

A look back at 1994...

Scurry County pulls together: in laughter, grief

Editor's Note: The following is the first in a four-part series recalling events which impacted Scurry County in 1994.

1994 will be remembered as one in which the people of Scurry County came together — sometimes in gaiety, sometimes in grief. It was a year which saw old friends retire and new ones come of age — and that included buffaloes as well as people.

It seemed there was an endless stream of elections. Scurry County kept some incumbents, rejected others and said yes to bingo and no to an underground water district.

Unfortunately, the most impactful memory of 1994 was a tragic one. Eleven people — including eight children — were killed in a traffic accident near Hermleigh on July 3, the day before Independence Day.

Scurry County shared the tragedy, not only with neighboring counties, who citizens made up the majority of those who died, but with all of Texas. On that weekend, a record 65 people were killed on the state's highways. Forty-four died on July 3. It is a record Scurry County was not proud to be a part of.

There was big news again in 1994 from the Texas Department of Criminal Justice. The Price Daniel Unit grew by more than 300 prisoners and 30 employees; and Western Texas College's relationship with TDCJ expanded through the offering of more courses to inmates as well as more classes for prospective employees.

Snyder witnessed the unveiling of a new white buffalo at the courthouse square with a day-long celebration. The event included speeches, a parade, food and music, and drew thousands of spectators. Plans are in the works for an annual celebration.

As the year began, members of the VFW began circulating petitions in an effort to get bingo on the ballot in May.

Volunteers had little trouble coming up with enough valid signatures, and on Feb. 28, county commissioners accepted certified petitions to pave the way to put bingo on the ballot. By a margin of 947 to 714, bingo was approved by voters on May 7.

Bingo would be held for the first time in 12 years in Snyder on Oct. 1 as VFW officials resumed sponsoring the game. The American Legion was to follow suit later in the month.

Kmart Corporation announced on Jan. 5 that it would be relocating some 650 stores and closing others. Although no list was released targeting specific stores, local Kmart officials were optimistic the College Avenue store was not among those to be closed.

Area enjoys 1/2-inch rain Tuesday, today

Most of Scurry County enjoyed a half-inch or more rainfall Tuesday night and early this morning.

A reading taken at 7 a.m. today from Snyder water treatment plant indicated the city had received six-tenths of an inch.

The chance of showers is expected to decrease this evening, according to the National Weather Service. The forecast calls for a 20 percent chance of rain this evening.

Much of Texas received rainfall, with the southern portions hit hardest. Corpus Christi received more than an inch of rain early today. Del Rio received 1.7 inches of rain Tuesday night, breaking the record for the date of .41 inches set in 1957.

Scattered storms and showers were forecast across southwest Texas through parts of Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana. Rainfall up to 3 inches was possible in some areas.

Reports from Lake J.B. Thomas this morning indicated the lake had received seven-tenths of an inch on the west end but just two-tenths near the dam.

Dunn reported eight-tenths. Ira recorded seven-tenths, as did Hermleigh.

Fluvanna received just two-tenths for a two-day total, residents there reported.

Other reports were a half-inch at Loyd Mountain, four-tenths north of Snyder and .85 east of Snyder.

The rains brought Snyder's total to 12.15 inches for 1994.

In addition to a 20 percent chance of rain, forecasters are calling for lows tonight in the mid-30s and highs Thursday's in the 50s.

Demands his release...

Clinton denies pilot was spying for U.S.

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — A U.S. diplomat failed today to win the release of an American pilot held in North Korea. An angry President Clinton denied the pilot was on a spy mission and said the North had no reason to hold him.

Army pilot Bobby Hall was captured after his U.S. Army OH-58C helicopter went down Dec. 17 in North Korean territory. Fellow Chief Warrant Officer David Hilemon died. His body was returned Thursday.

Today, Clinton denied the North's charges that Hall was a spy and insisted that the helicopter wandered into communist territory by accident. "There is no reason for his detention," he said.

But the president stopped short of threatening to undo the recent U.S.-North Korea nuclear accord. Thomas Hubbard, a deputy as-istant secretary of state who has negotiated with North Korea before, traveled there today to try to defuse an already difficult international incident that has taken a sudden turn for the worse.

Rep. Lee Hamilton, the outgoing chairman of the House Foreign Relations Committee, said he was told the talks between Hubbard and the North Koreans "were not very satisfactory."

"The latest information I have simply was that his initial meetings did not meet with success, and that the next step was military talks with regard to the incident itself," Hamilton, D-Ind., told Fox TV.

The United States, he said, is having a hard time convincing the North Koreans that the helicopter was not on a spy mission.

Bus crash ruptures pipeline; blast kills several passengers

MATURIN, Venezuela (AP) — A passenger bus rammed another from behind today, shoving it into an oil pipeline that ruptured and exploded. At least 30 people were killed, officials said.

The Transportation Ministry said at least another 15 were injured.

Violeida Guerrero, a spokeswoman for the state oil and gas pipeline company Corpoven, said up to 40 people could be dead. A Civil Defense official, Ruben Padrino, said the number might reach 50.

The fire was extinguished about five hours after the pre-dawn crash, Padrino said in a telephone interview.

Most victims, badly burned, were brought to Manuel Nunez de Tovar Hospital in Maturin. Rosa Gonzalez, an emergency room doctor, said few could be saved.

Officials from the government and the bus company said three buses — all traveling from Caracas to Maturin — were involved.

A bus from the Sol de Margarita line apparently broke down and stopped along the national highway at El Furrial, about 19 miles west of this state capital, which is 260 miles southeast of Caracas.

A second Sol de Margarita bus came along and stopped, offering assistance. That bus was hit from behind by a bus from the Responsable de Venezuela line.

Jesus Loran, office manager of Responsable de Venezuela in Caracas, said none of the 53 passengers on his company's bus was seriously injured.

The accident was similar to one that killed 45 people and injured several dozen more along a highway west of Caracas in September 1993.

Glickman selected as new ag secretary

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Clinton today named lame-duck lawmaker Dan Glickman to replace Agriculture Secretary Mike Espy, who resigned under an ethical cloud.

"His knowledge, experience and understanding of the needs of the American farmer make him exactly the right person to become secretary of Agriculture when we write the farm bill in 1995," Clinton said of Glickman.

Glickman referred today to the challenge of the five-year farm bill that he must help craft. "Agriculture is not and should not be immune to change," Glickman said at a Rose Garden ceremony.

Glickman was turned out of Congress by a Republican who capitalized on Clinton's unpopularity. Glickman had sought the job two years ago when Espy was chosen.

Espy, who joined his successor at the announcement, resigned in October, effective Dec. 31, after an independent prosecutor began examining gifts the Cabinet member received from individuals and firms doing business with the Agriculture Department.

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "A bad heart is one without charity."

In the rush right before Christmas, two things happened. One was bad, but it exhibited a lot that is good about local folks.

The bad news: one group of hard-working Santa helpers got an undeserved black eye.

Working day and night to fulfill their commitments, the Toys for Tots organization was target of criticism for turning down a small child.

The letter, published right before Christmas, caused an earthquake of sorts in Snyder. Telephones began to ring, asking what could be done to right such a wrong.

To date, we've been unable to contact the letter writer. Perhaps she was honestly misinformed, but there are a few things that we do know.

1. Nobody has ever been turned down in the local Toys for Tots program.

2. The request in question was approved weeks in advance.

3. The order was filled and was picked up by a handicapped man who identified himself as the child's father.

The really good news: Scurry County is filled with people willing to make a difference. There were literally hundreds of people who called and wanted to make sure this child and all children had a merry Christmas.

While the evidence is more abundant during the month of December, there's much good will and acts that continue throughout the year.

High school and junior high students have traditionally been an important source for canned goods items for Goodfellows. This year was no exception.

Elementary students made donations to the Noah Project, and inmates at the Price Daniel Unit made gift items for children at Snyder Day Care Center.

And last week a $150 check was received from the Snyder High School student body, their generous contribution to the community-wide fundraiser to build a Learning Resource Center at the prison.

Local citizens can take a well-deserved bow.

Judge blocks new law

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — Doctors and relatives will continue to help terminally ill people commit suicide despite a court order blocking Oregon's assisted suicide law, a leading backer says.

"It's a very common thing. Only two rules apply right now — keep it a secret and die alone so that your family members aren't implicated," said Barbara Coombs Lee, a chief sponsor of Oregon's law, the first of its kind in the nation.

On Tuesday, U.S. District Judge Michael Hogan issued a preliminary injunction preventing the law from taking effect until a court can decide if it is constitutional.

Measure 16, approved by voters 51 percent to 49 percent in November, allows a person to request a lethal dose of drugs if at least two doctors determine the patient has less than six months to live.

Hogan did not set a trial date, but said he hoped to resolve the matter as quickly as possible. The Oregon attorney general's office, which supports the law, said it could be a year before the issue is resolved.

James Bopp, the National Right to Life attorney who sued to block the law, said there are serious concerns about people committing suicide because of depression or undue influence.

The lawsuit also claims the law will encourage physicians to recommend suicides for patients who can't pay, and will force nursing-home owners to allow assisted suicides even if they object on religious grounds.

Is illness linked to depression?

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Please explain myasthenia gravis. I never had a health problem until I suffered from depression after my wife died a year ago.

DEAR READER: This auto-immune disease, caused by the body's inappropriate attack on the locations where nerves meet muscles, leads to periodic weakness, fatigue and double vision. Some cases of myasthenia gravis are inherited, others occur for no known reason.

If not corrected by drugs (such as neostigmine), myasthenia weakness can progress to a crisis (life-threatening involvement of the respiratory muscles).

The diagnosis is established by the Tensilon test, during which the administration of the drug Tensilon reverses the weakness.

With long-term treatment using anti-myasthenia drugs, patients can live ordinary, healthful lives. In many instances, removal of the thymus gland in the neck will, for unknown reasons, result in permanent improvement.

Most cases of myasthenia gravis are not associated with life stresses or depression. Therefore, I cannot comment on the effect your wife's death had on your disease. Obviously, if you are depressed, you should seek help from an appropriate health professional, such as a psychiatrist, who might choose to prescribe anti-depressant medication.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Is it possible that dreams can bring on vascular headaches? I find that upon awakening, my heart is pounding faster, sometimes associated with a dream that is not always pleasant. I do take medication for my vascular headaches that gives good control when taken in the early stages, but the dreams and headaches have me wondering.

DEAR READER: Dreams do not ordinarily affect vascular headaches, the cause of which is unknown. These pounding headaches come and go, but are generally not as severe as migraine and are not associated with "warning" symptoms, such as visual problems.

Nonetheless, unpleasant dreams can significantly increase blood pressure and, as you've discovered, pulse rate. Hypertension can sometimes trigger vascular headaches. Thus, it may not be the dreams that are affecting you as much as the physiologic alterations within your body that are stimulated by the dreams. Try taking your medication at bedtime to see if you can prevent headaches from appearing during the night.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Headaches." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2433, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to mention the title.

Texas 2nd most populous state

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas has passed New York to become the nation's second most populous state.

The Census Bureau said Tuesday that Texas added 356,000 residents in the 12 months prior to July 1, bringing the total to approximately 18.4 million residents on that date. New York, which added only 16,000, had approximately 18.2 million.

The bureau had projected in April that Texas would overtake New York when the July 1 figures were tallied.

California remains No. 1 by far with 31.4 million residents after adding 214,000 in the year that ended July 1.

Keith complies

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — When Mama asks, David Keith will comply — even if it means dressing up like Elvis.

The Knoxville native donned the costume Tuesday for a commercial to promote the Arts Council of Greater Knoxville. He hadn't played Elvis since starring as the King in the 1989 movie "Heartbreak Hotel."

The actor's mother, Hilda Keith, arranged for her son to donate his time.

"That's the kind of thing she does," Keith said. "Anything to do with Tennessee, she sets up."

adding 214,000 in the year that ended July 1. Texas had moved into third place in 1973 by passing Pennsylvania, which now stands fourth behind Florida.

During the year, the South had the largest overall population growth, although most of the states with the fastest growth rates were located in the West, the bureau said.

Connecticut, Rhode Island and the District of Columbia lost population between 1993 and 1994, the report added, while Maine had no change.

If you overbid, overplay too

By Phillip Alder

When should you overbid? In today's deal, North had all three classic situations in his favor. He was partnering a good declarer, they were vulnerable at rubber-bridge and most of the opponents' strength was in one hand. Against three no-trump, West led his higher heart. When the dummy was tabled, South saw that he stood no chance if the club finesse was losing. Yet if the finesse was winning, his nine tricks (one heart, three diamonds and five clubs) wouldn't be so easy to cash.

because of the blockage in diamonds. How could he get into the dummy without having to overtake the diamond queen with dummy's king?

Suddenly South saw the answer. He had to assume West held the spade ace. If so, South could get home as long as he played dummy's heart 10 at trick one. (If South plays low from the dummy, East puts in the eight. This keeps communication with his partner and forces South to win the trick in his hand.)

How could East defend? If he ducked, declarer would be in the dummy. He would pick up the club king, unblock his diamond honors, run the rest of the clubs and cash dummy's diamond king as his ninth trick. So East won with the heart queen and continued the suit. South won the fourth round, discarding one spade and one diamond from the dummy. Now South led the spade king from hand. West ducked this, but then South overtook his diamond queen with dummy's king and ran the clubs. His nine tricks were one spade, one heart, two diamonds and five clubs.

Abusers Under the Big Top Must Be Run From the Ring

DEAR ABBY: My family and I have boycotted the circus for years because of the wild animal acts. One need not be an animal rights activist to know that exploiting animals for entertainment is cruel.

Watching the humiliation of a majestic elephant perched on a tiny stool, or the fear of a tiger being forced to jump through a flaming hoop, teaches children disregard for animals' rights and feelings.

The recent killing of a circus elephant in Hawaii after the enraged animal went on a rampage and crushed his trainer to death illustrates the awful frustration of wild animals who have been forced into an unnatural existence in order to make money for their owners.

Abby, you reach a wider audience than any other source in this country. Please print this letter in the hope that others will realize the terrible injustice being done to these animals. Only when enough people protest the cruelty will circuses be forced to abandon misuse of animals.

PHYLLIS J. MAYER,
EVANSVILLE, IND.

DEAR PHYLLIS: It is not necessary to boycott all circuses. The Cirque du Soleil, which began as a troupe of street performers in Montreal 10 years ago (and now imports talent from all over the world), puts on a spectacular production, using no animal acts whatsoever.

For those circuses that abuse their animals — perhaps a stiff fine would persuade the owners to clean up their act.

about twins, in which you said the stupid question you were asked most frequently as an identical twin was, "Do you ever get yourselves mixed up?" — and I find myself inclined to write.

Let me explain: I, too, am a twin, and I'd like to share an incident that happened to me.

My twin sister and I and some friends had gone to an amusement park and visited the "house of mirrors." (Remember those mazes of mirrors in which the challenge was to find your way out?) Once inside, we engaged in a game of tag, and I was "it."

Wandering up and down the halls of mirrors, I made a turn and suddenly saw my sister a few feet in front of me. I jumped at her, hoping to tag her before she could get away. Imagine my surprise and embarrassment as I staggered backward after colliding, headfirst, with a mirror! It was not my sister but my own image I had seen in the mirror.

I hope my strange case of mistaken identity gives you a chuckle. If I ever have to answer that "stupid" question, "Do you ever get yourselves mixed up?" — I will have to say "Yes!"

JO BENT, ANAHEIM, CALIF.

DEAR JO: Thanks for the chuckle. A warning to identical twins who dress alike: It is indeed possible to get yourselves mixed up in mirrors; it's happened to my twin and me.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jason Scott Lee had only three words to say when asked to star as Mowgli in "The Jungle Book." "Wow. Sounds cool." "The Jungle Book" rocked my boat. I love all those Disney films," he said in Tuesday's Daily News of Los Angeles.

In real life, Lee is a shy, laid-back Hawaiian surfer. "You'd never catch him on a talk show," said "Jungle" director Stephen Sommers.

Horned Frogs ready to battle No. 18 Virginia

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — No. 18 Virginia and unranked Texas Christian slip away from the flashy riverboat casinos to night to face each other in the 19th Independence Bowl.

The Cavaliers put the nation's top rushing defense against a TCU attack that features the leading rusher and passer in the Southwest Conference.

Injuries and other disruptions cast only a faint shadow over the first meeting ever between the Cavs of the Atlantic Coast Conference and the SWC co-champion Horned Frogs.

"We're ready to line up and go," said Virginia coach George Welsh, whose Cavaliers (8-3) rule as 10-point favorites over the Frogs (7-4).

The good news for TCU fans is that premier running back Andre Davis is also ready to play after arriving late Sunday, triggering the wrath of coach Pat Sullivan.

"He may have to run to the stadium ... but he's going to play," Sullivan joked.

Davis, an All-SWC selection, led the Frogs in both rushing and receiving.

In pregame high humor, both teams confessed that they tuned up for the nationally televised contest in the glittering gambling boats hugging the banks of the Red River.

Asked at Tuesday's news conference if he'd won heavily, Welsh replied: "I haven't, but some of our players have done some good."

Jingling pocket change, Sullivan said: "I know someone who lost."

While players and coaches offered their traditional kind words for the host city and bowl officials, TCU's all-conference center Barret Robbins quipped:

"I'd like to thank the casinos, after last night."

On a less jovial note, both teams fretted over injuries to key players, including TCU's All-SWC tight end Brian Collins and Virginia's All-ACC cornerback Ronde Barber.

Both are questionable, but may play. Collins has been Max Knake's prime target over the middle as the TCU quarterback passed for 2,624 yards and 25 touchdowns, both school records.

"If Brian can't play ... we're going to have to step up our game a whole lot," said Robbins, the Frogs' 288-pound senior center who many consider a potential first-round draft choice in the NFL.

And the possible loss of Virginia's Barber is no less devastating.

"That's a blow," conceded Welsh, who said there was no way to replace Barber, the team leader in interceptions with eight.

"We'll just have to wait until the pregame warmup to decide."

With Barber leading the larceny, the Cavaliers secondary had a national high 27 interceptions while the country's No. 1 rushing defense held opponents to an average of 63.6 yards.

"This is probably the best defensive team I've had at Virginia," said Welsh, who has compiled an 88-59-3 record in 13 seasons to become the Cavaliers' winningest coach.

Virginia's eighth consecutive winning season earned them their seventh bowl invitation in 10 years.

TCU, meanwhile, will be appearing in its first bowl in a decade.

The Frogs won five of their last six games, including a pivotal 24-17 victory over Cotton Bowl-bound Texas Tech, to secure the bowl bid and nail down a share of the SWC title.

Hermleigh falls to Pirates

The Hermleigh boys and girls varsity teams continue to struggle as both teams fell to Eula in the first round of the Eula tournament.

The Cardinals (5-7), led by Jack Hudgins, 17 points, lost to the Pirates 77-50.

Billy Luna and Ricky Sosa each had 10 points for Hermleigh, but a 20 of 69 shooting night from the field and only 11 of 24 free throws cost the Cardinals the game.

In the Lady Cardinals' action, Kelly Gonzalez had 19 points and Michelle Roemisch scored 14 in a 74-38 loss to the Lady Pirates. Hermleigh is currently 2-8 on the season.

Both Hermleigh teams were scheduled to compete today against Trent with the girls playing at 12:30 p.m. and the boys at 2.

Snyder ends deadlock with win over Sonora

It took over two and a half hours, but the Snyder Lady Tigers defeated the Sonora Lady Bronchos 49-46 in double overtime at the Reagan County tournament in Big Lake Tuesday.

In an game between two evenly-matched opponents, the score remained deadlocked at halftime (28-28), the third quarter (34-34), the fourth quarter (41-41) and in the first overtime (46-46).

"It was an incredibly tense game," Snyder Head Coach Steve Qualls said. "We got out to a fast start in the first quarter, but cooled off and allowed them (Sonora) to come back in the second."

"From the third quarter on it was neck-and-neck."

The Lady Tigers (5-12) were paced in the first quarter by good offensive execution and junior Jamie Brown's three 3-pointers. By starting out quickly, Snyder took a commanding 17-6 lead into the second quarter.

However, fast break opportunities capitalized on by the Lady Bronchos helped trim the Lady Tigers' lead and the two teams went into the lockerroom at halftime deadlocked.

"In the second quarter, they (Sonora) used their transition offense to outscore us twenty-two to eleven," Qualls said. "We had a good lead, but we kissed it goodbye."

In the second half, Brown, who finished the game with 16 points, was double-teamed by the Sonora defense. With Brown taken out of the offense, Snyder turned to seniors Shayna Crow and Rachel Shipp.

Crow knocked down two 3-pointers in the third quarter and Shipp contibuted on the defensive side of the ball. She finished the game with six blocked shots to go along with seven points.

Sonora, though, missed its chances by missing potentially game-winning shots at the end of regulation and at the end of the first overtime.

"They (Sonora) had their chances," Qualls said. "But they weren't able to capitalize when it counted most."

The game ended when, with three seconds, and Sonora down by three, Snyder sophomore Erica Garvin stole the ball after an errant pass to seal the Lady Tigers' victory.

Snyder will take on the winner of the Reagan County-Crane winner Thursday at 6:30 p.m. in the championship bracket semifinals.

Utes come back to win against Arizona, 16-13

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Utah came from behind to win before, so it didn't surprise coach Ron McBride when the Utes rebounded from a dismal offensive performance to win its first bowl game in 30 years.

Despite only five first downs and 75 yards — less than two yards a play — No. 14 Utah found a way to beat

No. 15 Arizona 16-13 in the Freedom Bowl on Tuesday night. It was Utah's first bowl victory since defeating West Virginia in the 1964 Liberty Bowl, and gave the Utes their first 10-victory season in the team's 102-year history.

"That's the thing about this team, they keep playing and playing and something will happen," said McBride, who won his first bowl game in three tries. "We've done it before."

Clippers upset Bulls in Chicago

By The Associated Press Tony Kukoc knew exactly what Chicago's problem was.

"We couldn't hit shots, we couldn't rebound and we had plenty of turnovers," said Kukoc, who tempered his 21 points with eight turnovers in the Los Angeles Clippers' 95-92 victory Tuesday night.

The Bulls also didn't have Scottie Pippen, who was ejected from the game with 2:13 left in the second period.

The Clippers, on the other hand, had their first victory on the Bulls' home court since Jan. 26, 1979, when the Clippers called San Diego home and the Bulls played in Chicago Stadium.

"We had our chances to win, even without Scottie," Kukoc said.

"It didn't matter if Scottie was out or Scottie was in," B.J. Armstrong said. "Scottie was gone. Those were the facts. We were trying to win a game we thought we could win."

Armstrong missed the basket more than he missed Pippen, failing on 16 of 20 shots.

Los Angeles was 0-17 in Chicago before the win, and the victory snapped a five-game losing streak, raising the Clippers' record this season to 4-23.

"We're undefeated in this building," coach Bill Fitch joked of the United Center, the Bulls' new home this year.

In other NBA games, it was New York 99, New Jersey 91; Orlando 103, Miami 83; Milwaukee 98, Detroit 88; Phoenix 119, Dallas 118; Houston 105, Atlanta 93; San Antonio 119, Charlotte 108; Indiana 95, Denver 91; Golden State 129, the Los Angeles Lakers 105; and Sacramento 102, Portland 101.

Pippen scored 18 points on 8-for-11 shooting, grabbed five rebounds and handed out three assists before he was ejected for swearing at referee Terry Durham when protesting an offensive foul.

He had received a first-quarter technical foul for taunting Clippers center Charles Outlaw after dunking over him, and the second technical meant an automatic ejection.

Pooh Richardson had 21 points and 10 assists for the Clippers, while Lamond Murray added 19 points.

Warriors 129, Lakers 105 Tim Hardaway, Latrell Sprewell and Tom Gugliotta each scored 20 points, and Rony Seikaly grabbed a season-high 17 rebounds as Golden State crushed visiting Los Angeles.

The Warriors led 65-36 at halftime and never let up. Just four minutes into the third quarter, Golden State pulled ahead 84-47 on Tim Hardaway's 3-pointer.

Cedric Ceballos led the Lakers with 24 points.

Kings 102, Trail Blazers 101 In Sacramento, Spud Webb's fallaway jumper with 2.3 seconds left erased Portland's one-point lead and gave the Kings the victory. Cliff Robinson, who missed a baseline jumper at the buzzer, gave Portland a 101-100 lead with 12 seconds remaining.

Kings guard Mitch Richmond scored 30 points before fouling out with 48 seconds left. Rod Strickland scored 22 points and Clyde Drexler 21 for the Blazers.

Suns 119, Mavericks 118 Kevin Johnson's 16-foot baseline jumper with 3.7 seconds left capped a Phoenix rally from a five-point deficit with less than a minute to play. It was the visiting Suns' 11th consecutive victory over Dallas.

Johnson finished with 28 points, while Charles Barkley had 22 points and 16 rebounds for the Suns, who won for the 10th time in 11 games.

Jim Jackson scored 31 points for Dallas.

Rockets 105, Hawks 93 In Houston, Hakeem Olajuwon had 35 points and 16 rebounds as Houston kept Atlanta's Lenny Wilkens from tying Red Auerbach's NBA career coaching record for wins with 938.

The Rockets scored eight consecutive points early in the fourth period to take the lead for good.

Ken Norman scored 28 points to lead Atlanta.

Spurs 119, Hornets 108 David Robinson scored 16 of his 30 points in the third quarter and Chuck Person hit five 3-pointers as San Antonio won its seventh straight game, downing visiting Charlotte. Person finished with 21 points.

Hornets center Alonzo Mourning injured his right foot in the second quarter and didn't return. Larry Johnson had 29 points and 12 rebounds to lead Charlotte.

Pacers 95, Nuggets 91 Rik Smits had a season-high 33 points and grabbed 14 rebounds to lead visiting Indiana over Denver. The Pacers, winners of nine of their last 11 meetings with the Nuggets, scored only five points in the final three minutes, but Denver could only manage six free throws and Mahmoud Abdul-Rauf's 3-pointer over the same stretch.

Abdul-Rauf finished with 23 points.

Knicks 99, Nets 91 John Stars' first 20-point game in more than a month led New York to victory, ending the worst losing streak of Pat Riley's coaching career.

COLLEGE BOWL PREVIEW

By TODD STANLEY
SDN Sports Editor

In the grand scheme of things it just doesn't seem possible that the 1994 college football season is already nearing its year-end bowl game extravaganza.

It seems like only yesterday when Colorado's Kordell Stewart found Michael Westbrook in the endzone against Michigan to cap off a perfect Hail Mary.

Who will forget the drive by Penn State at Illinois late in the fourth quarter to win the game, stake a claim to the Rose Bowl and save a perfect 11-0 season?

Don't forget Notre Dame's unfathomable back-to-back losses at Boston College and at home to the Cougars of Brigham Young. Definitely a tough two weeks for Irish fans across the country.

What about Auburn's last second touchdown against Florida in Gainesville to beat the Gators and keep Head Coach Terry Bowden's unbeaten streak alive.

On that note, remember Alabama's Jay Barker moving his team down the field for the winning score to snap the Auburn's streak?

UCLA terrorized Southern Cal for the record fourth-straight year, Texas fell to Rice for the first time since 1965, and so the list continues.

Regardless of how you look at the 125th season of college football, it has lived up to the hype, tradition and pageantry that the college game is all about.

But, the season is not over. In a sense it is just beginning.

With the Heisman already sitting on the mantel at Mr. Rashaan Salaam's home, the national championship is the only question left in the balance.

Three teams have a legitimate claim to the title, No. 1 Nebraska (12-0), No. 2 Penn State (11-0) and No. 3 Miami (10-1).

The Cornhuskers have the inside track at the national championship by facing Miami in the Orange Bowl.

Should Nebraska win, the Cornhuskers and Head Coach Tom Osborne will celebrate the first national championship in Lincoln since Bob Devaney's 1971 campaign.

However, if Nebraska loses and Penn State wins, the Nittany Lions and Head Coach Joe Paterno will take the championship trophy home to Happy Valley for the third time.

The third scenario involves the Hurricanes. Miami can win its fifth national title in eleven years if they upset No. 1 Nebraska on Jan. 1 and Oregon beats Penn State in the Rose Bowl.

Even though most of the college football world will be focused directly on the Orange Bowl and the Rose Bowl, there are other intriguing matchups taking place as the 1994 season comes to an end.

INDEPENDENCE BOWL
Texas Christian (7-4) vs.

Virginia (8-3)

The Horned Frogs make their first post-season appearance since their 31-14 loss to West Virginia in the 1984 Bluebonnet Bowl. Virginia has won seven or more games in the last eight years and quarterback Symmion Willis threw for over 2,000 yards for the second straight year. Cavaliers squash the Frogs 28-21.

COPPER BOWL
Oklahoma (6-5) vs. Brigham Young (9-3)

BYU's John Walsh and the Cougars' offense is primed and ready to take on a Sooners defense that has been more porous than powerful. Oklahoma boasts the "Thunder" and "Lightning" running back tandem of Jerald Moore and James Allen. Gary Gibbs will leave Oklahoma with a loss. Fitting isn't it? Cougars outlast the Okies 28-17.

GATOR BOWL
Tennessee (7-4) vs. Virginia Tech (8-3)

The Volunteers have suffered through some devastating injuries all season long, including starting quarterback Jerry Colquitt going out for the year in the first game of the season. Freshman Peyton Manning has helped Tennessee salvage a possibly lost season. Maurice DeShazo leads a talented Hokie offense. Tennessee vacuums Va. Tech 30-20.

HOLIDAY BOWL
Colorado State (10-1) vs. Michigan (7-4)

Michigan, the No. 5 team in the AP pre-season poll, was one of the nation's biggest disappointments. Running back Tyrone Wheatley, injured much of the year, came on strong in the Wolverines' last few games. Ironically, Colorado State, a 5-6 team a year ago, worked its way to the top of the WAC by running the football and playing defense. Michigan wacks the WAC champs 35-24.

SUN BOWL
Texas (7-4) vs. North Carolina (8-3)

Illusions of grandeur danced in the heads of Longhorn faithful throughout the pre-season. However, disappointing losses to Rice and Texas Tech kept UT out of the Cotton Bowl. Head Coach John Mackovic emerged from his burnt orange haze in time to clobber Baylor 63-35 on Thanksgiving day. Neither team has decided on a starting quarterback. Texas will choose between Shea Morenz or James "the hardest working quarterback in college football" Brown. UNC will go with either Jason Stanicek or Mike Thomas. The Tar Heels beat the Longhorns in the 1982 edition of the Sun Bowl. Texas kicks up its Heels 31-21.

ALAMO BOWL
Baylor (7-4) vs. Washington State (7-4)

Washington State, along with Oregon, gave Arizona a race for the Pac-10's best defense. The Cougars were able to successfully rebound from the loss of Drew Bledsoe to the NFL. Baylor has taken a gigantic nose dive after a somewhat impressive 5-1 start. Jerod Douglas, the leading rusher in the history of Class 5A football in Texas, finished the year with over 200 yards rushing against the Longhorns. Washington State belittles the Bears 38-21.

LIBERTY BOWL
Illinois (6-5) vs. East Carolina (7-4)

Defensively, Illinois was one of the best teams in the nation and linebacker Dana Howard won the Butkus award.

Penn State even had trouble moving the ball against the Illini. Even if former Pirate quarterback and current Cincinnati Bengals' star Jeff Blake played, East Carolina still wouldn't stand a chance. Illinois annihilates the Pirates 21-3.

PEACH BOWL
North Carolina State (8-3) vs. Mississippi State (8-3)

Mississippi State Head Coach Jackie Sherill knows how to win football games, period. Plus, the Bulldogs have prepared for the post-season with a tough SEC schedule. The North Carolina State boasts an explosive offense. Remember when Sherill castrated a Longhorn bull to fire his players up for the Texas game? I wonder what he has in planned for a pack of wolves? The Bulldogs bite N.C. State, 24-17.

ORANGE BOWL
Nebraska (12-0) vs. Miami (10-1)

In 1984, the Miami Hurricanes, under the direction of soon-to-be Oklahoma head coach Howard Schellenberger, clinched a dramatic 31-30 victory and a national championship with an Orange Bowl win over the Mike Rozier led Cornhuskers. This time, Nebraska Head Coach Tom Osborne finally gets his much deserved national championship. Nebraska's offense has been awesome with Brook Berringer at quarterback. It is scary to think how much better it could have been with Heismanesque talent Tommy Frazier at the helm all season. Nebraska's offensive line, led by Outland trophy winner Zach Wiegert, averages 6'4" and 300 pounds. Miami's defense, with Lombardi award winner Warren Sapp, could pose the Husker offense problems, but not many. Nebraska wins its first Orange Bowl in five straight tries 24-21.

HALL OF FAME BOWL
Wisconsin (6-4-1) vs. Duke (8-3)

Duke Head Coach Fred Goldsmith and the Blue Devils can cap off a Cinderella season with a win over Wisconsin. Is it possible that Goldsmith is really a good coach or did basketball coach Mike Krzyzewski give him some pointers about winning? The Badgers will be without the services of their leading ground gainer Brent Moss. Quarterback Darrell Bevell will have to sing "On Wisconsin" by himself. Duke sends the Badgers burrowing 28-10.

CITRUS BOWL
Ohio State (9-3) vs. Alabama (11-1)

Ohio State Head Coach John Cooper has a renewed contract in hand after being on the hot seat throughout much of '94.

Too bad he must face Gene Stallings' Crimson Tide. Ohio State's dynamic wide receiver Joey Gallowsay is destined for great things. Alabama, led by Heisman Trophy candidate Jay Barker, saw their national championship hopes fall with a loss to Florida in the SEC championship game. However, Barker, tailback Sherwin Williams and the always tough Tide defense should send the Buckeyes north with a big loss. The Tide rolls on 42-14.

FIESTA BOWL
Colorado (10-1) vs. Notre Dame (6-4-1)

The Buffaloes have perhaps the second best offense in the nation, behind Penn State. However, they were unfortunate enough to be in the same conference as Nebraska. Heisman winner Rashaan Salaam rushed for over 2,000 yards in 1994, only the fourth player ever. The Fighting Irish have struggled throughout the season under freshman quarterback Ron Powulus and the team's 6-4-1 record reflects Holtz's second worst in eight years. With tradition on their side, it is unwise to underestimate the Irish. Remember Rudy? Buffaloes triumph over Notre Dame 35-24.

CARQUEST BOWL
South Carolina (6-5) vs. West Virginia (7-5)

The Mountaineers struggled in the beginning of the season, but have turned a hopeless season into another bowl year.

All they need was a little growing up on offense. Last year, West Virginia finished as the No. 7 team in the nation thanks to their eight offensive senior starts, all of whom graduated. South Carolina surprised some teams this year, but it won't surprise the surging Mountaineers. Mountaineers gut the Gamecocks 27-14.

COTTON BOWL
Texas Tech (7-4) vs. Southern Cal (7-3-1)

Before all of you Tech fans out there get too pumped up, don't count on a Red Raider victory. The debacle in Fort Worth, when Tech had a chance to wrap up the SWC championship, proved that the Raiders are as much of an enigma as the disappointing Longhorns. John Robinson's Southern Cal team is loaded with offensive weapons and a great defense to boot. Sounds familiar doesn't it?

Spike Dykes and the boys from the Hub city fit the exact same mold. It was a big enough accomplishment for Tech to win the SWC, but to win the Cotton Bowl would be orgasmic. The Trojans raid the Raiders 30-24.

ROSE BOWL
Penn State (11-0) vs. Oregon (9-3)

With Nebraska at the top of the polls, the Nittany Lions must prove to the nation that they deserve a share of the title.

The task shouldn't prove too hard considering they have possibly the most potent collegiate offense of all time. Quarterback Kerry Collins and tailback Ki-Jana Carter were both finalists in the Heisman trophy race. Oregon and its "Gang Green" defense limited decent Pac-10 opponents to under 120 yards rushing and quarterback Danny O'Neil was a pleasant surprise for AP Coach of the Year Rich Brooks. Brooks can live up to his award with a win over Joe Paterno's Nittany Lions. In 1948, Michigan dispatched USC 49-0 in "the granddaddy of all bowl games." Look for a similar performance by Penn State. The Nittany Lions devastate the Ducks 56-7.

SUGAR BOWL
Florida (10-1-1) vs. Florida State (9-1-1)

This rematch ranks up there with the great bouts between Muhammad Ali and Joe Frazier. In these two teams' last meeting the Gators blew a 28 point lead in the fourth quarter as defending national champions Florida State came back to tie the game at 31-31. Florida boasts possibly the best one-two quarterback punch in the nation in Danny Wuerfel and former Heisman contender Terry Dean. Between the two of them they combined for over 3,000 yards passing and 35 touchdowns. Wuerfel is the probable starter for Head Coach Steve Spurrier's Gators, while Florida State and Head Coach Bobby Bowden will go with Danny Kannell at the helm. Kannell threw for over 2,700 yards this year and 17 touchdowns. Seminole super sophomore running back Warrick Dunn rushed for over 1,000 yards in an offense predicated on the pass. The guys in charge of the Sugar Bowl did themselves justice by saving possibly the best bowl game for last. Florida should win this "Battle on Bourbon Street" with a last-second field goal. The Gators gobble up the Seminoles 34-31.

With the score tied 14-14 in the 1985 Orane Bowl, the University of Oklahoma was penalized 15 yards for unsportsmanlike conduct when its horse-drawn wagon, the "Sooner Schooner," rode onto the field to celebrate an apparent 22-yard field goal during the third quarter. In fact, the field goal had been nullified by an illegal-procedure call. The two penalties moved the ball back 20 yard, where a 42 yard field goal attempt was blocked. Oklahoma went on to lose 28-17 to the University of Washington, costing them a shot at the national title.

Before Joe Theismann's junior year at Notre Dame, the school's sports information director suggested that the quarterback change the pronunciation of Theismann—"THEEZ-man"—to "THIGHs-man," to rhyme with Heisman, as in Trophy. Theismann did, but ended up second in the voting for the award in 1970 to Stanford's Jim Plunkett.

Manufacturer of bullets will hold up 'Black Rhino' sales

NEW YORK (AP) — The manufacturer of a new armor-piercing bullet promised today to delay its release because of fears that criminals could get their hands on it. Businessman David Keen, speaking on the NBC "Today" show, said he has made "a management decision to put the Black Rhino on hold ... even if it is approved" by federal authorities. "We're seeing a change in what the law enforcement wants based upon the response that they're seeing from the public, and that is fear that the rounds will fall into the wrong hands," Keen said.

"We're going to be a responsible manufacturer," he said.

In a story about the bullets earlier this week, Keen told The Associated Press that his company was bringing out "Black Rhino" and "Rhino-Ammo" bullets that can leave baseball-sized holes in people because of the way they fragment on impact with human flesh.

In addition, the Black Rhino bullets have a design that can penetrate bullet-stopping material such as Kevlar. Federal approval was pending, expected in about a month.

Keen, chief executive of Signature Products Corp. in Huntsville, Ala., said he's putting Black Rhino on hold until "we can see what the police officials really want." He told The Huntsville Times on Tuesday that he will go ahead with .45-caliber and 9 mm versions of the other Rhino bullets.

But he told the paper that he was not going ahead with the Black Rhino because "when people complain, I listen. We're in it for the long haul, not the quick sell. ... What I hear from the cops is negative, and that's who it's for."

Keen, who was the 1993 small-business executive of the year by the Huntsville-Madison County Chamber of Commerce, said he had received threats and took his family to a motel to spend the night. His office telephone number was busy Tuesday and this morning.

The claims about the bullets' destructive power provoked cries for a swift ban — and skepticism from the National Rifle Association.

"The beauty behind it is that it makes an incredible wound," Keen, a research chemist making his first foray into the bullet business, told the AP. "There's no way to stop the bleeding. I don't care where it hits. They're going down for good."

Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan, D-N.Y., said there was "something sick" about Keen's comments. He said he would propose legislation to ban Keen's bullets if federal regulators don't block them. Congress reconvenes next week.

Vietnam vets rush to meet deadline for Agent Orange

MIDDLETOWN, Conn. (AP) — Thousands of Vietnam veterans who say they were harmed by Agent Orange are rushing to meet a Saturday deadline for claiming the remnants of a multimillion-dollar compensation fund.

Outside the cubicles where Aetna Insurance Co. workers answer telephone call about the claims, mementos of the war and its survivors hang on a wall.

There are cards and letters of appreciation, newspaper articles and plenty of pictures: of veterans, their spouses, their comrades who have committed suicide, and the massive black wall of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington.

"A lot of these people are in real bad shape mentally and physically," said Maria Martinez, the claims administrator for the compensation fund. "You just get to know these guys over the telephone and you feel very bad for them and for what's happened to them throughout the years. We've been able to help some people."

Martinez said Tuesday that her staff of 16 has been inundated with 800 to 1,000 calls per day in the last three weeks, up from about 200 calls a day.

Agent Orange, a toxic, vegetation-destroying chemical, was sprayed in Vietnam by U.S.

military aircraft to make it difficult for enemy soldiers to hide and find food. Veterans said it caused illnesses such as cancer and produced birth defects in their children.

Ten years ago, veterans and their families reached a $184 million settlement in a class-action lawsuit against makers of Agent Orange. Veterans started receiving checks in 1989.

About $21 million has not been claimed. Whatever is left after all claims have been heard will be distributed to those who already have submitted claims. Disabled veterans can get from $256 to $12,800; families of deceased vet can receive from $340 to $3,400.

Byron Lloyd of Tampa, Fla., hopes to be compensated for injuries he says are related to his two years in Vietnam, including intestinal and bladder diseases and a rash on his legs.

Lloyd sent in his application Tuesday after hearing about the fund last week from his brother, a disabled vet.

The Dec. 31 deadline to apply for compensation was set by U.S. District Judge Jack Weinstein, who ruled that the 1984 settlement should include people who had not yet become ill.

Aetna will accept telephone inquiries about the fund from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. through Saturday. The phone number is (800) 225-4712. "Applications must be postmarked no later than midnight Saturday. Applications may be requested by fax at (203) 636-0444.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Today you might be inclined to invent problems to make things harder on yourself. Try to operate along the path of least resistance instead.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Do not treat the possessions of others with indifference today. Make it a point to take better care of their things than you would your own.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If associates are not in complete accord with your aims today, they're not apt to assist you. Attempting to solicit their aid could be a waste of time.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A twinge of jealousy might make it difficult to praise the accomplishments of a co-worker today. This would be counterproductive.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Someone you know quite well is an expert manipulator and has had you do his/her bidding in the past. Do not allow yourself to be a puppet again today.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Avoid all types of disagreement with your mate today. Small arguments might escalate and cause lasting problems.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you brush aside tasks that demand your immediate attention today, you'll be creating additional problems down the line.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Even though your overall financial prospects look good, this is not the time to be extravagant. Avoid impulsive spending.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You are usually a pretty good self-starter, but not today. If there is something you want done, do not rely on others; use your own initiative.

The Emu Report

By Shirley Pate, Pate Emu Farm

The purchasing manager, of ERI reports, "1995 will be a great year for the Emu industry. The breeder market is going through a slow phase and we can give full attention to the real emu business of bird processing and product development."

ERI is buying birds with a minimum weight of 70 lbs. and paying $5 per lb. of live weight. This offer began in March of 1994. Ranchers are asking "how long will this offer last?" The answer is simple. ERI is buying birds in order to have raw materials to manufacture products and sell them. As the supply of raw materials diminishes, more birds are needed. If we, as members of ERI, do our part in promoting and moving our great products, the bird purchase will never end.

Strong quake rocks northern Japan

TOKYO (AP) — An earthquake with a preliminary magnitude of 7.5 shook northern Japan tonight, injuring about 20 people. Authorities warned residents to evacuate many coastal areas because of the threat of tidal waves.

The Central Meteorological Agency said the quake, at 9:19 p.m. (7:19 a.m. EST), was strong enough to have caused severe damage in some places.

It was centered about 95 miles east of Hachinohe, a city of about 240,000 people about 375 miles north of Tokyo.

About 20 people were being treated at hospitals after being cut by falling glass, the public NHK television network reported. The extent of the injuries was unclear.

Television broadcasts from the affected area showed toppled furniture and bottles strewn from store shelves. Electricity and gas were cut off in Hachinohe, a reporter told NHK.

Tidal wave warnings were broadcast for most Pacific coast areas on the main island of Honshu, the northern island of Hokkaido and parts of Honshu's west coast.

A tidal wave 20 inches high was reported at the port city of Miyako, about 60 miles southeast of Hachinohe. Smaller tidal waves were reported elsewhere.

The Tsunami Warning Center in Palmer, Alaska said it does not expect any tidal waves to reach the Pacific Coast of the United States. The Hawaiian islands are also out of danger, said spokesperson Wayne Jorgensen.

Lottery hands out 3 prizes

AUSTIN (AP) — Three Texans are celebrating Christmas all over again.

The Texas Lottery Commission on Tuesday paid out nearly $12 million in post-Christmas prizes.

Nelson Martin of Houston was presented a check for $548,515 as the first of 20 installments for the Dec. 24 Lotto Texas jackpot totaling $10.8 million.

The remaining payments of $540,000 each will be paid every Dec. 15 for the next 19 years.

The winning numbers drawn Saturday were 16, 32, 15, 7, 49, and 31.

The commission also presented a $1 million check to Curtis McGregor of Dallas, who cashed in on the lottery's "Instant Million" game.

Rafael Hernandez of Bay City is $100,000 richer after claiming his check from the lottery's "The $100,000 Game."

With 42.1 million participants in 1993, basketball is the third most popular sports and fitness activity. It trails only bowling (49 million participants) and fresh-water fishing (47.8 million).

Hey, where has winter gone?

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — This time of year, Irondequoit Bay normally is one huge sheet of ice and Dean Rudy is careening down the ski slopes. Instead, he's been zigzagging on water skis in sunny, 50-degree weather.

"It's absolutely delightful. I already feel like I've cheated winter," the 34-year-old Xerox Corp. manager said. His wife, Merilou, was at the controls of the boat on Tuesday, and their two children were along for the ride.

The mild weather, extending through the fall and into the first week of winter, is proving a boon for golfers, rollerskaters and hikers in the Northeast and Midwest, and a headache for winter clothing retailers, ski resorts and ice fishermen.

Also mighty peeved in usually frosty New York City is Rabbi Abraham Abraham, a k a "The Mighty Atom," who is president of the Coney Island Ice-Breakers Winter Ocean Swimmers.

"I just got off the beach swimming," he said. "Normally, the temperature of the water is in the 30s. Now, it feels like it's in the 50s. ... It did not touch my vibes, give me that heavenly feeling."

November was the fifth warmest in a century in the Northeast, with temperatures averaging 3.6 degrees above normal, and "there seems little doubt that December will prove to be another mild month," said Warren Knapp, director of the Northeast Regional Climate Center at Cornell University.

In the Berkshires over the Christmas holidays, skiers were hitting the slopes at night, leaving daytime for more warm-weather sports, said Larry Dubin of Jiminy Peak ski resort in Hancock, Mass. He estimated business is down at least 15 percent.

Other ski resorts, outfitted with snow-making machines, said their trails are probably as full as ever.

"If anything, warmer weather brings more people out," said Timothy McAtee, who owns a resort in Watertown in northern New York. "Besides, manmade snow is more durable."

Resorts make snow at night, when the temperature drops below freezing, and build up the trails enough so that they can last the day without melting away.

In the Adirondacks, 500 miles of snowmobile trails have almost melted away in Webb, N.Y. "More than half of what we expected (in reservations) have been canceled," moaned the town's publicity director, Bob Hall.

Sales of coats, sweaters, boots and other winter clothing "were up for the holidays but perhaps not as up as some retailers had expected," said Pamela Rucker of the National Retail Federation in Washington. "You can lay the blame for that squarely at the foot of Mother Nature."

Syracuse, usually America's snowiest big city, is flirting with its least snowy December ever. In 1965, a mere 7.1 inches floated down; so far this month, just 5.6 inches of snow have fallen. The average is 26.8 inches.

The dearth of ice and snow and cold after last year's onslaught of storms didn't catch Santa Claus off guard.

Russians resume bombing

MOSCOW (AP) — Russian warplanes resumed bombing Chechnya today after leaders of the rebel republic refused President Boris Yeltsin's offer of peace talks. An orphanage in the Chechen capital was destroyed in one raid.

"The children were playing when they started the bombing at dawn," said Nadezhda Medved, the director of Children's Home No. 1 in Grozny. The blast cratered the courtyard in front of the orphanage, causing a six-story building to cave in.

The orphanage's children and staff have been living in its basement since Russian air strikes began and were not injured in today's raid.

Scores of civilians have died in air strikes against Grozny since the Russians invaded Chechnya on Dec. 11.

In a televised speech Tuesday, Yeltsin said he had ordered a halt to air strikes "that cause civilian casualties" in Grozny. He also proposed new peace talks.

But the raids resumed after Chechen officials dismissed his speech for failing to meet their main demand: withdrawal of troops.

"It's clear the Russian president doesn't want to change his policy with the withdrawal troops," Russian Chimayev, Chechnya's deputy foreign minister, was quoted by Russian media as saying.

Chechnya, a republic in the Caucasus Mountains, declared independence from Russia in 1991.

Russian aircraft also hit the outskirts of Grozny with missiles early today, the ITAR-Tass news agency said. Another air attack on the village of Urus-Martan south of Grozny caused casualties, it said. No details were immediately available.

Even as the president spoke, the Chechens claimed new Russian aerial attacks on three villages south of the capital, Grozny. Chechen fighters have vowed never to surrender, even though they are only several thousand against as many as 40,000 Russian troops who entered the breakaway region on Dec. 11 to end Chechnya's self-proclaimed independence.

Yeltsin has faced harsh criticism at home and, to a lesser extent, abroad for a botched military operation that the Chechens claim has killed hundreds of civilians.

He said he had ordered senior officials to negotiate with the Chechens on a cease-fire and disarmament.

Police note felony arrest

Local law enforcement officers made a felony arrest Tuesday and worked numerous other calls, including one accident on U.S. Highway 84.

Joseph Ernest Luera, 36, was arrested at 1:22 p.m. from the 400 block of 34th Street on a felony warrant from Taylor County for driving while intoxicated.

A 33-year-old female was transported from Municipal Court to the county jail at 9:49 a.m. to lay out fines.

DPS troopers investigated a one-vehicle accident a half mile north of FM 1611 on Highway 84 that was reported at 10:32 a.m. Involved was a 1977 Chevrolet pickup and a Wells Fargo trailer. The vehicle was driven by James Mcentire of Houston. There were no injuries reported.

Officers also investigated a report of a broken window in the shop building at Snyder High School at 7:25 a.m. School officials were notified.

A citizen on County Road 9 notified officers at 9:42 a.m. that his mailbox had been damaged by a vehicle.

Two females, ages 18 and 32, were contacted by city police officers in reference to selling perfume without a permit.

Officers also investigated a report of two females in an older model automobile trying to run another vehicle off the road. The complainant said she did not wish to press charges or make a report.

Officers also investigated a report of an assault at the Cinema parking lot. No charges were filed but one juvenile male was brought to police station and later released to his parents.

In elderly people...

Fighting high blood pressure may help to reduce strokes

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Aggressively treating high blood pressure could help elderly avoid strokes more than it could younger people, according to a new study by San Antonio researchers.

The study found that treatment for hypertension led to a greater reduction in strokes and heart problems over five years for people over age 60 than for younger and middle-age adults.

Researchers came up with that after studying 25 earlier studies involving about 50,000 participants around the world. Their results are published in Wednesday's edition of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

According to Dr. Cynthia Mulrow of the Geriatric Research,

Education and Clinical Center at Audie L. Murphy Memorial Veterans Hospital, hypertension was not properly treated in older adults out of fear that side effects may be worse than the actual problem.

"The study shows this is probably not true, and that in fact, anti-hypertensive treatment is very beneficial" in older adults, said Mulrow, who also is associate professor of medicine at the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio.

Side effects of hypertension treatment can vary from sexual dysfunction to a loss of potassium and headaches. Most of those problems can be relieved with a change or adjustment in medicines, Mulrow said.
