

Lake Sinks Into Old Mine Shaft

JEFFERSON ISLAND, La. (AP) — "The end of the world is coming," yelled a fisherman as a voracious whirlpool drained Lake Peigneur right out from under his boat.

And the big question after the collapse of an abandoned salt mine shaft — which also drew a $5 million oil rig, a tug boat, 10 barges and a botanical garden into its gaping maw — was whether this entire island might be next.

The island is part of a massive outcropping of salt. If the lake waters sucked into the mine during the shaft's collapse Thursday dissolve the subterranean pillars of salt, the salt dome beneath this marshy island could go crashing inward, officials fear.

The island, 10 miles square, was evacuated Thursday after a 1,300-foot-deep abandoned salt mine shaft collapsed when it apparently was punctured by oil drilling and seeping lake water caused a cave-in. A growing crater sucked in more lake water, creating a whirlpool that emptied the 20-acre lake and swallowed almost everything on and near it.

"There is the potential for the island to cave in," warned Wayne Knack, district manager of the federal Mine Safety and Health Administration office in Dallas.

The danger stemmed from the fresh lake water that had drained underground, said deputy sheriff Ron Sommer. "The whole dome is sustained by 90-foot pillars of salt. If the water eats up those pillars, the dome itself will go in," he said.

On or near the dome is Jefferson Island with a Diamond Crystal Salt Mine Co. mining operation, a tourist garden and some oil operations.

Texaco's Max Hebert said a well "may have entered a shaft," and spokeswoman Brenda Buras said the oil company did not know its rig was resting above an abandoned shaft.

Seven men on the rig escaped by tugboat, 50 men in the salt mine got to safety, and no injuries were reported, officials said.

Once the shaft collapsed, a crater grew rapidly, devouring two Texaco rigs, the lake, a tug, a string of salt barges, thousands of gallons of water and mud and nearby Rip Van Winkle Gardens, a tourist botanical attraction.

"That water was roaring. I'm not kidding you a bit," said fisherman Leonce "Spec" Viator Jr., who was fishing on the lake at the time.

At one point, water in the Delcambre Canal, a shrimp boat channel linking Lake Peigneur with Vermilion Bay in the Gulf of Mexico, was running backwards, pulling Gulf water into the crater at about 20 mph, witnesses said.

As the flow of water and mud slowed Thursday night, a natural gas fire broke out in the crater's mouth, which was about a half-mile wide.

The dome is one of the major salt outcroppings along the Louisiana coast. The nation's Strategic Petroleum Reserve is being stored in another dome about 50 miles to the west. At another salt mine in the chain of domes — the nearby Belle Isle dome — an explosion killed five miners last year.

20 Killed In Train Crashes

VIBO VALENTIA, Italy (AP) — Two express passenger trains travelling 100 mph crashed into empty freight cars from opposite directions early today, killing at least 20 people and injuring 100, officials said. A police source said a signal malfunction appeared to be responsible.

Rescue workers, firemen and soldiers used blow torches and crowbars to pull the victims from the twisted metal, and police sources said many of the bodies were dismembered and spread over a wide area just outside the Vibo Valentia train station.

"It seems the cars were not fully packed. Otherwise we would be talking about deaths of hundreds," one rescue official said. The crash occurred shortly after midnight just outside the station in this Calabrian town near Catanzaro.

Police said the 16-car express train "587," bound from Rome to Siracusa, Sicily, hit two empty box cars detached from a freight train, bouncing them onto an adjoining track where they were hit by the 15-car Rome-bound "588" express coming from the opposite direction.

Police said the passenger trains were travelling "at full speed" of 160 kilometers an hour — 100 miles an hour — and that at least three of the cars of the Rome-bound train were destroyed.

"It's a ghastly sight. Some cars were destroyed completely and others flattened like sandwiches," said Dr. Franco Pansitta, the health director of the Vibo Valentia Hospital.

Doctors and nurses were brought in from nearby towns to treat the victims, said Pansitta who was directing the emergency first aid operation.

It was the worst train wreck in Italy since 1978 when two express trains crashed near Bologna, killing 43 people.

Special Election Slated Tomorrow

Polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. tomorrow for a special election to name a state representative to serve approximately six weeks.

Voters in Scurry and the other five counties of the 63rd District will be casting ballots in the special election to name a successor to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mike Ezzell last month. The only candidate on the ballot is Larry Don Shaw of Big Spring, who was elected to serve the term beginning in January.

Scurry County voters will cast their ballots in four polling places, the minimum number required for such an election. Two of the polling

Q.—What is the beeping sound at the cable construction along College Ave.?

A.—OSHA regulations require that equipment such as backhoes have the beep signal to alert workers that the machinery is backing. Ironically, another OSHA regulation requires that workers wear ear plugs and some contend that this prevents them from hearing the beep.

Tonight We Find Out Who Did Shoot J.R.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Was it Sue Ellen, threatened with confinement in a sanitarium? Was it Cliff Barnes, cut out of a big oil deal? Was it Kristin Shepard, faced with a prostitution bust?

Hang on to your cowboy hat, America — tonight's the night we finally find out who shot J.R.

And just about everybody on the hit "Dallas" series looks like a likely suspect. J.R. Ewing, of course, is that scoundrel of an oil tycoon who double-dealt his way into an international frenzy of speculation after someone pumped two slugs into him at the end of the last season.

Fans have been waiting to find out whodunnit ever since.

The denouement will be broadcast to East Coast and Midwest viewers at 10 p.m. EST. In the Mountain time zone, the show will begin at 11 p.m. EST and on the West Coast the show be on at 1 a.m. EST.

Viewers in the West can find out the secret early by listening to broadcast outlets, some of which plan urgent news reports. Passengers on Air France jets bound for Europe will be told who shot J.R. when the secret breaks.

Actors on the show, including Larry Hagman, who plays J.R., will be told the secret at a party tonight. They've also been kept in the dark for security reasons and only about 20 people in Lorimar Productions are said to be privy to the secret.

Bookies in Las Vegas, Nev., were setting odds on the shooting until the Nevada Game Control Board told them to stop because the show wasn't a sporting event and "somebody knows the outcome."

Odds makers at the Castaways Hotel in Las Vegas were offering the best odds, 3-to-1, that Sue Ellen acted in concert with her boyfriend, Dusty Farlow, in the shooting. Farlow, played by Jared Martin, supposedly was killed in a plane crash, but no one knows that for sure.

J.R. himself was something of a long shot at 20-to-1.

Bookies were offering 500-to-1 odds that the assailant — for reasons not quite clear — was Tom Landry, the real-life coach of the Dallas Cowboys football team. Roger Staubach, a former Cowboys quarterback, was rated at 1,000-to-1.

Just about every character in the show looks guilty. Nearly all had the opportunity, and there are no lack of motives for shooting J.R.

J.R. has mortgaged Southfork Ranch right out from under his parents, Jock and Miss Ellie, planned to sink oil wells on Miss Ellie's land, driven his brother Bobby away, planned to commit his wife to an institution, hatched a plot to convict his sister-in-law of prostitution and driven one business associate to suicide and left another bankrupt.

Exxon Office

HOUSTON (AP) — Exxon Co. USA reported today an early morning fire destroyed a compressor unit and an office building at its Chambers County gas processing plant near Monroe City. No injuries were reported.

A spokesman said the fire began in a building housing three compressor cooling units for propane gas processing and then spread to the office structure.

"Work is under way to resume full field production and no interruption of gas deliveries to customers is anticipated," the spokesman said.

Reports indicated windows 30 miles from the plant were shaken but a spokesman said he had no information on an explosion.

Keeping tab on our neighbors: Paper work has become an irritating subject on many fronts, and apparently it finally has all but submerged the county clerk's office at Colorado City (Mitchell County).

The Colorado City Record reports that County Clerk Joan Beach is closing her office on Tuesday and Thursday mornings so that personnel in the office can clear out the paperwork that is required of them. They will resume regular hours when the paperwork is caught up.

Remember the Susan B. Anthony dollar, that little funny-shaped coin that closely approximated the size of a quarter? Well, it's still around, but the public still hasn't taken to it, reports Bill Ellis of the Friona Star.

"Of the 850 million coins minted, only 300 million are now in circulation," Ellis said. "The rest of the coins are in the Federal Reserve and U.S. Mint vaults, and production of the coins has come to a standstill."

Meanwhile, the government reportedly has spent almost $600,000 in a nationwide promotional campaign to encourage acceptance of the "Susie" bucks. Now, they are looking into the possibility of changing to a new version, perhaps using an alloy to give the coin a gold color and placing an eagle on the back.

Somehow, we believe it will take more to get the public to go for it.

The Brownfield News says people there are feeling much better following a new report from the census people. The preliminary report on the 1980 head count, which was announced earlier this month, indicated that Brownfield had not only lost population from 1970, but also had lost from the first preliminary count made public back in the summer. Last week, a call from the regional census office in Dallas advised that an error had been found and that instead of 9,477 people, Brownfield actually had 10,465, which represented a good gain instead of a loss.

Prime Rate Goes To 17%

NEW YORK (AP) — The prime lending rate rose to 17 percent at one major bank today and inched closer to its 20 percent record of last spring as the Federal Reserve kept up its attempt to fight inflation by limiting the amount of money Americans can borrow.

The prime rate is a bank's charge on loans to top-ranked businesses, but the general tightening of credit means banks will be "toughening their terms" for consumer and mortgage lending as well, said David Jones, economist at the brokerage house of Aubrey G. Lanston & Co. Inc.

The nation "is on the verge of a (credit) crunch again," raising "the possibility the economy will hit the skids" by early 1981 after passing in and out of a recession this year, Jones said.

"Housing and construction activity, auto sales and consumer durable (goods) spending, inventory accumulation, business, plant and equipment outlays, and state and local government spending all are in for a second jolt," said economist Allen Sinai in a report issued this week by Data Resources Inc., the forecasting service.

Bus Accident Injures 13

House Passes Busing Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter and Congress neared a showdown today as the House passed a measure banning the Justice Department from spending money in school desegregation cases that could result in cross-town busing.

By a 240-59 vote, the House sent a $9.1-billion appropriations measure containing the busing ban to the Senate, where swift action was expected.

THREE-CAB WRECK—This three car pile up occurred about 11:30 a.m. yesterday three miles south of town on U.S. Highway 208. The Maverick was stalled in the road when the accident occurred, having been pulled from the ditch where it was stuck. The Mercury was attempting to stop when the pickup hit it from behind slamming it into the Maverick. No injuries were reported. All three vehicles sustained heavy damage. Owner of the 1970 Maverick is Kevin Gene Bailey of Loraine. Driving the 1980 Mercury was Douglas Frazier of Rt. 2. Billy Frank West of Lubbock was driving the 1978 Ford Pickup. Firefighters were called to the scene to keep an eye on leaking butane. Highway patrolman Gary Brewer investigated the accident. Only One Injury In Glut Of Car Wrecks

For all of Snyder's wrecks yesterday, only one resulted in significant injury, according to reports.

The injury occurred in an accident worked last night by troopers of the Department of Public Safety. That accident sent Glenda Elledge to Cogdell Memorial Hospital with a shoulder injury. Today she is listed in fair condition.

Reports show she was driving a 1979 Dodge van that left the road, slid sideways into a pasture and struck a tree. The accident occurred about 7:20 p.m. on the Ennis Creek Road, about a quarter of a mile north of Snyder.

City policemen Keith Ward and Richard McCulley worked a car-pedestrian accident yesterday afternoon that briefly sent two women to Cogdell. Receiving only bruises and abrasions, however, they were treated and released.

That accident occurred in the 3500 block of College Ave. about 5:05 p.m. Reports show the women, Alva Jones and Ruth Jones, both of 2800 Ave. X, were struck by a 1973 Ford driven by Leon Autry.

LOS ANGELES (NEA)—Although President-elect Ronald Reagan insists that the selection of his Cabinet will be a long process involving the study of many names, his high-level advisers say that a "short list" of potential nominees has already been prepared. So, while events may necessitate some changes, it is possible to pinpoint a number of those likely to hold influential positions in the new administration.

Ford years, such as Alan Greenspan and Arthur Burns, are vying for the post against more conservative economists, such as Milton Friedman. The betting is that the job will go to Greenspan or Burns.

At least one high-level adviser is pushing for Burns for the Council on Economic Advisers, Weinberger for Labor and Greenspan for the Office of Management and Budget or the Treasury Department if Simon does not want to return there.

It should by now be obvious that most members of the incoming Cabinet will be veterans of the administrations of Presidents Nixon and Ford. But one influential adviser to those presidents is conspicuous in the inside speculation on Reagan's Cabinet only by his absence. His name is Henry Kissinger.

The great 19th century race mare, Fashion, won 32 of her 36 starts and was second the other four times.

The only question is: Who will get which job? Reagan insiders offer strikingly similar lists of probable Cabinet nominees; they differ only on the posts to which they expect those individuals to be named.

One sure appointee is Anne Armstrong, former ambassador to Great Britain and co-chairman of Reagan's campaign. She reportedly has her eye on the Commerce Department, figuring that she could eventually move from there to the lucrative presidency of a major corporation. She has also been mentioned as a possible secretary of health and human services.

Four other high-level Reagan appointees will likely be George Shultz, former labor and treasury secretary and budget director; Gen. Alexander Haig, former Nixon-Ford chief of staff and NATO commander; Caspar Weinberger, former budget director and secretary of health, education and welfare, and former Treasury Secretary William Simon.

Speculation is that Simon will be asked to return to the Treasury Department and Weinberger to the Office of Management and Budget or the Department of Health and Human Services. Some insiders have proposed sending Shultz to the State Department and Haig to the Pentagon.

Haig's nomination as defense secretary may not come to pass for several reasons, however. Reagan is eager to give his foreign policy a bi-partisan look by naming a Democrat to an important post; to many in his campaign, the obvious choice is Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., as secretary of state or defense. In addition, it is feared that the presence of a former general like Haig as defense secretary might blur the tradition of civilian control over the military.

There is considerable support for the appointment of Haig as national security adviser, a post that would put his experience at running the White House staff to good use. But some influential Reagan aides see Haig going to the State Department with the multi-talented Shultz cast in some other role.

Others being prominently mentioned for Cabinet posts include retiring Sen. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., for the Department of Housing and Urban Development, and Rep. Jack Kemp, R-N.Y., for the Department of Transportation. Former Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld and black economist Thomas Sowell are also likely to receive top jobs in the Reagan administration.

Reagan is quite close to Kemp and would like to name him to a prominent post. And since it is probable that Reagan will not seek a second term and that Kemp will be the conservatives' choice to run against the more moderate George Bush for the 1984 Republican presidential nomination, there is pressure on Reagan to give Kemp a job as visible as Bush's vice presidency.

Reagan has told associates that he would like to nominate his personal lawyer, William French Smith, to be attorney general. But the president-elect may succumb to pressure from his advisers to name a better-known figure to head the Justice Department. If so, Smith will undoubtedly be offered the post of White House counsel.

Perhaps the most bitter debate — and one involving policy as much as personality — is over the new chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers. Traditional economists from the Nixon-subsidy no answer

The major domestic auto manufacturers posted losses of about a half-billion each in the third quarter. U.S. steel manufacturers are complaining that "recently instituted" protection from foreign steel isn't enough to get their industry out of the doldrums. Productivity has declined in the last few years and inflation has eaten at everybody's paychecks. Many are wondering if U.S. industry will have the resilience to compete with Japanese and German manufacturers. Amid predictions of disaster came the call for further government tinkering with interest rates, tax incentives and subsidies.

And yet...over all third quarter earnings, even in the depths of the mini-recession and including the losses of the headline makers, weren't so bad. Sales were up 13.7 percent and after-tax profits rose nearly 3 percent. New England, long considered an industrial desert following the migration of the textile industry, has been making a comeback with high technology industry. The U.S. electronic industry, embodying the mass production of computing power, seems ready to do battle with the Japanese on a fairly even footing. GM, while now in the doldrums, has laid plans for what it hopes will be a comeback. The computer industry, chemicals, aerospace, international banking, worldwide engineering, electronics, even blue jeans all these are industries where American companies hold dominant positions and are looking forward to brighter futures.

The U.S. economy, in other words, is large, complex and not easily categorized. It's in a state of transition, adjusting to the fact that other countries have achieved some measure of industrial sophistication and provide not only competition but new markets. Innovation may be dormant, but it's not dead. In areas like pharmaceuticals, bio-sciences, communications, oil and natural gas, U.S. companies are clearly at the leading edge of technology.

In short, when considering the problems afflicting the American economy, and of certain industries we have come to think of as the bulwarks of the economy, it is easy to forget that any economy with even a modicum of dynamism will constantly be changing. Old industries and old companies lose touch with new conditions, or simply become obsolete. We may shed tears at their passing, but it is foolish to hang onto them for the sake of bittersweet nostalgia. Years ago people wrung their hands at the passing of whale oil and buggy whip industries, wondering where the poor souls thus displaced would ever find jobs to feed their families.

We might note that the industries that offer the greatest hope for the future are those least encumbered by regulation and tradition.

As regulation grows, it gets more difficult to start a small business, let alone keep it growing. Paperwork and government demands take time away from innovation and research. Small companies that can't afford to hire teams of lawyers and accountants to keep them up-to-date with the latest regulations are finding the going increasingly tough. But the entrepreneurial spirit isn't dead yet.

We're not yet ready to accede to the doom-and-gloomers. And we're certainly not ready to approve subsidies, protectionism and artificial incentives for industries that have run into trouble. Corporate problems are valuable signals for intelligent managers. Companies that are insulated from these signals by government protection are unable to respond to challenges creatively. More government controls create false signals, leading companies to respond to bureaucrats rather than customers. Government involvement, like the "partnership" some are now advocating, is a formula for stagnation.

Almost every parent, at one time or another, has had to give an answer to a child who has lost a pet and who wants to know whether the beloved four-footed friend will go to heaven. Many parents have felt duty-bound to explain that, since animals don't have souls, they can't go to heaven.

Now, I don't know whether this is true or not. But I am more inclined to go along with Father George Tyrrell, who said that when he got to heaven he would not be surprised to find more dogs there than people.

"While we Christians prate about love and loyalty and forgiveness, it is dogs more than people, who practice these Christian virtues," said the Irish priest.

People and animals... John Lilly, a scientist and medical doctor who has been doing research with dolphins since 1955, has discovered that the playful creatures are not only highly intelligent but that they have a highly developed ethical system.

"In all our years of working with more than 100 dolphins," he says, "no dolphin at any time, even under the severest provocation, injured any of our personnel." Young dolphins have to learn this, says Lilly. He tells of one occasion when a two-year-old dolphin tried to attack him with an open mouth.

"He started after my arm," Lilly relates, "when an older female dolphin came across at right angles and hit him on top of the head so hard that you could hear the thud all over the laboratory." The young dolphin also got a "severe lecture" from the older dolphin, says Lilly, and he never again tried to bite a human.

In the sea, says Lilly, interdependence is a matter of life and death. The sea's ethics are very different from ours. If a dolphin passes out under water from a high fever or a blow on the head will drown immediately unless his fellow dolphins bring him to the surface, wake him up and get him to breathe again.

"This means," says Lilly, "that every day, every minute, 24 hours a day, the dolphin is dependent upon his fellow dolphins in a very detailed way."

People and animals... Sarah, one of the little girls at my house, used to be close friends with a German shepherd dog who lived next door.

I was always a little afraid of Max but Sarah, who was three, would pull a stick or a ball out of his mouth without a fear in the world.

They would play together a whole afternoon. When Max would get unruly, Sarah would say firmly, "Sit, Max!" and Max would sit. When they got tired, the two of them would rest and talk. Sarah liked to watch Max's ear wiggle when she put her mouth up to it. To somebody watching, it looked as if she was whispering secrets to Max. Then Max would put his nose up to her ear and you would think he was whispering a secret back.

The little scene always reminded me of the pelican who appointed himself night watchman at Albert Schweitzer's hospital for the natives of Lambarene in equatorial Africa.

The pelican appeared at the hospital every evening at sunset, stayed all night long and at daybreak disappeared. Night after night, without fail, it came to guard the building.

In time it struck up an acquaintance with one of the native workers. Schweitzer said that no one who had never seen it would believe it but these two — the native and the big pelican — would jabber back and forth at each other in apparent perfect understanding.

Schweitzer said they even seemed to argue sometimes. Often the pelican would get the better of the argument which would cause the native to sulk and walk off pouting, like a spoiled child. But soon the two would be speaking again.

NEW YORK (AP) — Savings and loan associations soon may add checking accounts, credit cards and consumer loans to their product list, but they'll never drop home mortgages, Rollin D. Barnard promises that.

"These new (federal) authorizations make a smorgasbord of appetizers and deserts, but the main course remains meat and potatoes and the good brown gravy of home finance," Barnard said in an interview.

Barnard was to take office today as the new president of the U.S. League of Savings Associations, whose members account for $610 billion of assets. They are the chief source of home mortgages.

Now concluding their annual meeting in San Francisco, a good many S&L executives are concerned whether they should welcome or worry about their new powers, one reason being the powers in some instances will pit them against larger commercial banks. Barnard is a welcomer.

"It's the way you handle it," he said. "We'll have new tools to do the same job as yesterday. Home mortgages will remain our business."

S&Ls took a beating this year, and they're not used to it. For years they had made steady profits, but volatile, unpredictable interest rates this year forced many to dip into reserves. It shook them

Looking for a corrective, some S&Ls have considered merging with others, a step that Barnard, head of Denver's Midland Federal Savings & Loan, believes should be taken only after much more deliberation. "I'm encouraging them to consider carefully before they make the move," he said. "I believe in mergers — my own company has grown through two of them — but to merge out of fear is dangerous."

He said the red ink that spilled over the books of half the league's 4,466 members earlier this year is "no reason for considering suicide." Other businesses, he said, go through regular ups and downs over a span of years. "What are reserves for?" he asks.

But it is a new world for federally chartered S&Ls, and not just because of their new power to offer checking accounts (by Dec. 31), consumer loans, credit cards — even data processing and insurance.

Along with these new powers is a mortgage rate structure in which flexibility and interest rate variability replaces rigidity, which had been the enduring quality of home mortgages since the 1930s.

Customers are expected to benefit from the services, though they have long been obtainable at commercial banks. But, said one S&L official, "We're good at personal service — better than banks."

The word "service," however, didn't mean much to customers seeking and failing to qualify for mortgages this year. Barnard hopes and believes the flexible mortgages now offered will ease that problem.

"All's well that ends well," sounds like something Tom Laundry would say after he noticed the Cowboy's penchant for pulling out lost buses in the last few seconds.

And "westward ho," sounds like a pair of words that might have teamed up during America's gold rush days.

If William Shakespeare had ever turned to the newsmen of his time and said, "Now gentlemen, please don't quote me. The English language would be much the less. Fortunately, Willie was to show business and not politics and didn't care what was repeated or if it was taken out of context. Consequently, many of the scribbles of the old bard are still around and probably will be, to employ another phrase of his, forever and a day.

Some of the words first put together by Shakespeare are so common to our current vocabulary, you probably thought they were put there by that fellow Webster. Below are more of the playwright's phrases that have endured the centuries, and in case you don't believe me, the plays from which they sprang

Your Birthday

November 22, 1980

This coming year you are likely to place great stock in friendships you will be developing. Your faith will not be misplaced, because pals will help make your lot in life easier.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Lady Luck tends to look upon you favorably today in ways you may be unaware of. Out-of-sight happenings work for your good: Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, NYC-10119. Be sure to specify birth date.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Normally you're one who likes to call the shots, but today you will fare better in situations where you play a supportive role. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Something advantageous that would give your career a big boost could be developing at this time. An old ally will be busy laying the foundation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Having fun at what you do will be important to you today. Your actions will have a much larger influence on others than you may realize.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) This is a good day to make changes which you feel will be beneficial for the entire family. Get moving if you've got a nifty idea.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your judgment is quite keen today. You should be able to handle yourself admirably in matters requiring major decisions. Don't dodge issues.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be alert today, because you may find ways to add to your resources through more than one channel. Luck and industriousness could play equal roles.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your leadership and organizational qualities are very pronounced today. You shine, especially in areas that bring pleasure to others.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) The more deeply you become involved in things today, the more your luck is likely to improve. Keep plugging away until the rainbow yields its gold.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Dealings today with friends who have influence and clout should turn out extremely favorable for them, as well as for yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Something very beneficial to you personally could develop where your work or career is concerned. It may be advancement, or an increase in salary.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) One of the major reasons you're apt to be successful today is because you'll treat whatever occurs philosophically. Your demeanor will win the respect of associates.

Insurance Women Attend Convention

Insurance Women of Snyder members Pat Mayes, Dian Collier, Betty Sneed and Sammie Scott attended the 36th Annual Convention of Insurance Women of Texas at the Fairmont Hotel in Dallas Oct. 16-18.

Hosted by the Dallas Insurance Women, the convention was under the theme, "Dallas-Where It All Began." Registration opened the convention followed by a luncheon honoring the past FIWT presidents. An executive board meeting was later that day.

A new association from Victoria was voted into the Federation at the executive meeting.

A USO dance and dance contest in the International Ballroom was the first evening's entertainment.

Professional insurance women of Texas were honored at breakfast Friday morning, following the theme of "Down Memory Lane."

Rosa Lee Evans, FIWT president, presided over the first business session. Earl Collins, CIC, president PIA, introduced the keynote speaker, Wm. P. Daves Jr.,

chairman of the state board of insurance.

Following the luncheon, awards for education and public relations were presented. The Snyder Association was awarded an educational achievement certificate for the insurance classes that have been presented to the drivers education students at Snyder High School.

Educational workshops were held and covered such topics as "body language" and "how to overcome customer problems and objectives."

Hector DeLeon, from DeLeon and Davis law firm, was guest speaker to the third business session.

Saturday, all past FIWT presidents and local club presidents were honored at a luncheon, following the theme of "As Time Goes By."

A banquet concluded the convention, entitled "Road to Success." Rosa Lee Evans, outgoing president, installed the new officers for the FIWT. The 37th annual convention is scheduled for San Antonio in October, 1981.

SNYDER INSURANCE WOMEN—Pat Mayes, Dian Collier, Betty Sneed and Sammie Scott, all members of Insurance Women of Snyder, attended the 36th Annual Convention of Insurance Women in Texas in Dallas in October.

THANKSGIVING IN OZ—Dorothy (center) makes another visit to the magical kingdom of Oz, and sees some old friends, including (left) the Cowardly Lion, the Tin Man and Scarecrow. She also meets some new friends, including Jack Pumpkinhead, Tik-Tok and the Hungry Tiger, in the new musical animated holiday special, "Thanksgiving in the Land of Oz," scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 25 at 7:30 p.m. on a CBS Television Network.

HERMLEIGH NEWS

By Adala Drennan

Recent visitors of the Rev. and Mrs. Black, pastor of the First Baptist Church, were their mothers, Mrs. Mildred Denam of Huntington and Mrs. Jean Black of Newton.

Mrs. Floy Coy of Snyder is in the West Texas Medical Center in room 123 at Abilene. She is reported doing satisfactory.

Mr. and Mrs. Marty (Jane) Jones of Amarillo are the proud parents of a little girl born Monday weighing 6½ lbs.

She has been named Courtney Lee. Mrs. Jones will be remembered as Jane Wall, daughter of the Grover Walls.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Reeves recently visited in Andrews with their son, Mr. and Mrs.

Jimmy Fritz, Joan and Margaret.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mayes of Waco are the proud parents of a little girl born Monday. She has been named Kimberly Ann and weighed 8½ lbs. John is the son of the Dudley Mayes.

Guests of the Lloyd Reeves last Thursday night were Mr. and Mrs. Donald (May) Vaughan of Carthage. Mrs. Reeves was reared at Carthage.

Despite the snow and cold weather last Sunday, Bertha Holdridge was complimented with a house warming to view her new home. Hostesses for the affair were Frances Thompson, Jerry Vernon, Nell Henry, Irene Hudgins, Rilla Young, Joyce Fuqua, Helen Winter, Alta McMillan, Ruth Davis and Dee Cresswell.

Mrs. A. D. Prestredge of Tucson, Ariz., visited with her niece and family, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hanson, Wednesday and Thursday.

Sincere thanks are extended to the employees of Prect. 4 who cleared the heavy snow from driveways over the town.

Mrs. Anson (Dorothy) Martin joined her sister, Lola McDonald and Helen Spencer of Fort Worth. The three went with 210 ABWA members to Hawaii. Both Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. Spencer are charter members of the Cinco chapter of the ABWA.

The party left Nov. 2, flying to Los Angeles and from there took a jet to Honolulu. There they visited the island of Oahu, took a cruise to Pearl Harbor, toured the city and also attended a Polynesian cultural center.

They were treated by the local ABWA members to a delicious supper, giving each guest beautiful leis. At the center, they saw many Hawaiian quilts and saw the ladies there quilting. From there, they flew to the island of Maui, spending two days there. While on Maui, they viewed the top crater of a volcano and later took a dinner cruise sailing around the island of Kahoolawe.

Mrs. Martin brought back several interesting items, among of which was Poi, made from Taro root and often served as a dip; the Ti leaf (pronounced tea) which is used for medical purpose.

Last Tuesday Mrs. Martin attended the Needlecraft Club wearing her newly purchased Hawaiian mumu along with a shell lei. She graciously presented each member a beautiful scarf showing the locations of the various islands. She also gave each member lovely fresh orchids.

CHURCH-GOERS—Mr. and Mrs. E.L. Hill are regular church goers and will be attending the special "Let's Show Our Thanks" services Monday at the church where they have been members for 28 years.

'Show Thanks' Day Sunday...

Family Urges All To Attend Church Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. E.L. Hill of 2810 Ave. L will be attending the worship service Sunday on "Let's Show Our Thanks" Sunday sponsored by the Scurry County Ministerial Alliance. The alliance is an organization composed of ministers of the churches of Snyder and Scurry County.

"We have been members of Calvary Baptist Church for 28 years. So many of us seem to know only just a little of how Jesus felt about the church. He said that 'He loved the Church and gave Himself for it.'"

"To us, our church and the members are even dearer than members of our own family. Everything in our lives is centered around our church," they said. "Churches are based on Jesus and what he did for us with the sacrifice of His life and the resurrection.

"Jesus should be the center of Christians' lives. We try to make him the main theme in our lives. Words cannot express what our salvation and our church mean to us."

Mr. and Mrs. Hill join the alliance in urging everyone to attend a worship service in the church of their choice to show thanks for our nation, church and the family.

Also, the alliance invites everyone to attend the evening joint Thanksgiving service at Colonial Hill Baptist at 7:30. The speaker will be Gary Horton of Houston. The Snyder High School Choir will sing during the service.

County Court Sentences 2

Two persons were sentenced Thursday in county court. Sentenced were Stephen Mark Franks and Anita Lucille Shaw, both of the Bel Air Village Apartments, and both charged with possession of marijuana.

Franks received a 60-day jail term and Ms. Shaw was assessed a $300 fine. Both had entered no contest pleas.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Big three risk factors

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband is asking for trouble. He is 52 and overweight, smokes and has high blood pressure. I've told him he is a time bomb for a heart attack or a stroke or both and he just laughs at me. His latest excuse is that he drinks beer and that helps prevent heart attacks. He does drink four or five beers a day and I think that is part of the reason he is so heavy. Is there a way to determine his chances of having a heart attack? That might convince him.

DEAR READER — I hope you can get him to see a doctor. Unfortunately, the first symptom of fatty-cholesterol deposits in the arteries is often a heart attack (which can be fatal) or a stroke. It's hard to convince some people that this really can happen to them.

The three big risk factors that you can do something about are cigarette smoking, high blood pressure and high cholesterol levels. Your risk also goes up with age and men are more at risk than women.

If your husband would quit smoking cigarettes, he could decrease his risk as much as 50 percent. If his cholesterol is up and his blood pressure is up, drinking beer is not going to help. The study your husband is taking refuge in showed that people who had one or two drinks a day had a decreased risk but those who drank more had an increased risk. So his drinking is making matters worse, not better.

Figures on the amount of risk for each factor are included in The Health Letter number 13-2, How to Measure Your Risk of Heart Disease, that I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it.

to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. These figures might be of interest to your husband. The purpose of diets, weight control, exercise and other improvements in life style is to alter the risk factors. If they are high, you do need to do something.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My doctor has been treating me with pills for low thyroid. I can see a difference now in my voice since I'm improving. Before, when I talked it sounded like a map and I couldn't sing. When I asked to talk to someone on the phone, I could hear them say, "A man wants to talk to you." So it was not my imagination.

Could it be that I don't have enough iodine? Salt is out because I have high blood pressure. Shellfish is out because my cholesterol is high and it caused a stroke a few years ago. I'm also anemic. What should I do for my thyroid and iodine problems?

DEAR READER — You must have had very low thyroid function if it affected your voice, but it can cause hoarseness. Iodine deficiencies can cause thyroid goiters. More often severely decreased thyroid function is associated with other thyroid disease.

There are some shellfish that do not contain lots of cholesterol. Studies in recent years have showed that oysters, clams and crabs are all moderately low in cholesterol. Talk to your doctor and see if he thinks you need to take iodine. He could prescribe some iodine drops if you really need them.

Both anemia and high cholesterol levels are common in low thyroid states. Both may improve as your treatment progresses.

Missionary Couple At Union Methodist

Mr. and Mrs. J. David Riley, missionary appointees to Haiti with World Gospel Mission, will speak at Union Methodist Church five miles west on the Lamesa Highway Sunday at 6 p. m.

David Riley was born in Kentucky of parents who pastored with the Free Methodist Church. When he was four years of age his mother explained the way of salvation to him, and he accepted Christ. During his childhood, his parents went to South Africa with the Free Methodist Mission Board. There, with only nationals to play with besides his younger brother and sister, he learned Zulu at an early age. After completing high school in Africa, he attended Greenville College in the States where he met Annie Robinson, who was to become his wife.

Annie Riley was born into a large family in Texas. Her mother died when she was five, and although her father tried to keep the family live with their oldest brother and his wife who were born-again Christians. In this together, she and two younger brothers eventually went to Christian-home setting, she came to know the Lord personally and felt His call to the mission field.

After attending Friends Academy and two years of Bible school in Haviland, Kansas, she continued her college work and teacher training at Greenville.

The Rileys began their missionary career with the Friends Mission in Burundi in 1958 after a year of training in Belgium. David worked with the mission school system for several years and served as principal. In 1963, he helped organize Radio CORDAC, taught electronics to the nationals, and among other things, served as program director. Annie's work on the mission field included keeping books and editing French and English tapes.

The Rileys have four grown children.

World Gospel Mission is an interdenominational missionary organization with 335 missionaries and homeland personnel serving in fifteen countries of the world. International headquarters is in Marion, Indiana.

Agape Slates Film Sunday

The film, "As the Twig is Bent" will be shown Sunday at 6 p. m. at Agape Christian Fellowship, 111 East 37th St. The film features Dr. Clyde Narramore, Christian psychologist and noted author. His daily broadcast, "Psychology For Living," and his books on Christian psychology have been used by millions to help resolve their everyday problems, says Jay Newsom, pastor of Agape.

"The Film is a 52 minute seminar zeroing in on the basic emotional needs of every person—how these are best met—and the negative consequences all throughout life, when the basic needs are not met in childhood."

In the real life situations, discussed by Dr. Narramore, the Christian parent will gain insight as to how to begin immediately to take positive steps, said Newsom.

"Every person will gain a whole world of understanding as to why they feel and act as they do," he said.

An evaluation form will be given to viewers that will aid them in making life changing decisions, Newsom said.

Nicer Staff For Airport

HOUSTON (AP)— If the Houston City Council agrees, some employees at the Houston Intercontinental Airport may soon seem a lot nicer.

Frank Ward, assistant director of the city's Department of Aviation, said a proposal has been made to offer Dale Carnegie courses to city workers assigned to the airport.

He said the project is an attempt to improve the first impression visitors have of Houston.

Hispanic Leader Opposes Rule By Moral Majority

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP)—Proposals by the so-called "Moral Majority" could lead to urban violence if enacted by Congress, an Hispanic leader alleges.

Ruben Bonilla, national president of the League of United Latin American Citizens, said Thursday that minorities may have to resort to economic boycotts, peaceful marches and "a revolution at the ballot box" in the 1980s to prevent ultra conservatives from eroding gains made by Hispanics and blacks the past two decades.

"What I've outlined is a fight on the political and economic front—survival," the Corpus Christi, Texas, attorney told a regional meeting of the Office of Federal Contract Compliance Program. "...This is no time for the weak or faint-hearted."

"It is a grave mistake to fall prey to the conservative calamity that insists our nation's commitment to equal rights and civil rights has been met," Bonilla said. "It would also be tragic to interpret the Nov. 4 election returns as a mandate for the obliteration of all constitutional and statutory gains which have helped establish America as the world's greatest free and open society.

"It is time to show the moral majority that the Almighty does not care only for the whites, rich and powerful of this nation—but for all humanity," he said. "It is time to expose the moral majority for the hypocritical, unchristian views which, if espoused, will corrupt this nation and lead it down the path of urban violence."

Recommends 30 Years For Teen Who Killed Mom

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Jurors here rejected a father's pleas for probation for his teen-aged son and recommended the youth be given a 30-year prison term for murdering his mother.

Greg Heflin, 18, was convicted Thursday after a 10-day trial. Prosecutors asked for a sentence of a "substantial number of years" for the slaying of the youth's mother, June Heflin.

"I'm dumbfounded," said Frank Heflin, the boy's father, after District Judge Jim Dear read the jury's recommendation of a prison term. Heflin then led his two weeping daughters from the courtroom.

Mrs. Heflin was gunned down in the family home on June 1. Heflin's sister, Kimberly, was shot in the head.

The jury returned the guilty verdict after spending a night sequestered in a hotel. Heflin stood motionless as the verdict was read.

Kimberly Heflin, her forehead scarred by the wound, held her face in her hands as the verdict was read. Afterwards, she collapsed into a friend's arms.

The youth's attorneys had argued he was innocent by reason of insanity.

During the trial, experts gave conflicting evidence on Heflin's sanity. The jurors heard a story of a boy who changed from a popular high school athlete to a recluse. Witnesses also said the family was torn by the mother's own battle with mental illness.

The elder Heflin, his face wet with tears, had testified during the punishment phase of the trial that his son was suicidal, and that he had found a Dallas hospital that would treat the youth if jurors would recommend probation.

He said that a prison term would be the same as death sentence for his son because the youth would not receive the psychiatric care he needs in prison.

NEW CLUES TO a murder case that has stumped law enforcement officers for four years may be generated by the work of Gabrielle Hodson, a professional sculptor who is pursuing a degree in forensic anthropology at Florida State University. Working from a skull found in the Florida woods in 1976, she is reconstructing the victim's face in clay by scrutinizing the bone structure and using documented depth measurements from the bone to the surface of the skin. A picture of the reconstructed face will be circulated throughout the country in the hope that someone will recognize the victim.

In Wood Case...

Convicted Hit Man Appears In Lineup

HOUSTON (AP) — Convicted hit man Charles V. Harrelson, once questioned by a grand jury investigating the assassination of a federal judge, has appeared in a secret lineup staged here with the federal authorities leading the massive investigation, sources said.

Although no arrests had been made and no charges filed, sources close to the investigation told The Associated Press Thursday that authorities "may be close to a solution" in the 1979 slaying of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr.

Wood, who earned the nickname "Maximum John" because of his stiff penalties on drug cases, was gunned down outside his posh San Antonio townhouse early on the morning of May 29, 1979.

The FBI has conducted one of the most massive investigations in its history in the 17 months since Wood's death, but has so far been unable to crack the case.

Thursday's lineup at the Houston police building was at least the fourth conducted in the assassination and attempted slaying of former assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr, who had prosecuted several drug cases in Wood's court.

The two shootings frequently have been linked during the investigation and Kerr has viewed at least two of the secret lineups that included members of the Bandidos motorcycle club.

Kerr was ambushed as he left his San Antonio home on Nov. 21, 1978 but escaped serious injury by ducking beneath the dashboard of his luxury car as it was riddled by gunfire from a van.

A man later identified as Harrelson was whisked down a corridor at the Houston police building Thursday afternoon as heavily armed deputies cleared the halls and clamped a tight lid proceedings in the building.

Harrelson's attorney, Bob Tarrant, confirmed that his client appeared in the lineup, but refused to connect Harrelson with the Wood inquiry. Authorities also refused to comment on possible links to the assassination investigation.

Harrelson was convicted of murder in 1968 and paroled 10 years later; then he moved to Dallas. He appeared before a San Antonio grand jury investigating Wood's death in October of 1979, but said afterwards he knew nothing of the assassination and was in Dallas the day the judge was shot.

Present at Thursday's lineup was federal prosecutor Jamie Boyd of San Antonio, FBI agents, U.S. Marshals and criminal investigators from the Houston police department.

Wood Assassin Quietly Tracked

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Federal officials recently have been quietly pursuing the massive investigation into the assassination of a federal judge and attempted killing of a prosecutor.

Prosecutors conducted a lineup under rigid security precautions in Houston Thursday and one source told The Associated Press that the investigation — described as the most extensive federal inquiry since the assassination of President John F. Kennedy — could be nearing a solution.

The wide-ranging investigation began two years ago today when former assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr was ambushed on his way to the federal building in San Antonio.

Pierre Auguste Renoir, the painter, died in 1919.

Woman Not Indicted For Shooting Husband

HONEY GROVE, Texas (AP) — A Fannin County grand jury has refused to indict a woman who says she shot her husband and with the help of some of the couple's 13 children buried him under a shed behind their North Texas home four years ago.

Mrs. Delores Wilson, 41, had been charged with murder earlier this week in the death four years ago of J.B. Wilson, 45, whose remains were uncovered from a shallow grave beneath a shed Monday.

But the grand jury refused Thursday to indict Mrs. Wilson, who had been free on $10,000 bond following the filing of charges Wednesday. She will apparently go free now because of the grand jury's action.

Fannin County Assistant District Attorney Dan Meehan pieced the story together through interviews with Mrs. Wilson, some of her children, who range in age from four to 21, and relatives.

Meehan said Wilson was a native of Honey Grove, about 75 miles northeast of Dallas. He said Wilson had trouble keeping a job, forcing the family to live on welfare most of the time.

"He didn't work in June because it was too hot, and he didn't work in August because it was too wet from the rain," the prosecutor continued.

He said interviews show that sometime in September or October of 1976, no one knows for sure exactly when, Wilson came home drunk.

"He came in there and started beating on them again. Everybody was scared. She (Mrs. Wilson) loaded him up with a .22 (pistol)," Meehan said.

Authorities, who found Wilson's remains wrapped in a decaying bedspread, said he had been shot twice in the back of the head.

Family members told Meehan and law enforcement officers that the older children helped their mother carry the body out to the shed in back of the Wilson home.

"One of the boys said they read a few Bible pages over him. I guess they had a little ceremony before they rolled him in," Meehan said.

No one outside the family, including Wilson's mother, knew what happened to him until recently, Meehan said.

The prosecutor said the strange case first came to light Monday morning when Carl Wilson, who married Penny Wilson, a daughter of the victim, came to police headquarters and told Police Chief Roy Allen that he had killed J.B. Wilson. Carl Wilson was not related to the J.B. Wilson family until his marriage to Penny Wilson, authorities said.

Meehan said one of the victim's sons apparently told

Carl Wilson about the shooting. Carl Wilson told Chief Allen that he had been having trouble sleeping since learning of the slaying.

But, why, authorities wondered did Carl Wilson, suddenly confess to the slaying of a man they said he never knew?

Suspect Held In Multiple Stabbings

KERMIT, Texas (AP) — Panic and a desperate effort to get away may have prompted a man to stab two people to death and seriously wound another woman, an investigator said.

A 19-year-old man has been arrested in connection with the weekend attack in this West Texas town and could face two counts of capital murder and one count of attempted capital murder.

"We think the guy panicked and started cutting people just to get away when he realized how many people were in the house," said Odessa Detective Houston Seabolt, who assisted in the investigation.

Police said the charges would specify capital murder, an offense that could carry the death penalty on conviction, because the killings allegedly occurred during a burglary, officers said.

Police said the suspect, who was arrested Wednesday in Odessa for outstanding traffic warrants, lived near the home where the attack occurred and once had worked for the son of one of the victims.

Jeannie Marie Pardue, 51, and her daughter, Lee Ann Wallace, 15, were slain Saturday as they slept at the home of Mrs. Pardue's son, Carey Gene Wallace.

Wallace's wife, Molly Ann, about 22, was seriously wounded in the 4:30 a.m. attack. She remained hospitalized in stable condition Thursday.

A 16-year-old girl covered in a back bedroom during the attack after her dying friend, Lee Ann, staggered to the door and told her to keep quiet. Police have refused to identify the girl.

Police revealed that the Wallaces' two children, as well as Mrs. Pardue's 10-year-old son, also were in the house. The boy saw the intruder running through the living room, officers said.

Autopsy reports said the women were stabbed with a large hunting knife or butcher knife.

Wallace reportedly was at work in an oil field when the slayings took place. Mrs. Pardue and her daughter were spending the night at the house after Mrs. Wallace reported having fainting spells, police reports indicated.

Hares and rabbits often "freeze" in a moment of danger, probably to hide a visual target a predator may have been following — for example, the cottontail's white tail or the jackrabbit's white sides. The predator may become disoriented when suddenly deprived of the target.

Fake Classmate Defrauds Group

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — When a man claiming to be a high school chum called, and said he desperately needed $25 for rent, a few members of the class of '55 rushed right downtown with the money.

It was only after they returned home and tried to look up the old buddy in El Paso High School annuals that they realized they had been skunked by a clever con man.

"He collected at least $1,000 before we caught him," said Police Detective Henry Castillo. "Some of his victims would go downtown and bring the money to him. He would say he lived in Juarez (Mexico) and if he didn't get the money today, he and his family would be evicted."

"He was good. He was real good."

"We caught him in the library, using their old yearbooks and the city directory and working on a list of 19 new 'victims,'" Castillo said Thursday.

The defendant, Hector Nunez, was given a magistrate's warning before Justice of the Peace Robert Kessel, who ordered him held in lieu of $800 bond pending formal arraignment on a charge of theft by deception.

Castillo said police staked out the El Paso Public Library and arrested Nunez without incident Wednesday morning.

"He used the public library as his personal office — he had a nice big table... help from the librarian — and he didn't even have to pay secretarial fees," Castillo said.

He said Nunez, an El Paso native and a high school dropout, took up to $25 from each "old classmate" over a period of three months.

"He would call them and say, 'Do you remember me? I am Hector Nunez' — he actually used his real name. He'd say, 'I went to school with you at El Paso High. You were real good at football. I never made the team because I was too small. Right now you wouldn't recognize me because I've put on a lot of weight."

"He would remind them of the good old days to gain their confidence."

Castillo said Nunez would then claim to be destitute and on the brink of eviction. "Naturally, they felt sorry for him."

The officer said after the payments, many victims went back home and looked in their old yearbooks for "poor old Hector Nunez. When they couldn't find him, a lot of them called us."

In State Volleyball Meet...

SHS, Corsicana Favorites

AUSTIN—If all goes as expected here today, Saturday's Class AAAA State Volleyball Tournament championship game will feature two teams with outstanding season records.

No. 1 ranked Snyder, favored over semi-final opponent Laredo United at 4:20, is 31-1 on the season, while Corsicana, which figures to knock off Del Valle at 3:10, is currently 32-1. Add those probable wins in, and the teams boast a composite record of 65-2.

Tickets for the two-day, all-classes tournament are $3 for adults and $2 for students.

Snyder's bout with Laredo was by no means considered a pushover for the Tigers. United struggled through the early season, but caught fire just in time to win a district tournament and blaze into state play this weekend. The Longhorns actually finished second in West zone District 16-AAAA play. However, the top two teams in each zone qualified for the conference tournament, and Laredo took off from there, rallying to beat first-place finisher Roma and previously undefeated Brownsville Pace.

Laredo is 27-5 on the season. Ironically, both Snyder and Laredo United advanced to the state AAA tournament in 1978. United was defeated in the first round by Waxahachie. Snyder won the tournament.

Twin sisters Estella and Teresa Arguindegui and teammate Miriam Castro, all seniors, were on the state-qualifying team of two years ago. Another Longhorn player, Gavin Billings, was a manager for the team at the time.

The Arguindegui sisters key the 'Horn hitting game. Both 5-6, they are the team's tallest players.

Snyder is paced by the spirited spiking of all-stater Lisa Cobb, a 5-5 junior, Sherry Mayes, a 5-7 senior, and Kathy Northcott, a 5-6 junior. Complimenting the offensive show are the other three Tiger players, who combine to give Snyder a tough defense also. They are juniors Toni Elrod, the setter, Shana Koonsman, spiker, and Sherri Rich, setter-spiker.

Corsicana would apparently have the best chance of unseating the Tigers here, should the two meet in Friday's 3:15 p.m. finals. Corsicana, which boasts a two-year record of 52-4 and is ranked No. 16 in the state, has had 31 two-game match wins in 33 contests this year. Their only loss was to Abbott in the first match of the season.

Corsicana boasts height in a pair of two-year all-district spikers - Lloyd Sims, a 5-9 senior, and Joy Thomas, a 5-8 senior.

Two Major Grid Titles Go On Line Saturday

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

The Oklahoma-Nebraska game and the winner of the Big Eight go together like coffee and doughnuts, peaches and cream and...the Ohio State-Michigan game and the winner of the Big Ten.

The two games once again decide the champions of their respective conferences Saturday, but for the first time in years, they won't be nationally televised. ABC will telecast both games regionally, so TV audiences will have to settle for watching one game or the other, followed by the traditional game between Southern California, ranked 12th, and UCLA, rated No. 18.

It will be the 34th time in 36 games since World War II that the winner of the Oklahoma-Nebraska game has won or shared the Big Eight championship. Both teams are undefeated in conference play in 1980.

The fourth-ranked Cornhuskers, 9-1 overall, will get an Orange Bowl berth with a victory, with Oklahoma, 8-2, going to the Sun Bowl to play Mississippi State. If the ninth-ranked Sooners win, they still will have to beat Oklahoma State next week to clinch the New Year's Day trip to Miami.

Nebraska and Oklahoma are ranked 1-2 in the nation in rushing, and most of the 112th straight sellout crowd at Lincoln, Neb., will be hoping the Cornhuskers can break a streak that has seen them lose eight of the past nine meetings.

A 77th straight sellout is expected at Ohio Stadium for the Ohio State-Michigan clash, the winner of which will be the Big Ten champion for the 12th time in the past 13 years, 12 of them with Coach Bo Schembechler on the sidelines for Michigan.

Ohio State is 9-1 and ranked fifth in the nation, with Michigan 8-2 and No. 10. The winner again will go to the Rose Bowl.

In other games involving ranked teams, Air Force is at No. 2 Notre Dame, No. 20 Texas is at No. 11 Baylor, No. 13 Brigham Young travels to Utah to determine the Western Athletic Conference champion and Holiday Bowl host, No. 14 South Carolina is at Clemson, No. 15 North Carolina plays host to Duke, No. 16 Washington meets cross-state rival Washington State and Mississippi takes on No. 17 Mississippi State.

"Oklahoma has a lot to stop with our offense and they know it," said Nebraska quarterback Jeff Quinn, who teams with tailback Jarvis Redwine and Andra Franklin in the Cornhuskers backfield. "We can stop ourselves or beat ourselves, but if we play our kind of game, things are in our favor."

"We have our confidence up," said linebacker Mike Coast of Oklahoma, which hasn't lost since the Texas game six weeks ago. "The coaches won't need to try to get us up for this game."

Michigan has posted three straight shutouts, including last week over Purdue, but Schembechler said "this is a different game against a different team. There are explosive players on both sides."

The horsepower, a non-metric unit used in mechanics, is equal to 746 watts.

2 Judoists From WTC Earn Honors

Two Western Texas College judo team members placed in the Judo-for-America-national open tournament at Bossier City, La., Dr. Shel Hillis, coach, said.

Eric Johnson of Rogers, Ark., was third in the 172-pound men's division, while Alessandra Quiroz of Menard was second in the women's 134-pound division.

Eight WTC students participated in the tournament, and competition was extremely difficult, Hillis said. The next tournament for WTC judoists will be at Texas Christian University on Dec. 13, with both juniors and seniors entering competition there.

Dusters Edged

BIG SPRING—The Western Texas College Dusters dropped a hard-fought struggle to the powerful Tyler Junior College team here last night, 72-67, in the Hawk Queen Classic Tournament.

It was the first loss of the season for the Dusters, and the issue was in doubt until the final two minutes of play as the two teams fought on equal terms most of the way.

The Dusters were to face Cisco in a consolation bracket game at 2 p.m. today, while Tyler faces Odessa, first round winner over Cisco, in second round play at 6 p.m.

"They are the biggest team we have played," said WTC coach Joe Cushing. "They had one 6-3 girl and two 6-1 girls and they are a very strong basketball team." Cushing had praise for the Dusters, declaring that it was one of their better efforts.

Standouts for the Dusters were Valerie Wells, who had 19 points, got 15 rebounds, had two assists, three blocked shots and three steals; Shari Teal, with 19 points, one assist, four blocked shots and one steal; and Linda Holubec, who had 10 points, three assists and two steals.

The Dusters were 8-1 on the season after the Tyler game.

The Tyler team was led by Barbara Archie with 15 points and Kara Audrey with 12. Tyler led by 33-32 at half-time, and it was just about that close most of the game, with neither team able to take command until the final two minutes.

Tyler had 46 rebounds and the Dusters had 45.

Westerners Rip El Reno, 84-56

OKLAHOMA CITY—The Western Texas College Westerners had to break open an early-game stall before they could begin to roll, but they exploded in the second half to wallop El Reno Junior College, 84-56, in the first round of the Crippled Children's Basketball Tournament here last night.

The victory was the sixth in a row this season for Coach Larry Dunaway's Westerners, and the 43rd in a row for Westerner basketball including last season's 37-0 national champions' mark.

The Westerners will face Carl Albert Junior College of Oklahoma at 7 p. m. tonight in the second round of the championship bracket. Carl Albert advanced last night by winning over Oscar Rose Junior College of Oklahoma City.

Carl Albert and Ranger Junior College were co-favorites to win the title.

Ranger won over St. Gregory College, 77-70, in its opening round game Thursday.

In Thursday night's encounter, El Reno got possession of the ball on the opening tip and immediately went into a stall. The Westerners found themselves behind by eight points after 10 minutes of play, having scored only four points up to that point.

However, they finally caught El Reno on the scoreboard with eight minutes remaining in the first half and went to the dressing room with a 30-24 advantage at intermission.

The Westerners came back and took full command in the second half and won it going away.

They shot 54 percent from the field and a torrid 92 percent from the free throw line.

Donald Warren paced the Westerners in scoring with 14 points. Others in double figures were Chuck North and Troy Stevenson with 12 apiece and Dwayne Dickey, who accounted for 10.

Theron Lee led the Westerners in rebounding with five.

BOWLS A 278—Sandra Sipes rolled a 278 in league bowling competition at Snyder Lanes Wednesday night, 234 pins over here 144 average. Bowling with the Guys and Dolls League, she threw nine straight strikes, followed by a nine-spare and another strike. She will receive special recognition from the national bowling association for breaking the 275 mark. (SDN Staff Photo).

Austin Team Decisions Snyder Girls

KILLEEN—The Snyder High School girl basketballers fell to Austin Lanier, 84-56, in the first round of the Killeen Tournament yesterday afternoon.

This put the Snyder team into a consolation bracket game with Killeen Ellison this morning.

Ellison lost its opening-round game to Copperas Cove.

The winner of the Snyder-Ellison game this morning goes into action again at 11:30 a. m. Saturday, while the loser will play again at 9 a. m. Saturday.

Lutz Defeats Roscoe Tanner

DUBAI, United Arab Emirates (AP) — Bob Lutz defeated Roscoe Tanner 6-3, 7-6 to keep his hopes alive for the quarterfinals of the Dubai Golden Tournament, a robin-robin event worth $680,000.

Cowboys Easy Selection Over Faltering Redskins This Time

By The Associated Press

Ah, remember the good old days — a year or so ago — when Dallas and Washington would scrap it out for the National Conference East crown.

Usually, it came down to their head-to-head clashes with Roger Staubach pitching passes for the Cowboys and John Riggins grinding out the yards for the Redskins.

Well, Staubach is in a television booth now, making little jokes, and Riggins is farming somewhere in Kansas. The Cowboys are two games behind Philadelphia with five to play and the Redskins are farther away than that.

Times do change, you know.

Anyhow, the Pro Picker likes the Cowboys in Sunday's game against Washington. That's a chalk pick. For up-sets, look to Detroit, Kansas City and the New York Giants.

Last week's 11-3 (6-8 against the 'points) left the season's

Steelers 21, Bills 17

There won't be 11 seconds left when Pittsburgh nails this one down. Pittsburgh favored by 2½ points.

Eagles 24, Raiders 12

Look for some leftover Monday-night doldrums from Oakland. Philadelphia favored by 6.

Rams 31, Saints 14

Speaking of Monday night doldrums, New Orleans has a chance if Roberto Duran plays. Los Angeles favored by 12.

Patriots 27, Colts 24

A must win game for New England. The Pats know it, too. New England favored by 6½.

Lions 30, Bucs 17

If Doug Williams dive bombs Detroit's secondary, Tampa Bay could win. Tampa Bay favored by 3.

Cards 20, Chiefs 19

Nothing at stake but pride. St. Louis favored by 1.

Oilers 34, Jets 31

Even hurt Earl Campbell should roll. Houston favored by 6.

Giants 24, 49ers 20

When you're hot, you're the Giants. When you're not, you're the 49ers. San Francisco favored by 3½.

Cowboys 24, Redskins 10

The intensity will be high on both sides. Dallas favored by 12½.

Browns 30, Bengals 10

Cleveland gets even for last week's disappointment in Pittsburgh. Cleveland favored by 7½.

Falcons 21, Bears 13

OK, OK, the Pro Picker believes Atlanta. Atlanta favored by 6½.

Vikings 17, Packers 10

The Tundra Bowl. Minnesota favored by 5½.

Broncos 20, Seahawks 14

Could go the other way. After all, Seattle is on the road. Denver favored by 4½.

Bi-District Play Beginning Tonight

Bi-district schoolboy football matchups this weekend include one team that saw its right to play challenged in federal court and another that thought the season ended last week.

Powerhouse Plano was assured of the 13-5A crown this week only after U.S. District Judge Barefoot Sanders refused to overturn a University Interscholastic League district ruling that cost Greenville two district wins.

But South San Antonio, making plans to represent District 29-5A, was stripped of its games because the coach's son lived outside the school district.

South San Antonio's record went from 8-2 to 0-10 after the UIL state executive committee ruled that Russell Hays, a wide receiver and safety, did not live in the school's district.

Coach Dennis Hays said he got a job at South San on Feb. 1, after Midland High School fired him. He said he moved his "TV and everything" into the South San field house, and his son joined him in March and enrolled at the school.

But the family later bought a house in the San Antonio East Central High school district and that led to the UIL's action.

Ironically, East Central will represent 29-5A in tonight's playoff contest against San Antonio Holmes.

Greenville, which did not lose a game this season, was ordered to forfeit five games because lineman John Byrd turned 19 before Sept. 1. Under UIL rules, he was ineligible to play.

Sanders turned down a suit filed by Byrd and Lion quarterback Phil Blue, who contended the Greenville players had been denied due process of law.

Plano, which would have been on the sidelines this weekend watching Greenville under normal circumstances, takes on Longview tonight at Texas Stadium in Irving.

Tigers Face Abilene High

The Snyder Tigers face their third Class 5A basketball team in a row tonight in Abilene when they tangle with the Abilene High Eagles, and they will be looking for their first victory.

The Tigers dropped a close one to Abilene Cooper, 44-33, in their season opener, and then lost to San Angelo Central Tuesday night by 61-36.

Tonight's game is set for 8 p. m. in the Abilene Eagle Gym.

The Eagles will be seeking their third win of the season, having downed Lubbock Coronado in their last outing.

Borden, New Home Cagers Split Pair

The Borden County boys and girls basketball teams split the wins last night against New Home in Class A action at New Home.

The varsity Borden County girls downed New Home 48-36 with Janna Edwards pacing the Coyotes with 11 points. Gena Faught and Joie Brummett were not far behind with 10 points each. For New Home, Jina Johnston was high point scorer with 8.

The Borden County Boys fell to the New Home squad 60-72. Bart McMeans contributed 20 points to the losing effort and Junior Benavidez had 13 and Jym Rinehart tossed in 11 points. For the victors, Randy Bell put the ball through the hoop enough times for 18 points.

The Borden County girls now stand at 2-0 for the season and New Home is 1-1. The Borden boys are 0-1 and New Home boys are 2-0 for the season.

In Junior Varsity action, the Borden County girls beat New Home, 40-18. Simona Benavidez had 12 for the Coyotes and Roxie Wolf made 10 points. S. Nieman was high point girl for New Home with 6 points.

The JV Borden County boys fell to the hosts 24-51. Sam Williams was high point man for Borden with 9 points. New Home was led by Deleon and Keith with 10 points each.

'Smusic Stage, an opera theatre company from Southern Methodist University, will be presented by the Fine Arts association at 8 p. m. tonight in the Fine Arts Theatre at Western Texas College.

Vena Beth Genuchi, a 1972 graduate of Snyder High School, is a member of the company and will be appearing in three roles during the evening. She is presently studying voice with Thomas Hayward at SMU and is planning to continue her studies in Vienna, Austria, starting in January.

Following her high school graduation, Miss Genuchi attended Texas Tech University and studied piano with Thomas Redcay there. She received her bachelors degree in music in 1976 at Texas Tech and her masters degree from the University of Nebraska in 1978. She returned to Lubbock to work toward her doctorate at Texas Tech before moving to Dallas.

Miss Genuchi is the daughter of Mrs. Sam Stephens and the late Dr. Marvin Genuchi and the sister of Larry Genuchi of Snyder. 'Smusic Stage is a new venture for SMU, and its productions are contemporary in style, usually English. Its repertoire embraces all music dramas from early opera to musical comedy.

John Burrows is director of 'Smusic Stage, and working with him has been a real privilege, said Miss Genuchi. He was formerly with the City Opera Company in London and brings the SMU group a wealth of experience and skill. He will be pianist for the company in its performance

Cancer Cases In Texas Reported On The Rise

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Cancer cases are increasing nearly twice as fast as the population in Texas and state health department officials say children possibly face the same dangers at school as refinery workers on the job.

David Cochran, chief of environmental health, disclosed Thursday that nearly half of the construction samples taken recently from 184 Texas schools showed the presence of cancer-causing asbestos.

Cochran said health officials have tried for years to control asbestos in the work place, and he added, "Recently the focus on asbestos exposure has moved to the

Exposure Case Reported Here

Police are investigating an indecent exposure and a break-in at a school.

Reporting the exposure case was a woman at the Dairy Queen on the East Highway. She said a man drove to the drive-up window and exposed himself to her. The incident was reported at 8:45 p.m. Working the case is Keith Ward.

The break-in occurred at Stanfield Elementary and was discovered this morning at 5. Reports show entry was gained through a window. Police did not immediately know what had been taken. Working that case is Bill Armstrong.

released into the atmosphere, something should be done very quickly. If it is in board, however, perhaps the anxiety is not as high," Cochran said.

In some schools, he said, a fresh coat of paint might provide proper safeguards. Cochran said the TEA would start a "more vigorous program" after regulations of the federal Environmental Protection Agency become effective Feb. 1.

T.R. Jones, director of school plant services for the TEA, said federal law requires schools to examine their facilities for "friable" material, or material that can be crushed by hand. If they locate such material, three samples must be submitted for laboratory analysis.

ELECTION

Democratic primary last May, was elected in the general election to serve the next legislative term, but that term does not begin until January.

The legislature is not in session at this time, and is not expected to meet until its regular term begins in January. Counties in the 63rd District are Scurry, Borden, Dawson, Howard, Sterling and Coke.

Dear Abby

Slimmer Husband Would Relieve Wife's Heavy Load

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1980 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I really love my husband, but he has put on so much weight since our marriage nine years ago he isn't the same man.

Abby, he's 5-9 and weighs at least 250 pounds. He has a history of heart disease and knows he shouldn't weigh this much, but he refuses to do anything about it. He won't go on a diet and he eats constantly.

We have three young children, and I don't want to be left a widow to raise them alone.

I love this man, but I can't tell him what I am going to tell you. He has become physically repulsive to me. I just hate the thought of going to bed with him. Believe me, Abby, it's the hardest work I have to do.

Please print this letter for me and my children.
TURNED OFF

DEAR TURNED OFF: Here's your letter, but it's not only for you and your children. It's for anyone who knows he (or she) should lose weight but keeps putting it off "until Monday" or "after the holidays" or whenever. I'm not addressing this to people who are 10 or 15 pounds overweight, but to those whose excess pounds are sufficiently excessive as to be a problem to them or to those who love them.

DEAR ABBY: We recently married off our youngest daughter at a lovely church wedding. We had a reception and sit-down dinner for 220 guests. Since this was our third wedding, we were more experienced and would like to tell you how we handled 16 guests who failed to acknowledge our R.S.V.P. invitations but showed up anyway:

First, those who failed to acknowledge our invitations were not called and asked, "Are you coming?"

We simply prepared to serve those who responded, and we assumed that those who did not were not coming.

Those who didn't respond but showed up anyway were not given the same cordial welcome as those who responded in the affirmative.

No last-minute rushing around to set more places at the table, and no hastily scribbled place cards for them. They were treated like "drop in" guests, and had to wait until they could conveniently be served.

Care to comment?

MOTHER OF THE BRIDE

DEAR MOTHER: If anything could cure one who ignored an R.S.V.P. but showed up anyway, this would. But too few hostesses have the courage to follow your example.

DEAR ABBY: I live in a small town. There is this young girl who works in a doctor's office as an appointment girl, and whenever someone comes in to see the doctor, 30 minutes don't go by before everyone in town knows who came in and what the trouble was. I know for a fact that as soon as the patient leaves, the appointment girl calls her mother and tells her that Mrs. So-and-So came in and what was wrong with her. Then the mother spreads it all over town.

It happened to me. What should be done about it?
NEW MEXICO

DEAR NEW MEXICO: Tell the doctor that he has a leak in his office that can't be fixed by a new washer; he needs a new appointment secretary.

DEAR ABBY: I'm not surprised at the ignorance of those who still think of Hawaii as a foreign country. Obviously they aren't aware that in 1959 Hawaii became the 50th state of the union.

I'll bet there are even more people who don't know that Puerto Ricans are American citizens, and have been since 1917!

ME IN AUBURN, ALA.

Do you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank-you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Letter Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

TCU Fraternity Gets Suspended For Hazing

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — SAE's director of chapter development. "Conduct unbecoming a gentleman" and hazing at a country beer bust have led to the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity to impose sanctions on its Texas Christian University chapter.

The national office in Evanston, Ill., suspended the chapter's charter and appointed a seven-man alumni commission to supervise the TCU local, said David Arendt.

The TCU chapter admitted the incident to the university's Interfraternity Council, which was waiting for the fraternity to finish its investigation before taking any action.

Freeze Ends Monday On Alien Enrollment

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Local public schools must reopen doors to illegal aliens Monday after a 30-day enrollment freeze ordered by a federal judge.

U.S. District Judge Filemon Vela told Superintendent Raul Besteiro on Oct. 22 to do what he could in the limited time to prepare for more students in the already crowded classrooms of this financially strapped border district.

"Half-day sessions remain a possibility but we're trying to stay away from it," said A.X. Benavides, district director of federal programs.

Besteiro, who was out of town Thursday and unavailable for comment, has ordered two temporary classrooms built in anticipation of overcrowding.

No one has estimated how many children are expected to enroll on Monday, but school attendance officials said "eight to 10" students a day have inquired about school enrollment since the freeze was ordered.

Vela turned down the school system's request for a permanent exemption from a Houston federal judge's ruling that ordered Texas schools to provide illegal aliens with a free education.

U.S. District Judge Woodrow Seals struck down a Texas law — unique in the nation — that prohibited use of state funds to educate illegal aliens.

Vela halted local illegal alien enrollment Oct. 11 after school officials pleaded they could not handle an expected flood of undocumented children.

However, on Oct. 22, he ruled that the district's financial and space problems could not all be linked to illegal aliens and he ordered enrollment resumed after 30 days.

The per capita income in Brownsville is one of the lowest in the nation and although the city of 80,000 has a low tax base, the population is growing. Besteiro said more than 27,000 students have enrolled in Brownsville schools this fall.

The judge said he would issue a written opinion in the case, expected either today or Monday.

Several other school districts which contested the original lawsuit settled by Seals' decision, have kept an eye on the Brownsville case, theorizing it had the best legal foundation for a permanent exemption from the order.

At the Oct. 22 hearing, attorney Linda Yanez said the district had projected unrealistic numbers of illegal alien children would enroll in the Brownsville district. Ms. Yanez, who represents the class of illegal aliens, presented figures that showed only 170 undocumented children had enrolled as a result of Seals' order, instead of the 557 reported by the district.

Vela, who was named to the federal bench this year, said he was disturbed by the misleading figures.

When enrollment of undocumented children was stopped, it did not affect pupils already in school.

Alonso Perez, district attendance officer, said he has not kept track of the numbers of illegal aliens who have called or come by his office during Vela's freeze on enrollment. He has told them to come back Monday.

"We're getting a steady flow of them, at least eight or 10 children a day," he said.

Principal Carlos Alvarado said recently he has watched the progress of 53 illegal aliens enrolled in his school this year and has found "little encouragement."

"Some of them have had no schooling whatsoever. Socializing is even a problem. When they first come here, they don't understand the rules and regulations," said Alvarado, whose Garza Elementary School in the Southmost area has the highest illegal alien enrollment in the district.

It has been frustrating for teachers who must give individual attention to the new pupils and hard on the illegal aliens who often find themselves for the first time in a structured environment.

Alvarado expects many more in class Monday, although no one has estimated how many illegal aliens will enroll when school doors reopen Monday.

Mild Temperatures Free Student From Box

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Cooler weather has temporarily freed Raul Espino Jr. from his plexiglass box in his classroom at Egly Elementary School.

The 7-year-old first grader has been confined to a wheelchair since a car accident six years ago left him paralyzed and unable to control his body temperature. His brain was not damaged and he is considered a bright student.

When school began with temperatures in the 90s this fall, Raul had to stay in an air-conditioned box built by school officials to accommodate his special needs.

But afternoon highs have only reached the 50s recently, so Raul has a temporary respite from the box, which he says sometimes makes it difficult to hear his teacher.

His parents, Ana and Raul Espino Sr., complained the enclosure isolated him from the class and asked the school district to air-condition his entire room. They have now taken the fight to the Texas Education Agency.

High temperatures have been in the 50s lately so Raul no longer needs to stay in the box.

When the Brownsville Independent School District decided last year to transfer him from a special education campus to Egly Elementary School, officials told his parents they would take care of Raul's special requirements.

But Mrs. Espino said administrators never told her about the glass box until Raul showed up for class. School officials have refused to air-condition the entire room. They say none of Brownsville's elementary classrooms are air-conditioned and parents of other children might object to the special treatment.

She met with school district officials and her son's prinicipal in October.

"They said they had made their decision and couldn't do anything else for him," she said.

"That's when I thought to myself I'd better get myself some legal help," the apartment manager said.

She went to Jerry Garcia of Texas Rural Legal Aid Inc. in Harlingen. He will represent the family before a hearing of the state education agency. No date has been set for the case.

Garcia says a federal law requires the district to educate Raul in the "least restrictive" environment.

"The cost factor is not considered under the law. They didn't go far enough to do what's appropriate under the law," the lawyer said. "Raul should not be required to live in a glass box while in school."

Mrs. Espino says she is determined to win her fight. "I hope we can settle this by the time it gets warm again, like in April," she said.

TV Critic Pens Dallas Poem

By PETER J. BOYER AP Television Writer

"To 'Dallas' (With Malice)"

"To 'Dallas' (with malice) I offer these thoughts,
No longer concerned with who fired the shots,
I'm worried instead that this excess of hype
Will render sweet 'Dallas' a bundle of tripe.

"O, how I once watched these doings so vile
And marveled that trash could be done in such style.
Clan Ewing, that lusty and various crew
Kept me in Friday nights, and away from the brew.
With pizza before me and wife at my side,
I missed not one 'Dallas,' indeed, never tried.

"Miss Ellie, so sweet, loyes Jock, a bit rude,
Whose hate of D. Barnes he passed on to his brood.
The youngest of these, a plump dumpling niece
Named Lucy could tensions most nimbly release.
In fact she first did so with Southfork hand Ray,
Who himself had once rolled with Miss Pam in the hay.
Miss Pam, by her blood, was a staunch Ewing foe
The daughter of old Digger Barnes — but wait, no;
It turned out that Bobby's sweet wife little Pammy
Was daddy'd by some man who'd got to her mammy.
And Bobby, her husband, a wimpering geek
Brought morals and ethics to 'Dallas' each week.
Wonderful blind to all this was Sue Ellen
Whose booze habit led to much screamin' and yellin'.
Hers was the misfortune of being the spouse
Of Texas' most loathsome, despicable louse.
She was well-oiled but her marriage was rusty
Thus did she meet with a cowboy named Dusty.

"But mostly I watched for the commonest reason
To witness the depths reached by J.R. each season.
Last year was his best one in guile and deceit,
I watched and I watched, first-run and repeat.
I saw his raw deals, his affairs and his schemes
'Till 'Dallas' did wantonly enter my dreams.
I twice saw his shooting and wondered along
With all of the others, who done our boy wrong?
And now after months of enduring this stress
So shamelessly dealt to us by CBS,
Perhaps we from 'Dallas' should unglue our stares,
After six months of wond'ring whodunnit, who cares?

Nah. Let's watch.

Alcoa Closing Texas Facility

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Aluminum Company of America will close its two primary aluminum potlines at its Point Comfort smelter, putting about 300 people out of work, an Alcoa spokesman said. Production of raw materials at an adjacent refining plant will not be affected, the spokesman said. The closing at Point Comfort, located on Texas' mid-coast and Alcoa's highest cost smelter, "will help balance metal inventories," said W.H. Krome, board chairman and chief executive officer.
