structor Pilot of the Year and will represent Reese in the upcoming Air Training Command competition. See story below. (U.S. Air Force Photo by Sgt. Howard Fritzke)

Captain Nickel earns IP of Year honors

Capt. James E. Nickel has been selected as the Instructor Pilot of the Year for 1972 and will soon represent Reese in the Air Training Command (ATC) competition.

Captain Nickel is a class commander for the 64th Student Squadron. He is responsible for supervising all activities of the officers assigned to his class and is involved in every aspect of training in the Cessna T-37 phase of the Undergraduate Pilot Training (UPT) program.

After OTS

Following his graduation from Officer Training School (OTS) at Lackland AFB, Tex., in September, 1969, Captain Nickel attended UPT at Williams AFB, Ariz. He was assigned to Reese following Pilot Instructor Training (PIT) at Perrin and Randolph AFBs, Tex.

The captain served as an IP with the 3501st Pilot Training Squadron at Reese (presently the 35th Flying Training Squadron) for one year prior to his assignment to the 64th Student Squadron.

In nominating the captain, Maj. Rodney E. Franklin, 64th Student Squadron commander, said, "The most notable of Captain Nickel's accomplishments is his ability to motivate students, both toward UPT and the United States Air Force."

Excellent Ratings

The nomination letter continued, "His instructional ability and effectiveness in training students are reflected in the excellent ratings he receives on all flight evaluations. Consistently outstanding effectiveness reports are testimony to his officer qualities."

Other comments about the captain came from some of his students on their phase critiques; "Captain Nickel was singularly the most motivating and inspirational force in T-37 training. He exemplifies all the things an outstanding officer should be"; "Captain Nickel was a superb class commander. The fact that he was always around was indicative of his concern. I felt I could always talk to him."

Captain Nickel has several duties in addition to his job as an IP. He presently serves as squadron protocol officer and periodically gives briefings around Reese concerning military customs and courtesies. As squadron athletic officer, Captain Nickel organized a program that resulted in the awarding of the Commander's Trophy to his organization.

While assigned to the 3501st PTS, he coordinated with maintenance officials to have T-37 crew chiefs' names painted on their aircraft.

Special Projects

Captain Nickel also serves in several special project activities. He is in charge of the monthly Wing Commander's awards ceremony. He is also assisting in the planning and execution of the current dormitory dedications as well as preparing and presenting special briefings for local Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) detachments.

The captain is also involved in the Lubbock community. He is active in the Lubbock Optimist Youth Program as the coach of a "Little Dribblers" basketball team. This team is comprised of 9 and 10-year-old boys who are members of minority groups. His assistance in this community service was termed "invaluable" in the nomination letter.

Professional Officer

Major Franklin concluded in the nominating letter, "Captain Nickel's impressive list of accomplishments speaks for itself. He is an outstanding individual and a professional officer of the highest caliber. His leadership, enthusiasm and ability to motivate are an inspiration to all with whom he comes in contact. Captain Nickel is most deserving of the selection as Instructor Pilot of the Year for Reese and the Air Training Command."

The 28-year-old native of Springfield, Mo., has spent most of his life in Sacramento, Calif. His wife, the former Miss Marie E. Lester, is a native of Sacramento. They have one son, Brett Alan, and are expecting another child soon.

Spring! The time of year when bears come out of hibernation and a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love . . . and fishing . . . and baseball . . . and spring cleaning . . . and mowing lawns . . . and hundreds of other ways to pass the time.

But if one doesn't prepare properly for any of these activities, be it love or baseball, the final call may be, "Strike three—yer out!"

On the other hand, one can bat the long ball—if he's ready and properly prepared.

For those of you who are sports minded, preseason physical conditioning is vital, if you want to avoid cramps, strains, sprains and other assorted pains. Even "green thumbs" should get out to the gym now and get their muscles in shape for spring yard work.

Next on the list is equipment. Check it for condition and repair and replace as necessary. Even the old tackle box could be in a mess and it's much

frame of reference

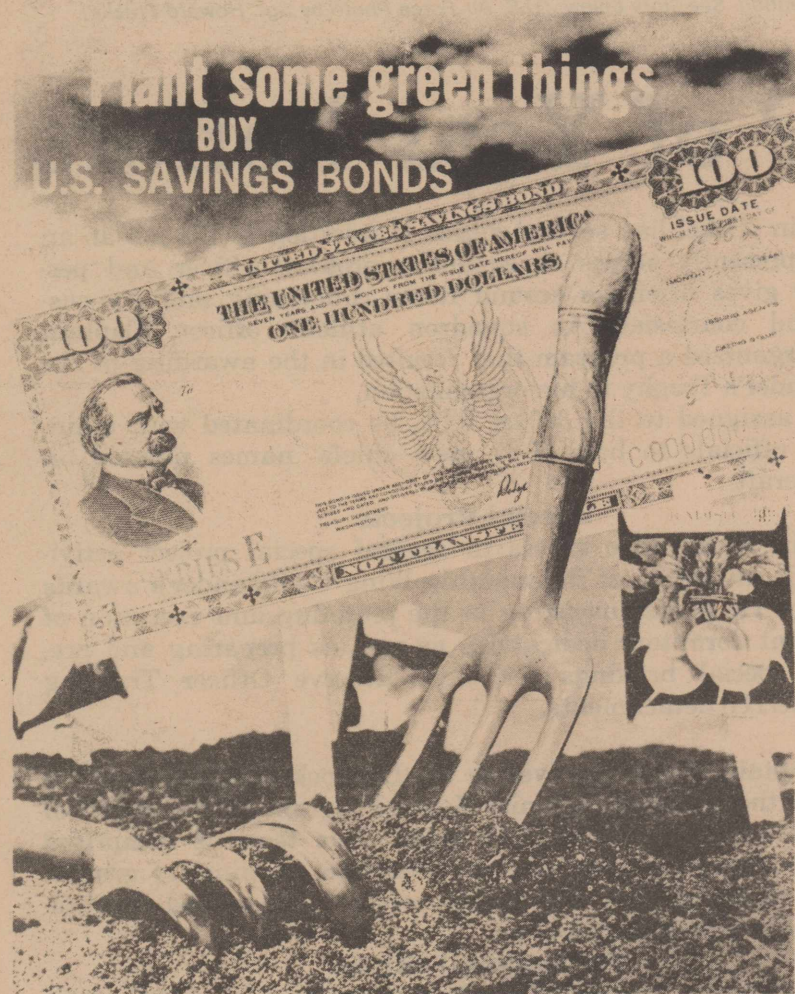

"Preseason . . . conditioning is vital if you want to avoid strains, sprains, and assorted . . . pains"

easier (and a whole lot safer) to untangle those multi-hooked lures at home where no one will be rocking the boat.

Speaking of boats—how good are those life preservers? No mildew or rot? Coast Guard approved? Enough for everyone? Game wardens will be checking closely this year and their attitude is, "If it's your boat, it's your responsibility!"

The same holds true for your front lawn. With the mowing season coming on, it's a good idea to police the area early while you can still see the assorted nuts, bolts, rocks or beer cans the kids have been hauling around the past few months. After all, you wouldn't want to throw anything through that new picture window when you fire up that backyard missile launcher. It's also a good time to pull out a copy of Technical Order 47C-1-1 and review the safety precautions necessary to keep proper separation between toes and rotary lawn mowers.

We hope that everyone gets the point—Preparation Prevents Painful Parts!

'Capture the flag' sets scene for best letter

(Editor's note: The following letter won its author, MSgt. Robert E. Foster, Olmstead International Airport, Pa. (Air National Guard), $100 and a George Washington Honor Medal in the 1972 Freedoms Foundation letter writing contest. Of the 229 Air Force men and women who won awards in the annual contest, Sergeant Foster was named by the foundation as a principal winner and was honored at ceremonies at Valley Forge, Pa., on Feb. 20.)

When I was a young lad in the Boy Scouts we used to play a game called "capture the flag." The object of the game was to try to capture a small cloth flag that an opposing team had hidden somewhere in "there" territory, and then return to "your" territory without being taken prisoner by the opposing team.

Invariably, I was always caught and taken back into the woods, far from my teammates—out of the game, so to speak. I lost my freedom to roam the woods. I lost it because I wasn't vigilant enough. I lost it because I was careless—and I had to pay the price.

This analogy of a boyhood game and the games we play as adults is not as trivial as some might let you believe. A game is played by an individual as serious as he or she wants it to be played. And the game of "freedom" for the most part, is not taken too seriously by adults.

Oh yes, they'll take freedom very seriously if their personal possessions are in jeopardy. Just try to remove a landowner from his property for the sake of an expressway, and you'll think you've trespassed onto a lion's lair.

Buy, why will this same person register an attitude of indifference when you tell him that there is danger of his country's freedom being taken away by subversives? Why? Because he can't see the material effects of his loss. If it doesn't cost him anything, he'll remind you.

Ironically, by the time it will cost him something, it's already too late.

For man, any man, to enjoy freedom, the price he must pay is a personal, dedicated resolve never to be intimidated nor duped by an individual or organization whose intentions are contrary to his or her God-given rights.

It might be well for freedom-faint-of-hearters to imbed in their souls the phrase that appeared on an historic flag in this country in 1775—"Don't tread on me!"

Vocational study planned during local College Day

Reesites will have the opportunity to investigate nearly a score of technical vocational occupation programs during College Day - 1973 being held at South Plains College at Levelland Wednesday.

College Day is annually presented by South Plains College to offer area students and educators the opportunity to discuss educational and career opportunities and problems with top-notch college personnel as well as respected consultants for business, industry and education.

Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. with a general assembly set for 10 a.m. Two interest sessions will precede the luncheon period. The afternoon session will include entertainment, visitations, tours and conferences.

Some of the technical vocational occupation programs being offered through South Plains College are machinist, drafting, computer information systems, welding, radio and television servicing, diesel mechanics, refrigeration and air conditioning, auto mechanics, vocational nursing, law enforcement technology, medical secretary, commercial art, sign painting and many others.

Additional information and particulars concerning the program, including financial aid for servicemen, may be obtained through the base Education Office in bldg. T-1.

SP AIRMAN OF MONTH—A1C Howard C. Gibbs, main gate sentry, has been named Security Police Airman of the Month for March. Airman Gibbs was presented a certificate and letter from Col. Frank B. McKenzie, 64th Air Base Group commander, in addition to the traditional bronzed badge in an informal ceremony March 7. Colonel McKenzie commended Airman Gibbs for his "outstanding military appearance and performance." (U.S. Air Force Photo by Sgt. Dennis Mehrenburg)

Chapel slates Bible display

A unique collection of Bibles dating back to 1535 will be on display all day Sunday in the Reese Chapel.

A total of 125 volumes of the Bible in 85 languages will be available for viewing. Standouts in the collection will include first edition copies of the Bishops' Bible, published in 1569 and the King James Version, published in 1612.

Also showing will be a copy of the Geneva Bible which dates back to 1608. The oldest Bible in the collection is 438 years old.

The collection of Bibles has been developed over a 20-year period by its owner, Rev. L. H. Miller Jr., a retired Air Force chaplain. Miller has collected editions during his tours in the Air Force as well as having had some of the versions donated to him.

A special presentation will be made at the 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. Protestant worship services in addition to a Parish-wide potluck dinner scheduled for 6:30 p.m., in the chapel annex.

MEMBER OF MONTH—Mrs. Samuel Tribble has been named Family Services Member of the Month for February. Mrs. Tribble is chairman of the lending closet service for the agency and is responsible for keeping tabs on the nearly 1,000 items in stock. The lending closet is the service most used by Reese personnel and Mrs. Tribble is one of the busier volunteers at the center. (U.S. Air Force Photo by Sgt. Terry Rivera)

NCOWC announces activities

The NCO Wives Club has released the minutes from their monthly business meeting held Mar. 13 in the NCO Open Mess.

The NCOWC expressed its appreciation to the Skylarks of the Officers Wives Club for the entertainment segment of the evening. It was also announced that the NCOWC recently contributed $20 to the Jack Stevens Memorial Fund to aid the family of the recently-slain Lubbock detective.

The club's variety show has been rescheduled for April 6 due to illness of some of the planned performers. The Branded Four, a local musical group, will be on hand for the show.

Also at the business meeting, the March NCOWC Member of the Month was named. Mrs. Ray Beau-boeuf was chosen to receive the honor. The last item of business discussed at the meeting was the scheduling of the NCOWC annual garage sale. It has been slated for April 14 at a yet undesignated site. Items may be donated for the sale and interested persons should contact Mrs. William Gladman at 795-1964 for pickup arrangements.

Local club gains award

The Reese Mexican-American Club was recently presented an award by the Lubbock Muscular Dystrophy Chapter for its assistance to the chapter during 1972.

The award was presented to TSgt. Raul Sanchez at an awards banquet held Mar. 6, at the Texas Tech University Center ballroom in Lubbock. Former Mayor James Granberry made the presentation and delivered a short address to the assembly.

'Hail and Farewell' set

"How does your garden grow?" will be the theme for the Officers Wives Club hail and farewell coffee scheduled for 9:30 a.m., Thursday, in the Officers Open Mess.

Mrs. Guy Davis will serve as senior hostess for the affair when the club will say "goodbye" to the wives of members of Class 73-08 and "hello" to the wives of members of Class 74-05. Mrs. Terry Branson and Mrs. Mike Chiabotti will head up the decorations committee; Mrs. Curtis Miller will serve as refreshment chairman and the wives of members of Class 74-02 will serve as assistant hostesses.

The monthly feature speaking program for the OWC has scheduled Mrs. Nat Williams to address the gathering. She is president of the Lubbock Memorial Arboretum Foundation and she will present a program on gardening.

Study, testing hours due change

The Wing On-The-Job training (OJT) Section has announced some scheduling changes that will become effective Monday.

Due to austere manning in the OJT unit, Volume Review Exercise and all study for course exams will be accomplished from 12:30 p.m. to 4:45 p.m., Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

End-Of-Course Examinations

(CE) will be administered from 12:30 p.m. to 4:45 p.m. on Thursdays. In the event of a legal holiday, CEs will be administered on the following day.

Remedial study time will also be changed from its former Saturday supervised period. The new time will be 6 p.m. until 10 p.m., Monday evenings in room 9 of bldg. T-815.

Week's blarney released

By Capt. Buggs Forsythe

Be-gollee it's almost that time agin' and 'tis good to see you folks celebratin' this grand occasion in a festive spirit. 'Twill be green beer and shamrocks for all who attend the big party at the open mess tomorrow night. The 54th is going all out and looks like all should have a grand time, by-goree.

Quick Glimpse

I peered from beneath my blarney stone and got a glimpse of the show. Some of the ladies have been getting out their whistles, horns and tom-toms and should supply some good foot-stomping music.

The men in A and B Flights are going to show you folks how a pilot gets going in the morning and what a military man needs to adapt to the changing civilian life. As I took my shillelagh on to the Cats and Dawgs, I found them to be getting a grand resume of "All in the Family" down.

High and Mighty

The Goats and Hawgs have been a-workin' on a great play similar to "The High and Mighty". Supposed to have a fire on board and all. The actin' festivities are wrapped up with the "Donni Larsen" show from the Elves and Foxes. Should be some grand interviews with some mighty interestin' people.

If ya' can't get away from your blarney stone to make this party and wear green—catch the JOC party the next week. Should be lots of fun and games then also.

After a quick canvass of the squadron this week, it was noticed that Dawg Flight's 1st Lt. George Osborne had sneaked off to the wing for employment. Lieutenant Osborne will assist in the production of Learning Center "flicks".

Weekly Award

This week's "close but not quite" award goes to Hawg Flight student, Capt. Donald Coakley. While taxiing back to the ramp after a mission, Captain Coakley won his recognition for shutting down his engines 30 feet short of the chocks and calling for tug and pins by standing on his seat and yelling to the amazed crew chief. Close runner-up for the honor, however, was Alpha Flight student 2nd Lt. Terry Rhor who "requested closed" from the "gear check".

Recreation is nickel-dime

By Bob Reed
ATC Office of Information

RANDOLPH AFB, Tex. (ATCPS)—Things have changed a mite since those halcyon bygone days when the Governor of North Carolina remarked to the Governor of South Carolina, "What this country needs is a good five-cent cigar."

Five cents! Any housewife will swear on her kid's head, on her color TV or on anything else she holds holy that that's how much the price of hamburger meat rises between 11 and noon of any given day.

Now that you're all steamed up again about the truly outrageous jump in the cost of every product and service, it's a good time to slip in a few words about the comparatively small rise in the cost of recreational activities in the Air Force.

Those little bits of change go for a good cause. They add up to enough to bring the wages and benefits of many nonappropriated fund (NAF) workers—often called the "forgotten people" of federal service—in line with those of Civil Service employees. (As of Dec. 1, 1972, over 5,000 NAF workers were employed throughout Air Training Command.) The added wages and benefits for these employees result from passage of the "Henderson Bill" by Congress last year.

Average military base pay has risen 68 per cent since 1968. During that time, fees—and contingent raises for hard-working NAF employees—have hardly budged. So the move is no more than fair, long overdue.

Some ATC bases began tacking on a little to the charges for hobbies and recreational services the first of the year, as necessitated by local conditions. Since then, Headquarters ATC's Personnel Services Directorate has sent a new schedule of uniform charges and fees to all ATC bases. It took effect Feb. 26.

Now that you understand, you'll undoubtedly cut the moaning and groaning. Which serves a double purpose. You can save your breath to scream at purveyors of outrageously priced necessities like diamonds or standing rib roasts.

Hard hitting drama highlights the marquis this week at the base theater as a galaxy of stars and a science fiction thriller come to the Reese silver screen.

The base theater is open Tuesday through Sunday. All evening performances at the base theater begin at 7 p.m. unless otherwise noted and the Saturday matinee starts at 2 p.m.

Tonight

"Joe Kidd" stars Clint Eastwood as a hired killer who must settle a land ownership squabble on the Mexico-United States border in this drama set around the turn of the century. It also stars John Saxon and is rated PG, all ages admitted, parental guidance suggested.

Matinee and

Tomorrow Evening
"Silent Running" stars Bruce Dern. It is the story of a desperate attempt to keep alive a sample of the Earth's living vegetation. The scene is the 21st century and the race is on to save the last bit of greenery. This thriller is rated G, all ages admitted.

Sunday

"What Became of Jack and Jill?" is the question asked when a young couple plots to kill a rich old widow in order to inherit her fortune. The mood is tense as the tables turn on the couple and they find themselves trapped. It stars Vanessa Howard and Paul Nicholas and is rated PG.

Tuesday

"Pick Up on 101" is set on California's beautiful Pacific Coast Highway. A hobo in search of a dream and a young girl in search of a commune team up with an out of date folk singer. The three join forces for a journey of surprises in this film that stars Jack Albertson, Lesley Warren and Martin Sheen. It is rated PG.

Wednesday

"Trick Baby" is the story of two con artists' sale of $10,000 in phony diamonds to a shady Italian buyer. After the phony diamonds are discovered, the search is on for the two fakers... no violence spared. It stars Kiel Martin and is rated R, under 17 requires accompanying parent or adult guardian.

Thursday

"Up The Sandbox" stars Barbra Streisand and David Selby. The female star finds herself living two lives, one in her dreams and one during the day. She finds herself in impossible situations in her dreams but soon awakens to see that life isn't really that bad. The only real problem is that her dreams take over her mental faculties. It is rated R.

Snack bar officer receives long-due
special recognition

By Capt. Charles M. Thrash

Occasionally an area that deserves special recognition is overlooked. We have one such operation in our squadron and that is the snack bar. The snack bar officer, 1st Lt. Jon Luce, has always done an outstanding job,
but recently he outdid himself.

Hot Chili

Jon has just added a particular brand of chili, without beans yet,
to our wide variety of food choices.
Now we are able to have a steaming bowl of chili on cold days, fix such delights as frito pie and chili cheese dogs, and generally create havoc on our digestive systems. Once again our snack bar has proven itself to be an undisputed leader in the quest for better food.

This past week our volleyball
team, under the direction of 1st Lt. Dennis "Spiker" Williams, opened its season victoriously.
Using the talents of Capt. Al

"Diggum" Currie, Capt. Jim
"Slap Shot" Goodman and 1st Lt.
Matt "Stuff Em" White the team won its first game. According to Williams, the season looks good as long as 1st Lt. Dennis "Carry Em" Bippert remains healthy.

Special Recognition

A special word of recognition
should go to one of our IPs in C Flight who spent an extra amount of time debriefing a student on a particular maneuver. After bringing forth all the expert techniques and procedures he could remember, he finished the briefing feeling he had finally gotten through to the student. However, he was returned to reality when the stud informed him they had not flown this maneuver on the ride just completed.

The Gee-Whiz-Award this week goes to a stud who heard we wouldn't be flying on Saturday and was then seen looking up the meaning of Saturday in the dictionary.

Nondisability briefs
to begin next month

RANDOLPH AFB, Tex. (AFNS)
—Project officers from major commands and separate operating agencies participated in a workshop at the Air Force Military Personnel Center here as plans were finalized to brief each Air Force member, beginning in early April, on the provisions of the Defense Department proposed revisions to the nondisability retirement plan.

Palace Junction is the name given to Air Force's plan for briefing active duty members on proposed revisions. Wives will be invited to attend the briefings
when possible. The word "junction" was chosen because of its definition as a "major crossing or crossroads" or a "joining together," referring to the old and new retirement plans.

The program will consist of a film providing general information, followed by a slide briefing
with more specific information, and ending with distribution of a worksheet. Using the worksheet, each individual will be able to figure the personal impact of the plan.

Those attending the briefings
also will receive a brochure including a history of retirement compensation, the inequities that the proposed revisions are designed to eliminate, and the reasoning behind the proposed changes.

Briefing packages were distributed to major command project officers at the workshop. The package will be shipped to base personnel offices this month.

Enlisted attaches needed

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—There is an immediate requirement to fill airmen vacancies in some grades and Air Force specialty codes in the defense attache system.

An attache assignment gives members an opportunity to serve in a military/political environment at U.S. embassies throughout the world. Attache affairs officials said that experience gained during attache tours includes an unsurpassed education in the political aspects of foreign affairs, a broadening of military expertise, and a solid basis for military advancement.

Vacancies are:
AFSC 702X0 (E5 through E8):
Austria, Chad, Ethiopia, Malag-

asy, Zaire, South Africa, Spain,
England, and Venezuela.

AFSC 70490 (E7 to E8): Guata-
mala, Peru, Ethiopia, Taiwan, and Pakistan.

AFSC 20370 (E5 to E7): The Soviet Union.

AFSC 20470 (E6 to E7): Indonesia, Pakistan, Laos, Ethiopia, and Taiwan.

AFSC A43171A (E5 to E7): Argentina, Chad, Honduras, Malagasy, Afghanistan, Laos, Philippines, and Venezuela.

AFSC A29353 (E5 to E6): Liberia, Cambodia, Honduras, Chad,
and Malagasy.

All members of an applicant's immediate family must be U.S. citizens. Additional information is available at base personnel offices.

Reese PTA plans monthly meet

The Reese Elementary School
P.T.A. will hold its monthly meeting Tuesday in the school's cafeteria.

Featured as the guest speaker
at the meeting will be Gary Blum,

who has taught on the junior high and college levels. The topic of his talk will be "I'm O.K., You're ents.

Moorman gains top honor

Medical service specialist named Airman of Month

A1C John D. Moorman

A medical service specialist at the USAF Hospital has been named Wing Airman of the Month for March at Reese.

A1C John D. Moorman was selected to the honor following his nomination by 2nd Lt. Timothy M. Morgan, commander of the Medical Squadron Section.

Medical-Surgical Ward

Assigned to the Medical-Surgical Ward at the hospital, Airman Moorman's duties consist of ordering supplies, maintaining cleanliness and protecting against sepsis or contamination. His training allows him to assist doctors and nurses in the care of medical, surgical and other patients who are seriously ill.

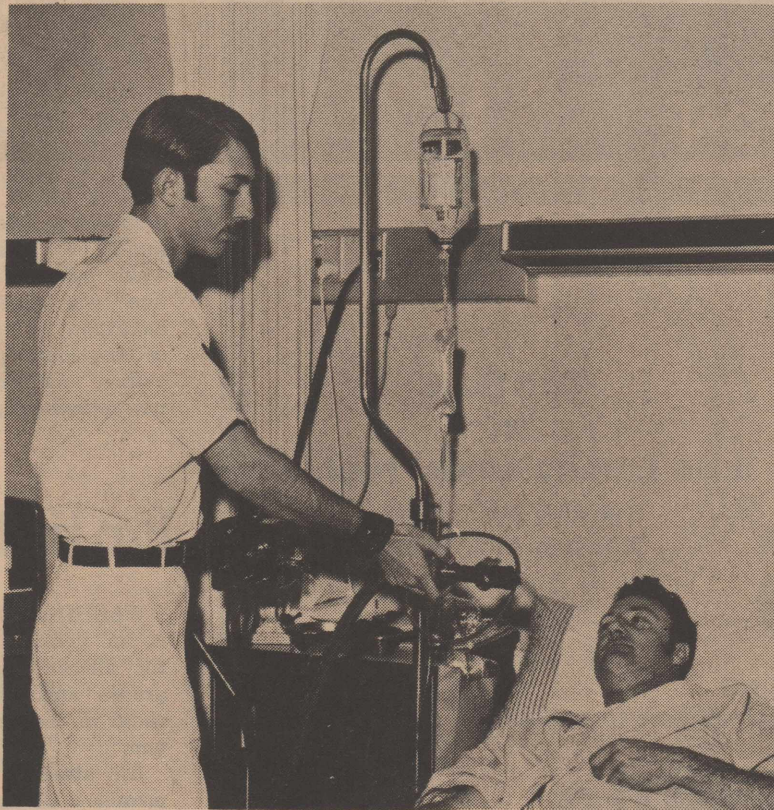

In nominating Airman Moorman to the honor, Lieutenant Morgan stated, "The variety of skills in which a medical service specialist is trained is displayed nowhere as well as on the Medical-Surgical Ward. Airman Moorman's ability to work any of the three shifts with or without supervision . . . is an asset to his supervisors and to the patients who depend on him."

Self-improvement

In an effort toward self-improvement, Airman Moorman is currently enrolled in the on-base college program offered by South Plains College and is maintaining an excellent average as a pharmacy major.

Concluding his remarks, Lieutenant Morgan added, "Airman Moorman's devotion to his duty, his patients and his self-improvement efforts make him a credit to the Medical Service and the U.S. Air Force. This hospital is pleased to have such an airman represent us."

The 21-year-old airman is a native of Macon, Ga. where he graduated from Willingham High School in 1969. His wife is the former Miss Susan K. Shepard of Charleston, S.C.

VOLVO INTRODUCES A SPORTS CAR THAT REALLY HAULS.

Our new Volvo 1800ES is basically a Volvo 1800E sports coupe with a stretched roof. Same electronic fuel-injected engine. Same responsive handling. Same reclining leather seats. But the end effect is different. With the rear seat down there's a cargo area 5' x 4' x 22". Enough room for a long vacation. And because Volvos are built to last, enough car for a long, long run. Come test load our new 1800ES. It should impress you not only by how much it holds, but by how long it holds up.

Registration slated for youth baseball

Special Services Division has announced two registration dates for the youth activities boys baseball program.

Boys who wish to participate in the program and their parents are requested by the division to meet at the Reese Little League Field between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. on either Mar. 31 or Apr. 7. As required by Air Training Command, a fee of $5 per boy or a maximum per family of $15 will be collected at the time of registration. At least one parent should come to sign the registration release form.

The Reese baseball program is divided into three age groups. The minor league encompasses the 6½ to 9-year-old group. Boys 9 to 10 years of age are in the major league. The Babe Ruth league is comprised of 13- to 15-year-olds. A maximum of 18 players can sign up for minor and major league teams, with 15-man maximum teams allowed in the Babe Ruth League.

Fathers and other interested persons are needed by the program as managers, coaches and officials. Interested persons may obtain more information from SSgt. Ed Weisbord, ext. 2576 or 885-4350 after duty hours.

Youth Activities is also planning softball for girls 8 to 15 years of age as part of the summer program. Softball for boys 16-to-18 years of age will be included providing participation warrants such a program.

TV instant replays begin for students at Randolph

Randolph AFB, Tex. (ATCPS)—Television instant replays have been introduced to the flying training program in the 559th Flying Training Squadron here.

Two of the squadron's Cessna T-37s have been equipped with video cameras and video tape recorders to permit post-mission replay of the student instructor's performance.

Tapes of the flight instruments and the out-the-window view, simultaneously recorded during a flight mission, will assist the instructor in providing an effective critique. The televised playback of the mission will allow the instructor to point out proficient and deficient areas.

Current efforts are the result of an idea which originated during a training conference at Van AFB, Okla.

Tests conducted with off-the-shelf equipment proved the concept and resulted in ATC approval of the requirement.

Recent advances in industry have resulted in availability equipment which is expected to meet ATC requirements.

The system installed in the 559th T-37s is presently undergoing initial operational testing and evaluation. If the equipment is proved to be acceptable, ATC training bases using T-37s will have the instant replay capability.
