Veterans Day observances

By ROGER CLINE
 Staff Writer

This Sunday marks the 100th anniversary of the signing of the armistice agreement which officially ended hostilities during World War I. The agreement took effect at the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month of 1918; the date is now remembered in the United States as Armistice Day, and also coincides with the Veterans Day holiday.

This year, several schools and businesses will be observing the holiday:

- Lamun-Lusk-Sanchez Texas State Veterans Home for Breakfast with a Vet on Sunday from 7:30 a.m. to 9 a.m. in honor of America's men and women who have served our country in uniform.

Events will continue throughout the day with a visit from Boy Scout Troop #5 and Cub Scout Pack #305 at 10 a.m., followed by a sword cutting of our Veterans Day cake at 11:30 a.m. In accordance with Marine protocol, cakes are traditionally cut with the Mameluke sword, as a reminder that Marines are a band of warriors, committed to carrying the sword, so that our nation may live in peace.

Following the cake cutting, the community is invited to join our veterans for lunch and with guest speaker Lt. Col. Rosa Mancha (retired), entertainment by George Bancroft at 1:30 p.m., Asst. Band Director Gabe Martinez and the Big Spring High School Band at 2 p.m., and a balloon release at 2:30 p.m.

For more information, contact Gina Rice at activities@bigspringvethome.com or 432-268-8387.

- Scenic Mountain Medical Center invites all veterans to come and dine in the Yellow Rose Cafe on Monday. Mention that you're a veteran and the meal is on the house. Breakfast will be served from 7:30 to 9 a.m., and lunch will be 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

TxDOT crews prepare for winter weather

Possible wintry precipitation, freezing temps possible Monday and Tuesday

Special to the Herald

ABILENE – TxDOT crews are pre-treating roadways in the Abilene District Friday morning in preparation for winter weather that could impact the area on Monday and Tuesday.

Crews across the 13-county district are treating Tier 1 and Tier 2 roadways, which include high-traffic corridors such as I-20, US 84 from Roscoe to the Garza County line, US 83/84, and US 277, among others. The brine mixture will discourage ice from forming on roadways and structures as wintry precipitation begins to fall.

The Abilene district is working closely with the National Weather Service to monitor weather conditions. Safety of the traveling public is TxDOT's priority, and crews will be working in shifts around the clock to prepare for and respond to any wintry weather that moves into the district, monitoring and treating roadways as needed.

Motorists can also do their part by driving carefully and following these guidelines:

- Use caution when driving over bridges and overpasses. These are the first to freeze.
 - Reduce speed and drive with caution. A vehicle needs at least three times more space to stop on a slick roadway.
 - Slow down when approaching emergency or maintenance vehicles, especially when their flashing lights are on. The law requires you to maintain a distance of at least 200 feet when approaching a snow plow, and do not pass on the right. Visibility can also be reduced during winter weather conditions.
 - Check area weather conditions on radio or television before starting a trip.
- For real-time roadway conditions, check DriveTexas.org or follow @TxDOTABILENE.

A message from Gary Six, State Executive Director, Texas Farm Service Agency

County Committees are Vital to USDA – Vote Today!

Special to the Herald

Farmers and Ranchers,

It's that time of year again. The 2018 Farm Service Agency's (FSA) county committee elections are officially underway and we're asking for your help. Please take a few minutes to vote in your local county committee election. FSA county committees are a vital and direct link between our farm community and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Earlier this summer, we put out a call for nominations for individuals who would be willing to serve on the committee. Elections are held annually in every county when FSA accepts nominations for a certain Local Administrative Area (LAA). The area up for election rotates each year. Nominations have been made and now it's time for you to decide who will fill this role.

Ballots were mailed out the week of Nov. 5 to eligible voters. If your LAA had a committee seat open this year, and you are an eligible voter, you can expect to receive a ballot in the mail. Producers who did not receive a ballot can pick one up at the local FSA office.

The individuals you elect to serve on your behalf operate within official federal regulations so that local input is provided on federal programs such as:

- Income safety-net loans and payments, including setting county average yields for commodities;
- Conservation programs;

a small reception will be held in the cafeteria following the program.

- The newly formed Big Spring Community Choral will present its inaugural performance Sunday at First United Methodist Church, 400 Scurry St. The concert will begin at 2:30 p.m., and is free to the public. Featured music will include songs by American composers and arrangers, and a salute to veterans. A reception in the church's Dorothy Garrett Fellowship Hall will follow the performance. For more information call Tara Trowbridge at 956-543-5829.

Contact Staff Writer Roger Cline at 432-263-7331 ext. 235, or by email at reporter@bigspringherald.com.

- Incentive, indemnity and disaster payments for some commodities;
- Emergency programs, and
- Payment eligibility.

Our FSA county committees make a difference and if you won't take it from me, I encourage you to check out stories from county committee members from around the nation. Read their testimonials at www.fsa.usda.gov/elections. While you're there, you can find other information about the elections.

Ballots must be returned to your local FSA office by Dec. 3, 2018. Ballots returned by mail must be post-marked no later than Dec. 3.

Don't miss out on this opportunity to make an impact in your local community.

Marine combat veteran kills 12 in California bar shooting

An FBI agent talks to a potential witness as they stand near the scene Thursday, Nov. 8, 2018, in Thousand Oaks, Calif. where a gunman opened fire Wednesday inside a country dance bar crowded with hundreds of people on "college night," wounding 11 people including a deputy who rushed to the scene.

By KRYSTA FAURIA

Associated Press

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. — Using a smoke bomb and a handgun, a hooded Marine combat veteran dressed all in black opened fire during college night at a country music bar in Southern California, killing 12 people and sending hundreds fleeing in terror before apparently taking his own life, authorities said Thursday.

Authorities said the motive for the attack Wednesday night was under investigation.

The killer was identified as 28-year-old Ian David Long, a former machine gunner and veteran of the war in Afghanistan who was interviewed by police at his home last spring after an episode of agitated behavior that they were told might be post-traumatic stress disorder.

Screaming in fear, patrons rushed for the exits, dived under tables and used barstools to smash second-floor windows and jump to safety as gunfire reverberated through the Borderline Bar & Grill, a hangout popular with students from nearby California Lutheran University.

"I dropped to the floor," Sarah Rose DeSon told ABC's "Good Morning America." "A friend yelled, 'Everybody down!' We were hiding behind tables trying to keep ourselves covered."

The dead included 11 people inside the bar and a veteran sheriff's sergeant who was the first officer inside the door, Ventura County Sheriff Geoff Dean said.

"It's a horrific scene in there," Dean said in the parking lot. "There's blood everywhere."

Anxious family members gathered at a teen center in town to await word on the fate of loved ones who had gone to the club. Jason Coffman received confirmation that his son Cody, 22, who was about to join the Army, was dead.

Coffman broke down as he told reporters how his last words to his son as he went out Wednesday night were not to drink and drive and that he loved him.

"Oh, Cody, I love you, son," Coffman sobbed.

The bloodshed was the latest in what seems to be a never-ending string of mass shootings that are happening with terrifying frequency across the United States.

It was the nation's deadliest such attack since 17 students and teachers were killed at a Parkland, Florida, high school nine months ago. It also came less than two weeks after a gunman massacred 11 people at a synagogue in Pittsburgh.

President Donald Trump praised police for their "great bravery" in the California attack and ordered flags flown at half-staff in honor of the victims.

Long was armed with a Glock 21, a .45-caliber pistol designed to hold 10 rounds plus one in the chamber, according to the sheriff. But it had an extended magazine — one capable of holding more ammunition — that is illegal in California, Dean said.

The killer also deployed a smoke device, a law enforcement official told The Associated Press. The official was not authorized to discuss the investigation publicly and spoke on condition of anonymity.

Authorities converged on Long's home in Newbury Park, about 5 miles from the Borderline bar, in a search for clues to what set him off.

"There's no indication that he targeted the employees. We haven't found any correlation," the sheriff said. "Maybe there was a motive for this particular night, but we have no information leading to that at all."

Long was in the Marines from 2008 to 2013, rose to the rank of corporal and served in Afghanistan in 2010-11, the military said.

Authorities said he had no criminal record, but in April officers were called to his home, where deputies found him angry and acting irrationally. The sheriff said officers were told he might have PTSD because of his military service. A mental health specialist met with him and didn't feel he needed to be hospitalized.

Tom Hanson, 70, who lives next door to Long and his mother, said Thursday that he called the police about six months ago when he heard "heavy-duty banging" and shouting coming from the Longs' home.

"I was concerned because I knew he had been in the military," he said.

Hanson said the sheriff's deputy who arrived took his information, but he never learned more about what happened and hadn't spoken to Long since then. He said he was "dumbfounded" by the bloodshed.

The gunman was wearing all black with a hood and his face partly covered, witnesses told TV stations. He first shot a security guard standing outside, then went in and opened fire on staff members and patrons, the sheriff said.

Sheriff's Sgt. Ron Helus and a passing highway patrolman arrived around 11:20 p.m. in response to several 911 calls, heard gunfire and went inside, the sheriff said. Helus was immediately shot, Dean said.

The highway patrolman pulled Helus out, then waited as a SWAT team and scores more officers arrived. Helus died early Thursday at a hospital.

By the time officers entered the bar again, the gunfire had stopped, according to the sheriff. They found 12 people dead inside, including the gunman, who was discovered in office and had apparently shot himself, the sheriff said.

"There's no doubt that they saved lives by going in there and engaging with the suspect," said Dean, who was set to retire on Friday. He praised the slain officer — a close friend — as a hero: "He went in there to save people and paid the ultimate price."

In addition to the dead, one other person was wounded by gunfire, and as many as 15 others suffered minor injuries from jumping out windows or diving under tables, authorities said.

People at the bar fled from all exits, broke through windows and hid in the attic and bathrooms, the sheriff said.

"Unfortunately our young people, people at nightclubs, have learned that this may happen, and they think about that. Fortunately it helped save a lot of lives that they fled the scene so rapidly," he said.

Shootings of any kind are extremely rare in Thousand Oaks, a city of about 130,000 people about 40 miles (64 kilometers) from Los Angeles, just across the county line.

The Borderline, which includes a large dance hall along with several smaller areas for eating and drinking, was holding one of its regular "College Country Nights."

Nick Steinwender, Cal Lutheran student body president, told KTLA-TV he immediately started receiving messages about the shooting, and he and his roommate went to the scene to offer rides back to campus or moral support.

"It's going to be a very somber day," Steinwender said. "I know we don't have all the details in yet, but you know, it just feels like it's an attack on our community. You know, I think it's going to be something that we're going to have to come together and move past."

The bar is also close to several other universities, including California State University Channel Islands in Camarillo, Pepperdine University in Malibu and Moorpark College in Moorpark.

Cole Knapp, a freshman at Moorpark, said he was inside the bar when the shooting began, but thought at first that it was "just someone with an M-80, just kind of playing a prank." Then he said he saw the gunman, wearing a small black head covering and black hoodie.

Reflections: What Are You Waiting For?

When I married my wife we repeated the customary wedding vows promising to cherish one another "in sickness and in health, in poverty and in wealth." Perhaps we should have added an additional line. Something like. "I promise to wait for you." Since we married we have waited for each other. We have waited at airports, train stations and bus stops. I have waited on her to put on last minute make-up and she has waited on me to put down my book or close my computer. When she gave birth to our children, I waited. When I had a motorcycle accident, she waited. In too many ways to enumerate or remember, we have waited on each other. If we added it all up it would be a huge chunk of our lives. And now, it makes me happy. She is worth waiting for.

When we had children, we waited. We waited for their birth. We waited for them when they got out of school. We waited late at night in dark parking lots for their buses to return. We waited for them in the car, the motor running, the clock ticking, knowing we were late to church. We stayed up waiting for them to come home from their first dates. And we waited for them to come home from college.

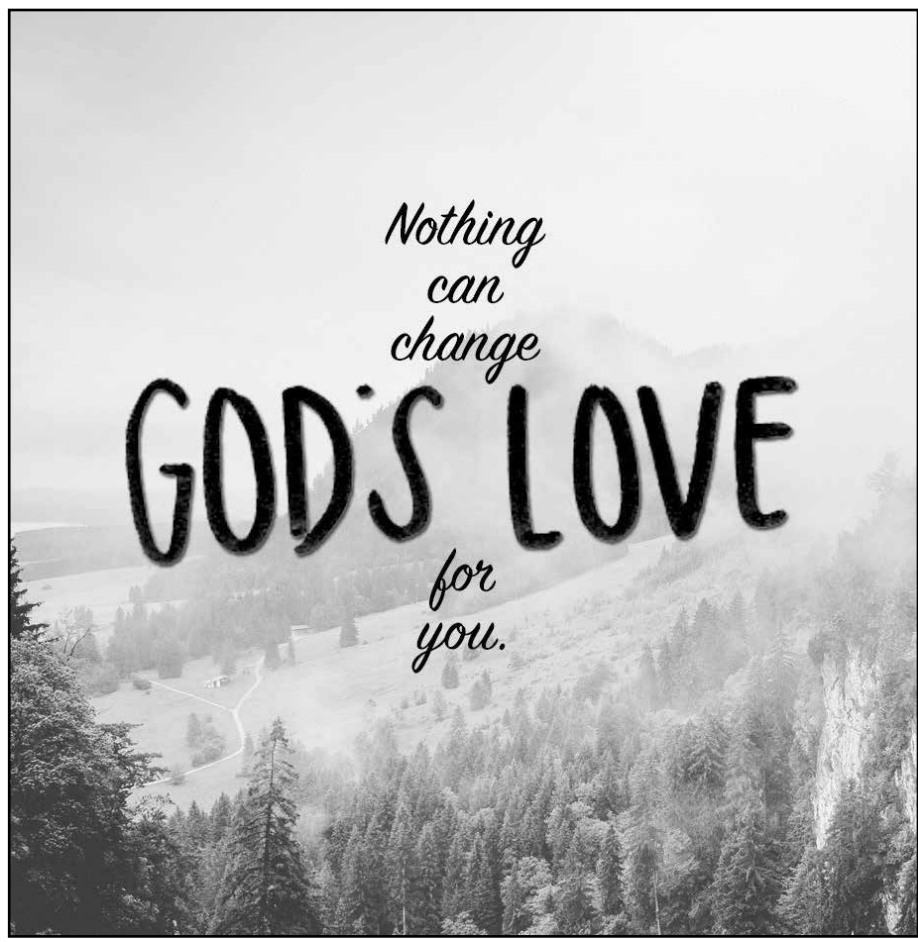

Waiting is a part of life. We choose to wait for those we love.

That is why God waits for us, because He loves us. Isaiah says, "Therefore the Lord longs to be gracious to you, and therefore He waits on high to have compassion on you for the Lord is a God of justice; How blessed are all those who long for Him." (Isa 34:18). In Jeremiah, God says, "Before I formed you in the womb, I knew you." (Jer. 1:5). God has waited an eternity for you.

We often miss God because we haven't learned to wait on Him. We blast through busy schedules making quick decisions without taking time to connect with God's better plan for us. The Psalmist said, "My soul waits in silence for God only. From Him is my salvation." (Ps. 62:1) "I waited patiently for the Lord; and He inclined to me and heard my cry." (Ps. 40:1) The prophet Micah said, "But as for me, I will watch expectantly for the Lord. I will wait for the God of my salvation." (Micah 7:7)

Waiting on God involves prayer and finding time to be quiet before Him. Sometimes it includes fasting. But waiting isn't always about sitting still with our arms folded.

Jesus said, "Seek and you shall find. Knock and it shall be opened." The secret is to remain open to God's direction and to listen to His voice while we constantly seek and knock. David wrote, "I would have despaired unless I had believed that I would see the goodness of the Lord in the land of the living. Wait for the Lord; be strong, and let your heart take courage; yes, wait for the Lord." (Ps. 27:13-14).

Pastor Mark Lindsey will bring the morning message titled "The All-Loving God."

Drawn from John 3:16, listeners will humbly reflect on this familiar Bible passage, while considering God's immeasurable compassion and care for all mankind demonstrated through the giving of His One and Only Son, Jesus. During the service there will be a special time of gathering your present-filled shoeboxes for distribution through Operation Christmas Child. If you have mobility issues use the west circle drive, and someone will be glad to assist you inside and park your vehicle. clothed in scarlet

By Dr. Lillian Bohannon

When I was a youngster and it was cold and rainy or snowy weather, Mother would dress all her six children in bright coats or sweaters to play outside or go to school. I often wondered why I always had a red coat or knit hat to wear. We would play for hours on end outside in the snow. At lunch we would always go in for hot chocolate and homemade bread and real butter sandwiches. And yes, we dipped the bread in our hot chocolate. I still like to do that. We are born of habits as children. And I still like sweet cornbread and milk.

When I became an adult, I didn't put away all the childhood things. I still love the color red. It has a different meaning to me now. Mother clothed her children in scarlet so she could see us in the snow to call us inside. She didn't want us to get lost in the storm. She followed the Proverb 31:21, "She is not afraid of the snow for her household: for all her household are clothed with scarlet."

There is another reason for scarlet.

In Isaiah 1:18 God calls us out of our scarlet sins so He can cleanse us, fill us, and make us fit for His Heaven. He says: "Come now, and let us reason together, saith the LORD: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool."

When Jesus was crucified on the cruel Cross of Calvary, He shed His perfect only begotten of God blood. Then He was buried, rose again the third day, according to the Scriptures, and has the power to take my scarlet sin and cleanse me from all unrighteousness. This is the only way I can get into His Heaven.

When I get to Heaven, I think I'll ask Him if I can have a bowl of sweet cornbread and milk, followed by hot chocolate and heavenmade bread and real butter for dessert. And I truly hope there is a place to play in the treasures of His snow.

HOPE FOR INTENSE SINNERS

"If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us." 1 John 1:8

"What shall we say then? Shall we continue in sin, that grace may abound? God forbid. How shall we, that are dead to sin, live any longer therein?" Romans 6:1-2

How are we expected to live and what are we supposed to do if on one hand, sinless perfection is not possible and yet Paul says – how shall we that are dead to sin, live any longer therein? John says that if we say we have no sin, we deceive ourselves. But Jesus said – go and sin no more.

What is the happy medium ground between these two positions? How are we, as intense sinners who have believed in Christ, supposed to live between the two without losing our faith or pulling our hair out?

We are not confused about the reality of our sin, we know very well that it is bad. Everything in our world tells us that sin is destructive, unbib-lical, and the transgression of the Law.

As a sinner, I am not looking for every excuse to continue in sin, I am looking for every reason to believe that Christ has forgiven it all. Do I as a sinner have a right to believe, or does my sin cancel faith? Does faith make me sinless? Does my sin constitute me as faithless? Does sinlessness validate faith or does faith validate the sinner?

Our part in salvation is to sin and God's part is to save. Hold on just a minute before you hear something I didn't say. I did not say that God agrees with our sin, I am saying that Christ died for sinners.

Are you a sinner in need of Jesus?

How Christian missionary media shaped the world

Jason Bruner

Arizona State University

(THE CONVERSATION) The Christian Broadcasting Network, founded over 50 years ago by evangelist Pat Robertson, has now launched the first 24-hour Christian television news channel.

Robertson said that the channel would help viewers understand how current events both in the United States and abroad affect them. The Christian Broadcasting Network has considerable influence among evangelicals, and President Trump, at times, has used the outlet to reach this support base.

But this is not the first time Christians have shared and shaped the content of world news and information through a distinctly Christian viewpoint.

Christian missionary publications

For much of the 19th century, Christian missionaries served as informal foreign correspondents for a broadly Christian public in the eastern United States and Western Europe.

They kept churches and missionary societies up to date on the societies in which they lived through regular letters and – by the late 19th century – photographs. Their letters were often reprinted in pamphlets and newsletters, or shared informally through extensive church networks.

One of the most notable examples of the use of missionary networks in bridging the imagined distance between a Western Christian public and distant people comes from the Congo Free State, which was established in 1885 and ruled solely by King Leopold of Belgium.

Leopold's rule was characterized by widespread atrocities. Some estimates of the death toll of Leopold's policies exceed 10 million people. Leopold used his reign to extract natural resources from the region. Following a boom in rubber prices, his agents were quick to use violence against the local population to make them harvest and process rubber.

In 1904, Alice Harris, a Protestant missionary with the Congo Balolo Mission, which was organized and supported by British Baptists, took what would become an iconic image of the horrors. Her image has a Congolese father sitting in a kind of stupor, gazing at his daughter's severed hand and foot, which lie in front of him on the missionary's porch. Harris's image was reproduced in a host of pamphlets, books and newspapers in both Britain and the United States. Along with other images and reports, it helped foment an international reaction against Leopold's brutal reign.

Armenian genocide

At around the same time, missionaries also highlighted the pogroms and genocidal violence committed against Assyrian and Armenian Christians in the eastern Ottoman Empire.

When Assyrian and Armenian Christians experienced systematic mass violence at the hands of the Ottoman Empire in 1915, evangelical missionaries from the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions were among the first to report on the atrocities. Their dispatches motivated the formation of an unprecedented international relief effort for the persecuted Christians. Supported by the Woodrow Wilson-led government, approximately US$116 million in aid was raised.

Global awareness

Missionaries believed that God worked with them through religious conversions, moral reform and material and economic progress, to spread the truth of Christianity. The role of missionary media became foundational in providing information and images of suffering in the world.

This role often pushed them into ever more remote territories. The information that they sent enabled many Christians in the West to more easily imagine the world as a globally connected community.

Scholars in a wide range of emerging academic disciplines consulted missionary newsletters and updates for knowledge about the world. These networks also established a model for creating public humanitarian campaigns on behalf of those who were suffering on the other side of the globe – one that continues to shape contemporary humanitarian efforts.

CBN News' insistence that "God is everywhere – even in the news" echoes similar sentiments. It places the network in a longer line of creating a global Christian identity through knowledge production. News is an essential component of this.

Steers lose to Lake View in disappointing fashion

By JORDAN PARR
Sports Editor

The Steers traveled to San Angelo Thursday night to close out district play against the Lake View Chiefs. Someone who follows sports has heard about a team before. Well this is one of those times and the Steers are that team. Big Spring bested Lake View in almost every major stat except for scoring in their disappointing 34-20 loss to the Chiefs. The Steers had the advantage in total yardage with 391 yards to 296 for Lake View, rushing yards with 163 yards to 92 yards for Lake View, passing yards with 228 to 204 for Lake View, first downs with 18 to 13 for Lake View, turnovers with two to Lake View's three and in time of possession with 29:13 to just 18:47 for Lake View. To beat a team that badly up and down the field and still lose by 14 points is a hard pill to swallow.

In the first quarter the Chiefs received the opening kickoff and the Steers forced them into a quick three and out. Big Spring returned the ensuing punt to their own 14 yard line. On their first play from scrimmage the Steers defense to Jeremiah Cooley for an 86 yard touchdown pass to give Big Spring an early 6-0 lead after a failed extra point. On Lake View's next possession the drove the ball right down the field and scored to go up 7-6 after a successful extra point.

After a quick three and out for the Steers on their next possession the Chiefs took over and started driving the ball again. The Lake View quarterback got greedy though and through a deep pass down the middle of the field that was intercepted by Cooley on the Steers 17 yard line. Unfortunately Big Spring wasn't able to get anything going off the turnover and turned the ball over on downs on the Lake View 49. The Chiefs couldn't get anything going either and turned the ball over on downs as well to end the first quarter leading 7-6.

Red-hot No. 23 Iowa State set to host bowl-hungry Baylor

By LUKE MEREDITH
AP Sports Writer

AMES, Iowa — Once an afterthought, No. 23 Iowa State is now the hottest team in the Big 12.

How the Cyclones handle their recent success will help determine if they can overcome a 1-3 start and be in the mix for a conference title.

Iowa State (5-3, 4-2 Big 12, No. 22 CFP), winners of a league-high four straight games, will host Baylor (5-4, 3-3) on Saturday.

The Cyclones have put themselves in position for the second spot in the Big 12 title game if they win out. Coach Matt Campbell wants his team to maintain the familiar "one game at a time" approach that has worked well during the streak.

"It's all fluff until the end of the season, where you kind of lay it all out and say 'What are we really, did we accomplish what we had the ability to be?'" Campbell said. "I think this group gets it, because having that start at 1-3, where everybody wants to tell you how not good you really are — and yet within our walls we knew how close we really were."

Like Iowa State, Baylor can become bowl eligible with a win on Saturday. It would be a milestone for the Bears, who lost 17 of 19 on one point as the program rebuilds under second-year coach Matt Rhule following a campus sex assault scandal.

"They played four quarters and that was our goal," Rhule said. "It wasn't always perfect. There was a lot we could have done better. But I am proud of their effort and intensity. Most of all I was proud of their togetherness."

IOWA STATE'S DEFENSE

The Cyclones allow just 19.3 points in conference games, not including non-offensive touchdowns — though there have been four of given up by Iowa State. Every opponent the Cyclones has faced has scored less than its season average, and four have failed to gain 300 yards.

"Some defenses you play you'll know if they're playing man-to-man or zone, they're blitzing," Rhule said. "These guys just do a great job of disguising. They're able to do it because of the way their players play."

BAYLOR'S DEFENSE

The Bears are 91st nationally against the pass and 96th against the run, and Baylor gives up 5.5 yards a carry. With a wind chill expected to be in the low 20s, expect Iowa State to make standout running back David Montgomery the focal point of its attack.

BREWER'S STATUS

Baylor sophomore Charlie Brewer came off the bench after time spent in concussion protocol to throw two touchdowns, including the game winner, last week. He is listed as a co-starter this week along with senior Jalan McLendon.

"I think it all centers around their quarterback, a really talented football player," Campbell said of Brewer. "I thought (that was) a really gutsy performance by him last week coming back into that game."

EXTRA POINTS

Purdy, a true freshman, has led an offense that is averaging 36.3 points during its winning streak. He's also won Big 12 Newcomer of the Week three times. ... Baylor scored 17 unanswered points and won 45-42 on a last-second field goal in 2016, its last trip to Ames. ... The Cyclones have had 15 different players record a sack in 2018.

HE SAID IT

"It's a team that is very similar to Oklahoma and TCU in terms of skill that really pops off the video." — Campbell said about the Bears.

Thunder top Rockets without Westbrook for 7th straight win

OKLAHOMA CITY — The Oklahoma City Thunder have figured out how to win without Russell Westbrook — they lock down on defense.

Paul George scored 20 points, and the Thunder beat the Houston Rockets 98-80 on Thursday night for their seventh straight victory.

Westbrook missed his second game in a row with a sprained left ankle, and the Thunder have won both. Oklahoma City held Cleveland to 37 percent shooting in a 95-86 victory Wednesday night, then limited Houston to 38 percent shooting on Thursday.

George led the defensive charge with six steals.

"We didn't come in tonight thinking this was going to be an offensive battle, where we've got to outscore them on the offensive end," he said. "We're just going to stick to playing defense. We've got guys that can guard and want to guard. That's just what it comes down to. (Defense) is what we're going to hang our hat on."

Oklahoma City got plenty of help from Houston — the Rockets made just 11 of 42 3s. It was the fifth time in seven games that the Rockets failed to score at least 100 points.

"Maybe because all we do is talk about defense 24 hours," Houston coach Mike D'Antoni said. "Our offense is anemic. I mean, it's bad."

James Harden scored 19 points, but made just 7 of 19 shots. Clint Capela added 17 points for Houston, which had won three in a row despite its offensive struggles.

Houston's Carmelo Anthony, who played for the Thunder last season and was traded this summer, scored two points on 1-for-11 shooting. Chris Paul added 10 points, five assists and six steals.

Steven Adams had 19 points and 10 rebounds, and Terrance Ferguson and Dennis Schroder each added 14 points for Oklahoma City. All five Thunder starters scored in double figures before the end of the third quarter.

SUDOKU
Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Level: Advanced

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

ANSWER:

Contract Bridge

By Steve Becker

Bidding quiz

Partner bids One Heart, and the next player passes, both sides vulnerable. What would you bid with each of the following five hands?

- ♠ KQ872 ♥ Q652 ♦ 83 ♣ 74
- ♠ 82 ♥ KQ7 ♦ J97 ♣ KQ932
- ♠ 53 ♥ KJ84 ♦ AQ96 ♣ K98
- ♠ AQJ3 ♥ 8 ♦ K62 ♣ AJ874
- ♠ 6 ♥ K97542 ♦ 7 ♣ QJ863

- Two hearts. It is better to respond with two hearts, indicating six to 10 points and adequate trump support, than one spade. One objection to a one-spade response is that if partner rebids two hearts, you will be faced with a bidding problem of your own creation. To bid three hearts would constitute an overbid not warranted by your cards; to pass would result in ending the bidding without ever revealing your heart support. Such problems can be avoided by raising immediately and leaving the rest to partner.
- Two clubs. This hand is too good for a raise to two hearts, and not good enough to commit to game in hearts. A temporizing bid of two clubs is therefore made, the intention being to support hearts after partner rebids. (Even if you play limit raises, wherein an immediate raise to three hearts would show 11 or 12 points, two clubs would be the better bid with this hand.)
- Three hearts. This is a typical hand for a double raise of partner's suit (forcing to game). It is better to raise directly than to respond with two diamonds, which would tend to overemphasize your diamond strength when you next jump-raise hearts. (For those who play limit raises, be sure you have discussed with your partner how you would make a forcing raise with this hand.)
- Two clubs. It is clear that your side has at least a game on this hand, but you cannot tell at this point just what game you belong in. The best you can do is to try to describe your hand as accurately as possible in an effort to get to the best contract.
- Four hearts. This is not a strength-showing bid insofar as high cards are concerned, but instead shows a distributional hand that contains exceptional trump support (five or more cards) and no more than nine high-card points. Its chief purpose is to try to keep the opponents out of the bidding, although partner may very well make four hearts.

Tomorrow: A question of priorities.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Pleasure Trine

Pleasure is a response to the sensations, but it doesn't end there. We get pleasure from not only how something tastes, feels or looks, but also from what we believe about it. We only delight in the things that fit our idea of delight. It can be hard to guess what's going to please another person. The Venus and Mars trine says, "So don't guess... ask!"

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Every attitude causes a chain reaction. So it's important to check in with yourself before stepping one foot into conversations, environments or projects. Where am I at? What attitude am I bringing to it?

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). A buoyant mood prevails. From here it's easier to be resourceful and open to change. Any and every thing you do to feel better will contribute to your positive vibes.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). The real challenge will be in choosing what to believe. Assessing not only if a potential belief is correct, but also what its natural trajectory is. Who will you be if you believe it? Choose beliefs that uplift and empower.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Conventional approaches to self-improvement may leave you feeling resentful and rebellious against the taskmaster that is supposedly the higher version of you. Make your overall well-being a priority instead.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). The key to harnessing and maximizing your energy is to embrace your own polarizations -- the very best and worst in you, the most attractive and unattractive traits and tendencies. There's power in loving your whole self.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Productivity and joy go hand in hand. Even work you once considered to be a grind will be over quickly and done well because of the happiness in your approach.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Your brain has a way of balancing itself and today you can practically feel it at work, guiding you to the next action that will lead to your health and well-being.

SCORPIO (Oct.

24-Nov. 21). The earth is big, and yet in the entire world there is only one place where success exists, and that place is inside you. There are experiences you'd like to have. Whether you have them or not, you are successful.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Because everyone has different values, it is sometimes difficult for people to understand what matters to you and how you want to be treated. Today you won't have that problem. They'll get it right away.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). How can you get more of the things that make you feel good being in your body? Because when your physical self is happy, the rest of you will follow in kind.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). The first time you do something, there's excite-known aspects of it. The second time you know what to expect and can relax into the process. The third time -- that will truly be the charm!

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Learning about things makes you appreciate and enjoy them better. Your urge to go deeper into a body of knowledge is an instinct to move toward happiness.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Nov. 9). You'll take in gorgeous views this solar return, including natural landscapes, seascapes and many warm smiles. Other victories will include a special friendship bond made even tighter, work that makes a difference in the world and progress within a group that helps you finally reach your goal. Pisces and Gemini adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 1, 3, 47, 11 and 20.

WEEKEND LOVE FORECAST: ARIES: Masterful communication will help every aspect of your love life, even the parts that don't require talking. TAURUS: You'll be approached because your warmth makes you seem open to it. GEMINI: The friendliness you give to everyone around you adds to your charm. CANCER: Have the conversation to help you understand your partner's needs and wants. Today is Friday, Nov. 9, the 313th day of 2018. There are 52 days left in the year. Today's Highlight in History: On Nov. 9, 1938, Nazis looted and burned synagogues as well as Jewish-owned stores and houses in Germany and Austria in a pogrom or deliberate persecution that became known as "Kristallnacht." On this date: In 1620, the passengers and crew of the Mayflower sighted Cape Cod. In 1918, it was announced that Germany's Kaiser Wilhelm II would abdicate; he then fled to the Netherlands. In 1961, U.S. Air Force Maj. Robert M. White became the first pilot to fly an X-15 rocket plane at six times the speed of sound. The Beatles' future manager, Brian Epstein, first saw the group perform at The Cavern Club in Liverpool, England. In 1965, the great Northeast blackout began as a series of power failures lasting up to 13 1/2 hours left 30 million people in seven states and part of Canada without electricity. In 1967, a Saturn V rocket carrying an unmanned Apollo spacecraft blasted off from Cape Kennedy on a successful test flight. In 1970, former French President Charles de Gaulle died at age 79. In 1976, the U.N. General Assembly approved resolutions condemning apartheid in South Africa, including one characterizing the white-ruled government as "illegitimate." In 1986, Israel revealed it was holding Mordechai Vanunu, a former nuclear technician who'd vanished after providing information to a British newspaper about Israel's nuclear weapons program. (Vanunu was convicted of treason and served 18 years in prison.) In 1989, communist East Germany threw open its borders, allowing citizens to travel freely to the West; joyous Germans danced atop the Berlin Wall. In 1999, with fireworks, concerts and a huge party at the landmark Brandenburg Gate, Germany celebrated the 10th anniversary of the fall of the Berlin Wall. In 2000, George W. Bush's lead over Al Gore in all-or-nothing Florida slipped beneath 300 votes in a suspense-filled recount, as Democrats threw the presidential election to the courts, claiming "an injustice unparalleled in our history." In 2007, President Gen. Pervez Musharraf (pur-VEHZ' moo-SHAH'ruhv) of Pakistan placed opposition leader Benazir Bhutto (BEN-uh-zeer BOO'toh) under house arrest for a day, and rounded up thousands of her supporters to block a mass rally against his emergency rule. Ten years ago: Barack Obama's transition chief, John Podesta, told Fox News Sunday the president-elect planned to review President George W. Bush's executive orders on such things as stem cell research and domestic drilling for oil and natural gas. China unveiled a $586 billion stimulus package aimed at inoculating the world's fourth-largest economy against the global financial crisis. Five years ago: A house party shooting in suburban Houston left two teens dead. Three of the four surviving Doolittle Raiders who attacked Tokyo in 1942, all in their 90's, offered a final toast to their fallen comrades in a ceremony at the National Museum of the U.S. Air Force near Dayton, Ohio. One year ago: During a visit to Beijing, President Donald Trump criticized what he called a "very one-sided and unfair" trade relationship between the U.S. and China, but said he doesn't blame China for having taken advantage of the U.S. The Washington Post quoted an Alabama woman as saying that Republican Senate candidate Roy Moore of Alabama had sexual contact with her when she was 14 and he was a 32-year-old assistant district attorney; three other women told the Post that Moore had approached them when they were between the ages of 16 and 18 and he was in his early 30s. Actor John Hillerman, best known for his supporting role on the TV series "Magnum, P.I.," died at the age of 84 at his home in Houston. Today's Birthdays: Baseball Hall of Famer Whitey Herzog is 87. No. 4 Baylor women roll past 3-firing Saint Francis, 116-58

By SCHUYLER DIXON

AP Sports Writer

WACO, Texas — Kalani Brown didn't have any blocks to go with her 23 points in No. 4 Baylor's 116-58 victory over Saint Francis of Pennsylvania. Of course, the Red Flash didn't even think about venturing into the lane, hoisting 57 of their 71 shots from behind the 3-point line with the 6-foot-7 Brown and 6-4 Lauren Cox waiting in the paint Thursday night.

"I know defending on the perimeter has been a little difficult for me, moving my feet and stuff," said Brown, a preseason All-America who was 11 of 14 from the field and had six rebounds. "But I've gotten better, so I just wanted to debut that today. I may have given up one or two 3s."

There wasn't much shame in that, since 17 of Saint Francis' 20 baskets were from long range. Jess Kovatch, who set an NCAA record with 141 3-pointers last season and was the nation's second-leading scorer at 24.1 points per game, scored 15 on 5-of-15 shooting from 3.

"It's the way that Saint Francis plays," Red Flash coach Joe Haigh said. "But it's also a product of playing against Baylor. So we know that you play a team with that size and the shot-blocking ability of Baylor, we're not going to get anything in the paint. Why go in there?"

Freshman NaLyssa Smith recorded her first double-double with 21 points and 10 rebounds for the Lady Bears (2-0), who won a second straight game against an overmatched opponent that reached the NCAA Tournament last season before losing to a No. 1 seed.

Courtney Zezza had 14 points and four blocks for the Red Flash (0-2), whose 12th NCAA appearance ended in the first round against UConn last season. Nicholls State, which lost to Baylor 100-39 in the opener, fell to top-seeded Mississippi State.

Chloe Jackson had 17 points, six assists and four steals — all four in the first half, including three that led to breakaway layups. The graduate transfer from LSU was 7 of 7 from the field to help the Lady Bears shoot 66 percent.

Freshman Queen Egbo also was perfect from the field, making all six of her shots and finishing with 14 points. But she was 2 of 5 on free throws as the Lady Bears shot just 52 percent (15 of 29) from the line.

Baylor finished the first quarter on a 25-0 run after Saint Francis took a 9-7 lead by making three straight 3-pointers. The Red Flash then launched 11 in a row from long range, missing them all. Saint Francis shot 28 percent, obviously highlighted by going 17 of 57 from beyond the arc.

The Lady Bears did two from Cox, who had nine points and eight rebounds. "There was just a stretch there that they scored too many points," Baylor coach Kim Mulkey said. "When we play teams that spread the floor like that, it's very obvious to be concerned with Kalani having to go outside, Cox having to go outside."

BIG PICTURE

Saint Francis: After blowout losses against a pair of high-profile opponents (Rutgers was the opener), the Red Flash get a few games against teams that figure to look more like Northeast Conference opponents. The next bigger name is Washington in mid-December.

Baylor: Turnovers were the spark for the first big run by the Lady Bears. They forced 11 in the first quarter for half of their 32 points. Saint Francis finished with 28 turnovers for 42 Baylor points. The down side for Mulkey was Baylor having 21 turnovers.

STARK CONTRAST

Haigh said his team normally takes about half its shots from 3-point range, so the 80 percent rate was a concession to the size of the Lady Bears, who list four players 6-2 or taller. Saint Francis had 12 players shoot at least one 3. The Lady Bears attempted just four, with Smith making one of her two.

In the second quarter that when things really started to unravel for the Steers. On their first possession of the quarter Big Spring drove the ball all the way down to the Chiefs 17 yard. Then what looked like it was going to be a go ahead scoring drive turned into a disaster when Cortez was picked off in the end zone to end the drive and give Lake View the ball on their own 20. On their first play after the interception the Chiefs gashed the Steers on a 76 yard run by their backup quarterback Kendall Blue. Three plays later Blue finished off the drive on a 2 yard touchdown keeper to increase the Chiefs lead to 14-6 with 8:56 left in the half after a successful extra point.

After another three and out by the Steers on their next possession, Lake View once again had a chance to take advantage of the poor play by the Big Spring offense. But Big Springs defense answered the call and got another interception this time by Isaiah Valle on the Chiefs 23 yard line.

With great field position it looked like the Steers were set up once again to get a much needed score. Instead Big Spring turned the ball over on downs for their second straight empty possession inside the red zone. A trend that unfortunately continued throughout the game. After trading three and outs, Lake View was driving again and looked like they were about to score when Zephaniah Nelson picked off the Chiefs quarterback for the third time and returned the ball all the way down to the Lake View 11 yard line with just 22 seconds remaining in the half. After three failed attempts to get into the end zone, Big Spring elected to try a field goal on fourth and goal on the 4 yard line with just 6 ticks left on the clock. As the snap came back to the holder so did the unblocked Chiefs' defender coming off the right side who blocked the kick to once again keep the Steers from getting points in the red zone. Big Spring went into the half trailing 14-6 despite completely controlling the game between the 20's for two quarters.

In the second half it was more of the same. The Steers received the second half kickoff and drove the ball all the way down inside the Chiefs 20 again. And again they came away with nothing, this time losing the ball on the Lake View 15 yard line on a fumble by Cortez to end yet another promising drive with nothing to show for it. Four trips to the red zone and no points never bodes well for a team that has already struggled to score this year. Thankfully the Steers defense was their to step up again and force a quick three and out and get the ball back on the Chiefs 34 yard line.

This time the Steers finally capitalized on the good field position an got the ball in the end zone on a 1 yard scramble by Cortez. Cortez then found Cooley in the back of the end zone for a successful two point conversion to tie the game at 14-14 with 5:49 left in the third quarter. It looked like maybe Big Spring had finally found their footing and regained some of the momentum but it was short lived.

After both teams went three and out the Steers got the ball back on their own twenty and turned the ball over on downs on their own 17 yard line. Lake View didn't let the opportunity go to waste and scored again on a leaping catch in the back of the end zone by Peyton Coleman to retake the lead 21-14 with 2:03 left in the third quarter.

The Steers wouldn't score again till the last play of the game when Jack Everett caught a 58 yard touchdown pass with one second on the clock. The Chiefs scored again on the first play of the fourth quarter on a 83 yard touchdown pass to Ahmad Daniels to go up 28-14. Then Lake View scored again two possession later on a 10 yard TD pass to #33 to go up 35-14 and put the game on ice with 7:11 left in regulation.

The Steers inability to take advantage of great field position, turnovers and red zone possessions really put them in a hole that they couldn't climb out of. If the two teams played ten times Lake View may only win once, but unfortunately for Steer nation thats all it took. The Steers will head to the playoffs with a lot to think about and a lot to work on. Their opponent will be decided by the outcome of Friday's games.

ROCKETS

The Thunder led 59-45 at halftime behind 53.8 percent shooting. In the second quarter, George made all five of his shots and scored 14 points. Oklahoma City held Paul and Anthony scoreless before the break.

Jerami Grant dunked on a lob from Schroder and made the free throw on the foul to put Oklahoma City up 80-60, a score that held up until the end of the third quarter. The Thunder coasted in the fourth.

"I don't know if we're just sagging because we don't believe in what we're — I don't know," D'Antoni said. "We've got to find the answers."

TIP-INS

Rockets: G Eric Gordon missed his third straight game with a strained muscle in his right thigh. ... Anthony was mostly cheered when he checked into the game for the first time in the first quarter. ... Reserves made 1 of 11 shots in the first half. ... Paul was called for a technical foul in the fourth quarter.

Thunder: Ferguson, a 6-foot-7 guard, came out of nowhere to stuff 7-footer Isaiah Hartenstein in the first quarter. ... Made 27 of 44 shots inside the 3-point line but 9 of 37 beyond the arc. ... Outrebounded the Rockets 52-39. ... George had 11 rebounds and six assists.

QUOTABLE

Adams, on defending Houston's outside shots: "We knew they were going to put up a lot of threes. They're a 3-point-shooting team. The whole game plan was to try to get as many contests, and we did. It's not just contesting, mate. We did a good job at really getting out there and getting them in an uncomfortable position."

BENCH ROLE

Houston's reserves shot a combined 6 for 27 from the field and made just 3 of 18 3-pointers. Oklahoma City's reserves shot 8 for 21. Point guard Raymond Felton led the way with 10 points.

UP NEXT

Rockets: At San Antonio on Saturday night.

Thunder: At Dallas on Saturday night.
