Landfill bid and annual bids on City Council's agenda Tuesday

By ROGER CLINE
 Staff Writer

Annual bids – along with a bid for "building and site work" on the new Big Sandy Draw Landfill – are on the agenda for the Big Spring City Council this week.

The council will meet at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday at the City Council Chambers, 307 E. Fourth St.

According to a letter from Robert H. Holder, Environmental Sector Director for Parkhill, Smith and Cooper (PSC), the engineering firm handling the bidding process for the new landfill, to Mayor Shannon Thomason, three bids were received on "Phase 1, Package 2" of the landfill project, "Building and Site Work." One of those did not meet bid requirements because the bidder did not submit a bid bond.

Of the two responsive bids that were received, Onyx General Contractor LLC was chosen by PSC for recommendation. Onyx was the low bidder on the project, bidding a total proposed amount of $2,416,050, compared to the $3,502,929.20 bid by competitor Frontera Construction.

"Onyx has experience with this type of work and Parkhill, Smith & Cooper has completed similar projects with Onyx," Holder said in the letter.

The council will also consider awarding bids on 10 various materials and services the city contracts on an annual basis. These items, along with the recommended bidder and that company's bid, include:

- Aluminum Sulfate: Chameleon Industries of Mesquite, Texas; $159,000 (low bid).
- Anhydrous Ammonia: DPC Industries of Sweetwater, Texas; $61,190 (only bid).
- Liquid Chlorine: DPC Industries of Sweetwater, Texas; $109,460 (only bid).
- Sulfur Dioxide: DPC Industries of Sweetwater, Texas; $19,900 (only bid).

- Valves and fittings: Core and Main of San Angelo, Texas; $433,262.32 (low bid).
- Fleet fuel services: DK/Alon of Dallas, Texas; rack price for both diesel and unleaded (low bid).
- Janitorial services at Dora Roberts Community Center: Diaz Janitorial Service of Big Spring; $9,600 (low bid).
- Janitorial services at downtown city offices including City Hall and City Hall Annex: Manny's Janitorial Service of Big Spring; $51,570 (low bid).
- Janitorial services at the McMahon-Wrinkle Airpark offices: Manny's Janitorial Service of Big Spring; $9,000 (low bid).
- ADA 10-station Bathroom Trailer: National Restroom Trailers of West Seneca, N.Y.; $72,075 (low bid).

In other business, the council will:

- Hear a report from City Manager Todd Darden on a "Staffing for Adequate Fire and Emergency Response" (SAFER) Grant;
- Hear the first reading of a resolution declaring the intent of the city of Big Spring to be reimbursed for capital expenditures from the proceeds of a lease purchase agreement;

History Lecture Series

Lecture No. 32: The Atomic Bomb is Dropped

By ANNA GUTIERREZ
 Staff Writer

The 32nd lecture in the series, "Events That Changed History" brings us to 1945 and the development of the atomic bomb. As was discussed previously, during the rise of Hitler, Jewish people were blamed for many of the problems Germans were facing. Hitler rose to power by reinforcing those beliefs and the failure of Germany's parliamentary democracy.

By 1933, Hitler had passed laws prohibiting Jewish professors from teaching. This forced Albert Einstein to leave Germany, but Einstein leaving left a void in Germany's ability to develop an atomic bomb.

Einstein warned Roosevelt of the dangers of the Germans having an atomic bomb, but Einstein's first letter never reached Roosevelt. That was in 1939. Simultaneously, Werner Heisenberg was working for Germany to develop the atomic bomb, although, the leading research was still being performed by the British and Americans, primarily by scientists who had been driven out of Germany. Two of these physicists working in Britain found that only a small amount of uranium-235 would be necessary for a large explosion and could be used to make a bomb, launching the Manhattan Project.

Leslie Groves with the Corps of Engineers and J. Robert Oppenheimer, a professor at Berkeley, lead the work of the Manhattan Project. Huge plants were built in Oak Ridge Tennessee and Hanford, Washington to provide materials for the project, and hundreds of mathematicians worked on calculations needed by the scientists.

It was in the spring of 1945 that the bomb was ready. On August 6, the first bomb was dropped on Hiroshima, and the world was never the same.

These history lectures, which were being held at the Heritage Museum, are now being held at the Howard County Library, located at 500 S. Main St., downstairs in the basement. Elevators are available. The next lecture will take place Tuesday, Sept. 24 at 12 p.m. and will be "Mae Zedong Begins His Long March."

Special to the Herald

FREDERICKSBURG – Meals for Vets (MFV), a flagship program of the nonprofit organization, Honor Veterans Now (HVN), has been awarded a $500,000 grant from the Texas Veterans Commission (TVC) Fund for Veterans' Assistance to fund meals for veterans living in Texas who are suffering from hunger, under age 60, and struggling financially. This is the second year MFV has received a grant from the TVC Fund for Veterans' Assistance.

An award ceremony was held by the TVC on Thursday, September 12, 2019, at the Capitol building in Austin, Texas, where HVN's unique veteran program was recognized as a 2019-2020 funding cycle grant recipient.

Tom Wollny, Founder and CEO of HVN and the MFV program proudly stated, "It is a great honor to receive support from a highly respected veteran service agency like the TVC. The $500,000 grant from the Fund for Veterans' Assistance affords us the opportunity to reach more veterans than ever before, including a rapidly growing number of student veterans who need and deserve our help in order to reach their academic goals and achieve a better quality of life. We strive to help our veterans thrive."

According to a 2015 study published in Public Health Nutrition, 25% of veterans who served in Iraq or Afghanistan report problems being able to acquire food for themselves and their families. In the fight against food insecurity in the veteran population under age 60 in Texas, MFV has provided over 140,000 meals since its founding in 2015.

An Army veteran who received meal assistance from the MFV program said, "I served 12 years and two combat tours in Iraq. Recently, I went 29 days without eating a nutritious meal due to depression and PTSD. The Veteran Service Officer in Kerrville recommended Meals for Vets. Now I eat five healthy meals a week for free."

Honor Veterans Now, the parent organization for the Meals for Vets program, is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit founded in 2015 in Fredericksburg, Texas by Tom Wollny, U.S. Air Force, Korea War veteran.

Bulldogettes rout Lady Badgers

Special to the Herald

COAHOMA — The Coahoma Bulldogettes came back from a seven-point deficit to earn a victory against the McCamey Lady Badgers in three sets — 25-12, 25-19, 26-24 — on Tuesday night.

After two straight losses to Kermit and Big Spring, the 'Dogettes (8-13) needed a win to get their focus back on district which opens Sept. 28 at Jim Ned.

"It was a huge win for us, especially after our loss last week to Kermit in five sets," said Jamie Bonner, Bulldogettes Head Volleyball Coach following the game. "That was a heart-breaker. We had a really good practice yesterday, and I told them we have to learn how to finish, and we have to win in the end."

And that's just what her team did on Tuesday night. After falling to a seven-point deficit (4-11) in the third set, Coahoma went on a five-point streak to cut the Lady Badger's lead down to two (9-11). By mid-match, the Bulldogettes tied the game after a solid kill by Julia Cox and surged ahead on the next serve.

The Lady Badgers were not so easily dissuaded from attempting to force a fourth set as they came back three times to tie the match before Coahoma put away the game 26-24.

Bulldogette Zoie Joslin, No. 5, tips the ball over the net during the Coahoma versus McCamey Lady Badgers varsity volleyball game held on Tuesday, Sept. 17, 2019, in Coahoma. Joslin had 21 assists for the night. Coahoma won the match in three sets.

McCamey DEF. JV Red: 23-25, 25-18, 14-16
McCamey DEF. JV White: 23-25, 23-25.

"I've been telling them we have to finish," Bonner said. "We can't be scared to hit the ball. We have to use our offense the entire game. If it's working for us, we can't get scared because it's game point and just push or tip the ball. We have to hit, and I think we did a good job of doing that tonight."

Cox led the Bulldogettes to victory with 12 kills. MaKynlee Overton had six and Kirah Kimball pounded out five. Zoie Joslin recorded a whopping 21 assists

Next: Coahoma heads to San Angelo Lake View on Saturday. The two JV teams play at 5 p.m. and the varsity game begins at 6 p.m.

Prescott, Cowboys get out of funk, ease past Dolphins 31-6

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Dak Prescott and the Dallas Cowboys are still on a high-scoring roll, and the Miami Dolphins now have the worst scoring differential through three games since at least 1950 despite trying a younger quarterback.

It just took a half for those trends to kick in.

Prescott threw two touchdown passes to Amari Cooper before running for another score, and the Cowboys pulled out of a first-half funk as huge favorites in a 31-6 victory over the rebuilding Dolphins on Sunday.

"I mean, it's pro football, you know what I'm saying?" said Cooper, who had team highs of six catches and 88 yards. "They came out here prepared to play us. I think we were resilient."

One of Prescott's TD tosses to Cooper came before halftime, but the Dolphins had a great chance to lead at the break as 22-point underdogs when Kenyan Drake fumbled on first down from the Dallas 7-yard line in the final minute of the second quarter. DeMarcus Lawrence recovered to preserve a 10-6 lead.

Josh Rosen was 18 of 29 for 200 yards without a touchdown or interception in his first start for Miami, which went with him over 36-year-old Ryan Fitzpatrick after the first two blowouts.

Acquired in a trade when Arizona took Kyler Murray No. 1 overall a year after drafting Rosen 10th in the first round, the 22-year-old Rosen hit some big throws while moving Miami before stalling after halftime.

The rebuilding Dolphins are 0-3 for the first time since losing their first seven in 2011. They have been outscored 133-16 — that 117-point difference topping Oakland's 106 for the first three games in 1961.

"This very clearly is not a victory, but I think positives, yes," said Rosen, who was tested for a concussion in the first half but returned. "As an organization, we are just trying to like sort of find our identity. I don't think for one millisecond of the game did we give up."

Prescott fueled the first Dallas team in 41 years to win its first two games while rolling up at least 400 yards and at least 30 points each time. And while the Cowboys did it again while reaching 3-0 for the first time since 2008, it took them awhile to find that offensive form.

The second touchdown to Cooper was a 19-yarder that capped a 75-yard drive to open the second half, and came after a 74-yard TD toss to Randall Cobb was nullified by offsetting penalties.

Prescott ran 8 yards to cap the second straight TD drive to open the second half, pulling him within one of Roger Staubach's career club record of 20 rushing touchdowns in just his fourth season. Prescott was 19 of 32 for 246 yards with an interception on a poor decision.

"We're starting to just get unbelievable disbelief when Dak makes a poor decision, we're just not used to that," owner Jerry Jones said. "I'm proud that he's moving that ball around and came back out and really moved it around to a lot of different people."

The Dolphins outgained the Cowboys in the first half (216-204), but still have just one touchdown in three games after settling for two field goals from Jason Sanders in four trips inside the Dallas 30 before halftime.

Just before Drake's fumble, DeVante Parker dropped a throw that he easily could have turned into a touchdown. Parker earlier had a one-handed grab on a drive that ended in a 47-yard miss by Sanders.

"I don't come away feeling good about it at all," said Drake, who had 44 of just 77 yards rushing for an offense that was limited to 67 total yards after halftime. "At the end of the day, we had a few good drives, we left a lot of points off the board and we left a lot of yards on the field."

DUAL THREATS
Ezekiel Elliott (125 yards on 19 carries) had his second straight 100-yard game after missing the entire preseason holding out for the $90 million extension he signed the day of the first full workout before the regular season.

Rookie Tony Pollard, who became the top option behind Elliott while the two-time rushing champion was gone, had his first 100-yard day (103 on 13 carries), clinching it on a 16-yard run for his first TD. It's the first time since 1998 for Dallas to have a pair of 100-yard rushers in a game.

QUINN'S DALLAS DEBUT
Robert Quinn recorded a sack in his debut for Dallas after an offseason trade from Miami and a two-game suspension for violating the NFL's policy on performance-enhancers.

During his one season with the Dolphins and in previous years with the Rams, Quinn raised his fist during the national anthem to protest police brutality, social injustice and racial inequality. Colin Kaepernick sparked the 2016 by kneeling during "The Star-Spangled Banner."

In keeping with what he had already done in two home preseason games, Quinn didn't raise his fist during the anthem before facing the Dolphins.

Cowboys owner Jerry Jones has been outspoken against such protests, including threatening to bench his players. Jones said after the game he never felt the need to address the issue with Quinn.

ANOTHER SCARE FOR HURNS
Miami receiver Allen Hurns had to be taken off the field after a jarring play at the home of the Cowboys, just as he did in the playoffs last season when he broke his ankle on a gruesome-looking play against Seattle when he played for Dallas. A wozy Hurns left the field on his own, but was ruled out in the first quarter with a concussion.

HOWARD EJECTED
Miami cornerback Xavien Howard, still looking for his first interception after tying for the NFL lead with seven last season, was ejected in the fourth quarter following a personal-foul penalty.

UP NEXT
Dolphins: LA Chargers at home next Sunday.
Cowboys: At New Orleans next Sunday.

Athletic Support: Too young for tackle football?

Dear Athletic Support: I held my 10-year-old son out of tackle football this year, and he's not very happy with me. Most all his other friends are playing, but I just couldn't stomach it. My son doesn't even weigh 70 pounds. He's barely 4 feet tall. Some of his friends are almost twice his size! I put him in flag football for this season, but he says it's not the same. Is there a proper age for boys to start full-tackle football? — Lame Mom

Eli Cranor

Dear Lame Mom: First off, you're not lame; you're just cautious, and there's absolutely nothing wrong with that.

You're also not alone. Donald Trump, Mike Ditka, Justin Timberlake and Bo Jackson (among many others) have all stated that they would not be comfortable with their sons playing football.

In his 2018 documentary "Shocked: The Hidden Factor in the Sports and Concussion Crisis," hall of fame quarterback Brett Favre went on record as saying, "I cringe when I see a fragile little boy get tackled and the people ooh and ahh because they just don't know. Or they don't care. It's just so scary."

This is coming from the man who holds the record for most consecutive NFL starts (297). I grew up idolizing Favre, modeling my game after his tough style of play. These days, though, things are different.

With everything we now know about concussions and the potential risks of tackle football, modern parents must consider many factors regarding when (or if) their sons should start playing America's favorite game.

Archie Manning, another Hall of Fame NFL quarterback, held his boys (Peyton and Eli) out of football until they were old enough to play for the school. I think Archie was onto something.

The problem with peewee leagues is oftentimes the coach. This isn't always the case, but more often than not, peewee football coaches aren't properly trained. This can lead to young athletes learning poor technique that could potentially put them in danger in the future.

Now, some parents might argue that holding a boy out of organized football might hinder his chances to excel in the sport later in life. Let me remind you of Peyton and Eli Manning; their "late" starts didn't keep them from reaching the pinnacle of the NFL.

I will confess here that I strapped on my first helmet at the ripe age of 9. I partook in "Bloody Alley" and "Bull In the Ring," two tackling drills that have now been banned from organized football in most states. I was even awarded the "Hardest Hitter Award" in fourth grade. I still have the trophy.

Despite my affinity for a solid tackle, this topic has recently become very personal to the Cranor family. A few weeks back, my wife gave birth to our first son. This question of when/if to start him in football is something I've been anticipating for months, and let me be clear: there is no simple answer.

Football taught me discipline and toughness in ways I could've never learned in a classroom or an air-conditioned gym. It provided me with an education, a chance to play professionally and journey to parts of the world I would've never seen otherwise.

There is no doubt, though, that my successes have come at a cost. What price will I have to pay for those early years spent going head to head in "Bloody Alley?" What price will your son have to pay if you decide to let him play? That, I'm afraid, is a question only you can answer.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Autumnal Equinox

BY HOLIDAY MATHIS

earn to get there.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Keeping up with people is harder than it should be. You've so many ways to stay in touch, and yet your responsibilities and distractions make it challenging to find the time. But try. You'll be glad you did.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Intense emotional action doesn't always add excitement to your life as promised. Sometimes, it drains your reserves and makes you numb instead. Steer clear of drama today, as there will be no thrill in it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). You can't move forward without taking a risk, although you may be so used to some risk-taking that you hardly notice it. It's become a part of your daily life and the way you "do you."

CANCER (June 22-July 22). You never feel so powerful as when you empower others. To teach, to watch people grow and to give what people might not have if it weren't for you -- this is a feeling like no other.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). If you think that you're alone in your lifestyle, you're both wrong and right. People all over the world have similar challenges, habits and solutions for dealing with daily life. Your way is still unique and worth sharing.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Weakness is repellant. People want to see themselves as courageous and effective, and displays of weakness make them doubt their own abilities. You'll get more support failing boldly than making a weak attempt.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Low-hanging fruit has a reputation for being too easy for respectable consumption. On the other hand, only a fool would pass up the abundance of life to make things harder for no reason. The sweetness is right there for you. Take it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). People grow in different ways. Some develop on the inside before the outside catches up, and others do the reverse. Be patient with the growth process and accept whatever form growth comes in.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Letting your current budget dictate your future fun is no fun at all. See what you want first and then figure out how much you need to CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). You want something different from what the others on your team want. These goals don't have to be at odds. There are ways to work this to the advantage of all.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You're comfortable with yourself and therefore won't be lonely when you're alone. In fact, you could use more alone time. It helps you connect with your purpose and feed your soul the custom diet it craves.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Surround yourself with people who want what's best for you. How do you know who they are? Their actions will tell you. Also, when a person's words are supportive but their actions aren't, go with the message inside the action.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Sept. 23). You'll separate what you want from what others in your life want from you. It's a powerful distinction to make. You've the courage to follow your heart's lead. It will take you to beautiful settings. You'll exchange promises. A lucrative deal in January opens up an exploration. Passionate missions start in February. Leo and Taurus adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 9, 40, 2, 22 and 15.

Annie's Mailbox

Missing Son Despite Moving Closer

Dear Annie: I moved here a year ago from another state to be closer to my son and daughter-in-law, but it seems that was not a good idea.

I only see them once a month when they come to my home for dinner. I realize they have jobs and a home to tend to, but I am pretty sure they spend more time with her family (10 members) than they do with me. I was alone for Mother's Day, and I have asked my son four times to go to lunch on his day off, which is Monday every week, and I have been turned down four times. He also is very snarky with his reply to not have lunch, as he said in the last text message to me, "So on my day off I am supposed to drop everything I plan to do and do lunch with you? Nah ... I am busy." I told him I would bring lunch to his home, and he still said no. They are going to have a baby in December, and I seriously doubt if I will see the baby as much as I would like because of her large family. I suspect that she will want to be with them more.

I must tell you that for my 70th birthday she thought I would want to go to a pizza joint with her entire family, and this pizza joint was really chosen for her four nephews, all under age 6, so they could run around and play video games. They did not get me a cake either, which was an OK thing to do at this pizza joint. I was just appalled and very hurt since I had told my son and daughter-in-law that I wanted to go to a seafood restaurant for my birthday.

I feel that I made a big mistake in moving closer to them and am asking for your advice. -- Soon-to-Be Grandma

Dear Soon-to-Be Grandma: Instead of guessing if you made a big mistake, why don't you just ask your son directly? It is obvious that your expectations are not being met, so perhaps you could lower your expectations and instead be happy with what your son and daughter-in-law invite you to. Or you could have a long conversation with your son about your feelings.

The fact that he is snarky with you could be a few things. Sometimes it could be displaced frustration. For instance, if he is really mad about work or his wife, he might feel it is safe to be snarky with Mom because you will always love him no matter what. Or it is possible that he really has other obligations and does not have time for lunch. Regardless, your best bet is to ask your son how you can help him and his wife and her family instead of asking him how he can help you. He has a wife and a baby on the way. As a mom, try to take off some of that pressure by not demanding that he does things your way. You might be surprised that once you shift your expectations, he might invite you over more often, even if it's with her family as well.

Opening lead — two of clubs.
 When this deal occurred at the 1985 world team championship in both the open and women's finals, only one declarer — Hugh Ross of the U.S. — succeeded in bidding and making seven spades. The grand slam also was reached at two other tables, but went down both times.

At the table where Ross was declarer, a couple of unusual bids by the opponents provided him with some useful clues. The Austrian East's "comic" notrump overcall showed a weak hand with an escape suit (later identified as clubs), while West indicated length in diamonds. This warned Ross against the normal approach of attempting to ruff his diamond loser in dummy, and at the same time suggested an alternative method of play that was virtually certain to succeed.

After winning the club lead, Ross cashed all his trumps and the K-A of diamonds to produce this position:

North ♠ A K 10 7
 West ♥ 2 ♦ J 9 ♣ 5
 East ♥ Q 9 8 ♣ K
 South ♥ J ♦ Q 8 ♣ J

When Ross cashed the diamond queen, East was squeezed. In practice, he discarded his club, so the club jack and A-K of hearts took the last three tricks.

Note that if West had held the heart length, he would have been similarly squeezed, unable to guard both hearts and diamonds.

At the two tables where the slam failed, both declarers won the opening club lead and, having heard no opposing bidding, decided to try for their 13th trick by ruffing a diamond with the ace of spades. This plan was certainly reasonable, but failed when East ruffed the second diamond and cashed a club for down two.

Tomorrow: Safeguarding the contract.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Level: Beginner

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Today in History
Today is Monday, Sept. 23, the 266th day of 2019. There are 99 days left in the year.
Today's Highlight in History: On Sept. 23, 1806, the Lewis and Clark expedition returned to St. Louis more than two years after setting out for the Pacific Northwest.
On this date:
In 63 B.C., Caesar Augustus, the first Roman emperor, was born.
In 1780, British spy John Andre was captured along with papers revealing Benedict Arnold's plot to surrender West Point to the British.
In 1846, Neptune was identified as a planet by German astronomer Johann Gottfried Galle (GAH'-luh).
In 1926, Gene Tunney scored a ten-round decision over Jack Dempsey to win the world heavyweight boxing title in Philadelphia.
In 1949, President Harry S. Truman announced there was evidence the Soviet Union had recently conducted a nuclear test explosion. (The test had been carried out on Aug. 29, 1949.)
In 1952, Sen. Richard M. Nixon, R-Calif., salvaged his vice-presidential nomination by appearing on television from Los Angeles to refute allegations of improper campaign fundraising in what became known as the "Checkers" speech.
In 1955, a jury in Sumner, Mississippi, acquitted two white men, Roy Bryant and J.W. Milam, of murdering black teenager Emmett Till. (The two men later admitted to the crime in an interview with Look magazine.)
In 1957, nine black students who'd entered Little Rock Central High School in Arkansas were forced to withdraw because of a white mob outside.
In 1987, Sen. Joseph Biden, D-Del., withdrew from the Democratic presidential race following questions about his use of borrowed quotations and the portrayal of his academic record.
In 2001, President George W. Bush returned the American flag to full staff at Camp David, symbolically ending a period of national mourning following the 9/11 attacks.
In 2002, Gov. Gray Davis

signed a law making California the first state to offer workers paid family leave.
In 2005, Hurricane Rita, down to Category 3, steamed toward refinery towns along the Texas-Louisiana coast, creating havoc even before it arrived; levee breaks caused new flooding in New Orleans, and 23 people were killed when a bus carrying nursing-home evacuees caught fire in Texas.
Ten years ago: President Barack Obama addressed the U.N. General Assembly, where he challenged world leaders to shoulder more of the globe's critical burdens, warning they could no longer castigate the U.S. as a go-it-alone bully while still demanding it cure all ills.
Five years ago: In the first international test for his climate-change strategy, President Barack Obama pressed world leaders at the United Nations to follow the United States' lead on the issue. The U.S. struck the al-Qaida-linked Khorasan group with Tomahawk missiles and other ordnance near Aleppo in northwestern Syria based on fears it was planning terrorist attacks on the U.S. and Europe. A man wearing his work uniform opened fire inside a UPS sorting facility in Birmingham, Alabama, a day after he was fired from the company, killing two supervisors before committing suicide.
One year ago: As negotiators reached agreement on a hearing at which Supreme Court nominee Brett Kavanaugh and the woman accusing him of sexual assault, Christine Blasey Ford, would testify, there was a second allegation of sexual misconduct by Kavanaugh; the second accuser said it took place during Kavanaugh's first year at Yale University. More than a week after Hurricane Florence slammed into the Carolinas, rivers continued to rise, with thousands of coastal residents being warned that they may need to leave their homes. Capping a come-
