MEMBER PIONEER FAMILY IS VICTIM IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Mrs. Bert Brockman Fatally Injured in Wreck Near Cheyenne, Wyo.

An automobile accident which occurred near Cheyenne, Wyo., last Thursday resulted in fatal injuries to a former Haskell resident, Mrs. Bert Brockman of Eugene, Oregon, who died in a Cheyenne hospital Saturday, June 10th. The daughter of J. N. Ellis, pioneer Haskell county settler who now lives in Rule, Mrs. Brockman was the sister of Mrs. J. D. Westbrook, also of Rule.

Mrs. Brockman had lived in Eugene, Ore., for many years and was en route to Massachusetts for the summer when something went wrong with her car—killing the young man employed as her driver and injuring Mrs. Brockman so critically she died two days later in a hospital at Cheyenne.

Mrs. Brockman, nee Miss Edna Ellis, came to Haskell when a child with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Ellis and grew to womanhood here. She attended school at the Sam Houston Normal, Huntsville, and taught in the Haskell public schools until she was married. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church from childhood, and also was active in club work when living in Haskell, being a member of the Magazine Club and also the Harmony Club.

A few years after Edna Ellis and Bert Brockman were married they moved to the Northwest country, living in Idaho and Washington for a while, but finally settling in Oregon. They had one daughter, Frances Bert, who is now in Switzerland where she has been studying music for the past year.

Mr. Brockman died about four years ago, and his wife's body was carried back to their Oregon home and buried beside that of her husband.

Besides the daughter, Mrs. Brockman is survived by three sisters, one brother, and her aged father. They are: Mesdames Jestyana Irby and Hucie Gutzler of Dallas, Ira Ellis of Houston, Mrs. J. D. Westbrook and J. N. Ellis of Rule.

Birds are Farmer's Best Ally In Fighting Insects

Insects consume $3,000,000,000 worth of farm products a year in the United States and mice eat probably $2,000,000,000. The total lost to pests is at least a sixth of all our crops.

With all the spraying and poisoning he can do (and he pays out for spray materials alone, not counting labor, $200,000,000 a year), the farmer's fight would be hopeless were it not for the unceasing work of the natural enemies of destructive species. Where these natural enemies have been wiped out, through indifference, ignorance and greed, insects and rodents have become a disastrous scourge.

Birds digest so rapidly and generate so much energy that they have to eat continuously. Even with the most industrious of parents, a young bird is never filled. The stomach of a waxwing was found to contain at one time 100 canker-worms; of one rancorow or American cuckoo, 277 weevils; of another over 250 caterpillars; of one small chickadee, 500 plant lice; of another, 41 female cankerworms containing 3,550 eggs; of a killdeer, 388 alfalfa weevils; of a screech-owl, 50 grasshoppers; of a bullbat or nighthawk, 340 grasshoppers; of a flicker, 1,000 chinch bugs. A tanager was seen to eat 630 gypsy-moth caterpillars in eighteen minutes. And these are only a few of thousands of authentic records. The army worm has forty-three different bird enemies, the codling moth, ninety-eight, pill bugs, sixty-seven, potato bugs, twenty-eight boll weevils, sixty-six, white grubs, sixty-seven, wire worms, 138, leaf hoppers, 100, an so on through a long list.

But has the average farmer valued and protected these allies? First he cut away all their forest cover, and then in a senseless craze for clean cultivation, all his fence-rows, hedges and thickets, and the undergrowth from woodlot, roadside and creek banks. When the birds, as a last resort nest around his home and orchard, he turns loose upon them a large family of cats, and permits small boys to shoot them with sling-shot and air-rifle. As a result scientists estimate that 46 per cent of the birds of the United States have disappeared in the past fifteen years.

Skunk Is Insect Enemy
Another insect-destroyer is the skunk, wonderfully fitted by Nature to hear and smell grubs at their work of eating roots, and to dig down and get them. Few persons realize that the soil teems

The cedar waxwing never appears in large numbers, and is mysterious in its goings and comings from one year to another. It may take a few berries but it also has a hearty appetite for canker-worms. These portraits painted by Roger Tory Peterson, are included in the 1939 Wildlife Week stamp subjects.

The chickadee is not only a cheerful resident of northern communities, pert and active in the coldest weather, but a heavy consumer of such insect pests as plant lice and canker worms.

with insect life larvae and pupae form, getting ready for its later work of destruction, and safe from all enemies save the skunk, and to a less extent the mole. The skunk's summer ration is 80 per cent harmful insects, and the rest wild fruit and grain. He is the chief single enemy of army worm, tobacco worm, cutworm, white grub, hopworm and many other grubs, and also eats large numbers of locusts, grasshoppers, beetles and caterpillars after they emerge from the larva stage.

In an 8-acre field carefully examined by entomologists in Manitoba, Canada, it was recently found that skunks were destroying more than 14,200 white grubs year. When cats, rats, minks, weasels, opossums, need to be trapped, this should be done only with traps that either kill at once or take the quarry alive unharmed.

Help Wildlife to Help You
Birds, song and game, and other helpful wildlife, can never be restored until a habitat provided for them and their chief enemies are controlled. Brushy fence-rows surrounding every field and grown up in shrubs, vines, briars, and weeds are a cheap form of crop insurance. Edminister, government soil expert, says that clean cultivation is a foolish fashion; that thick fence-rows and hedges are of great value, not only in providing cover and food for birds, but as windbreaks, preventives of erosion, reducers of evaporation, and equalizers of temperature.

The modern farmer has come to make use of a great many kinds of applied science. Bacteriology, chemistry, genetics, mechanical engineering—these are his daily servants.

But his entire endeavor is defeated unless he works in harmony with the scheme of biology, bending nature to his own ends. Against a host of enemies that would wipe out agriculture overnight of unchecked, the farmer has a legion of allies that he has persecuted in the past.

Only by protecting and encouraging them can he be certain of consistently winning the endless fight.

Texas Gets Large Share of Federal Wildlife Aid Fund

Texas is ahead of all other States in the amount of money received to date from the Federal government for wildlife restoration purposes, the State Game Department was advised by the American Wildlife Institute.

A total of $53,600, three-fourths of it Federal money, will have been spent during the fiscal year ending July 31 for wildlife restoration in Texas under terms of the Pittman-Robertson "Federal-Aid-to-Wildlife" Act passed in 1937. Pennsylvania ranks second with a total of $52,383 available at present for game work. The total cost of Texas' five-year game project now underway will be $300,000, approximately twice as much as will be made available to any other State included in the last American Wildlife Institute report.

The Pittman-Robertson Act earmarked for wildlife a fund of approximately $3,000,000 annually, an amount equal to the Federal excise tax on arms and ammunition. The money is being allotted the various States through their Game Departments, which were invited to submit projects for the approval of the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey and the Secretary of Agriculture.

Texas was one of the first States to submit a project—a long-range statewide wildlife survey, demonstration and management program intended to last five years, its purpose being to determine what makes certain species of wildlife "click", and, with this information at hand, to launch game bird and animal restoration programs as soon as possible.

The project won immediate approval of Federal authorities and was started in August 1938, with 13 trained wildlife experts in the field, directed by a supervisor. The Federal government allotted $40,200 for the project, and the Game Department matched it with $13,400, as required by a regulation that each State must match Federal funds in the ratio of 1 to 3 on each project.

The research phase of the Texas program, described as the first ever proposed on a large scale, won national attention and imitated by several States, notably Missouri and New York. Of 25 States listed as participating in the Pittman-Robertson program June 1, 17 had research programs of some kind under way.

The program in Texas is expected to go a long way toward providing the sportsman more game to hunt and more fish to catch, Department head asserted.

Rat, Worst Rodent

Of the rodents, the common rat, with his amazing reproductive powers, is the worst. Government Biologist, Lantz, calls him "the most destructive animal in the world," and says that he destroys, not only immense quantities of grain, but six times as much poultry and birds as all the hawks, owls, weasels, and other so-called "vermin" put together. The chief enemies of the rat are the smaller furbearers, and the mousing hawks, owls and snakes.

In spite of the fact that very, very rarely they do enter hen-houses and kill fowls just to suck the blood, weasel and mink are of much value on the land. That the red fox, so long accused of living upon birds and poultry, has only 7 per cent of there in his year round ration. In a state forest where nearly half of the fox examinations were made, the ruffed grouse was numerous, but it was found that each fox ate an average of but two grouse a year, "not an exorbitant wage," says the Bulletin, "for his great service in destroying rodents." Field mice, wood rats, rabbits and ground squirrels were his chief food supply. The opossum was the only one of the small furbearers whose bird percentage approached anything like a quarter of his ration. The raccoon (now near extinction everywhere) was found to be entirely harmless.

Not All Hawks are Pests

The mousing hawks and owls are highly valuable in the war against rodents, the food of the red-shoulder and red-tail hawks averaging around 90 per cent rodents and the rest reptiles. The barn owl, barred owl, screech and hot owl are also very valuable. For the two bird-eating hawks, Cooper's and the Sharpshinned (both small, blueish, long-tailed and short-winged, and never caught in pole-traps for the reason they alight only under cover) a shotgun should stand ever ready, as also for the great horned owl. The mousing snakes, black, hog and milk, are all fine, but since the black snake shares with the cat the evil habit of climbing trees and eating young birds in the nest, he should not be welcomed under the barn.

The two mammal pests which the farmer should at once get rid of by every means in his power are the rat and the cat. Few cats, by the way, ever catch rats, however good they may be as mousers. No cat should ever be kept on a farm unless it is locked in by night and belied by day. An army of at least 20,000,000 stray cats is now roaming the woods and fields of this country, each one destroying from 100 to 200 song and game birds a

Anniversary Dates

Forty-one years ago — June 16, 1898 — United States warships began shelling Spanish forts at Santiago, Cuba, in one of the major engagements of the Spanish-American War. As a result of America's victory over Spain, the Cubans have enjoyed forty years of independence, and once-powerful Spain has been relegated to a fourth-rate power.

Long before Cubans even dreamed of independence, some of the strong insurance companies we represent were guaranteeing independence to property-owners throughout the world from fear of property loss by fire, storm, and other hazards.

Let us guarantee YOU this freedom from worry with an all-coverage policy on your home or business property. See us today.

Methodist Missionary Society Continues Mission Study

On Monday afternoon the Mission Study class met in the hospital home of Mrs. Guy Mays, president who conducted a short business session after which the meeting was turned over to Mrs. K. Thornton, director. The 2nd and 3rd chapters of Basil Matthews great book "The Church Takes Root In India" was very interestingly told by Mesdames Wair and Fields. Mrs. Wair told of "The Changing Tempo." The speaker told of Mahatma Ghandi's opposition to the modern trend, especially does he voice his opposition to the importation and use of western machinery. One can only wonder at the outcome should this country of 352,000,000 people be forced into idleness by the use of labor saving devices.

Mrs. Fields who gave chapter 3 had outlined her chapter into 5 divisions: (1) Outcasts, (2) Ghandi of the Hindu Religion, (3) What Christianity Has Done for the Outcast, (4) Requirements of the Outcasts for Church Membership, (5) What Christian Outcasts Are Doing for India.

The caste system has always been the curse of India and yet one can but wonder at the outcome should the people rebel against the caste system, which supposes for a man or woman to remain in the caste into which his ancestors for generations have been born.

There are 53,000,000 outcasts in India and of this number 15,000 are clamoring each month for admission into the Christian church.

Mrs. C. L. Lewis told so interestingly the life story of Mahatma Ghandi. This great leader of India was born in 1868 and is called the "Modern Proprietor of Love." Ghandi is a Hindu in faith and his religion is "The kingdom of God is within us." His influence with the masses is recognized by the British, who rule India. Should the British order something to which Ghandi is opposed he at once goes on a "hunger strike." The government hastens to rescind the order.

Members who are not present for these lessons are certainly missing a treat as this is one of the most interesting books that has been studied by this society.

Miss May Fields, who is so seriously ill in the hospital at Temple was the object of a special prayer by Mrs. B. Cox. We hope for her a speedy recovery. Our meeting on next Monday afternoon will be in the home of Mrs. A. H. Wair. Mrs. Irby will teach chapter 4 Roy Miller, Frank Norman, Ollie Lees, Lusk, Rice Alvis, Thurman Lusk, Lorous Hunt, O. S. Smith and Carter.

The following members enjoyed meeting in the home of the president who, as the gracious hostess served delicious iced punch throughout the afternoon: Mesdames B. Cox, Spencer, Martin, Hellums, Darnell, Cahill, Irby, Kimbrough, W. Cox, Thornton, Fields, Lewis, Warren, Smith and Wair.

Make your plans to be at Mrs. Wair's home on next Monday afternoon at 4 p. m.

Forty-one years ago — June 16, 1898 — United States warships began shelling Spanish forts at Santiago, Cuba, in one of the major engagements of the Spanish-American War. As a result of America's victory over Spain, the Cubans have enjoyed forty years of independence, and once-powerful Spain has been relegated to a fourth-rate power.

Long before Cubans even dreamed of independence, some of the strong insurance companies we represent were guaranteeing independence to property-owners throughout the world from fear of property loss by fire, storm, and other hazards.

Let us guarantee YOU this freedom from worry with an all-coverage policy on your home or business property. See us today.

CHURCHES

CHURCH OF CHRIST J. G. Malphurs, Minister

Prayer is the heart expressing its wishes to God in words. It is a great and distinctive privilege of a child of God, which is too seldom appreciated by the saints. It will take eternity alone to reveal what great changes have been wrought in the history of the world through the prayers of the saints.

"The application of righteous man avail-eth much in its working" (Jas. 5: 16). A righteous man in prayer has a great influence on his neighbors and on himself to try to do as well as pray, and on God, "who gives to all men liberally and upbraideth not" (Jas. 1:5).

There are too many prayerless hearts. Prayerless hearts cause prayerless homes and vain petitions at church. The strength of a church is gauged better by the number of pious souls in her praying squad rather than by the number of social stars in her pews. We suggest that in these perilous times that every saint awake the power and blessing of prayer, and that with the disciples we pray, "Lord, teach us to pray" (Luke 11:1).

The sermon for the eleven o'clock hour will be one of a series on what we do as worship in the church, "Prayer in The Assembly." At 8:30 the subject will be, "Ready to Die at Jerusalem." (Acts 21:13). Come and worship God with us.

Health Authority Predicts Era of Quieter Living

That Texas is headed for an era of quieter, more mature living, is the prediction of Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

The basis of this prediction is the declining birth rate and the increasing life span of the average Texan.

While the population may continue to increase until 1955, as Government census experts predict, the percentage of youth is decreasing. By 1975 today's total American population over 65 years will have trebled their number from seven and a half million to twenty-two and a half million.

Two reasons for this change in the age ratio are smaller families and stricter immigration laws.

Third and most important reason is the longer average life expectancy due to increasingly widespread use of medical and public health knowledge, which reduces mortality, particularly in childhood and allows the average person to live a longer span of life. For instance a baby born in 1789 lived on the average until he was 35 years old. A baby born in 1900 had a life expectancy of 48 years. A baby born in 1935 could normally expect to be 61 years old.

Repercussions to this change in our population from youth to middle age will be gradual. Both young and old will do less productive labor, while the middle aged do more. Fewer schools will be needed. Golf and other mild games will gain favor. Travel will be more popular as more people will have leisure. The jitterbug era of dancing will fade. The population will tend to decentralize as older people move to quiet suburbs or the country. In the long run, America and Texas will undoubtedly benefit in the advent of experience and seasoned judgements in government and business.

When our population becomes more or less static, our scale of living will automatically rise, and the science of medicine and public health will have much to do with this change toward a longer and better life for more and more people.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

Everything good in man leans on what is higher.
—Emerson

Working for Super-Men

The creation of a super-race of men has always fascinated scientists and artists as well as the imagination of men and women of average walks in life.

Dr. Alexis Carrel, himself a noted scientist, has given some thought to the remodeling of man, with special emphasis placed upon his treatment as a whole, instead of a divided personage, and would increase the mental stature without giving undue strain to any particular part of man's nature.

This is along what we think must be the true line of human progress. Man is a peculiar, if wonderful, combination of mental, physical and what we may call spiritual powers. He is not either part more than the other and culminates into perfection only when there is complete balance in his development and growth.

There was a time, not yet entirely gone, when the religious leaders of the race insisted that mind and body should be subordinate to spiritual perfection and there are today those who believe that this can be accomplished by the disregard of the other elements that make up man. The schools of the world, even today, with rare exceptions, stress mental development, leaving almost untouched the physical nature of the pupils entrusted to their teaching. There are, too, individuals who go crazy over the body in one form or another and forget that there exists mind and soul.

How little man knows of his own body is painfully evident as the world treats disease and physical deformities and what we do not know about the human mind is almost nothing. As to the soul, there is much argument as to its existence, much less any understanding of its nature and power. No wonder, we have not, today, produced the sought-after super-man!

Pedestrians Auto Hazards

Speeding and reckless driving are at fault in most of the motor accidents that have resulted in such an appalling loss of life on our highways.

This has been shown in surveys made by police and safety councils to determine the causes of such accidents and possible means of decreasing them.

Blame, it is found, must be placed, for this highway slaughter, upon the insane desire of drivers for speed that makes them ignore all rules of safety all traffic regulations, send them crashing through red lights, jumping the gun at crossings, hurtling through intersections with a hand on the horn and foot pressing the accelerator, causes them to pass other cars on hills and on dangerous curves, to pass on the right side, to swing far out into the oncoming lane of traffic. Others who must share the blame are the incompetent drivers, the careless drivers, and those befuddled with alcohol—all those who take a chance with life everytime they get behind the wheel.

Haskell County History

40 Years Ago—June 17, 1899
The Texas Maverick, published at Matador, announces a grand barbecue and cowboy carnival to be held at Roaring Springs on July 4-5.

We are informed by County

Judge H. R. Jones that he has received from the state comptroller's department all the blanks necessary in making applications for the Confederate pensions recently provided by state law.

Walter Beavers got home Wednesday from Palo Pinto where he has been at school.

M. H. Gossett returned this week from Louisiana, where he has been to dispose of a lot of horses and mules.

D. G. Hissey sold this week to W. T. Hudson 60 head of yearlings at $1.00 and 31 head of 2-year-olds at $1.00 per head.

Messrs. Bunkley and Jeffries, prominent cattlemen of Young county, are here this week for the purpose of leasing pasture lands on which to establish ranches in this county.

Prof. W. W. Hentz has been tendered the position of principal of the Woodward, I. T. school at a salary of $100 per month, but has not decided whether he will accept the offer.

To these, in all fairness to the motorists, must be added pedestrians who cause accidents by their stupidity or indifference. Drunken pedestrians who figure in auto accidents, it has been found, have been increasing at a faster rate than drunken drivers. They are among the major hazards of the road today, along with the common or garden variety of jay-walker who crosses intersections against the signals and who darts out in the middle of the road.

It is the human factor that is mainly involved in motor accidents and that must be borne in mind in any effort to end this highway menace. Campaigns of education and enforcement alike are needed to make drivers and walkers obey the rules of safety—for their own sake just as much as for the sake of the public generally.

A Sensible Judge

One of the most distressing results of sending men to prison indiscriminately for all sorts of offense is that it often works a terrible hardship on those dependent upon them. Judge Nova, of Brooklyn, is one who recognizes this and in certain cases adopts practical means to protect innocent victims of the law's operation.

When Frank Bruno, who earns $0 a week, was brought before him recently and pleaded guilty to having two wives, one with two children, and the other with one, the judge said:

"I would gladly send you to Sing Sing, but your two wives and their children would be the sufferers. You will pay the wife with two children $20 a week and the wife with one child $15.

Thus five persons who would have been deprived of support through sending Bruno to the penitentiary, were provided for, while the culprit will be constantly reminded of his offense and is not likely to repeat it.

That appears to be justice tempered with common sense.

Nine Reasons For Going To Church

1. In this actual world, a churchless community, a community where men have abandoned and scoffed at or ignored their religious needs, is a community on the rapid down grade.

2. Church work and church attendance means the cultivation of the habit of feeling some responsibility for others.

3. There are enough holidays for most of us. Sundays differ from other holidays in the fact that there are fifty-two of them every year—therefore on Sundays go to church.

4. Yes I know all the excuses. I know that one can worship the creator in a grove of trees or by a running brook, or in a man's own house, just as well as in church. But I also know, as a matter of cold fact, the average man does not thus worship.

5. He may not hear a good sermon. He will hear a sermon by a good man who, with his good wife, is engaged all the week in making hard lives a little easier.

6. He will listen and take part in reading some beautiful passages from the Bible, and if he is not familiar with the Bible, he has suffered a loss.

7. He will take part in singing some good hymns.

8. He will meet and nod or speak to good, quiet neighbors. He will come away feeling a little more charitable toward all the world, even toward those excessively foolish young men who regard church-going as a soft performance.

9. I advocate a man's joining in church work for the sake of showing his faith by his works.

—Theodore Roosevelt.

The chap who asked for exemption from paying an income tax because he had fallen arches reminds us of the fellow who stopped going to church because the electric lights were taken off the wall and suspended from the ceiling.

It is said that members of the Senate consumed 500 aspirin tablets at the expense of the taxpayers during the past year. But just think how many aspirin tablets the taxpayers have to consume because of the Senate.

Three rains and numerous showers is the record for the week ending today. Pretty wet for a dry country.

Miss Una Foster got home on Thursday from Rome, Ga., where she has been attending college.

Charley Donohoo sold his place this week, being 200 acres of the George Harris league 10 miles out east of Haskell, to J. G. Ward of Jones county. Consideration $1,000.

Judge H. R. Jones closed a sale this week of 1056 acres of fine land situated about seven miles northeast of town to G. M. Clayton of Vernon. We understand that Mr. Clayton intends to move to Haskell.

Messrs. John Couch and Marshall Pierson recently sent a challenge to Messrs. Alex Brittain and Lee Hill of Seymour to debate with them the question, "Resolved, that the United States should permanently retain control over the Philippine Islands." Messrs. Couch and Pierson to take the affirmative and Messrs. Brittain and Hill to take the negative of the proposition. They received a reply on Thursday accepting the challenge and saying the Seymour men would come to Haskell to debate with them. The date has not been definitely agreed upon, but it will probably be about July 20th.

30 Years Ago—June 12, 1899
Six persons lost their lives, and untold damage to property was caused when an electrical storm struck this section Thursday night, followed Friday by heavy rains which flooded a large part of the business section and the residence section northeast and east of the square. R. S. Middleton who lives three and one-half miles northeast of town, with his family went to a cellar during the storm. The cellar caved in, killed his wife and four children and Miss Maggie Bishop, a school teacher who was visiting the family. Mr. Middleton and three other children escaped with slight injuries. Heavy rain and one of the worst hailstorms in years virtually destroyed all crops in their path, and battered through roofs of numerous residences and stores. A passenger train on the Orient railroad was blown from the tracks and several persons were

From Our Readers

There is a large number of people that believe that participation in athletic competition is detrimental to the best interest of students in school that is, that scholastic standards are neglected to further athletic interest. In some instances that may be true; at least some schools do not require high enough scholastic grades of the students before permitting them to enter competition. Some schools have been accused of granting grades to students rather than disqualify such from athletic competition. Such we believe to be a very small percent of schools. Most schools we believe to require the proper scholastic standards required.

The best example of a well-rounded school in all departments we believe to be the Masonic Home. Wherever you find a contest, athletic or scholastic, you will see a Mason there to represent his or her school. They enter a team in any and all contests within the state. No one can deny the fact that those children give a creditable showing for their school. According to numbers in school they should hold to Class B competition, yet by special ruling they hold class A rating.

To most people the Masons are known only for their ability on the football field, yet they have won state championships in baseball, track, volleyball and tennis, both boys and girls. The real ability of those children are shown in contests where scholastic ability is required such as debates, speaking and essays, both boys and girls. The Masons are always there to frighten the representatives of the larger schools, and usually come home with the laurels of victory.

To illustrate how well they carry out the entire program we will call attention to one student there, Miller Moseley. Moseley is the 123 pound right end of the football team. Though handicapped as he was in size and weight, he was selected by a number of Sport Editors and Coaches as an All-State State End. He was admitted to be the best pass received in the state. Today practically all Southwest Conference schools are doing all within their power to persuade him to enroll within their school. While participating in all athletic contests his scholastic attainments far excel his athletics. He holds a four year scholastic average above 95 in his work. He was valedictorian of the graduating class. Not only that, he represented his school in oratory, won in his district, closed the season in third place.

Moseley is no exception in that home. Their devotion to the Home and Masons of Texas compels each killed and injured.

The city well in the south part of town has been completed. It is 26 feet in diameter and the water flows in from all sides in a stream. The tower for the reservoir is about completed, and the ditching machine is ready to begin the ditches for the sewer system.

Miss Kathleen Wilfong has returned from Waco and resumed her duties as assistant in the post-office.

Sterling Edwards and Miss Lennie Jones were married Sunday. The popular young couple will make their home in Haskell.

Burford Long and Jessie Foster returned Sunday from Austin where they have been attending State University.

The Stamford & Northwestern railroad has laid its steel to Aspermont. We congratulate our neighbor city and can appreciate their feelings. We waited for twenty-three years in Haskell to witness the sight of the first iron horse to visit this city.

L. C. Ellis has bought out the interest of Joe Taylor in the gent's furnishing business and is now the sole owner of "The Hub."

"Old Fiddlers" Contest Entries Being Received

Several fiddlers already are preparing to compete in the annual old fiddlers contest which will be held at Stamford July 5 as part of the program of the Texas Cowboy Reunion which meets July 3, 4 and 5. The contest is limited to musicians 50 years of age or over and music must be of the "break-down" variety.

The contest will be held this year for the first time at the cowboy bunkhouse on the Reunion grounds instead of at the downtown auditorium. It is the Reunion's biggest free attraction. Beginning at 8:30 a. m., it usually lasts until noon.

Prizes totalling $32.50 will be awarded, first prize being $15, second $10, third $5 and fourth $2.50. No entry fee is charged. Each contestant is allowed to play two tunes of his own selection. He may play alone or select a second, but only one accompanist is allowed. Jim Stell of Stamford is chairman of the committee in charge of the contest.

Among the fiddlers who already have notified Mr. Stell that they will compete this year are C. A. Ward, Weinert, age 65; Aut Dial, Stamford, 67; Sam Meadows, Lueders, 59; Alva Anderson, Stamford, 66, and Ike Evans, Denton.

Another feature of the Reunion designed to keep alive pastimes of the old cattle country is at the square dance each night which will be held this year at the new Roundup building, Judge C. E. Coombes, secretary of the oldtime cowboys' association, presides over these dances. Admission is charged for this event.

"Thank you, Reddy, for keeping the temperature down: in my refrigerator."

Reasons Why Electric Refrigerator is BEST in West Texas

I. Dry, Hot Climate requires exceptionally low temperature in your refrigerator to properly preserve food. Only Electric Refrigeration can give equally low temperatures (around 40 degrees) in July and August the same as in January.

II. Low Electric Rates are in effect for refrigerator users. Economy of operation, plus the simplest refrigerating mechanism ever built, plus safety from toxic fumes, safety from combustible explosives, plus multiple-cold food protection—all these combine to make electric refrigeration best suited for use in West Texas where summer months undeniably are hot and dry.

How Farm Shares In Auto Profits Told In Almanac

Results of the Ford Motor Company campaign to develop new farm crops that industry can use are indicated by an article in the 1939 Ford Home Almanac, now being distributed throughout the United States.

For every million Ford cars and trucks built, the company uses 80,000,000 pounds of cotton—the crop from 558,000 acres—the Almanac article shows. Other purchases of farm products necessary for the manufacture of a million Ford units are listed as follows:

Five hundred thousand bushels of corn, for making rubber substitute, butyl alcohol and solvents; 2,400,000 pounds of linseed oil, for making paints, core oil, soft soap and glycerine; 2,500,000 gallons of molasses, for making anti-freeze, shock absorber fluids and solvents.

Three million, two-hundred thousand pounds of wool, which helps to make upholstery, gaskets, anti-rust, floor coverings and lubricants; 1,500,000 square feet of leather, for making upholstery and hide-glues; 20,000 hogs to supply the lard oil for lubricants, oleic acid and brush bristles, and 2,000,000 pounds of soybean oil for enamel, plastics and many other uses.
