A CONFEDERATE RECORD.

W. L. SANFORD in the Dallas News.

[What an : x-Confederate said, after reading an account of the debate in Congress. on the proposit. a to admit ex-Confederates to the Federal soldiers' homes

My record's such that I should somewhat hesitate to go

And seek admission to the home for Federals, for you know I chanced to be with Johnston when McDowell made a play To rid the earth of Beauregard, and so we marched that way. Twas at Manassas Junction, which the Federals call Bull Run And in the stirring summertime of Eighteen Sixty-One. The Government officials and society turned out From Washington to see us ran in ignominious rout. They found us without searching, and before the day was done That gay assemblage burnt the wind in flight to Washington. Oh! there was wild confusion, and that thoroughfare of old Was strewn for miles with fans, silk hats and epaulets of gold. Three thousand killed and wounded were the only ones who stayed. And so I am embarrassed by the record that we made.

And then I was at Seven Pines and at Mechanicsville;
At Gaines's Mili and Frazier's Farm and bloody Malvern Hill.
For seven days the battle raged, and when its wrath was o'er
Abe Lincoln said he needed just three hundred thousand more.
But scarely had we rested, when, sgain at old Bull Run,
We hurled Pope's shattered columns in defeat to Washington.
He tried to drive a wedge of steel 'twixt Lee and Jackson's corps.
Then Lincoln found he needed just six hundred thousand more
To quell the rebel rising in the flerce secession States.
And then he had no surplus men, as history relates.
And later on at Frederickburg, with Burnside in command,
They rashly stormed the flaming heights where we had made a stand.
Twelve thousand dead and wounded was the penalty they paid
And I'm somewhat embarrassed by the record that we made. And then I was at Seven Pines and at Mechanicsville:
