The Big Spring Rotary Club recently made a donation to the Friends of the Library. The Big Spring Rotary has always been a big supporter of Education in Howard County and the Friends of the Library extend their sincere gratitude for the support.

Special to the Herald

In order to help purchase new computers and upgrade the computer lab for the Howard County Library, the Friends of the Library will be hosting a book sale on Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 1 and 2, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Who are the Friends of the Library? In 1943, a citizen group initiated the Howard County Library. In 1947 this same group formed a local group called the Friends of the Library.

In the beginning, the Friends provided the copy machines and the videos. Then they supplied the original microfilm/microfiche readers and supplies. The Friends have also purchased computers, printers, scanners and furniture for the library.

The libraries of 1947 and 2019 have changed significantly. There is now a large adult computer lab as well as a children's lab. Ebooks, audio books and Overdrive Apps are now part of the library's services.

The children's educational Playaway Launch Pads are also ready for checkout. Recently, two classes, There's more to the end of October than Halloween!

By ANNA GUTIERREZ
Staff Writer

It's almost Halloween; we have started to feel some crisp, cool fall mornings. In Texas, football season is well under way. Let's take some time to see what special days we can celebrate this last week of October.

The fourth Saturday in October is recognized as National Make a Difference Day, and this year it was this past weekend on October 26. This day was created in 1992 in order to get people to volunteer and perform community service. It was, for a time, the biggest national community service day. Although this day no longer has the corporate sponsorship it once had, many still recognize it and go out into the community to help. We recently published our local non-profit guide. Take a look at one of the charities listed there to see how you can help and make a difference in your community.

October 27 was Navy Day, saluting all who have served in the United States Navy, both past and present. October 27 was when the Navy celebrated their birthday, in honor of President Theodore Roosevelt's birthday.

Great advancements were made during Roosevelt's time as Assistant Secretary of the Navy, and he is referred to by some as one of the architects of the modern Navy.

Today, October 28, may be one of the more important dates on the calendar as it is National Chocolate Day. Who doesn't like chocolate? I know a few people, but they're just weird. Cacao trees are native to Mexico, Central America, and Northern South America. In their natural state, cacao tree seeds have a very bitter taste and must be fermented to develop the flavor with which we are all familiar. So have those brownies, or that piece of chocolate cake, to celebrate this special day.

October 29 is National Cat Day. This day was first recognized in order to bring awareness to all the cats that need to be rescued and adopted. It is also for all cat lovers to recognize the special cats in their lives.

One a more serious note, October 29 is also World Stroke Day. You can observe this day by learning the signs of a stroke, which are referred to as F.A.S.T. This acronym stands for: F is for facial weakness, A is for arm weakness, S is for speech difficulty, and T is for time loss is brain loss. If you see someone having these symptoms, call 911 immediately.

It's fitting that the day before Halloween be observed as National Candy Corn Day. Candy Corn was originally created in the 1800s by the Wunderle Candy

Donald Ray "Don" Taylor

Donald Ray "Don" Taylor, 71, of Big Spring, passed away Saturday, Oct. 26, 2019, surrounded by his family. Visitors may pay their respects from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. Monday, Oct. 28, 2019, at Myers & Smith Funeral Home. Funeral service will be at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 29, 2019, at Myers & Smith Chapel. Burial will be at Mount Olive Memorial Park.

Don was born March 28, 1948, in Brady, Texas, to Lois Laverne Clough Taylor and Jack Taylor. He married Mavis Elizabeth "Betty" Taylor on April 1, 1968, in Odessa, Texas. Don was a veteran of the United States Army serving from 1968 until 1970. He had been a resident of Big Spring and Howard County since 1977. In 1982, he began Don's Tire with one used truck. He not only changed tires but was also a mechanic. In 1988 when the oil boom busted and the business slowed down, he went to work for the Howard County Road and Bridge Department. He continued to build his business after hours, and in 1993 was able to focus on his business full time. Don proudly, with dedication and hard work, was able to build a high-tech expanded shop. Don's customers were considered life-time friends with many just dropping by, having a cup of coffee and visiting. Don also had the opportunity to help coach Little League Baseball from 1981 until 1993. He instilled values in each of the young boys lives every chance he had. He loved tinkering and collecting old cars. Don's gift was "his love of people", always having a smile and a kind word for everyone. He was a Baptist.

Don is survived by his wife, Betty of Big Spring; and one son, Tony Taylor and wife, Mandy of Midland; and their children, Cade Jones, Lawson Taylor and Holden Taylor.

In addition to his parents, he was preceded in death by one brother Sam Taylor.

In lieu of flowers, the family suggests memorials to the Wounded Warriors Project, 2200 Space Park Drive, Suite 100, Houston, TX 77058.

Pallbearers will be Dusty Choate, Jackie Clough, Dickie Clough, Scotty Clough, Kim Armstead and Jason Mims.

Arrangements are by Myers & Smith Funeral Home. Pay your respects online at www.myersandsmith.com.

Bulldogettes secure spot for upcoming playoffs

By STEVE BELVIN

Herald Contributing Sports Writer

COAHOMA - The Coahoma Bulldogettes took care of business at hand. The end result was securing a third seed spot for the upcoming playoffs. Saturday, the Bulldogettes swept the Coleman Bluecats 25-11, 28-26 and 27-25.

It was a happy day for their home season finale, securing Coahoma third place behind Clyde and Jim Ned. The Bulldogettes do have one more regular season game left, Tuesday on the road against undefeated Clyde at 6:30 p.m.

The match was no cake walk for Coahoma by any means. It started out that way in the first game as the Bulldogettes ruled. Kirah Kimball and Mckynlee Overton set the tones by downing kill after kill in the game. Julia Cox was lethal at the service line serving 11 consecutive points turning a 4-3 advantage to 15-3 insurmountable lead.

The next two games were a different story however. In those games Coahoma had to come from behind to win. The score was tied 26-26, the Bulldogettes rallied to the win with a Zoie Joslin ace and a neat dink shot over a much taller Coleman front line by Overton.

"I think we definitely got too comfortable after the first game," said Coahoma coach Jamie Bonner. "We didn't put the ball away as much; we didn't come out the same."

Game three was much like game two. Behind some fine service points by Abby Lopez, Coahoma crept to a 15-10 lead. Behind a Coahoma stellar defensive play by 6-foot-1 junior Abbi Allen who repeatedly blocked Coahoma kill tries. Allen ended the match with nine blocks and six kills.

Coleman crept back to tie the game a 21-21, and the two teams traded points back and forth until Coleman went up 24-23. Coahoma went up 25-24 on a kill by Julia Cox. With Coleman's Kaly at the service line, Coleman tied the game at 25-apiece. Her next serve went into the net giving Coahoma the lead again. The Bulldogettes iced the game with Joslin on the line. Coleman was whistled for a net violation ending the match.

Bonner said she is glad her team regrouped after falling behind. "I always tell them when you start strong like that you have to finish strong," she said. "I want them to be confident but don't get complacent. This is a testament to all the hard work these girls have put in. They worked their tails off this summer. We had an open gym and they all came and put in the work. We've got some momentum and we're excited about being in this spot."

Bonner led Coahoma with eight kills. Caitlyn Corley came on strong in games two and three and finished with seven kills. Cox added five kills.

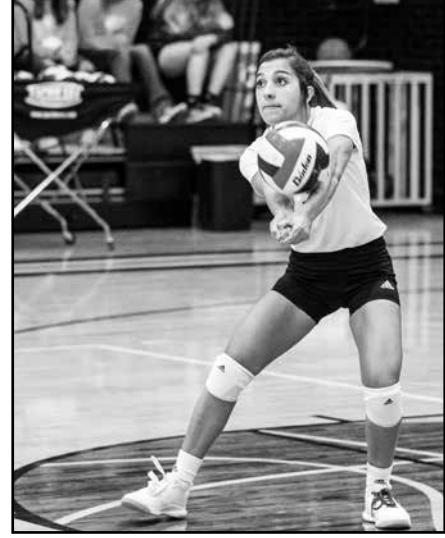

The Bulldogettes are now 3-4 in District 5-3A and 11-15 overall.

Moore gives Chiefs chance in showdown with Packers

By DAVE SKRETTA

AP Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Matt Moore did everything the Kansas City Chiefs asked of him but win the game.

With league MVP Patrick Mahomes still rehabbing a dislocated kneecap, the backup quarterback stepped under the bright lights Sunday night and put on a show. Moore threw for 267 yards and two touchdowns without an interception against Green Bay, keeping his team in the game until the final minutes.

The Packers held on for a 31-24 victory. Moore never made it easy.

"I thought he did some good things," Chiefs coach Andy Reid said. "He hasn't played a lot of football the last couple of years. For him to come out and do what he did tonight, I thought that was respectable. He battled, made some plays for us. He did a respectable job."

Indeed, Moore's performance in a pressure-cooker situation was even more impressive given the fact that he was coaching high school football two months ago. His career had fizzled after stretches in Carolina and Miami, and he spent last year away from the game when no teams called him.

Moore had come to terms with his retirement as a player, spending time earlier this year as a scout for the Dolphins before working as a volunteer high school coach. And that's where he was when Chiefs backup Chad Henne broke his ankle in their third preseason game.

They quickly dialed Moore, he spent the night mulling the opportunity, then was on a flight to Kansas City to become the backup to arguably the most talented quarterback in the NFL.

"I hadn't seen him in a full game — not even a preseason game — other than watching him on tape," Reid said. "But he's a sharp guy. He's tough. And he's going to battle you."

Mahomes hurt his knee on a seemingly innocent sneak against Denver, and Moore showed plenty of rust in finishing off the game. He still appeared nervous at the start Sunday night, misfiring on three of his first five passes as the Chiefs twice went three-and-out.

The Packers jumped out to a 14-0 lead and the situation appeared dire.

But with Mahomes cheering him from the sideline, Moore finally settled down. He led an 89-yard scoring drive that ended with a 29-yard throw to Travis Kelce, then threw an en route push-pass that speedster Mecole Hardman turned into a tying 30-yard touchdown reception.

"There was a little bit of nerves," Moore said. "It's natural. But I got out there and we got it going and we were playing clean football for a while."

By the time halftime came around, Kansas City had taken a 17-14 lead.

"Obviously, it didn't start out too well," right tackle Mitchell Schwartz said, "but coming back from being down a couple scores and tying it up and taking the lead, that's awesome. That's what you want out of that guy."

Moore and the Chiefs' potent offense didn't get many chances in the second half.

They didn't take advantage of those they got, either.

Their first drive ended when Moore was sacked on third down, and their second ended when LeSean McCoy coughed up the ball on the very first play. The Packers responded by scoring touchdowns on each of their first three series, giving them a 31-24 advantage with just more than eight minutes to play.

The Chiefs began to drive again, and Moore connected with Kelce to convert third-and-8 at their own 24-yard line. But he misfired on third-and-3 a few minutes later, and Reid elected to punt away rather than gamble in his own territory in the hopes that his defense could get the ball back.

The Packers, leaning on Aaron Rodgers and Aaron Jones, never gave Kansas City another shot.

"It was a phenomenal punt, backed them up, our defense had been getting well throughout the night," Reid said. "If we get the ball back, good field position — listen, it didn't work out. It could be questioned either way. I chose to do what I did there, thought it was the right thing to do at that time and it didn't pay off the way I was hoping."

Moore certainly did, though. Regardless of whether he gets another shot next week against the Vikings — Mahomes practiced on a limited basis this week before he was ruled out Friday — he gave the Chiefs a chance to beat the Packers in a showdown of division leaders.

That should give the Chiefs a bit of comfort going forward.

"We didn't hold back. You can't against a team like this. They're explosive," Reid said. "But he stepped his game up. He wanted everything. He attacked it during the week. He did respectable."

Jets' Darnold throws 3 more picks in 29-15 loss at Jaguars

By MARK LONG

AP Sports Writer

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Sam Darnold went from seeing ghosts to seeing teal.

Darnold threw three interceptions and was sacked a career-high eight times in Jacksonville's 29-15 victory over the New York Jets on Sunday.

He was picked off twice in the fourth quarter, including one that set up Gardner Minshew's game-sealing score to DJ Chark with a little more than 4 minutes to play.

"I know he saw a lot today," said

Jaguars defensive end Yannick Nkagou, who notched two sacks. "He saw corners picking the ball. He saw defensive linemen in his face. ... This is the standard and what we're trying to embrace."

Darnold completed 21 of 30 passes for 218 yards with two touchdowns — both to Ryan Griffin — but the turnovers and takedowns overshadowed all the positives.

The Jaguars pressured him early and often, hitting him on nearly every passing play and sacking him twice as many times as any other team had during his two-year NFL career. He said afterward he sprained his left thumb.

"For some reason, I just didn't throw the ball as well these last couple of games," Darnold said. "I just have to continue to practice hard and get better."

Darnold's performance came six days after he was caught on camera saying he was "seeing ghosts" in a 33-0 loss to New England. Darnold wore a microphone for ESPN's broadcast of the Monday night game, and his comment went viral.

His words still resonated at TIAA Bank Field.

A plane circled the stadium pulling a huge banner that read: "Gardner Minshew ain't afraid of no ghost." And Jacksonville's mascot, Jaxson de Ville, ran onto the field shortly before kickoff wearing a white sheet over his head.

Fans donned sheets and waved ghostly signs, and the public address system cranked the "Ghostbusters" theme song at the 2-minute warning.

"It is what it is. It didn't affect me," Darnold said.

Annie's Mailbox

If You Try Sometimes, You Get What You Need

Dear Annie: I've been in a relationship for two years now, and I have decided that he really is selfish. I'm 24, and he's 25. Everyone in my life is fed up with him, including my parents. They tell me how I should be treated, and he's not doing it.

He's a state trooper, and I'm a waitress, still in school, so he has his career and money, while I don't make much at all. At times, he still makes me pay for little things. I'm not saying he has to buy me everything, but he literally pays for nothing.

When we go out to eat, he will pay for it here and there. But recently, we were in this shooting competition, and he said if I paid for the shells, he'd pay for the entry fee. My mom says that because it was his idea to enter me in the competition and he knows my financial state, he should have paid for it. It's not like he needed the money for the shells. On Valentine's Day, he didn't get me anything. And in our two years, he's never bought me flowers.

I honestly didn't cry over all this until my family started bringing it up. He does put a lot of things above me -- almost all the time. I also have trouble with his social media; he has nothing but girls on all of it, and he fishes for attention at times. I've talked to him about it, but all he does is pick a fight with me.

Let me know if I'm just thinking too hard about this. There are a lot of situations I could complain about, but I just need some sort of clarity. He let me drive home by myself -- a three-hour drive really early in the morning -- so he could stay behind for another hunt, even though that was all he'd been doing. My dad didn't like that at all. He said a man should have driven me home to make sure I was safe. I think the people close to me are just tired of him never stepping up. -- My Family Thinks I Deserve More

Dear Deserve More: You are a 24-year-old adult. While you are welcome to take advice from your parents and friends, you have to decide for yourself if you deserve to be treated the way your boyfriend is treating you. If you put up with your boyfriend's actions, he will continue behaving the same way. Tell him what you need. Tell him that you didn't want to drive home for three hours alone and that you would like a gift or flowers on Valentine's Day. If he blows you off or tries to make it your fault ... well, then, I think you already know the answer. Find someone who fulfills your needs.

Dear Annie: I always read your articles and usually agree with your responses. I would like to offer an alternative to the letter writer who sends a "generous check" to his 40-something son and daughter-in-law who are "successfully employed." When our children were in their 20s and just starting out, we used to send them checks, too, because they really needed the extra help.

Once they became established, the checks were an uncomfortable reminder to them that they were still our "children," so we decided to buy them gift cards instead. They all have enough "stuff," but a gift card to their favorite restaurant for a nice date night is an "adult" gift that they appreciate. Our relationship is now much more "grown-up." Now when they go to dinner, they think of us, and we almost always get a thank-you! The gift cards are usually a lot less money than the checks were, but they're perfect for a lovely night out. We all win! -- All Grown Up

Dear All Grown Up: Buying a thoughtful gift is always something to be treasured.

Oppositional Opportunity

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You don't need to (and should not!) do anything bigger or better or differently. Just show up and be you. Trying to do anything more than that will cause an energetic ruckus around you that will only prevent you from enjoying yourself.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). In the case of running out of gas in the car or ink in the printer, the obstacle isn't a block but a lack of resources needed to go forward. It bears mention as today there will be a chance to buy in bulk. Do it to help out future you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). At times, your own mind is like a grand, fully furnished room that you sense you know well but nonetheless cannot confidently navigate until you've first turned on the light. Curiosity is the light.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Nothing cures fear like action. Action is a form of courage. When you're feeling trepidation, put one foot in front of the other before you can get the chance to build a case against it.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Triggers get hit today that tell people to tune out or maybe to rage against. Knowing where the buttons are and how they are wired is important if only so you can avoid them altogether in the future.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You will agree with a person while disagreeing with what the person is saying. You'll make the distinction and build trust with a person now. Mutually satisfying solutions are in your future.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). The fun thing about connecting with people for the first time is that whatever happens will likely go down in the memory book, as first-time meetings tend to do. With this in mind, be a bit daring and make it count.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). How you give your attention will be more important than how long you give it. Five wonderful minutes with someone will be more meaningful than 105 dull ones.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Fear, worry and self-centered concern will provide a continuous pattern to drown out what's important if you let it. All you have to do is pause and notice. This small act will interrupt the noise.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). What would it take to get a stretch of free time

Tomorrow's Horoscope

BY HOLIDAY MATHIS

and adventure? Put the plan in motion. Two outstanding benefits will come of it. You'll prevent future burnout, and you'll brighten the days leading up to it with sunny anticipation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Your intuition is dialed up and ready to fill in today's knowledge gaps. Knowing what not to do will be more important than knowing what to do. But the most valuable instinct of all will be knowing when to stop.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). The difference between good communication and ineffective communication is often a matter of honesty. People are getting more and more savvy to deception. One whiff of it can taint all.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Oct. 28). You'll be invigorated, inspired and revitalized by this solar return. Because you've known life cycles in which you had to take two steps back to move forward, this new stretch will be thrilling by comparison. It's all forward movement and fresh experience. You'll take on a series of challenges and amaze yourself. Libra and Pisces adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 7, 20, 4, 37 and 1.

HALLOWEEN TRADITIONS: TRICK OR TREAT?: While the fight for food is among the most basic tenants of our survival code, the instinct to gift food is reserved for the highly evolved. Somewhere in its early development, the human species seems to have collectively agreed on one thing: The gods want our food.

Humans in every culture have been known to sacrifice animals, vegetables and relatives to the gods. In recent times, our gifts are more commonly indirect and representational. To leave oranges on an altar, ingest a sacrament or even treat St. Nick to some cookies is to observe some primal instinct to, if only symbolically, share food with the universe.

Consider the soul cake. Its early origins are murkily related to human sacrifice, but by the 8th century these baked items were paid to wandering beggars in exchange for prayers for the souls of dead relatives. From there, the practice evolved in various directions: sweets for songs, dances, costumes and other "tricks," sweets for charity, sweets as payoffs to avoid trouble, or sweets just because on some basic level, down deep in our souls, we still believe that the gods must be hungry.

The bidding:
West North East South
Pass Pass Pass 1 NT
2 ♣ 3 NT
Opening lead — eight of spades.

This deal occurred in the match between Italy and the United States in the 1984 World Team Olympiad. When the U.S. held the North-South cards, the bidding went as shown.

The Italian West chose to pass as dealer but, after South opened one notrump, overcalled with two clubs, indicating length in both major suits. North then went directly to three notrump, ending the auction.

West led a spade, won by South with the ten, and declarer (Paul Soloway) had to decide what to do next.

Tomorrow: Diabolical defense.
©2019 King Features Syndicate Inc.

Although attempting a diamond finesse seems the obvious thing to do, Soloway instead led the four of hearts at trick two. He realized that on the bidding a diamond finesse was likely to fail, and that if it did, a spade return would almost surely defeat the contract by allowing East-West to eventually score three spades, a diamond and a heart.

Soloway's reasoning was certainly sound, and the heart play left the Italians with no chance whatever of stopping the contract. After West followed low, declarer went up with the king, led a club to his ace and then lost the queen of diamonds to East's king. The best the defenders could do was to cash three hearts, after which South had nine tricks consisting of two spades, a heart, four diamonds and two clubs for plus 600.

It could be argued that Soloway was lucky to find the hearts divided 4-4. But on a probabilities basis, West was more likely to have been dealt only four hearts rather than five. Furthermore, if West had five hearts in addition to five spades and the diamond finesse lost, the contract couldn't be made.

When the Italian North-South pair played the same hand, they stopped at three diamonds, making three, for a score of 110 points, so the U.S. gained 490 points — 10 IMPs — on the deal.

Level: Beginner

Here's How It Works:

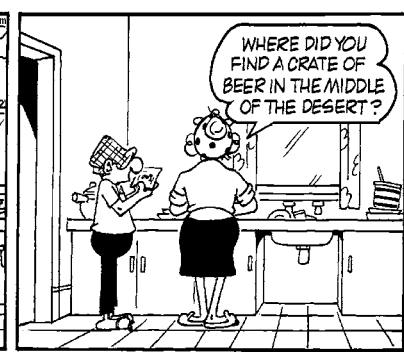

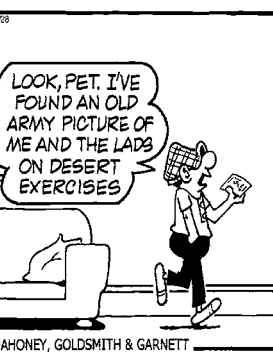

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Today in History

Today is Monday, Oct. 28, the 301st day of 2019. There are 64 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History: On Oct. 28, 1886, the Statue of Liberty, a gift from the people of France, was dedicated in New York Harbor by President Grover Cleveland.

On this date:

In 1726, the original edition of "Gulliver's Travels," a satirical novel by Jonathan Swift, was first published in London.

In 1858, Rowland Hussey Macy opened his first New York store at Sixth Avenue and 14th Street in Manhattan.

In 1922, fascism came to Italy as Benito Mussolini took control of the government.

In 1940, Italy invaded Greece during World War II.

In 1962, Soviet leader Nikita Khrushchev informed the United States that he had ordered the dismantling of missile bases in Cuba; in return, the U.S. secretly agreed to remove nuclear missiles from U.S. installations in Turkey.

In 1965, Pope Paul VI issued a Declaration of the Relation of the Church with Non-Christian Religions which, among other things, absolved Jews of collective guilt for the crucifixion of Jesus Christ.

In 1976, former Nixon aide John D. Ehrlichman entered a federal prison camp in Safford, Arizona, to begin serving his sentence for Watergate-related convictions (he was released in April 1978).

In 1980, President Jimmy Carter and Republican presidential nominee Ronald Reagan faced off in a nationally broadcast, 90-minute debate in Cleveland.

In 2001, the families of people killed in the September 11 terrorist attack gathered in New York for a memorial service filled with prayer and song.

In 2002, American diplomat Laurence Foley was assassinated in front of his house in Amman, Jordan, in the first such attack on a U.S. diplomat in decades. A student flunking out of the University of Arizona nursing school shot three of his professors to death, then killed himself.

In 2003, firefighters beat back flames on Los Angeles' doorstep, saving hundreds of homes in the city's San Fernando Valley from California's deadliest wildfires in more than a decade.

In 2013, Penn State said it would pay $59.7 million to 26 young men over claims of child sexual abuse at the hands of former assistant football coach Jerry Sandusky.

Ten years ago: Taliban militants stormed a guest house used by U.N. staff in the heart of the Afghan capital, leaving 11 dead, including five U.N. staff and three attackers. A car bomb exploded in a crowded market in Peshawar, Pakistan, killing at least 112.

Angela Merkel (AHN'-geh-lah MEHR'-kuhl) was sworn in for a second term as German chancellor. The defending champion Philadelphia Phillies beat the New York Yankees 6-1 in Game 1 of the World Series.

Five years ago: An unmanned commercial supply rocket bound for the International Space Station exploded moments after liftoff, with debris falling in flames over the launch site in Virginia. A video was posted online by a group called Hollaback! showing actress Shoshana Roberts being verbally accosted by men as she silently walked through Manhattan over a 10-hour period; the video "went viral," spurring outrage and sparking discussions about the pervasiveness of street harassment that women face. The World Series was evened at three games each as the Kansas City Royals routed the San Francisco Giants 10-0.

One year ago: The Boston Red Sox beat the Los Angeles Dodgers, 5-1, with the help of two home runs from Steve Pearce, to wrap up a World Series in five games. A brash far-right congressman, Jair Bolsonaro, cruised to a 10-point victory in Brazil's presidential election, becoming the latest world leader to rise to power by mixing tough, often violent talk with hard-right positions.
