AF names new Secretary, Chief of Staff

Dr. John L. McLucas

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—President Nixon has nominated Dr. John L. McLucas to become Secretary of the Air Force and Gen. George S. Brown to succeed Gen. John D. Ryan as Air Force Chief of Staff. General Ryan will retire July 31.

Dr. McLucas has been Acting Secretary of the Air Force since May 15, when he moved up from his Under Secretary post to replace Dr. Robert C. Seamans Jr., who is now President of the National Academy of Engineering in Washington, D.C.

Dr. McLucas, who was born in Fayetteville, N.C., in 1920, is the author of numerous scientific articles and holds 10 U.S. patents. He received a B.S. degree from Davidson College, a M.S. degree in physics from Tulane University and a Ph.D. degree in physics from Pennsylvania State Univer-

General Brown, who is scheduled to assume his new post on Aug. 1, will become the eighth Chief of Staff. He now is commander of Air Force Systems Command.

General Brown was born in Montclair, N.J., on Aug. 17, 1918. A 1941 graduate of the U.S. Military Academy, he served in World War II, the Korean Conflict and in Vietnam. He was in Vietnam from August 1968 until August 1970, where he commanded the Seventh Air Force and was also the deputy commander for Air Operations for the U.S. Military Assistance Command, Vietnam (MACV).

Both appointments, Secretary of the Air Force and Chief of Staff, require Senate confirmation.

Locator is Reese's 'directory assistance'

Over 200 calls per day, answering questions about everything from duty phone numbers to date of arrival—that's the job of the Base Locator.

Similar to the information operator for a telephone company, the locator is a source of answers for Reese military personnel concerning duty station, time on base and many other facts. All their information is supplied by the Consolidated Base Personnel Office (CBPO).

Instant Information

When an individual processes in to Reese, the CBPO compiles certain facts and feeds them into a computer that prints out the cards that are filed at the Base Locator. Often times, there is a card on file for someone even before he arrives at Reese.

The locator can tell quite a bit about a person. All they need to know is the name. Readily available facts will be provided on any military individual at Reese. Files on civilian personnel are kept at the Civilian Personnel Offices in bldg. T-1.

Report Changes

Personnel who have a change in status while stationed at Reese should contact CBPO to have their card amended to reflect the change. Many times an emergency will arise and someone is not able to be contacted because his locator card is out of date. Changes should be made at the Customer Service Center, ext. 2276.

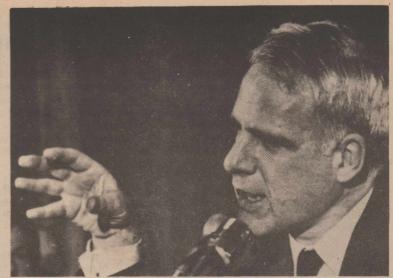

The Base Locator is Reese's own directory assistance service. Although it isn't a lovely female voice that answers the phone, you'll get the information you need.

"Our defense establishment exists for but one objective: to protect the national entity"

James R. Schlesinger

On this occasion of formal welcome as Secretary of Defense many thoughts come to mind. I am duly awed by the responsibilities of the office to which the President has called me. I am deeply grateful for the support and encouragement generously given by all members of the Department of Defense.

For the first time as Secretary of Defense I have the privilege of saluting the men and women of our Armed Forces. The United States has called you to great and sometimes onerous duties which you have unswervingly performed with dedication and skill. A rekindling of public appreciation of that dedication is a task of high priority.

Our defense establishment exists for but one objective: to protect the national entity, its commitments and interests. Weapons systems, force structure and doctrine concern all of us deeply. Of vital importance is the effective use of resources. But as we contemplate the national entity in the present climate, we may recognize that these instruments are in some sense, secondary. So, let me take this occasion to speak to you about those larger matters that a Secretary of Defense does not normally have the opportunity to discuss.

At this point in our nation's history our social fabric is; sadly, somewhat frayed-reflecting the conflicts over the war in Southeast Asia as well as nagging domestic discontents. We in this department draw our strength from a stable and healthy society. Restoration of a sense of national unity and purpose must therefore be our highest objective. Consequently, we should be aware of these deeper ailments-social and economic. Some of these stem from substantive imbalances in our society; some from a currently fashionable spirit of nihilistic individualism troubling all of our western societies.

It is our high obligation to preserve for the future of this nation and to permit the continued flourishing of the free institutions and the social attitudes it represents. Exemplified within the Department of Defense are, I believe, some of the characteristics necessary to a restored sense of national unity and purpose. The members of this department demonstrate the type of dedication on which this nation must draw. The Armed Forces historically have displayed the discipline and the poling of effort for common purposes that serve as cure for self-centeredness and for individualism gone away. This example can assist us as our nation strives after a new-dare I use the word-consensus.

Within the department we shall be obliged to exhibit patience and self-restraint. We must be prepared to accept adjustments and change. There are apparent necessities which, in light of our budgetary restraints, we shall have to acquire more slowly than some would like. There are some aspects of service parochialism which we shall have to discard—a parochialism, understandable and even defensible, in light of service pride and the belief of each service in itself as a separate mission-oriented organization. But we must temper this parochialism, while retaining service pride and tradition, and subsume it within the broader mission of this nation's military establishment.

Our nation's military posture cannot depend upon atmospherics or the hoped-for goodwill and forebearance of potential foes. It must be based upon a sober assessment of the risks and the military capabilities presented on the world scene-rather than on scothing words. A structure of peace—which we all ardently seek—requires the maintenance of a force structure which adequately relects and maintains the military realities and the balance of political power.

This task requires a long-term-perspective—unperturbed by euphoria or despair. Logically and realistically this perspective should encompass the same time frame as the generation of peace for which we strive. It requires dedication to purpose, steadiness of effort and stability in attitude.

Let me assure you that I shall do my best to contribute to that stability and steadiness in this department. I call on all of you for your best effort in the challenging period ahead.

Let us go forward with appreciation of our nation's destiny, with a renewed dedication to our mission, and with high hopes for the future and our own role in achieving this nation's common purposes.

Things aren't always what they seem to be

That 90-pound weakling who's about to have sand kicked in his face might actually hold a black belt in karate. But chances are he doesn't.

That kindly old lady about to be mugged might be a cop in disguise. But chances are she isn't.

The real cop with the paunch, the hair in his eyes, and the gravy stains on his shirt might be a first-class lawman. But one-will-get-you-10 he isn't. And even if he is, he isn't the kind of man you'd like to have to rely on in a crunch. What you'd have in mind would be someone who looked a shade sharper. . someone who looked like he knew what had to be done. and was ready to do it when needed.

Which is just about what the public has in mind for its Air Force. Airmen who look sharp, dependable, ready to do the job any time-any place. They have the need to be able to look at the man in the blue suit and feel confident he's their kind of man.

So, while it's vital that we in the Air Force be able to do the job, it's important, too, that we look like we

SPs slate annual car re-registration

The annual re-registering of vehicles at Reese, recently postponed, has been rescheduled to begin Monday and continue through August 3.

Security Police will be on duty at the Mathis Recreation Center from 7 a.m. until 6 p.m. each of the days on the schedule. Persons re-registering their cars should provide the SPs with the license number of their cars.

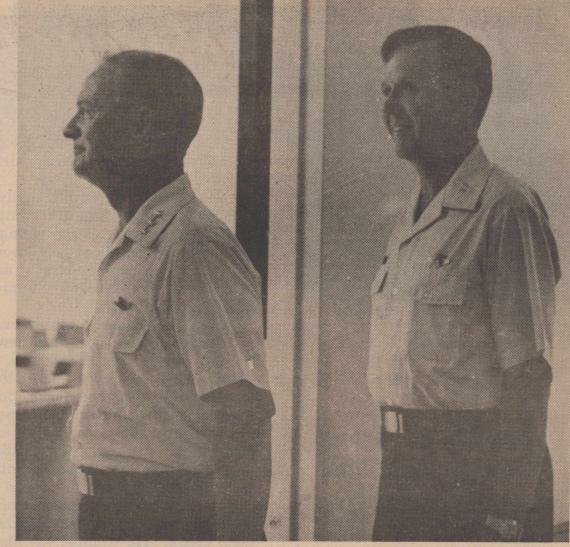

Those required to re-register their two-wheeled vehicles will report to bldg. 100 as they are scheduled by the Traffic Safety Division.

Members of the 64th Student Squadron should go to the Mathis Recreation Center either Monday or Tuesday. Persons assigned to the 35th and 54th Flying Training Squadrons should re-register Wednesday or Thursday. The 64th Air Base Group is scheduled for re-registration July 27 and July

Members of the 64th Field Maintenance Squadron and the Reese USAF Hospital have been slated for July 31 and Aug. 1 and persons in the 64th Organizational Maintenance Squadron and the 64th Supply Squadron as well as members of all tenant units at Reese will re-register their cars either Aug. 2 or Aug.

Make-up re-registration must be accomplished by all personnel who fail to go to the recreation center on their appointed day. This make-up will be held Aug.

I have noticed somewhat of a safety hazard on the main boulevard. The hedges in the middle of the dividing road as one crosses from the CBPO over to Second Street going toward the base gym make it hard to see cars coming from the right hand side as one crosses the four-lane street. I would appreciate it if you would check into this. Thank

SSgt. Robert L. Stakes

Sergeant Stakes,

This problem was brought to my attention approximately one year ago and a study was made by the Base Civil Engineer and Safety Divisions to determine a way to alleviate this hazard. Although it was determined that the hazard exists, it was decided that it was not of significant magnitude to justify relocation of the shrubs at this time. The construction of the new Wing Headquarters will mean relocation of the shrubs in question. Traffic Safety Division has given special attention to this matter and employed it into their Local Orientation Course for all incoming personnel. I appreciate your interest and urge your participation in the Wing Accident Prevention Program. Col. Walter H. Baxter III

Supply airman earns top honor for month of July

A1C John A. Thompson has been named 64th Flying Training Wing Airman of the Month for July.

Assigned to the 64th Supply Squadron Orderly Room, Airman Thompson is "a mature, positive-thinking young man who demonstrates excellent job knowledge and an intense desire to excel", according to Capt. Terry L. Mathews, Supply Squadron Section commander.

Extremely Ambitious

Described by Capt. Mathews as "extremely ambitious", Airman Thompson "constantly achieves more-than-required results in all assigned tasks, double checking his work to insure his completed tasks are error-free. His ability to identify problem areas and devise workable solutions is outstanding", the captain continued.

Currently Airman Thompson is continuing his education during his off-duty time, having acquired 48 semester hours of college credit. He completed his on-the-job assignments "in a minimum amount of time". In addition, the airman has established his own physical fitness program.

Exemplary Bearing

Captain Mathews cited Airman Thompson's military bearing and behavior as being "exemplary", and noted that his "firm religious beliefs and high moral character are sustained by his active participation in local area religious services."

Additionally, Airman Thompson has aided several of his fellow airmen in "getting their heads right" through counseling. "His ability to identify problem areas and devise workable solutions is outstanding," concluded Captain Mathews.

Budget officer proves 'it can be done'

Reese budget officer, is a man who has taken full advantage of the educational programs offered by the Air Force.

Major Hunt enlisted in the Air Force in 1953 at the age of 15 after dropping out of the 10th grade in school. Upon completion of basic training he was assigned to the Radio Operators School at Keesler AFB, Miss. While there, he completed the high school General Educational Development (GED) test but found that he could not receive the credit until he reached the age of 18 due to a law in his home state

Overseas Assignment

Following technical training, Major (then Airman) Hunt was assigned as a radio operator in Korea, a switchboard operator at Lake Charles AFB, La., and a communications channel controller at Goose Bay AB, Labrador. While in Labrador he took on-base courses from the University of Maryland and passed a college-level GED test. At the same time he received his

Maj. Leo B. Hunt, departing high school recognition since he reached age 18 and his promotion to staff sergeant.

After two years at Kirtland AFB, N.M., and more off-duty courses at the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque, Hunt attended the Teletype and Crypto Repairman course at Sheppard AFB, Tex. Soon afterwards he became NCOIC of Teletype Maintenance at Sheppard, assigned to the Air Force Communications Service (AFCS). Again taking advantage of the local educational opportunity, he took several night classes at Midwestern University in Wichita Falls using Air Force tuition assistance.

Accepted at OCS

Major Hunt then applied for and was accepted to Officers Candidate School (OCS) at Lackland AFB, Tex., in 1961 followed by one year of pilot training at Reese. Then Lieutenant Hunt was selected to pilot the North American F-100 Super Sabre and was stationed at Hahn AB, Germany. He traveled to various other flying assignments around the world. His combat time temporarily his off-duty education until his assignment to Reese as an instructor pilot.

He enrolled in many night courses at Texas Tech University while waiting for approval from Air Training Command (ATC) for his entrance to the Bootstrap Program. He was accepted and he attended the University of Nebraska at Omaha where he was graduated with honors, earning a bachelors degree in business administration.

Budget Officer

Upon his return to Reese, Major Hunt attended the Budget Officers Course and was named Reese budget officer two years ago. Since that time he has taken graduate-level courses from Texas Tech at night, during offduty hours and while on leave. Finally in the fall semester of 1972 he completed a Master's thesis and received his masters' degree in business administration.

Major Hunt's training also includes parachute qualification. He has been decorated with the Sil-

Cluster, the Distinguished Flying Cross with one Oak Leaf Cluster and the Air Medal with 16 Oak Leaf Clusters. He also holds the Purple Heart as well as many campaign awards.

'It Can Be Done'

According to Bill Trafton, Reese Education Services Officer, "Major Hunt is a living example of the old adage, 'It can be done'. He started out with less than many airmen have when entering the service and he has progressed well beyond the eduficers.'

His education endeavors will not stop here. From Reese, the major will be attending the Air Command and Staff College at Maxwell AFB, Ala. After that he will return to duty to fly tactical fighters.

"This is an excellent case", Trafton continued, "of how far a man can go in the Air Force by taking advantage of the educational opportunities available for

General Ryan clarifies grooming standard

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. John D. Ryan has informed commanders worldwide of changes to male grooming standards.

An all major commands mes-

"In response to inquiries regarding hair styles, I have reviewed our policy on personal appearance and grooming standards. The issue is the appearance of man in uniform. Current grooming standards were announced in 1970. They were designed to produce neat, clean and safe grooming without ruling out specific styles. Now we find that there are some styles that may or may not conform to present standards but do detract from the military image and the uniform. To rectify this situation, I have directed a change to AFM 35-10 to emphasize our intent to maintain an appropriate military image. This change will clarify the standards and prohibit the wearing of certain hair styles with the uniform.'

When asked about the change to AFM 35-10, Col. Walter H. Baxter III, wing commander, emphasized, "This does not represent a new set of standards-it is only a clarification of the old standards—standards that the chief has always intended."

Main Points

The revised manual points out that each Air Force member must maintain a high stansage from General Ryan stated: dard of dress. This standard is comprised of iour neatness, cleanliness, safety and military image.

The first three requirements are necessary for the efficiency, health and well-being of the force. The fourth-military image-is a necessary element of the standard because the American public and its elected representatives draw conclusions as to military effectiveness based upon what they see . . . the image the Air

The manual points out the key element of this image is the appearance in uniform of members of the Air Force. This appearance must instill public confidence and leave no doubt that the serviceman lives by a common standard and is responsive to military order and discipline.

Rules Given The manual states the following rules will apply for male Air Force personnel at all times while in uniform and while in a duty status when wearing civilian clothing: Uniforms will be kept clean, neat, correct in design and specification, and in good condition. Uniforms will be kept buttoned, including pockets, and shoes will be shined and in good repair. Badges, insignia, belt buckles, and other metallic devices must be maintained in the proper luster and condition. Articles such as wallets, pencils, pens, watch chains, fobs, pins, jewelry, handkerchiefs, combs, cigars, cigarettes, pipes, and sunglass cases will not be worn, exposed, or carried exposed on the uniform. The wearing of wristwatches and rings is permitted. The wearing of an identification bracelet is likewise permitted provided it presents a neat and conservative appearance, does not exceed the width of commercial wristwatch bands, and the material and configuration employed would not subject the individual to potential injury. Conservation sunglasses may be worn, but not in military formation. Ribbons, when worn, will be clean and not frayed. The wear of earrings or other ornamentation around the neck is prohibited while on duty or in

Other Guides

Focusing on haircuts, the revised manual states hair must be clean, must present a tapered appearance on the sides and back both with or without headgear, must be well-groomed, i.e., arranged in an orderly manner, and look natural if artifically

The following hair styles are not permitted: braids, ducktail, pageboy, flips, Mohawk, or bulky.

Hair may not exceed one and one quarter inches. in bulk, regardless of length. Bulk is the thickness or depth of the mass of a person's hair. Limitation on the distance that the mass of the hair protrudes from the scalp will eliminate the need for individuals to wear outsize headgear in order to conform to the Haircuts must have a tapered appearance that when viewed from any angle, allows the outline of an individual's hair, on the sides or back, to conform generally to the shape of the skull, curving inward to the termination point. This does not mean that each hair must diminsh gradually in length from the top of the skull to the termination point, although this is necessary to some degree to effect the tapered appearance. The so-called "block cut" in the back is permitted so long as a tapered appearance is maintained.

Properly fitted headgear must 'grip" the hair to remain in place. Consequently, a minimal break in the tapered line is acceptable along the sides and back of the hat band.

Hair must not touch the eyebrows, when groomed, or protrude in front below the band of properly worn headgear. Also, hair may not be dyed an abnormal color nor may it contain or have any visible foreign objects attached to it. Sideburns should be neatly trimmed and tapered in the same manner as an individual's haircut. Sideburns should be straight and of an even width and end in a clean-shaven horizontal line.

Sideburns may not extend below the lowest part of the exterior ear opening.

Mustache Rules

Mustaches may be worn but may not extend downward beyond the lipline of the upper lip and may not extend sideways beyond a vertical line drawn upward from the corner of the mouth.

Beards and goatees will not be worn except that a commander with the advice of a medical officer may grant a waiver for the wear of facial hair for medical reasons. Medically authorized beards will be kept trimmed so that they do not protrude more than one-quarter inch from the surface of the skin.

Dinner Theatre slates 'Star Spangled Girl' as next show

Officials of the Officers Open Mess have announced that because their first feature of the newly-initiated Mess Dinner Theatre "Barefoot in the Park", was a "complete success" another play has been scheduled for early in August.

The show will be Neil Simon's romantic comedy hit "Star Spangled Girl", and will be performed for the enjoyment of Officers Mess patrons August 4. Tickets will go on sale today. Patrons are urged by the mess to make reservations early, as they will be taken on a first-come, firstserved basis, and there are a limited number of seats avail-

As in "Barefoot", the Kaleidoscope Players of New Mexico will star in "Star Spangled Girl". The story tells of two young men who put out an anti-establishment magazine. Their frantic efforts to keep their publication going are hilariously complicated by the unexpected intrusion of a cute corn-pone chick, portrayed by Victoria Cal-

She is an athletic type, a former member of the U.S. Olympic swimming team, who is so thoroughly 100 percent American that she is appalled by their irreverance for her patriotic ideals.

The magazine's editor is all for ignoring such an obvious square, but his collaborator falls so helplessly in love with her that he is unable to write any more protest articles.

Service center releases list of film cassette titles

The Customer Service Center of the Consolidated Base Personnel Office (CBPO) located in bldg. T-815 has released a list of Palace Flicks flims.

Palace Flicks are film-sound cassettes presented on subjects of interest to all members of the Air Force. Most films are from four to eight minutes in length and are narrated by members of the Air Force Military Personnel Center (AFMPC) staff at Randolph AFB, Tex.

Use Encouraged

At present, the center has two projectors. Center officials encourage commanders and supervisors to use the Palace Flicks system at group gatherings such as Commander's Calls, staff meetings, etc.

The subjects vary from weapons disposal to navigator reassignments and run the entire gambit in between with nearly all Air Force specialities for both officers and enlisted men.

The Customer Service Center has many of the Palace Flicks film cassettes on hand for use during normal duty hours. Brief reviews on each film are available and the titles of the films follow:

Mathis announces declaration of war

Mathis Recreation Center Officials have announced that "war is declared on Reese AFB."

Spartan International, a professional war game organization, in conjunction with the recreation center, will present "Warfare in Miniature", a smaller version of the historically-accurate military battle situations used at the Pentagon and military war colleges at 6 p.m. Wednesday in the center.

According to Mathis officials. "No prior experience is needed to become a general. All you need to know is explained in a five-minute briefing just before battle begins. Now is your chance to change the course of history in one short night of action.

The armor battle has each player commanding a four- or five-tank platoon. The miniature tanks travel over simulated roads, towns, hills and forests during the mock battle with opposing forces. Rates of movement and fire, degree of chassis and turret rotation and effective ranges are all accurately scaled down from real life.

DID YOU KNOW? Pleasing combinations of color, pattern, and texture, with attention to scale and balance, all play a part in creation of a beautiful room. Yet they alone are not enough to produce satisfying surroundings.

The other ingredient, for lack of a better term, is called "Personality". Start with your fampersonal tastes, or hobbies. If you live informally, do not be charmed into furnishing your much used rooms of your home with delicate fabrics, dainty patterns, of fragile furniture. If you read, collect art; are a gardener, or sports enthusiast, let signs of these interests appear in the decorations of your home.

Allison Upholstering is as near as your phone Dial 797-3757 and allow us to help you put "Personality" into your home. (Next week-Analyzing your needs)

CONTAINS: NAMES OF FISH AND FRUITS

Names are spelled out in eight different directions. They are forward, backward, up, or down and they go horizontally, vertically, and diagonally in the directions shown on the figure at the right.

FRUIT NAMES ARE ONLY THOSE THAT ARE POPULARLY CALLED FRUITS (SUCH AS "APPLE"). THERE ARE ONLY 3 FISH AND 1 FRUIT NAME OF THREE LETTERS ON THE MASTER LIST.

CONTEST RULES

2. The entry with the most correct, bona fide names circled and listed will be the winner.

A master list has been prepared listing all known names. If any entry lists names that are not on the list, they will be counted only if all master list names are also listed and provided that the "new" name is a correct name not listed elsewhere in the puzzle

Do not repeat the same name even though it may appear more than once.
 ILLEGIBLE entries may be thrown out if judges cannot be sure of the entry

If you circle and/or list any incorrect names your entry may be disqualified

In case of ties, a single winner will be determined by drawing.

Roundup puzzles are intended primarly for entertainment and prizes are awarded for added interest. Decisions on questions not covered by rules or anticipated will be made by the publisher whose decisions will be final.

MAC completes order of C-5s to Dover AF first C-5 Galaxy rolled off the assembly line in early 1968. The 81st C-5, the last on order, has now been received at Dover AFB, Del., thus completing the Military Airlift Command's operational inventory.

One of three additional C-5 test aircraft recently completed a 141/2 hour nonstop flight from California to Germany. The mission combined a low-altitude parachute drop of a simulated combat resupply cargo and aerial refueling by a Strategic Air Command tanker. It was the first time that both of these capabilities were demonstrated in a single flight.

The C-5 was designed to provide a fast reaction capability for intertheater deployment of combat or support units under general or limited war conditions.

division equipment, including many bulky items not previously air transportable. The capability to deploy the equipment and personnel minimizes delay in matching men and machines at the destination

The aircraft is designed to perform rapid deployment to worldwide locations under adverse weather conditions, delivering its cargo or, if necessary, airdropping equipment and men in predetermined areas. Each C-5 can airlift more than 112,000 pounds for some 6,300 statute miles.

The C-5 features both front and rear cargo doors, permitting fast "drive through" loading and unloading. The struts of the main landing gear can be compressed mechanically to bring the floor of the big cargo compartment even with the height of a truck bed. This speeds the transfer of

The C-5 fleet, assigned to Dover AFB, Travis AFB, Calif., and Charleston AFB, S.C., has accumulated more than 100,000 flying hours to date and proved itself often during the Southeast Asis involvement by delivering heavy, outsized cargo.

When Berl went to the bank to cash a check, the teller looked at the check and ascertaining that he had no account at the bank asked if he could identify himself; Berl frowned a minute then his expression cleared "Say, is there a mirror around here?" "Yes," said the teller "on the post right behind you." Berl wheeledaround, glanced in the mirror and heaving a sigh of relief, said 'Yep it's me, all right."

A friend overheard Berl talking to himself. "Let's face it" he told me, "You're nuts." But talking to myself don't make me crazy, I protested. "No, it doesn't" was the reply, "but you listen."

flick flack

"Jermiah Johnson" kicks off a week loaded with adventure at the base theater tonight.

Features at the theater begin at 8 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday, unless otherwise noted. The Saturday matinee begins at 2 p.m.

Tonight

Robert Redford and Will Greer star in the wilderness adventure saga of "Jeremiah Johnson". The story tells of a man who drops out of society to live in the desolate Rocky Mountains. There he learns the life of the mountain man through first-hand experience, taking up temporarily with a grizzly bear hunter and marrying an Indian chief's daughter with a child. His squaw wife and papoose are abrubtly murdered, sending him on a path of revenge. The feature is rated PG, parental guidance suggested.

Matinee Tomorrow

Peter O'Toole, Sir Michael Redgrave, and Petula Clark star in "Goodbye, Mr. Chips", one of the unforgettable love stories of all time. A shy, dedicated British schoolmaster falls in love with a London music hall actress. She gives up her glamorous life to become his bride in a moving portrayal of mutual emotion. The movie is rated G for general audiences.

Tomorrow Evening

"Wicked, Wicked" is a modern murder mystery filmed in Duo Vision, a unique new process that shows two facets of the story simultaneously on the screen. The historic Hotel del Coronado in San Diego is the setting for the mysterious killings of guests by a madman. The musical score of the 1925 Lon Chaney classic silent movie, "The Phantom of the Opera" creates a mood of spine-tingling suspense in this violent PG-rated psycho-killer drama. David Bailey, Tiffany Bolling and Scott Brady star.

Sunday

Barbara Hershey stars as "Boxcar Bertha", the famed train-robbing female of the Depression era. This film is of an adult nature not suitable for children. The R-rated flick also stars Daivd Carradine.

Tuesday

"The Confessions of a Police Captain" details the story of a cop who wants a certain mob leader killed off. He decides to get it done by releasing a psychotic killer from a funny farm and letting him run amuck with a machine gun. Unfortunately, about the only person he doesn't kill is the gang leader. The cop sees all of his friends dying one by one as he sees that his fate is sealed. The film stars Martin Balsam and Franco Nero and is rated PC.

Wednesday

"Black Gunn" stars Jim Brown and Martin Landau. It is the story of a bar owner whose brother is killed by a gang. He sets out to singlehandedly avenge the death while at the same time the gang has a contract out for him. It is rated R.

Thursday

Dean Martin stars as an outlaw in "Showdown" and Rock Hudson stars as Martin's one time friend who has become the local sheriff. Unaware that his friend is a law officer, the bandit seeks him out for refuge and finds that he has a reception waiting for him. Who will survive the battle in "Showdown"?

at Mathis

Starting off the entertainment schedule this week at the Mathis Recreation Center will be the "Playboy Concentration Game" tonight.

Tonight—The "Playboy Concentration Game" starts at 8

Tomorrow—The weekly pool tournament will begin at 5:30

Sunday—The weekly table tennis tournament will begin at 2 p.m.

Monday—Family Game Night will get under way at 7 p.m. The Take Off Pounds Sensibly (TOPS) Society will also hold their meeting. It has been set for 6 p.m.

Tuesday — The Airmen's Wives Club will meet at 7 p.m. Intramural Horseshoe action will also start at 7 p.m. The 1973 All-Star Baseball game will be shown.

Wednesday—Military games will be featured at Mathis and war movies will be shown on television at 6 p.m.

Thursday—The weekly meeting of the Lubbock Chess Club will begin at 7 p.m.

The Mathis Recreation Center will present "Shadowfax" at a "Soul Dance" July 27 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Admission to the dance is set at 50¢, stag or drag. All civilian personnel must have a military escort.

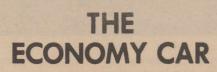

at NCO Open Mess

The dancing music tomorrow evening will be provided by The Newlight. Sunday night will feature Discotheque entertainment with Gerald Lewis. The dining room is open every day drom 10:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. and from 5 until 9 p.m. Saturdays it is open from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. and it is closed Sundays.

The slate of entertaining music begins tonight at the NCO Open Mess with the performance of Pete Morales and his dance band.

Party brings same entertaining spirit

By Capt. Charles M. Thrash The squadron party was held last Saturday night, and as usual it was an entertaining and informative affair. We bid a couple of our old heads, Captains Carl Smith and Jim Erickson, farewell. Carl is leaving the high plains for Wright-Patterson, and Jim is going to try to get a little education in the Bootstrap program.

Contest Winners

The winners in the dart throwing contest proved that a good working condition is necessary for a successful flight operation. It seems that the first three finishers were all products of the same flight-and strangely, the first and second place winners are the past and present commanders of E Flight. The people under them must be doing a super job to allow them the time to indulge in a little leisure activities

All-in-all the party turned out to be a success, and 1st Lt. Jay Gould and the members of "B" are to thanked for their efforts in pulling it off. Jay nearly decided to make it a one-man show when he announced his engagement. We understand those drives to Clovis for a Coke when he was on early week finally got to

Attention, Golfers

For all you golfers in the Squadron, the O'Club is sponsoring a tournament the weekend of the fourth and fifth of August. There will be plenty of flights for all, and the scoring will be on a handicap basis. So there will be plenty of chances for everyone to win. Let's get started practicing and give the club tournament plenty of support.

Oh, I almost forgot to express the squadron's special thanks to Lt. Col. John Foster. You see Colonel Foster recently pinned on his silver leaves, and to celebrate he had an open bar for the squadron party. In the words of Capt. Goodman, that is "not shabby"

Week's Award

The Gee-Whiz Award this week goes to our chief of Standardization/Evaluation. In his quest to demonstrate his confidence in the pilot he was giving a check to, he started out to his airplane without his parachute. All I know is he would never show that much faith in me on a check ride.

Race at top as season comes down to wire

The end is now in sight for the 2053rd Communications Squadron as the season comes down to the wire for the Intramural Golf he Comm Squadron team has ady completed its season but they are only 11 points out ahead. If their closest competitor was to win an entire match, the total of 14 points would make them the winner of the league season.

The closest competitor is the 64th Student Squadron team. They played their final match yesterday. Last week, they won an overwhelming shutout victory over the 35th Flying Training Squadron to move within striking range.

Other action this week saw the Management Engineering Detachment (MOM) benefit from a forfeit victory over the 64th Field Maintenance Squadron and the Detachment 11, 24th Weather Squadron team also gained 14 points from a forfeit by the 64th Air Base Group (ABGp) team. The 64th Supply Squadron split a round with the Reese USAF Hospital team to take seven points

Top golfers for the week were Jim Nickel of the 64th Student Squadron with his 75-effort and Billy Sullivan of the 64th Supply Squadron with a round of 77. Bill Willis of the 64th Student Squadron hit a 78 as did Tony Guerrero of the 64th Supply Squadron.

representatives Reese will challenge 10 members of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce. The Lubbock linksment will be trying to avenge a loss as the Reese squad walked off with the top honors from last year's tourney held at the Reese Golf Course.

The Reese team will include Col. Walter H. Baxter III, wing commander and Col. Austin R. Bryan, deputy commander for Logistics. The other eight golfers will be Capt. Mike Shelton, Capt. Jim Nickel, Capt. Jim Willis, SSgt. Brian Prigmore, MSgt.

1st Lt. Sid Taylor and TSgt. Neal

A dinner for all the golfers will be held at the club after the tournament. Arrangements for this annual Lubbock-Reese event have been made by Sergeant Prigmore, Reese golf tournament

O'Mess schedules golf Journey for Aug. 4, 5

Tournament has been announced for Aug. 4 and 5 at the Reese Golf Course, according to SSgt. Gerald W. Cubranich, assistant mess steward.

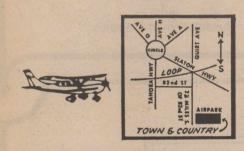

Trophies will be awarded for the longest drive, the ball closest to the hole, and many other categories. A seven-dollar entry

The Officers Open Mess Golf fee will cover green fees, trophies, food and beverages for the two game tourney.

All golfers wishing to participate must have an established handicap according to Sergeant Cubranich, and must sign up by Aug. 3 at the Officers or NCO Open Messes or the Reese Golf of Kansas for an answer to family relocation problems. That's where they'll find Schilling Manor, a temporary home for military wives awaiting their husbands' completion of nonaccompanied tours.

Located on the outskirts of Salina, in northeastern Kansas, Schilling Manor (formerly the site of Schilling AFB) is currently the home of some 500 awaiting wives and their children. More than 300 are Air Force families, while about 20 are Navy and Marine Corps, and the rest

Much to Offer

Schilling Manor has much to offer military families, according to Air Force Military Personnel Center officials. The price is the military member's basic allowance for quarters (BAQ). Available facilities and services range from a medical dispensary, dental clinic, commissary and post exchange-with shelf stock specifically geared to the needs of women and children-to financial management counseling, budget planning and Three pysicians are assigned to the Schilling Manor dispensary to provide outpatient and 24-hour emergency medical attention. Routine dependent dental treatment is available at the dental clinic, where two dentists are assigned.

A pair of swimming pools, two tennis courts, art classes, along with a teen club, scouting organizations, team sports in season, and other activities furnish recreational diversion for adult and youth residents alike. (A large modern shopping mall, with a variety of stores, is four minutes away.)

Manor housing area. Bus transportation is available to the Salina junior and senior high schools, as well as to parochial schools in Salina. Kansas Wesleyan University, Marymount and Episcopal-sponsored St. John's Military Academy (for seventh through twelfth grade boys) are also in Salina. The deactivated base also houses a vocational and Kansas Technical Institute, an accredited junior college.

Catholic and Protestant services are conducted at the Schilling Manor chapel, while Salina and Fort Riley provide Jewish

Current population of Schilling Manor is approximately 2,300 residents, including about 1,500

Wives' Softball League week's results released

Wives' Softball League action for this week saw a close bout following a forfeit to make some interesting changes in the league

The Red Hots edged the Dusty Devils, 11-10 in the second game of the weekly competition held Sunday at the intramural ballfield on War Highway behind the Reese USAF Hospital.

The Better Half benefitted from a forfeit by the Blue Diamonds, but it was for no gain, as they remained on the bottom of the league standings.

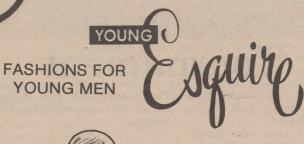

With only one remaining session of play for the wives, the Red Hots have a hold on first place and the second position is held by the Dusty Devils. Third place belongs to the Blue Diamonds and the last spot is occupied by the Better Half.

This week's action will see the Better Half and the Dusty Devils going at it at 6 p.m. on the intramural field and the Blue Diamonds will challenge the Red Hots
