County extends burn ban for 90 days

By ROGER CLINE
Staff Writer
Howard County commissioners responded to a request from Volunteer Fire Department Chief Mitchell Hooper and extended the current county-wide burn ban for three months, or until January 28, at their Monday meeting. Commissioners Craig Bailey paraphrased a text message from Hooper, who was absent on other business. "I messaged with Chief Hooper, and he said the actual fuel that's available now is worse than it was the last time this was passed," Bailey said. "He suggests we extend the burn ban for another 90 day, so I make that motion." The vote of the four commissioners and Judge Kathryn Wiseman unanimously supported the ban extension. According to the rules of the ban, outdoor burning is prohibited without special dispensation from the county, except in some special circumstances. Some burning for agricultural or fire department training purposes is allowed. In other business, commissioners reconsidered cutting the hours of a Department of Public Safety administrative assistant to part time. The measure was considered at the previous Commissioners' meeting Oct. 14 but tabled because two commissioners were absent from the meeting. At the October 14 meeting, nine DPS troopers, as well as Justice of the Peace Robert Fitzgibbons of Howard County and JPs Nancy Bradshaw and Jarrell Hedrick of Martin County spoke in protest of the cut in hours. At Monday's meeting, five DPS troopers and all three JPs returned to plead the case for keeping the administrative assistant at full time hours. Commissioner Craig Bailey, who See COUNTY, Page 3

Door and camera security, restroom completion, on Howard College board's agenda Monday

By ROGER CLINE
Staff Writer
Securing Howard College's Big Spring and San Angelo campuses – as well as the South West College for the Deaf campus – with cameras and door access controls was among the items on the agenda at the Howard County Junior College District's Board of Trustees meeting Monday.

"This is a project that was started approximately three years ago, and the board has, over the past three years, funded cameras and access doors to secure the Big Spring campus, as well as the SWCD and San Angelo campuses," Howard College President Dr. Cheryl Sparks said. "We've been working on that, and this last budget workshop, we've had some doors and cameras that we needed to install to complete the overall project that we've been working on. So today we were able to get the last part of the project approved, and we'll be able to complete that, hopefully, in the next couple of months." In other business, Sparks also reported that the restrooms in the Student Union Building are in operation, and require just a few tweaks to be complete. "We're happy to report that the S.U.B. bathroom renovation project is right at 96 percent complete. The bathrooms are in operation, and we're very, very pleased with them. There are a few little minor, what they call 'Punch List' items – not changes, but minor tasks to complete." The board also recognized the Big Spring Area Community Foundation with a resolution. "Whereas, Vince Lombardi once said, 'Perfection is not attainable, but if we chase perfection, we can catch excellence';" read Dr. Sparks. "whereas the Big Spring Area Community Foundation has influenced the pursuit of excellence by encouraging and recognizing commitment to hard work See COLLEGE, Page 3

Mustang Draw Carvers hold successful show

By ROGER CLINE
Staff Writer
Entering the meeting room at Casey's Campers, 1607 E. Third St., on Friday, I was greeted by hundreds of faces – small, wooden faces of cowboys and Indians, Santa Clauses, snowmen and snow women, and angels and Jesus, Mary and Joseph from Nativity scenes with the accompanying shepherds and wise men – and a few friendly faces of the artists who created them. After a couple of years without putting on a show, the Mustang Draw Woodcarvers Club was back in action this past weekend. "We're having a small show. We're a local club – Odessa, Midland and Big Spring area. Today we're having the judging, and it'll be finished about lunchtime or so," said Robert Miles, club president, on Friday. "We're the Mustang Draw Woodcarvers Club. This is the first year we've been here at Casey's Campers. We were having it at Dora Roberts, and we had about a two-year hiatus. Mr. Casey's a member of our club, and he made arrangements for us to be out here in this little meeting room they have." The show over the weekend featured a half-dozen area artists, Miles said. "We have about six artists displaying here today, then we have a vendor here with miscellaneous tools and wood supplies from the Sherman area," he said. "They come down every year for our show. Right now our club's kind of small.

Obituaries

William Adolph Telchik

Funeral services for William Adolph Telchik, 83, of Borden County, will be held, Nov. 2, 2019, at 1 p.m. at Church of Christ with Mark Hackett officiating. Interment will follow at Gail Cemetery. Arrangements are under the direction of Branon Funeral Home. Visitation will be held Friday, Nov. 1, 2019, from 6 to 7 p.m. at Branon Funeral Home in Lamesa, Texas.

William passed away peacefully on Friday, Oct. 25, 2019, in Lubbock, Texas. He was born March 25, 1936, to Adolph and Effie Lee (Cowan) Telchik in Mingus, Texas. He married Patsy Nell Collvins June 26, 1959, in the Mesquite community in Borden County, Texas. They were married 60 years. Patsy and Buddy, as most people knew him, farmed in the Mesquite community. They raised three children who never had to look further than the end of a hoe handle for their summer jobs.

Buddy served in the United States Army Reserves from 1954 to 1986. Dub, as he was known to his National Guard buddies, cherished all the friendships made with his fellow guardsmen. He had the great honor to meet General Norman Schwarzkopf and General Colin Powell during his service. Dub always had new stories to tell the family when he came home from weekend drills. He could always tell a great story, even if he had to dress it up a little.

Over the years, he belonged to several organizations including the Lions Club, Borden County Boosters, Borden County Livestock Association, and the Masonic Lodge.

Buddy is survived by his wife, Patsy Telchik of Borden County; children, Twila Potts and husband, David, of Farmersville, TX; Tammy Telchik of Big Spring; Lance Telchik and wife, Terri of Big Spring; grandson, Aaron Trace Telchik of Big Spring; and granddaughter, Adriana Jade Telchik of Big Spring; brothers, James Telchik and wife, Sherry, of Lamesa, and Kenneth Telchik and wife, Donna, of Keller. He is preceded in death by his parents; sister, Ella Frances Telchik Rhea; and brother-in-law, Oran F. Rhea.

The family expresses their thanks to Borden County EMS volunteers Mike Valentine and Janna Underwood, Borden County Sheriff's Deputy Steve Swift, County Judge Ross Sharp, and special caregivers Melissa Murphy and "John" Wayne. The family suggests memorials to the Borden County EMS, PO Box 342, Gail, TX, 79738. To send condolences online, please visit www.branonfuneral-home.com.

was absent at the previous meeting, responded to the request by expressing frustration at unfunded mandates from the State of Texas.

"I don't think there's anybody here that disputes the necessity of this position," said Bailey. "To be honest with you, the thing that grinds me the most about this is being put in this position by people that have absolutely no idea what's going on out here. None. I understand that they're making decisions for your folks, and you, and probably don't have any idea about that, either. I think we are being penalized as a result of being good stewards of the taxpayers money over the years. If our budget was up in the $20 or $22 million range where it could be with increasing year over year like some counties have, we probably wouldn't be having to have this conversation."

After some discussion, the commissioners voted unanimously to return the admin's hours to full time for the current year.

- The commissioners also:
- Approved appointment of Jacob Castle, Barbara East, Diane Hofacket, Mercedes Miller, Rebecca Moughon, Dana Rodriguez, Irene Galan, Kathy Salazar, Juanita Stonerook and Tammy Yates to the Howard County Child Welfare Board.
  - Reaffirmed their nomination of Scott Emerson to the Appraisal District board.
  - Reaffirmed cutting the positions of Texas Wildlife Services Program Technician and Family Consumer Health County Extension Agent from the county's budget starting Jan. 1.

• Voted to respond to a request from Seitel for a permit to conduct geophysical operations on county-owned property with a request for a larger payment than Seitel offered.

- Heard plans from Howard County IT personnel Johnny Moore and Otis Franklin for plans to upgrade the county's internet system.
- Reviewed travel policy.
- Approved invoices, purchase requests, and budget amendments.
- Approved personnel considerations, the treasurer's Monthly Payroll Report and the Treasurer's Quarterly Report.
- Approved contracts for radio towers in the county.

TSTC Student Veteran Breaks Barriers in Automotive Industry

Amber Williams is a Texas State Technical College student veteran in the Automotive Technology program at the Sweetwater campus. She is expected to graduate this fall.

Special to the Herald

SWEETWATER - When Amber Williams first learned to drive, one of the rules her dad enforced was that if she was going to drive it, she had to be able to repair it herself.

Fast-forward a few years, and Williams has taken that lesson to heart as she pursues an Automotive Technician Certificate of Completion 2 at Texas State Technical College's Sweetwater campus.

"It's funny. When my dad asked me why I was going to school for this, I was like, 'It's because of you. Don't you remember? You said I couldn't drive if I couldn't fix it,'" Williams said.

Williams enlisted in the Army at age 17 while still at Merkel High School. She served for eight years as a civil affairs specialist, including in Iraq, where she served in Operation Enduring Freedom and Operation Iraqi Freedom. During her service, an opportunity arose for her to join the motor pool and learn basic maintenance.

"I learned how to work on Humvees. So when I got out, it just felt right to keep working on cars," Williams said.

After Williams left the military, she started working at local shops. There, she became used to being one of the few females, if not the only female, working as a technician.

"I've been in the industry, working, and you get used to being the only woman out there. The best advice I tell the other girls in my class is to let your work speak for you. Work so hard and be the best so they have no choice but to respect you," Williams said.

Williams' hard work has not gone unnoticed. TSTC automotive instructor Mike Myers said he knows he can always count on Williams to go the extra mile.

"Amber is an amazing student. She asks questions and works the problem to make sure she really understands it, and then will go help and mentor the other women -- and guys -- in the class," Myers said.

Williams encourages other women to explore a career in the automotive industry.

"I think it is so important for women to know how to fix their vehicle. Even if they just know the basics of how to change a tire, it is so important because your car is something you operate every day," Williams said.

After graduation, Williams hopes to open her own mobile auto repair shop.

"When I first started at TSTC, I was a lube tech. So I just did tire changes and oil changes, and knew nothing of engine repair or things like that. But after being here and working hands-on, I have learned so much that I would recommend TSTC to anyone," Williams said.

Williams is expected to graduate this December.

Steelers overcome slow start, drop winless Dolphins 27-14

By WILL GRAVES

AP Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH — Mason Rudolph heard the boos. They were impossible to miss as the minutes passed, the mistakes piled up and the Pittsburgh Steelers found themselves down two scores on Monday night to arguably the worst team in the NFL.

Turnovers. Dropped passes. Penalties. Missed opportunities. For the better part of 30 minutes, it was hard to tell if the Steelers or the Miami Dolphins were the team in the midst of a massive rebuild.

"I would have booed that performance too," Rudolph said. "Coming out slow and it's the Pittsburgh Steelers. There's a standard here and we weren't meeting it at the time."

Eventually, however, Rudolph found his footing. Eventually, the Dolphins morphed back into the team playing for a shot at the top pick in the draft. And eventually the Steelers avoided an embarrassing loss that would have effectively ended the competitive portion of their season by rallying for a 27-14 victory.

Rudolph threw for 251 yards and two touchdowns in his first start after getting knocked unconscious earlier this month against Baltimore, and James Conner added 145 yards and a touchdown on the ground as Pittsburgh (3-4) won consecutive games for the first time since ripping off six straight in the middle of last season.

"You dig a big of a whole there in the first half and I was proud of the way we responded," Rudolph said.

Rudolph stressed he wasn't worried about the long-term effects of a frightening concussion he suffered against Baltimore on Oct. 6, when he was knocked cold on a helmet-to-helmet hit by Ravens safety Earl Thomas. Still, he looked shaky at best during an ugly opening quarter that saw the Dolphins grab their first two-touchdown lead over any opponent in more than a year.

Pittsburgh's first possession ended with Rudolph throwing a pick to Xavien Howard — back in the lineup after missing two games with a knee injury — and its second ended with Rudolph misfiring badly on fourth down. Yet he remained upbeat amid the growing pains and eventually things started to click. Rudolph completed 20 of 36 passes, including a 45-yard touchdown to rookie Diontae Johnson late in the second quarter and a 26-yard strike to JuJu Smith-Schuster in the third quarter that put the Steelers firmly in control.

"We needed to get him going early on because all it takes is that one big play for him," Pittsburgh wide receiver James Washington said. "His mind is going. He's got the adrenaline going and (once) we started moving that ball down the field running and passing, we were on."

And the Dolphins (0-7) were not.

Ryan Fitzpatrick passed for 190 yards with two touchdowns and two picks, both to Steelers safety Minkah Fitzpatrick, who orchestrated a trade from Miami to Pittsburgh last month. But a rare hot start couldn't prevent Miami from staying winless through seven games for the first time since 2011. The Dolphins have dropped 10 straight dating to last season.

"We just have to continue to keep fighting," Ryan Fitzpatrick said. "That's just kind of the place that we're at right now. Just continue to keep fighting, continue to keep going to practice and trying to get better every single day."

CURIOUS CALL

The Dolphins, in the midst of an exhaustive rebuild under first-year coach Brian Flores — a process that included trading running back Kenyan Drake to Arizona on Monday for a conditional sixth-round pick in next year's draft just hours before kickoff — showed their first extended signs of life in an already lost season.

Ryan Fitzpatrick's two touchdown passes gave Miami — a 14-point underdog — a 14-point advantage for the first time since Oct. 7, 2018. The Dolphins couldn't hold on then, allowing the Bengals storm back for a victory. A year later, not much has changed. The Steelers pulled within 14-10 at the break thanks to the first of Minkah Fitzpatrick's two interceptions and an odd defensive play call by the Dolphins.

Leading by 11 points and with Pittsburgh facing third-and-20 outside of field goal range, Miami opted to blitz and didn't bother to guard Johnson, who took a short pass from Rudolph and used a couple of downfield blocks from Washington to weave his way 45 yards to the end zone.

"Wanted to be aggressive," Flores said. "We can second guess a lot of calls. I'm not going to second guess that one. I thought we had success with the call, and they made a play."

INJURIES

Dolphins: Howard's return was brief. He left in the second half after aggravating his knee injury. ... CB Ken Webster left with an ankle injury in the first half and did not return.

Steelers: Conner left in the fourth quarter with a shoulder injury. ... Ramon Foster (concussion) exited with a concussion in the first half and did not return. ... RB Benny Snell left with an ankle injury in the third quarter.

UP NEXT

Dolphins: Welcome the New York Jets (1-6) next Sunday. Miami swept the Jets last season.

Steelers: Host Indianapolis (5-2) next Sunday. Pittsburgh has won each of its last five meetings with the Colts.

DeRozan's late shot sends Spurs to 124-122 win over Wizards

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The San Antonio Spurs admitted it was tough trading Davis Bertans to Washington, and the subsequent circumstances surrounding his departure only made matters worse.

The Spurs certainly had some seller's remorse after Bertans' play Saturday night, but San Antonio was happy to prevail over the Wizards.

DeMar DeRozan scored 26 points, including the game-winning basket in heavy traffic in the final seconds, and San Antonio beat Washington 124-122.

Bertans, traded from San Antonio to Washington in the offseason, made all five of his 3-point attempts and scored 23 points against his former team. Spurs coach Gregg Popovich was grateful Bertans didn't take the Wizards' final shot.

"I almost jumped out on the court," Popovich said. "He had a great game. He was wonderful. He's a super human being, a heck of a player. I'm actually happy for him. He was great. He was great."

Bertans was traded to clear cap space for Marcus Morris, who agreed to a two-year deal with San Antonio only to back out of the agreement and instead sign a one-year contract with New York. Having already dealt Bertans, the Spurs opted to sign Trey Lyles.

"It was emotional a little bit," Bertans said of his return. "I spent a lot of time here. As I see it, even though I got traded, there's nothing but love for the Spurs and that's mutual."

That love was evident in Popovich's playful banter with Bertans on the court following the game and former Spurs general manager R.C. Buford's long embrace with Bertans in the Wizards locker room.

Bertans got to see the Spurs grind out a victory as an opponent for the first time in his four-year career. San Antonio recorded its 20th straight home victory over Washington with some late heroics.

Using a screen by LaMarcus Aldridge near midcourt, DeRozan drove to the basket and spun in a layup between Rui Hachimura and Thomas Bryant, putting the Spurs up with 5.5 seconds remaining.

by leading his doubleton jack in the unbid suit, clubs.

It was now East's turn to take advantage of what he knew and declarer didn't. Instead of making the normal play of overtaking the jack with the queen and continuing with the king, East won the first trick with the ace and returned the queen! This sequence of plays was designed to create the impression in declarer's mind that West had led from a club holding headed by the K-J-10.

The puffoff came a few tricks later. After ruffing the queen, South trumped a diamond in dummy, then played the queen of spades and a spade to the king. A second diamond was ruffed with the jack of spades to bring about the critical position.

With no more trumps in dummy, South had to guess how to get back to his hand. The threat, of course, was West's nine of spades, which could score a fatal overruff.

It was here that East's earlier deceptive club plays came to fruition. Afraid that West might overruff a third round of hearts and certain that West had at least one club remaining, South elected to ruff a club, and the nine of spades came home to roost.

Perhaps another declarer might have made the winning decision, but the actual South is certainly deserving of our sympathies.

The bidding:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♥ Pass
3 ♦ Pass 4 ♠ Pass

Opening lead — jack of clubs.
It may be hard to see how South could fail to make six spades on this layout, but that is exactly what happened when the deal occurred. Moreover, given the circumstances he encountered in both the bidding and the play, we suspect quite a few others would have fallen into the same trap.
East laid the initial groundwork for declarer's eventual undoing when he elected to remain silent throughout the auction. West then did his part

Fun By The Numbers
Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

ANSWER:

A Lunar Conjunction Exercise

ARIES (March 21-April 19). To give someone your heart and express yourself from a deep place in your soul is a risk. You have to be ready for any kind of response including resistance. Just know that it says more about them than it does about you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). A disruption is coming. Get ahead of the situation by planning a vacation or some kind of delight so that the shake-up is a pleasure of your own making instead of a surprise package that destiny lobs in your direction.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Sometimes in order to see your game, you have to take yourself out of it. Get away for a few days so you can come back with fresh eyes. By Friday, you'll feel differently about this situation.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). There is a higher vantage point available, but you cannot see how to get there from your current spot. To find the way up, first find the way out. Open the door to the "room" that confines you, find the exit, walk toward sunshine.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). The perception of you from the outside will be very different from the one you're having internally. It begs the question, "Do they really have the right to judge you?" And more importantly, do you?

VI-RGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Kindred spirits emerge to bond with you. The thing is that you'll bond over whatever you put out into the world. So put out the part of yourself you'd most like to be accepted instead of the part you think the world will find most acceptable.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Clarity of purpose is more precious than money. In a very practical way, it saves you money today. You'll acquire only what you'll use and enjoy and avoid purchasing anything that doesn't speak to who you really are.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). You don't need to be a perfect example in order to teach or inspire. To teach, you only need to know a little more than the person you're showing. And to inspire, you only need to overcome something they want to overcome.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). If your day is stuffed full of old stuff, then how can anything new come in? Something's got to give. Probably, it's not even a thing you'll miss. You'll still have to box it up and send it out of your life though.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You are confident. It doesn't mean you expect that they'll like you; it means that it really doesn't matter to you either way. What makes you confident is a purpose that has nothing to do with feedback.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Getting a sense of your own reputation and public approval rating can feel strange, even though it's all favorable. Their ideas will still intrude on your own self-concept. Steer clear of the seduction of "likes" and ratings.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Oct. 29). Be thoughtful when you add to the phrase "I am" because it will be like a magical incantation. You'll state who you are and become that person. Another theme this solar year: You are more powerful than you know. Test it. Try things you don't think you can do. Jump before you're ready. You'll amaze yourself. Leo and Aries adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 28, 1, 18, 32 and 24.

Advice for Family Member with OCD

Dear Annie: I'd like to hear from people who were children of a mother with Contamination OCD. My daughter's therapist determined it is a pretty severe case, but my daughter refuses to go to the recommended hospital program. Instead, she sees the therapist once a week, which is basically a whack-a-mole approach. One issue gets better and another pops up. She's had this for more than five years and refuses any medication.

My concern beyond her is for my grandchildren, ages 2 1/2 and 5. I can't go into all the avoidance and bizarre actions and behaviors, but her behavior injects a lot of anxiety and stress into their lives that they wouldn't have otherwise.

Before we knew what we were dealing with, our family would do the worst thing by offering assurances and accommodation. Her husband is totally under her OCD's control. According to her therapist, he should take the kids and leave to prompt her to really get help. It seems he can't bring himself to do that. I am afraid the kids will end up suffering from OCD as well.

I'm considering going through the court system to get the kids out of this situation.

When I brought up this concern with a therapist, she said research isn't conclusive of the effect on the kids. I don't want to gamble with their development and find out 10 years later that I should have rescued my grandchildren -- and my daughter.

I'd like to hear from people who have lived with this situation as children and what would they recommend.

I want my real daughter back and for her to live her best life with her family. -- Grandma Blindsided by Mental Health Issue

Dear Blindsided Grandma: Your daughter's Contamination OCD, an extreme fear of being contaminated by germs, has created a very difficult situation that is taking a toll on the whole family. You are wise to try to get help for your daughter and grandchildren. Try to remember, though, even when she is sick or in the throws of an OCD episode, she still is your "real daughter." The disease is simply taking over at that moment. Continue what you are doing by speaking with her husband and listening to any suggestions your professional therapist has.

I wish you the best of luck. So, dear readers, if any of you have had experience with family members suffering from Contamination OCD, what has worked for them during these episodes? Also, if you grew up in a household in which one of your parents had Contamination OCD, we'd love to hear about your experiences and any advice you might have.

Dear Annie: When you told "Sweet Tooth" to eat sweets with honey or syrup instead of cane sugar, I thought I should write in to share that it won't help her problem. The body recognizes all these -- sugar, syrups, agave, honey, etc. -- as the same thing. (It is true that the glycemic index is lower on some of these than on cane sugar, but that only means the body processes it more slowly, so you don't get the sugar "crash." It still has the same addictive effect on the body.)

Addiction to sugar is a documented addiction. The sugar (be it cane or any other kind) sets up a craving for more sugar, and things just run out of control! -- Been There, Done That in New Mexico

Dear Been There, Done That: Thank you for writing in to share about how our bodies process all types of sugar, especially with Halloween right around the corner.

Today in History

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 29, the 302nd day of 2019. There are 63 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History: On Oct. 29, 1912, Superstorm Sandy slammed ashore in New Jersey and slowly marched inland, devastating coastal communities and causing widespread power outages; the storm and its aftermath were blamed for at least 182 deaths in the U.S.

On this date:

In 1787, the opera "Don Giovanni" by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart had its world premiere in Prague.

In 1901, President William McKinley's assassin, Leon Czolgosz (CHAWL-gahsh), was electrocuted.

In 1911, Hungarian-born American newspaperman Joseph Pulitzer, 64, died in Charleston, S.C.

In 1923, the Republic of Turkey was proclaimed.

In 1929, "Black Tuesday" descended upon the New York Stock Exchange. Prices collapsed amid panic selling and thousands of investors were wiped out as America's "Great Depression" began.

In 1956, during the Suez Canal crisis, Israel invaded Egypt's Sinai Peninsula. "The Huntley-Brinkley Report" premiered as NBC's nightly television newscast.

In 1957, former MGM studio boss Louis B. Mayer died in Los Angeles at age 75.

In 1960, a chartered plane carrying the California Polytechnic State University football team crashed on takeoff from Toledo, Ohio, killing 22 of the 48 people on board.

In 1967, Expo 67 in Montreal, Quebec, Canada, closed after six months.

In 1987, following the confirmation defeat of Robert H. Bork to serve on the U.S. Supreme Court, President Ronald Reagan announced his choice of Douglas H. Ginsburg, a nomination that fell apart over revelations of Ginsburg's previous marijuana use. Jazz great Woody Herman died in Los Angeles at age 74.

In 1998, Sen. John Glenn, at age 77, roared back into space aboard the shuttle Discovery, retracing the trail he'd blazed for America's astronauts 36 years earlier.

In 2017, all but 10 members of the Houston Texans took a knee during the national anthem, reacting to a remark from team owner Bob McNair to other NFL owners that "we can't have the inmates running the prison." Ten years ago: President Barack Obama paid a post-midnight visit to Dover Air Force Base in Delaware to honor the return of 18 soldiers killed in Afghanistan. A Coast Guard C-130 plane and a Marine Cobra helicopter collided off the Southern California coast, killing seven Coast Guard members and two Marines. Deposed President Manuel Zelaya and his opponents agreed to a U.S.-brokered deal to end the power crisis that had paralyzed Honduras following a coup.

Five years ago: Ordering firm restrictions for U.S. troops returning from West Africa, Defense Secretary Chuck Hagel said the military men and women helping fight Ebola had to undergo 21-day quarantines upon their return — longer than required for many civilian health care workers. The San Francisco Giants succeeded where no team had in 3 1/2 decades, winning Game 7 on the road for their third World Series title in five years as they defeated the Kansas City Royals 3-2.

One year ago: A new-generation Boeing jet operated by the Indonesian budget airline Lion Air crashed in the Java Sea minutes after takeoff from Jakarta, killing all 189 people on board; it was the first of two deadly crashes involving the 737 Max, causing the plane to be grounded around the world as Boeing worked on software changes to a flight-control system. The Pentagon announced that it was sending thousands of troops to the southwest border, as President Donald Trump stepped up his dire warnings about caravans of Central American migrants moving toward the United States. Klay Thompson of the Golden State Warriors broke teammate Stephen Curry's record for 3-point shots in one game, nailing 14 of them and scoring 52 points overall in a 149-124 win over the Chicago Bulls.

Thought for Today: "Put it be-

Woods tied with Snead, and no one else is close

By DOUG FERGUSON

AP Golf Writer

The toughest competition for Tiger Woods has always been history.

What captured the public's attention when Woods won the first of his 15 majors, the 1997 Masters, was whether he could match or beat the 18 majors won by Jack Nicklaus, long considered the gold standard in golf. That remains the ultimate target.

Until then, he landed a big one in Japan.

Woods was coming off a two-month break that began with a fifth surgery on his left knee, this one to repair minor cartilage damage. He opened his new season with three straight bogeys, and then followed with 27 birdies to win the Zozo Championship by three shots. It was his 82nd career victory, tying the record Sam Snead established in 1965, 10 years before Woods was born.

That's three victories in 13 months, and no indication it will be the last one.

"The ball-striking exhibition I've seen the last two days is a joke," said U.S. Open champion Gary Woodland, who played the final two rounds with Woods on a rain-soaked course northeast of Tokyo. "I don't see him stopping anytime soon. Eighty-two is pretty special. I think there's a lot more in store."

Expect plenty of debate until Woods makes it 83 and has the record to himself.

Snead always argued he won more than 82 times during his seemingly ageless career that stretched across three decades. He also has team events, like the Inverness Four-Ball Invitational, counted among his official tally.

The PGA of America ran tournament golf in Snead's time and there wasn't a standard tour schedule like there is now. The PGA Tour researched the records and settled on 82 wins for Snead. Whatever arguments are made, that's the official mark.

That's what Woods matched, an astonishing feat considering the litany of obstacles he has faced — five surgeries on his knee, four surgeries on his back, the embarrassment of being caught in a personal scandal that cost him his marriage and universal corporate support, a mug shot from his DUI arrest two years ago when he mixed pain medications.

"It's satisfying to dig my way out of it and figure out a way," Woods said. "There are some hard times trying to figure it out, but I've come back with different games over the years, moving patterns, and this one's been obviously the most challenging."

Woods has been linked with Nicklaus his entire career. He has been mentioned alongside Byron Nelson, not only for breaking his record for consecutive cuts, but for twice getting at least halfway to Nelson's unthinkable 11 straight victories. Woods reached seven in a row on the PGA Tour through 2006 at Torrey Pines.

But the better measure of his greatness is not the legends Woods is chasing.

It's the players he is beating.

Generations are tough to compare even with simple numbers like 18 and 82. The game, the courses, the equipment, everything evolves. No one will ever know how Woods stacked up against Snead, Nelson, Ben Hogan or Bobby Jones. No one can say how Nicklaus would fare against today's generation.

What made Snead's record 82 victories even more impressive than the number alone was that no one else was close to him. When he won the last of his official victories at the Greater Greensboro Open in 1965, only two other players had more than 50 career wins — Hogan (64) and Nelson (52).

Woods now has 82 victories.

That's more than Phil Mickelson (44) and Vijay Singh (34) combined. The other Hall of Famer from his generation is Ernie Els, who traveled and won worldwide but has 19 victories on the PGA Tour.

They all had access to the same game. Woods played better than anyone imagined.

Even after going through so many injuries that led to Woods going five years without a victory, his winning rate is still 22.8%.

Pistons edge Pacers 96-94, keep Indiana winless

By NOAH TRISTER

AP Sports Writer

Derrick Rose made a driving layup with 28.3 seconds left to give Detroit the lead, and the Pistons went on to a 96-94 victory over winless Indiana on Monday night for their second win against the Pacers in less than a week.

Rose shot just 4 of 16 from the field and was having a particularly tough time in the fourth quarter, but his left-handed layup went in off the glass to put Detroit up 95-94. Malcolm Brogdon missed at the other end, but Indiana got an offensive rebound. T.J. Warren then missed badly on a tough shot from the corner, and the Pistons came up with the ball.

Luke Kennard made one of two free throws for Detroit, and Indiana had one more chance with 2 seconds left. Warren missed a 3-pointer from the left wing.

Andre Drummond had 18 points and 18 rebounds for the Pistons, and Christian Wood had 19 points and 12 rebounds. Detroit led most of the game, but the Pacers erased a nine-point deficit in the fourth quarter and led by four late. Kennard then got a fortunate bounce on a 3-pointer to make it 94-93, and Rose's basket gave the Pistons the lead.

Domantas Sabonis had 21 points and 14 rebounds for Indiana, and Brogdon contributed 15 points and 11 assists.

REPEAT

Indiana entered the night one of five NBA teams without a victory. The Pacers are minus star guard Victor Oladipo, who is still working his way back from a right knee injury.

But the Pistons are nowhere near full strength either — Blake Griffin (hamstring and knee injuries) hasn't played yet this season — and they've still beaten Indiana twice.

TIP-INS

Pacers: G Jeremy Lamb (right hip pointer) did not play.

Pistons: Detroit was also without G Reggie Jackson (lower back tightness) and rookie F Sekou Doumbouya (concussion protocol). ... Former Pistons star Isiah Thomas was at the game, and the team announced it is teaming up with him on a champagne sponsorship deal.

UP NEXT

Pacers: At the Brooklyn Nets on Wednesday night.

Pistons: At the Toronto Raptors on Wednesday night.

Athletic Support:

"Late bloomer, a blessing or a curse?"

Dear Athletic Support: My son is a late bloomer. Most of the kids on his football team are well on their way to becoming young men. My son is not. He doesn't even have hair on his legs! Is there a way I can keep him interested in playing football until his body catches up to his peers?

— Waiting For Puberty

Dear Puberty: I coached 7th Grade football for a few years. It was an experience I won't soon forget.

The undiluted energy. The fart jokes in the locker room. The way most of the boys looked like little bobblehead dolls in their helmets.

Let me be clear: "Most" of the boys looked like bobbleheads.

There were always a few that looked like full-grown men.

They had hairy legs and armpits. Their voices were as deep as mine. They were the kings of 7th grade ball.

As time went on, however, their reign came to an end. By high school, the playing field was level once again. Many of these former "kings" seemed to lose interest after losing their crowns. Sadly, some of them even quit the varsity team.

So, here's what you tell your son: Tell him to be patient. Tell him if he sticks it out, he'll be better for it. And finally, tell him that having hairy armpits doesn't make you cool!

Dear Athletic Support: Why are baseball and soccer becoming year-round sports? My sons are on travel soccer and baseball teams with their close friends. They love playing multiple sports. But when it's football season, football is our priority. I'm afraid they might fall behind, or if they're not there, they might put a strain on their other teams. Fall is already overloaded with extracurriculars. It would be so much simpler if soccer and baseball stuck to being spring and summer sports!

— Manic Multi-Sport Momma

Dear Manic: In today's world of youth sports, it's easy to get overwhelmed. Seasons are getting longer, and like you mentioned, they're beginning to overlap. This, in turn, puts unreal expectations on both parents and young athletes alike.

The truth is, your boys can't participate in so many different sports at once. Not if you really want what's best for them.

Try taking a proactive approach and making some tough decisions prior to each season. Schedule a meeting where the whole family sits down with a calendar. Take a hard look at the time involved for each sport, including practices and games.

Be sure to let your boys have a voice in the matter. Ask their opinion about which sport they'd like to focus on for the upcoming season. Then, as a family, come to a decision on how to best spend your time and energy.

Once it's all said and done, I would urge you to make the outcome of this meeting nonnegotiable. In other words, if one of your sons would like to switch his focus midway through the season — don't let him.

If you use this "manic" phase of your life to teach your kiddos lessons in time management, it will be well worth your time.
