"Transition will . . . prepare resumes . . . used in correspondence with prospective . . . employers"

By Robert L. Brashier Transition Officer

At some point in his military tour, each person is obligated to decide which he will pursue, a service career or a civilian career. It seems important that he consider all aspects of not only military but also the civilian life. Certainly he will want to compare the alternatives in the world of work. The more accurate his facts, the more realistic decision he should be able to make.

Air Force Career Information and Counseling is offered each airman as he processes through CIAC. The primary objective of Transition is post-service employment counseling. Post-service employment counseling may include assistance in education, resume, job placement and job training.

Men with education inquiries are referred to the Educational Office; those interested in Civil Service are referred to Civilian Personnel. Transition will organize and prepare resumes to be used by the airmen in correspondence with prospective civilian employers. A similar service may cost a civilian $150.

Job information includes inquiries into job markets in specific geographical areas as well as evaluation of employment potential. Eligible personnel may apply for on-the-job training, both on base and off base. Also, eligible Reese personnel may now apply to the USAF Skill Center at Forbes AFB, Kan.

The ATC unit at Forbes provides skill training, vocational counseling and job placement assistance to separating and retiring airmen, E-6 and below, just prior to their departure from the Air Force. Details of this program are available from Transition.

None of these services, specifically training activities, can degrade the mission. Mission requirements come first as determined by squadron commanders. Anyone seeking further information about Transition is urged to come by my office, bldg. 815, or call me at ext. 2158.

Rated supplements available through ADCAP

By Lt. Col. Richard J. Miles
Commander 64th Student Squadron

Do you see a rated supplement job written on the wall and have no way to effectively express your desire for a particular desk job? Maybe the Additional Duty Career Advancement Program (ADCAP) is an answer.

ADCAP is an additional duty program set up for junior officers to broaden their careers. In order to be eligible for the program, you should have 4-12 years active duty (though this usually can be waived), and complete an Extension Course Institute (ECI) course in the particular field you choose.

The program consists of approximately 10 hours per week in the particular area in addition to your present job and generally lasts four to six months. Upon completion of the program, the career field's AFSC will be awarded in your personnel record. Some of the ADCAP jobs available at Reese are:

Special Services, Civil Engineering, communications, aircraft maintenance, fuels management, Base Procurement, Security Police, and personnel. Thus, with the background attained through the ADCAP program of your choice, you can strongly influence an imminent rated supplement placement.

Those requesting additional information or wishing to enter the program should come by my office in the 64th Student Squadron or call ext. 2727 or 2211.

Inspector General gives 'super' guidelines

How can I be a better supervisor?

If that question has crossed your mind, some points made recently by Lt. Gen. Louis L. Wilson, Air Force Inspector General, may be of some value to you.

In essence, they are as follows:

- Be tough—Have the courage to correct, reprimand or relieve a subordinate if he fails to follow a strict policy of high standards.

- Get out from behind your desk and see what's going on—Know your organization and people and leave your footprints throughout the organization. Let your people know you're interested in them and their problems, their working conditions and their welfare.

- Search out your problems—Don't inhibit your people by making them think you don't like problems, don't expect problems, and anyone who brings them to you is in trouble.

- Determine your organization's make-or-break activities—Find out what the critical path is, then let your weight be felt in these areas.

- Don't take things for granted—Don't assume that something has been fixed; take a look for yourself and get the facts. Be from Missouri—make 'em show you once in a while.

- Don't tolerate incompetence—When someone demonstrates that he's either too lazy or too disinterested, unwilling, or unable because of aptitude to get the job done, then you owe it to the Air Force to call his hand.

- Don't alibi—Just fix it. Not everything can be perfect and everybody, including yourself, will make mistakes. The point is to recognize them and get them fixed.

- Don't procrastinate—Don't put off those tough decisions just because you are not willing to make them today.

Be honest—Don't quibble, but tell it like it is and insist that your people level with you in everything they say and do. (AFNS)

Three states slate elections for 1973

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Two special elections plus an odd-numbered-year general election will be held early in 1973 in Alaska, Louisiana and Wisconsin, according to state election officials.

Alaska will hold a special election March 6 to choose a U.S. Representative at Large to fill the vacant Congressional seat formerly held by Representative Nicholas J. Begich, a Democrat.

Registered voters may obtain absentee ballots for this election by sending completed Federal Post Card Applications to the Lieutenant Governor, Pouch AA, Juneau, Alaska, 99801 as soon as possible. Candidates for this Congressional seat are Emil Notti, a Democrat, and Don Young, a Republican.

Louisiana will hold a special election March 20 to fill the vacant Second Congressional District seat formerly held by Hale Boggs, a Democrat who was House Majority Leader in the 92d Congress. Registered voters may obtain absentee ballots by parish of residence (civil sheriff in Parish of Orleans). Mrs. Hale Boggs, Democratic Party nominee, will run against Republican candidate Robert E. Lee.

Wisconsin will hold a general election April 3 to elect one State Supreme Court Justice and the State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Information on registration and voting procedures is available at Personal Affairs Section, bldg. 815, ext. 2445.

E-2 promotions to stop

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—Promotions to E-2 for basic trainees will end effective Monday.

Airmen in classes which begin on or after Monday will not be considered for promotion upon completion of training. Trainees in classes beginning prior to Monday will continue to be considered for promotion.

Previously, basic trainees who completed training in the top 15 per cent of their class were promoted to E-2 upon graduation.

Now all graduates of basic training must complete four months of service before being promoted to the rank of airman (E-2).

Elimination of the incentive program is expected to save the Air Force approximately $1.8 million annually.

ATC COMMANDER—Lt. Gen. William V. McBride, Air Training Command (ATC) commander, addressed a crowd of approximately 600 in downtown Lubbock Feb. 14. The theme of General McBride's speech was "The Historic and Economic Realities of National Defense" during a banquet hosted by the Air Force Association (AFA) and the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce. OWC plans business luncheon

The monthly luncheon and business meeting for the Officer's Wives Club has been scheduled for noon Thursday, in the Officers Open Mess.

The theme for the luncheon will be "Broadway Review". Serving as senior hostess for the affair will be Mrs. John Herbert, wife of the 35th Flying Training Squadron (FTS) commander. She will be assisted by Mrs. Alan Trymiecny, Mrs. Theodore Zigan and Mrs. Leroy Edwards.

The program will be presented by Mr. Roland Myers and will feature news and items from the Lubbock Theater Center. The highlight of the luncheon will be the presentation of checks to a number of local charities. Representatives will be on hand from each of the organizations.

Charitable Organization
Emphasis has been placed by the OWC on the fact that they are a charitable organization. The goal of this year's charity fund-raising drive was to primarily aid base-military organizations such as the Chaplains Fund and the POW-MIA Scholarship Fund in support of the Air Force tradition, "We take care of our own". The Bazaar Expenditure Committee has selected 12 organizations to receive donations resulting from the 1972 OWC Bazaar. These 12 organizations will receive a total of $2,680 in various amounts.

The POW-MIA Scholarship Fund will receive a total of $400. The Chaplains Fund will be given $400. This money will be used for emergency needs when the Air Force or Red Cross are unable to work immediately.

The Great Plains Boys Ranch will receive $300 and Meals on Wheels will be given $280. Meals on Wheels is a local organization that caters to old-age and shut-in people around the Lubbock-South Plains area. There are presently 123 people being served.

More Donations
Another $200 will be donated to the Presbyterian Center. The money will be used to meet the medical needs for lower income adults in the local area. Approximately 200 adults are presently being served. New Life Incorporated will receive $200 for use with people who need assistance with physical and mental problems.

The Ballenger School will receive $200. The Ballenger School is an organization designed to aid children with any type of mental problems. Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Lubbock will receive $200 for their programs. The Catholic Welfare Bureau, who will receive $200, works primarily with Mexican-American families in the Northeast section of Lubbock.

Star-Lite Class

Star-Lite Class is a satellite of the Lubbock State School that aids people from the age of 18 to 58. A donation of $100 will be presented to that organization to help with transportation difficulties that are experienced.

The Speech and Hearing Center of Texas Tech University will be presented $100. The final donation to be presented will go to the Drug Crisis Center. They will receive $100 for badly-needed building materials.

The Reese OWC is publicizing this information in hopes that other organizations, both at Reese and in Lubbock, will make efforts towards aiding these and other worthwhile charities.

NCOA sets membership meet

The Mark T. Kuykendall Chapter of the Non-Commissioned Officers Association will hold a general membership meeting at 7:30 p.m., Monday in the NCO

Open Mess. Agenda items at the meeting will include election of two new trustees. All members are urged to attend.

DoD urges measures for energy conservation

WASHINGTON (A F N S)— A critical shortage of fuel oil in many areas of the country has resulted in a request to the Defense Department and other government agencies to reduce the amount of fuel oil and other forms of energy being used. The request was made by the Office of Emergency Preparedness.

Air Force spokesmen said that an immediate DOD-wide and nationwide conservation effort is required since the critical period will occur within the next 60 days.

Although Air Force environmental specialists state that the Air Force already has a very active energy conservation program, each base commander is being asked to begin immediate supplementary conservation efforts during the critical period.

Some of the conservation efforts which commanders have been asked to take include the following:

- Keep hours of operation for heating equipment to an absolute minimum based on the needs of building occupants.

- Keep heating thermostats set at the lowest level consistent with health.

- Cut off heating where possible without endangering plumbing or other piping or reduce heating levels at night, during weekends and holidays.

- Where heat is required for individuals in a building after normal duty hours, it should be restricted to that part of the building where it is required.

- Conserve electricity wherever possible due to the significant amount of fuel oil consumed by electric generating plants.

Individual Air Force members and their families are also being asked to conserve fuel oil and electricity wherever possible.

Foreign study available

Randolph AFB, Tex. (ATCPS)—Graduates of Lackland's School of Military Sciences, Officer (SMSO), are now eligible to compete with Air Force Academy and AFROTC

alumni for a two-year scholarship to study abroad.

The Olmsted Foundation Scholarship Program selects three Air Force officers annually—two are AFA graduates and one from either AFROTC or SMSO. They also select three officers from the Army and Navy.

Selectees study up to two years in a foreign university and field of his choice. They receive full pay and allowances plus up to $6,000 in Foundation Funds. Upon returning to CONUS, officers may receive two semesters of study to complete a masters degree.

Applicants must have between three and eight years of service and have demonstrated outstanding leadership, scholastic and linguistic capabilities.

Each year, AFA, AFROTC and SMSO submit nominees to the AFIT Selections and PME Section of the Air Force Military Personnel Center here. AFMPC will then choose approximately 10 nominees from which the Foundation will select the three officers.

Lieutenant Balls named Instructor Pilot of Month

The 54th Flying Training Squadron (FTS) has selected 1st Lt. Dorin E. Balls Instructor Pilot of the Month for February.

During his tour as an instructor pilot with A Flight, Lieutenant Balls has served as the flight's Emergency Quiz Procedures officer, assistant Internal Standardization/Evaluation (Stan/Eval) officer, assistant associate Stan/Eval officer and mobile controller.

Lieutenant Balls' selection for these positions in the flight was based on his "outstanding procedural knowledge and abilities", according to Capt. Harvard L. Lomax, A Flight commander.

The 26-year-old pilot is also noted for his eagerness to aid in special projects. The Air Force Recruiting Service cited him for his "invaluable assistance in counseling prospective Air Force members". He assisted the Boy Scouts of America in their summer camp program last year and received commendation for his efforts.

Lieutenant Balls was honored as a Pilot of Distinction in October, 1972, for his handling of what might have been a serious aircraft accident. Returning from a cross-country mission with a student in a T-38, he ran into a flock of birds, sustained bird strikes, and brought the jet in for a landing, even though both engines in the aircraft had flamed out. Because of the lieutenant's "accurate analysis of the emergency and his superb flying skills", no further damage was sustained by the aircraft.

Lieutenant Balls is a native of Soda Springs, Idaho, and was graduated from the University of Idaho in 1969 with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering. After completing Undergraduate Pilot Training at Reese in 1970, he remained here to pass on his flying skill and knowledge as an Instructor Pilot.

Weekend activities noted

By Capt. Charles M. Thrash
It certainly is nice to have those three day weekends. It seems that nearly everyone had something special planned.

Some relaxed, others took off for the mountains, and still others used the time to move into new homes.

How did 1st Lt. Bob McCrary and I spend the weekend? Well... we were hanging around Carswell AFB, Tex., trying to get back here. If the weatherman wasn't running us out of his shop because he was tired of telling us Reese still had ice on descent, it was the waitress at the Officers Open Mess telling us we couldn't come into the bar.

Sometimes you just can't win for trying. The trouble is that they just didn't know who we were.

Although I wasn't here to enjoy it, I understand the stag bar was really rocking Feb. 16. Business there had been a little slack lately so the crowd was needed. That's one thing the club can use—a little more spirit. Who knows... we may be able to teach those spook drivers how to have a good time!

The Gee Whiz Award this week goes to a couple of Northrop T-38 Talon jocks who attempted to land on our runway. Seems they had been hearing about what a good outfit we were and about all of the good times we have so they just thought they'd join us for a while. Just like any other outfit we can always use another good pilot.

Officers keep active pay

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—Active duty officers with Reserve commissions who transfer from the active force to an active Reserve status no longer will be required to give up their active duty pay grade and revert to their Reserve pay grade.

The change in Air Force policy impacts specifically on officers who transfer from active to active Reserve status under the Palace Chase program.

The new policy also will allow officers now serving in a lower permanent grade to be advanced to their active duty grade at the time of transfer and be paid effective upon their advancement.

Previously, Reserve officers had to train and be paid in their permanent grade which was usually lower than their active duty grade.

The new policy will be reflected in changes to Air Force Manual 35-3, "Air Reserve Forces Personnel Administration."

Application for special assignment spelled out

This week's review of the Palace Flicks program available at the Consolidated Base Personnel Office (CBPO), bldg. 815, centers around the sound-on-film cassette entitled "How to Apply for Special Assignment."

The five-minute film is aimed at enlisted personnel and covers basic application procedures for special duty assignments. The film follows the various processing steps from eligibility determination through final submission.

The film explains that special duty assignments include recruiting, USAF Security Service, OSI, ATC instructor, USAF Postal and Courier Service, USAF Academy (permanent party), defense attache offices and Allied Command Europe. It explains that special duty assignments are voluntary and exist for airmen in most grades and specialties. People with special equipment qualifications, linguistic ability and other special talents or aptitudes are needed.

Wives' orientation slated

Family Services has announced March 15 as the date of its Wives Orientation. This semi-annual event allows wives of Reese personnel to acquaint themselves with policies and privileges afforded them as Air Force dependents at Reese.

Speakers for the orientation, which begins at 8:30 a.m., will include representatives from the legal, housing, transportation, chaplain and personal affairs offices, plus others. Free nursery service will be provided for those who make reservations.

Additional information may be obtained from Family Services, ext. 2306.

License plates available on base

The Lubbock County Tax office will sell 1973 Texas license plates from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. March 1 at the Mathis Recreation Center.

Personnel wishing to buy their plates at that time are required to have their title receipt or license renewal form with them.

The tax office is providing the service so both military and civilian Reese personnel will not have to make a special trip into Lubbock.

STC seeks assistance

Randolph AFB, Tex. (ATCPS)—The USAF Special Treatment Center (STC), Lackland AFB, Tex., is looking for highly qualified enlisted personnel who want challenging work and the opportunity to assist drug abusers to cope with their problems.

The STC is the Air Force's central facility for drug rehabilitation and there is an immediate and continuing need for staff members. To provide for stability in manning, the STC has been designated as a major command controlled special duty assignment under AFM 39-11.

In a program ranging from nine to 13 weeks, the STC treats airmen who are physiologically or psychologically dependent on drugs to such an extent that they cannot be effectively treated at their local installations. The program consists of one to two weeks of psychiatric evaluation (Phase III) and seven to 11 weeks of behavioral reorientation (Phase IV).

Volunteers must possess AFSCs 702X0, 704X0, 732X0, 734X0 A, B or C, 741X0, 741X1, 751X0, 751X2, 791X0, 902X0, 903X0, 904X0, 906X0, 914X0, 914X1, or 915 X0.

Mandatory prerequisites are (1) general eligibility criteria contained in AFM 39-11, paragraph 3002B; (2) be interviewed and recommended by unit commander. The recommendation must include a statement verifying that the applicant is of the highest quality in appearance, moral character, emotional stability and maturity; that he has no known history which would indicate possible conflicts with mission and objectives of the STC; that he has a sincere desire to work with patients undergoing rehabilitation; that he is a volunteer for STC duty; (3) applicant must have an outstanding record, substantiated by his last three APRs.

A full-length photograph of applicant and current physical profile statement are also required.

A desirable qualification, but not a mandatory one, is that applicants for duty in AFSC 734XOX have a college degree in behavioral science or a related field.

The application should be submitted on AF Form 109 in accordance with paragraph 3002C and be sent to the Special Treatment Center, Lackland AFB, Tex. 78236, Attn: RH.

Three-day weekend comes at perfect time

By Capt. Roger Carter

Now I understand why a three-day vacation was scheduled to follow the squadron parties last weekend. After a few Alka Seltzers, some aspirin and a couple of "chasers" in the days that followed, some memorable events did come back into focus.

At the squadron party Saturday, besides the usual caroling and carousing, there was a "suds-guzzling" among three instructor pilots who will soon be leaving the 54th for other places. Captains Mike Martin, Larry Lomax and Tom Ward chugged their departing brew to the 54th, with Captain Lomax finishing in the lead after spotting the rest a couple of seconds. Following their slurred goodbyes, F-Troop presented its leader, Captain Martin, with a sundial in remembrance of his accurate time hacks.

Degrees Conferred

The 54th's squadron commander, Lt. Col. Richard A. Ingram conferred doctor's degrees of instruction on Hawg Flight's assistant flight commander, Capt. Dwight Daley and Alpha's commander, Capt. Larry Lomax, for completing over 1,300 hours of accident-free instruction time. Master's degrees were also presented to Check Section's Captains Bernie Clark and J. J. Manclark, along with Dawg Flight's Capt. Rich Boyle. The masters is for flying over 800 hours of instructor time.

About all I can remember from last Friday's "Warm-up" party at the O' Club was that several qualifications were met by squadron personnel for at least an honorary membership in the Tail Hook Association.

New Faces

A look up and down the hall this week shows Barracuda Flight with a new leader. Capt. Kurt Anderson moved to the position from the assistant's job with Charlie, and Capt. Jim Nuber left Dawg Flight for squadron operations.

Echo Flight gained the talents of Capt. Dave Mann from the Barracuda bunch in a swap that sent Capt. Bob Perkins to P-Qual, replacing Capt. Dale Townsend who is soon to become a civilian. The Hawgs now have new talent with the arrival of 1st Lt. Vince Clancy, back from PIT.

This week's "But It Soud Right To Me" award goes to a Hawg Flight student, 2nd Lt. Leonard Lyle, who on his weekly EPQ defined Normal Thrust as "630° EGT or .8 mach, whichever occurs first".

Rockets blast off in youth cage play

The Rockets smashed the Pacers in the 8 to 10-year-old bracket of the Youth Basketball League Sunday to kickoff the week's action in the base gym.

The final score in that bout was 26-2. Don Mitchell scored the only bucket for the Pacers. Degagal Brown led the drive for the Rockets with 10. He was followed closely by Kevin Jones with six, David Rowley with four and Robert Dandridge, Mark Moreland and Chuck Spanyard with two apiece.

The second game of the day saw the Lakers and the Celtics battling it out in the 11 to 13-year bracket. The Lakers defeated the Celts, 17-12, behind the leadership of Jim Dusterhaus who tallied seven for the winners.

Other scoring for the Lakers was accounted for by Elda Roberts with four, Rick Gueraro with four and Dale Roberts with two.

Dennis Pusser led the Celtics with six points. The remainder of the Celtics' points came from Mike Benson with four and Ernest White with two.

The final game Sunday saw the Knicks easily silencing the Royals in the 11 to 13-year-old league by an 18-4 margin. Ricky Williams of the Knicks led all scorers with nine; Tony Beauboeuf hit for eight points, and David Beauboeuf made up the last point. Mark McCandless and Wes Williams both scored two points in the losing effort for the Royals.

There will be no scheduled action this weekend for the Youth Basketball League. Another basketball tournament has been scheduled for Sunday afternoon in the base gym and league officials have made the necessary schedule adjustments. Action will resume Mar. 4.

Cookie sale to continue

The annual Reese Girl Scout Cookie Sale is still underway, with the sale ending March 16.

Cookie flavors available from the girls are mint, peanut butter, assorted sandwich, butter-flavored shorties and pecanette, and cost $1 per box. It is noted that cookie lovers can stock up during the sale, because the cookies freeze well.

Purchasers are to place a portion of the box wrapper on their front door if they do not wish to buy more. If anyone has not been contacted by a Scout or wishes to buy more boxes, they are asked to call Mrs. Joseph C. Williams at 885-2609.

Chapel schedules drama

Recognition day for the members of Class 74-04 will be held Sunday at the Base Chapel during the 10 a.m. Mass and the 11 a.m. Protestant worship services.

The Protestant service will feature the "Covenant Players", a nationally known drama group that tours churches and chapels throughout the United States and Europe. The Protestant service will follow a non-traditional format with services open to the general public.

NEW LIFE SIGNS—James P. Whisenhunt of Pavements and Grounds installs one of the new signs bearing easily recognizable symbols in addition to words. The idea for the signs comes from Europe, where the symbols have been used for many years with great success. Signs of this type are going up all over Reese, as well as in many places throughout the United States. (U.S. Air Force Photo by A1C Willie Shirley)
