this is only a social illusion. You can be a part of any group you want to be a part of today. Introduce yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You're building something new. Without firm, hard, strong principles, this thing can't stand. You also need open clearings for light, air, and a good flow of people and ideas to come in and out.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Someone who believes in you and encourages you --this is no small luxury to have in your life. Many never get this and live without feeling particularly understood or valued. Celebrate your supporters.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

This Date In History

Today is Thursday, Oct. 25, the 298th day of 2018. There are 67 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History: On Oct. 25, 1760, Britain's King George III succeeded his late grandfather, George II.

On this date:

In 1854, the "Charge of the Light Brigade" took place during the Crimean War as an English brigade of more than 600 men charged the Russian army, suffering heavy losses.

In 1859, radical abolitionist John Brown went on trial in Charles Town, Va., for his failed raid at Harpers Ferry. (Brown was convicted and hanged.)

In 1910, "America the Beautiful," with words by Katharine Lee Bates and music by Samuel A. Ward, was first published.

In 1945, Taiwan became independent of Japanese colonial rule.

In 1954, a meeting of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's Cabinet was carried live on radio and television.

In 1962, during a meeting of the U.N. Security Council, U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson II demanded that Soviet Ambassador Valerian Zorin confirm or deny the existence of Soviet-built missile bases in Cuba; Stevenson then presented photographic evidence of the bases to the Council.

In 1971, the U.N. General Assembly voted to admit mainland China and expel Taiwan.

In 1983, a U.S.-led force invaded Grenada at the order of President Ronald Reagan, who said the action was needed to protect U.S. citizens there.

In 1986, in Game 6 of the World Series, the Boston Red Sox lost to the New York Mets, 6-5, on a wild pitch and an error in the tenth inning, forcing a seventh game, which the Mets ended up winning.

In 1994, Susan Smith of Union, South Carolina, claimed that a black carjacker had driven off with her two young sons (Smith later confessed to drowning the children in John D. Long Lake, and was convicted of murder). Three defendants were convicted in South Africa of murdering American exchange student Amy Biehl. In 1998, all three were granted amnesty by South Africa's Truth and Reconciliation Commission.

In 2001, a day after the House signed on, the Senate sent President Bush the U.S.A. Patriot Act, a package of anti-terrorism measures giving police sweeping new powers to search people's homes and business records secretly and to eavesdrop on telephone and computer conversations.

In 2002, U.S. Sen. Paul Wellstone, D-Minn., was killed in a plane crash in northern Minnesota along with his wife, daughter and five others, a week and a-half before the election. Actor Richard Harris died in London at age 72.

Ten years ago: Arkansas television anchorwoman Anne Pressly, 26, died five days after she was found beaten in her home. Game 3 of the World Series began in Philadelphia at 10:06 p.m. Eastern time after being delayed by rain; the Phillies went on to beat the Tampa Bay Rays, 5-4, for a 2-1 Series lead in a matchup that finished at 1:47 a.m.

Five years ago: Indignant at reports of U.S. electronic espionage overseas, the leaders of France and Germany said they would insist the Obama administration agree by year's end to limits that could put an end to alleged American eavesdropping on foreign leaders, businesses and innocent civilians. Death claimed British actor Nigel Davenport, 85, Hollywood stunt double Hal Needham, 82, and actress-comedian Marcia Wallace, 70.

One year ago: Two women who said they had been lost at sea for nearly six months were rescued by a U.S. Navy ship in the Pacific. (The women said they had set out from Honolulu for what was supposed to be an 18-day journey to Tahiti in May but that they encountered a storm; records showed no severe weather in the area at the time, and other inconsistencies in their story came to light in the days after their rescue.) CBS News named correspondent Jeff Glor as anchor of the "CBS Evening News." The U.S. government announced that all incoming flights to the United States would be subject to new security screening procedures before takeoff.

Today's Birthdays: Former American League president Dr. Bobby Brown is 94. Actress Marion Ross is 90. Basketball Hall of Famer Bob Knight is 78. Pop singer Helen Reddy is 77. Author Anne Tyler is 77. Rock singer Jon Anderson (Yes) is 74. Political strategist James Carville is 74. Singer Taffy Danoff (Starland Vocal Band) is 74. Rock musician Glenn Tipton (Judas Priest) is 71. Actor Brian Kerwin is 69. Woman who created green bean casserole dies at 92

SHAWN MARSH

Associated Press
HADDONFIELD, N.J. (AP) — The woman who created a Thanksgiving staple — the green bean casserole — enjoyed by millions has died at age 92.

Dorcas Reilly died on Oct. 15 of Alzheimer's disease, said Ken Tomlinson of the Hinski-Tomlinson Funeral Home in Haddonfield, New Jersey.

Campbell Soup officials said the New Jersey resident was the driving force behind the popular dish, made with green beans and cream of mushroom soup topped with crunchy fried onions. The company said it is the most popular recipe ever to come out of its corporate kitchen.

The original recipe card was donated to the National Inventors Hall of Fame in 2002.

"Dorcas was an incredible woman, whose legacy will live on for years to come. She will be missed by her Campbell colleagues and all those who were impacted by her creativity and generous spirit," the company said in a statement.

Reilly was a Campbell Soup kitchen supervisor in 1955 when she combined the ingredients of the now-legendary green bean casserole for an Associated Press feature.

In a 2005 AP interview marking the recipe's 50th anniversary, Reilly said she didn't remember having a hand in it because the dish was among hundreds that were created during her time at Campbell's. She also helped create a tomato soup meatloaf, a tuna noodle casserole and Sloppy Joe-like "souperburgers."

The recipe is still a fixture on soup-can labels and television commercials. And Reilly said she always kept the ingredients for the casserole on hand in her home — just in case someone asked her to whip one up.

Reilly also noted whenever the company held recipe contests, she would typically see "homemade" variations of the soup-can recipe for the casserole.

"It would be Aunt Suzy's or Grandma's," she said.

Campbell's officials have said consumers often tell them practically anyone — even novices or bad cooks — can make a green bean casserole because it's so easy to prepare.

Reilly worked for Campbell's on and off between the late 1940s and 1988, when she retired as manager of the Campbell's kitchen.

She is survived by her husband of 59 years, Thomas, and a son and daughter. A service will be held Saturday in Haddonfield.

The strain afflicting the children is usually associated with acute respiratory illness, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, which on its website instructs health workers to report unusual clusters to state or local health departments.

The Health Department hasn't released the names or the ages of the victims.

The CDC is providing technical assistance to the state. In the past 10 years, cases of severe illness and death from the type of infection found at the facility have been reported in the United States, though it's unclear how many deaths there have been.

The center's website says it helps educate "medically fragile children." The facility was instructed not to admit new patients until the outbreak ends, and the Health Department said the number of new

Lottery Director William Hogan Brown told ABC's "Good Morning America."

South Carolina's previous record-holder — someone who bought a $400 million Powerball ticket in the Columbia area in 2013 — never wanted to be identified.

Holli Armstrong, spokeswoman for the South Carolina Education Lottery, said the retailer will get a $50,000 payout. A news conference at the KC Mart was planned for later Wednesday.

The biggest Mega Millions jackpot winner prior to this was a $656 million ticket sold back in 2012, Gentry said, "so it's a record for Mega Millions and it came very close to breaking the world record of all the jackpots."

The winning numbers were 5, 28, 62, 65, 70 and Mega Ball 5. The lucky player overcame miserable odds: The chance of matching all six numbers and winning the top prize is 1 in 302.5 million.

Mega Millions is played in 44 states as well as Washington, D.C., and the U.S. Virgin Islands.

It will likely be days or even weeks before the ticket-holder steps forward to claim the prize.

Lottery officials and financial managers encourage people to take time to map out a strategy for investing their hundreds of millions of dollars, and winners must deal with security concerns befitting someone who suddenly is immensely wealthy. Depending on the state, winners have from 180 days to a year to claim their prize.

The Mega Millions jackpot grew so large because it had been nearly three months since a player had matched all six numbers and won the top prize. The last time that happened was July 24, when 11 co-workers from California won a $543 million prize.

Although Tuesday's jackpot was extraordinarily large, it's no fluke. It reflects a trend toward ever-growing lottery prizes due to changes in the game that worsened the odds with hopes that bigger jackpots would result in better sales.

Officials with the Powerball game were the first to make that move in October 2015 when changing the odds of winning the jackpot from 1 in 175 million to 1 in 292.2 million. Mega Millions followed suit in October 2017, resulting in the odds worsening from 1 in 259 million to 1 in 302.5 million.

While most attention has been on the Mega Millions game, Powerball also has been soaring. The estimated prize for Powerball's annuity option in Wednesday night's drawing is $620 million, with a cash prize of $354.3 million.

Warren contributed from Atlanta.

This story has been corrected to show that the Mega Millions lottery won Tuesday night was the second-largest based on actual sales, not the world's largest-ever lottery grand prize, based on final details provided by the lottery.

BSHS's weekly update

FCCLA at the High School

By OLIVIA BANCROFT

BSHS Student Journalist Big Spring High School's Family, Career, and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA) Club attended their second conference of the 2018-2019 school year in Lubbock, TX, last Tuesday, on the 16th of October. There, office members of the national organization welcomed new members and reunited with former friends.

Olivia Bancroft

To kick off the workshop, a former FCCLA representative presented the audience with a slideshow consisting of what it means to be an FCCLA member. The presentation was illustrated through memes relating to the well-known story of Noah's Ark. This approach helped to both inform and entertain the audience. Each slide provided new and useful information to help attendees better understand what it truly means to be an active FCCLA member.

One memorable thing that the speaker emphasized was the importance of punctuality. Fifteen minutes prior to the event is on time, on time is late, and late equals left... meaning the bus will leave you behind.

Another thing stressed to the crowd was how nobody is superior to another person. Her example, relating back to Noah's Ark, was how the turtles were on the same boat as the cheetahs. It does not matter how fast, tall or strong you are. FCCLA displays and welcomes diversity, which sets us apart from the standards given by today's society.

Following the Introductory Assembly, the congregation was separated into random groups ranging from 17 to 25 students. In our groups, we rotated to three different classes, spending half an hour in each session. In each classroom, a different problematic topic relevant in today's world was discussed. Each time we exited a room, we left knowing what we can do as members of FCCLA to improve the events taking place around the world.

BSHS Sophomore, Anna Erwin stated "The conference encouraged me to be more of a leader. The atmosphere was so positive. I need more of that in my life."

Her statement revealed what was going through, not just her own mind, but through the minds of so many others.

THE BULLDOG REPORT

Special to the Herald

Performing a challenging marching show at contest, the Coahoma High School Big Red Band met the task Saturday to earn a Division I rating at UIL Region VI competition held in Odessa.

"I think there were some things we could have worked on a bit like marching. The judges did make comments about it," said Naomi White, one of three drum majors for the CHS band.

"Otherwise I think we did pretty good. I was a little worried we were not going to get a (Division) I at first because of some of the things I saw on the field when I was up there conducting, but I still think we deserved to get that I and it's great to get a I on my last year in Coahoma band."

Overall the band was deserving of the Division I, said Drum Major Ashley Mull.

"The commentators made a lot of comments about feet and that could have been better, but I am proud of our freshman and our sophomores and everybody who put in all the work," Mull said.

This year's show is titled "Dreams of Persia" by Randall D. Standridge which features two solos performed by flutist Andrea King and trumpet player Aaron Turnbough and a more intricate drill design. Saturday's contest at Ratliff Stadium wrapped up months of work started in August and included night practices on the field and in the band hall to perfect the performance.

"I am extremely proud of what they accomplished this year," said head Band Director John Landin. "It was a challenging show, challenging drill, and they pulled it off even though we had to fill about 10 marching spots last minute. We are really excited to accomplish all our goals and now we are moving on and will have fun with football season."

The three judges, who each gave the band a Division I rating, were complementary of the Coahoma's overall performance, Landin said.

"They loved Andrea's solo," Landin said. "They were just in love with it, and they loved the fact that our drumline is mature enough to balance the band. When the band played soft, they played soft and when the band played loud, they played loud. Not many small school bands do that, and it was nice for them to get some kudos for that."

Now, Landin said, the band will turn its attention toward enjoying the rest of the football season and supporting the varsity Bulldog football team. The community has three more chances to see the award-winning marching show on the field including this Friday during halftime at the Stanton/Coahoma football game in Stanton. The next two shows are Friday, Nov. 2, at Colorado City and Friday, Nov 9, for the last home game.

"I think everybody should come out and see us," White said. "After we got a I and we were good enough to get that, they should and see how awesome our show is."

This year's 80-member strong band is led by Drum Majors Micah Worley, Naomi White, both seniors, and Ashley Mull, a sophomore. Kira Landin is the assistant band director and Gina Orosco is the coordinator for the color guard.

FRIDAY NIGHT UNDER THE LIGHTS

High School Football In Howard County

Steers start district play at home against rival Andrews

By JORDAN PARR
Sports Editor

With an extra week of rest and preparation behind them, the Steers will open up their district schedule this Friday at Memorial Stadium against their rival the Andrews Mustangs. The 5-2 Mustangs enter Friday's matchup coming off a tough 38-20 loss to the Canyon Eagles prior to the bye week. Andrews has been explosive on offense this year averaging 42 points and 432 yards per game this season. The Mustangs rely heavily on their passing attack which has accounted for 284 yards per game so far this year. That said, Andrews has also kept balance when they need to racking up another 148 yards per game on the ground as well. Defensively, the Mustangs have struggled at times and have shown vulnerability throughout giving up 31 points per game and holding their opponent under 20 points just one time this year. If Big Spring wants to get a good start to district it will be key for the Steers to take advantage of Andrew's defensive struggles early and force the Mustangs to be one dimensional on offense. Big Spring enters Friday night's home district opener coming off back-to-back shut-out losses to Canyon and Dumas. The Steers looked out of sink on both sides of the ball in those two games and struggled to find consistency and rhythm in anything they were doing. Despite the disappointing showings the Steers never gave up and continued to fight to the last whistle. Big Spring has been right there, peaking around the corner we are all waiting for them turn. If the Steers can finally make that last push and solidify their identity as a team, they are definitely talented enough to win this game and make a push for the playoffs. Offensively the Steers have struggled with consistency. See STEERS, page 2B

Bulldogs get early opportunity to turn their season around

The 2-5 Bulldogs find themselves in an early 0-2 hole to begin district play this year but have a great opportunity against a struggling 1-6 Stanton team this week to get back on track. Stanton enters Friday night's matchup against Coahoma coming off back-to-back losses to 6-1 Abernathy and 1-6 Lubbock Roosevelt. Stanton has struggled on both sides of the ball this year scoring only 16 points per game while giving up a whopping 42 points per game to their opposition. Stanton's lone win of the year came against 2A Forsan in week three of the season. With the power run game of Coahoma sputtering over the last couple of weeks, look for the Bulldogs to get back on track against this struggling Buffs defense. The Bulldogs enter Friday's rivalry matchup against Stanton coming off two consecutive losses to tough district opponents Idalou and Abernathy to start district play. With Coahoma struggling to develop a complimentary passing attack to go along with their powerful run game teams have been able to stack the box and put the Bulldogs behind in down and distances over the past few games. The key to the Bulldogs' success will undoubtedly be their ability to run the ball and control the clock and tempo. However, if they continue to struggle to pick up key first downs through the air, teams simply aren't going to respect Coahoma's passing attack and will continue to stack the box and crowd the line of scrimmage until they do. Offensively the Bulldogs have put up 23 points and 325 yards per game this year. Those numbers would suggest a high power offense that opposing teams should fear. However, if you look at that production broken down game by game it becomes clear that the vast majority (250 yards per game) came on the ground and that against teams with good run defenses that lopsided offense has become a liability. Bufs to face Winters, looking to build on continued progress

By JORDAN PARR
Sports Editor

The 1-6 Buffs enter their second district game against 5-3 Winters coming off a tough 28-20 loss last week to the Ozona Lions to open district play. Forsan put together a great game last week on both sides of the ball but couldn't quite hold on to get the district win. Winters comes into this week's matchup against the Buffs on the tail of three straight losses to 8-0 Iraan, 6-1 Hawley and 7-1 Stamford. The Blizzards, who started the season 5-0 before facing off against three of the toughest teams in the state in consecutive weeks, are a really solid team on both sides of the ball. Winters offense has averaged 33 points per game this year and has kept them in games against really stout opposition all year. Defensively the Blizzards have been exceptional giving up just 19 points per game despite playing some of the most explosive offenses in 2A so far this season. With talent and discipline on both sides of the ball Winters will definitely be a challenge for this young Buffs team. But that is nothing new for this tough Forsan team that has been fighting hard all year long. Offensively the Buffs have progressed each week. Putting up better numbers and building more and more consistency every game as this season has progressed. While Forsan is only averaging 18 points per game this season, that number is slightly skewed due to early season struggles on offense. Over the last three games the Buffs have brought their scoring average up to 24 points per game. That jump is due in no small part to the consistent development of quarterback Kobe Richardson and the elevated play of the skill players he is distributing the ball to. With major contributions from underclassmen Cayden Morgan, Major Stockton and Chris Mendez as well as veteran leadership from Richardson, Jonathon Gabehart, Trey Brockman and Caden William; this Buffs offensive unit has come from a struggling offense to one of the most balanced attacks in the area. Against Idalou, the Bulldogs were only able to get 209 total yards with 205 of that coming on the ground in a 35-0 loss to the Wildcats to open district.

Then again, last week against Abernathy, Coahoma had 170 yards of total offense with 108 coming on the ground in a 34-7 loss to the Antelopes. In both of those games the opposition stacked the box and forced the Bulldogs to throw the ball to get back into the game. Something Coahoma wants to do when they choose to, not when they are forced to. Look for the Bulldogs to establish the running game early against the Buffs and to set up the pass early to keep Stanton honest on defense.

Defensively, Coahoma has played well but have struggled lately with their offense sputtering on the other side of the ball. With opposing teams taking advantage of turnovers and great field position, the Bulldogs' defense has had its back against the wall over the past two weeks. Coahoma has given up 31 points per game this season but most of those point have come on big plays down the field.

The Bulldogs have done pretty well at limiting sustained drives this year but they have had trouble keeping things in front of them against explosive offenses and have given up some splash plays. That said, one of the strong points of this Coahoma team is their ability to make halftime adjustments and make their opposition rethink their offensive game plan each week. Look for the Bulldogs defense to give the Buffaloes all they can handle this Friday night as they try to get their first district win of the season.

With two losses to two of the toughest teams in 3A behind them, this game Friday night against Stanton is the perfect opportunity for the Bulldogs to get back on the winning side of things and put themselves back in the district race. Effort and heart are never an issue with this Coahoma team; it will be a matter of execution and discipline that determines whether or not these Bulldogs can turn this season around.

The Bulldogs and the Buffaloes are set to kickoff at 7:30 p.m. this Friday in Stanton.

Big Spring has had the big plays every offense needs to be explosive but they have struggled so far to put together sustained drives on a consistent basis. That inability to maintain possession and control the clock and the tempo has left the Steers defense in vulnerable positions all season and has left them exhausted by the end of games.

Averaging just 16 points and 136 yards per game this year, Big Spring's offense just hasn't been able to keep them in their games against tougher opponents. The lack of production in the air, averaging just 75 yards per game, and on the ground, averaging just 61 yards per game, has left the Steers scrambling for answers as they head into district. If Big Spring wants to turn it around they will have to find their footing and identity on offense, and fast!

Defensively the Steers have played well in spots but have really struggled at stopping the big splash plays. Big Spring has allowed 31 points per game so far this season, most of which came off big 20 yard plus type plays. Whether from blown assignments or just poor open field tackling, the Steers have had a hard time keeping things in front of them on defense. With opposing offenses getting good field position on a frequent basis as well as being able to run the clock while playing with the lead, the defensive numbers for Big Spring are definitely skewed. That said, it will fall on the Steers' defensive unit to get early stops against Andrews and give the Big Spring offense the opportunity to take an early lead if the Steers hope to pull off an important district win this Friday.

The best thing about the start of district is that everyone is 0-0. The Steers have all the talent and opportunity to take advantage of that fresh start if they can find it in themselves to seize the moment a play as a unit from start to finish. Every block, every tackle, every catch, every run...every play has to be made for each other and not for anyone else. If the Steers can embrace that mentality and truly play the game for each other and for the simple joy of getting the privilege to play the game, then there is nothing that can stop them from being successful no matter what the scoreboard, fans, or people like me have to say about it.

The Steers and the Mustangs are set to kickoff at 7:00 p.m. Friday night at Memorial Stadium.

An offense that averages 246 yards per game with 103 yards per game on the ground and 143 yards per game coming through the air. With Richardson coming into his own as a true duel threat quarterback, the offense has really opened up and become a unit for opposing teams to watch out for. Look for the Buffs to use that balance on offense to control tempo and to try to get the numbers they like in the box to exploit for big plays.

Defensively Forsan is really solid up front and opportunistic on the back end. While they have given up some big plays down the field, they have also come away with more than their share of turnovers as well. The Buffs defense has allowed 32 points per game but that number is highly skewed due to allowing 54 points to an outstanding Colorado City team earlier in the season. Over the last three games against some really tough teams, Forsan has only allowed 26 points per game. Showing that once again this Buffs team is getting better on both sides of the ball each and every week.

With Caden Williams setting the tone for this fly around defense, look for Forsan to makes strides and improve again this week against a tough Winters team. If the Buffs' d-line can set the edge and reset the line of scrimmage in the Blizzards backfield, the ball-hawking secondary will have an opportunity to take advantage and create some important turnovers. Look for turnovers to be the key stat in determining the outcome of this great district matchup.

This young Buffs' team has made great strides all year to get to where they are now. If they continue to stick together and play with the heart and discipline we have become accustomed to, then there is no reason to believe that this Forsan team can't get this much needed win and put themselves right back in the mix in the district race.

The Buffs and the Blizzards are set to kickoff at 7:30 p.m. this Friday in Winters.

Players of the Week

Bulldog Offensive Player of the Week Zack Schneider.

Schneider carried the ball 17 times for 96 yards last week in a tough loss to Abernathy. Schneider's hard nose, tough running was still a force to be reckoned with no matter the score. Schneider ran hard and fought for every yard in the difficult matchup and earned himself this week's Bulldog Offensive Player of the Week Honors.

Bulldog Defensive Player of the Week Avry Burgans.

Burgans scored the only touchdown for the Bulldogs against the Antelopes last week on an amazing 55 yard interception return to the house last Friday. Burgans ball-hawking play in the secondary earned him this week's Bulldog Defensive Player of the Week Honors.

Buff Offensive Player of the Week Quarterback Kobe Richardson.

Richardson threw the ball for 194 yards and a touchdown against Ozona and added another 69 yards and a score on the ground in the disappointing loss to the Lions. Richardson's ability to get the ball to his playmakers while still picking up first downs with his legs earned him the Buff Offensive Player of the Week honors.

Buff Defensive Player of the Week Defensive-back Cayden Morgan.

Morgan was flying around the field last Friday night against Ozona. Morgan finished the game with an impressive 15 tackles against the Lions last Friday night. Morgan's aggressive play in the secondary and impact on the game has earned him this week's Buff Defensive Player of the Week honors.
