

'Integrity' pegged as national concern

Integrity has recently been a subject of national concern, and on Oct. 26 all Reese personnel heard the official Air Force position on the topic.

In several afternoon sessions overflow audiences in the Reese theater heard 64th Flying Training Wing Commander Col. Walter H. Baxter III expound on the subject.

Colonel Baxter briefed messages on integrity recently received from Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. John D. Ryan, and ATC Commander Lt. Gen. William V. McBride. He then added his own thoughts on the matter.

Calling integrity "the most important responsibility of command," General Ryan emphasized that, "Any order to compromise integrity is not a lawful order." Terming integrity the "binding force" and "keystone of military service," he explained that, "A commander cannot have confidence in his forces unless he is positive of the integrity of his people."

The Chief of Staff called for leaders to develop integrity by encouragement and example, then in his message amplified this by saying that the Air Force has no room for any individual who falsifies reports, conceals the truth or resorts to deception.

He cautioned against what he termed "The Look-Good Syndrome" as a "subtle, dangerous trap" and one that must be avoided. He called for all reports to be completely accurate and factual else they be useless as management devices. "Integrity," concluded General McBride, "is our lifeline—let's nourish it and protect it..."

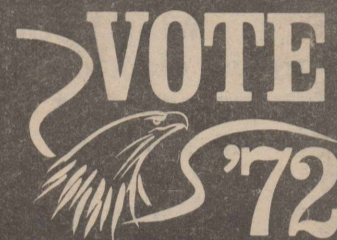

Colonel Baxter reminded those listening that, "We have little to sell except safe airplanes for our students to fly," and that lives are risked when "we don't do what we say we've done." He felt that not following tech orders properly, signing off undone work and not writing up an aircraft with a known discrepancy all fall into the same category of self-deception.

He continued that, "... Nothing short of complete honesty and integrity can suffice in the work in which we're engaged. I think we have the best base in Air Training Command, but let's not stop looking for ways to improve."

Concluding, he asked that the audience take with them another thought learned from General McBride: "It is far more important for you to know your weakness than your strengths."

Polls open at 7 a.m. Tuesday

The voting polls for the 1972 general election will open at 7 a.m. Tuesday in Lubbock for all registered voters.

There will not be voting booths at Reese and personnel have been urged to vote, either before or after work. Polls will remain open until 7 p.m. The Reese Elementary School will serve as the voting center for persons living on base and in Reese Village.

In state elections two years ago, voting rates within the military were low. Results of a survey revealed that only 36.8 per cent of enlisted personnel and 56.1 per cent of officer personnel were provided with Federal Post Card Applications (FPCA) for absentee ballot. According to the poll, of that total, only 23.4 per cent enlisted and 42.4 per cent officers actually took advantage of the program and voted in their states' elections.

For the general election this year, unit voting officers were appointed and a voting counselor was appointed for every 25 people. The object of this plan was to have each counselor contact each one of his assigned personnel, hand deliver the FPCA and provide any necessary counseling that an individual might require. The eventual goal of this procedure was to insure that no one on base denied the opportunity to register and vote.

According to Capt. Allan N. Bredenberg, wing voting officer, the program has been highly successful this year. Reports from unit voting officers indicate that 99.6 per cent of all military personnel on base have been counseled and provided with an FPCA.

Various organizations have been recognized for their efforts in promoting the voting program. Publications have been provided by the Information Division and the Judge Advocate's office has provided the legal advice and answers to technical questions about state voting regulations. The program was also supported by voter registration booths which were set up at the Mathis Recreation Center, base commissary, base exchange and at the Reese USAF Hospital. Approximately 600 military, civilian and dependent personnel were registered at the booths.

Election day is Tuesday and Captain Bredenberg has urged all Reese personnel to exercise their voting privilege. Any final information concerning instructions on the absentee ballot or state deadlines may be obtained from unit voting officers or through the voting action line at ext. 2329.

CFC topples all records, draws to an end

"It makes me feel very proud..." This was the quiet remark of Col. Walter H. Baxter III, wing commander, as he learned of the gigantic strides Reese was making in the Combined Federal Campaign (CFC).

But the colonel expressed confidence from the very beginning as he told Capt. Tom McCay, base project officer for the CFC, "Take this campaign to the people of Reese—they'll not let you down."

And Colonel Baxter's calm determination became contagious. "We confidently raised our goal to $40,000 from last year's $27,500 knowing the people would come through, recalled Captain McCay.

Within one week the base had collected more than $26,000—almost matching last year's total goal. Two weeks into the drive—almost $37,000—well beyond last year's goal.

"Three weeks of determined, low pressure campaigning got the job done—proving Reese is a mature community," the captain remarked. More than $47,000 was in the till, with today's total showing $50,100. One office on base, the Deputy Commander for Operations, had actually surpassed last year's total for the entire base.

"I'm convinced that the leadership provided and the personal acceptance of responsibility by each individual were the two key factors leading to our overwhelming success in this worthwhile endeavor," said Captain McCay.

Noting that the campaign will not officially end until Wednesday, the captain reminded, "What remains to be done is to insure everyone has an opportunity to contribute."

"I've learned a lot more from this campaign than just how to raise money," the captain reminisced, "When I was introduced as project officer for Reese at the downtown CFC meeting a few weeks back, I was completely surprised when all 500 in attendance stood up and applauded Reese's achievement. I remember thinking to myself, 'These people really appreciate what you stand for as a military person and what Reese has accomplished in this campaign.' It suddenly became very clear that this was a perfect example of the rapport with the local community to which Colonel Baxter has often eluded.

"I just want to thank everyone for making my job so painless and thoroughly satisfying."

"Whether you vote by absentee ballot or locally . . . make a determined effort to cast your ballot this election day"

By Capt. Allan N. Bredenberg Wing Voting Officer

Tuesday is election day across the nation—the day voters cast ballots for presidential aspirants as well as state and local office seekers.

The day will also mark the end of a massive campaign throughout the Air Force to make absolutely sure that each of its members, including dependents, has the opportunity to be heard at the ballot box either through absentee ballot or by actually appearing at his respective precinct to vote.

There are a million trite words to express why you should vote but only one to express why you don't—apathy. Apathy breeds bad government, and many other pitfalls. Servicemen, especially, should have a special interest in voting. They are called on to fight the wars and keep the peace. It follows then that they should vote to protect their own interests and as a safeguard against losing by default the thing they have fought for.

Whether you vote by absentee ballot or locally in your voting precinct, make a determined effort to cast your ballot this election day. If you are voting by absentee ballot be sure to follow carefully the instructions on your absentee ballot, insuring that the oath is administered by the proper authority.

If you are voting locally, the polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. Be sure you bring along your registration certificate and vote in the correct precinct, which is shown on your registration certificate.

If you have any questions, see your voting counselor or call the voting action line, ext. 2329.

Brutto's observation

at the back

Editor's Note: The following article by SSgt. Jerry Brutto is reprinted from the Oct. 20 issue of Chanute This Week.

Lunch hour a few days back found me sitting in the cafeteria taking out my pent-up frustrations on a shaved beef sandwich.

I don't mind eating alone but would rather have company, so I was glad when TSgt. Fred U. Dyce took a chair at my table.

"Ain't it a shame," he muttered.

"Ain't what a shame?" I asked.

"That white girl hanging on the arm of the black guy."

"What about it?" I asked.

"It's a shame," he repeated.

"Mind you, I'm not prejudiced, but things can go too far. I mean, what would you say if your daughter married a black?"

"Good luck"

"What did you say?" asked Fred.

"I said I would say good luck. Isn't that what you're supposed to say at weddings?"

"Don't get smart," Fred snorted.

"Not a chance," I assured him.

"Seriously," he continued, "You have to admit some things are just not right."

"Like what?" I asked.

"Well, like that white girl with that black guy for one thing, and Bill Cosby playing George Washington for another."

"I didn't catch that last part, Fred," I interrupted. "Run it by me again."

"Bill Cosby, on his T.V. show a while back, played the part of George Washington. Now you know that's not right."

"It's not?"

"No, it's not," Fred said firmly. "It's just like Christmas. I saw some Christmas cards that had a black baby Jesus."

"Was Jesus white?" I asked.

"Of course he was white. What color did you think he was?"

"Well, to tell you the truth, Fred, I though the hot desert sun might have made him a little tanned, not to mention the fact tat he was Jewish."

"Humph," said Fred.

There followed an uneasy silence.

"What about the President?" Fred asked finally.

"What about him?" I asked as usual.

"Could you vote for a black presidential candidate without being afraid he would favor his own kind?"

"You mean something like Franklin Roosevelt favoring paraplegics or John Kennedy taking orders from the Pope?" I asked.

"Humph," said Fred. "No use in talking to you. You always try to make everything sound ridiculous. Anyway, I have to get back to work."

Fred started to leave but then stopped.

"Say, I didn't see you in church last Sunday. Where were you?"

"Oh, I was there," I assured him.

"You probably just didn't see me. I was sitting in the back."

General Rogers named vice commander of ATC

A fighter ace credited with 12 enemy aircraft has taken over as vice commander of Air Training Command succeeding Maj. Gen. John R. Murphy who has been reassigned to Japan.

Maj. Gen. Felix M. Rogers, the new ATC vice commander, has been deputy chief of staff for technical training at ATC since August 1971. His service dates back to August 1942 when he enlisted as an aviation cadet. He was commissioned the following year and flew 91 combat missions in the North American P-51 Mustang in the European Theater of Operations where he was credited with downing a dozen enemy aircraft.

General Rogers, a native of Newton, Mass., spent five years in research and development and was responsible for much of the planning in the acquisition of major new weapons systems such as the General Dynamics F-111, McDonnell Douglas F-15 jet fighter, the Lockheed C-5 Galaxy transport and the new North American B-1 bomber.

He served as senior member, United Nations Command, Miltary Armistice Commission, Republic of Korea, from July 1970 until his assignment to Headquarters, ATC. As ATC's deputy chief of staff for technical training, the general was responsible for all technical and vocational training in the Air Force.

His decorations include the Distinguished Service Medal with one Oak Leaf Cluster, Silver Star Medal, Legion of Merit with one Oak Leaf Cluster, Distinguished Flying Cross with one Oak Leaf Cluster, Bronze Star Medal and Air Medal with 20 Oak Leaf Clusters.

General Murphy has served as ATC vice commander since July, 1970 and was well known at Reese AFB. He served as graduation speaker for UPT Class 71-07 in April 1971 and was the principal speaker in March 1972 at the Air Force Silver Anniversary Banquet.

On the same occasion, he presented the 54th Flying Training Squadron (then the 3500th Pilot Training Squadron) with its Air Force Outstanding Unit Award and a member of that unit, Capt. William R. Carter, with the Silver Star Medal in ceremonies in the squadron. He was known as a "good friend" of Reese, working on several occasions toward obtaining new facilities and upgrading the old ones. Especially notable was his work in the area of people's programs during the early stages of implementation of Project Volunteer, initiated by ATC in January 1971.

28 civilians recognized during awards ceremony

Twenty-eight civilian employees at Reese received Length of Service Awards in front of wing headquarters, Oct. 27, at the base's monthly awards ceremonies.

Nine of the civil service employees received awards for 30 years of service. They are Annie L. Sasser, Woodrow A. Wilson, Archie M. Grimes, Robert R. Maddux, John B. Fuller, Morris T. Luttrell, James O. Kriebel, Winston D. Williams and Foy A. Naler.

Twenty-year awards were presented to Lovelle G. Owens, Barney H. Holgate, Douglas G. Adams, Roger S. Evans, Thomas R. Reed, Johnnie Oats, Charlotte M. Sircy, Jerry D. Billington, Romney K. Scarbrough and Frankie Youngblood.

Also receiving twenty-year awards were Robert L. Walke, Vernon L. Ehlo, Thomas E. Smith, Eugene G. Morris, Guillermo F. Ramirez, John H. Fowler, Charles W. Arthur, Daniel E. Gilbert and Arnold D. Wuthrich.

Ten-year service awards will be presented to ten other civilian employees Monday by their supervisors. These employees are Joyce B. Holeman, Marjorie J. Howorth, Shirley C. Alana, Kenneth G. McGuire, Charlie E. Ray, Jack R. Crawford, Clarence M. Robinson, T. Terry Luikens, Lynn D. Masengale and Linda W. Huffman.

A unique territory now open to settlers.

The town? Stagecoach. About 20 miles south of Steamboat Springs, Colorado. You won't find another town like it. In Colorado. In the country. Anywhere. O.K. So what makes us so different? For one thing—our land. All 12,000 acres of it. Which means after fitting in the resort areas of Vail and Snowmass and even the country of Monaco—you still have room for two family ski areas. Three 18-hole golf courses. A 750-acre lake for swimming, fishing, boating and sailing. Homesites. Camping areas.

You can also find the activities of any ski and summer resort, country club and state park all within our boundaries.

Ski. Play tennis. Hike to Woodchuck Mountain or Eagle's Peak with your son. Or show him the secrets of fly fishing in miles of clear, trout-filled streams. Canoe the Yampa River that flows through our land. Discover a new beaver dam. Snowmobile isolated trails. Take an evening horseback ride with your daughter. Or dance, sing, laugh at the Stagecoach Inn. Your ski lodge in winter. Your golf club in summer.

(And 47 more activities you can still do within the boundaries of Stagecoach).

The days of going to one place for skiing and another for water skiing are over.

Stagecoach is the only town exclusively planned for exciting recreational living for every family—for every season.

But family recreation isn't the only thing that makes Stagecoach such a unique town.

Family living is the other. You can choose 2- to 4-acre sites for homes or investment.

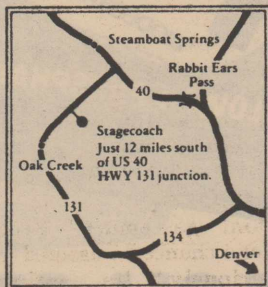

Part of every site is sheltered within a pine thicket. All sites are minutes away from your ski slopes or 750-acre lake.

So visit Stagecoach. You'll find your spring, summer, winter and fall activities all within walking or hiking distance from the homesite of your choice.

And you'll find the land just as natural today as when the first stagecoach travelers saw it centuries ago.

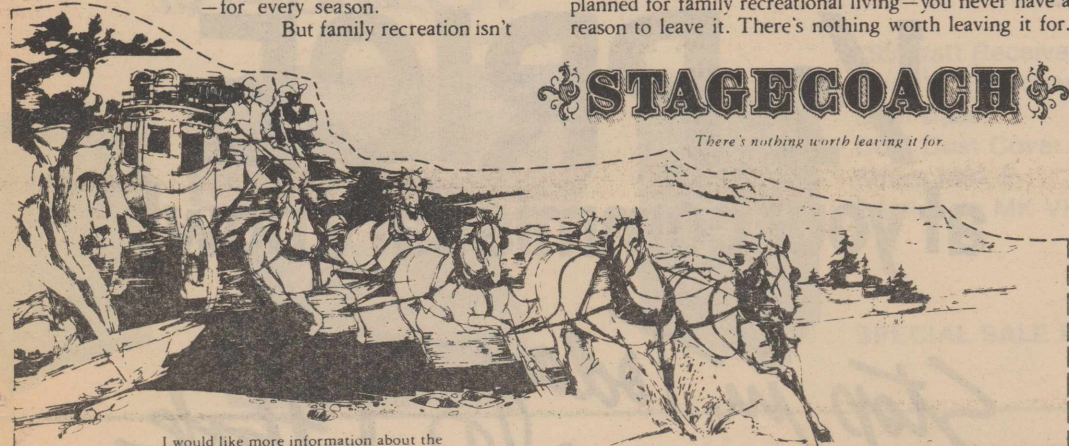

Because there's a staff ecologist to see that 45-foot pine trees are moved rather than cut. That roads go around timberland. That old split rail fences and log cabins are preserved. The land cleared by settlers nearly 100 years ago will be reforested.

Stagecoach. The only town so uniquely planned for family recreational living—you never have a reason to leave it. There's nothing worth leaving it for.

Kickoff set for annual 'Wife of Year' contest

Mrs. Walter H. Baxter, wife of the wing commander, has asked women's organizations at Reese AFB to submit entries for the annual Military Wife of the Year award.

All nominations received at Reese will be forwarded to Air Training Command where judging will be conducted among the nominees from all ATC bases and centers to find the ATC entry or entries in Air Force wide judging. The winner at that level will progress to the finals conducted in Washington, D. C. in competition with wives of all branches of the military service. The winner will be announced at an awards banquet attended by the nominated wives and their spouses.

Mrs. Baxter said that any and all women's organizations on the base may submit entries in addition to such sources as Personnel Division, Family Services, Red Cross Volunteers and others. Deadline for receipt of the nominations has been set for Dec. 15, 1972. Nominations must be accompanied with a recent 8 x 10 inch glossy photograph of the nominee. Entry blanks may be obtained through the wing Information Division, Room 3, Building T-1 (wing headquarters).

Nominees must be wives of active duty Air Force men who are serving on active duty as of July 1, 1973. The nominations of wives whose husbands are serving in a major command other than ATC will be forwarded to the husband's parent command except for "Waiting Wives" whose husbands are serving unaccompanied tours overseas. Wives of POW/MIAs may be submitted as additional nominations.

The person selected for the honor must be informed of her proposed nomination and approve the submission of her name. Nominees should be involved in military and civilian public service. Membership in a wives club is not mandatory.

Preventive dentistry change announced

The base dental surgeon, Lt. Col. Lawrence L. Clark, has announced a change in the scheduling of children under the Preventive Dentistry Program at Reese AFB.

Dr. Clark said that in the future appointments will be made based on the sponsor's birth month rather than the child's as it has been in the past.

Furthermore, the program will be broken down into two parts—the first involving a one-hour session at the base theater for the parents and children on the last Thursday of the month preceding the sponsor's birth month, and the second a regular treatment appointment during normal duty hours. The first session, the one held at the base theater, will begin at 5:30 p.m. and will include a short film and talk on oral hygiene, completion of necessary forms and the making of appointments for all children in the family for the following month. Appointments will be made at this time only.

Colonel Clark said that any parent who feels that the change would cause an unnecessarily long wait between the last treatment and the next one scheduled should contact the base dental clinic for consideration for earlier treatment.

Monthly reminders will continue to appear in the Daily Bulletin and the Roundup for the sponsor's convenience.

AF Now film centers on 'always ready' theme

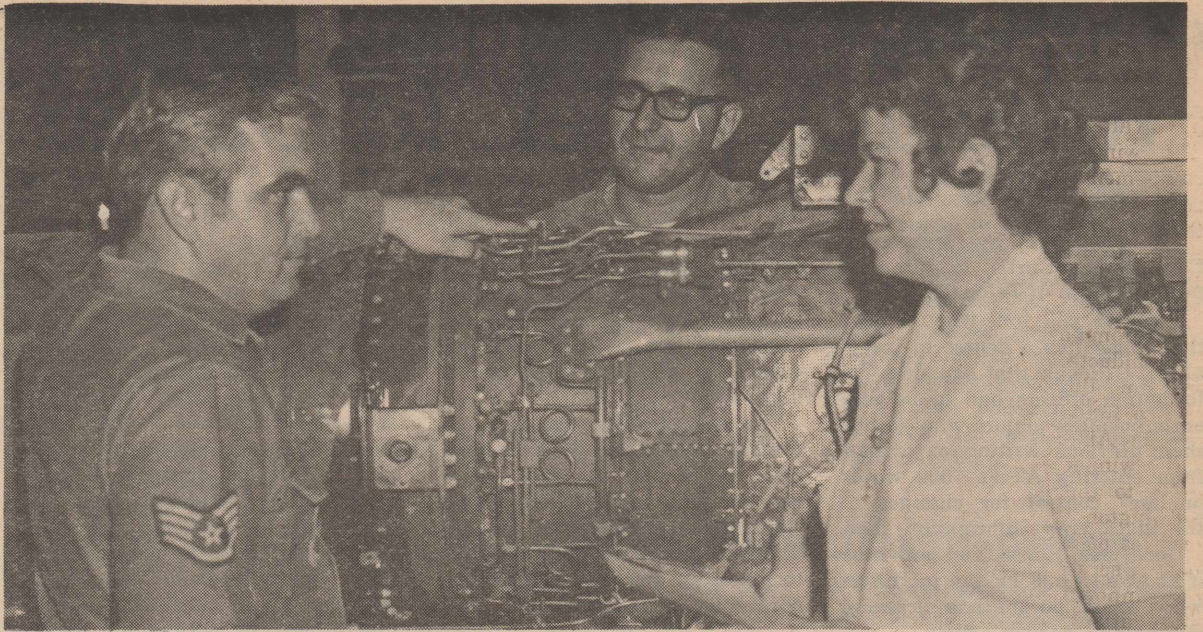

The theme of the Air Force Now (AFN 38) film to be shown at all Commander's Calls during the months of November is "Always Ready".

The film opens with a look at the complex effort required to launch a North American F-4

Phantom, resulting later in a MIG kill in Vietnam. The first Air Force Vietnam ace's words are heard as he lauds the team effort that backed him up at all times in order that he might become an ace. His backseat ace, Capt. Charles D. Debellevue also comments on the tremendous effort and spirit that keeps the planes flying.

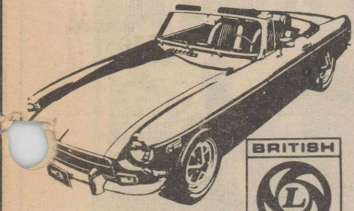

Following a look at some Air Force technicians on the ground, AFN 38 goes to Luke AFB, Ariz., for a look at the team effort that is required to train F-4 pilots. After this sequence, the film examines the training process that is employed in the radar early warning system course.

Finally, AFN 38 looks at Strategic Airlift Command's (SAC) contributions to readiness.

Suggestions reap $2,060 in awards

A total of $2,060 was recently divided among 10 Reese personnel following the regular Incentive Awards Committee meeting.

The largest monetary award went to SSgt. David R. Leach, Jet Engine Mechanic supervisor, 64th Field Maintenance Squadron (FMS). Sergeant Leach received $740 for his suggestion recommending placing a spacer between thermocouple lead clamps on T-38 jet engines which prevents two leads from contacting and chaffing from vibration.

TSgt. Leonard L. Jarrett, NCOIC of the Welding Shop, 64th FMS, earned $600 by suggesting an air chuck adapter with a pressure relief valve for use with inflation of aircraft tires with nitrogen.

Other awards included $270 to Capt. Dennis Wightman, Maintenance Control officer; $250 went to Mrs. Louise B. Fowler, Traffic Management Shipment clerk, whose suggestion was adopted throughout the Department of Defense; and R. A. Forster, Fuels Management Branch, earned $100 for his suggestion.

Awards of $25 went to Butler Wallingsford and Terrell Hendon, Civil Engineering Division; Capt. Michael McGuirk, Base Operations; TSgt. Wendell McNew, 64th Organizational Maintenance Squadron (OMS); and SSgt. Fred Langford, 64th OMS.

Receiving certificates for their suggestions were Miss Sandra Wylie, Social Actions; Mrs. Ava Crowder, Civil Engineering Division; and 1st Lt. Robert Holland, 35th Flying Training Squadron.

Welcome given to Carter

By Capt. Charles M. Thrash

I'll start off by welcoming Capt. Roger Carter to his new post as author of Talon Talk.

I had to call foul when I read that Roger has a degree in journalism. I thought that squadron information officers had to be illiterate business majors who gained their previous writing experience from entering ATC's "500 words or less" contest for changes to the flight crew information files.

Good luck, Roger. You will need it at about 11:30 Friday mornings when again, no one has anything worthwhile for your article.

The big event around the 35th this past week was the weather. The favorite form of entertainment this week has been to sit down with a cup of coffee and watch the lights on the status board change from white, to green, to red and back again. One visiting child was heard to ask his father, "Daddy, since you already have a Christmas tree in the flight line room, why can't we have one at home now?"

This was also the week that our football team enters the base play-offs. As of yet, we don't know who our first opponent will be, but the team is prepared for anyone. Next week's article will continue to report on our path to the winners' circle.

The changes in squadron personnel continue to take place at a rapid rate. There have been too many incoming and departing people to mention. I'll just say so long to the old heads and welcome to the new heads. However, it will continue to be the policy of this article to report all marriages (they should be brought to the attention of Capt. Dave Morrison), and the arrival of all future jet pilots and beauty queens.

The Gee-Whiz Award this week goes to an unusual young lieutenant who was a little too anxious to fly. Out he charges to his Tweety-craft; diligently he accomplishes his preflight and confidently he straps the plane to his body. However, as he peered off over the side to check the engine intake clear he notices his parachute on the ramp still flying formation with the ground. He was heard to utter something about nowhere in the preflight did it say—"parachute, strap on".

'Cabaret' to show Thursday

The schedule this week at the base theater features comedy, adventure, suspense and a contemporary film version of the Broadway musical "Cabaret".

Tonight

"Where Does It Hurt?" stars Jo Ann Pflug and Peter Sellers. It is a spoof on life in a typical hospital staff and the attempt by one of its members to achieve a monetary profit. He is caught at his own game and suffers quite a bit of ridicule when his schemes backfire. The film also stars Eve Bruce and is rated R, under 17 requires accompanying parent or adult guardian.

Matinee and Tomorrow Evening

Walt Disney's "The Biscuit Eater" centers around two young boys, one black and one white. The two team up to try to train an old egg-sucking dog to compete in the Grand National for bird dogs. It stars Earl Holloman and Johnny Whitaker and is rated G, all ages admitted.

Sunday

"Big Jake" is an adventure western starring John Wayne and Richard Boone. It is the story of an outlaw's kidnapping of a small boy and the pursuit that follows him across the state of Texas. The Texas Rangers set out after the ransom note for $1 million is found and the boy's father soon finds himself face-to-face with his enemy. The film is rated PG.

Tuesday

"The Stepmother" is the story of a jealous husband's murder of a man thought to have been with his wife. This is the beginning of a suspenseful drama of a man caught up in two deaths as a result of his violent temper. One problem after another finally leads to his downfall. The film stars Alejandro Ray and Katherine Justice and is rated R.

Wednesday

"The Burglars" offers a number of suspenseful happenings and close calls after a series of bad luck happenings occur for a jewel thief. The chase scenes highlight the climax of the film. It was shot on location in Greece, stars Omar Sharif and Jean-Paul Belmondo and is rated PG.

Thursday

"Cabaret" is the film version of the famous Broadway musical starring Liza Minnelli. The story begins in Berlin's Kit Kat Klub in 1931, a cabaret in which the rising tide of Nazism is constantly ridiculed by the club's M.C. and the chorus girls. Liza Minnelli is an American singer who highlights the stage in this film that has been called a decadent, devastating, sensuous and powerful movie musical with an explosive theme.

Painting preview slated at Officers Open Mess

"Alert and Ready" is the name of a portrait to be displayed during a preview exhibition at the Officers Open Mess at 8 p.m., Tuesday.

The artist, Don Richard Eckelberry, is considered to be one of the deans of American wildlife art. He will deliver a lecture at the exhibition during which he will discuss his research and field experiences which preceded his doing the actual painting of "Baffin", the mascot at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo.

The artist was selected by the Air Forces Academy's Association of Graduates. He will present the painting to the Academy during half time ceremonies at the Notre Dame-Air Force game Nov. 11.

An artist of considerable experience and note, Eckelberry became interested in drawing nature subjects at the age of 15. At the same time he wrote nature columns for two newspapers, formed a bird club and presented his works in a one man show in Cleveland.

Following a course of study at the Cleveland Art Institute, Eckelberry joined the National Audubon Society as a field man where he was able to further his bird studies on a national scale. He left the Audubon to illustrate, in color, the birds of North America for three Audubon Bird Guides, perhaps his most extensive work. This included 1,250 birds, all in significant plumage and all individually posed. This particular work drew praise from leading ornithologists for its accuracy and color.

Since that time Eckelberry has illustrated 13 other books, written numerous articles and papers and done paintings for private collections and exhibits.

The exhibition at the Officers Open Mess will be open to Reese personnel only and all are invited to attend.

Tourneys, pools slated

The entertainment schedule at the Mathis Recreation Center this week is highlighted by Tournament-Steak Night tonight and an announcement concerning the football pool and table tennis ladder.

Tonight — Tournament-Steak Night will begin at 7 p.m.

Saturday—The weekly pool tournament has been set for 5:30 p.m.

Sunday—Coffee and doughnuts will be served beginning at noon. At 1 p.m., the football pool will be activated for a pro game. The teams will be announced at that time.

Monday—The football pool will feature Monday night football as the Baltimore Colts are slated to clash with the New England Patriots beginning at 8 p.m.

Tuesday—The Airmen's Wives Club (the Dependettes) will hold their weekly meeting at 7 p.m. The recreation center is also planning a newcomers' orientation for newly arrived personnel or anyone interested in learning about the center's facilities.

Wednesday—Entertainment will be highlighted by the showing of sports films beginning at 6 p.m. The weekly table tennis tournament will begin at 7 p.m.

Thursday—Pinochle competition will start at 7 p.m.

Mathis has announced plans for a new Reese chess organization. There will be a get-acquainted meeting at 7 p.m., Tuesday, and meetings will follow each first and third Tuesday of the month. The Tuesday meeting will see the election of officers and a discussion of future plans.

A tournament has been planned for 7 p.m., Thursday for a large-scale attempt to change the present standings on the table tennis ladder as well as the pool ladder.

A challenger may challenge any one of the 10 persons on the ladder and the challenge must be accepted or a forfeit results.

The winner in each event will receive a 19"-tall trophy appropriately engraved. A challenge has been issued to Reese by Texas Tech University members as well as other groups in Lubbock for competition in pool, table tennis, bumper pool and other categories. Many matches have already been scheduled, so Mathis officials are encouraging everyone to try to upset the present ladder standings.

Irby tops entertainment lineup

The dance band of Fulton Irby will be featured tonight at the NCO Open Mess to start off the weekend slate.

The dining room will be open tonight and tomorrow nights from 5 until 10 p.m. Headlining the entertainment tomorrow night will be The Nivicos. Sunday night will be Discotheque Night with Gerald Lewis as will Thursday night.

The mess offers the happy hour game Monday through Friday beginning at 5:45 p.m. A dinner special is also offered Tuesday and Wednesday nights for the enjoyment of mess patrons.
