QUICK SERVICE NEVER TO BECOME COMMON

At 4:00 o'clock last Saturday afternoon Fargason Bros. placed an order with the Dallas Radio Sales Co. for an R. C. A. Radio. At 10:30 o'clock the next morning the machine was set up in their business here and they were listening in on the big world without.

This is a complete example of quick service. When one can place an order with a local merchant for an article of merchandise in Dallas, go home, eat his supper, go to bed, get up the next morning, eat his breakfast, pail his jersey and drive to town early the next morning and get his merchandise, it is quick service. The radio itself is but little quicker.

This world of ours is becoming an interesting place to live. Convenience and quick service will never become common place. The present age and the ages to come hold many wonders. Science is making such rapid progress, and its wonders are becoming so attractive that it is hard to sit and listen to the "parson" talk about heaven.

NOVEMBER

When November comes with its north breezes we see the old year in its preparations to hide itself in the history of the past. The month is but a pause for remembrance of the good times enjoyed in the peach orchards and melon patches during the recent months of summer, and sweet anticipation of the icy sled rides of a coming winter.

While July is our most patriotic month, November is a memorial of religion—American patriotism and religion have almost become synonyms. November never dawns without bringing anew the remembrances of years of 1621-22. This fine sentiment reaches its culmination at Thanksgiving.

November is feminine and reminds us of the high type of American character. Her gentle breezes tend to cause one to pause for serious thoughts—thoughts which reach beyond the animal nature which too largely controls our actions, and causes the sentiments of the inner man to control.

To mark definitely a distinction between the animal nature and the divine nature within us, Jack Frost comes with his killing effects and lays flat with the ground the fibrous products of productive nature.

Since the signing of the Treaty of Peace in 1918, November has become the symbol of World Peace. This November event reminds the warring world of the possibility of peace. The Kellogg Peace Pact is one of the most forward looking suggestions before the eyes of the world today. The very thought of it has a soothing effect to the human soul. If nations war, individuals will also war. So long as we live in a warring society, life can not be the most pleasant.

November, then, has become the symbol of peace, as well

About the time of the closing hour Saturday, Mr. H. C. Cook came to see the new machine at work. He paid us a Linotype Dollar while in. Thanks, Mr. Cook.

SUPERANNUATE NOW READY FOR CHICKENS

The Rev. and Mrs. Hudson are now in their pretty new home, have their chicken yard finished, and are now ready for the "Chicken Shower" the Herald has been talking about. A truck will be by your place Saturday morning. Have your hens ready when the wagon comes.

The Herald thinks the community at large will be interested in this fine offering. We believe the people all over the community who are not supporting some other church will be glad to help in this.

Just two are more hens, that is all, this time!

CHIEF TURKEY BUYER

W. D. Hooper is chief among the turkey buyers here this season. He has made several shipments already. He handled over $1,400.00 worth Monday. His poultry house was not sufficiently large to hold them as they came in. The truck was kept busy hauling away, making room for more.

The turkey market is not good this year, Mr. Hooper says, but they are bringing a little money. Turkeys do not pay every year, just like every thing else. One must have a variety of stuff to sell so as to hit the market with something

STORE IS ROBBED

Someone broke into the Merket store at China Grove last Friday night and stole about $100.00 worth of merchandise. Mr. Merket had just stocked some nice Christmas jewelry and which might have led to the robbery, it is thought. No clew to the theft has been found, so far as it is known here.

Mr. Merket has rebuilt his business and has increased his stock in the past year. He has quite a nice store at China Grove. It is a great asset to the community.

SCURRY COUNTY 4-H CLUB BOYS WIN

The judges have notified County Agent W. O. Logan that Scurry County Club boys have won two trips to the International Livestock Show and the 4-H Club Congress at Chicago. In addition to this, two other boys won gold medals. The Texas Cotton Seed six trips to Chicago as first prizes in Club work, six gold medals as third prize. Scurry County Club boys took a third of each as their share.

The winning boys are: S. D. Hays, Jr., of the Bethel Club; A. M. Trustsel, Fluvanna; J. Henry Trussel, Fluvanna; Grady Wollast, Snyder.

You may not be responsible for your heritage; but you are responsible for your future.

Jereld Crumley, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Crumley, has been sick the past week.

S. W. Severene made his first visit with us Saturday. He had his "Linotype Dollar" with him. Thanks.

GERMAN COMMUNITY 100 PER CENT GOOD

In preparation for "Linotype" Supt. Mize of the German community said: "Everyone in our community takes the Herald but Joe Roemisch Jr. I will bring him in Saturday."

When Saturday came, Joe was right there. He paid his subscription as if it were a great pleasure to him. This sort of a subscriber or customer is worthy of ones appreciation. Thanks, Joe.

The Herald appreciates its circulation in this community. So far as we know Jim Pagan is responsible for this. When Pagan decided the Herald was alright, he began to canvass for it. It was only a short time until nearly everyone in his community was on our list.

The German people of this community are Scurry County's greatest asset. Where there are German people, one will find wealth. Germany as a nation leads the world in science, invention and industry. Thrift is bred into these people and for generations they are true to type.

W. T. STEVENSON

W. T. Stevenson who advanced his subscription to the Herald last week, is and has been one of the paper's best friends. The Herald shall long remember him and his daughter, Miss Farris, who is in college at Denton.

From the beginning Stevenson has shown an interest in Hermleigh's having a newspaper, however small it was. It was his good spirit which inspired us sometime when we were somewhat low spirited. Thanks, Mr. Stevenson.

HOG KILLING TIME

According to Joe Leech and A. Parker, hog killing time is here. Hog killing has become an established custom. It is just about as proper to say: "hog killing time" as it is to "Christmas." The first freeze if the weather is dry is the time for hog killing. The fiscal year would not be complete without this dreaded day, but who has learned to like the job? How many house wives like the day? how many boys like boiled back bone? The only good thing which might be said of the day is that there is usually "fresh sausage" for breakfast the next morning.

HARVESTING TURNIPS

Tom Sanders has been busy these cold days making kraut of turnips. He and Mrs. Sanders worked up eight gallons Wednesday. He has a nice lot of turnips, he says, and intends to bank a lot of them away for winter and spring use. This is an evidence that Sanders has an idea that one had better be preparing to live while he is sadly watching the cotton market go down.

We have recently learned that turnips are good cow feed. They are easy grown when the season is good and produce more to the acre of land than anything else. Why not feed them?

Self-control is the very essence of character.

SLUMP IN COTTON IS CRIMPING BUSINESS

This year has proved itself a failure in a large measure, so the only wise thing to do is to begin to make plans for another year. History will repeat itself. The sad recollections of '17 and '18 are again brought before us. The past two years, '28 and '29 are but repetitions of these. Those of us who have been here all these years know well how to endure. This country is just in its infancy. It is hard to find a man who has been here longer than thirty years. At the least one half of a century is required to settle any country and stabilize its resources. When this is taken into consideration, we feel good even though we are hard hit by a short crop and no market.

Farmers should begin to meet with each other and plan a better and safer means of making the farm pay. The men who are doing well, and we have a goodly number of them, should be patterned after as much as it is practical; "but they that are strong, ought to bear the infirmities of the weak," i.e., they should help to plan a means of making the country produce wealth. That the country is capable of better things, there can be no doubt—under our present system of farming, the country is not doing its best.

Raising blooded stock where the cost of production is greater than the gross results, is no solution to our problems. We must produce the stuff at the very least expense and get the very most for it. Each man must become the master of his own situation, in the last analysis of the thing. "For each man shall bear his own burden," i.e. he must bear the responsibilities after the other fellow has done his best to help him.

THE ECONOMY TWINS

The government has made the dollar bill smaller, but the economy twins, 7 and 5, stretch it further than ever before when you spend it for electricity. 7 and 5, the economy twins, can take a dollar bill and make it go farther than any size dollar bill has ever gone before for service performed. 7 and 5 are the two steps in the new domestic electric service rate of the Texas Electric Service Company.

If, for the sake of economy, you have been doing without the help of electric appliances in your home, you need do so no longer. It is a real economy to use electricity today. The more you use the cheaper it gets. The housewife who does not make use of electric service cheats herself out of New Hours for relaxation and pleasure, for 7 and 5, The economy twins, will do her work in less time.

Put 7 and 5 to work for you. They will do a quicker, neater and cleaner job—dozens of different jobs. Let them save time, money, strength and health for you.

CITY OUT OF WATER

According to water superintendent, Mims, the city will be without water within a few days. The pump at the well is out of repair and there is no money in the treasury to repair it with.

OUR FIRST ATTEMPT TO OPERATE LINO TYPE

We attempted the operation the first time Tuesday afternoon. We made fine speed, we thought. Within just a little while we had set over a galley of type (30) inches. This was fine for a beginner, and we were feeling good over the progress we were making with the new "wonder machine." Wonder—the wonder is that we ever got it streightened out.

When we came in Wednesday morning and read proof on it, we found that our "calf was to be relicked." We had it all to do anew. Had we not corrected it, we should been in bad with China Grove and the German School community.

It was our hope that the lino type would be better educated machine than the "hand spiked" system we had at the first. It is quite evident that printing machinery must be handled by a man who knows something, and not depend on the machine altogether.

Well might it be said in this connection: "It is not in man that walketh to direct his steps."

JOHNSON DID IT

It is thought by some of the most enthusiastic band members that others are not getting into band work as they might. This was evidenced last Friday evening when Mr. Johnson arrived from Abilene and found no one at band practice. He started in his car, stuck in the mud, got out and walked and otherwise made his way here between train and buss runs.

These fine young men will do us good, if only we will get into this thing with them. In the first place they are capable young gentlemen. In addition to this they have a vision and the necessary energy to take hold of things and put them over.

No one in a place the size of this can make a better selection for a band-master, preacher, or anything else than a college student.

If we want a band, let us get into it. This applies to the writer as well as to any one else.

GROW SOMETHING ELSE

Our country doesn't have to plant so much cotton. The facts concerning cotton in Scurry County this year should be convincing. We have 150,000 acres of cotton and will not make over 18,000 bales. It costs around $17.00 per bale to produce it and at least that much to gather it; now what is left except the sad recollections of a hard years work? There is a way out of this. It is no matter whether it is easy to see our way out or not, we certainly know we must make a change. Cut your cotton acreage, you can't be hurt by it. Plant this acreage to something else. Nothing you can plant will net you less money than cotton.

Mrs. E. J. Ely was able to be carried from the hospital to her daughters, Mrs. Travis Reed, today. Mr. Ely will return tonight.

Miss Lottie Maud Lewis who has been away to college is home for a few weeks.

THE POWER BEHIND THE CURTAIN

Since the days of Benjamin Franklin, two hundred years ago, the art of printing has grown until today the public press is one of the most potent influences in American society. What one hears, he soon forgets; but what he reads he remembers. There is nothing today that is making more rapid progress than the printing business. Publicity is what the world is anxious about. Near three thousand years ago King Solomon said: "To the making of books there shall be no end." It is certain the end is not to be seen in our day.

As the printing art develops it is having a tendency to develop the different languages. It has always been the intention of language to express ideas and emotions. The growth of these is an evidence of an advanced civilization. The man of today is not the man of yesterday. The man of tomorrow will no doubt be in advance of our own generation. We raise our hats to the rising generation. Their opportunities are the greatest the earth has ever before afforded. We watch the progress of science and invention with amazement. The present day airplane and radio are wonders. They suggest the future is filled with still greater things than these, if the progress of our present civilization is not checked by some sort of national or international disaster. The student of history can but fear in the midst of his great rejoicing.

We join with an ongoing society in extending our congratulations to those who are to live after us. After we have paid our compliments to an ongoing society, we pause to honor the people whose energetic efforts lie at the base of it all. What could science and invention do if it were not for the laborer whose toil makes it all possible. Without the wheat and cotton farmers who feed and clothe the world; without the miners and those who work in the factories; without the average man as a consumer we should have no great society. The people, then, is the power behind the curtain in present day progress.

When we think of the common people (and here is where our population is found), we are reminded of Jesus Christ and Abraham Lincoln. American history records the names of no other two who ever championed the cause of the masses of the people as these did. Their memories are indelibly stamped on the hearts of all Americans. The passing of the centuries, the changes which the regular recurring decades bring, the fame of modern men, Wilson, Lloyd George, Edison, Ford, etc., never slightly erase the picture of these men. Why? simply because they were friends to the PEOPLE.

While making a public address in the metropolis of his home land, surrounded by the masses of the people with a few of the supposed "high-brows" looking around at Him with secret curiosity, Jesus Christ was interrupted by a 'Pharisee' who said: "Master, your mother and brothers are without seeking thee." To this he replied, "Who is my mother and my brother?" And looking upon and pointing his hand to the masses of the people said: "Whosoever...the same is my mother, my sister, and my brother." And again He said: "They that are whole need not a physician, but they that are sick."

In one of the warmest presidential campaigns in the history of our government, Abraham Lincoln, in his Gettysburg address, as we recall, said: "I should rather be right than to be president of the United States."

According to statistics, about fifteen per cent. of the people of our country own all the wealth and control the government. About fifteen per cent. are totally dependent, while about seventy per cent. of our people constitute Abraham Lincoln's masses. This is the picture of human society which was held before the eyes of Jesus Christ which caused His spirit to burn within Him; this is the picture which was constantly held before the eyes of Abraham Lincoln; this is the picture which was before the face of Robert Babson when he gave the statistics, above referred to; this is the picture now before our eyes.

If we are a fair judge of our intentions, it is our purpose to serve the common people. We believe we know the common man, his handicaps in life, his view of society, his ambition, his pride, his very heart throbs are echoed by our sympathy. We were born in a humble Freestone County Texas home. We grew up between cotton rows and spent our spare time fishing for minnows in the small streams, scratching "sea ticks," chewing sugar cane and repeating rhymes for "doodle bugs." Our experience is such, we think, to fit us for this work which we have at last decided to do.

It has always been our purpose to serve. Growing out of this desire we first chose the ministry, thinking our best service could be rendered there. The tight lines of denominationalism in the churches, together with the fact that the "common people" are being depended on to support church secretaries who draw large salaries and do nothing, has made it impractical for us longer to serve in this capacity.

Declining the work of the ministry we have decided to enter into country newspaper work. Here we believe there is an open field. Here is one of the greatest opportunities, we think. The doings of our society are so complicated that the masses need some one to interpret them for them. Inspiration is possibly the greatest need of our time. The average man is laboring under a heavy load of responsibility, the weight of which presses until his better self is not seen. He needs to be cheered, inspired, lifted and helped. Under such pressure no man can be at his best. For our society to be at its best, each individual man must be prosperous, must have educational advantages for his children, must have good health and personal liberty.

We have long waited for the coming of the composition machine, and now that it is on our floor, we are dedicating the use of it to the people as above outlined. It is your machine. You have helped to pay for it. It is being used for your convenience and your pleasure.

PUNCTUATION MARKS

Mr. Ell Weems was in the office Saturday and told us that the use of punctuation marks was time thrown away. "I merely read the paper. I pay no attention to punctuation." What is true with Mr. Weems is true with the average reader. This is the reason newspapers are not more Careful about their English. All English classes condemn newspaper English. The newspaper is supposed to take every near cut. It does not have time to be painstaking, nor does it matter. Mr. Weems' suggestion is sufficient reason. The man who reads must be able to read hurriedly. Time is the object. Speed is the order of the day.

ARMISTICE PASSES

Mr. N. J. Sealy was in early Monday morning and, it being Armistice Day, was filled with memories of war times. "People are not respecting Armistice as they should. This is the greatest of all holidays. Everything should be closed tightly. Those of you who were at home selling cotton for forty cents per pound at the time of Armistice can hardly appreciate what we men endured in the Service. What we experienced, no one but ourselves know."

Those who were looking down the barrels of the German machine guns can, no doubt appreciate the annual recurring of Armistice Day. It is possible we do not appreciate these "shell shocked" young men as we might. It is to forget. Come in again, Mr. Sealy

Gartman Views Machine

Mr. R. L. Gartman who failed to get in Saturday to see the new machine, came in Monday. After giving it a close examination, pronounced it alright. He seemed very much pleased that we have the new machine. He realizes the better equipped we are the better we can serve him. If everyone would consider the interests of others in this way, we should have a much better society.

We are glad to have you come in, Mr. Gartman.

QUIETLY PASSES BY

Armistice Day was well favored by the weather.—the day was cloudless. Everything passed lovely. Most of the day was spent handling turkeys.

The business houses were all closed. Everyone was taking a rest. Hunting and other forms of sport was engaged in with much pleasure. No religious or patriotic services were held, according to the custom of our churches.

TOM SANDERS

Tom Sanders was in Wednesday afternoon to see the new machine. He says that when his subscription is due, to just notify him. Thanks, Mr. Sanders.

MAJOR KIMZEY

Mr. Major Kimzey was in Tuesday afternoon to see the new linotype and to see us in our first attempt to use it.

Our first pass at writing his name caused a hang up in the machine. Kimzey said the machine didn't want to tell anything about him.

We are glad to have you visit with us, Mr. Kimzey.

EDD PAVLAS JOINS WITH OTHER READERS

We have been publishing the Herald for two years and didn't know until last week that Ed Pavlis was not on our mailing list. When we spoke to him Tuesday morning he was quick to fall in line. We like this sort of spirit. Pavlis is good sport. We learned of his good spirit last year when it was humorously reported that him and Joe Nachlinger were making repeated trips to Arkansas. Thanks, Mr. Pavlis.

Banker Lewis spent the week-end in Tahoka visiting his granddaughter, little Charlie Jane Lewis, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Lewis.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Bullock of Snyder visited J. A. and Mrs. Seale home Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Lee Coles and family of Valley View spent Sunday here, guests in the Louis Seal home.

GERMAN SCHOOL

School is dragging some on account of cotton picking.

The P. T.-A. of this community will meet Friday night Nov. 15 for the purpose of electing officers and arranging for this year. The membership fee in the State and National P. T.-A. organization is already paid for this year. We hope that every parent will be interested enough to come to the meetings and help make the school a success. Nothing is more encouraging to the children and teachers than to know that the whole community is interested in their work

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Mize of Midland paid a short visit to the Rufus Mize home Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Caswell and Mr. and Mrs. M. U. Vernon visited in the J. M. Pagan home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. West visited Marvin West last week.

Relatives from Stanton visited in the Charlie Hilcher home Sunday.

Messrs A. Parker and Joe Neal were in Snyder on business Tuesday.

SLUMP IN COTTON

The latest slump in cotton is hitting the country hard. Just about the time people were about to get straight or to see their way out, cotton took a slump which has put a bad crimp in business. But it may be that we are fortunate to have gotten as well through with the crop as we have before the slump came. It is unwise at any time or under any conditions to depend too largely on cotton. It will bankrupt any farmer or any country that plants it too extensively. It has become a gambling business and the man who grows it is furnishing the money for these crooks to bet on.

THE RADIO

Speaking in Collier's Armistice radio hour on Sunday, General Mitchell, our most brilliant fighting air officer in the big war, said, among other things: "Airplanes can cross the Atlantic in 20 hours. In the big war battleships appeared in two engagements, one lasting 16 minutes, the other 24 minutes. No ship was sunk. Our battlefleet never fired a shot, except in salute. "New York could be destroyed in a morning by air torpedoes fired from a distance of hundreds of miles."

OUR FIRST FREEZE

Tuesday came bringing us our first freeze for the season. Everything was frozen over. The chicken were all out early wondering what had happened to the watering trough. When they would attempt to drink what looked like water and what was in the watering troughs, but alas! they could not swallow.
As good fortune has it, there is not a great deal for to hurt.

COTTON LOAN IN TWO STATES O. K'D.

Washington, Nov. 13.—

Loans of $1,000,000 to the Louisiana Farm Bureau Cotton Growers' Co-operative Association and $750,000 to the Arizona Pima Cotton Growers were approved today by the Federal Farm Board to supplement funds received from commercial and intermediate credit banks.

The additional amounts are to enable the associations to make larger initial payments to grower members when they purchase the cotton.

4-H CLUB

By W. O. Logan

The 4-H Club boys are getting a carload of lambs on feed over the county, and are trying to get about fifteen pigs on feed for the Southwest Exposition and Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth in the Spring. They are carrying on these demonstrations not especially for the show, but to demonstrate to local men that growing feed crops and marketing them through livestock is profitable and more so than cotton. Club pigs were fed at a cost of six cents and even less the past year. A lamb was shown at the County Fair that made gains by proper feeding at less than seven cents per pound gain.

County Agent W. O. Logan has been busy getting the clubs organized or reorganized in the different communities, and getting the boys started on definite demonstrations for the year coming. He says that he will have to get all possible work done before Christmas along this line as the terracing program seems to be looming big for another season. When different men all over the county relate that terraced land, and even wide terraces, produced enough more than unterraced land to pay big returns and above cost of doing the work, how can you keep others from terracing. Terracing schools aided by the county machinery will start one of the most far reaching programs to get every farm and farmer to build permanent soil and water saving terraces, and have Scurry County lead in West Texas.

HAPPEN TO MISS

By being absent for a few hours Tuesday morning, we lost a bucket of nice peaches, our good friend, J. R. Coker told us this afternoon. He has had peaches to eat and use ever since the first of June. This is stretching the peach season. Thanks, Mr. Coker.

Messrs Clyde Rea and Elmer Louder were among those visiting the new machine this week. They, too, consider it a wonder.
